

Pies, Pies, Pies

Thanksgiving is traditionally a day of thanks...and a day to pig out. See Page 7.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, high in low 40s: Clear tonight, low in low to mid-20s. Mostly sunny Thursday, high in low

Wednesday

November 18, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 62

Kansas State Collegian

U.S. a state of 'violence'

Noam Chomsky speaks with James Monschke, sophomore in compu- Chomsky, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, spoke ter science, following the convocation Tuesday night in McCain. on the Iran-Contra Affair and the role of the United States.

Chomsky: American public apathetic

By Paula Selby Collegian Reporter

Noam Chomsky, at a University Convocation dealing with the Iran-Contra affair Tuesday night in McCain Auditorium, guided more than 1,000 people through "the unusual exercise of looking at ourselves" as a country. Chomsky, professor of linguistics and philosophy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, discussed the U.S. government's involvement and the public's apathy of that involvement in Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala and Nicaragua.

"When Congress releases the findings on the Iran-Contra affair (today), the real story of the arms sale to Iran will not be discussed," Chomsky said.

He said the U.S. government's attempt to keep Nicaragua in the "Central American mode" another name for human rights violations including mass starvation, bloated stomachs, malnutrition, illiteracy, torture, mass slaughter and "constant brutality and oppression" - is not considered a

"All of this means that the United States views itself we view ourselves — as a lawless and violent state, entirely above the law, committed to international terrorism."

-Noam Chomsky ism," Chomsky said.

Rather, Chomsky said the only real scandal the U.S. government says it committed was dealing with a terrorist state, namely Iran.

But "the most serious terrorist action that Iran has so far been trapped in is support to the Contras through the arms supply that was sent in these negotiations.... The scandal should be that Iran was caught in negotiations with us," he Chomsky said the U.S. Army's definition of terrorism involves "the calculated use of violence or threat of violence to obtain goals that are political, religious or ideological in nature. This is done through intimidation, coercion, or instilling fear.

"Another definition that is more succinct from an Army study: the threat of force to achieve political objectives. However, (that) is not defining terrorism but rather what is called low-intensity conflict.... That is the policy we (the government) advocate and pursue in Nicaragua," Chomsky said.

In June 1986, the World Court condemned the United States for unlawful use of force and for violations of treaties. In regard to that condemnation, Chomsky referred to a comment made by George Schultz at a Landon Lecture at K-State last year.

According to Chomsky, Schultz said "We (the government) need to put aside such irrelevant issues as world force, and we have to use force...because power is not cast said, over the negotiation table.

"All of this means that the United States views itself - we view ourselves - as a lawless and violent state, entirely above the law, committed to international terror-

He described the U.S. government's involvement in the Central American countries, giving specific examples of treatment of the poor, including grotesque violence, body mutilation and murder.

Chomsky said Americans have two courses of action regarding Central America: Americans can "look the other way, in which case the Central American horror chamber will become even more violent. There will be more peasants starving to death, more children dying of starvation and disease, more mutilated bodies."

The government devised an "operation truth" that was "an exquisite, massive disinformation campaign aimed at the population of the United States to try to impose the right framework of thinking about Central America," Chomsky

Committee rejects proposal to restrict admissions policies

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - An effort to introduce a bill limiting admissions to Board of Regents schools failed Tuesday afternoon at a legislative committee meeting after a debate that could foreshadow arguments in the upcoming session.

Sen. Alicia Salisbury, R-Topeka, whose motion before the Legislative Educational Planning Committee to draft a selective admission bill failed on a 5-5 vote, a said slightly altered version might be considered again

Rep. Denise Apt, R-Iola, presented the committee with a proposal that would require students to complete a state university preparatory curriculum to be entitled to be admitted to a regents institution. The regents would establish the curriculum under the proposal.

Current law says that anyone who graduates from a Kansas high school is entitled to be admitted into any of the seven regents schools. The regents are considering a selective admissions policy and are expected to have a bill introduced in the upcoming session.

The proposal presented Tuesday would give that "entitled admission" only to those who have completed a high school college preparatory ing to handle the workload in college.

course, although other students could also be admitted even if they did not take the required high school

The proposal would give colleges "window" equal to 10 percent of the total entering freshmen for exceptions to the selective admissions policy. Older students and those who enter school after serving in the military also would be exempt.

"It does not say the rest of the population cannot be admitted," Apt said as the committee read the proposal.

"It does not say they must be admitted," said Sen. Jim Allen, R-

Opposition to the selective admission proposal centered on the foreign language requirement that would be included in the college preparatory courses and the idea of excluding Kansas students from state colleges.

Sen. Joe Harder, R-Moundridge, said a selective admissions policy could force high schools to upgrade their own programs. "I think we ought to do something about the admissions policy," he

Apt said a selective admissions policy would help those freshmen who have not received proper train-

Iran-Contra report: Reagan evaded law

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The congressional Iran-Contra report paints a picture of a Reagan administration at odds with the law and the Constitution, but minority Republicans dismissed it Tuesday as a partisan indictment of the president that ignores foreign policy questions raised by the affair.

The report says President Reagan flirted with constitutional crisis by creating a White House atmosphere that encouraged evasion of legal requirements and flouting of proper procedures for reaching foreign policy goals.

It also says the administration violated the Constitution by going to third countries to solicit donations for Nicaragua's Contra rebels at a time when Congress barred even indirect military aid to them.

And it is sharply critical of Attorney General Edwin Meese III, questioning why he delayed launching a criminal investigation of the affair when it became public a year ago.

The voluminous document, reviewing in detail the story of how administration officials sold arms to Iran in hopes of freeing Americans held hostage in Lebanon, then diverted some $4 million of the profits to the Contras, is due to be released Wednesday.

But glimpses of its findings were gleaned Tuesday from a report of minority Republicans on the House and Senate investigating panels and from committee sources.

"Clearly, what went on here was not what the founding fathers envisioned," said a source familiar with the report, who spoke only on condition of anonymity. "It paints a picture of a government out of control."

In its broadest criticism of the president, the Democratic-directed report concludes that Reagan failed in his constitutional duty to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

In the introduction to their own dissenting version of the report, the GOP dissenters contended that it also attempts, "almost as an overarching thesis, to portray the administration as if it were behaving with wanton disregard for the law."

But the minority dissent found that conclusion, as well as many others in the document, based on selective use of testimony and dubious interpretation of the law.

The document was signed by all six Republicans on the House committee - Reps. Dick Cheney of Wyoming, William Broomfield of Michigan, Henry Hyde of Illinois,

■ See REPORT, Page 10

De-icing procedure of doomed airliner in question

By The Associated Press

DENVER - A federal investigator Tuesday said a doomed Continental Airlines jet took off more than 23 minutes after de-icing, and a consultant said that could have been enough time for ice to build up on the wings again. Jim Burnett, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said at a news conference on the crash that killed 27 people Sunday that tapes from Stapleton International Airport's control tower show the DC-9 was de-iced at 1:51:14 p.m. He said the plane was told to taxi into position at 2:12:33 p.m. and was cleared for takeoff at 2:14:33 p.m.

Burnett would not comment on whether the time between de-icing and takeoff was too long, saying the investigation was incomplete. Ice can distort the shape of an aircraft wing and destroy its ability to lift an airplane. Earlier Tuesday, Continental spokesman Bruce Hicks said the plane was de-iced within about 20 minutes of takeoff, in keeping with the airline's standard procedure. De-icing is done with a chemical spray. "I believe it was 20 to 22 minutes is my understanding," Hicks said. "It depends on the time from beginning or ending of de-icing. That's why there's a two-minute difference there. In fact, it could have been a hair less than 20 minutes."

Hicks said Continental policy requires the cockpit crew to make an inspection every 20 minutes after de-icing to see if more is needed. "Every indication we have is that that procedure was followed accordingly," he

Such a delay could have allowed ice to collect on the wings, Richard Shevell, a Stanford University aeronautics professor, told The Denver Post. Shevell worked on the DC-9's design as chief of aerodynamics for McDonnell Douglas Corp. in the early 1960s.

Besides ice on the wings, other possible causes being examined by investigators include snow on the runway, possible engine failure, wind shear and other factors, said Bob Sheldon of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Five of the 55 injured passengers remained in critical condition Tuesday. One injured passenger died Monday, bringing the death toll to 27. Eighty-two people, including five crew members, were aboard the plane.

Continental spokesman Ned Walker said the plane had flown from Wichita to Denver, and was bound for Boise, Idaho.

The airline Monday said the jet rocked sharply just after liftoff, caught its right wingtip, flipped on its back and broke into three pieces as it slid down the runway.

But Burnett said Tuesday that while two witnesses have "reported a sense of rolling to the right," there was no evidence the right wing touched the ground. The wing was found intact and contained fuel in its tanks, he

NTSB officials also learned from control tower tapes that a Continental plane that the off on the same runway just thead of Fright 1713 reported "a little clutter" on the runway,

Briefly

Summit slated for December

GENEVA - The United States and Soviet Union ended three days of pre-summit talks Tuesday with both sides appearing confident that a treaty scrapping intermediate-range nuclear weapons will be ready for signing next month.

President Reagan and Mikhail S. Gorbachev are scheduled to hold the summit in Washington Dec. 7-10.

"A great deal of progress has been made over the past three days," an American source said privately. He described the talks as "very good and positive."

Negotiators ended the sessions "with a great deal of work having been accomplished, as agreed at the Oct. 30 meeting" between Secretary of State George P. Shultz and Eduard A. Shevardnadze, the Soviet foreign minister, the source said.

After that meeting, the two governments announced the summit plans and said the medium-range treaty would be signed. They also said Reagan and the Soviet leader hoped for another summit in 1988 at which they could sign an agreement on reducing long-range nuclear forces by 50 percent.

Budget cuts elude legislators

WASHINGTON - White House officials and congressional leaders, pledging to conclude a deficit-cutting deal this week, met into the night Tuesday but agreement remained elusive.

"We have no choice but to put it together," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. "We have to show that the president and Congress can work together. Otherwise, the psychological fallout on the financial markets will be very bad," he said.

White House Chief of Staff Howard Baker said everybody wanted to agree, and even though it was "sort of a moving target and (sometimes) it seems like it recedes," success was "certainly a possibility."

Between closed-door talks, House and Senate leaders met privately with President Reagan and White House officials to discuss the troubles. The goal is to reduce the deficit for fiscal 1988, the year that began Oct. 1, by at least $23 billion, to avert automatic spending cuts under the Gramm-Rudman law.

"The president is, of course, disappointed that we don't have an agreement yet," said White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater. "He wants one very badly and feels that we have bent over backwards to compromise and be constructive and we have not had quite that same sense of cooperation from the Democrats."

Fish oil may not be healthy

ANAHEIM, Calif. - Fish oil capsules boosted levels of "bad" cholesterol and a related protein in some people, according to studies that cast doubt on whether the food supplements reduce the risk of heart disease.

"Omega-3 fish oils have been promoted as cholesterollowering agents which reduce heart disease. Our study of people with high triglyceride (blood fat) levels found that when we give them fish oil in reasonable amounts - 12 capsules a day - they did not have lower cholesterol at all," nutritionist William S. Harris said Tuesday.

"They did have lower triglycerides, which is presumably good. The problem was it raised the 'bad' cholesterol level," said Harris, of the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Father dances for 2 decades

CINCINNATI - Thomas Olding is no stranger at Mother of Mercy High School's father-daughter dance. Erin, his date for Friday, will be the ninth daughter he has taken to the dance Olding, 60, took daughter Mary to the dance in 1967. During the years since, he took Theresa, Jane, Patty, Sue, Barbara, Fran and Chris.

Erin is a senior who plans to go on to the University of Cincinnati. Olding also has three sons.

In escorting each daughter to the annual dance, Olding has seen changes.

"The music - for years it was the Pete Wagner six-piece or eight-piece dance band," he said. "That gave way to the rock

'n' rollers and the guitar bands." Both Cincinnati daily newspapers published stories this week about Olding's two decades of trips to the father-daughter dance. The family is delighted with the attention Olding is receiving, his wife, Martha, said Tuesday.

Robber demands gold tooth

LAKEVIEW, N.Y. - A man with a gun forced a 17-yearold boy to remove his gold tooth and hand it over during a bus ride, police said Tuesday. Nassau County police spokesman Officer Robert Wheeler said the teen-ager, Daryl Bowens of Hempstead, was on a bus in Lakeview on Monday afternoon when a man sat next to him and produced a handgun.

The man told Bowens he wanted his gold-capped tooth. The boy took it out, gave it to the man and the man left the bus. The tooth apparently was removable, police said, and there was no injury.

Mr. Potato Head goes cold turkey

WASHINGTON - Mr. Potato Head, 35, quit smoking Tuesday. He gave his pipe to Surgeon General C. Everett Koop and vowed never to touch it again.

"He started to smoke the day he was born," said Koop. "Not only is it dangerous to his health, it gives the message to kids around the country that smoking is not a bad thing to do."

So pleased was Koop with Head's decision that he proclaimed the giant potato the official "spokespud" for this year's Great American Smokeout, the American Cancer Society drive to get millions of Americans to give up smoking, at least for the day, on Thursday.

About 40 million Mr. Potato Heads have been sold since the Playskool toy was introduced 35 years ago, complete with stick-on eyes, ears, a nose, a mouth — and a pipe.

Now that he has kicked the habit, Playskool officials are thinking about reshaping the mouth - which now looks a lot like a mustache - into a smile for the estimated 1 million toys manufactured each year.

First lady Nancy Reagan sent "heartiest congratulations" to Head.

"By kicking the habit, Mr. Potato Head will not only improve his health, but will serve as a good example to young people who need to learn the importance of maintaining good health habits," Reagan said in a message read by Koop.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT CANCER RESEARCH AWARDS applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research, Ackert 131. All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs at K-State are eligible to apply. Funding is available for 13 students; the awards are $500 per recipient. Application deadline is Dec. 4.

K-STATE PLAYERS will present "The Real Thing" at 8 p.m. today through Nov. 21 in Nichols Theatre.

TODAY

ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ENTREPRENEURS meets at 8 p.m. in Union 206.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON meets at 3:30 p.m. in Dickens 206 for a discussion on "Immigrant Labor and Industrial Change in American Cities."

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 6:30 a.m. in Shellenberger 110. Baking begins at 6:30 a.m. and will continue all day.

ECONOMICS CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Waters 329 for a discussion on the fall of the ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3. Linda Hoag from the speech pathology and hearing clinic is the ANIMAL SCIENCES AND INDUSTRY meets at 3 p.m. in Call 205 for a reception for Don L. Good and Jack Riley.

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 9 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abbas M. Jasim at 2:30 p.m. in Waters 244. The topic is "Studies on Chilling Injury of Cucumbers (Cucumis sativus L.) During Storage."

THURSDAY

STUDENTS AGAINST DRUNK DRIV-ING meet at 6 p.m. in Union 207.

PARACHUTE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI COURT OF HON-OR meets at 4 p.m. in Union 203 and 204. Please dress professionally.

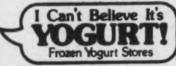

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST meets at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

BETA SIGMA PSI LITTLE SISTERS meet at 6 p.m. at the Beta Sig house for Thanksgiving dinner.

GAY/LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205 for a business meeting.

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

WEDNESDAY

Coed Guest DJs

 Jenny Jones Cindy Murdie

Meet Tonite's BAR DIRECTORS

$2 PITCHERS at back bar

$1 SHOTS KAMIKAZIS etc ...

$1.50 SHOTS B-52s etc ...

PRESENTS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25 MEMORIAL HALL (K.C.)

Thanksgiving Eve! 8:00 p.m.

Special Guests: The Insiders

Tickets on sale at all CATS Outlets including Dial-A-Tick 816-576-7676

Produced by New West & Contemporary

WHAT RADIO STATION DO YOU LISTEN TO!

Manhattan — Junction City — Fort Riley

four switch is on. . . Music Station

VISTA TRAVEL MUG

When you order a Sunrise Sandwich and a cup of coffee for $1.95. Offer good with other breakfast entrees

> Then whenever you bring your Travel Mug back to Vista through December 31, your coffee refills are 5¢!

Mug also available separately for 99¢, filled with coffee!

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

SOMEBODY'S BUNNY

1225 Moro

Aggieville

FAJITAS

Heard the talk? Fajitas have come to PINATA, and are they ever worth the wait! Chunks of marinated steak, or chicken, with fresh onion slices served sizzling on a hot skillet. Comes with a wide array of toppings for your choosing: guacomole, shredded lettuce, sour cream, salsa, chopped tomatoes & fresh grated cheese. A serving of rice, refried beans, & tortillas complete your meal. Don't miss out, try our Fajitas today!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

Open Daily 11 a.m.

Sexual harassment 'counter to goals'

By Jennifer Dorsch Staff Writer

Scenario: A professor tells crude jokes, demeaning to women, to "entertain" and capture the attention of his classes. Word of his classroom antics gets around campus, and the enrollment of female students drops.

This is one of the situations listed in the University's Policy Prohibiting Sexual Harassment to illustrate a possible violation of the code.

The policy was adopted in October 1983 with the intent of allowing students, faculty and staff "to study and work in a place free of intimidation, fear, reprisal or coercion."

In addition, the policy states that sexual harassment runs counter to the goals and mission of the University in that "sexual harassment often creates a vicious cycle that leads to low

Employee production deteriorates ment cases. In about 90 percent of the morale, diminished motivation and assment, according to the policy, self-confidence, and excessive include threats of an educational or absenteeism..." ultimately leading to lowered employee productivity and diminished academic achievement.

According to the policy, sexual harassment "is any behavior which, through inappropriate sexual content or disparagement of members of one sex, interferes with or impairs an individual's work or learning environment."

The policy states the most extreme form of sexual harassment is an attempt to coerce an unwilling person into a sexual relationship by misusing an employment or educational relationship.

Less extreme forms of sexual har-employment decision based on a victim's unwillingness to tolerate or accept sexual attentions; a hostile or intimidating environment for members of one sex which interferes with a learning or working environment; and jokes, slurs or insults directed at members of one sex which interfere with work or learning.

Approximately 90 percent of the complaints reported deal with the less extreme forms, said Jane Rowlett, director of the Affirmative Action Office.

Rowlett said the University's policy has worked well in providing guidelines for dealing with harasscases, there has been very little problem in correcting the situation once the violator was notified, she said.

"It's an educational issue, the intent is not to harm, and once the violator realizes the damage, they don't want it to continue.

"It can be very disabling to the victims, (although) often the perpetrators thought it was in fun," Rowlett

Students with complaints of sexual harassment should report them to the dean of students, Rowlett said. Faculty and staff should report to the University administrator responsible for the department in which the alleged violation occurred. Complaints may also be filed with the Affirmative Action Office.

After a complaint has been filed, a review process involving interviews with the complainant and the accused violator is performed to determine if harassment has occurred as defined in the guidelines of the University

If it is determined sexual harassment has not occurred, both parties involved receive letters from the administrators involved in the review, outlining the steps taken to reach that decision.

If it is determined sexual harassment has occurred, sanctions will be devised in accordance with the seriousness of the behavior, and both parties involved will receive letters outlining the steps in the review process and sanctions to be imposed.

In addition, steps will be taken to prevent further acts of harassment and to prevent retaliation toward the complainant.

The policy also states that throughout the review, both the complainant and the accused violator will be fully informed and will have full opportunity to be heard.

The University's Policy Prohibiting Sexual Harassment is published in the student and faculty handbooks, and an abbreviated form is contained in the classified employee handbook. Copies are also available in the Affirmative Action Office, Anderson 214.

Debate team seeks adequate traveling

Group faces possible end of program

By Karen Allen Collegian Reporter

All dressed up and no place to go. The nationally ranked K-State debate team won't be "dressing up" for any more tournaments this year unless adequate traveling funds are created in the next month.

"My biggest concern is our budget," said Ed Schiappa, director of debate. "If our current fundraising efforts are not successful, we could end up terminating competition in mid-season, which would completely knock us out of the national rankings."

Fund-raising efforts include a concert at the Union Ballroom tonight. The featured attraction of the fundraiser is the progressive folk rock group The Washington Squares. Also featured in the opening act is a former Manhattan cowpunk band, The Lonesome Houndogs.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are $5 and are available at the Nichols Theatre box office.

A letter drive to alumni debators asking for their financial support was initiated this month. Contributions are beginning to trickle in, Schiappa said, adding that it is more of a longterm project and will not get the team through this year. He said he did not expect the letter drive to bring in much money this year, but it could help in future years.

An increase in the quality and the quantity of debators this year are two important reasons the debate team is having financial difficulties, he said.

"We have already won more trophies in the first two months this season than we did in all of last year," Schiappa said. "We also have a lot more debators. We usually lose several in the first few weeks of the season - but this year they stayed with it, and they're good."

Schiappa attributes the increase in the quality of debators to sustained recruiting efforts and good coaching support. Travel costs are up because the team must travel to stay competitive, he said.

"You can't ask a track person to run one race per year and still be competitive - you have to travel and compete often," Schiappa said.

The debate team currently operates on an annual budget of $8,500. The bulk of the funding comes from interest earnings on an endowment created two years ago by the K-State Student Senate, and the balance is from the Department of Speech.

A drop in interest rates and government cuts in University funding have greatly diminished the yearly amount, he said.

Schiappa has appealed to the University for additional funds so the team can finish out the year.

"The administration has indicated that they will try and help us fill the gap, but nothing has been decided yet," he said.

K-State debators have mixed feelings about the team's situation.

"It's typical of the University," said David Filippi, freshman in electrical engineering. "I feel it's (debate) more important than athletics, because it's the only competitive academic activity. We put in 20 to 30 hours a week, and all those hours will be lost if the funding doesn't come through."

"We're all working real hard to get more funding for the team," said Steve Collins, sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine. "We're ranked second in the nation, and we're looking forward to doing better."

K-State was ranked second in the nation in the first fall release of the Cross-Examination Debate Association rankings. Southern Illinois University was ranked first.

The CEDA rankings include 252 colleges and universities. The rankings are based on a team's total accumulation of points at all the tournaments in which it competes. Schiappa's original goal of the season was to finish in the top 10.

Schiappa said the team does not have a chance of placing in even the top 40 without adequate funding.

Edelaine's 776-4498 · Alter Free Wear

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

10% off with KSU ID 539-0888

Now Supplying

Pure nourishing ingredients

Student Publications announces Collegian

Reporting & Sales Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions available in Kedzie 103

Ben Franklin

"Better quality for less"

Remember family or friends with Special Occasion, Get Well or Memorial cards.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

American Heart Association

Posters

Posters

Posters

Performance cars

·Classic Stars

Impressionists

·Cities

·Foreign Countries

·Much More

1101 Westloop 776-4910

Hours M-F 9-9 Sat: 9-7, Sun. 1-6

IJEAN STATION QUITTING BUSINESS SALE

ENTIRE STOCK INCLUDED

MANHATTAN

International Tours of Manhattan is sponsoring a (mens) basketball road trip to Omaha, Nebraska on December

The this only costs $30 and this includes your ticket and transportation. The bus leaves from the north side of Ahearn at 3 game. SIGN-UP TODAY SPACE IS LIMITED

p.m. and leturns immediately tollowing the

Friday at Union Table or Ahearn Room 101 (Check or payment will act as reservation)

Deadline: Tues., Nov. 24, 5 p.m. Trip Open to Everyone

CLIP 'n' SAVE COUPONS GREETING CARDS

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE

Limit 2 free

Expires 11/25/87

1988 CALENDARS

No Limit

20% OFF

Expires 11/25/87 STUFFED ANIMALS

20% OFF

No Limit

Expires 11/25/87

ALL CHRISTMAS ITEMS Boxed Cards, Stockings, Tins etc.

20% OFF Expires 11/25/87

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:30, Fri. & Sat. 8:30-5:30, Sun. 12-5 704 N. Manhattan Ave. In Aggieville 539-7654

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, November 18, 1987 ■ Page 4

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Spousal rape victims get justice with ruling statute was tested and upheld recently with the conviction of a Newton man who was found guilty in the rape of his estranged wife. The 4-year-old revision ended any immunity from prosecution previously enjoyed by the rapist in spousal rape cases.

The upholding of the revision is significant because it provides the necessary teeth behind an otherwise esoteric and impractical law. As with any law, the spousal rape law isn't worth the paper it's printed on if it isn't upheld in a court of law.

With such a ruling — one that is not only on the books but in practice as well — hundreds of spousal rape victims could benefit. Previously,

A 1983 change in the Kansas rape these victims had either an untested statute or no protection at all. Now the means for prosecution of spousal rape is available and proven.

> Rape is a heinous crime. Whether male or female, the victim suffers emotional distress.

With the Newton man's conviction, other would-be rapists who possess a wedding band on their left hand must realize that simply being married to an individual does not automatically legalize rape and its accompanying emotional upheaval.

With this conviction, it's optimistic - and feasible - to think that many more spousal rape victims will unmask their torment and take their abusers to court.

New welfare program will benefit teen-agers

Coercion - yes, that's what it is. suggestion which might curb the number of welfare recipients is worth some coercion.

Wisconsin has started a program which would cut a family's welfare benefits if a teen-age member of the family skips school.

The program, known by state officials as "learnfare," is expected to help shrink high school dropout

Opponents to the program claim it will punish parents with unruly teen-

This, of course, sounds harsh. But But in a fiscally lean time, any teens would more than likely receive encouragement to attend school if their parents knew the monthly welfare check could be affected.

> Teen-agers who do not finish high school have a much higher risk of ending up on welfare.

> The situation is not fair to parents, and students who are attending high school under severe protest or even severe apathy are only a punishment to the teachers they have. But to the few teen-agers who go on to receive a high school diploma, all the coercive action has been worth it.

Dare to dance for debate team

There are three good reasons to be in the K-State Union Ballroom tonight at 8. The reasons are The Washington Squares, The Lonesome Houndogs and the KSU Debate Team. What do these three groups have in common? Answer: None is well-known at K-State, yet all three are terrific at what they do. Tonight, all three will come together for a fund-raising dance and concert. The Washington Squares, tonight's headliner, have a Top 10 album on the college charts. They have sold out concerts nationwide and have received rave reviews in Roll-Angeles Times. The Squares' new-wave folk rock is unique, blending the harmony and force of acoustic rock like the Violent Femmes.

I saw the Squares in Chicago this summer in a large crowd obviously unfamiliar with the Squares' music. It was an amazing experience. By the end of the concert, thousands of say more? new converts were shouting for more of the Squares' unique rock 'n' roll. Some sang, KSU Debate Team. some danced, and all had the exciting experience of discovering great new music.

Commentary

EDWARD SCHIAPPA Guest Columnist

ing Stone, Spin, Musician, the New York miles. Dance-concerts by rising stars like the Times, the Washington Post and the Los Squares are rare in Manhattan - it is an opportunity not to be missed.

The Lonesome Houndogs combine talent spirit of Peter, Paul and Mary with the driving from Lawrence and Manhattan, and the result is predictably unusual. Their music has been described as "psychadelic country-punk." The band features original songs such as "Frat Boys on Acid," "Freedom Fighters of the USA" and "Rappin' Houndogz." Need I and 260 other colleges. This year's debate team has already won more awards in the first two months of competition than were won in the previous two years combined.

The dance-concert is a fund raiser for the

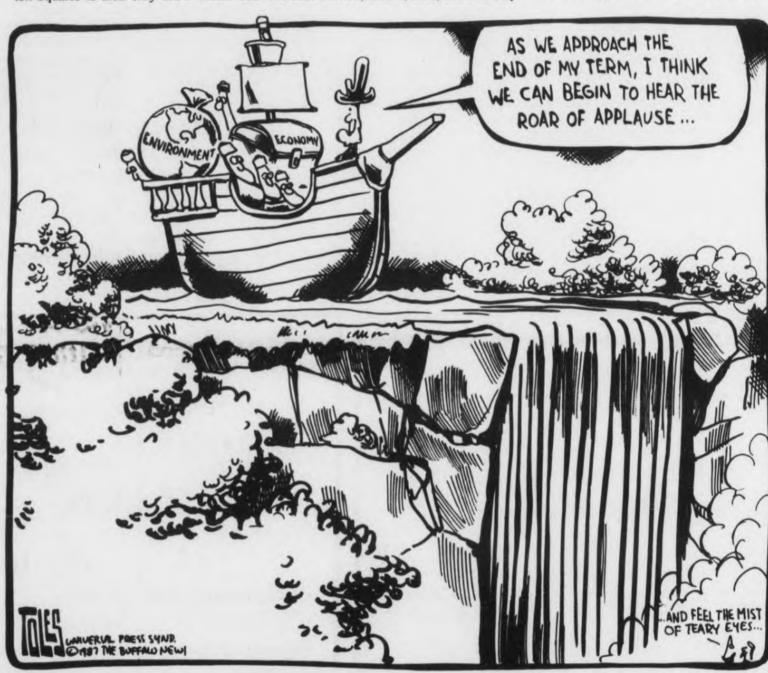

The Cross Examination Debate Association currently ranks K-State No. 2 in the Tonight's performance by The Washing- nation. Yes, in the nation, and CEDA ton Squares is their only show within 600 includes Cornell, UCLA, Yale, Cal-Berkeley Edward Schiappa is K-State's director of debate.

Unfortunately, the KSU Debate Team's budget is less than half that of most of our competitors, including the University of Kansas, Washburn University, Fort Hays State University and Emporia State University. Without successful fund raising, the debate team will have to terminate activities before the end of this semester.

Sometimes conservatism results in mediocrity. Opportunities for excellence are missed due to a reluctance to try something new and different. At K-State, it has been easier to raise funds for a losing football team than for a successful, competitive academic team like debate. Likewise, many K-State students would rather head for the well-known confines of Aggieville than boldly explore new entertainment.

Don't let yourself fall victim to such mediocrity! Dare to spend the cost of a movie tonight to see two groups on the cutting edge of contemporary music! Dare to support one of K-State's most successful competitive teams! I promise you won't be disappointed.

It's the little things in life that count waiting for the Dish Fairy to take care of that bage. Listen to the names of some of these stack of dirty dishes I'd been putting off for the last week, when I happened to flip on the ol' Philco. I thought I might watch a good Bugs Bunny or maybe a spine-tingling episode of Superfriends while eating my usual Saturday morning breakfast of Pop-Tarts and Tylenol. I kept waiting for the commercial to end and the show to start. After about 15 minutes of channel switching, I realized that I had been seeing the actual shows. It seems that original and entertaining cartoons have been replaced by half-hour-long toy commercials.

While Saturday morning TV has never produced an overabundance of high-quality educational and entertaining material, it certainly had its redeeming qualities. But this stuff they're putting on now, with a couple of

I was lying around last Saturday morning, exceptions, is really just commercial garcartoons: Gummi Bears, Care Bears, Smurfs, My Little Pony, Pound Puppies, Captain Power, Jem....And during the week, you can find such commercial jewels as The Adventures of Teddy Ruxpin, G.I. Joe, Transformers and Thundercats. Not coincidentally, all can be found in one form or another on the shelves of your friendly neighborhood toy > Obviously, toy products will evolve from popular cartoon characters. But it seems to have become a new marketing technique to develop the toy first, then use the cartoon as an advertising tool. In Captain Power and the Soldiers of the Future, kids are encouraged to buy an electronic toy that allows them to interact with the show. That the networks allow this type of manipulation is amazing.

Commentary

DOUG FOLK Collegian Columnist

Another thing I noticed on Saturday morning was that those little educational segments between the shows were gone. Yep, that's right, no more of CBS's "In The News." And how many of you would know your multiplication tables without the help of Multiplication Rock? Those little tunes from ABC's "Schoolhouse Rock" helped millions of on teen-agers. children learn everything from conjunction use ("Conjunction Junction, what's your function?...") to how a bill becomes a law ("I'm just a Bill, yes, I'm only a Bill, and I'm sittin' here on Capitol Hill....") Admit it, where did you learn the preamble to the Constitution, hmm? How are these children going to make it through school?

There are a few new shows (new to me, anyway) that make me feel Saturday morning programming isn't a total wasteland. "Pee Wee's Playhouse," a bizzare, colorful show featuring the diminutive Pee Wee Herman, contains many strange yet original characters and segments. Shows like "Teen Wolf" and "Galaxy High" give a little more realistic view of the attitudes of teen-agers (neglecting the unusual circumstances, of course) than has been seen in previous cartoons centering

Still, I can't help reminiscing about the old classics. A Yogi Bear beats a Care Bear or a Gummi Bear any day in my book. And no Pound Puppie could hold a candle to Scooby Doo and his ghost-hunting friends. (Remember that last scene, when Fred pulls the mask off, and everybody gasps in unison, "It's Sheriff Wilson!") Of course, our Saturday mornings had their share of weak shows, too. Remember Captain Caveman?

I guess I can accept the fact that tastes change. But this trend toward commercialization annoys me. And it'd be nice to see the return of some educational segments between shows. I know, this topic probably seems a little irrelevant in the grand scheme of things. It's just one of those little things that bugs a person. Know what I mean?

Letters

Let students relax are the cops when you need them?

Editor,

In response to the letter from the assistant director of general services, Grounds Department here at K-State (about the people playing "flag tag" on the grass at Memorial Stadium), I would personally like to volunteer to wring out your tear-filled hanky. Imagine the nerve of those hooligans playing on grass, all the while "crapping" on their fellow students and the Kansas taxpayers as well. Surely they knew they were "destroying the grass in Memorial Stadium!" Why, just today on my way home from class I thought I heard someone say, "All the grass has been destroyed in Editor, Memorial Stadium!"

Next thing you know they'll be spitting on ourselves who's being childish here. Is it a bunch of students who, in the midst of a barrage of exams, take time out for exercise and and non-judgmental listening and referral relaxation or some "melvin" like yourself who makes a federal case out of some dead weeds? I am a student and a taxpayer and I say they can play anywhere they want. Let's not forget who's here for whom!

Scott C. Haynes sophomore in business administration

Dedicated service

The week of Nov. 22 has been declared Volunteer Recognition Week by the FONE the sidewalk or writing on the desks. Where Crisis Center in appreciation of the dedicated service by the volunteers who make the exis-Well Mr. T.G. Lee, let's be real and ask tence of the FONE possible. The FONE has been serving the community for 17 years, offering a confidential, caring, anonymous service to those who need someone to talk with about their problems. Last year, we handled more than 3,500 calls. Though not all were crisis situations, every call was given equal attention.

An awards ceremony and potluck dinner will be at 6 p.m. Nov. 22 at the University for Man House, 1221 Thurston Ave. All current FONE volunteers are invited. Former FONE volunteers are also welcome to attend.

This week will be followed by a volunteer training session from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 5 at the UFM House.

It takes 50 volunteers per week to operate have to be gay to get AIDS.

the FONE. We need your help. Please plan to attend, and bring a friend. Call 532-6565 to

Linda Ekdahl-Crabb Coordinator

AIDS guideline

At K-State, there is a policy/guideline concerning acquired immune deficiency syndrome. The problem with this is the majority of the students don't know about the policy, and they should. This lack of knowledge is dangerous, because it's probably safe to assume that in colleges, sexual activity is high. And this is where the greater percentage of AIDS is transmitted. And no, you don't

Since we all know AIDS is a killer, I believe the K-State guidelines toward AIDS should be made known to the campus community. A few ways I think the University could do this is by publicizing the policy. They could hand out brochures on campus informing the students. Or, the policy could be printed in the KSU Bulletin or Collegian.

I feel if the students understand the policy here at K-State, they will be more aware of the problem and take necessary precautions.

Richard Poste junior in agriculture economics

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged.

Sales exceed $4 million in first 5 days of lottery

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Kansas Lottery generated more than $4 million in gross ticket sales in its first five days, exceeding the agency's expected sales for its first full week, lottery officials announced Tuesday.

Rough estimates put ticket sales between $4 million and $4.5 million, based upon the number of people who won the top "instant-win" prize of $5,000 and the odds of winning the prize. Twenty-five people won $5,000, with odds listed as one in 180,000.

Tickets for the first state-operated gambling game in Kansas history, "Up and Away," went on sale just after midnight Thursday, and lottery official reported gross sales of almost $2.1 million during the first 36 hours the lottery was in operation.

gross sales of $3.1 million during the lottery's first full week and $18.1 during its first game, which is sche-

"By the end of the week, we may double what our projections are," Lottery Director Larry Montgomery said during a news conference.

Although he could not say exactly where sales are the heaviest, Montgomery said indications were that they were especially brisk in the Kansas City area and in other border

"The Kansas City regional office has already run out of tickets three times," Montgomery said.

People play the game by purchasing $1 "instant-win" tickets, which have latex patches. The buyer scratches away the latex patch, revealing a list of six prizes. If three are the same, the buyer wins a prize ranging from a free ticket to $5,000.

The game will end with a $100,000 jackpot drawing, but Lottery officials had projected Zogleman said lottery officials still are working out the details. They have said people can enter the drawing by sending five losing tickets in headquarters.

"We've already received - it's amazing - gobs and gobs of cnvelopes," said Nancy Zogleman, a lottery spokeswoman. "I think the Post Office is going to kill us."

Zogleman said lottery officials have ordered $25 million tickets from British American Bank Note, the company it hired to print them. If the agency runs out of tickets, the first game will end sooner than expected, she said.

Montgomery credited the 2,862 retail outlets that sold tickets with helping to create the higher-thanexpected sales. He also said the agency has been contacted by more retailers interested in selling tickets and has "applications out there we just can't handle."

"They did a tremendous job in preparation and promotion of ticket sales," Montgomery said. "That tremendous amount of demand forced most of our 2,800 retailers to reorder heavily before the weekend."

duled to last between eight and 10 an envelope to the lottery's Topeka City commission boosts price of elderly, handicapped travel

By Erwin Seba Collegian Reporter

Manhattan city commissioners voted 4-1 Tuesday to increase by 40 percent the price of taxi coupons used by elderly and handicapped residents for travel in Manhattan.

Commissioners also raised the age requirement for elderly persons buying these coupons. Currently, anyone 62 or older can qualify for the coupons. Beginning Jan. 1, 1988, only those 70 years old and older can purchase them.

Handicapped people of any age will still be qualified to purchase taxi coupons, said Curt Wood, city director of finance.

Taxi coupons, sold in books of 10. currently cost $10.50 per book or $1.05 per coupon. By increasing the price of individual coupons to $1.47, commissioners increased the price of the books to $14,70.

"We're in the ballpark by raising the user fee," Wood said.

Commissioners also voted to crease the city subsidy of the coupon program from $1.25 per coupon to 83 cents, reducing the city's cost for each book from $12.50 to $8.30.

Wood said the increase will be necessary to offset an anticipated budget shortfall in 1988. This year, the taxi coupon program costs approximately $40,500. The commission budgeted $23,588 for the program in 1988, Wood said.

Wood originally recommended no change in the age limit for elderly patrons of the program and an increased price of $1.60 per coupon.

Commissioner Dave Fiser said he was against any sort of increase in the price of the coupons.

"I'm against raising the fee," he said. "We have a lot of people who rely on this taxi program to get them

Commissioner Richard Hayter, in discussing the later-approved increase in the age limit and the coupon cost, said the expense of administering such a change would be a greater cost to the city.

"It seems to be the fairest way," Hayter said. "But, hidden in that

It's Gonna

Be Hot!

THE HEAT

Thurs. and Fri.

would be the additional administrative costs."

Commissioner Kent Glasscock said the city's budgetary commitments made this increase necessary.

"For my part, I'm going to stick to the budget. I think it's inescapable that we're going to have to raise the user fee," Glasscock said.

Wood pointed out the coupon program permits handicapped people and senior citizens to ride taxis from Bell Taxi Transportation Inc. for the cost of the coupon.

For each coupon Bell Taxi returns to the city, it is reimbursed $2.30, Wood said.

Wood said the program was not currently subsidized by federal funds. Federal assistance to the program ended when revenue sharing between the states and the federal government was eliminated, Wood

The commission decided to maintain the program when revenue sharing ended.

Fill-up

ONLY AT DERBY STATION 720 N. THIRD N MANHATTAN Lottery tickets available here

named for '88 Collegian year," Goetz said. "She (Allerheili-

By Jenny Chaulk Campus Editor

K-State's Board of Student Publications announced the selection of the spring semester's Collegian editor and advertising manager Tuesday.

Jada Allerheiligen, senior in journalism and mass communications, was named ad manager. Judy Lundstrom, senior in journalism and mass communications, was named editor.

Allerheiligen was the only applicant for ad manager, while there were three applicants - Jeff Bielser, senior in journalism and mass communications; Chad Sanborn, junior in journalism and mass communications; and Lundstrom for editor.

Bielser is the Collegian's current news editor, and Sanborn is campus editor.

Dave Adams, director of Student Publications Inc. and board member, said Allerheiligen "is an excellent choice because she has been a long-time staff member. She would have been a hard person to beat" had there been more than one applicant, he said.

Judy Goetz, fall semester Collegian ad manager, said she was "not really surprised" Allerheiligen was the only applicant.

"There were a lot of people who were new here (on the ad staff) this gen) is one of the few veterans."

New editor, ad manager

Allerheiligen has been an advertising sales representative and a campus advertising representative, and she currently serves as assistant ad manager.

"It's (being ad manager) something I've wanted to wait to do until it was the right semester," Allerheiligen said. "This was the best semester to apply. I'm pretty excited."

Allerheiligen has three focal points in taking on her position: recruitment of more applicants for staff positions, reorganizing ad representatives' territories, and restructuring the graphic artist's position.

She also sees Manhattan Town Center as a "big challenge."

"Its advertising is going to play a vital part in second semester and how ad sales go," she said. "We need to generate more ads from the Allerheiligen said she will be visiting various marketing, design and journalism classes today and Thursday to tell students what the ad staff is and to encourage people to apply for positions.

Adams said the board was "very fortunate" to have three qualified people apply for editor.

"Any one of them could have handled the job," he said. "I couldn't have been unhappy with

NO YOU'RE NOT

DREAMING

"The board felt Lundstrom offered a high degree of maturity, news judgment and a strong ability to work with people, particularly in smaller groups.

Lundstrom has been a staff writer for two semesters and is special projects editor this semester.

"I think any one of us (who applied) could do a good job," she said. "I'm very excited. After seeing other papers across the country, I think the Collegian is a quality paper and I'm proud I'm going to be a part of managing it."

Lundstrom plans no major changes for the Collegian. Her biggest challenge is "continuing the tradition of excellence the Collegian has carried on for the past several years."

Deron Johnson, fall Collegian editor, said Lundstrom will be a good editor because of her news judgment skills and her ability to get along with people.

"She knows what makes a good story." Johnson said. "Everyone on the staff respects her because of the stories she has done in the past, and everyone gets along with her. This will help her in putting out a good spring paper."

Johnson said he hopes Lundstrom will improve on changes made in the Collegian this fall and will "build a strong staff in the spring."

HORSE WEDNESDAY SPECIALS: $2.25 Pitchers $1.25 Wells

OFFICE 776-6638

539-9081

Mae's Parlor

SANDWICHES Now being served!

> Tonight: $1.50 Well drinks 75¢ Draws blended drinks $1 Wine

Thursday:

$1.25 Well drinks .616 N. 12th 539-9967

WHY PAY 15.5% TO 20% APR INTEREST WITH CHARGE CARDS? GET A 14% APR SIGNATURE LOAN WITH US.

> Now borrow up to ten percent Your good credit record is your you qualify for a signature loan. loan officer today.

of your gross K-State income if collateral. Stop in and speak to a

A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants.

Anderson Hall, Room 24A Open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday (except on University holidays) Telephone 532-6274

Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometrist

Individual Eye Health Care •Eye Glass Frames and Lenses (One Year Warranty) ·Specialized Contact Lens Care Tinted (Brown Eyes to Blue) -Extended/Flexible Wear HMO/Insurance Accepted

DEST -O- DUCCHER Payment Plans Available your eyecare professionals annually 776-9461 Toll Free 1-800-432-0036 104 Humboldt (1 blk. W. of Dillards)

HI B I LOVE YOU CONGRATS 620 N. Manhattan, 776-1360 Express yourself with a balloon *Send your expression by mail-Let us do the work.

You've seen them win Star Search before, now you can see them here.

One time appearance.

Sent UPS the same day. LESS THAN YOU MAY THINK!

THANKS GOOD LUCK FI'M SORRY FI MISS YOU

BAKERY SCIENCI BAKE SALE

Monster Cookies Raisin Bread Blueberry Muffins Beer-Rye Bread Brownies

TODAY

3 p.m.-until sold out Shellenberger Hall, Rm. 105

Gorbachev invited to address meeting of Congress Dec. 9

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has been invited to address a joint meeting of Congress during his summit with President Reagan next month, House officials announced Tuesday.

The White House said Reagan should be accorded "the same opportunity" to address the Soviet people.

Gorbachev is expected to address Congress and the Cabinet at the joint meeting at 10 a.m. EST on Dec. 9, said Wilson Morris, a spokesman for House Speaker Jim Wright, Gorbachev would be the first communist leader to be accorded the honor.

Morris said the White House proposed the joint meeting and the House and Senate arranged it.

Each chamber needs to agree to recess for the joint meeting by unanimous consent. Morris said no problem is expected obtaining unanimous consent. "That would be terribly embarrassing for the administration. That doesn't happen," he said.

However, an aide to conservative Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said Helms and others who oppose an appearance by Gorbachev before Congress were making plans to block the joint meeting. The aide spoke on condition he not be identified.

A joint session is held when the House and Senate are officially in session together with the proceedings appearing in both chambers' sections of the Congressional Record, such as to hear the president's State of the Union address. Foreign leaders and others address joint meetings, which are more informal.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Soviet summit planners had proposed several possible ways for Gorbachev to meet with lawmakers and that the White House was amenable to "pretty much whatever" the Soviet leader wanted to do.

"We think it would be helpful for the general secretary to be able to explain the INF (intermediate nuclear forces) treaty, we think it should be helpful to the ratification process, but the exact forum is still up in the air," Fitzwater

A treaty banning mediumrange missiles in Europe is expected to be signed at the Reagan-Gorbachev summit Dec.

Fitzwater said the administration had not made a Reagan address to the Soviet people a condition for a Gorbachev address to Congress.

Geography Awareness Day declared

By The Collegian Staff

Gov. Mike Hayden signed a proclamation last week declaring today Geography Awareness Day. This proclamation supports a joint congressional resolution designating Nov. 15-21 as national geography awareness week.

"(There is) an appalling lack of geographic knowledge among citizens in a nation constantly called upon to provide international leadership," said M. Duane Nellis, head of the geography department.

In celebration of Geography Awareness Day at K-State, Nancy Ettlinger, University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor and specialist of urban and regional geography, will today in Dickens 206. An informal discussion will follow.

In order to promote geographic literacy, geography displays have been set up in Dickens Hall in the geography department and Farrell Library.

Charles Bussing, geography professor, will tell about his experiences in Botswana at the annual geography be the featured speaker at 3:30 p.m. banquet at 6 tonight. New members of the geography fraternity, Gamma Theta Upsilon, will be initiated and geography scholarship winners announced.

> Nellis said the Southern Governors Association last year recommended the teaching of geography in kindergarten through high school.

Hayden says office budget to remain low

By The Associated Press

WICHITA - Gov. Mike Hayden said Tuesday he will lead by example in preparing next year's budget by keeping the number of employees and total expenses for the governor's office below the previous administration.

Speaking at a news conference in Wichita, Hayden said the budget for his office has been frozen at current levels and remains $15,700 less than the previous administration's.

Hayden also said he has accepted a voluntary 3.8 percent salary cut.

"I have long believed that it is best to lead by example," Hayden said. "It simply isn't fair to ask others to hold the line on state spending without setting the example at the highest level.

Records from the Division of Accounts and Reports indicate that Hayden's predecessor, former Gov. John Carlin, had 28.5 employees being paid out of the governor's office funds, the governor said. Hayden's Fiscal Year 1989 budget request is for 24 employees.

"We currently are in the process of putting together the total budget for the next fiscal year," Hayden said. "If we fund every item at the level requested, we would be nearly $200 million in the red by the end of the 1989 fiscal year. Clearly those numbers must be pared down."

Hayden said he intends to propose a balanced budget.

ptometrists Dedicated to Optometry

In a friendly manner

K-State, we'd like to be your optometric office

- Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended wear, tinted soft contact lenses
- Contact lenses competitively priced
- Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting
- Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock
- Evening and Saturday appointments available

Horticulture Club Pecan Sale Waters 41A 7:30-5:30

Union-1st Floor-9:30-4:30

5 lb. Cracked Pecans

Proceeds go toward Club scholarships and community projects

Nov. 18-19-20

Take a break from SCHOOL STUDIES & Stop by for a cool, refreshing Blizzard treat

12th & Moro Aggieville

1015 N. 3rd Manhattan

* U.S. Pat. Off., Am. D.Q. Corp. Copyright 1987 Am. D.Q. Corp., Mphs., MN Printed in U.S.A.

Select your holiday gifts from the collection that will be treasured. Many depression glass patterns to choose from.

105 N. 4th

Hours: M., W., F., Noon til 4:30 or by appt. 537-2280 Norma Jane Ball からからからからからからからからから

Dr. Elsea and Dr. Townsend for coming to Dallas with S.A.M.!

THANK YOU

-Dallas Field Trip

Lock Repair! Hair Locks That Is Hair Experts Design Team

·One Hour Appts.

·Facial Analysis

Color Analysis

·Skin Care Make-up Analysis

We are the Experts

776-4455

Aggieville

1111 Moro Manhattan

Step away from the crowd...

to The Pathfinder,

your outdoor specialty store, where clothing is distinctive (unique, individual, incomparable, personal, functional, special, cherished, remarkable, charming, extraordinary).

Enter from 9696969696969696

Donald L. Graham, D.D.S. and Mark D. Hungerford D.D.S., P.A.

wish to announce the relocation of their Family and Implant Dental Practice to the lower level of

1834 Claflin Rd. (North of Goodnow Hall) Manhattan, Kansas

New telephone number 913/539-5949

Emergencies seen immediately Evening and early morning appointments available Free consultations

NOVEMBER SAL

Buy 1 pair, get 1 pair at

Buy any regular-priced pair of womens dress shoes and get a second pair of equal or lesser value at 50% off. Our collection includes mid-to-high heel pumps, skimmers and more in genuine leather and leather-like synthetics.

REEBOK* ATHLETIC SHOES

Men's and women's Reebok* CL-1000, Reg. 27.99 Sale 22.99 Reebok* 4600, Reg. 45.99 Sale 39.99 Reebok* 4000, Reg. 42.99 Sale 37.99

through Nov. 21

Shop 10-9 Daily 12-6 Sunday

FoodWednesday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, November 18, 1987 ■ Page 7

Everyone wants The Piece of: The pie, turkey and fresh-baked rolls pervade the house during Thanksgiving, bringing everyone to "check

Thanksgiving is traditionally a day of thanks for another safe year and a good harvest. For many people, it is a day of visiting with family and eating.

Turkey, cranberry jelly, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes and hot rolls are the necessary ingredients of Thanksgiving. And don't forget the Mincemeat and apple pie, sweet breads and pecan pie top the list of favorites, and the pumpkin pie with mountains of whipped cream is among the most traditional of Thanksgiving fare.

Many of these desserts were often

Wonderful smells of pumpkin made in the past because of the availability of the ingredients. According to the book "Colonial Living," the pumpkin, a staple of on things" at least once before Thanksgiving desserts, was popular with early settlers. It could be dried or stored in a cool, dry place and kept for winter. Pumpkins were also popular because they could be roasted whole or mashed and mixed with com meal in making pumpkin

> Today they are part of many families' Thanksgiving dinner tradition.

Students away from home will not be left out on this family holiday, "Families" in residence halls will take part in those traditions at the annual Thanksgiving dinner, served by the food centers. Students in the residence halls and their guests can enjoy a "Plymouth Plantation Feast" during the evening meal Thursday. The menu will pumpkin include turkey, mashed potatoes and giblet gravy, dressing, green beans, pumpkin pie, apple cake, brownie pie and a fall fruit bowl.

For those students who live offcampus and for busy homemakers, the K-State Union Food Service office will be having a bakery sale until Tuesday. Homemade mincemeat pie, oatmeal pie and pumpkin pie, as well as a variety of breads, may be ordered and picked up by Wednesday.

Thanksgiving pies, a traditional dessert started by the Thanksgiving founders, will remain a favorite of

Recipes Pumpkin Pie unbaked 9-inch pie shell 11/4 cups cooked or canned

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger teaspoon cinnamon
- tablespoon flour
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- cup evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons water

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine pumpkin, sugar, salt, spices and flour in mixing bowl. Add eggs, mix well. Add evaporated milk, water and vanilla. Mix. Pour into pie shell. Bake in 400 degree oven 45-50 minutes or until knife inserted into the center comes out clean.

Mincemeat Pie (Store-bought filling can be used for convience and time-saving) 6 cups ground beef

12 cups chopped apples 6 cups seedless raisins

- 1 cup cider
- tablespoon cinnamon
- tablespoon allspice 1 tablespoon nutmeg

brown. Put meat and apples through food chopper using medium blade.

Combine all ingredients in large kettle. Simmer 30 minutes. Pack at once in hot, pint jars. Adjust lids.

Process in pressure canner 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Remove jars from canner. Makes 8 pints. Store until ready for use.

pan. Dot filling with 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Adjust top crust

- cut vents and flute edges. Brush top and sprinkle with sugar if

- 1 cup dark corn syrup 31/2 cups sugar Cook beef thoroughly - do not
 - 1 cup sugar

2 eggs

- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup coconut

1 teaspoon vanilla

2 tablespoons butter

1/2 cup quick cooking oats minutes or until pastry is golden.

Pilgrim Pie

1 upbaked 9-inch pie shell

Beat eggs, add vanilla and butter, beat and add sugar. Beat, add syrup and salt, beat. Stir in coconut and oats. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 14 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 Use 2 pints in unbaked 9-inch degrees for 35 minutes.

Story by Michelle Engemann Illustration by desired. Bake at 425 degrees 40-45 Gary Lytle

The sounds of Thanksgiving: Plop, Plop, Fizz, Fizz Your grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins, who you haven't seen all year, gather together to feast on pies, turkey, mashed potamade. Better not forget Aunt Blabby's famous homemade bread and People eat like they have never eaten before at Thanksgiving, stuffing their faces with food that would make your scales do a double flip. How about that diet? What diet? The diet goes out the window, along with the promise you will only eat one piece of Grand-

It's amazing the amount of food which is passed around the table.

ma's famous pecan pie.

toes, sweet potatoes and some kind of casserole Aunt Hortence

Thanksgiving is a strange holiday. It is a time of year when families gather together to eat. They don't eat just a small dinner; they eat like they have never eaten before. Why do people torture themselves so much by eating and eating until they can hardly walk?

Eating like pigs and later collapsing on the couch, bloated, is not a favorite feeling. And they vow never to eat turkey again. But we as Americans do it year after to year to celebrate Thanksgiving - just like the Pilgrims. I know most of you are familiar with this sight, food everywhere and then later, people lying everywhere. You've never seen so much of the "plop, plop, fizz, fizz" being passed around in your life. And they say this is what Thanksgiving is all about.

Feature Editor

STAGGENBORG

SUSAN

Food for Thought

There is always too much, and everyone ends up taking home a Tupperware container or foil covered package of Thanksgiving leftovers - even after the second round of feasting which occurred two hours after the original feast. Take notice of how the men and women always segregate at Thanksgiving. The women gather in the kitchen and prepare the food and set the table. The men gather either outside, smoking one last cigarette, or talk football around the television.

But the families always gather together when they get ready to position themselves for the grand event, the gorging of their

After the damage has been done, they retire from the table, patting their stomachs, and lounge - like fat, lazy dogs - in the living room. Nobody worries about the dishes or dessert until the starting signal is sounded, the annual Thanksgiving Day football game. This signals the women to return to the kitchen, and the men to position themselves for a very lazy afternoon.

The food is never put away completely. The turkey is covered with foil "in case someone gets hungry," and the desserts sit on the counters begging to be sampled. Everything is always within a short distance for afternoon snackers.

No snacking really takes place. As my mother would say, "they eat like they are on full feed," - translation - "they eat like a bunch of pigs."

Thanksgiving will always be the same everywhere. People get together, eat, sit around, eat again and then go home. Sounds like a pretty boring way to celebrate a tradition started by the Pilgrims, but I doubt if they watched football games either.

Have a safe and Happy Thanksgiving!

peaker: Cities' designs ill-conceived

11111 1 1

By Paula Selby Collegian Reporter

Today's cities, designed by modern planners, are cities of asphalt and cities of the automobile, said Andres Duany, architect.

Duany was the 35th guest speaker in the Oscar Ekdahl Memorial Lecture in Forum Hall recently. The Oscar Ekdahl Memorial Lectures, founded by the College of Architecture and Design, are meant to complement and challenge the educational programs in the college and to honor K-State graduate Oscar Ekdahl.

The slide show which accompanied Duany's lecture, titled "New Towns for America," illustrated the little towns or many of the European difference between traditional urbanism (the way cities used to be designed) and modern urbanism (the way today's cities are designed).

Today's society doesn't work as a "social entity," Duany said. People are destined to spend all their time confined in cars.

Americans don't have a "viable public realm" where ideas can be exchanged and politics discussed, he

"People who live here are not subject to random meetings that make it a delight in most traditional cities to go home or to go to work," Duany said. "Most of the people who live in cities actually consider that time, between work and home, to be the most pleasurable, the most interesting, the most educative, actually the most social (time) of the day."

Traditional urbanism defined public space to provide for open social interaction and controlled the termination of vistas (the view at the end of a street), Duany said.

"Landscape architects and planners now are taught to avoid the straight line like the plague. Streets are to be curvy," he said. "The curvy streets actually terminate the vistas...in a very ill-defined way, in a way with very little character. So it is the urban equivalent of Muzak kind of pleasant, but nothing you can remember."

Modern planners have lost the balance of traditional urbanism, Duany said.

They take parking space off the streets to make them more attractive and then move the space to parking lots made of "boring and intensely hostile" asphalt, he said. The lots generate negative real estate and create public space that isn't useful.

"(The planners) remove the parking from the streets so the streets are presumably beautiful and naturalistic...then the potential parking that would be on the streets is shoved to a parking lot which is right in the nose of your front door," Duany said. "So, in order to have a beautiful entry you have to damage your threshold."

On-street parking creates a balance between the pedestrian and the car. It makes it challenging for the pedestrian and slows the car down, he said.

"In these wonderful new developments, they're basically designing 55 mph streets, then they put speed bumps in later to stop them," Duany

Duany explained in detail the strategies behind his design of a new

His Seaside Town Plan incorporated traditional urbanism into today's society. He created his idea of a socially active environment by using prototypes of various successful architectural styles.

Among other design awards Duany has won, the Seaside Town Plan has been recognized for showing his concern for the clarity of architectural and urban form. Duany studied at Princeton, the Ecole de Beaux Arts and Yale, where he earned the master of architecture in 1974.

For the rest of the week, Duany will be working with fourth-year students in the College of Architecture and Design

2 neo-Nazis Federal jury

By The Associated Press

DENVER - A federal jury convicted two members of the neo-Nazi group The Order and acquitted two others Tuesday of civil rights violations in the 1984 machine-gun slaying of Jewish radio talk show host

The jury deliberated more than 10 hours over two days before returning the verdict.

The jury found that David Lane and Bruce Pierce killed Berg, an outspoken and sometimes abrasive radio personality, because he was Jewish and employed as a talk show host. exchange for reduced sentences.

There was no applicable murder statute under federal law.

Richard Scutari and Jean Craig were acquitted. Lane and Pierce could receive up to life in prison, becoming eligible for parole after 10 years.

"I'm 50 percent happy," Assistant U.S. Attorney Barry Kowalski said after the verdict, which came after more than two weeks of testimony from nearly 100 witnesses.

The case against the four was based on circumstantial evidence, provided mainly by former members of The Order who agreed to testify in

Berg, 50, was gunned down the night of June 18, 1984 in the driveway of his Denver townhouse, hit by 13 bullets from a silencer-equipped

.45-caliber machine pistol.

"They killed him because of his job and they did it because he was a Jew," Thomas O'Rourke, an assistant U.S. attorney, had said in closing arguments.

Moments after the verdict, Lane held up a legal pad on which was scrawled, "Remember Whidbey Island," a reference to a shootout with federal agents that resulted in the death of Robert Mathews, the Mathews was believed to have been with the group when Berg was shot to death.

O'Rourke said the defendants were proud of the slaying and "couldn't resist talking about what they had done."

Defense lawyers noted that while the four may have held unpopular, even repulsive views, they did not kill Berg and the government had insufficient evidence to prove it.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Tailor Made Seat Covers Tanneau Covers Boat Covers Window Tinting Convertible Tops Vinyl Tops Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery 201 Sarber Lane (behind Wal-Mart) Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

$2.00 OFF

Color Processing (C-41 only)

120, 110, 126, 135, Disc Open Daily

2700 Anderson

9-6 M-S 12-6 Sunday

Not valid with any other offer.

539-2519

exp. Nov. 30, 1987

SAFEWAY

222 N. 6th 3011 Anderson 539-3226 776-5202

New Store Hours a.m. to 10 p.m. 7 days a week

Specials Nov. 18-24

Pepsi Cola

Townhouse Cranberry Sauce .. 39°

Libby's Pumpkin

16 oz......49°

Birdseye Cool Whip

8 oz. tub......69° Check cashing with student I.D.

> For the Holiday Bride Lenox China and Crystal

Lenox China is recognized for unsurpassed beauty and quality. Skilled artisar trim each piece with 24 karat gold or gleaming platinum

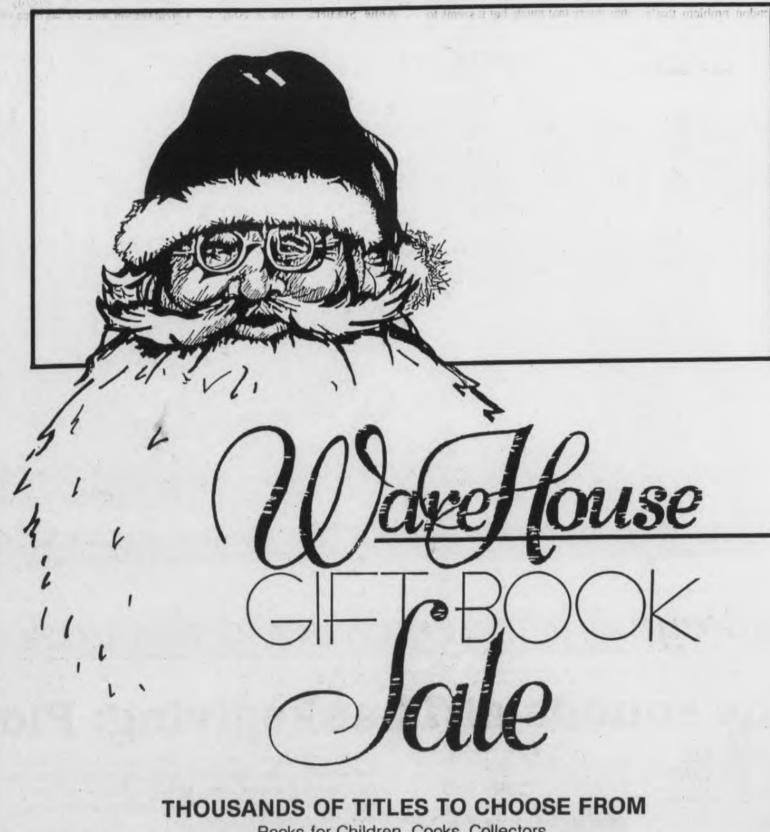

Complement your Lenox China pattern with sparkling hand-blown Lenox lead Crystal

Poyntz & 5th 776-9067 Downtown

1227 Moro 539-1891 Aggieville

We are the speciality shop that's truly special!

Books for Children, Cooks, Collectors, Hobbyists, Arts, History, and Many More!

ALL AT DISCOUNT PRICES November 18 thru December 2

KSU Rooms-K-State Union

Monday thru Friday 8:30 am-4:30 pm, Saturday November 21 10:00 am-4:00 pm

Closed November 26, 27, 28 & 29 Thanksgiving Holiday

K-State Union Bookstore

11. 11:11 :1:1

Harriers set for NCAA championships

By Jeff Rapp Sports Editor

K-State cross country coach John Capriotti likes his job. In fact, he loves it.

Capriotti, though, does have a right to enjoy his work, considering his women's team just qualified for the NCAA cross country championship meet for the fourth straight year. "I really like it at K-State. I want to be here," Capriotti said.

"I like the team; I like the school; I like the (Big Eight) Conference, and I love coming to work every morning at 8 o'clock. I love it, I really do."

With an attitude like that, Capriotti could be one of the most satisfied coaches around, but he doesn't let it stop there. He spreads the sunshine to his athletes as well.

The group Capriotti encourages consists of junior Laura Haggerty, seniors Anne Stadler and Alysun Deckert, and sophomores Jenny Faunce, Becky Ives, Marge Eddy and Tammy Van Laeys.

That same group earned the right to compete in the national meet by tallying the second best score at the District V cross country meet behind the University of Colorado last Saturday.

Haggerty finished fourth in the meet, with Stadler finishing 10th, Faunce 15th, Ives 20th, Eddy 22nd, Deckert 26th and Van Laeys 36th.

Capriotti said Deckert's 26thplace performance could be attributed to an "off day" and the senior is expected to perform much better in the championships at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

He also said he knows what to expect from his runners and detailed his expectations of the team. The following is a profile of what Capriotti expects from his athletes:

Laura Haggerty: "She's been our No. 1 runner all year, but she still has an Achilles tendon problem that's upcoming NCAA Championship on Nov. 23 in Charlottesville, Va. The women, led by at last Saturday's NCAA District V meet in Columbia, Mo.

Members of the K-State women's cross country team prepare Tuesday afternoon for the junior Laura Haggerty, qualified for the fourth straight year for nationals by placing second trying to heal. Her training has be getting better. She'll be ready to become a lot better, so I think Laura's goal this weekend is to become an All-American, by finishing among the top 25 runners. She's done a great job and she's very excited. She's coming off a great district race, but I still think she can do better.

She never really complains about her injury that much, but it seems to Alysun Deckert: "I expect Alysun to run pretty well. She had a down meet, but she only struggled the last half-mile of that meet. Other than that, she didn't have much of a problem. I expect her to regroup and be one of our top two or three girls."

Anne Stadler: "This is Anne's best season ever, and this course at nationals really favors her. It's a faster course, and I think if she has a good day, she could have a shot also at being one of the top 25 runners. She's really coming on right now, and I expect her to have a pretty good run. She's looking pretty good."

Jenny Faunce: Jenny's really had a great season, and she has been a big "They're the two girls no one wanted who'll give 110 percent."

surprise. She had to sit out last season because she was a transfer, so I really didn't know what to expect from her, because I didn't know her. Now, after watching her run, I can see she's a good talent, and she's just getting better as the year goes on. I expect a giant step from her this weekend."

Becky Ives, Marge Eddy:

out of high school. I think now everybody would want them on their team. They've really been the meat of our team's success."

Tammy Van Laeys: "This being her first year, she's done a good job. She's just learning the sport, and she ran very well in the district meet. Tammy is a real good competitor forward to letter

By Staff and Wire Reports

Reggie Britt, a 6-foot-6.

220-pound forward at Coffeyville Community College, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at K-State beginning with the 1988-89 season, Wildeat head coach Lon Kru-ger announced Wednesday. The Flint, Mich., native averaged 20 points and 11 rebounds per game last season at Coffeyville. Through two games this season, the Red Ravens have posted a 1-1 record, and Britt is averaging

The Sporting News' pre-season publication ranked Britt as the 19th best junior college player in the country this

"We're very excited about the addition of Reggie to our program, but not just from the basketball perspective," Kru-ger said. "He's just an outstanding individual with many fine qualities."

Among others, Britt was also receiving recruiting atten-tion from Michigan, Purdue,

Oklahoma and San Diggo

"A tip of the hat to the K-State coaching staff," said Cof-feyville head coach Bin Gracie. "They provided a great deal of continuity and sincerity in their recruiting effort.

Roggie felt he was recruited not only as a basketball player, but also as a person and a

"Reggie is certainly very important to our program. He is a very charismatic individual who will provide additional integrity to the K-State prog-faculty and perhaps most importantly, in the eyes of his fellow students."

ram in the eyes of the couch

17 points per game.

Nee wishes season was over prior to start

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Even before the season has begun, second-year Nebraska basketball coach Danny Nee is already wishing it was over.

"I'd like this year to be already over and come back next year," Nee said. "If I knew now what I knew last year, I wouldn't have coached in the Big Eight. That's how good the league is."

That's a strange comment from a person who coached the Cornhuskers to a third-place finish in the 1987 National Invitational Tournament in his first year at Nebraska. As strange as it may seem, Nee wasn't joking about this year's outlook at Nebraska.

Throughout the preseason basketball polls, Nebraska is ranked in the bottom half of the Big Eight. Most polls have predicted the Cornhuskers to finish seventh, while some have said the 'Huskers could finish as high as fifth or as low as eighth. "Graduation probably hurt Nebraska more than any other basketball team in the league," Nee said. "We're in the structure of bringing in a lot of new people. We have six freshmen, one sophomore and two people who didn't play last year.

"The core of Nebraska basketball probably is going to be represented by (senior forward) Henry Buchanan and (senior guard) Derrick Vick. They are two fine players that we are going to have to build a team around. Everyone else you've probably never heard of," he said.

Three starters and four other lettermen are gone from last year's squad including the top three scorers, the leading rebounder and the sixth man. The second man off the bench has quit to play football, and another sub has decided to play baseball instead

Only four lettermen returned to the Cornhuskers' squad this year. Vick and Buchanan are the only two year. returning starters. Senior forward Jeff Rekeweg and sophomore center Richard van Poelgeest, the other two returning lettermen, saw limited action last season and averaged less than 10 minutes per game. Their total combined production was less than 6 points per game and 4 rebounds per game. As if that isn't enough, all four

DANNY NEE... season a bad dream.

Eight newcomers, consisting of six freshmen players and two junior college transfers, round out the Nebraska roster. Add the facts that freshmen forward Beau Reid was redshirted last year, junior guard Eric Johnson sat out last year after transferring to Nebraska, and freshman guard Rodney Curtis didn't meet Proposition 48 requirements and was unable to play or practice with Nebraska last year. Then add one more down note on Nebraska's prospectus. Curtis' status for the season is uncertain because he sustained a neck injury in an automobile accident in July. Nee is right, it doesn't look good for the Cornhuskers. Even the 'Huskers' conference-leading string of 14 consecutive winning seasons may be in jeopardy.

On top of all of that, Nee is trying to rebuild a program during a time when many people think the Big Eight is stronger than it has ever

"The league, in my opinion, is the best it's ever been from top to bottom," Nee said. "It's the year of the players were first-year Huskers last superstars. I think ESPN picked the right year to cover us.

"After being in the league a year, I know a lot more, and I have a feel for the league. The big thing with Nebraska basketball is we are a very, very inexperienced basketball team,"

The days of being given several years to rebuild a basketball program from almost scratch are gone, Nee

"With the media the way it is, with the exposure, there's no longer such a thing as a coach coming in and rebuilding a program," Nee said.

"The fans expect you to be successful daily. You have to be immediately successful, because they're always reading in the paper what Larry Brown or coach so-and-so

So how does he explain to the alumni what he's doing with the Cornhuskers.

"The alumni don't want to hear about rebuilding a program," Nee said. "So I use the term reloading."

No matter what it is called, Nebraska is in a transition period and probably won't contend for the Big Eight Championship this season.

By Staff and Wire Reports

Two K-State players have earned

For the second straight year, outside hitter Shawnee Call was named to the first team. She was joined by teammate Kristi Jacquart, who was an honorable mention selection. Call is a junior from Ellsworth, while Jacquart is a senior from Sublette.

K-State opens play in the Big Eight Conference Tournament at 6 p.m. Friday in Salina against Kansas.

Call, Jacquart receive honor recognition on the 1987 all-Big Eight Conference Volleyball Team.

"It's a great honor for two fine athletes," said K-State coach Scott Nelson. "Our entire squad can take a lot of pride in an honor like this. Volleyball may be the ultimate team sport, and when individuals are honored, the whole team is honored.'

Joining Call on the first team were Trennell Carter, Oklahoma; Kathi Deboer, Nebraska; Lori Endicott, Nebraska: Linda Evans, Iowa State;

and Virginia Stahr, Nebraska.

Britt is the first signed officially announced by K-State.

Buckeyes' firing of Bruce a disgrace A.M. Sports

BILL LANG Sports Writer

Ohio State University has had the reputation of being one of the finer academic oriented schools in the nation, and also holds a strong stature in collegiate football.

Monday, though, Ohio State President Dr. Edward Jennings decided to grade one of his employees by how many wins he had instead of how well his overall program was going.

Monday afternoon Jennings fired Ohio State football coach Earl Bruce, stating that we was "under pressure to make a coaching change and that we had to do that."

In his nine seasons as the mentor of the Buckeyes, he guided the team to 80-26-1 record, the best among coaches in the Big Ten Conference. His Big Ten record of 56-17 ranks second behind the University of Michigan's Bo Schembechler, who has a record of 59-15-1.

"Tell him not to worry...I'll take the athletic directorship at Michigan and hire him up here." —Bo Schembechler Athletic Director Rick Bay was given the duty of informing Bruce of the decision. Afterward Bruce met with his team to inform them what had happened.

In a show of protest, Bay resigned his position the same day, saying there were "philosophical differences with the administration."

It seems the Ohio State Alumni Association has too much say on what goes on in the athletic department. Maybe they're spoiled; maybe they need to see and feel what it's like to be labeled a loser. Maybe they should take a tour of duty at Columbia University, the losingest team in NCAA history.

Besides, they aren't the coaches. They aren't the ones making the calls. It's a shame the alumni of one of the more prestigious football powers in the country can't show some dignity in losing.

This is very bad timing. All this is taking place before one of the biggest rivalries in the country the Ohio State-University of Michigan contest.

Last spring, former Ohio State All-American wide receiver Cris Carter admitted to signing a pro contract too early. The NCAA helped him get out of his contract and reinstated his eligibility for his last year. Bruce later said that he could not let Carter back on the team saying, "we cannot have people who break rules on our team. It would make us look bad and the University look bad," Bruce displayed savvy in his coaching style and a knowledge of the game. He was one of the better coaches in the country, and the alumni at Ohio State knew that. The university could land some of the best talent in the nation just by saying they were coming to town. Maybe this seems a little cruel and twisted, but now the University of Michigan is also looking for an athletic director. Schembechler jokingly suggested his solution to the problem. "Tell him not to worry," said

Schembechler in a recent article.

"Tell him I'll take the athletic directorship at Michigan and hire him up here. That'll shut them (the alumni)

Investment banker kills wife, 2 children, commits suicide

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK - An investment banker who killed his wife and two children and then fatally shot himself was eccentric, worked long hours and had taken to walking at night "like he had a lot on his mind," friends and neighbors said.

John Markle, son of Oscarwinning actress Mercedes McCambridge, was found dead Monday on the ground floor of his three-story Victorian home. Two pistols and a Halloween mask of an old man lay nearby.

The body of his 45-year-old wife, Chris, was found in bed on the top floor and the bodies of their daughters, Amy, 13, and Suzanne, 9, were in a bed on the second floor. All three were wearing nightgowns and had been shot at least once in the head.

A two-line handwritten note found near Markle's body said he was responsible for the shootings, but gave no motive, police said. Markle also left a briefcase containing personal and business papers for a lawyer.

supporting actress Oscar in 1950 for her role in "All the Kings Men," declined comment on the shootings.

Markle, 45, was a vice president of Stephens Inc., where he had worked the past eight years since coming from Salomon Brothers in New York, but had been on medical leave since Oct. 7, said firm spokesman Steve Stephens. Stephens said he did not know the reason for the leave.

Employees of the firm, the 15th largest investment house in the nation, said Markle handled investment of the personal accounts of its owners, brothers W.R. "Witt" and Jackson T. Stephens.

Markle made pessimistic economic forecasts in the past few months, prompting one co-worker to refer to him jokingly as "Dr. Doom," employees said. They said Markle, an economist who specialized in the analysis of fixed income securities, sometimes came to work wearing a rumpled business suit, white socks and tennis shoes.

At times, he worked extremely long hours, and one co-worker said

McCambridge, who won the best he once saw Markle taking a nap on a public bench outside the Stephens Building.

Markle pleaded guilty last year to a misdemeanor charge of public intoxication, court records show.

Jerry Burnett, owner of a liquor store across the street from the Markle house, said one of his employees told him Markle had taken to walking at night "like he had a lot on his mind.'

Markle would go to work on a motorcycle or in a wildly painted, battered pickup truck, co-workers said. He and his daughters painted the truck 18 colors one day, said a neighbor, who asked not to be

"He was a wonderful man, a crazy kind of guy, but there was nothing sinister about him," the neighbor

Police Sgt. Eddie Alexander said Markle might have worn the mask during some of the shooting.

He said police were investigating whether Markle had financial cans asserted, the problems do not affect the fundamental policy decisions that the administration pursued in the Middle East and in Central

The minority contended that the report seeks to treat policy debates as though they were legal or criminal concerns, and tries to give to Congress a greater role in policymaking

2,975 years given Man driven by 'illness'

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz. - A convicted child molester who says he is driven by an uncontrollable illness was sentenced Tuesday to 2,975 years in prison on 85 counts of sexually exploiting and molesting youngsters.

"I'm going to put you away for the rest of your life so it doesn't happen again," Pima County Superior Court Judge G. Thomas Meehan told Lawrence L. Taylor, 40, before imposing mandatory

The sentences were consecutive under Arizona's Dangerous Crimes Against Children statute, which prosecutor Sandra Hansen called the nation's toughest for years on each count. sexual crimes victimizing children.

Taylor was convicted Oct. 6 of 50 counts of sexual exploitation of minors stemming from photographs in his possession, 24 counts of sexual exploitation of minors for having taken the pictures, eight counts of sexual conduct with minors, two counts of attempted sexual conduct with minors and one count of molestation.

Hansen asked for the maximum term, saying Taylor had two prior felony convictions in Texas and one in Illinois for child molestation. Meehan imposed consecutive life sentences for each count with the possibility of parole after 35

Meehan and Ms. Hansen said later they thought the sentence was the longest ever imposed in promised to appeal. Taylor did not speak during the hearing, but in a 15-page, handwritten letter told the judge he is driven to molest children by "a sickness" that he cannot control.

Arizona. Taylor's lawyer, Lamar Couser,

"What you are doing is locking me up for something I can't help but do. It's something I can not resist doing," he wrote.

"I need help but not punishment," he said, and asked for

Report

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Jim Courter of New Jersey, Bill McCollum of Florida and Michael DeWine of Ohio - and two Senate Republicans, Orrin Hatch of Utah and James McClure of Idaho.

The GOP members did find numerous mistakes, most of them errors of political judgment, including an 11-month delay in notifying Congress of the Iran arms initiative.

However, they wrote, "We emphatically reject the idea that through these mistakes, the executive branch subverted the law, undermined the Constitution or threatened democracy.'

Even where the administration did than it should properly assume.

run into legal gray areas, the Republi-

NE'S Goes To The Nicest Parties

Beautiful gowns and tuxedos for all your special occasions

Aggieville

1100 Moro

776-7387

Praduates

Fall Bachelor candidates Commencement exercises: Your graduation apparel is for sale November 1-December 1.

Includes cap, gown, tassel (and collar for women) Total price with tax is $14.58.

Mail orders for Bachelor's apparel should include height, weight, hat size, degree information and $1.50 extra for postage and handling.

Master, Doctorate, and Faculty Master, Doctorate, and faculty rentals will be taken at the Supply Department Gift Counter Nov. 1-Nov. 20. After Nov. 20 a $3.00 late fee will be added. Masters Doctorate Rental Prices $22.50 Cap/Gown/Tassel/Hood $20.25 $12.00 Cap/Gown/Tassel only $11.00 Hood only the gift counter clerk for further details.

Announcements

Non-personalized white paper*.....pkg. of 10 for $4.96 incl. sales tax *Personalized name cards are available through special order until November

pkg. of 20 for $20.38 incl. sales tax pkg. of 40 for $31.35 incl. sales tax pkg. of 60 for $40.76 incl. sales tax Please allow 10 days printing time for the personalized announcements. See

tate union

TV Listings

WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1987

By TV Data

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00		CBS News Morning Pro-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00	"	gram	11	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook NBA Today	Little House on the Prairie
0:00	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Basketball: Soviets at	Movie: "Rachel and
10:00	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Write Course	Love Boat	NevLas Ve- gas	the Stranger"
	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Communi. Taste of Adv.	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
10:00	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	CFL Football: Western Divi-	Movie: "With This Ring"
→ :00	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Nova	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	sion Semifinal Playoff	76
0:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	McLaughlin Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	Baseball Tractor Pull	Tom & Jerry and Friends
0:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	Championship Wrestling	Flintstones Flintstones
A:00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing Auto Racing	Munsters Laverne
	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook PGA Tour	Alice Carol Burnett
0:00		News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter Sports	Andy Griffith Sanford
	Highway to Heaven	Oldest Rookie	Perfect Stran- Head of Class	Hill Street Blues	White House Performance	Movie: "Blaz- ing Saddles"	Track and Field: National	Movie: "Dr. Zhivago"
	Year in the Life	Magnum, P.I.	Hooperman Slap Maxwell	Movie: "The Horse Sol-	American Masters: Bus-	n 0	Collegiate Muscle Mag.	'n
	St. Elsewhere	Equalizer	Dynasty	diers"	ter Keaton: A Hard Act to	News INN News	Billiards:	33
10:00	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	News ABC News	Barney Miller Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Great Pool SportsCenter	10
4 4:00	Ent. Tonight	Diamonds	Special: Capi- tal to Capital	Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Duel"	Sports Magic Years	Portrait of America: Ohi
00	Late Night With David	Movie: "Miss- ing Pieces"	700 Club	"The Desper- ate Hours"	Sign-Off	AV.	NBA Today Arm Wrestling	"The Moun- tain Man"

...the hippest thing shaking in new york right now. 99-rolling stone special guests-the lonesome houndogs dance & concert 8 p.m. tonight

> ksu union ballroom at the door

a fundraiser for ksu debate team supported by:

> varney's bookstore waterbed works smith scholarship house hibachi hut

Kedzie 103

ClassAds

532-6555

1465. (55-75)

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Hand-icapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128. WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100 % guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

DANCE—CONCERT: Washington Squares (folkrock) & Lonesome Houndogs (psychedelic cowpunk) Wednesday, Nov. 18, 8 p.m. $5, 532-6398. (58-62)

DO YOU need major medical health care for you child or spouse only? Call Linda Harvey, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha Companies, Town East. (60-63) LEARN TO be a PAL, film "Deadly Silence," SADD

meeting, 6 p.m., Union 207, Nov. 19th. (61-63) HORSE-DRAWN hay rides. Anywhere, anytime. 539-5778. (61-64)

HOLIDAY FLOUR sales: Take home some flour for Mom to bake with. White, whole wheat, and rye flours, pancake mix. Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1-4 p.m., Friday, Nov. 20, 12-6 p.m. Shellenberger 220. Spon sored by Grain Science Club. (61-64)

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of M

hattan. (62-75) PATIENT INSTRUCTION at the Little Apple Driving School, Class begins Saturday, Nov. 21. Call today! 539-2715. (62-64)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT—FURNISHED 02

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124. (50tf)

STUDIO APARTMENTS now open near campus. Mont Blue Apartments. 539-4447. (53tf)

now. 537-9259. Anderson Place #7. (60-64)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester Two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Call

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431

after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf) MUST RENT! One-bedroom, January-May, $220/ month (negotiable). Obligated through May only. Please call 776-5679 after 5 p.m. (61-63)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. $200/month Split utilities, assume lease Jan. 1. Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson. (61-64)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

LARGE ONE-bedroom furnished apartment, availa ble January 1 in quiet, well-maintained complex. $270 per month, includes queen-sized bed, heat, carport. Prefer non-smoking married couple. One year lease. 537-9686. (61-65)

Rubes

TWO-BEDROOM, balcony, close to campus. Anderson Place, available Jan. 1, 1988. Call 776-9923. (62-

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf) NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (371f) AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

ONLY 15 OUT OF 350????

That is the number of apartments available for January occupancy from among our university influenced complexes.

If you need an apartment for the spring semester, we'd suggest you call us soon.

Prices from $245 to $360.

2700 Amherst 776-3804

By Leigh Rubin

814 THURSTON, efficiency, $185 per month, water/ gas furnished. Available now, 539-5136. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, carpeted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

ONE-BEDROOM-Large enough for two. Unfur nished, $265. Call Chris, 539-7906 after 5 p.m. (62-

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-1465. (62-75)

1983 MAZDA RX7, AM/FM cassette, air, sunroof,

FOR SALE 1976 Dodge Aspen, Good condition, must sell. Call 539-4649 after 3:30 p.m. (60-64)

FOR SALE: 1980 Datsun 210, nice shape and runs good. Call evenings 537-0678. (61-65)

293-5250 (61-65) 1973 CADILLAC Coup DeVille, new tires, runs well,

EMPLOYMENT

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Re spond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40 HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs-your $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (45-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe, South America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2.000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

CHILD CARE

Free to Callers Low cost Advertising

or grill. We have full and part-time openings. Apply in person. (53-62)

ATTENTION JOB hunters! Vista Drive In is looking

RESORT HOTELS, cruiselines, airlines and amuse ment parks Now accepting applications for sum-mer jobs, internships and career positions. For information and application; write National Collegiate Recreation, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head Island, SC 29938, (59-66)

VALENTINO'S IS now looking for waiters, waitresses and hostesses for all shifts. Please apply between

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont, Crafty Senior Plus non-profit store, 321 Poyntz, part-time. Responsible for total operation including merchandising, scheduling and training volunteer clerks, taking consignments and bookkeep ng. Prefer upper division or graduate student Apply at the store, 12-4 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday

e, excellent condition. Asking $7,975. 537-8297. (58 63)

1980 CAPRICE Classic Landau, power steering. power brakes, air conditioning, cruise, real sharp.

good winter car. $550. Call 532-3604. (62-64)

539-CALL

for some energetic people to work in the for WANTED—AN outgoing individual to demonstrate TV promoted products. Call Steve, 539-8043. (58-

3 and 3:45 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 18. (60-62)

ASSISTANT INSTRUCTORS, Physics. The KSU Department of Physics may have a few openings for part-time instructors in its introductory teaching program for the spring semester 1988. The duties can include teaching physics laboratories, grading papers and general assistance to the director of the laboratory program. Minimum qualifications for present KSU undergraduates are junior stand ing and completion of two semesters of physics with high grades. Other individuals must have a B.S. in physics or a related field. If an applicant's first language is not English, he/she must have ored at least 220 on the SPEAK test. Apply to the Department of Physics, Cardwell 116. Deadlin Dec. 4, 1987 (60-64)

ASSISTANTS

Reliable students with initiative to work parttime in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.- 4 p.m. in Kedzie 113.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY for experience. Manage the

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641 0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

MY PRIDE!

By Berke Breathed

WE PASSED

THE HAT!

TWO STALE

"ZINGERS"

more information please call 537-9027 anytime

AUTO WEST is now accepting applications for full and part-time sales people. Sales experience is helpful but will train the right person. Call 539-4684 for an interview appointment. (61-62)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 AVAILABLE SPRING semester: four-bedroom, two bath, double car garage with gas grill outside. Call Jim, 776-2373. (60-62)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo. wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 x 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath, 537-1029. (62-71)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931.

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

will pay for monthly dues at

The Ladies Club 776-6469 1104 Waters

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

COMPACT DISCS-New, great selection. Excellent prices. Buy now for Christmas. Chris 539-1089. Jeff 776-4387. (59-62)

FIREWOOD-SPLIT oak mixed: corn feed b sold live weight plus processing. 499-6682. (61-65) VINTAGE CLOTHING and antique solid oak wall unit book or display case, 12 feet long, 8 high. Gumbo Hill Antiques, 539-5778. (61-64)

will pay for monthly dues at

TEE ZERS

KING SIZE waterbed, priced for immediate sale, everything included; a surefire steal at $185. Contact

Mr. Price, 537-7587. (61-64)

CUSTOM SCREENING

4 less, \(\square \text{us out!}

Receive a FREE

LOTTERY TICKET

When you buy 10 or more sessions This week only. NOW SELLING

SUN 776-2426 1176 Laramie

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

1982 YAMAHA 650 Heritage Special, Purchased new 1986. Luggage carrier, soft saddle bags and traller included. $650. Call 776-7645, Kirk. (61-62)

MONGOOSE MOUNTAIN bike, like new, new crankset, 15 speeds, chrome frame, $225. Call Mark, 532-3560. (62-66)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

SELL NEW Lotus bass, stand $150. Wah pedal. Peavey classic amplifier. Make ofter. Dave, 532-5494. (59-63)

Hayes House of Music FENDER STD. STRATS w/Kahler Trem w/hardshell case

$539 776-7983

18

16

327 Poyntz WEEKLY RENTAL. Tascam 4-track ministudio. Put what's in your head on tape. Home recording, 532-5494. (59-63)

PERSONALS

PROTEST CATS: See you at The Washington Squares & Lonesome Houndogs dance-concert Wednesday night, (58-62)

RUGGER SCOTT T.: Are you available? Your Blatant Admirer. (60-62) TO THE pledges of our brother fraternity: Simon says the trench was grand, the hotdogs, the fire, and the sand. We'll see you on Friday to function again; the canned food drive we're going to win! AZD

THOMAS-HAPPY 21st Birthday, Baby! Tonight, we celebrate!! Love, Carolyn. (62) FOCUS: THANKS for making today so special.

R.N.E.P. (62) PHIL: SURPRISE! Here's finally an ad just for you! Oh, yeah, watch out for my camera! Tina. (62) KATHY FROM C.G. Met you Sunday during lunch at

S.S. Wondering if you were available? Guy in grey sweater. (62-63) TKE SNEAKERS: ISU was a blast, so nisce about the past: Beamers was fun, our house guests in 333 were #1. The "Schatzymobile" led the way, and your messages showed us way what you had to say: passing the book of our "favorites," what can you get for a dollar? Hey Von — we know the truth! And always remember when you're dead we'll be shouting! Love, the Pi Phi Sneakers! P.S.

PRINCESS FROM tough guys, spaghetti dinners sunsets at Tuttle, scary movies, late night drives to playing cards with Doug and Sam. It has been one un year, hoping for many more. Love, Jeff. (62)

Same time next year? (62)

MARE-IT'S your dream come true! Sorry I'm not tall, dark, and handsome! Happy 22nd Birthday! Love, your baby sister. (62)

TKE PLEDGES: It's been a week we know, we're sorr this personal has been so slow. We had a great time, it was a blast - The party got over entirely too fast! Thank you so much for the evening of fun, it's time to end this little pun! Thanks again for the great night, you guys know how to do it up right! Love, the Pi Phi pledges. (62)

TONY BALONEY: You're always home to answer the phone-that's the reason you're getting an ad in the Collegian. But heck, it's just from Bren and Beck! (62)

ATO's PAUL, Brandon and Allen—Formal is near so start getting psyched. The evening will be fun, the punch will be spiked. ATO's and G-Phi's will once again prove we can party with class and still ge into the groove. As you three know we have a sur-prise in store for you, it's too bad you sly guys don't even have a clue! Love, your G-Phi Dates. (62)

THE YOUNG and the Dateless—Blond in Late Night sweatshirt-What's so hot in Chicago?-Infatuated (62)

KRIS C. Wow less than a month, and no more phone bills. Can't wait to be roommates. I love you, Shawn. (62)

G-PHI LESLYE-Thanks for finding my watch! Now can tell when it's time for Saturday night's bash. Your watchful friend. (62)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

PUREBRED BORDER collie pups. No papers, $50. 539-5778. (61-64)

BABY BOA for sale. Good eater and great dorm or apartment pet. Call 537-7865. (61-65)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES 20

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence, 913-841-5716. (1tf) PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg-nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S.

Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf) PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RENTALS

21 TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and noncorrecting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931. (32tf)

livery. 539-2040. (54-63)

22 RESUME/TYPING SERVICE INSTA-TYPE: Typing, disc storage, student/faculty discount, quality guaranteed. Free pickup and de

Resumes Typeset & laser printed

-= Graphics Plus 11th & Laramie 539 -6027 TYPING: LAST minute jobs, large and small. Leave a message at the tone. We can handle it all! 537 3166. (60-66)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (62-64)

GLAFLIN

Books & Copies 1814 Claflin FirstBank Center Self-service & Full-service Copying

Thesis Copying - 50% cotton paper Resume service and binding Wide Selection of Books & Compact Disc-Hours:

M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m. 776-3771 Sun. Noon-9 p.m.

ROOMMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776 1996. (55-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester

spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69) MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own bedroom, close to campus, nicest in town, $180 plus utilities. 539-5781. (58-62)

apartment located close to Aggieville and cam-pus. Available Jan. 1st. $143 per month plus onethird utilities. Call 539-3644. (58-64) ONE OR two female roommates, $100 per month plus one-third utilities. Call 776-6880 (own rooms).

WANTED: FEMALE roommate to share two-bedroom

(59-63) MALE ROOMMATE to share furnished apartment for spring semester. Five-minute walk from campus.

776-8993. (59-63) RESPONSIBLE NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female to share luxury townhouse. Own room-tras. 537-7605. (60-64)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Two-bedroom apartment. Own bedroom. Close to campus. $150 plus utilities. 776-1878. (60-64) WANTED: FEMALE roommate for furnished apart ment, $100/month plus one-half utilities. Owr room, gas heat. 776-6984. (60-62) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semeste Available December or January, two-bedroom 537

WANTED: ONE non-smoking female to share house. close to campus, $115 plus utilities Own room, close to can Phone 776-3283. (61-64) NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for furnished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a

1273. (60-67)

1757. (61-63)

month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) ROOMMATE WANTED-own room, $160/month one-third utilities, two blocks from campus, 579-2034. (61-64)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next semester to share nice house with three roommales. Own room, $120 plus utilities. Call 776-7455. (61-65) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills. Also, $110 deposit. 537-

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for house near cam pus. $113/month plus utilities. Call 776-9605. (62-

NEEDED: TWO male roommates for spring semes-ter. One and one-half blocks off campus. 776-1893. SPORTING/RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT 25

SOLOFLEX MACHINE for sale; Butterfly leg attachment; New and must sell, 539-3889. (61-63)

SUBLEASE 26 FEMALE NEEDED to sublease apartment. Aggie apartment, own room, rent negotiable. 539-6457 after 5 p.m. (62-71) WANTED

WANTED: "HEARD it through the grape vine." Desperately seeking four raisin guys. Two microphone and two hands guys. Reward. Phone 539-0900 be fore 9 a.m. (62-64)

By Eugene Sheffer

28

Crossword

30 Church ACROSS

7 Hillside dugout 8 Electric catfishes 10 Record

4 Sigma

11 Court decrees 13 Cowboys

16 Asian festival 17 Chest sounds 18 Tit for - Dolphins

By Charles Schulz 20 Depend 21 Roman official Robert

DOWN I Monk's superior 2 Very dry, as wine

776-1650

tambourine 4 Pianist Frankie 5 Male African red

3 Ancient deer

40 Capek - fixe robot opus 7 Lily plant 8 Revive season

25 Recede Solution time: 20 mins. 26 Lakes, in Italy

9 - rights

14 Swiss

river

unit

out

insect

retreat

10 Astern 12 Deep-blue 21 22 CRYPTOQUIP

RGOIWWFUJ

EFIGSUU-EWUU

Today's Cryptoquip clue: E equals F

On the lean beef ranch. Bloom County

Garfield

WHAT'S THE MATTER GARFIELD? PON'T YOU FEEL GOOP?

THAT'S AN

YOU'RE GOING TO PAINTING THE BATHROOM AND I WILL BUY THAT 41-FOOT "MIAMI VICE SPEED BOAT

DO YOU THINK IT WAS SOMETHING YOU ATE?

German vestment 33 Social composer sport group 36 Shed 37 German river 38 Takes the bus

grassland

39 South

41 Nice 19 "It Was Good Year

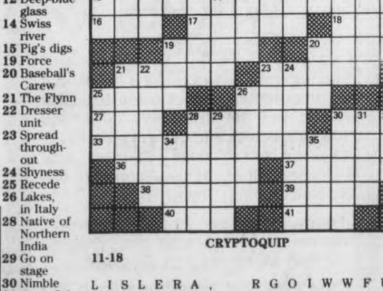

25 Blunders

AMIR POTAUFEU
POTSOAM INTER
India AIR AIS ODA 30 Nimble
POTLUCK LINEN 31 Actor John Yesterday's answer 11-18

32 Busy LOON 34 Lion's CANA 35 Egyptian season

OIG

EZZLAZZMU

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: CATCHY, WISE MOTTO OF FISH MARKET: "WHOLLY MACKEREL!"

YES, MA'AM, I'M HERE

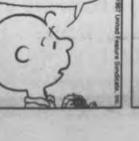

TO SEE MY DOG ... 15

HE ALL RIGHT ?

HE GOT HURT

PLAYING HOCKEY?

House approves bill for VA department

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The House voted 399-17 Tuesday to approve legislation making the Veterans Administration, the largest independent agency of the federal government, a department with Cabinet-level status.

The measure, which received a boost last week with the endorsement of President Reagan, goes to the Senate, where it has bipartisan support from conservatives and liberals alike.

Senate committee hearings originally set for February have been moved up to next month.

The change has been actively sought by advocates of the nation's 27 million veterans, including the major veterans organizations, who contend it would increase the visibility and voice of veterans as well as the VA's benefit programs.

"It's a really great day for veterans," said Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee. "It's a long time in coming...But we're on a fast track now and that's great."

Rep. Clarence Miller, R-Ohio, told the House the bill was a fitting congressional tribute "to those who have suffered all, dared all and given all."

Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., ranking minority member of the committee, said: "There's a pretty good indication we're actually going to get that bill through the Senate. I'm hopeful were going to be able to lay that bill on the president's desk before Christmas."

Reagan's surprise support for the idea was announced to a veterans group last week and came in spite of his frequently voiced concerns about the growth of govern-

'Squares,' 'Houndogs' to perform

Band's depth surpasses beatnik look

By Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

The Washington Squares, a newwave folk rock group, will energize Manhattan tonight at 8 in the K-State Union Ballroom after the The Lonesome Houndogs, a psychedelic cowpunk Lawrence band, opens the dance/concert.

Concert Preview

An innovative and stylistic band, The Washington Squares will be rocking and rolling the Midwest only in their Manhattan stop, which was listed in the most recent issue of Rolling Stone magazine.

Squares members Tom Goodkind, Bruce Paskow and Lauren Agnelli punctuate the spectacle in a subtle way by sporting black berets, turt- our society and political structure, appearance crosses that of Vincent Van Gogh with the Cleaver family. This, though, is probably not the reason that their album hit the Top 10 college chart. The band's depth obviously surpasses the surface beatnik image which it projects.

The Squares attack social conformities using a cross between the folk rock and rock genres to become modern-day Emersons and Thoreaus who pen their messages with electric banjos, bass guitars and rhythmic bongo percussion. Embedded deep in their lyrics are calls for political and social awareness and, at times, civil disobedience. Basically, they offer similar impact messages as did Peter, Paul and Mary mixed with an upbeat instrumental sound much like that of the Violent Femmes.

Warnings are issued to conformists in "New Generation," which calls for crowd followers to "Be on the lookout/ For a new generation/ Coming on strong/ Filled with inspiration." This message is lashing out against the negative polarization in lenecks and 50s sunglasses. Their and stresses creative and individual growth instead.

The Squares, who meet regularly to discuss recent headlines, are timely in choosing their messages when writing songs. "Lay Down Your Arms" is a song which realistically bellows out for warmongers to light-

"The Polish Union Song" is an actual Solidarity anthem. The song was smuggled out of Poland and translated into English. It is almost as effective in its dramatic impact as the band's raucous "Sampson and Delilah."

The band calls for individuals to shield themselves from conformity with logic and optimism. They further propose in their subtext to use a steadfast drive and unyielding attitude as weapons. "You Can't Kill Me" is a well-thought-out finale for their debut album, "The Washington Squares."

The band is by no means atonal with their messages. Not only are they skilled satirists and direct with their messages, they have a welldefined and overt comic flare. "D Train," one number which illustrates this skill, episodically discusses riding on a "train in a hole to a job I hate." The humorous antics continue in the band's common concert parodies of Van Halen's "Jump" and "Loose Shoes," which is a poke at the theme from "Footloose."

Tickets are available at the Nichols Box Office until 5 p.m. and at the KSU Ballroom door for $5.

tans for $12.50 1214C Moro-Aggieville

Congratulations 1987 Arts and Sciences College Council

Sheila Keefe Jill Warren Paul Dykes Brian Howell Eva Chatterjee

James McAtee Mary Ann Brooks Amanda Stout Jeff Vaughn Travis Stumpff

Joni Everhart Randy Wonderlich Bill Wineinger Lisa Pfannenstiel Gregg Skaggs to Infinity.

Ladies . . . let us repair those worn & broken heel caps—while you wait! lso, polishing, refinishing and dying

1214-C Moro Aggieville on Cobble Lane An orthopedic technician available to help aid your comfort Have You Ever Seen A

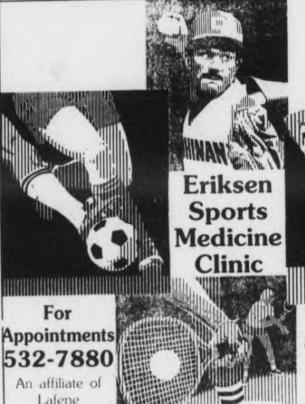

Come see one at Petland

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Walk-in Clinic

8-9:30 a.m. Mon.-Fri 1-2:30 p.m. Mon. 1-2 p.m.

Tues. Thurs. & Fri.

COMPLIMENTARY SALE

World's best tennis shoes in Wildcat style, walk, run and jump in Purple Pride. And one more time, we present this pair of shoes incredibly at $19.95

(originally $57.95)

Room 225 University Inn, 17th & Anderson Manhattan, 539-7531

Very limited quantity. Hurry! Student helpers needed. Call 913-341-0861 after 6 p.m.

1. Cappaudix durable outsole

Health Center

2. Shock-proof soft insert-sole

3. Hard insert-sole 4. Injury preventive heel stabilizer

6. 100% Cotton terry collar lining and removable cushion inlay sole

7. Nappa class-A super soft leather

8. University name or nickname

9. Leather lace holder 10. Computer-embroidered colorful logo

Wednesday, Nov. 18, 10 a.m.-7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 19, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

JACK NICHOLSON CHRISTMAS SUSAN SARANDON - MICHELLE PITEPTER

Adapted from John Updike's novel, this film is a fantasy about three beautiful women and the one lucky devil who enters their lives and has a "bewitching" effect on all of them. Starring Jack Nicholson, Cher, Susan Sarandon and Michelle Pfeiffer. Rated R.

Friday, November 20 and Saturday, November 21 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75; KSU ID Required

A "Wee Willie" 12 oz. Refillable mug and a "Wild Willie" 34 oz. refillable mug will be given away at each showing of Witches of Eastwick. Mugs are provided by the K-State Union Food Service.

SHOP TIL YOU DROP!

Join UPC Travel on their KANSAS CITY Christmas Shopping Trip! We will be stopping at the fabulous Oak Park Mall and the famous Country Club Plaza where you can enjoy a wide variety of excellent eating establishments, horse-drawn carriage rides, and wonderful shopping! All the while, you will be able to enjoy the viewing of the Plaza Christmas lights and really get into that Christmas Spirit! SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1987

Includes round-trip transportation to and from Kansas City. Sign-Up begins TODAY at 8 a.m. In the Activities Center. k-state union

Let's Talk About It . . . VIETNAM

Thursday, Nov. 19, 1987 Noon at Catskeller

Speakers include Bill Arck, Director of Alcohol and other Drug Education Services and Vietnam Veteran: Charles Gillespie, Vietnam Veteran, served two seperate tours of duty in Vietnam; and Dr. Sue Zschoche, Asst. Professor, History.

k-state union upc issues & ideas

ALFRED

HITCHCOCKS

A suspenseful; tale of horror as hundreds of people in a small California town become victims of a mysterious mass attack by fierce birds.

Today at 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall Tomorrow, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre and 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall. Rated G $1.75; KSU ID Required.

Student Racers

Three K-State students juggle the demands of being a licensed bicycle racer and a full-time University student. See Page 7.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, high in low to mid-50s. Clear tonight, low in upper 20s. Sunny Friday, high around 60.

all playsome bu tough times, winning only eight games in four seasons. See Page 9.

Thursday

November 19, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 63

Kansas State Collegian

Fire in subway leaves 32 dead London landmark burns

By The Associated Press

LONDON - Fire broke out Wednesday evening below a wooden escalator in one of London's busiest subway stations, killing 32 commuters and injuring about 80 others, fire and transport officials said.

Dense smoke billowed from the mammoth King's Cross station, where five lines of the Underground system connect with British Rail inter-city services. Ambulances with sirens blaring ferried the dead and injured to hospitals.

"The man had all his hair burned off and his face was black, and the woman was screaming." -An eyewitness

Gordon White, a spokesman for London Fire Brigade, said 32 people were confirmed dead in the fire that broke out during evening rush hour. He said about 30 others were badly burned and 50 sustained less severe injuries, such as smoke inhalation.

The British Broadcasting Corp. said without attribution that the death toll could reach 40.

Firefighters equipped with breathing apparatus burrowed into smoke-filled tunnels searching for anyone trapped in the labyrinth.

A man accompanied by his wife and child said: "All the firemen were going down into the Underground. We saw a woman and a man coming up. The man had all his hair burned off and his face was black, and the woman was screaming.'

Police Superintendent David Fitzsimmons said: "No one who was down there where the fire started could possibly be living."

The fire began at 7:36 p.m. under a wooden escalator, but its cause was

It was the worst disaster on the London Underground system since 43 people were killed and 74 injured when a train crashed into a wall at Moorgate station on Feb. 28, 1975.

King's Cross is a vast complex built in 1851-52. Five subway lines go to King's Cross: the Northern, Circle, Metropolitan, Piccadilly and

The fire was brought under control within two hours, but White said smoke still filled the station.

Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, said 30 people were feared trapped in the terminal at one stage but White said late Wednesday night it was not known how many remained in the station.

About 100 firefighters and 20 pieces of equipment were at the station, and the area was sealed off.

A man and woman said they walked inside and encountered clouds of smoke. "We just ran out," the woman said. "There was smoke everywhere and total confusion."

A spokesman for the London Underground said the fire started in a machine room below escalators linking the Piccadilly Line platforms with the main ticket hall concourse.

Staff/Brad Fanshier

Down for debate

Members of the Lonesome Houndogs finish their warmup set on opened for The Washington Squares, a top 10 Greenwich Village the floor of the Union Ballroom stage Wednesday night. The group band in a fund-raiser for the K-State Debate Team.

Faculty salaries rank last in Big Eight

By Lori Lindstrom Staff Writer

When comparing University faculty salaries with those at other Big Eight institutions, K-State ranks last, according to a 1986-87 report on faculty salaries conducted by the American Association of University Professors.

Faculty funds are financed from state appropriation. However, state appropriation has not kept up with that of neighboring states, let alone the nation, said Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement.

"Appropriation of state tax dollars for higher education increased by 102 percent, compared to 109 percent in our neighboring states and 133 percent nationally," he said. The Kansas Legislature sets the salary rates, said James Koelliker, professor of civil engineering and chairperson of the faculty affairs committee in Faculty Senate. He believes salaries receive less than adequate attention in Topeka, though.

Until 1970, salaries in Kansas were keeping up with gains in personal income, Koelliker said. From 1970 to 1980, personal income increased and faculty salaries decreased because "salaries didn't keep up with inflation."

Since 1980, personal income and salaries have become parallel, he

After adjusting for costs of living and taxes, K-State is ranked 49th out of 50 states in the salaries it pays its faculty, said Ron Downey, professor of planning and evaluating services. Montana State ranks No. 50.

"It's the margin of survivability. The wait-'til-next-year excuse is wearing thin on the faculty."

—James Koelliker

out of 50," he said.

"It's a fairly low goal, but we have to start somewhere."

A possible savior? The Board of Regents' Margin of Excellence plan is one strategy to improve faculty salary.

"It's the margin of survivability," Koelliker said. "The wait-'til-next-year excuse is wearing thin on the faculty."

The goal of the MOE plan is to bring regents' funding to 95 percent parity with peer institutions and

The goal now is to "catch up to 30 faculty salaries up to 100 percent parity with peer institutions with state funds of $47 million during the next three years, Krause said.

Downey considers the MOE a "modest" request considering K-State is far behind its peer institutions. Though the MOE will bring the University up to average with its peers, full parity will still not be guaranteed since the peer institutions are below the national average, he said.

Peer institutions are similar demographically and according to programs, Koelliker said. K-State's peer institutions are Oregon State University, Iowa State University, Colorado State University, Oklahoma State University and North Carolina State University.

The AAUP study shows K-State's overall average salary is $32,994 compared to the peer institutions' $36,015, Downey said.

Koelliker said K-State's problem is not unique since the University of Kansas is below its peer levels also.

"The state of Kansas in general is not paying state workers comparable salaries," Koelliker said.

In the last year, K-State has lost 25 faculty members, Krause said. Though no specific data is available, low salaries are a contributing factor to this loss, he said.

Heinz Bulmahn, associate professor of modern languages, is leaving peer institutions. K-State to go to the University of Toledo, Ohio, for several reasons.

The main reason is career change, "so it's a personal reason," Bulmahn

However, he also said the salary structure and the possibility for salary increases doesn't look good at K-"(The salary is) not the main reason I'm leaving K-State, but I will be getting a pay increase," Bulmahn

"Salaries get progressively worse as you move up at K-State," Koelliker said.

Downey agrees, adding the University has a "salary compression." K-State's senior faculty level salaries are 20.3 percent below its peers, and the University must pay employees at the assistant level comparable to

If money is taken to provide the ■ See SALARY, Page 5

K-State woos stars

By Nancy Charlrand Collegian Reporter

From K-State, with love. That's the message Michael J. Fox, Malcolm Jamal Warner, Willard Scott, Rhea Perlman, Jason Bateman, Johnny Carson and David Letterman will soon be receiving when their gifts from K-State arrive in the mail.

Student Senate will be sending items such as sweatshirts and hats in hopes the stars might wear them. They also hope the University will receive some favorable promotion from these personalities sporting K-State paraphernalia.

The project is also coinciding with the Feb. 16 celebration of the University's 125th anniversary. Student Senate generated a list interest.

of stars with whom they feel students could best identify. They then chose articles they believed the stars would be most likely to wear or use.

The items being sent were purchased through the K-State Union Bookstore.

"We will be sending Johnny Carson a coffee mug and Willard Scott a hat," said Charlene Nichols, sophomore in journalism and mass communications and Student Senate communications chairwoman. "It is an idea that has been kicked around on campus," said John Fairman, assistant vice president for institutional advancement. "I talked to student government about it and they showed an

with gifts

"It has been done at other universities. Willard Scott (of NBC's "Today Show") does it often. He puts on a hat almost every morning from a different university." The project is being paid for by K-State licensing accounts. These accounts are formed from fees manufacturers pay in order to use K-State logos on their merchandise.

The University believed the gifts would be more meaningful if they were from the students who headed the project and not an administrative office, Fairman said.

"The gifts will show the stars that the students appreciate their talents, and (the gifts) will promote the University's 125th anniversary," said Fairman.

Fired teacher with AIDS reinstated by federal court

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - A federal appeals court Wednesday ordered a teacher with AIDS reinstated, ruling for the first time that discrimination against AIDS patients is barred under civil rights laws protecting the handicapped.

"Although handicapped (Vincent Chalk) is otherwise qualified to perform his job within the meaning of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973," which among other things prohibits job discrimination against the physically handicapped, said the court.

The 3-0 ruling by a 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel came in the case of Chalk.

the hearing-impaired in Orange County school for seven years before barred from the classroom by the county this fall because he had been diagnosed with AIDS in February.

The court, reversing a lower-court ruling, said medical evidence "overwhelmingly indicates that the casual contact incident to the performance of (Chalk's) teaching duties in the classroom presents no significant risk of harm to others."

The decision will have "a tremendous impact throughout the country, because the court has said very clearly, given what we know or discriminate against any person reached today.

Chalk, 43, had taught classes for with AIDS," said American Civil Liberties Union lawyer Paul Hoffman, one of Chalk's lawyers.

> "There are tens of thousands of people out there, maybe hundreds of thousands, who are in Vince Chalk's position, fearful of losing their jobs,"

Another lawyer for Chalk, Joel Loquvam, said he reached the teacher by telephone Wednesday in New

Ronald Wenkart, an attorney for the Orange County Department of Education, said he did not know whether the ruling would be appeabout AIDS, it is improper to exclude aled. He said a decision should be

Man indicted on forgery charge

TOPEKA - A 43-year-old Concordia man was indicted earlier this week on 65 counts of forgery and fraud after allegedly receiving more than $28,000 in veteran's benefits intended for his mother.

Larry G. Peery was indicted by a grand jury after being investigated by the Veterans Administration, according to U.S. Attorney Benjamin L. Burgess.

Peery's mother received benefits from the Veteran's Administration as a veteran's widow under the Dependency-Indemnity Compensation program.

The government alleges that between October, 1980, and April, 1986, Peery forged his mother's endorsement and cashed checks worth $28,736.

Each count carries a penalty of up to ten years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Fill 'er up and check the oil

MOSCOW - A Soviet cargo rocket was unhooked from the space station Mir after replenishing it with fuel and drinking water and helping adjust its flight path, the official Tass news agency reported Wednesday.

Tass said the Progress 25 rocket separated from the manned station late Tuesday.

Tass said the undocking of the rocket from Mir was monitored by specialists at the ground control center and by the two Mir cosmonauts, Yuri Romanenko and Alexander Alexandrov.

Bees responsible for death

SAN SALVADOR DE JUJUY, Argentina - A 60-year-old peasant on a honey-collecting expedition near this northern Argentine city has been found dead of bee stings, police said Wednesday.

Police said Jose Bejar was found dead 300 feet from a tree where his wife found his machete, a torch used to heat honey, and a stack of wood used to smoke out bees while he collected honey from nearby hives.

Marisa Vega de Bejar, 55, told police she became worried after her husband failed to return overnight from his honeygathering trip near El Acheral, 42 miles away. She said her husband supplemented his income by collecting honey.

Jackson, Bush top Gallup Poll

NEW YORK - Democrats who made a choice for the party's presidential nominee favored Jesse Jackson in a Gallup poll released Wednesday while George Bush was the choice of most Republicans.

Asked their choice of the announced candidates, Jackson was backed by 22 percent of Democrats and Democratic-leaning independents; Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, 14 percent; Illinois Sen. Paul Simon, 8 percent; Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., 7 percent; Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt, 5 percent; and former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, 1 percent.

Bush was favored by 47 percent of the Republicans and Republican-leaning independents; Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, 22 percent; Pat Robertson, 7 percent; Rep. Jack Kemp of New York and former Secretary of State Alexander Haig, 4 percent each, and former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont, 1 percent.

Cheerleader's pompons quiet

CLEVELAND, Miss. - Stacy Dempsey, who parlayed a school ban of her pompon squad's uniforms into an appearance on Joan Rivers television show, didn't make this year's team at Delta State University.

Dempsey said Tuesday that she "can't help but feel something was up. They thought that I might be an influence." "When the points were totaled up, Stacy didn't make the cut," said Jim Jordan, the school's new athletic director. Last season, Dempsey's remarks that the uniform ban "just burnt my britches," brought administrative reprimands.

Young pilot's plans grounded

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - A 10-year-old pilot has encountered turbulence in his plan to follow his cross-country flight by flying around the world.

Erik Fiederer of Santa Maria, Calif., flew from Fort Lewis, Wash., to Miami last week. Now he wants to join Chris Marshall, 10, of Oceano, Calif., who plans to circle the globe with a Vietnam veteran as co-pilot, said Air Force 2nd Lt. Gary Morey.

But Chris' mother, Gail Marshall, said Tuesday that Erik cannot go along.

"This is something Chris is doing on his own and we have our plans in the works for five months already," Gail Marshall

Only her son and his co-pilot will make the $1 million, 25,000-mile flight, tentatively scheduled to begin in California next summer, she said.

Aunt held for niece's murder

LONG BEACH, Calif. - A woman who allegedly beat her 21/2 -year-old niece to death, then set her crib on fire with a flaming stuffed animal in an effort to hide the slaying was arrested for investigation of murder, police said.

Sandra Jackson, 29, was being held without bail until the Los Angeles District Attorney's office determines charges, Detective George Fox said Tuesday.

The official cause of Jeseka Jackson's death will be determined by autopsy, Fox said, but added, "Everything indicates the child was dead prior to the fire."

Topeka man sent to Larned

TOPEKA - A Topeka man was committed to a mental hospital Wednesday after he was sentenced for the 1986 murders of two young sisters.

Shawnee County District Court Judge Terry Bullock sentenced Nolan Prewett, 37, to two consecutive life terms for first-degree murder in the deaths of Shannon Mahomes, 3, and her sister Shavon, 6, who were suffocated. Bullock then committed Prewett to Larned State Hospital in lieu of sentencing.

Shawnee County Prosecutor Gene Olander said Prewett, who was convicted Oct. 22. after a jury trial, will remain at Larned until officials there complete treating him.

The bodies of Shannon and Shavon, who lived in Prewett's central Topeka neighborhood, were found jammed between the furnace and a wall in July 1986 in his basement.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOREIGN STUDENT OFFICE has announced an international student scholarship competition. Winners will be chosen based on an essay of 1,500 words or less on a particular topic. The first-place winner will receive $1,500. There will also be awards for second- and third-place and honorable mention. Essays must be postmarked no later than Dec. 1. Call the Foreign Student Office at 532-6448 for more information.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT CANCER RESEARCH AWARDS applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research, Ackert 131. All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs at K-State are eligible to apply. Funding is available for 13 students; the awards are $500 per recipient. Application deadline is Dec. 4.

K-STATE PLAYERS will present "The Real Thing" at 8 p.m. today through Nov. 21 in Nichols Theatre.

TODAY

STUDENTS AGAINST DRIVING DRUNK meets at 6 p.m. in Union 207.

RODEO CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Ackert

RACQUETBALL CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre.

EATING DISORDER SUPPORT GROUP meets at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

Gary Ward is the speaker.

GERMAN CLUB meets at 7 p.m. at 1403 Legore Lane for a movie night. Maps are available in Eisenhower 104. Call Chris Clark, 537-9218, if there are any questions.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS meets at 6 p.m. in Durland Paslay lecture hall. Nesby Bolden from General Dynamics is the guest speaker.

DELTA EPSILON KAPPA meets at 7 p.m. at the DEK house for an organizational meeting.

PARACHUTE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI COURT OF HON-OR meets at 4 p.m. in Union 203 and 204. Please dress professionally.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST meets at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

BETA SIGMA PSI LITTLE SISTERS meet at 6 p.m. at the Beta Sig house for

Thanksgiving dinner. GAY/LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205 for a business

PRE-VET CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Trotter

FRIDAY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense doctoral dissertation of Mary Ellen Titus at 10 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The topic is "Integration of the Curriculum: "Opinions and Ideas for Curriculum Design from a Selected Group of the Kansas

WOMEN'S RESOURCE CENTER meets at noon in Union 213. The speaker is Mary Lou Albracht and Char Henton from the FACTS program. The topic is "Whatever Happened to 'Lucille'? Transitions for Rural Women and Their Families."

Go easy on your heart and start cutting back on foods that are high in saturated fat and cholesterol. The change'll do you good.

Pitchers $1 Schnapps Shots

Mac's Parlor TONIGHT

Well Drinks

$1.25 Draws 75¢ Pitchers $2.25 FRIDAY FREE

HORS D'OEUVRES SATURDAY

Come in for a pre-game drink Open at 10 a.m. Now Serving Sandwiches

616 N. 12th 539-9967

Now Manhattan's Largest Liquor, Beer, and Wine Store. State Law does not allow us to Advertise Brands or Price. We have all Items Discounted Everyday in all Departments.

We have or will have every Brand of Imported Beer Available. We have 600 Sq. Foot Cooler for all your Cold Beer and Wines. Look for our fine Wine Room.

All Bourbon, Canadian Whiskey, Gin, Vodka on Sale. We can't give the Price but it is the Lowest!!

Drop by-and See our New Store. Now 4,000 Sq. Feet. We have the Largest Store and Largest Selections.

NEIGHBORHOOD

THIS WEEKEND:

stablished 198

Only $1 cover for Rock-n-Roll all night!

Starts at 9 p.m.

Dad coming in town

this weekend?

Come to Charlie's

this Saturday afternoon.

For the Best "Homemade" Pizza in town with the Best "Hometown" Price.

Two Delicious Homemade Pizzas

	M	ENU
Italian Seusage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlone	Jalapenos Pineappie Green Pappers	Ham Extra Cheese
		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Cheese		5.99	8.99
1 Item		6.94	10.39
2 Items		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
4 Items		9.79	14.59
Deluxe		9.79	14.59
			14.59
The state of the s			15.99
	nal Item		1.40

Prices do not include tax 1127 Moro · Aggieville We Accept Checks

FRIDAY TGIF 5-7 BREADBASKET BENEFIT Help the not so fortunate on Thanksgiving FREE FALSETTO'S PIZZA

Admission $1

2 cans of food All proceeds go to The Flinthills Breadbasket Stop by for a good time and help out a good cause

Sponsored by

Coors

Bar 539-9727

531 N. Manhattan

Office 539-4321

Education college to require internship

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

Although the rumor that the College of Education is turning to a fiveyear program is false, there is talk of a one-year, required internship program to be completed after the student has graduated.

Kathy Boyer, internship specialist for the State Department of Education, said the program will be in effect as of May 1989.

The program, which affects all current sophomores and juniors, states that the student, upon graduation, will be issued a one-year certificate valid for doing a one-year internship.

If the student wishes to teach in Program effective as of May 1989

Kansas, the internship is required before obtaining a teaching position.

"Each first-year teacher will be assigned to a senior teacher within the school building and an administrator from within the school district," said Kris Hill, junior in secondary math education.

"The senior teacher and administrator will observe and evaluate the (student) teacher's abilities and then provide tips, support or anything to help the student become a better teacher," she said.

When the students have completed a successful one-year internship, they are granted a five-year certificate to teach in Kansas, Boyer said.

"A successful intern will receive credit for up to two year's teaching to fessionals, our salaries will be be counted toward tenure," she said.

Any student who does not get a successful evaluation will be recommended for a second-year internship.

Hill said the purpose of the intemship program is to "weed out the unqualified and to raise positive public opinion about the teaching profession.

"The internships will show that, like doctors and lawyers, we are professionals, who are qualified and experienced.

"Hopefully, by being seen as proraised," Hill said.

"For many years, teachers who haven't been qualified have been teaching in our schools," said Patty Rietcheck, senior in elementary

With the internship, the student is provided with more experience to further help their career, she said. College of Education students have both positive and negative feelings toward the program.

"The program has positive aspects to the teaching profession," Hill said, "but I just think that the sophomores and juniors should have been informed about it earlier."

"I would feel very uncomfortable having people standing over my shoulder as I am teaching," said Susan Thomson, sophomore in preprofessional elementary education.

However, she said,"I would rather get the bad teachers out of the schools than to have a lot of students getting poor educations.

"The internships help to find out whether or not you are in the right profession."

The internship program is now being piloted across Kansas by 26 volunteer school districts and 52 first-year teachers.

"The feedback from the pilot program has been positive," Boyer said.

The results of the pilot program will be used to evaluate and revise the internship program.

"There very definitely was a need for a change in the Department of Education," Boyer said. "Teaching is one of the few professions that has not required an internship before graduating."

KU faculty rejects union plans Similar proposal not promoted at K-State

By Staff and Wire Reports

LAWRENCE - Faculty and staff at the University of Kansas rejected a preposal Wednesday to form a Unofficial results showed that 440 faculty and staff members voted against unionizing.

Another 216 voted to have the KU chapter of the National Education Association as its bargaining unit, while 191 voted to be represented by the KU chapter of the American Association of University

Because the vote against unionizing received 51.9 percent of the vote, there will be no run-off election. KU-NEA received 25.5 percent, while 22.5 percent voted for KU-AAUP.

About 1,000 faculty and staff members were eligible to vote in the election, which took place Tuesday and Wednesday. Law school and medical faculty were not eligible

Representatives of the Public Employee Relations Board in the Kansas Department of Human Resources conducted the election heart diseast and stroke.

We need your

American Heart

Association

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

help.

and counted the ballots.

Supporters had cited such issues as tenure, grievance procedures, heavier workloads and distribution of raises in calling for unionization. Union supporters also said a 21.8 percent increase in health insurance costs since 1986 showed that their voices are not heard.

Some KU faculty members had formed KU Independent Faculty to oppose unionization. Members of that group said they did not want to lose individual professional status, and did not want to deal with another layer of bureaucracy.

At least one faculty member at K-State doesn't expect a similar vote locally anytime soon.

"I don't see it in the immediate future — as long as (K-State) faculty are happy with the way they are being treated by the administration," said Jim Koelliker, professor of civil engineering and chairperson of the faculty affairs committee in Faculty

He said there probably would not be interest in organizing K-State faculty unless KU faculty would have approved the union and accrued an individual and not expressing the substantial improvements in faculty welfare after unionizing.

About three years ago, Faculty Senate took the first step toward collective bargaining by identifying who would be considered management and labor in negotiations, Koelliker said. This was done during a hearing, and anyone assigned to administration posts was considered management. Unionization has not been pushed here because K-State faculty members are more conservative than their peers at KU, said Cornelia Flora, professor of sociology and president-elect of Faculty Senate. She said she was commenting as views of the Senate.

If the KU faculty would have organized and the Margin of Excellence plan is voted down in the Legislature, then K-State faculty members might have considered unionizing, she said. However, she thinks now there won't be any pressure to organize.

Because management in nonunion work places believes it should keep pace with union places to avoid unionization of their workers, unionization usually helps all laborers, she

Pittsburg State University is the only state university in Kansas with a unionized faculty.

Students' TB tests negative

By The Associated Press

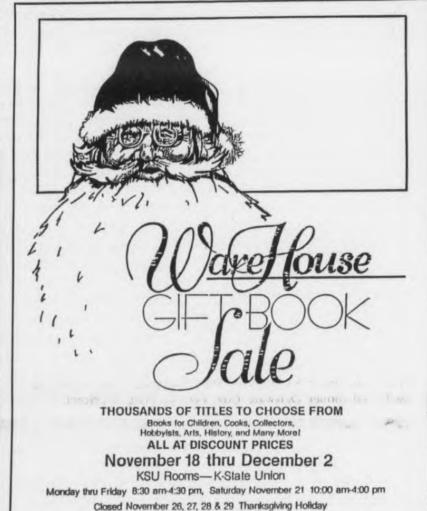

EMPORIA - Nineteen Emporia High School students have been cleared to return to class after tests showed none of them has active tuberculosis.

"So far, everyone is hale and hearty," said Lyon County Health Health Department Administrator Eileen Greischar.

The students were among 21 sent home Nov. 18, the day after another student exhibited symptoms of tuberculosis. The youngsters, all international students, were told to provide evidence of negative tuberculosis test results to school officials.

Greischar said one female student has not reported for testing, and a male student should be cleared soon to return to school.

K-State Union Bookstore

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout

FREE DELIVERY Call 537-1484

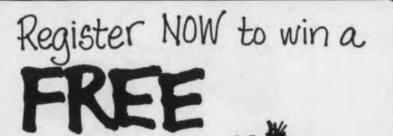

Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT: Frozen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Spring 1988 Closed Class List

25880	33660	00250	15010	31630	37310
25990	33820	01480	15020	31650	37390
26220	34160	01610	15190	32060	37440
26250	34200	02100	16420	32380	37530
26280	34270	07170	16650	32420
26300	34290	02340	16720	32440
		02390	16730	32450
(4) 4 (4)		02520	16950	32480
		02560	17540	32490
		02650	17570	32540
		03150	19270	32700
		03160	19440	32730
		03180	19470	32750
		04850	20210	32820
		05750	20370	32840
	35500	05760	20460	32860
	35880	07590	20670	32950
		07660	20920	32960	The same of the sa
		08700	20950	33400
	5.5555	09260	21100	33460
		09350	22910	33470
	777.777	11100	24690	33490
		11110	24850	33510
		11120	25760	33560
31590	37220	11130	25790	33570
	25990 26220 26250 26280 26370 26370 26420 26460 26450 26520 26650 26650 26700 27920 30410 30640 31320 31330 31530	25990 33820 26220 34160 26250 34200 26280 34270 26300 34290 26370 34310 26370 34320 26420 34330 26420 34340 26470 34550 26510 35160 26520 35170 26650 35370 26680 35500 26700 35880 27920 36210 30410 36320 30440 36460 31320 36470 31380 36990 31530 37120	25990 33820 01480 26220 34160 01610 26250 34200 02100 26280 34270 02170 26300 34290 02340 26370 34310 02390 26390 34320 02520 26420 34330 02560 26460 34340 02650 26470 34420 03150 26490 34550 03160 26510 35160 03180 26520 35170 04850 26560 35370 05750 26680 35500 05760 26700 35880 07590 27920 36210 07660 30410 36320 08700 30640 36460 09260 31320 36470 11100 31380 36990 11110	25990 33820 01480 15020 26220 34160 01610 15190 26250 34200 02100 16420 26280 34270 02170 16650 26300 34290 02340 16720 26370 34310 02390 16730 26390 34320 02520 16950 26420 34330 02560 17540 26460 34340 02650 17570 26470 34420 03150 19270 26490 34550 03160 19440 26510 35160 03180 19470 26520 35170 04850 20210 26650 35370 05750 20370 26680 35500 05760 20460 26700 35880 07590 20670 27920 36210 07660 20920 30410 36320 08700 20950 30640 36460 09260 21100 31320 36470 09350 22910 31370 36790 11100 24850 31530 37120 11120 25760	25990 33820 01480 15020 31650 26220 34160 01610 15190 32060 26250 34200 02100 16420 32380 26280 34270 02170 16650 32420 26370 34310 02390 16730 32450 26370 34310 02390 16730 32450 26390 34320 02520 16950 32480 26420 34330 02560 17540 32490 26460 34340 02650 17570 32540 26470 34420 03150 19270 32700 26490 34550 03160 19440 32730 26510 35160 03180 19470 32750 26520 35170 04850 20210 32820 26560 35370 05750 20370 32840 2650 35500 05760 20460 32860 26700 35880 07590 20670 32950 27920 36210 07660 20920 32960 30410 36320 08700 20950 33400 30640 36460 09260 21100 33460 31320 36470 09350 22910 33470 31370 36790 11100 24690 33490 31380 36990 11110 24850 33510 31530 37120 11120 25760 33560

Kansas Grown SCOTCH PINE Christmas Tree of your choice (from 4 to 9 ft. tall

Entry Form NAME ADDRESS_

PHONE Limit (1) entry per person.

Winners can make their selections from our nuge tree lots anytime during the holiday season. One winner per market per week. Drawings on Nov. 16, 23, $30. You can register once each week!

Eastside Mestside Market East of Manhattan's mall on Hwy 24 - West K-18

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, November 19, 1987 ■ Page 4

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR . Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzle Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Radioactive mistakes cannot be tolerated

They said it was "just a mistake." For the second time in a week, radioactive material from the Wolf Creek nuclear power plant was discovered at the Coffey County Landfill.

Monday afternoon, officials found two small radioactive cloths that had been used to remove dye from pipes. The cloths were sent to the landfill on or after Oct. 15.

Last week, 66 square feet of radioactive metal ductwork from the reactor containment building at the plant was dumped at the landfill. Officials discovered the error when they checked their records, and all but a small amount of the ductwork was located and returned to the plant last Tuesday.

A Wolf Creek nuclear information supervisor said the amount of radiation in the material was extremely low and posed no threat to public health or safety.

The average dose to a person three feet away from the ductwork would be about 0.001 millirem per hour, he said, adding that the average Kansan receives about 10 times that amount from radiation that occurs naturally in the environment.

recovered ductwork will be transferred to a storage facility for lowlevel nuclear waste, officials said.

Someone clearly made a mistake in allowing the material to be dumped in the landfill. Fortunately, the amount was small, and, according to Wolf Creek officials, can cause no harm.

The question to be asked is why did this happen in the first place? For the "mistake" to occur once is bad enough. Twice in one week is inexcusable. Should landfill employees be required and trained to search and detect such foreign materials in every load that enters their gates?

At this point, the responsibility seems to lie with the customer. The problem is that, in some cases, either the customer can't be trusted or an error is made. In either case, healththreatening damages can result.

The Wolf Creek incident goes to show that even the most meticulously regulated operations can go awry. Coffey County residents were lucky

More stringent regulations must be observed to prevent the occurrence of yet another "mistake." One All but 6 square feet of the mater- of these times, that "mistake" could ial was found at the landfill. The turn into a tragedy.

Debate team deserves the funding it's earned debate squad is one many academic that teams don't have to be physical and non-headlining sports teams face: a lack of money. Unfortunately, as is often the case, even the most successful teams must scratch and claw for their funding.

That is certainly the case with the debate team, which is ranked No. 2 in the nation. If funding doesn't come in soon, the team will be forced to cease travel and therefore permanently jeopardize its chances to finish among the top 10 nationally.

The plight the debate team is currently facing is caused by one overriding factor: a lack of respect for competitive teams not considered to be "real." Indeed, the K-State football team is considered "real" despite its 0-9-1 record and pitiful

But, that's not a knock on the foot- money to provide travel.

The problem facing the K-State ball team. It's simply to point out to be considered viable contenders.

Anyone who has ever been on a debate team can attest how mentally grueling competition can be. Often, tournaments span two days and go for eight or even 10 hours a day. That the K-State debate team has achieved such a prestigious national ranking is quite an achievement.

Unfortunately, successful debate teams don't make the cover of Sports Illustrated or even, sadly, the student newspaper. However, that shouldn't minimize their importance.

As can be said of any competitive team, participation often yields tremendous benefits. K-State students shouldn't be denied those benefits simply because there's not enough

Risk to women smokers should outweigh need

Smoking for women is dangerous, and if there was any doubt, conclusive data is in.

According to the Nurses Health Study, published in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, smoking causes about half of all heart attacks among young and middle-aged women, and even three or four cigarettes a day sharply increases the risk.

It was commonly believed that cigarettes did not contribute to heart disease in women. In fact, it has taken this study to convince the Framingham Heart Study reachers that yes, smoking can contribute to heart disease in women.

Women who smoke must realize the deck is stacked against their chances of living as long as a nonsmoker or even "converted" non-

Forty-six percent of fatal coronary disease and 54 percent of non-fatal heart attacks in women can be attributed to cigarette use; of women smoking 25 cigarettes a day, 81 percent of the deaths from coronary heart disease are caused by smoking: and smokers who had between one and four cigarettes a day were 2.4 times more likely than non-smokers to have heart disease.

Now, do you really need that cigarette?

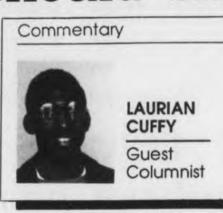

Black educators needed Students should show concern

In recent months a great deal of attention has been focused on the issue of more black (minority) educators at K-State. At first glance, this issue may seem to be a racial one. However, a less superficial look will unquestionably show that cries for more black educators are cries for an equitable and representative academic environment. Proponents who have taken this issue to heart are not advocating "blackness" or some obscure notion of black superiority. These fears are to be laid to rest, for we can still hear the echoes of the late Martin Luther King as he proclaimed, "Black superiority is as dangerous as white superiority." Students must come to see that the real issue at hand is one of more profound consequences, one that could make their educational experience more enriched and fulfilling.

Many students may say, at this point, they are quite satisfied with the academic environment as it now exists. If this is your attitude, allow me to lift the blinders that impair your vision. The fact is that a lack of black (minority) educators stifles diversification and role modeling.

Charles Reagan, assistant to the president, could not have expressed K-State's present academic climate any better than by using the analogy of T.V. in the early '60s. Anyone viewing T.V. then would conclude that the world we live in was an "All White" one when in fact there existed a greater variety of 'color." The point should be well taken that K-State is not representative of the "real world." Students who attend this university should be concerned with the lack of diversity that exists in their learning environment.

Black (minority) educators are indeed role models for black students, especially in academic areas such as engineering and other science-related fields. However, let us not forget or overlook the not-so-popular notion that black educators are also role models for white students. Many of our peers at K-State have attended Midwestern schools all their lives, and consequently have never had the opportunity to develop a student/teacher relationship with black educators. More importantly, this misfortune has not prepared many representation at this institution of learning. I students to deal with the stereotypes regarding responsible black leadership. The University has an obligation, as President Wefald stated, "...to provide enlightened leadership in the effort to achieve a more equitable society." Equity in society will never come into being until our institutions which prepare our future leaders become the guiding force behind this issue.

As the above indicates, there is good reason to desire more black educators. However, there are some obstacles the administration uses as shields to hide behind when questioned about the lack of representation at K-State. For example, the fact K-State is a landgrant institution does have some inherent problems that do make the recruiting efforts difficult. Administrators should meet this challenge head-on, as opposed to using it as a justification for their inability to devise creative programs that would attract black educators to K-State. Another example of an obstacle is K-State's low pay scales, which rank 49th out of 50 land-grant institutions. Some cite this as the major reason that there are few black educators at K-State. Though this is a point the University will have to address, nothing, in my view, is more important than the issue of "low intensity." Mr. Royster, a former professor at K-State, defined this intensity as pressure. He stated appropriately, "The president needs to put direct pressure on everyone concerned - deans, department heads and search committees."

The time is overdue for K-State to become more serious in addressing the gross lack of can see no better person than the president himself to take this issue as a personal challenge, and exert his leadership so as to insure commitment to improving K-State's climate.

As students, we must not be fooled into believing there is an easy solution to this problem. The solution is as complex as the problem itself. There are some things, however, that we as a student body can and must do to insure that this problem is eventually resolved. It is instructional to note that a decade ago K-State had at least seven black educators. It now has only two. This, to me, is a clear indication of indifference on the part of both the student body and administrators. The student body, via its governing body, has to send a clear message to the president and his staff that we are concerned with the state of our learning environment. An action of this magnitude will at least begin to address the indifference that is clearly evident regarding this issue. The second step would be to have the student body president, the Student Senate and the Black Student Union develop affirmative action policies and positions that would reflect goals, and communication devices (tracks, bulletins, etc.), which would educate other students about progress the University is making on this important problem. The third and final resolution would be to acquire the leadership of the president himself. President Wefald has made a move in the right direction by issuing his "Position Statement." We must note, though, that this is only a written commitment.

The real challenge will be to see this "Position Statement" implemented. Further, we must remember that his plan is not guaranteed to be successful. This fact has brought up questions by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's president, the Rev. Joseph Spence, as to how Wefald plans to gage the progress or success of his "Position Statement." I would highly urge the president to make clear how he or others (the student body president, the Student Senate and the Black Student Union, etc.), are to determine whether his plan is working or simply acting as a statement of good intent. Laurian Cuffy is a senior in business administration.

Letters

Men should help

Re: Michael Nichols' column "Educating men key to stopping rape.

After reading and hearing about sexual assault and rape time and time again, I'm glad someone has been able to target the necessary individuals on this campus through a newspaper article. Nichols has hit the nail on the head by accusing the men and not the "consenting" women.

The word consent is misinterpreted when it involves sexual assault and rape. Here it has no meaning or relevance. It's not a matter of consent, but rather a violation of human rights, in particular women's rights. When a woman says no, she means no! This doesn't give anyone permission to charge ahead and make her do something against her will.

And women, I don't think you should be let off so easy either. Flirting can only get you into a bad situation with the wrong person. Even though the act of flirting seems to be a favorite pasttime for some of the women on this campus, you'll think twice about pulling that stunt if you become a victim of sexual assault or rape.

Although I only represent one man of the statistical two-thirds who would not even think of committing such a violent act, I don't think the rest of you should stand back and not say anything. Instill in your friends the idea that date rape is wrong.

To the other statistical one-third of you who would commit a rape if you thought you could get away with it, you either need some counseling, need to learn some lessons or even learn some values about life. You may try all three on for size along with some respect for the opposite sex.

To conclude, stop and notice this letter is not written by the average concerned woman about women's rights, but rather by a male who is fed up with the men who think they can take advantage of any woman they

> Dale Schmidling junior in life sciences

Voting important

Students at K-State do not take Student Governing Association elections seriously. This is shown by the low turnout at the polls. But it is in the best interests of the students to vote for the simple reason that SGA controls a lot of their money.

The members who are elected to SGA are the people who directly allocate $400,000 of student money to various University and student organizations. These people will have a say in how much money will come into the University with the selective admissions proposal. The point is that voting for SGA members is a way to have a say in what is done with a portion of student money. Students will benefit with a larger election

Chris Forrer junior in finance

Baghdad bombing

To: Mr. Secretary General

In the name of thousands of Iraqi and Arab students and youth in the United States, we deplore and condemn the hideous crime committed by the Khomeini regime against the innocent school children in Baghdad.

The blood which was shed by the Khomeini missiles killed and wounded more than 240 children on the floors and classrooms in Baghdad, as it did in other cities in Iraq. This should urge all honest, peace-loving people to raise their voices loudly and exercise the greatest pressure on the Iranian rulers to force them to accept the U.N. Security Council Resolution No. 598 and put an end to this cruel war.

We condone and support the policy of the Iraqi government which has repeatedly expressed its willingness to accept this resolution to reach a negotiated settlement. We demand that the security council takes urgent and serious measures to force Iran to respect and implement its resolution No. 598 without further procrastination.

National Union of Iraqi Students and Youth

Fuel prices stabilize

Increase isn't anticipated

By Linda Huddleston Collegian Reporter

People traveling to the Manhattan area for Thanksgiving and Christmas may be in for some additional holiday cheer - steady to lower fuel

Some gas stations and distributors from Manhattan, Junction City and Lawrence are basing their predictions on the recent decreases of fuel in the market.

Wilbur Hunter, manager of Parkside Conoco and U-Haul in Manhattan, said it is hard to determine which direction fuel prices will move.

"I don't anticipate any drastic increase in gas prices over the holidays, but it's hard to tell," Hunter said. "It used to be that when the price of a barrel of crude went up, the prices at the pump went up. That's just not so anymore. That's why it's operating expenses also play a part in retail pump prices. "I realize everyone thinks that because it's the holiday season, fuel prices will go up," Ross said. "But that's not so. It looks like they'll stay the same or be a little lower. The prices at the pump have something to do with the crude oil market, but also with operating expenses, like transportation and labor."

Bill Ross, manager of the Co-op Service Station in Manhattan, said

Dave Myers, manager of Junction 66 Service in Junction City, and Jerry Roberts, manager of Jerry's 66 Service in Manhattan, both predict stable holiday prices.

"I don't foresee any big fuel price changes over the holidays," Myers said. "The market seems pretty

Roberts said prices have decreased so hard to tell what prices will do." in the last month in some places.

"I have no reason to increase my gasoline prices around the holiday season," Roberts said. "The only time we increase our prices is when the wholesale prices increase. Prices over the last month have gone down just a tenth here and there, but that'll make a difference."

Overall, prices at the stations in Manhattan, Junction City and Lawrence varied little in their

Ross said most stations' prices were within a few cents on regular and unleaded gasoline, but he added that convenience stores could offer lower prices.

"Convenience stores have the advantage in fuel pricing," he said. "They can offer lower prices because they make up for the difference when selling their other items."

money with them since grant money is given to the professor instead of

"Why do I stay? Sometimes I ask

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 salaries demanded at the assistant peer market level, then no money is left for the professor's level, he said.

Difficult recruitment

In addition to problems of retention, low salaries make it hard to attract new instructors, Koelliker said.

And those new faculty who do come to K-State often move on to greener employment pastures shortly after being hired, he said.

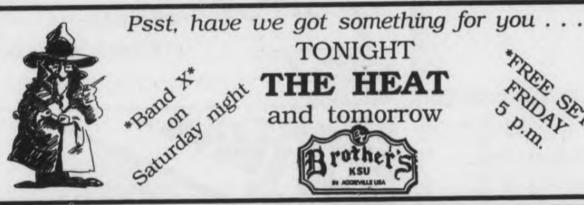

"K-State is getting the reputation of being a place where someone can get experience," he said.

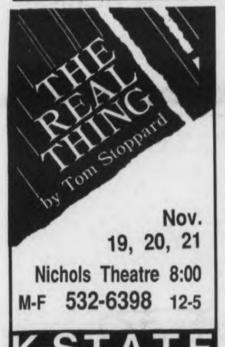

The quality of the higher education sought at K-State is "defined by the faculty," Krause said. "The faculty is the heart of quality.'

Also, when professors leave K-State, they take their research grant myself that," Koelliker said.

the institution, Krause said.

Many professors stay with K-State because they cannot leave or they choose not to move, Koelliker said. Most stay because of family ties or because the spouse has a higher paying job in the Manhattan area.

776-0217 Sorry, no checks! يسوالله الرحمة الرحيم

In the Name of God, Most Merciful, Most Compassionate

"(O believers), hold you fast to God's bond, together, and do not scatter ... (3:103)"

Muslim Unity Seminar

The Need for Islamic Unity and Solidarity

This one day seminar is organized to commomorate the birth of the Prophet of Islam (P.B.U.H). The unity and future of Muslims will be discussed.

Saturday November 21 Commencement 9:00 AM

Islamic Center 8501 East 99TH St. Kansas City, Missouri

قالرسولالله (ص):

ومن سمع منادياً بنادى باللمسلمين، ولم يجبه فليس بمسلم

(0 Muslims), if any one hears a call for help and does not respond, he is not a Muslim. Prophet Mohammed (P.B.U.H)

Sponsored by MSA(PSG) IMO

START 1988 Keystone for $235.

Jan. 4-10

Includes: lodging transportation taxes discounts

CALL Kansas State Travel David Baerg-Host

537-2451

Finally, a great pizza delivered.

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA™

Super Party Pack $13,99

Present this coupon and receive two medium four Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery topping Thin Crust Valid on Stuffed or Original Pizza. Not Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery

Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery. of free drink offer Sorry, you can on-

Large Pizza for a Medium Price Present this coupon and receive any large pizza for pizzas, plus four soft valid with refils on refillable jug offer On Sunday your choice: either use this coupon or take advantage

Not valid with any other promotional offers. Add $1 for use this coupon or take advantage delivery area

Monday-Friday. 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

2 for $9 Receive two medium cheese pizzas for only $9. Added ingredients available for only $1 per topping, which covers both delivery. Limited delivery area.

Combo or Pepperoni

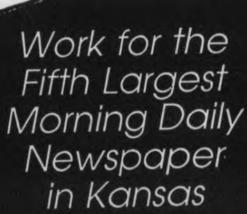

Hot Slice™

2 for $2

Receive 2 Hot Slice Pizzas

by the slice for $2!

Now Taking Applications for Spring Collegian:

Science/Health Editor

News Editor Copy Editors Feature Editor Sports Editor Agribusiness Editor Sports Writers Reviewer Graphic Artists Photo/Graphics Editor

Pick Up Your Application in Kedzie 103 NOW Applications Due by 5 p.m. Dec. 1, 1987, in Kedzie 103

Students, faculty praise Bradley

'Effective' president at K-State

By Karen Allen Collegian Reporter

The successes and frustrations that accompany the daily duties of a student body president will soon be just a string of memories for Kent Bradley, senior in nutritional science. He will relinquish his title to newlyelected Troy Lubbers, junior in business administration, in a swearing-in ceremony at Student Senate tonight.

Bradley defeated Michelle Benoit, senior in agricultural economics, last February, but did not serve for a full year because of a change in the election process. He was the first president to be affected by an SGA by-law which moved elections for the president and student senators from the spring to the fall semester. Senate passed the measure in the spring of office.

Bradley said one of the things he will remember most is speaking with students on campus.

"People stopping me and saying 'Hi, thanks for this or thanks for that' was really rewarding," he said.

Bradley said if he had to do it over again he would take a lighter load of courses so he could have made more visitations.

"It was fun to get out and talk to people but you have to draw the limit someplace," he said.

Graduation in May is the next item on Bradley's agenda, and then it's on to medical school or graduate work.

"I plan on attending med school it's just a matter of deciding whether I start next fall or take a year for graduate work," he said.

Everyday issues enable the president of the student body to make an impact on students, faculty members and the administration. The following quotes are from a few of the people whom Bradley worked with on a regular basis during his term of Jon Wefald, University president - "He did a great job. In particular, he represented the students superbly well on a variety of issues. He never hesitated to communicate the concerns of the students to myself or Krause. He related the concerns on a frequent basis - on a week-in, week-out basis. He kept us (administration) up-to-date.

Bob Krause, vice-president for institutional advancement - "He was an effective leader - particularly effective with the regents and in terms of state issues. He is highly respected by the regents. I gained an appreciation of the long hours that it takes (to be student body president)."

Todd Stritzke, senior in mechanical engineering and president of Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls - "He was receptive to the concerns of the residents. He kept the lines of communication open by attending meetings, workshops and activities. The residents were more informed and felt more a part of campus."

Janelle Larson, junior in animal sciences and industry and chief of staff for Bradley's cabinet - "He had excellent access to everybody. He ate in the residence halls twice a week and continued visitations throughout the year. He always had a good attitude. He was upbeat and I enjoyed working with him."

Jennifer Leeds, junior in political science and director of Associated Students of Kansas at K-State - "He proved to senators (at K-State) that ASK is a legitimate group by conducting a survey of the legislature. He designated a board member (to attend the ASK Board of Directors meetings), but also attended many of the meetings himself - and that impressed me."

Sally Routson, coordinator of student activities — "I don't like to compare (student body) presidents because I feel carrying out the duties of the office is an accomplishment in itself. Kent has been a delight to work with. He has a good sense of humor and a good perspective on the office. He represented the students and used his cabinet well."

Student government to elect chairperson

By The Collegian Staff

A new student government will be sworn in at tonight's Student Senate meeting. Once the old senators complete a few items of business, the new senators will officially begin their one-year term in office.

The first agenda item will be the election of a new Student Senate chairperson, who will replace Michelle Benoit, senior in agricultural economics.

Three nominations for the position were made at the last Senate meeting: Doug Folk, junior in electrical engineering; Pat Muir, senior in agricultural economics; and Jeff Wing, junior in economics. Other candidates can be nominated from the floor before the election. Each candidate is allowed to give a speech and answer questions from senators before the voting.

The Senate will also select a vice chairperson. Greg Weisenborn, senior in electrical engineering, is the only person nominated to date. Other nominations will be accepted from the floor for this position, too. A Faculty Senate representative is also scheduled to be elected

tans for $12.50 1214C Moro-Aggieville

K-State Racquetball Club Club Meeting Tonight 7 p.m.

Whether you are trying to figure out which wall to hit first or trying to decide which tournament to go to-the K-State Racquetball Club has something for you!

Have You Ever Seen A

Come see one at Petland

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

ANDREW GALE SCHRAG

Love, T. & K.

NEW THIS WEEK

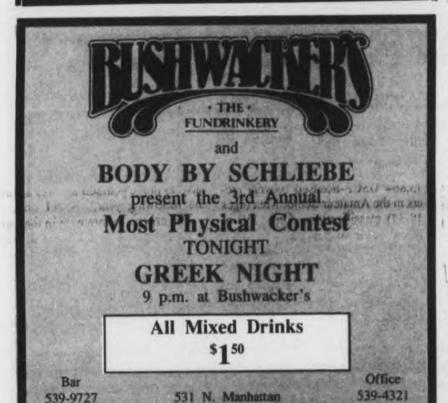

Stevie Wonder

Year Zero

Wilton Felder

NEW Frank Zappa CDs

1204 Moro in Aggieville

මළු මළු මළු මළු මළු මළු මළු මළු මළු Horticulture Club Pecan Sale Waters 41A 7:30-5:30 Union-1st Floor-9:30-4:30 5 lb. Cracked Pecans Proceeds go toward Club scholarships and community projects Nov. 18-19-20 Waters Hall

Waters Hall

Waters 41A

Enter from outside

Outside

OPEN 24 HOURS!

Coming Soon!

 MOVIE RENTALS ••••••

Come in and sign up now for your FREE

Membership Card!

1337 Anderson

537-0715

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL

Let's Talk About It . . . VIETNAM-A DISCUSSION

Speakers include Bill Arck: Director, Alcohol & Other Drug Education Services, and Vietnam Veteran; Charles Gillespie: Vietnam Veteran, served two separate tours of duty in Vietnam: and Dr. Sue Zschoche, KSU History Department.

> November 19, Noon Union Catskeller

Wicestate union

7 and 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall $1.75 KSU ID Required, Rated R. A "Wee Willie" 12 oz. and a "Wild Willie" 34 oz. refillable mug to be given away at each showing. Mugs provided by the K-State Union Food Service.

Today, 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall. All shows $1.75; KSU ID Required.

Join UPC Travel on their Kansas City Christmas Shopping Trip! We will be stopping at the fabulous Oak Park Mall and the famous Country Club Plaza. View the Christmas lights and really get into the Christmas Spirit!!

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1987

COST IS $10

Includes round-trip transportation Sign-up: Began Wednesday, November 18 at 8 a.m. in the Activities Center and will continue through Dec. 30 until full.

InFocus Thursday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, November 19, 1987 ■ Page 7

Three K-State students spend their spare time

Bicycle Racing

Lilly and Nadel hold hands while crossing the finish line during a race. The trio is competitive, but the competition is sometimes set aside.

The only sounds distinguishable from the din of the crowd is the slapping of tensile-steel chains shifting from gear to gear and the rushing sound created by the revolution of hardened-steel wheel spokes as the closely bunched pack of riders approaches the final turn of a 50-mile bicycle race.

One rider loses traction and falls, careening along the asphalt pavement. Before he finally comes to a stop, six other riders crash into him. It takes race officials several minutes to untangle twisted bicycle wheels and frames from riders with limbs scraped raw by the asphalt.

The precrash investment? 49-plus miles of lung- and leg-searing racing; a 400-mile round trip to the race site; $35 to $50 a day in living expenses; sleeping six to seven people to a room in cheap motels; eating at even cheaper restaurants; upward of $1,600 initial investment in a bicycle; and logging 200 to 350 training miles a week for the last six to eight years.

Jason Lilly, senior in mechanical engineering, Jerome Nadel, graduate student in industrial psychology, and Doug Enns, senior in mechanical engineering, ride in a pace line during a race.

Return on the investment? Total exhaustion; a depleted bank account; assorted abrasions and lacerations; an undetermined expense for bicycle equipment repair or replacement; a long, silent drive home; and the opportunity to study late into the night preparing for the next day's classes.

So ends another weekend chapter in the life of someone trying to juggle the demands of being a licensed United States Cycling Federation (USCF) bicycle racer and a full-time University student.

There are at least three such racer/ students currently attending K-State. Jerome Nadel, graduate student in industrial psychology and a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., has been racing for five years. Doug Enns, senior in mechanical engineering and a Hesston native, has raced for four years. Jason Lilly, senior in mechanical engineering, hails from Topeka and has four years of racing experience.

"There is a definite link between my physical well-being and my mental well-being. When I feel good physically, I also feel good mentally.
Bike racing is the seed for my intellectual growth," Nadel said.

The peak racing season is from April to June and from September to November, which unfortunately coincides with the intense periods of classroom instruction and exams, Nadel said.

Lilly said the trio routinely makes 15-20 trips to races during the racing season. Managing available time to allow for school, training, working and racing is the biggest challenge they face.

All three racers are licensed members of the USCF. The federation's stated purpose is the preservation, development and administration of the sport of bicycle racing within the United States.

Nationwide, there are currently 13,864 USCF-licensed bicycle racers in the Amateur Senior Men (ages 18-34) classification. Only 110 of those reside in Kansas.

"The United States is a virtual hotbed of raw bicycling talent," Nadel said. "Bicycling has yet to be fully recognized for the sport it is here in America, but I rather enjoy being a part of an almost-cult sport."

Competitors in USCF-sanctioned races are divided into four categories. Olympian bicycling greats like Nelson Vails and Mark Gorski are in Category 1. In contrast, anyone who wants to purchase a USCF license (currently $32) and has the desire to race can get licensed in Category 4.

Category 1, 2 and 3 racers all compete together. Category 4 racers compete only against each other, in races typified by intense racing and equally intense crashes, Enns said.

"Wide-open racing and crashing and burning is what's happening in Category 4," he said.

"Despite that rather dismal description of Category 4 racers, they routinely log 200-plus training miles per week and statistically have been racing in open competitions for at least two years," Nadel said.

In order to progress from one category to the next, racers must either place in the top six in six races, or in the top three in three races, all within one calendar year. "At the end of each year, your

"At the end of each year, your 'win' slate is wiped clean and if you haven't moved up in category, you have to prove yourself all over again the following year," Nadel said.

The criteria to move up in the top three categories is the same as for Category 4. However, the broad See BICYCLE, Page 10

The racing trio (left to right) Liliy, Nadel and Enns look over the course before competing in a race. The trio makes 15-20 racing trips annually.

ABOVE: Prior to racing, Lilly rests on the handlebars of his bicycle he custom-built himself. LEFT: Enns laces spokes in a wheel. The wheels are made of a lightweight alloy and are built with spokes designed to reduce wind resistance.

Story by Chuck Horner Photos by Jim Dietz

Sounds of music benefit debate team

The Washington Squares members Tom Goodkind, Lauren Agnelli, and Bruce Jay Paskow perform their brand of folkrock 'n' roll to benefit the K-State Debate Team Wednesday night in the Union Ballroom.

By Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

The folkrock 'n' rollin' rhetoric of The Washington Squares, a top 10 Greenwich Village band, dazzled Manhattan Wednesday night in a fund-raiser for the K-State Debate

The Lonesome Houndogs, opening for the Squares, bursted with energy with their stop and go psychedelic cowpunk rhythms. Although a bit too loud at times, the group served their function well in warming up a chilly crowd. "Inna Gadda Da Vida" transitized the audience to another era and sequed smoothly into the beatnik antics of the Squares.

Concert Review

Arriving just in time to take the stage without even a sound-check, the Squares illustrated their professionalism by testing sound qualities with a resonant "Home On the Range." The song further illustrated the band's vocal and mental ensemble approach to its music.

of black berets, sunglasses and turtlenecks, the band members instantly took the impressionable audience on a social/political roller coaster ride.

"You Are Not Alone" stated the band's philosophical approach to music as the band sang: "There are many of us walking around you/ We've got the numbers/We just need to organize." This, of course, epitomized the group's leftist views.

The humor of Tom Goodkind, Lauren Agnelli and Bruce Jay Paskow was displayed as the band told the audience that "You Can't Stop the Rain," their biggest single, had "sold literally hundreds of Messages hidden well within the group's lyrics and conversations with the audience highlighted the evening. Paskow satirized Manhattan's "Little Apple" image by saying the town seemed more like a beige tangerine. As the band lured the audience in with its humor, the audience was bombarded with serious messages.

"You Can't Kill Me," a montage of New York Times' headlines, Wearing their usual beatnik gear stated to the Reagan administration: "You can kill yourself/ But you can't kill me."

The audience was challenged in 'New Generation," which reminded it that "Freedom must be won by every generation." The cause of liberals, who made up the audience, was furthered with the lyrics "Ours care about us/ Change things we must."

Throughout the evening, the band slammed President Reagan. The band slammed conformity subtly in "The Prisoner of Fortune," which reminded the audience that freedom isn't necessarily a constant in the United States.

The audience danced itself into a physical and emotional frenzy and called the band out for an encore. Band members gave thanks to Ed Schiappa, debate team sponsor, who said: "This concert bodes well for future events. It shows that groups which are not yet household words but who are talented can get a chance. Further, it showed great support for our financially stricken debate team."

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

CLIP, KEEP

& SAVE ALL WEEK

$10 off any regular perm with Mindy 539-9920

12141/2 Moro in Aggieville M-F 8-6; Sat. 8-5 Expires 11-25-87

CUDDLESKIN NIGHTGOWNS

and PAJAMAS

THIS IS YOUR LAST CHANCE BEFORE CHRISTMAS To buy the ultimate winter gown at a discount. Luxurious satin on the outside - cuddly brushed cotton on the inside for warmth. Great gift for Mom too! Free gift wrap.

Aggieville

Open M-F 10-5:30 Thurs. til 8 p.m., Sat. 10-5, Sun. 1-5 Good through Sun., Nov 22

FEAST YOUR EYES ON THIS!

If you buy one 1/4 lb. Hamburger & an order of fries RUNZA will give you a FREE ¼ Ib. HAMBURGER!

TOWN CENTER MALL Picnic Park

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

2 pieces of chicken, biscuit, potatoes & gravy

AGGIEVILLE 1101 Moro

OFF Haircut

Mon.-Fri. 10:30 a.m. Appointments ONLY with this coupon Expires 11-26-87

776-4794

Hair care center

537-1332 411 Poyntz-Lower Level $200 off

Haircuts (reg. $10) $5 off perm or color $2 tanning sessions

$10 massage (reg. $20)

10% off ebony service

M-F 9-6 W-Th 9-8, Sat. 8-5

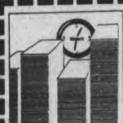

FOR ONLY

OFFER EXPIRES 11-27-87

with the purchase of any sub 12th & Moro—Aggieville expires 11-18-87 with this coupon only void with other offers Great copies. Great people.

Self Serve Copies 31/2 ¢

Excluding Xerox 1025 Copiers Not including 11x17 exp. date 11/25/87

1110 Laramle

PERM SALE

Gals Reg. Apple Pectin $45 Axiom Warm & Gentle $48

Guys

Curly Body Partial

404 Humboldt

All Perms Include Cut and Style

539-TAME or 539-8601

Expires 11-26-87

Now

$30

$35

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, November 19, 1987 ■ Page 9

writes own ticket

SportsRapp

JEFF RAPP Sports Editor

Brace yourself for the 1987-88 edition of Wildcat basketball. It's going to be a doozy.

Let's start by discussing K-State's schedule, which could end up being the Wildcats' one-way ticket to the Top 20.

The first vote-getting stop on the campaign trail comes Dec. 17 in Ahearn Field House, when the 'Cats take on last year's National Invitational Tournament postseason champion, the University of Southern Mississippi. Last year, en route to a 23-11 season and the NIT crown, the Golden Eagles beat the University of Nebraska 82-75.

A real big game comes Dec. 20 when the 'Cats play Purdue University at West Lafayette, Ind.

The Boilermakers are ranked No. 2 in this year's AP preseason poll, so a victory (or even a respectable defeat) against Purdue could gain the 'Cats some notable recognition.

After the team's Christmas break, K-State travels to the bustling metropolis of Logan, Utah, on New Year's Eve to take on Utah State.

Originally, the 'Cats were scheduled to play in the Hawaii Pacific University tournament in Honolulu, Hawaii, but what Head Coach Lon Kruger called "travel arrangement problems" denied the team this tropical opportunity. So it's off to Logan to play the Aggies. Some trade-off.

Another game that should draw at least regional and some nation-

By The Associated Press

"Al" Duer, longtime executive secretary of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, died Wedin Porterville, Calif., the NAIA announced in Kansas City. He had been hospitalized several times since he moved to California in January, grown to 565 members at the time of

and to this day is that athletics should be part of a total educational

The NAIA philosophy under Duer

his retirement.

program.

suffering from kidney problems.

Duer died at Sierra View Hospital

nesday on his 83rd birthday.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A.O.

dies on 83rd birthday

al attention is K-State's next scheduled game Jan. 3 against Marquette University at Kansas City, Mo., in Kemper Arena.

Last year in Kemper, the 'Cats played a tough first half against the University of North Carolina, but were blown out in the second period. Marquette doesn't have that kind of talent, so this one will be a win in front of a KC crowd, which is always good for K-State as a university.

The big games just keep rolling along, as K-State plays Southern Mississippi again in Hattiesburg, then Big Eight Conference play

In the conference this year, K-State will play the seventh-ranked University of Kansas, the eighthranked University of Missouri and the 19th-ranked University of Oklahoma.

As equal as the league is this year, and as many close games as K-State lost to these three Top 20 teams last year, I have to think the Wildcats will defeat each of these three one time during the season probably in Ahearn.

And there you have it. K-State's ticket to the Top 20 recognition it deserves lies within the 'Cats' own schedule.

One other thing - K-State plays The Wichita State University only once this year and that's in Ahearn. Coach Eddie Fogler and his Shockers from "the other" university may be tough, but I predict a lopsided victory for the Wildcats in this one.

So let's have a toast to three appearances in Kemper Arena for K-State this year — one against Marquette, one in the Big Eight Conference postseason tournament and one in the Final Four in

And how about that last one being against Kansas? Well, maybe it's a pipe dream, but oh what a day for the people of the Sunflower State that would be.

"We have promoted the responsibility of our institutions to build a sound program and not to depend on gate receipts," he once said. "Athletics become part of the school's educational budget. We could never have built the NAIA on gate receipt income. Some sports have little or no phies, the aims, the objectives. The things you work hard for, the things that challenge people are the satisfy-

"They don't have everything. Life is like that. If you don't work hard, you don't appreciate what you have.

If you have everything, you get sloppy. Like a tree...if the wind doesn't blow, it doesn't get strong."

gate income.

ing values in life.'

Wildcat schedule Seniors' days numbered

By Bill Lang Sports Writer

"It's been hell," said one senior member of the K-State football team.

That was the description of what it was like to have struggled through four years of hard work in hopes of achieving a winning Wildcat season and coming up short every time.

The 'Cats, after their Independence Bowl season of 1982, have seen a total of eight wins in the past four years, several coaching changes along the way and numerous personnel changes.

Some would think with one game left on the schedule the chance to obtain personal goals would overshadow the team goals. Not so.

"We have a commitment to the team first, then personal goals," said senior tight end Brent Cotton. "You know the guys who really want to win. They are the ones who put all their emotion and physical efforts into just trying to win.

"There are some guys who dream of having a bowl ring on each and every finger," he added. "But I would trade all those dreams just for one win this season."

"It seems like an eternity," said senior fullback Ray Wilson, who has been a part of the football team for five years. "We've worked hard, so hard, and yet we don't have much to show for it. It tears you apart, almost."

Every year there has also been the preseason hype and the expectations set for the year.

"They (the people involved with the program) get all hyped up about how many games we'll win," said senior wide receiver Dan Hughes.

"It just hasn't happened any of the years that I've been here. After a while the losing just builds up in you and you get so frustrated...Then you realize it won't help things by getting angry. You just have to keep on trying," he said.

Senior defensive back Brad Lambert viewed the losing in a different

"I see the people of K-State, Manhattan and the students trying so much to help us and support us," he said. "It makes us feel like, with all this losing, that we're letting them

"I'll tell you one thing, though," he Kansas NAIA luminary said. "We try so hard all season long and a lot of the times we come up losing. I've learned not to be a quitter and appreciate the good things when they come along.

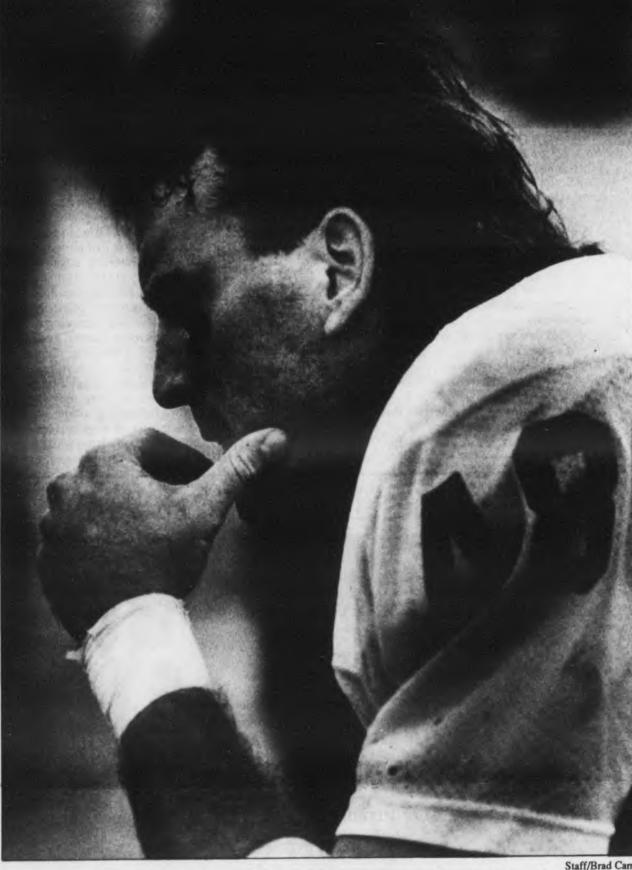

When most of these players were recruited, they came in following the year the 'Cats made their first appearance in a bowl game. The class which arrived the year after the Independence Bowl included linebacker David Wallace, tight end Kent Dean, fullback Rick Lewis and Wilson.

"When we came in we were "Rather, it should be the philoso- labeled as the best recruiting class that K-State had ever landed," Lewis of K-State's junior varsity basketball competition after a two-year absence.

Notice Dawson

The team will scrimmage the Morris Hill Brotherhood team from Fort Riley at 6 in Aheam Field House. Admission is free.

Staff/Brad Camp

Tight end Brent Cotton, one of 17 seniors who will be suiting up in a K-State football uniform for the last time Saturday, watches last week's loss. The seniors have experienced eight wins in four seasons.

said of the 24 signed for that fall. "We had goals set and then things started going downhill.

"We've seen numerous coaching changes and out of the original 24, only eight of them are left," he added.

For Dean, the events that have taken place over the past four years of his playing time were too big for just a small article.

"We've seen so many ups and downs while we've been here that you could write a book about it," Dean said. "This year has been the biggest disappointment so far."

For some, though, the past years haven't all been in vain.

"Coming in with these guys and means that I was successful and that sticking through it all - that's something to be proud of," Wallace said. "It's satisfying knowing that I gave my hardest and that my peers knew that I didn't give up.

For defensive back Willie Halliburton, who spent much of the time on the sidelines playing second string, success of the team is something that just can't be measured.

"Success means different things to different people," he said. "I felt that we were successful in what we wanted to do, except for the wins. Just knowing that I played my hardest and gave it my all every time the others were successful, too."

Among the K-State seniors playing their last collegiate game Saturday are: defensive backs Brad Lambert and Willie Halliburton; quarterback Tim Hanson; fullbacks Ray Wilson and Rick Lewis; tailback Tony Jordan; linebackers David Wallace, Grady Newton and Matt Wallerstedt; defensive tackles Dan Goldner and Tim MacDonald; tight ends Kent Dean and Brent Cotton; offensive guard Matt Garver; and wide receivers Dan Hughes, Todd Cowings and John Williams.

garners Born in Sylvia, Kan., Duer was When a tiny church-related school Tonight marks the return executive secretary of the NAIA Jack Clark, Smith's teammate on for staying off the disabled list and an with no gymnasium of its own made from 1949-75. He oversaw a steady By The Associated Press the National League East champion its first appearance in the national expansion of the organization of basketball tournament, he said: mostly small colleges until it had

NEW YORK - Andre Dawson of the Chicago Cubs became the first member of a last-place team to be named Most Valuable Player, winning the National League award Wednesday.

Dawson, a free agent whom no club bid for last winter, led the majors with 137 runs batted in and tied for the homer lead with 49. He beat St. Louis shortstop Ozzie Smith by a 269-193 margin in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

"I tried to be realistic and not hold out too much hope," said Dawson, who admitted he thought the Cubs' poor finish could hurt his chances. "I'm thrilled despite a pretty dismal season by the ballclub.'

Dawson, 33, was so intent on playing at Wrigley Field this year that he left the Montreal Expos and signed a blank contract with the Cubs during spring training. Then-general manager Dallas Green filled in the dollar amount of $500,000, making Dawson the second-lowest paid regular

"I wanted to convince the baseball world that I would indeed perform better under different circumstances those circumstances being to get away from the AstroTurf and onto a natural playing field," Dawson said during a news conference at Wrigley

St. Louis team that finished 181/2 games ahead of Chicago, was third with 186. Montreal's Tim Wallach was fourth and San Francisco's Will Clark was fifth. Cy Young winner Steve Bedrosian of Philadelphia finished 16th.

Dawson and the two Clarks were the only players named on all 24 ballots. Smith was named on 22. Two association members in each of the 12 NL cities were eligible to vote.

Dawson got 11 first-place votes, Smith had nine, Jack Clark three and Wallach one.

"I'm not disappointed," Smith said. "It's one of those things I didn't give much thought to. Hopefully, I'll wake up tomorrow." Smith batted a career-high .303 with 75 RBI and 43 stolen bases. He committed 10 errors, tied for his fewest ever in a season.

As much as Dawson wanted to play in Chicago, the Cubs, burned by multimillion-dollar free agents contracts in the past, were reluctant to have him.

But Dawson, 33, prospered with his best year while the Cubs struggled along at 76-85. Dawson batted .287 and played a strong right field while also surpassing his previous top power numbers of 32 home runs and 113 RBI, both in 1983 with Montreal.

He earned an additional $150,000 extra $50,000 for making the All-Star team for the fourth time. He did not have an incentive clause in his contract for winning the MVP.

Dawson, vowing last winter he would not return to the Expos for a 12th season, rejected salary arbitration and tested the free-agent market. The Expos offered a two-year contract worth $2 million, and no other team topped that figure.

From the start, Dawson wanted to play at Wrigley Field, where he had hit .346 in his career. At that point, he had averaged one home run for every 16.8 at-bats during the day compared to one per each 37.1 at-bats at night.

Dawson joined Ernie Banks and Chuck Klein as the only players from losing teams to win the MVP award. Banks won it in 1958 and 1959 while playing shortstop for the Cubs, who finished fifth in the eight-team NL in both seasons. Klein won it with Philadelphia in 1932.

Dawson, Banks, Klein and Hank Sauer with the Cubs in the 1952 and Rod Carew in 1977 with Minnesota are the only players win the MVP award with second-division teams.

Dawson tied Oakland rookie Mark McGwire for the major league homer lead. Dawson's home run and RBI totals were the most in the NL since George Foster's 52-homer, 149-RBI season for Cincinnati in 1977.

Preseason All-Americans picked

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - University of Michigan guard Gary Grant says he would trade his selection to the 1987-88 Associated Press preseason All-America team for a Big Ten Conference title and a good showing in the NCAA Tournament.

"It's an honor to get selected to a preseason All-America team, but right now, I'm just looking forward to the season and I would just like to make sure that the team does well," Grant said Wednesday after the team was announced. He was voted to the squad along with Kansas forward Danny Manning, Syracuse center Rony Seikaly, North Carolina forward J.R. Reid and Notre Dame guard David Rivers by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

"I feel that if the team wins a Big Ten championship and does well in postseason play, the individual Georgetown replaced him on the awards will follow," he added.

Manning was the top vote-getter in the balloting, receiving 60 of a possible 64 votes. Seikaly had 40, Reid got 36, while Rivers and Grant had 33 and 32, respectively. All are seniors but Reid, who is a sophomore.

Grant, one of the nation's best two-way players, averaged 22.4 points, 5.4 assists and 2.7 steals a game. He led Michigan, ranked ninth in the AP's preseason poll, into the second round of the NCAA Tournament last spring.

Manning was the only repeater from last year's initial AP preseason team, which included seniors David Robinson of Navy, Kenny Smith of North Carolina, and Steve Alford of Indiana, each of whom, like Manning, was chosen for the All-American team after the season.

Louisville's Pervis Ellison was the other player selected to last year's preseason team. Reggie Williams of postseason All-American team. Manning, the Big Eight Conference's player of the year, averaged 23.9 points and 9.5 rebounds per game for the Jayhawks last season while making 62 percent of his field goal attempts. Reid, one of the most heralded freshmen ever to enter Coach Dean Smith's program, was the Atlantic Coast Conference rookie of the year last season, averaging 14.7 points and 7.4 rebounds per game.

Seikaly was the center last season as the Orangemen, No.1 in the preseason, came within a point of the national championship, losing 74-73 to Indiana. The 6-foot-10 native of Greece averaged 15.1 points, 8.2 rebounds and 2.1 blocks last season while shooting 57 percent from the Rivers has battled back from a near-fatal automobile accident in the summer of 1986 to become an All-American.

Maintaining grades not top priority for some students

By Alison Neely Staff Writer

For the Office of Admissions, it's no secret that maintaining good grades is not a top priority to

After the 1987 spring semester, 423 students were dismissed from the University for academic deficiency.

Academic deficiency is a condition whereby students have completed 12 hours or more and have been on probation during the previous semester. During that semester, these students were also a certain number of grade points below a 2.0 grade point average.

These points vary according to the number of credit hours accumulated. After accumulating 12 to 60 hours, students are dismissed if they are 12 points below a 2.0; 61 to 80 hours, 11 points below a 2.0; and 81 to 100 hours, 10 points below a 2.0.

The number of points below a 2.0 continues to rise as more hours are accumulated.

A twofold process awaits all dismissed students who desire to re-enroll at the University, said Charlotte Pfaff, registrar records supervisor.

of the eight colleges is the first lot of them, it's a last-minute step. This depends upon the decision."

1100 Moro

course of study, but it is usually done through the college in which the student was last enrolled.

To be reinstated, the student must appear before the board of the particular college. Each college has its own requirements to be reinstated, said Barb Dawes, associate director of admissions.

Reapplying for admission is the second step of the process. This process is not the same as applying for reinstatement. A dismissed student has no chance of being readmitted without first being reinstated.

"The Admissions office can't do anything until the college has approved reinstatement. It sounds kind of silly, but there is a distinction between the two," Dawes

In addition to dismissed students who have been reinstated, probationary students and students who have not attended classes for more than one semester must reapply for admission, she

"Any student who has a break in attendance must reapply for admission to the University," Dawes said. "(Students applying for readmittance) typically are She said reinstatement by one walk-in students because (for) a

Goes To The Nicest Parties

Bicycle

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 spectrum of skills and experience encompassed in the top three categories makes progression difficult, he

Nadel has finished in the top six places in five races this year, including one first, two thirds, one fourth and one fifth. Nadel said he is hoping for a good finish in an upcoming race to facilitate his progression to Categ-

"I put out 110 percent every time I race. Sometimes I am successful and other times I am not, but I never stop trying," Nadel said.

Lilly, who is also a Category 3 racer, said he transitioned to bicycle racing from triathlon competition as a self-defense measure. Lilly admits to being a poor swimmer.

Both Nadel and Lilly race for, and are partially subsidized by, the Wheatland Racing Team based in Topeka.

Enns, a Category 4 racer, competes for the Bluemont Bicycle Club of Manhattan, Enns placed third in a race in Norman, Okla., in early September and took first place in a twoday, multiple-event stage race at Searcy, Ark., in October in his quest to progress to Category 3.

The trio competes primarily in an eight-state region consisting of Alabama, Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

The three do not suscribe to any special diet; however, they all practice "carbo-loading" - the systematlc ingestion of huge quantities of complex carbohydrates after a period of intense and regular exercise. This builds stores of glycogen for sustaining endurance during extended periods of physical exercise.

776-7387

6890

Race-day food favorites are as varied as the racers themselves. Applefilled cookies, caffeine in any form, bananas, and electrolytereplacement sport drinks all get the nod of approval.

"He is like a garbage disposal, wolfing down anything I serve him, especially pastas, bread and doublestuff Oreos," said Lauren Nadel about her husband.

The trio maintains detailed training records, logging 200 to 350 training miles every week. The training miles are divided into a combination of time trialing, which is riding a known distance purely for speed; long-distance riding (at least 60 miles per exercise session); and short-distance sprints, termed intervals.

"Riding into Kansas head winds compensates for the absence of high hills or mountains to train on," Nadel

When bad weather finally forces them indoors, the three use indoor training devices designed to emulate the feel of outdoor riding.

"It's hard to get myself motivated to put in time on my rollers (an indoor training device)," Enns said. "I usually do it while I watch David Letterman. It aggravates my downstairs neighbors, but it helps me stay in shape for the next racing season."

"The criteria for winter riding — a real factor in Kansas — is to ride until your water bottle freezes," Lilly

All three racers utilize high-tech, high-dollar bicycles, with initial costs upward of $1,600.

The three maintain their own bicycles. Between training rides and maintenance time, each of the racers devotes 35 to 40 hours a week to the pursuit of bicycling.

"Annual maintenance costs barring catastrophic equipment failures or equipment-destroying crashes — still account for more than $1,000," Nadel said.

The three are also members of the Bluemont Bicycle Club of Manhattan. Lilly, club president, said although he and others in the club are racers, the club is for riders of all levels of skill and experience.

Each of the racers has his own unique motivation to race. Nadel said his motivation is solely to win.

"Winning is a reinforcement cycle. The better I perform, the more want to race," he said.

Lilly said knowing he is racing against the best racers in an eightstate region is the source of his competitive drive.

Enns cites the sheer excitement of the competition and his own improvement as the keys to his motivation.

"When the bell rings signaling the final circuit in a race, I get a tremendous surge of adrenalin that makes me forget about everything else," he

"I would give up partying and spend every penny I get if that's what it takes to keep racing," Enns said.

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3,25, 20 cents per word over 15: Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless cli-ent has an established account with Student Publi-

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised

FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4.30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, colo religion, national origin, sex or ancestry

Deadline is noon the day before publication noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128 (1tf)

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

DO YOU need major medical health care for your child or spouse only? Call Linda Harvey, 537-0567,

Mutual of Omaha Companies, Town East. (60-63) LEARN TO be a PAL, film "Deadly Silence," SADD

meeting, 6 p.m., Union 207, Nov. 19th. (61-63) HORSE-DRAWN hay rides. Anywhere, anytime. 539-

HOLIDAY FLOUR sales: Take home some flour for Mom to bake with. White, whole wheat, and rye lours, pancake mix. Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1-4 p.m., Friday, Nov. 20, 12-6 p.m. Shellenberger 220. Spon sored by Grain Science Club. (61-64)

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Man-

(Continued on page 11)

TV Listings

By TV Data

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today	CBS News Morning Pro-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00		gram "	0	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook NBA Today	Little House on the Prairi
9:00	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Basketball: Soviets at	Movie: "Rachel and
10:00		Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Write Course	Love Boat	NevLas Ve- gas	the Stranger
11:00	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Communi. Taste of Adv.	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Masor
	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	CFL Football: Western Divi-	Movie: "With This Ring"
1:00	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Nova	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	sion Semifinal Playoff	"
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	McLaughlin Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	Baseball Tractor Pull	Tom & Jerry and Friends
3:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	Championship Wrestling	Flintstones Flintstones
4:00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing Auto Racing	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook PGA Tour	Alice Carol Burne
6:00	News Wheel-Fortune	News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter Sports	Andy Griffith Sanford
	Highway to Heaven	Oldest Rookie	Perfect Stran- Head of Class	Hill Street Blues	White House Performance	Movie: "Blaz- ing Saddles"	Track and Field: National	Movie: "Dr. Zhivago"
8:00	Year in the Life	Magnum, P.I.	Hooperman Slap Maxwell	Movie: "The Horse Sol-	American Masters: Bus-	(I) (I)	Collegiate Muscle Mag.	n
	St. Elsewhere	Equalizer	Dynasty	diers"	ter Keaton: A Hard Act to	News INN News	Billiards:	"
10:00	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	News ABC News	Barney Miller Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Great Pool SportsCenter	11
11:00	Ent. Tonight	Diamonds	Special: Capi- tal to Capital	Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Duel"	Sports Magic Years	Portrait of America: Ohi
		Movie: "Miss- ing Pieces"	700 Club	"The Desperate Hours"	Sign-Off	- 17	NBA Today Arm Wrestling	"The Moun- tain Man"

Beautiful gowns and tuxedos for all your special occasions

Aggieville

Women's Shoes DRESS-SPORT-CASUAL Values to TO

SPECIAL—Just for the holidays we have gone through our entire inventory and have selected many categories of footwear to offer to you at low, low discount prices-You'll Save Big!

Men's Shoes DRESS-SPORT-CASUAL Values to $80 TO

SPECIAL SALE

Bargain Shop A SEPARATE DEPARTMENT OFF PRICE FAMILY FOOTWEAR ALL SHOES AND BOOTS REDUCED

PRICED ESPECIALLY

FOR THIS EVENT!

Shoes

INTOWN MANHATTAN OPEN NITES AND SUNDAY!

Men's Boots WESTERN-WORK-SPORT-DRESS 2 Big Groups $10 OFF B $25 OFF 10% OFF 25% OF Men's & Women's Athletic Shoes

25% OFF 'GROUP SPECIAL SALE Children's Award Series STOCK

cancellation is NOON the day before publication.

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

* No abbreviations, please. * No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.

* Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to

* Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials,

Collegian Classified Advertising

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC.,

KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506. You can also stop by Kedzie

103 to place your ad or call 532-6555. Student Publications now accepts MasterCard and Visa. (Minimum charge of $5.)

The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

* If mailed ads do not arrive by the Noon deadline, they will be placed in the next day's paper.

* Ads which are incorrectly calculated will be run only for amount paid.

* The Collegian reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement at any time

	Clas	SITIE	ea /	Ad	Rate	S		Classified	Ca	regories
Words/Day	1	2	3	4	5	Extra Days	01	Announcements	15	Miscellaneous Merchandise
1-15		3.25				1.00	02	Apartments for Rent — Furnished	16	Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale
16 17	2.40	3.45	4.25			1.05	03	Apartments for Rent — Unfurnished	17	Musical Instruments
18	2.70	10000	4.75	10000	0.00	1.15	04	Automobiles for Sale	18	Personals
19	2.85	4.05	5.00	5.70	6.15	1.20	05	Automobile Rentals	19	Pets and Pet Supplies
20	3.00	-		6.00		1.25	06	Card of Thanks	100	The second secon
21	3.15	4.45		6.30		1.30			20	Professional Services
23	3.30		6.00			1.35	07	Child Care	21	Rentals
24	3.60		6.25			1,45	08	Computers	22	Resume/Typing Services
25	-222	5.25				1.50	09	Employment	23	Roommate Wanted
26		5.45				1.55	10	Financial Services	24	Situation Wanted
27	4.05	5.65	7.00	8.10	8.95	1.60	11	Garage and Yard Sales	25	Sporting/Recreational Equipmen
28	4.20	5.85	7.25	8.40	9.30	1.65				The state of the s
29	4.35	6.05	7.50	8.70	9.65	1.70	12	Houses and Mobile Hornes for Rent	26	Sublease
30	4.50	6.25	7.75	9.00	10.00	1.75	13	Houses and Mobile Homes for Sale	27	Welcome
ver 30 words							14	Lost and Found	28	Other ssifled N

29 30 Over 30 words		1.70	13 Houses and Mobile Homes for Sale 14 Lost and Found	27 Welcome 28 Other
Name	Mail Order Form		Phone no Student ID #
			Student ID #
			9	10
11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18		20
21	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	.29	30
Date ad begin	ns		Amount paid
Total days in	paper		Category

PATIENT INSTRUCTION at the Little Apple Driving

STUDIO APARTMENTS now open near campus.

Mont Blue Apartments. 539-4447. (53tf)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

MUST RENT! One-bedroom, January-May, $220/

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment, $200/month

TWO-BEDROOM, balcony, close to campus. Anderson Place, available Jan. 1, 1988. Call 776-9923. (62-

RENTAL INFO

or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson. (61-64)

now. 537-9259. Anderson Place #7. (60-64)

oom apartment. Close to campus. Call

776-1330. (63-67)

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three

GREAT OPPORTUNITY for experience. Manage the Crafty Senior Plus non-profit store, 321 Poyntz, part-time. Responsible for total operation including merchandising, scheduling and training volun teer clerks, taking consignments and bookkeep ing. Prefer upper division or graduate student

Apply at the store, 12-4 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday

ADVERTISING

PRODUCTION

ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester

(beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department.

Experience with Mycro-Tek

VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-

4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe, South America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-

RESORT HOTELS, cruiselines, airlines and amuse ment parks Now accepting applications for sum-mer jobs, internships and career positions. For information and application; write National

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low ties, $425, 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf)

TWO BEDROOM house. Near City Park. Air condi

ned. Some furnishings. 539-7307. (63-67)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 × 80 Windsor home; three

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m. 5 p.m. Open Sundays untii Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

RUBY EMERALD sapphire earrings. Grade A qualty

Self-service & Full-service Copying

Thesis Copying - 50% cotton paper

Resume service and binding

Wide Selection of Books & Compact Discs

FIREWOOD-SPLIT oak mixed; corn feed beefsold live weight plus processing. 499-6682. (61-65)

VINTAGE CLOTHING and antique solid oak wall unit book or display case, 12 feet long, 8 high. Gumbo

DANCE,

DANCE,

DANCE

to the sounds of

"OASIS"

Friday & Saturday

Restaurant and Drinking Establishment

17th & Anderson. 539-7531

Collectibles, 1130 Lararmie. (63-64)

at manufacturer's prices. Manhattan Coins and Books & Copies

776-3771

ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

× 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath, 537 bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, mil wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

on, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head 15

1814 Ctaffin

2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar. CA 92625.

December 4.

Island, SC 29938. (59-66)

1029. (62-71)

FirstBank Center.

M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sat. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Sun. Noon-9 p.m.

Hill Antiques, 539-5778. (61-64)

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

New York. (62-71)

04

09

children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont.

CUSTOM SCREENING

4 less, \(\square \text{us out!}

for your tanning & fitness needs thru 12/31/87

SCHLIEBE

776-1750

KING SIZE waterbed, priced for immediate sale, eve

ARGENTINE HANDMADE sweaters, 100% wool

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

COLLECIATE

UNTER

SKI BREAKS

* 1988 *

Vail/Beaver Creek 178

PLEASE BUY this like new Pioneer 45 watt receiver

only $50, 537-8556, Sheldon, (63-67)

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

Mark, 532-3560 (62-66)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

327 Poyntz

5494 (59-63)

PERSONALS

sweater. (62-63)

DE-2 Hitachi deck, $300 retail investment, each are

MONGOOSE MOUNTAIN bike, like new, new

SELL NEW Lotus bass, stand $150. Wah pedal. Pea

Hayes House of Music

FENDER STD. STRATS

w/Kahler Trem w/hardshell case

$539

WEEKLY RENTAL, Tascam 4-track ministudio. Pu

KATHY FROM C.G. Met you Sunday during lunch at FOOTBALL PLAYER in pink hat at Farrell Monday

S.S. Wondering If you were available? Guy in grey night, 7 p.m. Would you like to spend long, cold, winter nights snuggling "Lat's discuss it Thursday what's in your head on tape. Home recording, 532-

776-7983

vey classic amplifier. Make offer. Dave, 532-5494. (59-63) crankset, 15 speeds, chrome frame, $225. Call

Breckenridge

Steamboat

Winter Park

154

159

172

Sunchase SIXTH ANNUAL

PYRAMID PIZZA

All Slices 99°

after 5 p.m.

$40. After 6 p.m., 776-9903 (62-63)

PYRAMID)

rything included; a surefire steal at $185. Contact Mr. Price, 537-7587. (61-64)

Typeset & laser printed -EGraphics Plus 11th & Lararnio 5 3 0 7

7294, 1211 Moro. (62-64) 23

ROOMMATE WANTED FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120

spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69)

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester. Nice

ONE OR two female roommates, $100 per month, plus one-third utilities. Call 776-6880 (own rooms). (59-63)

spring semester. Five-minute walk from campus. 776-8993 (59-63) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet ferrale

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Two bedroom apartment. Own bedroom. Close to campus. $150 plus utilities. 776-1878. (60-64) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester Available December or January, two-bedroom, 537

WANTED: ONE non-smoking female to share house Own room, close to campus, $115 plus utilities. Phone 776-3283. (61-64)

ished two-bedroom apartment, own room $1000 month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) ROOMMATE WANTED-own room, $160/month one-third utilities, two blocks from campus, 539-

NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate !

2034. (61-64) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next semester to share nice house with three roommates. Own room, $120 plus utilities. Call 776-7455. (61-65)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills. Also, $110 deposit, 537.

apartment one-half block from campus—crawling distance from Aggleville, 776-3896. (63-67)

nished, own bedroom. Call Jenny, 537-7367 Tues-day and Thursday after 5 p.m. and weekends. (63-

Own room, very close to campus, $150 month plus one-fifth utilities. 537-9764. (63-67)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room, very spa-cious, comfortable, one block from campus. 776-1893. (63-65)

SITUATION WANTED

at Charlie's around 10 p.m. (1) find you. J. (63) TO THE sexy god in the gray coat. Loved our lazy Sunday. "Forget the weather we should always stay to gether." Puhl Ya big stud—don't lose me forever. I'll miss you. Love, J. P.S. Quit squishing Juliant

AXO KRISTEN-"You say it's your birthday, da da ... " Happy 21st!! Love, the Family, (63) AXO KELLEY and Cory Honk, honk-Who has a date with a redhead??-- is it nage/neige? CFS. (63) CONFUSED KRUZ: He reveals deep and hidder things: He knows what lies in darkness and light dwells with Him, Daniel 2 22. Confused? We're still watching. The Whispering Angels. (63) PHI KAP Scot-You're the best big brother a gir could wish for. Have a kickass 21st birthday! Love, Kelly. (63)

CHRIS DA L - Happy 24th birthday! You are the greatest brother. Thanks for your help. Have a nice dinner with us tonight. T.K. (63)

THE YOUNG and the Dateless: Infatuated-The Campus Crusade for Christ Christmas Conference is in Chicago! Blond in Late Night Sweatshirt. (63)

AXO KRISTEN, Wishing you a happy 21. So drink, dance and have lots of fun. Just thinking of you!

Resumes

livery. 539-2040. (54-63)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-

per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

WANTED: FEMALE roommate to share two-bedroom apartment located close to Aggieville and cam pus. Available Jan. 1st. $143 per month plus onethird utilities. Call 539-3644. (58-64)

MALE ROOMMATE to share furnished apartment for to share luxury townhouse. Own room—many extras. 537-7605. (60-64)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for house near cam pus. $113/month plus utilities. Call 776-9605. (62-

TWO-THREE male roommates needed to share nice

FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Fur-

MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester

STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate a month. 776-5372. (63-67)

FAMILY NEEDS college girl for second semester Food and rent in exchange for helping househ No smoking. Write Box 3, c/o Collegian (63-65

SPORTING/RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT SOLOFLEX MACHINE for sale; Butterfly leg attachment: New and must sell. 539-3889. (61-63) SNOW SKIS and poles for sale! Various sizes and

prices. Call evenings and weekend. 539-0904. (63-26 SUBLEASE

FEMALE NEEDED to sublease apartment apartment, own room, rent negotiable, 5334 ter 5 p.m. (62-71)

WANTED 28 WANTED: "HEARD it through the grape vine." Desperately seeking four raisin guys. Two microphone and two hands guys. Reward. Phone 539-0900 before 9 a.m. (62-64)

WANTED—ONE season basketball ticket. Price ne gotiable. Call Julie 532-2193. (63-64)

FIREWOOD

By Eugene Sheffer

43

E

FIREWOOD FOR sale. Mixed, seasoned hardwoods $55 per pickup load, delivered and stacked. 494 2436 Jeff Ebert. (63-67)

Crossword

ACROSS 34 Car-

1 Poker

Alte"

the

14 White

15 Hill

18 Near-teeth

Boys -

House

office

shape

8 Stv

variety

University

problem toonist 53 Prohibits Browne 35 Auto-54 Envision graph 55 Japanese 36 Adoles drink DOWN cents residents 12 Word after 37 Broadplumb 40 British 13 "Where

41 Cell resident 45 Son of Jacob 47 Pacino

49 By mouth residents 50 Store door sign 16 Siesta 17 Bank on 51 With 27 Down, sighted Israeli

20 USA rival city 22 Higher than

11 Stallone, for short 19 Wall climber 21 Bashful

23 French river

26 Make over 27 See 51 Across 28 Business buyout 32 Prepares leftovers 33 Church board units: abbr.

sight

place 42 Met song

holder

Sommer

mileage

rating org. Remick CRYPTOQUIP

11-19

ETEVASRD HJMAJYX

TKD

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals P

ONLY 15 OUT OF 350????

ONE BEDROOM Basement. Jnique. City Park. 539-

School, Class begins Saturday, Nov. 21. Call today! 539-2715. (62-64) HIS AND Hera super styles. Grand opening. 308 Tut-That is the number of tle Creek. Perms $19.95, unlimited tanning $29.95. apartments available for APARTMENTS FOR RENT—FURNISHED 02 January occupancy from NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close among our university to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

influenced complexes.

If you need an apartment for the spring semester, we'd suggest you call us soon.

Prices from $245 to $360.

Development 2700 Amherst

776 3804

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf)

NICE LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, lau facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

814 THURSTON, efficiency, $185 per month, water/ gas furnished. Available now, 539-5136. (61tf)

Free to callers Low Cost Advertising

year lease. 537-9686. (61-65)

537-1442. (61-64)

539-CALL

Who does the baby resemble?

Applications are available in Kedzie 103 and are due Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 4 p.m. Collegian Advertising Positions: Sales Representatives

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car-

ONE-BEDROOM-Large enough for two. Unfur

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco

539-5136. (61tf)

1465. (62-75)

sage. (63-66)

293-5250. (61-65)

Call 539-9536. (63-65)

EMPLOYMENT

Dec. 4, 1987. (60-64)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

cruise, low mileage, excel $7,975, 537-8297, (58-63)

peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call nished, $265. Call Chris, 539-7906 after 5 p.m. (62-rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus, $315 a

1983 MAZDA RX7, AM/FM cassette, air, sunroof

FOR SALE 1976 Dodge Aspen. Good condition, must

1980 CAPRICE Classic Landau, power steering,

1972 CADILLAC Coup DeVille, new tires, runs well,

1976 CHEVROLET Malibu four-door. Has power steering, power brakes, air conditioning and cruise. $725 or make offer. Must sell. Call 456-9576. (63-65)

1983 FORD Mustang. Excellent condition, AM/FM cassette, grey, many extras, reasonably priced.

tion. Call 537-1886 or ask for Olga at 532-5123. (63-65) MAZDA GLC 1979, AM/FM cassette, excellent condi

ASSISTANT INSTRUCTORS, Physics. The KSU Department of Physics may have a few openings for part-time instructors in its introductory teaching program for the spring semester 1988. The duties can include teaching physics laboratories, grad-ing papers and general assistance to the director of the laboratory program. Minimum qualifications for present KSU undergraduates are junior standing and completion of two semesters of physics with high grades. Other individuals must have a B.S. in physics or a related field. If an applicant's first language is not English, he/she must have scored at least 220 on the SPEAK test. Apply to the Department of Physics, Cardwell 116. Deadline

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770

Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (45-

$ales Experience

Staff is looking for a few dedicated students who are not satisfied easily. We want people who need to excel, to sell, and to do it well.

The Collegian Advertising

good winter car. $550. Call 532-3603. (62-64)

er brakes, air conditioning, cruise, real sharp.

sell. Call 539-4649 after 3:30 p.m. (60-64)

month. January-May. Call 539-2830, leave mes-

Representative Assistant Ad Manager Graphic Artist

Campus/Tearsheet Sales

COULD YOU be a Boston nanny? Are you a loving, nu turing person who enjoys spending time with chil-dren? Live in lovely, suburban neighborhoods en-joy excellent salaries, benefits, your own living qualters and limited working hours. Your round trip transportation is provided. One year commit ment necessary. Call or write: Mrs. Fisch, Child care Placement Service, Inc. (CCPS), 149 Buckminster Road, Brookline, MA 02146, 1-800-

By Berke Breathed

DOWN

Bloom County

Peanuts

Garfield

SAYS THIS CAT FOOD

expected By Charles Schulz 26 Rundown 29 Attention getter 30 Nabokov novel 31 Gabor and Braun 32 Reactor 33 By the - of

Yesterday's answer 11-19

3 "Do others..." 4 Tyrants 5 Word after sun or and Hirt history 8 Silver or Scout 9 Catch up with Solution time: 25 mins.

52 Shaving

1 Bridge coup 2 Minuscule square 6 Period of 7 Supposed

24 Norse god 25 Searches for gold

35 Score-

10 Sal, for one 36 Container 38 Acropolis 39 Usher's

43 Carpet 44 Actress 45 Tennis hit 46 Gas

48 Actress

ZYXRHO HOXZ

OEJAX Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TACTFUL, UNMARRIED MAN IS FOOTLOOSE AND FIANCEE-FREE

Reg. $30.00, NOW $12.99

Novelty University Prints -

CLOTHING CONCEPTS

Presents

A MANUFACTURER'S DIRECT CLOTHING SALE

OUTBACK

DAY ONLY! Save 50%-70%

OUTBACK

PEPS

Rugbys - Sweatshirts - Tees The look of a New Generation

Ladies & Juniors Acid Washed Jeans & Mini Skirtsby Union Bay-Forenza Values to 40.00

Authentic MICKEY MOUSE SPORTSWEAR

Reg Retail

Reg. 27-40.00

Styled Canton Fleece Tops, Sweaters, Skirts & Washed Oxfords

FCRENZA PORTWEAD

Mens Heavyweight Authentic Rugby Shirts

If Perfect $30.00

Now $7.99

Men's POLAR FLEECE JACKETS Regular $45.00 NOW $14.99 Special Purchase!

3-Button Henley Shirt Yukon Style If Perfect $20.00 Now $9.99

1 DAY ONLY! Monday, November 23rd 12:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

University Inn Main Ballroom - Downstairs 17th & Anderson Manhattan, KS

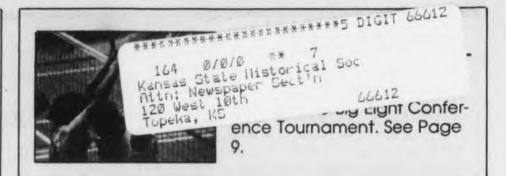

Soap Operas

Whether or not you are a soap opera addict, you have at some time probably dealt with a person who is. See

Weather

Occasional sunshine today, high 50 to 55. A few evening clouds tonight otherwise mostly clear, low around 30. Mostly sunny Saturday and warmer, high around 60.

Friday

November 20, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 64

Kansas State Collegian

Senate chairman elected in electrical engineering, after he was elected Student Senate chair-

Becky Griebat, junior in education, congratulates Doug Folk, junior man during Thursday's Senate meeting. Folk, formerly Senate vice chair, was elected unanimously after two candidates withdrew.

chosen after 2 drop Folk unanimously

By The Collegian Staff

The former vice chairman of Student Senate was unanimously elected Thursday to assume the position of Senate chairman for the upcoming term. Doug Folk, junior in electrical engineering, said he was "pretty excited about (getting elected)."

"My main goal is to try to get student government back to the students of this University," Folk said, adding he wants to dispel the belief that student government is an "elite system."

tural economics, and Jeff Wing, junior in economics, withdrew from the Senate chairman race. After no further nominations were made from the floor, Wing stated his support of Folk.

"I would have gone ahead and ran had I not known that someone was running who could adequately do the job," Wing said.

Outgoing Senate chairwoman Michelle Benoit, senior in agricultural economics, also said Folk will do a good job.

"Doug is a really hard worker and he'll get the things done he Both Pat Muir, senior in agricul- wants to get done," she said. Benoit

Folk through the end of the semester in order to make the transition smoother.

Benoit said she has no regrets about leaving her Senate position after Thursday's meeting. However, she plans to continue to be active with Student Senate. "I will still be working on some committees and help work with HERO (Higher Education Rescue Operation). Since the Off-Campus Student Association is just getting started, I will also be helping out with it," Benoit said. Benoit also said she was glad a chairman.

added she will be working with decision was made on the funding of the renovation of Holton Hall during her term.

"Though I didn't support the ($1.069 million) plan for funding Holton, I am glad that we didn't pass on a burden to the next Senate," Benoit said.

The election of Folk was preceded by the swearing in of the new Student Senate. Also sworn in was new student body president Troy Lubbers, junior in marketing.

The new senators also elected Greg Weisenborn, senior in electrical engineering, as the new vice

Pilot shortage causes major airlines to ease hiring requirements

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The major airlines have been easing their hiring requirements in recent years because of the need for thousands of new pilots, and some aviation safety officials worry about the decline in cockpit experience.

Pilot inexperience has been raised as a possible factor in last Sunday's crash in Denver of a Continental Airlines DC-9 after it was disclosed that both the captain and copilot had only recently begun flying that type of jetliner.

Spokesmen for the airline disputed suggestions that the two pilots' flying background was unusual, calling it "the norm in the industry." They emphasized that both pilots, who were among the 27 people killed in the accident, met Federal Aviation Administration certification requirements.

But aviation experts said that the overall experience level of pilots at rapidly expanding airlines, even some of the industry's largest carriers, has fallen off in recent years.

"This is one of the areas of concern that we have today. There's been such rapid expansion that (pilots) have come up (the senior system) rapidly and the total level of experience can drop," said Homer Mouden, a former commercial pilot and vice president of the Flight Safety Foundation.

Co-pilot Lee Bruecher, 26, who apparently was at the controls of Continental Flight 1713 when it crashed had been with the airline for less than four months and had only 36 hours of flying time in a DC-9. His previous flying experience was on smaller turboprop aircraft for a Texas commuter airline,

His captain, Frank Zvonek, 43, was an 18-year veteran at Continental, but he had flown the DC-9 only five months with less than 200 hours and had been promoted to captain only 17 days before the crash.

Last year, the National Transportation Safety Board raised concerns about pilots with limited experience being paired in the cockpit. The NTSB made its views in connection with a commuter accident, but board members said that with the rapid movement of commuter pilots to the major airlines they were worried the problem may spread to the jet operators.

Pilots are assigned flights by a bidding system in which seniority plays a key role. If there is rapid growth at an airline, pilots get promoted faster and the chances increase of two relatively inexperienced pilots being assigned together, aviation authorities say.

"When movement (up the seniority scale) is slow, it's rare to get two new guys (together in the cockpit), but in an airline expanding rapidly then it's not unusual," said David C. Koch, a pilot at United Airlines and co-founder of Aerospace Flight Training Academy, an aviation career counseling firm.

"Projections tell us the shortage of trained and experienced pilots and mechanics is going to get much worse before it gets better."

-Edith Page

The airlines will hire about 7,000 jet aircraft pilots this year and the commuter carriers several thousand more for their turboprop fleet, according to estimates by the Future Aviation Professionals of America. Nearly 20,000 pilots were hired during the two previous years.

"Projections tell us the shortage of trained and experienced pilots and mechanics is going to get much worse before it gets better," said Edith Page, who has studied pilot shortages for Congress' Office of Technology Assessment.

Henry Duffy, president of the 40,000-member Air Line Pilots Association agreed, saying the demand for more pilots shows no sign of abating soon. It has been fueled by the industry's expansion prompted airlines to expand, buy more aircraft and fly their planes more hours.

Over the next decade, the U.S. jet transport fleet will grow by more than 25 percent to nearly 4,200 aircraft and more than 7,000 pilots will reach retirement age. These factors will require 32,000 new pilots for the major airlines and another 10,000 for commuters.

Universities propose own selective admissions plan

By Chuck Horner Collegian Reporter

Kansas regents universities Thursday presented their own unified proposal for supporting selective admissions that differs from the proposal by the Kansas Board of Regents. Warren Armstrong, president of The Wichita State University, speaking on behalf of the Council of Chief Academic Officers (COCAO), introduced the proposal as "a consensus of our best minds."

The regents proposal, which would impose selective admissions only at the University of Kansas, K-State and WSU, has been criticized by other college presidents. The "regional" universities - Emporia State University, Fort Hays State University and Pittsburg State University believe it will create "elitism."

Regents end Missouri reciprocity agreement/Page 12

In letters to Stanley Koplik, regents executive director, the presidents of the regional universities stated selective admissions policies should apply to all regents universities, or none at all.

Administrators at two other universities expressed concern in letters to Koplik stating the regents' recommendation would adversely impact minority enrollments and cited statistics reflecting that many minority students would be excluded under the regents' recommendation.

The COCAO recommendation differs from the regents' proposal in criteria for admission and the categories of students considered for admission to Kansas universities. It has received the support of the regents' Council of Presidents.

COCAO developed its recommendation from input by each of the regents institutions and statistics based on research by the Kansas Association of School Boards, said Jane Scott, vice president for academic affairs at WSU and chairwoman of COCAO.

Statistics show 17 percent of the entering freshman class meet the requirements of the recommended regents' curriculum, Scott said.

On the average, Kansas high school valedictorians fall short of meeting the regents' recommended curriculum by four credits, she said.

Richard Funk, assistant director of the Kansas Association of School Boards, said that although his research revealed high schools had a widespread capability to teach the regents' recommended curriculum, students did not enroll in some of the classes. He cited foreign language classes as an example and said that in some cases, an insufficient number of students enroll to justify conducting the class.

Some evidence indicates students take less difficult

■ See PROPOSAL, Page 10

ISSUE:	REGENTS' PLAN:	COCAG PLAN;
1. Implementation Date	L 1991	1, 1992
2. Admissions Criteria/Kansas Residents	2. Complete Regents' curriculum with 2.0 GPA, or score 23 or higher on the ACT, or rank in top % of graduating class, or be over 21 years of age with Kansas high school diploma.	2. Complete Regents* curriculum with a 2.0 GPA, or be over 21 years of age with Kansas high school diploma.
3. Provisional Admissions a. Exception Window	3a. Allows 10 percent of entering freshmen class to be admitted without meeting criteria.	3a. Variable percentage of entering fresh- men class, from 10-20 percent.
b. Required Curriculum not Offered	3b. Not addressed.	3b. Can make up course deficiencies as part of college degree program.
c. Student under 21, with GED	3c. Not addressed.	3c. Must score 50 overall, have no sub-test below 50 and make up course deficiencies as part of college degree program.
4. International Students	4. Not addressed.	4. Each Regents institution develop own policy.
5. Kansas Community College Transfers	5. Must complete 24 credit boars with a 2.5 GPA.	5. Complete 24 credit hours with a 2.0 GPA.
6. Kansas Residents Transferring from regionally-accredited schools	6. Must complete 24 credit hours with a 2.5 GPA.	6. Complete 24 credit hours with a 2.0 GPA.
7. Criteria for Non-residents	7. Complete Regents' curriculum with a 3.0 GPA, and score 23 or higher on the ACT, and rank in the top % of graduating class.	7. Complete Regents' curriculum with a 3.0 GPA, or score 23 or higher on the ACT, or rank in the top 1/3 of graduating class.
8. Out-of-State Transfers	8. Complete 24 credit hours with a 2.75 GPA.	8. Complete 24 credit hours with a 2.75 GPA.

Briefly Mell pil

By the Associated Press

Inquiry begins on London fire

LONDON - The government on Thursday announced a public inquiry into a sudden and quick-spreading fire that raged through London's largest subway station, killing 30 people and injuring about 80 others.

Survivors of Wednesday evening's blaze told harrowing stories of people on fire and of being carried on an escalator into the flames.

People collapsed from smoke and many pounded helplessly on windows of passing trains in search of an escape from Britain's worst subway fire. An assistant fire chief, Joe Kennedy, said fighting the flames was like "going down a roaring chimney."

Fire officials said they could not explain how a small fire could spread so quickly. Investigators descended into the cavernous, fire-ravaged ticketing plaza of the multi-tiered King's Cross Station to search for clues.

Fire chiefs said they were certain the fire broke out on one of the escalators, not beneath it as was previously thought, but added they had no idea what caused it.

Regents may raise dorm fees

TOPEKA - Fees students pay for living in state university dormitories would increase between 1.4 percent and 8.5 percent starting in the fall of 1988, under a proposal presented to the State Board of Regents on Thursday.

The six state universities and Kansas Technical Institutte in Salina presented their proposals to the regents at their regular monthly meeting, and the regents are expected to act on them

Under the proposal, the cost of a typical double-occupancy room for a year would be:

■ University of Kansas, $2,240, an increase of $104, or 4.9

■ Kansas State University, $2,100, up 4 percent, or $80. ■ Wichita State University, $2,595, an increase of $220, or

8.5 percent. Emporia State University, $2,260, up $80, or 3.7 percent. Pittsburg State University, $2,368, an increase of 5.8 percent, or $130. Fort Hays State University, $2,241, up 3.6 percent, or $78. ■ KTI, $2,160, an increase of $30, or 1.4 percent.

Broker shoots family, then self

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - Actress Mercedes McCambridge fell to her knees in a church cemetery Thursday and lowered her head to the spot where the cremated remains of her son had been laid to rest along with those of the wife and daughters he killed.

More than 500 people packed a memorial service for John Markle, 45, his wife, Chris, 45, and daughters Amy, 13, and Suzanne, 9. Police said the vice president of the nation's 15thlargest brokerage firm killed his family Monday, then fatally shot himself by firing guns at either side of his head.

The Rev. Joel Pugh told the mourners at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral that the time of "shock, grief and perplexity" made everyone ask "what, if anything, endures." However, Pugh said, faith, hope and love endure.

Engle: U.S. back in space in '88

TOPEKA - Joe Engle, a retired Air Force colonel and former astronaut from Chapman, Kan., said Thursday the U.S. could be back in space by the middle of 1988, with the next space shuttle flight coming as early as June.

Engle, now a brigadier general in the Kansas Air National Guard, spoke at the 38th annual Governor's Industrial Safety and Health Conference at a local hotel.

He said the next shuttle launch, which has been on hold since the Challenger disaster nearly two years ago, may suffer unforeseen delays because of the caution the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will exercise, but that shouldn't be viewed by the public as additional problems in the program. Engle also said man's exploration of space should be limitless as technology improves. "No one really can say that anything imaginable is not possible," said Engle. "Technology advances as building blocks. We build on today's technology to create new technology that will be another building block for that remote future."

Two more Kansas banks close

TOPEKA - Meetings will be held tonight and Saturday with depositors of two Rush County banks that were closed by state and federal officials Thursday.

Stan Gish, closing manager for the Federal Depositors Insurance Corp., said the two tiny towns of Alexander and Timken, about 20 miles apart, were calm after state officials closed the banks at each of the communities.

State Banking Commissioner W. Newton Male ordered the Alexander State Bank and the Timken State Bank shut down after a recent examination determined that the two banks were

The insolvent conditions of both banks is "attributable to loan losses found to exceed the subject banks' capital structure,"

Male said in a prepared statement. The FDIC was appointed receiver for both banks.

"Our primary interest is paying of deposits at both banks," Gish said. The FDIC board of directors approved paying off depositors in both banks. Depositors with accounts of up to $100,000 are covered.

Turtle racing OK'd by court

PLAINFIELD, N.J. - A judge has sounded the starting gun for a resumption of turtle racing at a restaurant, but given the hook to goldfish contests.

The ruling by Superior Court Judge Joan Robinson Gross on Tuesday means that turtle racing will resume Dec. 2 at the Goal Post Restaurant in Fanwood.

Summonses charging turtle abuse had been issued by agents of the New Jersey Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals during an August raid.

The charges alleged that six turtles and six goldfish were abused when they were used for a race. Gross ruled abuse had occurred in the goldfish race. Society officers testified that the fish were taken out of a jar by hand, held up for display, then placed in the raingutter start-

The judge fined the restaurant owner, Gary Ferruggia, and Harry Cohen, who staged the races, $50 and assessed each of them court costs of $25.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOREIGN STUDENT OFFICE has announced an international student scholarship competition. Winners are chosen based on an essay of 1,500 words or less on a particular topic. The first-place winner will receive $1,500. There will also be second- and thirdplace and honorable mention awards. Essays must be postmarked no later than Dec. 1. Call the Foreign Student Office at 532-6448 for more information.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT CANCER RESEARCH AWARDS award applications are available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research, Ackert 131. All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs at K-State are eligible to apply. Funding is available for 13 students; the awards are $500 per recipient. Application deadline is Dec. 4.

K-STATE PLAYERS will present "The Real Thing" at 8 p.m. today through Saturday in Nichols Theatre.

TODAY

WOMEN'S RESOURCE CENTER meets at noon in Union 213. The speakers are Mary Lou Albrach and Char Henton from the FACTS program. The topic is, "Whatever Happened to 'Lucille'? Transitions for Rural Women and their Families."

SATURDAY

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet at 7 p.m. at the DU house.

SUNDAY

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

MUSICAL GARAGE SALE

BOOKS, RECORDS, MUSIC, ETCETERA

Leavengood Courtyard McCain—Music Wing Thursday, December 3

9 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Sponsored by Pi Kappa Lambda Honorary Three!

meet at 3 p.m. at the DU house.

MENNONITE STUDENT GROUP meets at 6:30 p.m. at 1116 Bluemont, Apt. 4.

LUTHERAN YOUNG ADULTS meet at 6 p.m. at St. Lukes Lutheran Church, 330 N. Sunset for a Thanksgiving dinner. RSVP to Greg Carlson at 539-2604. The cost is $4.

K-LAIRES SQUARE DANCE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union Ballroom on second

Clarification

A headline in Thursday's Collegian may have been misleading. The one-year teacher internship program is a plan developed by the Kansas Department of Education as a result of a legislative mandate. If approved, it would be a requirement, as of May 1989, for any graduates to be eligible for their teaching certificates in the state. The program does not affect the degree program in K-State's College of Education.

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues. Sat. 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

TGIF TERRIFIC BUFFET JOIN MANHATTAN'S TGIF TRADITION!

No membership needed For restaurant & bar! Open To Public! 1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

Your Road to a Rewarding Career in Ad Sales Could Start Today with TWO BIG STEPS:

STEP ONE: Pick up an application in Kedzie 103

STEP TWO Turn in application by Tuesday, Dec. 1

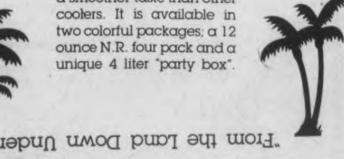

Positions available are: Assistant Advertising Manager, Campus/Tearsheet Sales Representative, Sales Representatives, Graphic Artist.

Matilda Bay is a clear, non-carbonated fruit flavored wine cooler. It is made with premium California wine and a blend of Australian flavorings. Matilda Bay is the only major non-carbonated wine cooler, providing consumers a smoother taste than other coolers. It is available in two colorful packages; a 12 ounce N.R. four pack and a unique 4 liter "party box".

TEMPORARY

during Christmas break in Johnson County

Available for typists, word processors, file clerks, data entry and light industrial.

Apply in person, by appointment Friday, Nov. 29 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. (No fees)

11015 Metcalf, Overland Park, Ks. Call Ann 1-913-491-0944

Spring 1988 Closed Class List

00250	11330	24270	29300	33510	05760	16720	26420	32440
01480	11910	24650	29310	33540	05770	16730	26430	32450
01610	12750	24690	29320	33560	05800	16950	26460	32460
1 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7		24850	29350	33570	05860	17460	26470	32470
01660	13240		29390	33640	05980	17540	26490	32480
02100	13260	25060			07300	17570	26510	32490
02160	13470	25700	29850	33660	07590	19270	26520	32540
02170	13820	25710	30410		07660	19440	26540	32600
02340	13830	25720	30640	33620		19470	26560	32650
02390	13870	25760	30820	33840	08700		26550	32690
02520	13910	25790	31320	33860	09260	19630	400000000000000000000000000000000000000
02560	13920	25860	31370	34130	09340	19840	26660	32700
02650	13930	25870	31380	34160	09350	19850	26680	32730
03150	13970	25880	31400	34200	09360	20210	26690	32150
03160	13980	25940	31530	34210	11100	20370	26700	32780
03180	14590	25990	31580	34270	HILLO	20460	26740	32820
03520	14620	26220	31590	34290	11120	20670	27210	32830
03900	14640	26230	31630	34310	11130	20920	27220	32840
04320	14720	26240	31650	34320	11140	20950	27920	32950
04350	14760	26250	32060	34330	11150	21100	29060	32880
04610	14790	26280	32320	34340	11160	22200	29070	32950
04670	15010	26300	32370	34420	11170	22480	29080	32960
04850	15020	26340	32380	34550	11180	22490	29190	33400
	15190	26350	32400	35130	11190	22500	29240	33460
05320		26370	32410	35160	11200	22910	29260	33470
05600	16420			35170	11210	24170	29290	33490
05750	16650	26390	32420				37440
35180	35370	35880	35460	36580	37120	37310
35181	35500	36350	36470	36990	37220	37390	37530

Falsettos

539-3830

For the Best "Homemade" Pizza in town with the Best "Hometown" Price.

Two Delicious Homemade Pizzas

1101	1101110000
	M	ENU
Italian Sausage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onions	Jalapenos Pineappie Green Peppers	Ham Extra Cheese
		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Cheese		5.99	8.99
1 Item		6.94	10.39
2 Itams		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
			14.59
Deluxe		9.79	14.59
			14.59
			15.99
Each Additio	nal Item	95	1.40

Prices do not include tax We Accept Checks 1127 Moro · Aggieville

County to approach city about new water district

By Judy Lundstrom Special Projects Editor

Relief may be in sight for Fairmont Addition residents plagued by bad water.

After listening to complaints about bad water from 15 residents, Riley County commissioners levels of trihalomethane (THM) Thursday decided to approach the City of Manhattan to request the development of a water district for

The Fairmont Addition is a community of about 500 southeast of downtown Manhattan across the Kansas River.

The water district would be similar to the Hunters Island Water however, were below the levels District, installed about two years defined as unsafe by KDHE. VOCs ago after water contamination was discovered in the area.

Fairmont residents have been working for about a year to get a similar district set up in their community. Their complaints have commissioners.

Enjoy a Holiday Feast in a True Thanksgiving Tradition

Thursday, November 26, 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

$7.95 per person

Children under 10-$3.95

Restaurant and Drinking Establishment 17th & Anderson, 539-7531

Mad Merle and Gorgeous

Gern will make your ears bleed with the best in new

Heavy Metal.

SATURDAYS 3-6 p.m.

NOBODY ROCKS HARDER

ranged from low water pressure to

At the request of several residents, the Kansas Department of Health and Environment conducted a number of chemical tests on the water in May and June. While the tests detected small compounds, the levels were below the state maximum contaminant level. THMs are suspected carcinogens that form when natural organics in water react with chlorine used as a disinfectant.

Other tests revealed volatile organic compounds (VOCs) in some residents' water. The levels, are carcinogens, or cancer-causing

Several residents brought jars of their tap water to the meeting and placed them in front of county

"I brought this to show you things aren't always what they appear to be," said Joy Zurcher. "This water looks good, it tastes good; but it has VOCs in it."

Darrell Westervelt said commissioners would make a formal request to the City Commission to sell water to the residents in the event a water district is organized.

He said if city commissioners agree to sell water to the residents. 51 percent of the property owners in the Fairmont Addition must sign a petition stating they want a water district. The cost of a district would probably be covered by those who use the water, and payments would be spread over 10-15 years, he said.

Residents said they were pleased with the commissioners

"I think it's a start," said Katie Smith, Fairmont Community Task Force chairwoman. "It'll take time, but I think they're on our side.'

science

Cancer treatment 'promising'

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - National Institute of Health researchers have found an amino acid compound that proved in laboratory tests to be a powerful cancer fighter and a "very, very promising" drug for treatment of tumors.

Dr. Hynda K. Kleinman of the NIH in Bethesda, Md., said Thursday that a peptide synthesized in the laboratory was able to prevent the formation of lung cancer tumors in laboratory rats and in test tube experiments.

She said the peptide also has been shown to be effective against Kaposi's sarcoma, a cancer that often strikes patients with acquired immune deficiency syndrome, or AIDS.

"We characterize it as very, very promising," Kleinman said of the compound. "There have been other peptides described, but this is the most potent one we known of."

A peptide is a compound made up of amino acids. Proteins are com-

FREE!

Sunday Supper

Nov. 22, 5:30 p.m.

Topic:

Presidential Campaign Come and hear guest speaker Joseph Unekis, KSU professor of political

CUMENICAL

HRISTIAN

· THE · FUNDRINKERY

FRIDAY TGIF 5-7

BREADBASKET BENEFIT

Help the not so fortunate on Thanksgiving

FREE FALSETTO'S PIZZA

Admission $1

or

2 cans of food

All proceeds go to The Flinthills Breadbasket

Stop by for a good time and help out a good cause

Sponsored by

posed of chains of peptides. Kleinman said the compound used in the experiment, called peptide-11, will die or be killed by the body's seems to have the ability to prevent cancer cells from penetrating the walls of blood vessels and invading

'The cancer cell when it is traveling in a blood vessel is really in a sealed pipe," she said. In order to leave the vessel and invade the cells of an organ, the cancer cell must first, somehow, penetrate the vessel wall.

To bore through the vessel wall, the cancer cell first attaches itself to laminin, a so-called basement membrane that is part of the vessel wall. When it is attached, the cancer cell erodes the basement membrane until it is able to move through the vessel Kleinman said peptide-11 appears to be able to prevent the cancer cell from sticking to the vessel wall and thus blocks the cell from boring through. This strands the cancer cell inside the vessel, where it eventually immune system. In this way, the cancer is unable to spread.

In a laboratory experiment, the NIH research team injected two groups of rats with lung cancer cells. In one group, the resarchers also injected peptide-11.

Three weeks later, the rats were killed and their lungs examined. Rats receiving high doses of the peptide showed no lung tumor development, and even small doses significantly inhibited lung tumor growth. The rats that received no peptide averaged 51 lung tumors each.

Kleinman said that although lung cancer cells were used in the laboratory test on rats, "it probably works in a variety of tumors. We are in the process of testing that."

She said the peptide has been shown in test tube experiments to be very effective on Kaposi's sarcoma.

CABLEIS CHOICETV

Manhattan Cable TV 610 Humboldt

776-9239

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

Open Daily 11 a.m.

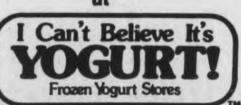

Bar 539-9727 531 N. Manhattan

Coors

Office 539-4321

"Purple and White" Swirl CONES and CUPS

(on purple & white swirl cones and cups excluding waffle cones)

SATURDAY

to Everyone Wearing Something Purple!

Enjoy the taste of Ice Cream but with one-fifth the fat and half the calories

GU CATS!

We'll be cheering you on to victory against Colorado

FREE SAMPLES EVERY TIME YOU COME IN

Open 11 a.m.-11 p.m. daily Noon-11 p.m. Sunday 705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers, Aggieville

We Will Hand You a $5 Bill For Every Item You Buy!!

Includes:

Jeans Skirts Pants

Sweaters Sleepwear Blouses

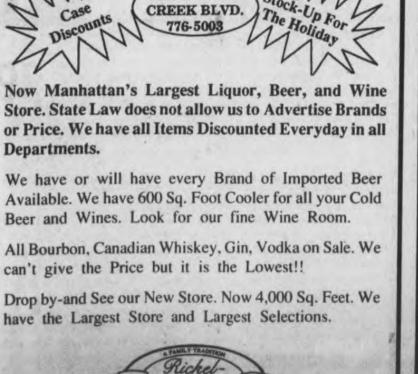

Jackets Fleece Outfits Dresses

*Excludes Accessories

SAT. & SUN.

331 Poyntz Downtown

HARPED US LABELS FO

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, November 20, 1987 ■ Page 4

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6355. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Lubbers must uphold promises, obligations ushered in at K-State.

and student body president, was sworn in at Thursday night's Student Senate meeting. The job he faces over the next year will certainly be challenging, in a number of ways.

First, simply getting acquainted campaigning. with the senators - both old and new - and discovering their political views will take time and patience. Secondly, Lubbers' term will potentially be one of the most significant in several years.

The University is currently facing the "Margin of Excellence" and the selective admissions proposals, both of which could radically affect the University's standing and prosperity in coming years. Lubbers' stated generally in favor of the MOE proposal and against a selective admissions proposal — are correct, con-sidering what the University stands to gain or lose by each proposal.

Now, he must put those opinions and others into action during the next 12 months. The effort he makes and the minds he convinces may help to spell the University's success.

In addition to upholding the con- success.

A new political era has been siderable lobbying responsibilities of the position, Lubbers must not Troy Lubbers, junior in marketing forget the promises he made to students during his campaign. All too often, political figures at any level find it convenient to ignore the promises they made to their constituents during the heat of

> Although the pressure of trying to get elected is off, the obligation to uphold vows is not. During his campaign, Lubbers said he would voice students' concerns to appropriate state officials. To do that, he must remain approachable to students and willing to hear their concerns.

That will be the most important part of his job.

As Lubbers embarks on the student body presidency, he should opinions on both issues — being have his promises and duties firmly engrained in his thoughts and actions. Also, students shouldn't withhold their opinions from

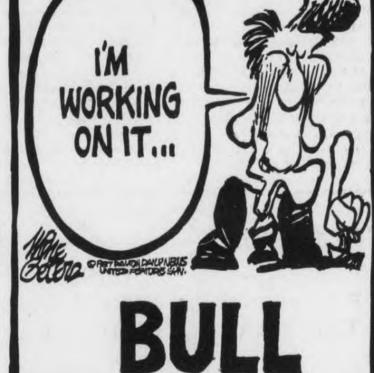

> It would be unfair to expect Lubbers to do all he is expected to do alone. It isn't, nor can it be, a one-

We wish Troy Lubbers the most

WALL STREET TERMS

Letters

Long live rock

Editor,

When first arriving at K-State, I found myself in a pop radio swamp with the only relief being an unrefined college station. The campus's new and improved DB92 along with KSKT (The Kat) have today satiated me. However, it's apparent that musical tastes here are shaped mainly from the mindless dribble emulating from the Top 40 hitmakers and their beat machines.

Dan Owens believes popular music is only justified by a political awareness. So why no mention in his article of the only politically oriented radio show in the area - Politirock on DB92? Stan Ross apparently separated "mindless trash" from worthwhile music on the basis of love ballad quantities. Yet, does this guideline differentiate Barry Manilow from elevator music? I think not.

What of this joint attack on AC/DC? It's readily apparent to the thoughtful music listener when performers play from their souls (the late Bon Scott of AC/DC just happened to have a very nasty soul). AC/DC's purpose (as well as performers such as Sting, Springsteen, U2, Stanley Jordan, R.E.M., The Rainmakers and Rush) is to make the best music that their minds will allow them to create. A tirade of current "artists" are preying on the young teen-age mentality with the sole purpose of financial gain.

I submit two cases in point: Bon Jovi selected songs for their latest album on the basis of what a poll of young teen-agers said they would buy; Michael Jackson plans to release every song off his new album as a single for the sole purpose of reaching 100 million in album sales. Want more information? Read Rolling Stone! While you're rediscovering rock 'n' roll, why not tune in to 95.3 (KSKT) or 91.9 FM (KSDB) and save your ears from the never-ending beat machine. Follow this advice, and you, too, may be enlightened. In the immortal words of The Who -

'Long Live Rock!" Mike Tangedal

senior in fisheries biology Misconceptions

Judd Annis' commentary about the recent bombing in North Ireland was a laudable attempt to cast some light on the continuing ly in doing so, Annis also recycled some common misconceptions.

There is no "English Army" in North Ireland as Annis claimed. England, Scotland, Wales and North Ireland make up the United Kingdom. The soldiers stationed in North Ireland are part of the Army of the U.K. The terrorists of the Irish Republican

Army, using a campaign of violence and intimidation, wish to unite the Republic of Ireland with North Ireland, outside the context of the U.K. Protestant terrorist groups use similar tactics in an effort to ensure the IRA is unsuccessful. Political parties on both sides of the border share similar goals such as the amalgamation or continued separation of the Republic and North Ireland. However, their attempts to achieve these goals follow a more typically democratic route - in the form of elections which they hope will give them a political mandate to carry out their views.

ven with elements of religion and economics, as well as the social and cultural differences which exist across any border. All these elements must be factored into the political equation and added to a preceeding 300-year period of political turmoil before one starts to realize the scope of the problem summed up in the simple phrase "peace in North Ireland."

To characterize the conflict as a "civil war," as Annis does, is an oversimplification, and ignores the fact that the majority of the people of North Ireland, whether Protestant or Catholic, live together in peace. Like Annis, I too have a family connection to North Ireland. I was born there. Life there is no bed of roses, but neither is it a "24-hour terror," as Annis implies.

Finally, Annis suggests we "write off the present generation and do whatever we can to change the mindset of the youth of Ireland." The children of Ireland will do well enough on their own. If Annis wants to change the mindset, let him work on the small minority of thugs and bigots on either side who kill and maim in the name of Ireland and Ulster, and whose only purpose is to perpetuate the latent suspicion each religious community historically feels for the other.

David McConnell assistant professor of geology

Stereotypical

My K-State Human Behavior in the Social political troubles of that region. Unfortunate- Environment instructor and fellow students have asked me to contact you about an ad which appeared in the Collegian on Nov. 11. The ad was on Page 5 and was placed by the University Club.

We would like an interpretation from you and from the University Club regarding what is represented by the three, elderly women.

Our HBSE instructor and the 20 junior and senior students feel the women are depicted as being nosey, gossiping, narrow-minded individuals. We feel this is an inaccurate, insensitive and discriminatory stereotype against elderly women.

If you and the representatives of the University Club have a less derogatory explanation for the meaning of the caricature, we would appreciate your reply in the Collegian, by letter or as a visitor to our HBSE class!

Virginia O. Popejoy senior in social work

Politics in Ireland is inextricably interwo- Free Parking

"Free Parking" is being able to park on campus after 7:30 p.m. without a permit. There are 168 night classes and only eight begin after 7:30. For those of us who drive only at night, and whose class starts before 7:30, we end up paying $22 to park for a halfhour or take a chance at paying an $8 ticket.

A solution would be to do as the University of Kansas in Lawrence does. Pick certain lots to have "Free Parking" at certain times. For example, the Union is close, so start "Free Parking" at 8:30 p.m. there. McCain's lot is farther away and never full, therefore start. "Free Parking" at 5:30 p.m. in this lot.

Another solution would be to have parking permits for students that only drive at night for $11 instead of $22. Julie Phye junior in marketing

Holiday greetings

To the Students, Faculty and Administration:

The holiday season is upon us. May you and your's have a happy and safe Thanksgiving. Also, I am looking forward to working with each of you throughout the coming term. Happy Thanksgiving.

Troy Lubbers student body president

Worthless team spending traditions demand

Tradition! I live for tradition. And when I see a whole bunch of those buttinsky Communists running around trying to change things that don't need to be changed, it gets my goat. I could go on for the rest of this letter just writing about things on this campus that are changing because a bunch of busybodies have been sticking their noses where they don't belong. But I won't do that, because I would rather elaborate on one that is worse than all the rest put together. I think you'll understand why.

Now Mr. Columnist, you and I both know football is God's gift to America as an apology for creating Democrats. And we also know that as loyal supporters of K-State it is bur God given obligation to support our football team - win, lose or draw. Therefore, it makes me madder than a hornet in a flyswatter factory to see less-than-capacity crowds at home games, uncaring fans leaving early, and unflattering stories in the newspaper. K-State is a football-loving school. We always have been, and if I have any say in the matter, we always will be.

But that is only part of the problem. Lately, I have been reading the paper and listening much about our debate team. Now, Mr. Columnist, you and I both know that at K-State we do not support our debate team! We don't give them money; we don't give them scholarships, and we certainly don't give them attention. All of these things are reserved for our sports teams. I don't know the reason. It is just tradition.

And don't think that I am closed-minded. I listen. I read. I know the debate squad is ranked No. 2 in the nation, but that doesn't matter. I say that if we can justify continuing support for a football team which is ranked last in the Big Eight, then we can justify not supporting a debate team which is ranked second in the whole country. You and me, and all the good citizens, just have to put our feet down and say, "No more change; we want tradition." Are you with me?

> Signed, Sick of Change

Dear Mr. Sickening,

Now, Mr. Letter Writer, are you sure you are open-minded? Are you sure you understand the magnitude of the difference between being the worst in one league and the second best out of every team in the country? by people on campus, I have heard far too Are you sure you should be walking around Commentary

JEFF SCHRAG Collegian Columnist

outside of rooms with padded walls? I don't

To be quite frank, tradition has never been a favorite word of mine. I have always felt it was more American to break with tradition to dare to be different - than to blindly submit to the ideas of those who preceeded us. It wasn't traditional for people to fly, but I am glad someone decided it was a stupid tradition. It wasn't traditional for women to vote, but someone decided that was a stupid idea

If you want my support in denying credit to the debate team for being one of the most successful groups of competitors on campus, you won't get it. But if you want some advice, and even if you don't, I'll give you some. Don't think you are inferior to the people who preceeded you in history. Don't feel that their ideas are best just because they had them first. Too often, followers of traditions are just people who don't have enough selfconfidence to relate their own ideas - or who are too lazy to try things differently. Which category do you fall in?

Dear Jeff,

The other day I was a part of a none-touncommon incident here at K-State. While crossing the street, minding my own business and listening to Michael Jackson's "Bad" tape on my Walkman, I was struck by a truck. Not just any truck, mind you, but a specially chartered UPS van making an emergency delivery of padded bras to the Manhattan Town Center. And, to make a long story short and printable, I was taken to Lafene. When I woke up, I felt very strange, but the doctor assured me that it was normal. She said I was Little did she know that my first stop after I left the health center was a local clothing store. I couldn't help myself. I bought a raincoat. The concussion turned me into a mad

Until recently, I had managed to wear an Ayatollah Khomeini mask at every showing. But then, the other day in my English composition class I could not resist. Now that I have embarrassed myself completely - and ruined my grade — what can I do to stop this from happening in the future? I want to eventually go into politics, and I am afraid this won't look good on my resume. What can I

Signed, Flashing my Life Away

Dear Flashing,

This is your lucky day! Thursday was the Great American Smoke-out. Today is the Great American Flash-out. Flashers from all over the country are going to try to quit exposing themselves for a day, hoping they will quit for good.

So my advice for you is hold on to your hat - and your pants - for the entire day. Maybe you will learn that you can live without flashing. But if you find out that you cannot live without it, don't worry. You could drop out of school and get a diploma by correspondence. If you still aspire to politics, your resume would make you a sure thing in San Francisco.

K-State jury policy allows compensation for faculty

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

When jury duty calls, the law often makes it difficult to say "no." However, for staff and faculty members, the University provides for compensation in most cases, said Deborah Birney, assistant director of personnel services.

The University policy for jury duty compensation covers only fulland part-time faculty and staff, Birney said, adding the policy doesn't cover students.

More than likely, if students are called for jury duty, they can work everything out with the instructors to make up assignments of the classes they would miss, she said.

Birney said the policy basically allows faculty or staff to serve on a icy also covers a faculty or staff member if they are ordered to comply with a subpoena as a witness before the civil service board, the Kansas Commission on Civil Rights, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or a court.

The policy does not apply if the employee is called as a witness on their own behalf or if the employee voluntarily seeks to testify as a witness against a state agency, she said.

Students who are employed at the University get no compensation for the work they miss because of jury duty, she said. Students are considered to be working on a temporary or emergency basis and do not get leave with pay.

When faculty or staff travel in a state vehicle for their appearances as jury and get leave with pay. This pol- witnesses or jurors, they have to turn over any travel expense money given to them to the state. Also, if an employee receives pay for an appearance as a witness, they have to turn over any amount over $50 to the Birney said she has not had any problems with people refusing to go for jury duty. This is something each department works out with the employee.

"They may grouse about it, but basically we don't have any problems," Birney said.

Birney said she thinks people don't like to be called in for jury duty because it is a bother.

"It is a hassle," she said. "You don't know how long you will be off

Grass damage proves costly

By Shawn Dorsch Collegian Reporter

The damage to Memorial Stadium grass that occurred Oct. 31 is going to cost K-State's grounds department about $500 to repair.

T.G. Lee, assistant director of general services - grounds department, said a patch in the middle of Memorial Stadium was destroyed when some people played tag on it while it was raining.

Lee said organizations normally call him to check whether they can use the fields after it has rained. The people on the field Oct. 31 did not check with him about the condition of the field in Memorial Stadium.

If it had not rained, the grass on the field probably would not have been ruined, he said.

"If there's a quarter of an inch or more of rain, we check it (the field) before we let someone on it," Lee

Money from the grounds department fund to repair the field will be used for materials, labor and equipment, Lee said.

"We will have to bring in dirt and cultivate and re-seed the field,' he said.

"I don't know if the field will be closed or not, but it would be a good idea to close it for at least a month so the grass can get a good start," Lee said.

Repair work on the field probably will not begin until spring. "The grass can germinate better in warmer weather," he said.

Several organizations, including physical education classes, soccer clubs and the military science department, use the Memorial Stadium field, Lee said.

COSTUME ALLEY is OPEN

Fri. & Sat. 1-5 p.m.

And Anytime by Appointment by calling

537-4709

Located in the Alley behind Brother's Tavern

'Organizations that use Memorial Stadium are always real good about getting permission from the grounds department before they use the field," he said. Lee said he did not know if K-State police were aware damage was being done or not. "I just find it hard to believe that no one saw it, with the police office being right there (in Memorial Stadium), and with them coming and going, surely someone would have noticed (there was someone playing in the middle of the field while it was raining)," he said.

A campus police officer said the grounds department did not file a report on the damages with the police.

"I didn't even think about filing a report," Lee said. "We filed on previous damages and the county attorney turned it down."

Puzzled over what to do this weekend? SATURDAY TODAY TONIGHT 5 p.m. PARTY WITH Free Set with THE HEAT THE HEAT It all fits together at . . .

Grand Opening Sale

20% off all Olympic Sweatshirts

+ + + PLUS + + +

Register between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21 for over $500 worth of prizes. Drawing will be at 1 p.m. Saturday. No purchase required. Need not be present to win. Listen to KMKF for further details.

SPORTS PAGE

MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER 776-1919

Pick Up Your Application in Kedzie 103 NOW

Applications Due by 5 p.m. Dec. 1, 1987, in Kedzie 103

Save $5.00 on the cost of a student ticket to

Present this voucher with your K-State student ID at the McCain Box Office and save $5 on any available seat.

Conditions: One student ticket per voucher. Offer good only for full-time K-State students. Voucher not redeemable for cash. Offer ex- pires Friday, December 4, 1987.

The Canadian Brass Sunday, December 6, 1987 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

Sound Shop

WEEKEND SPECIALS—3 DAYS ONLY

ADS 1290 TOWER SPEAKERS A/V SPEAKER OF THE YEAR

$119500 pr.

YAMAHA CDX 400 COMPACT DISC PLAYER 3 Beam Programmable

DENON DRA 355 STEREO RECEIVER

55 Watt

$268° (DEMO)

ONKYO TX 28

AM/FM Receiver 45 watt per channel

$22900

YAMAHA K-1020 CASSETTE DECK

Dolby B&C. DBX. Optimum Bias System

NAKAMICHI TD400

STATE OF THE ART CAR CASSETTE TUNER DOLBY B&C

$435°°

NAKAMICHI BX125 State of the Art Cassette Deck Dolby B&C 20-20,000 hz response (1-only)

PHASE TECH 745 ES

TOWER SPEAKERS 3 way

$3450° pr.

AUDIO TECHNICA AT 201 phono cartridge

$17.95

YAMAHA YCT 40 car cassette/tuner

STUDENT FINANCING!

Ex-sheriff sought in Morris County

By The Associated Press

COUNCIL GROVE - A warrant has been issued in Morris County District Court for the arrest of former Sheriff M.G. "Corky" Woodward, who failed to appear this week to answer charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and transporting an open container.

Attorney General Robert T. Stephan asked for the warrant after a summons could not be served because Woodward had left Kansas following his resignation as sheriff on Oct. 2.

The charges against Woodward stem from an incident in the parking lot of the Morris County Hospital here last Aug. 29. It involved the sheriff, Carrier, Undersheriff Duane Davis and Reserve Officer Thomas Furman, Woodward fired Davis a short time later, while Carrier and Furman resigned.

Woodward resigned while Stephan's office was preparing an ouster petition. On Oct. 15 the attorney general filed the two alcohol-related charges against him. When a summons could not be served on Woodward, Stephan sought and obtained the warrant on Oct. 30, said Neil Woerman, Stephan's administrative

It required Woodward to appear last Monday, but he did not show up.

Woerman said Stephan made public the existence of the warrant "to encourage the former sheriff to submit to the Kansas charges, and to aid in his arrest should any members of the public have information if and when Woodward returns to the state."

Woerman and Morris County Attorney Michael Powers said the liquor charges were in no way related to a home-made videotape Woodward and his wife, Danette, made showing them performing sexual acts.

Workshop to aid teachers Focus on conditions of at-risk child

By The Collegian Staff

Kansas teachers and educators have the opportunity to learn more about at-risk students and the cultural and psychological conditions facing them today at the "Psychology of the address all these issues," Jones said. At-Risk Student" Workshop.

The workshop, sponsored by the Equal Education Opportunities Program of the Kansas Department of Education, began Thursday in Forum Hall of the Union and continues Steryl Jones, education specialist from the Kansas Department of Education, said the at-risk child is the new buzz word in education.

"They are at risk for school failure, dropping out, drug and alcohol abuse, suicide, crime and teenage pregancy," he said. "At-risk conditions disproportionately affect low-income, minority children." The workshop addresses the underlying psychological and cultural cause of the at-risk condition, the behavioral characteristics of the at-risk student, how the expectations and organization of the public schools affect the student, and the practical ideas and techniques teachers and other educators can use to help an at-risk student.

"It's difficult for one person to He said three speakers are giving their individual perspectives on what at-risk means and what its causes and solutions are.

Jawanza Kunjufu, educational consultant for Afro-American Images, will speak today from 9 a.m. to noon. A panel discussion of the three speakers will be at 1:15 p.m.

Jones said he believes the at-risk student is a true issue.

At Wayne's Quik Lube

"It is the most important issue in American education," he said.

He said schools and society are not reaching out and nurturing the at-risk students.

"If we want to be excellent as a country in the future, we need to know how to include these kids and understand them better."

We'd like everyone to have a happy Thanksgiving!

...and remind you to have your car serviced before traveling for the upcoming holidays. Wayne is offering a offer good through November 28, 1987

Wayne's convenient hours are Mon.-Sat. 8:00-5:30 NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

WAYNE'S QUIK LUBE

2304 Sky-Vue Lane Manhattan

NEW THIS WEEK

Manhattan Transfer

*Linda Ronstadt

David Ruffin/Eddie Kendrick

1204 Moro in Aggieville

PARTY PAK WEEKEND

Come check it out!

No hassle movie rental Best prices and selections

·No membership fees

·No waiting in line

Behind Alco in Village Plaza

8 p.m. Admission is FREE

A MASTERS RECITAL

The University Club has it, from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights! Live entertainment & NO COVER CHARGE.

ZU/O OFF ALL MERCHANDISE excluding Colors fragrance

Pre-Thanksgiving Sale

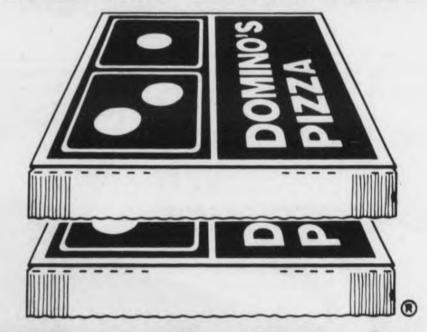

1222 MORO Aggieville, USA

Open Sun. 1-5 Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 Thurs. 10-8:30

United Colors of Benetton.

Now the Best Pizza in Town Has the Best Price!

Two Pizzas for Only $5.99!

cious 10" pizzas for the price of one. They're custom-made with your choice of toppings on eachthey don't have to be the same! And we use only the freshest ingredients and 100% real cheese.

It's just our latest way to say that Domino's Pizza Delivers. And we deliver at no additional charge in 30 minutes or less. That's the Domino's Pizza guarantee.

No coupon necessary.

Call Us! Manhattan 539-0561 517 N. 12th Street

4pm-1am Sun,-Thurs. 4pm-2am Fri.-Sat.

COKE® AVAILABLE in 16 oz. bottle 75$ each Domino's Pizza Delivers® Doubles.

Prices do not include tax. Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Limited delivery area.

PEPPERONI	SAUSAGE	HAN	1	JALAF	PENOS
MUSHROOMS	BLACK OLIVES	GRE	EN PEPPER	EXTR	A THICK CR	US
GROUND BEEF	ONIONS	PINI	EAPPLE	EXTR	ACHEESE	4
Menu			TWO	10"	TWO
mond	196 J.		10"	& 14"	14"
CHEESE			5.99	7.99	8.99
1 ITEM			6.94	9.24	10.39
2 ITEMS			7.89	10.49	11.79
3 ITEMS			8.84	11.74	13.19
4 ITEMS			9.79	12.99	14.59
			9.79	12.99	14.59
			9.79	12.99	14.59
EXTRAVAGANZ	ZA * * *		10.74	14.24	15.99
	NAL ITEM		.95	1.25	1.40

DELUXE-5 items for the price of 4. Pepperoni, Sausage, Mushrooms, Onions & Green Peppers.

"*VEGI-5 items for the price of 4. Onions, Green Peppers, Mushrooms, Black Olives & Extra Cheese.

EXTRAVAGANZZA - A special blend of 9 items for the price of 5. Pepperoni, Ham, Ground Beef, Sausage, Black Olives, Green Peppers, Onions, Mushrooms & Extra

©1987 Domino's Pizza, Inc

EntertainmentFrida

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, November 20, 1987 ■ Page 7

Cultural felines promote events

By Nancy Hill Collegian Reporter

A cat was found in McCain Auditorium. It was not a small ball of fluff, but a life-size feline named the Culture Cat, who promotes McCain

The Culture Cat, which is actually a K-State student, is the new mascot of McCain.

'The Culture Cat was created in the desire to increase involvement of they've turned feline.' K-State students and the community in McCain events," said Pat Steffen, McCain Board member and coordinator of the Culture Cat project.

The Culture Cat will appear at all McCain events, greeting patrons in the lobby area and answering questions about upcoming performances. The Cat will also serve as a promotional tool, making appearances around campus, at organized living groups and at community schools and organizations.

identified with culture and with McCain," Steffen said.

The Culture Cat is played by four junior in home economics education; Darin Duffin, senior in feed science and management; Stacy Sweazy, freshman in journalism and mass communications; and Sheri Leavitt, sophomore in pre-veterinary Steffen said that she had no trouble finding the students to play the role of the Culture Cat.

"The students were all excited to volunteer," Steffen said. "They have all seen the musical 'Cats'; they're in the mood for this part...I think

The Culture Cat's costumes were designed and constructed by Shelly Holle, a graduate student in costume design. The Cat's makeup was designed by Terri Lusenhop, sophomore in theater. Lusenhop also coached the cats on how to act the part of the McCain Culture Cat.

"We didn't want a 'hokeylooking' cat," Steffen said. "We worked on the costumes during the summer and they look great."

According to Steffen, there are "The Cat is a kind of mascot to be two complete outfits that are adjustable for the students playing the cat. Because there are two costumes, there is the possibility that two Cul-K-State students: Julie Thatcher, ture Cats might appear at the same McCain event.

■ See CAT, Page 12

Magazine wants student writers

By The Collegian Staff

Undergraduate writers will soon have the opportunity to submit their work to an issue of a publication designed just for them.

Touchstone magazine is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year with a K-State edition, said L.A. Fleming, graduate student in English and coeditor of Touchstone

"As far as style, we'll consider anything."

-L.A. Fleming

Touchstone is a yearly magazine with no subscription cost. It contains poetry, fiction and plays, she said. Touchstone is funded by the graduate school through the English department.

In the K-State edition, "Anybody connected with K-State in any way is eligible to submit their work to Touchstone," Fleming said. In the past, anyone could submit their work to the magazine - even professional writers, she said. "We want this to be a bridge year," Fleming said. This edition will be different than past editions and different than the future editions.

"After this year, Touchstone is going to be an undergraduate submission magazine," she said.

"We are going to change the format so it has its own identity," Fleming said. "There aren't that many markets strictly for the undergraduates."

It's tough for undergraduates to compete with professionals and Touchstone will give the undergraduates a chance to have their work published, she said.

The deadline for submission is Jan. 15, 1988. Touchstone will accept stories that are no longer than 20 pages. One writer can send in three stories. Touchstone will also accept poetry of 10 pages or less from one writer.

"As far as style, we'll consider anything," Fleming said.

Undergraduates interested in getting their written work published are definitely encouraged to submit it to Touchstone, she said.

Those interested in submitting their work to Touchstone can do so by sending it (along with a selfaddressed, stamped envelope, it the writer wishes his/her work returned) to Touchstone, in care of the Department of English, Denison Hall, K-

As the channel turns ...

Soap operas still popular

By The Collegian Staff

Soap operas. More than 60 million viewers tune in daily to watch characters fall in love, marry, divorce, die of terminal illnesses, or commit murders - possibly all in one episode of a show.

Whether or not you are a soap opera addict, you have at some time probably dealt with a person who is. Perhaps they wanted to switch lunch breaks with you to catch a soap they could not miss, or you had to hear an hour-long spiel about a favorite soap opera character, regarded as a life-long friend.

Between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. the T.V. room in the Union is filled with students, staff and faculty who gather to watch two favorite soaps, "The Young & the Restless" and "Days of Our Lives."

The chairs are filled with watchers - some of who appear in a trance - and when there are no more chairs, the floor space becomes useful. Some of the watchers become so deeply involved in a show, they shout comments at the television screen.

Brenda Clark, office assistant in photo services, said "Days" is her favorite soap.

"I watch it (Days of Our Lives) every day and the room is always full, I usually have to sit on the floor," Clark said.

She said she likes to watch the soaps because it's fun to guess what's going to happen and talk about it with other people, and it's a nice way to spend her lunch hour. Her other favorites are "General Hospital," "One Life to Live" and "The Young & the Restless."

"I read the Soap Opera Digest, and watch the other soaps whenever I can, but I don't tape them,"

Clark said. She said that she got started watching "Days" in high school, and has kept up with the characters' lives and their families.

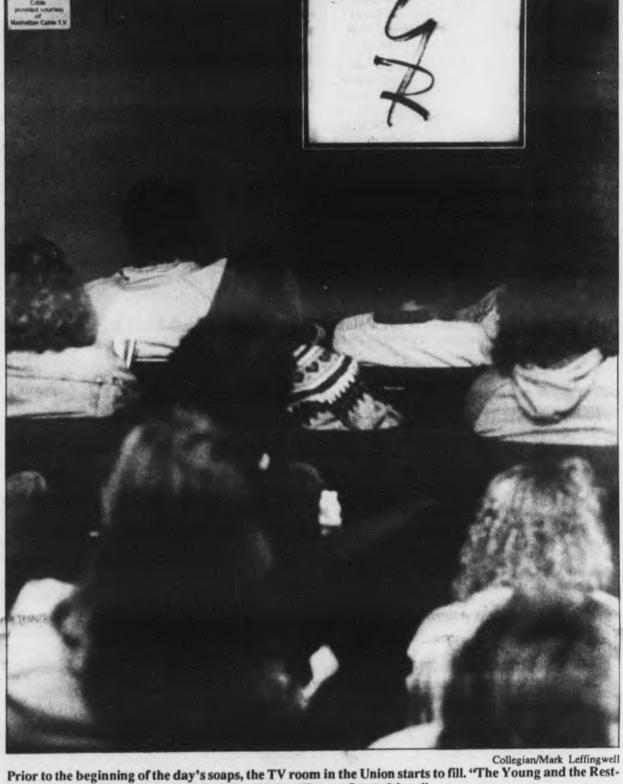

Christy Carlson, freshman undecided, and Ann Butler, freshman in economics and pre-law, said "Days of Our Lives" is their favorite soap

"Watching soaps is sort of a reprieve, you don't have to worry about your own problems," Butler

"They're funny sometimes because it's such a coincidence how things happen," Carlson said.

They both said that they don't schedule their classes around the soaps, but are glad it worked out so they could.

"We tape them when we can't watch your favorite soap and you less" starts off the lineup and is followed by "Days of our Lives."

watch them, and I read Soap Opera Digest while I wait in line at the grocery store," Carlson said.

Although "Y & R" and "Days" seem to be the favorites among many, "Guiding Light" wins in the age category. "The Guide," as it's called by some, premiered in radio in 1937, according to Soap Opera

Soap Opera Digest provides an opportunity to catch up on soaps if there is just no time in your day to don't have a video cassette recorder.

Not only does the magazine have the updates, there is even a section called "Ask Us" where people can write and have their questions answered. There is another section called "Cooking With the Stars," containing soap stars' favorite recipes.

Soap operas have become so popular and familiar that a game, "Soap Opera Challenge," was developed and has been sold to the public beginning this fall. The game offers playing cards with soap trivia questions of the six longest-running soaps.

Developed by Kate Curran, a Massachusetts soap fan, the game is a result of months of research. The questions were reviewed for accuracy by the licensing directors of ABC, Columbia Pictures, Taft Merchandising and producers and writers of the shows. According to information com-

■ See SOAPS, Page 12

'Princess Bride' shows feeling, detail

By Gary Leffler Collegian Reviewer

Rob Reiner has done very well for himself as a director. His successes include "This is Spinal Tap" and "Stand by Me," to name two. So far he has managed to avoid the dreaded "bomb" and his latest film, "The Princess Bride," is no exception to

"The Princess Bride" combines a wonderful story about love and chivalry with the satiric, underplayed humor that Reiner so strongly directs. From beginning to end the direction is smooth, fast-paced and engaging; gracefully framing characters that are warm, funny, evil and often a combination of the three.

The story surrounds the love between Buttercup, a beautiful but lowly farm girl, and Wesley, her servant. However, when Wesley takes to the seas to earn his fortune, he is attacked by pirates and killed. Overwhelmed by this Buttercup vows never to love again.

Movie Review

Despite this, she is chosen by Prince Humperdink to be his bride the Princess Bride. However, before the wedding can occur, Buttercup is kidnapped by three rogues in hopes of starting a war between Humperdink's land of Guilder and the neighboring land of Florin. From here the movie is a struggle to save Buttercup and avert the war between Guilder and Florin.

This struggle takes the audience through lush, magical and frightening lands filled with shadowy mountains, colorful meadows, princesseating eels and the treacherous fireswamp — a swamp/forest filled with plots of quicksand, giant rodents and fire-spewing geysers.

Actually, the entire film is a story within a story. "The Princess Bride" opens with a contemporary mother attending her ill son as he stays home from school in bed. Grandpa, played by Peter Falk, drops by to entertain his grandson by reading him a book.

The boy, wonderfully played by Fred Savage, is actually more interested in playing a computer game, but listens anyway when he's told how exciting and adventurous the book is. But when the opening scene is a romantic moment between Buttercup and Wesley, the boy interrupts to complain about all that "kissing stuff" and asks Grandpa if he is reading the right book.

"The Princess Bride" is strongest in its subtle use of humor. It is a story told with tongue planted firmly in cheek. Lines such as "Death doesn't stop love, it only delays it," or "They only say it can't be done because no one ever has before," or "Have fun storming the castle!" show the play-

Entire scenes take on this playfulness. One example is when an intellectual debate is fought over which of two wine-filled glasses is poisoned. Reverse psychology upon reverse psychology is used until everyone is dizzy with laughter at the endless circle of reasoning.

"The Princess Bride" is filled with recognizable stars, all of whom do justice to their respective roles. Mandy Patinkin, as the swash-buckling Spaniard Inigo Montoya, brings skill and daring to the screen, while Andre the Giant (of professional wrestling fame) compliments Patinkin as Montoya's lovable but strong sidekick. Peter Cook delivers a marvelous bit performance as a high priest with a speech impediment, as Billy Crystal brings Miracle Max, a magical healer, to life with all the jewish gusto he can muster.

Overshadowing all this star power, though, are Robin Wright and Cary Elwes as Buttercup and Wesley. They deliver strong, romantic and funny characterizations that refuse to be swallowed up by their well-known supporting cast.

"The Princess Bride" is, undoubtedly, another smashing success for director Rob Reiner. His attention to detail and emotion highlight an already funny, exciting script. He left everyone feeling they had a good time storming the castle.

Spotlight

at 2:20.

EVENTS

Kansas State Orchestra "Winter Concert," 8 p.m., today, McCain Auditorium.

"The Real Thing," 8 p.m., today and Saturday, Nichols Theatre, The Canadian Brass, 8 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 6, McCain Auditorium.

FILMS

K-State Union "The Witches of Eastwick," (R), and 9:30, today and Saturday, Union Forum Hall.

"Men," 7:30, Wednesday, Dec. 2 and Thursday, Dec. 3, Union Forum Hall: 3:30, Thursday, Dec. 3, Union Little Theatre.

Commonwealth Theaters

'The Running Man," (R), daily at 7 and 9; Saturday and Sunday at 3

Westloop Cinema 6

"The Princess Bride," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and

"Baby Boom," (PG), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10.

"Hello Again," (PG), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10.

"Teenwolf Too," (PG), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10.

"Death Wish IV," (R), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:20. "Russkies," (PG), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday

Seth Childs Cinemas

"Date With an Angel," (R), daily

at 4:45, 7:05, and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10 and 4:45.

"Flowers in the Attic," (PG-13), daily at 4:30, 7:25 and 9:35; Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and 5.

"Fatal Attraction," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2 and 4:30.

"Less Than Zero," (R), daily at 4:50, 7:10, 9:25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:25 and 4.

"Fatal Beauty," (R), daily at 4:35, 7:20 and 9:35; Saturday and Sunday at 2:15 and 4:35.

"The Hidden," (R), daily at 9:40

"Cinderella," (G), daily at 5:30 and 7:15; Saturday and Sunday at 2, 3:45, 5:30 and 7:15.

promotes positive outlook

By Janette Poole Collegian Reporter

"Cautious optimism" about the future of swine production described the attitude governing most of the 570 Kansas swine producers attending the 1987 K-State Swine Day and Kansas Pork Congress/Trade Show. The show concluded Thursday

"The swine day is an opportunity positive outlook for the industry," said Micheal Daharsh, Smith County agriculture agent.

surgery and medicine in the College to exchange ideas, and it promotes a of Veterinary Medicine and conference emcee, said this year's increased conference attendance was due to the programs, the completion David Schoneweis, professor of of harvest and a good year for the industry.

For the second consecutive year, Swine Industry Day and the Kansas Pork Producers Council are conducting their meetings jointly. The industry day is sponsored by K-State's Department of Animal Sciences and Industry and the Kansas Agriculture Experiment Station.

ture as a business and run it as a business, (the field) won't work," said Dale Keesecker, swine producer in Washington County. Keesecker runs a farrow-to-finish operation with 700 sows.

"Until all producers treat agricul-

"Kansas is a leader in the swine industry...ahead in technology, especially in nutrition," he said.

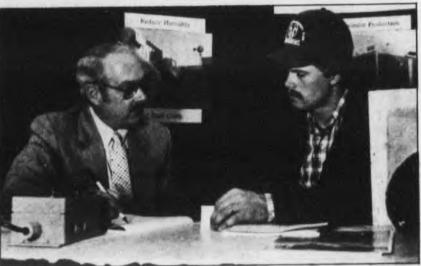

An open house at the K-State Swine Unit on Thursday afternoon provided demonstrations of all current research being conducted at the facility. Participants were able to view damaged grains from last year's harvest and ultrasonics testing that measures carcass quality. During one seminar, officials predicted moderate expansion with little price fluctuation during the next four months. K-State agriculture engineer Pat Murray gave participants a tour highlighting the remodeling of the swine unit featuring state-of-the-art ventilation in the new farrowing facility.

The average swine producer must be above average to survive, said Don Orr, vice president of nutrition and development for United Feeds Company of Sheridan, Ind. Orr spoke about assessing production information to increase efficiency with computerized records.

Low grain prices and high pork prices were responsible factors for the pork industry's successful year.

Howard Sears, a sales representative for Raydot, talks to Roger Zimmerman, Alta Vista, about Raydot ventilation products.

of swine farmers on the importance of early castration of pigs during part that took place during the 1987 K-State Swine Day.

Staff/Neal Hinkle David Schoneweis, professor of surgery and medicine, speaks to a group of their tour of K-State's swine farm. The tour was one of many events

Michelle, Mark, Jan, Ray, Lu, Shelly

Ray's Hair Maxim

SPECIAL ON PERMS $2500 for reg. $3500 (incl. cut)

Bring This Coupon Call or Walk in

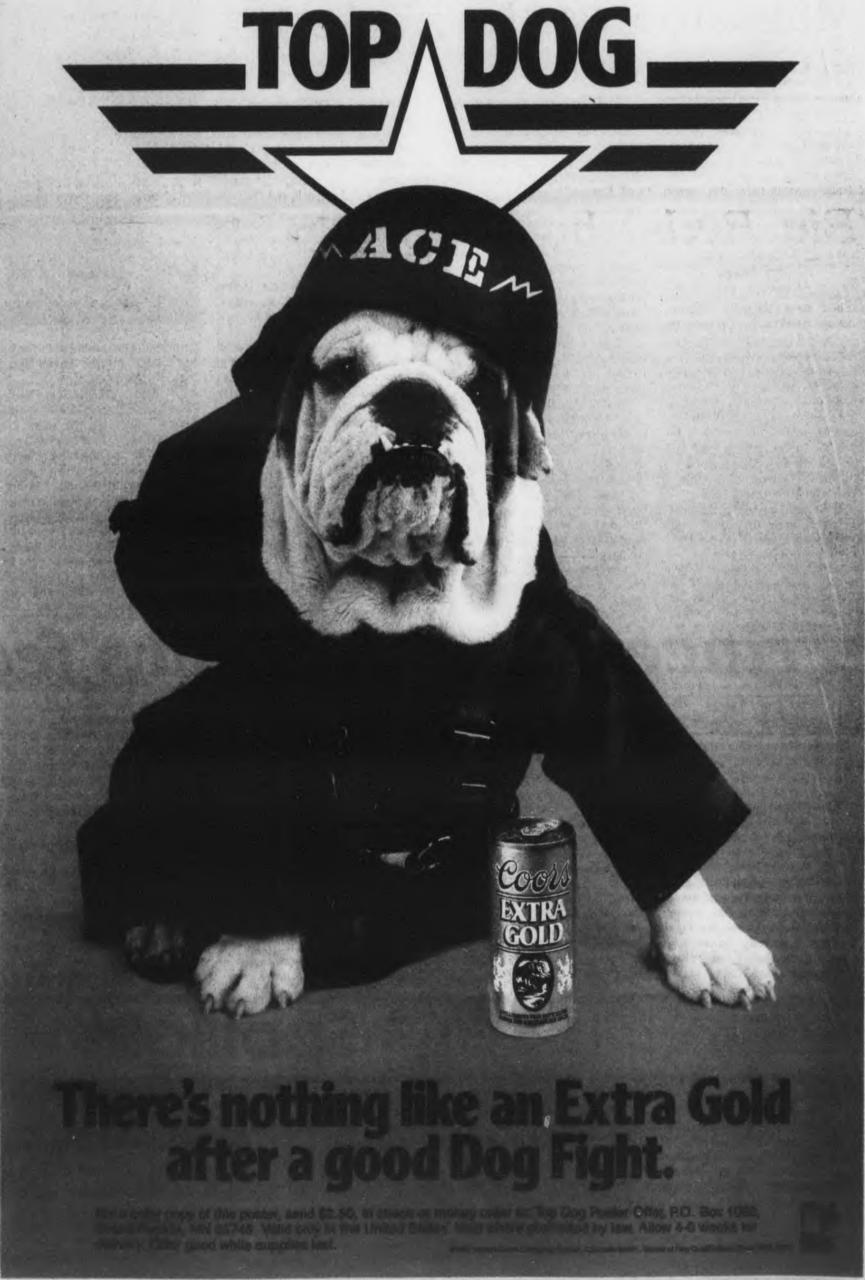

622 N. Manhattan

537-8620

in Aggieville

expires 1-1-88

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, November 20, 1987 ■ Page 9

Wildcats to battle Kansas

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Battle lines have been drawn again. For the third time this season, the K-State volleyball team will face its intrastate rival, the University of

This time the stakes are much higher. The Wildcats and Jayhawks are battling for another breath of life in the first round of the Big Eight Conference Tournament.

The match is set to start at 6 tonight in the Bicentennial Center in Salina.

K-State and Kansas also met last year in the first round of the tournament. The Jayhawks ended K-State's season with a 16-14 win in the fifth game of the match.

Playing Kansas is a factor K-State coach Scott Nelson said may be an added incentive for the 17-10 Wildcats.

"They're pretty excited about the matchup," Nelson said. "Usually all of our KU matches during the regular season or postseason are always close, intense and highly competitive.

"We played them last year in the first round of the Big Eight Tournament. They beat us 16-14 in the fifth game. So I think we are looking forward to playing them again," he said.

"As a team, we're looking forward to the tournament," Nelson said. "But there's probably a little added incentive because its the University of Kansas - a big rival to most of the players."

K-State has won the two previous meetings with Kansas this season. The Wildcats pulled out a five-game victory in Ahearn Field House before a record crowd of 1,650. Kansas wasn't able to capitalize on the home-court advantage in Lawrence and lost in four games to K-State.

defeated Kansas twice this season ty of Kansas."

K-State volleyball team members Kristi Jacquart and Shawnee Call prepare Thursday for the first round of the Big Eight tournament. For the third time this season, the team will face the University of Kansas.

already, Nelson isn't counting on the Jayhawks to be easy prey.

"It's always tough to play a team three times and beat them three times," Nelson said. "But I think it's Even though the Wildcats have easier because they are the Universi-

Fortunately for the University of Missouri and the University of Oklahoma, K-State wasn't prepared for the final two regular season games last weekend. Missouri pulled out a five-game win by taking the last three games of the match, and Oklahoma coasted by the Wildcats in three games.

"We should be better prepared," Nelson said. "Unlike the Missouri match, where I didn't believe we were prepared. Going in, we figured we would win."

'Cats try to shed winless fortunes

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

K-State's football team will try to avoid its first winless season since 1966 while the University of Colorado Buffaloes will try to prove the postseason bowl committees made a mistake in not choosing Colorado for the first time in the last three seasons.

Though the match might appear worthless on paper - the Wildcats are 0-9-1 overall and 0-5-1 in the Big Eight Conference and Colorado is 6-3 and 3-2 - K-State coach Stan Parrish isn't ready to shelve the 1987 campaign.

"We've been ready for the last (few) weeks," said Parrish of the 17-17 tie with Kansas and the lastminute 16-14 loss to Iowa State. "We've had very hard practices and had real good consistency. Hopefully, we'll play a good football game Saturday."

Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. at KSU Stadium.

After an impressive 49-3 win over K-State last season, and aided with a 20-10 upset of Nebraska, Colorado (6-5) was invited to the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston where it lost 21-9 to Baylor.

Even with a better overall record this year, the bowls have ignored the Buffs.

"It doesn't surprise me," CU coach Bill McCartney said. "Nothing comes easy for us. We were the last bowl team chosen in each of the last two years."

Colorado senior nose tackle Kyle Rappold, who has taken over former University of Oklahoma linebacker Brian Bosworth's title as the most colorful and quotable player in the Big Eight, said the Buffs deserve a bowl shot.

"We've played good football the past month and should go somewhere. I'm short and goodlookin' on the beach, in the Gulf, on the Mississippi, in the desert and in any time zone," he said.

Colorado is tough defensively against the rush, allowing just 131.6 yards per game, and is the fourth best team nationally in rushing offense with 320.98 yards per game out of its wishbone attack.

But the Buffaloes rank last in the Big Eight in pass defense, surrendering an average of 194.4 yards per game. Chances are 'Cat fans will see more action from quarterback Gary Swim, who had a season-best 241 yards last week against Iowa State.

"We had a little return of 'Air Parrish' at Iowa State and I think you can look for more of the same (against Colorado)," Parrish said.

Starting tight end Kent Dean is listed as "very, very doubtful" for Saturday with a sprained knee. He leads K-State in receiving with 38 catches for 431 yards. Another offensive starter who will be out of the 'Cat lineup will be tackle Russ Stange, who is recovering from mononucleosis.

When Colorado can't move the ball, one of its premier performers is senior punter Barry Helton, an Assoicated Press and United Press International All-American in 1985 and '86.

Helton has had a low number of kicks this season because the Buffaloes are enjoying one of their most productive offensive seasons in 12 years,

Big Reds' battle for No.

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

There have been 21 previous meetings between the top two college football teams in the Associated Press' poll, and Saturday's matchup in Lincoln, Neb., between topranked Nebraska and No. 2 Oklahoma looks to be another classic.

The 1971 Sooner-Cornhusker clash was tabbed the "Game of the Century" when No. 1 Nebraska downed second-place OU, 35-31. But the nation's top two winningest coaches - Oklahoma's Barry Switzer and NU's Tom Osborne - said there is no comparison between the respective teams. The 1987 teams would win going away.

"I think the '87 version would score 60 or 70 points on the '71 defense," Switzer said Monday during the Big Eight Conference's weekly teleconference. "We were a very, very poor team in 1971, defensively.

"Things change so much," Osborne said. "Players today would probably average 20 to 30 pounds heavier, and the times in the 40-yard dash would be faster.

"At that time, Oklahoma had a great offensive team, but their defense was not playing well so both teams ran up and down the field. Maybe that's one reason why it was the 'Game of the Century,' but in some respects, it might not have been what it was cracked up to be," he said.

In 1971, Switzer was an assistant on Chuck Fairbanks' Oklahoma staff and Osborne was Bob Devaney's No. 1 assistant at Nebraska. Since then, the two teams have been involved in three Nos. 1-2 games, and Saturday's game is:

the sixth straight year that one of the teams has been among the top three in the AP poll;

the 11th consecutive season that one of the teams has been in the top five; the fourth year in a row that both have been in the top six. After Oklahoma struggled to get past Missouri, 17-13, last week in Columbia, the idle 'Huskers replaced the Sooners as the No. 1 team in the AP poll for the first time this season. Neither coach was overly concerned about the switch. "Nebraska and Oklahoma are going to play, and it will be settled on Saturday," Osborne said.

Switzer said he "didn't expect to be (No. 1) after the way we played. I wouldn't vote for us...the way we've been playing the last couple of weeks.

K-State's football team had the distinction of being the first team in 16 seasons to play the two top-rated teams in consecutive weeks. The Wildcats lost to OU, 59-10 on Oct. 17 in Manhattan, and 56-3 on Oct. 24 the nation, there are different opinions as to who will win the "Game of the Century II."

Coach Stan Parrish favored Oklahoma until quarterback Jamelle Holieway and fullback Lydell Carr were lost to injuries against Oklahoma State.

"I think the injuries have hurt them more psychologically than physically. I'm going to pick Nebraska, 21-10," Parrish said.

"Nebraska will win the game," said senior linebacker Matt Wallerstedt. "I thought that before Holieway and Carr got hurt...The key to (OU's) offense is their quarterback. and (freshman Charles Thompson) is inexperienced."

K-State athletic director Larry Travis, who played at Florida and coached at Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Kansas and Florida before coming to Manhattan, favors Nebraska.

"The Cornhuskers are stronger, more physical and have played a

1971 - No. 1

1969 - No. 1

1968 - No. 1

1968 - No. 1

1966 - No. 1

No. 1 vs. No. 2

Meetings between the Nos. 1 and 2 teams in the Associated Press' college football poll. The No. 1 team has won 14 times with two games ending in ties (in the case of Jan. 1 bowl games, the year indicates the regular season).

1986 - No. 2 Penn State 14, No. 1 Miami, Fla. 10, Fiesta Bowl.

1982 - No. 2 Penn State 27, No. 1 Georgia 23, Sugar Bowl.

1978 - No. 2 Alabama 14, No. 1 Penn State 7, Sugar Bowl.

1971 - No. 1 Nebraska 38, No. 2 Alabama 6, Orange Bowl.

Texas 15, No. 2 Arakansas 14.

1963 - No. 1 Texas 28, No. 2 Navy 6, Cotton Bowl.

1962 - No. 1 USC 42, No. 2 Winsconsin 37, Rose Bowl.

Nebraska 35, No. 2 Oklahoma 31.

Purdue 37, No. 2 Notre Dame 22.

Ohio State 27, No. 2 USC 16, Rose Bowl.

Notre Dame 10, No. 2 Michigan State 10.

1986 - No. 2 Miami, Fla., 28, No. 1 Oklahoma 16.

1985 - No. 1 lowa 12, No. 2 Michigan 10.

1981 - No. 1 USC 28, No. 2 Oklahoma 31.

1963 - No. 2 Texas 28, No. 1 Oklahoma 7.

1945 - No. 1 Army 48, No. 2 Notre Dame 0.

1943 - No. 1 Notre Dame 35, No. 2 Michigan 12.

1943 - No. 1 Notre Dame 14, No. 2 lowa Pre-Flight 13.

1946 - No. 1 Army 0, Notre Dame 0.

1945 - No. 1 Army 32, No. 2 Navy 13.

1944 - No. 1 Army 23, No. 2 Navy 7,

tougher schedule. After seeing them back-to-back, I think Nebraska...can do a little more on offense," he said. Senior defensive back Brad Lambert tabbed Oklahoma.

"They've got some incentive going in, because they've dropped in the rankings," he said. "When you're talking about a program of that caliber, I don't think two players makes that team...Also, they haven't lost to NU in Lincoln. As with the rest of anything defensively. It's going to be a great game."

Barring a tie, either Oklahoma or Nebraska will most likely play Miami (Fla.) for the national championship on Jan. 1 in the Orange Bowl. If OU and NU tie and neither has a loss, it will take the highest-ranked team. If they tie for the Big Eight Conference championship with one loss apiece, the winner of Saturday's clash will be selected.

For the record, Nebraska has been involved in two games of No. 1 vs. No. 2 and won both (against No. 2 Oklahoma in '71 and No. 2 Alabama in the Orange Bowl that same year). Oklahoma has been involved in four such contests and has lost all four (to No. 2 Texas in '63, No. 1 Nebraska in '71, No. 1 USC in '81 and No. 2 Miami, Fla., in '86).

The No. 1 team has posted a 14-5-2 advantage in previous toptwo matchups, but the No. 2 squad has won four of the last six.

JV team returns to action

Staff/Greg Vogel K-State junior varsity player Brent Wingfield looks for a teammate as a Morris Hill defender flies past. Morris Hill won 63-55.

By Jeff Rapp Sports Editor

The return of K-State's junior varsity basketball program Thursday night in Ahearn Field House brought what seemed to be a game of percentages.

That is, about 10 percent of the attendance, 50 percent of the talent and 100 percent of the intensity as at a usual varsity game in Ahearn. Seventy-four spectators were in attendance.

Unfortunately for K-State making its first JV appearance in two years - the intensity wasn't quite enough, as the Morris Hill Brotherhood team from Fort Riley defeated the Wildcats, 63-55.

The game came close to being a blowout, as Morris Hill bursted to a 49-29 lead in the second half. But the 'Cats came storming back to pull within three points at 58-55, with 20 seconds left in the game.

K-State graduate assistant and JV coach Robert Turner said the game wasn't exactly a picture of perfection during its early stages.

"The first 25 minutes was bad; we didn't play well at all. The last 15 minutes was excellent, though. It got pretty exciting for just a scrimmage game," Turner said.

The coach cited inexperience as a possible cause of the early jitters and the initial loss.

"The odds are against the guys anyway, because the team hasn't been in existence for two years, and the players are all new to the college level," he said.

Once things settled down, though, the 'Cats started chipping away at the 20-point deficit. With 3:43 to go in the game, K-

State's Royce Powellson picked off a pass and scored on a layup to apparently bring the score to Morris Hill 56, K-State 53. But Powellson was called for traveling and the basket was negated. Turner said the traveling call may have cost the 'Cats the game. "That traveling call hurt us. With (Powellson) in the open court, and that traveling call made, instead of being down by only three points, they got the ball back." For K-State, Neal Flickinger led all scorers with 13 points, while Larry LaMette chipped in 11.

Employee uniforms 'to promote unity'

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

Employees in several Physical Facilities departments will be issued uniforms, in part to instill pride and provide easy identification, said the director of buildings and utilities.

The uniforms will be worn by employees in the maintenance, shop, grounds, postal center, custodial and automotive mechanic areas, said Jack Watson.

"I feel a person in uniform has more pride in himself," Watson said. "You can be identified with something.'

Funding for the uniforms will come from facilities budget. Facilities officials said they will not know the total cost of the uniforms until bids are returned. Watson said the expenditure is not likely to affect other facilities programs.

Specifications for the uniforms are being written by Facilities and the Facilities workers react hesitantly

College of Human Ecology and will The other people Snavely supervises be sent to the state before the uniforms are offered for bids, in about Employees will be responsible for their own uniforms.

"We don't do anything for done something for ourselves," Watson said.

Art Sykes, director of Facilities general services, said uniforms create a nicer atmosphere on the job. "This will promote a little unity and distinction," Sykes said. Reba Snavely, administrative officer for Facilities, said uniforms are a timely addition to her department. Snavely oversees post office, personnel and payroll employees.

will not be required to wear uniforms because they are office personnel. Uniforms for the eight post office workers will cost about $150 each.

Because most postal uniforms are standard, Snavely said, they will not ourselves. It is about time we've have to be put out for bid. Money for those uniforms already has been budgeted. The uniforms have been ordered and should be in by the first of the year.

'We are in the middle of a fullscale thrust to improve the way the campus feels about the central mail service," Snavely said. "This way, when they are out there (in uniforms), they (will) represent facilities and themselves well."

Employees who report to Watson Only post office workers, however, and Sykes formed a committee to will be required to wear uniforms. select the color and style of the uniforms.

The grounds crew will wear tan uniforms, mechanics will wear light blue and supervisors will wear white.

Snavely said that initially only the three campus mail carriers will wear uniforms. In the post office, trousers will be blue-gray and shirts will be light blue. Employees will wear identification badges on the shoulder.

Sykes said that although uniforms are new in his department, employees have always had a dress code. Going to a uniform just tightens up the code, he said.

Snavely and Sykes said they have not heard any complaints about the new uniforms from their employees.

"They are real excited about the uniforms."

But Ronald Jones, an electrical technician, said he is ambivalent about the uniforms. "If the state wants to pay for a uniform, that is fine - as long as it fits," Jones said. "I don't have any big qualms about it." Donald Bruns, a facility maintenance specialist for grounds, said the uniforms are a good idea.

"I am looking forward to it," he said. "I think a uniform will be all

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

Hair Cuts for $5 before Thanksgiving

465 E. Poyntz-Next to Food 4 Less-776-5488 Good thru Dec. 1, 1987 Present this coupon

SOCCER

KSU vs. Alumni Saturday, Nov. 21 Memorial Stadium 2 p.m.

Religious Directory

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

CHURCH

801 Leavenworth

537-0518

Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m.

Church School 9:30 a.m.

(Tuesdays, K-State Union)

Senior Minister

Rev. Dr. Philip S. Gittings III

College Outreach

for youth

Weekday programs

Nursery available

Shabbat Services 8 p.m. 1st and 3rd Friday Religious School 9:30 Sundays Rides Available Sponsor B'nai B'rith Hillel at K-State

1509 Wreath Ave. (temple) 539-8462

Campus Adviser, David Margolies 532-6154

Church of Manhattan Campus Bible Study Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. Sundays at University Inn

FIRST UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month)

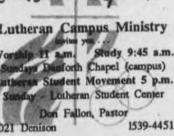

9:45 a.m. Church School

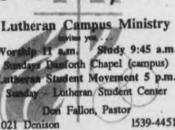

8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship

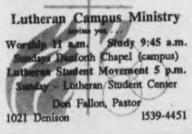

Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor

612 Poyntz

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS

BAPTIST CHURCH 8:30 a.m. First Worship Service 9:30 a.m. Sunday School 11 a.m. Second Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Evening Worship 2221 College Heights Rd.

LIVING WORD CHURCH

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

Sunday Praise Hours

10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Office 537-7633

Seth Childs Rd. at Gary Ave.

Mike Wall, Pastor. 537-7967

WORSHIP 8 and 10:30 a.m.

College Class 9:30 a.m. Sun. Eve. Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd. and 5th Sundays

CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m. 2nd and 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave. 537-7173

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHUDCH

Sunday School—9:30 a.m.

Collegiate Bible Class

Transportation available

Œ

Sunday 10 a.m. Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Campus Group 776-0940 (1 mile south on Hwy. 177)

GRACE BAPTIST

CHURCH

2901 Dickens

All students & faculty

welcome

CHURCH SERVICES

Sundays 8:30 a.m. & 11 a.m.

Welcome International Students to

Dr. Bob's International Bible Hour

Sundays 9:30 a.m.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Sunday School — 9:45 a.m.

(Collegiate Class)

COME AND WORSHIP! MANHATTAN CHURCH of the NAZARENE

College Class 9:30 a.m.

Bible Study & Prayer Wed. 7 p.m.

rahip Services 10:50 a.m. & 6 p.m.

10th & Poyntz

10th & Fremont

537-8532

Trinity Presbyterian Church

Church School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Nursery Provided Handicap Accessible ·Rides Available Pastor James Cramer 539-3921 1110 College Ave.

CHRISTIAN CAMPUS MINISTRY A Ministry Of The Church Of Christ Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m. Bible Classes 9:30 a.m.

& Wed. 7:30 p.m. 2510 Dickens Ave.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

FLINT HILLS FULL FAITH Church Sunday School 9:15-10 a.m. Worship 10:15-Noon

Home Group Bible Studies 217 Seth Childs—Church Location mt. of Raoul's Escondido 309 Houston......537-0256

SUNDAY SCHOOL 9:30 a.m. COLLEGIATE FELLOWSHIP as scheduled 539-2604 330 N. Sunset St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Sunday Massas

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

WORSHIP Sat. 6 p.m. Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m.

9:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 5 p.m. Saturday - 5 p.m. Daily Mass 10 p.m. 539-7496

Crestview Christian Church

Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 776-3798 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (on Hey. 24, across from State Park)

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan former Luckey High School Juliette St. and Pierre Worship 9 a.m.

Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-0259 Nursery provided 537-8526

BLUE VALLEY MEMORIAL UNITED METHODIST Sunday School 9:15 a.m.

Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.

835 Church Ave.

539-8790

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 6:30 p.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison 539-4079

Listings

By TV Data

WTBS

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 20, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today,	Morning Pro- Morning Pro-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo,	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00	"	gram	"	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Horse Mag.	Little House on the Prairie
	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Breeders Cup	Movie: "Lost
40:00	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Africans	Love Boat	SpeedWorld Tractor Pull	"
	Password	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Painting	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
12:00	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	Powerboat Racing: World	Movie: "The Unguarded
- 00	Lives Another World	A - 10 - 181-14	One Life to	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Mysteryl: Do- rothy L. Say-	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Senior PGA Golf: Ma-	Moment"
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Kitchen Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	chado Ford Classic: First	Tom & Jerry and Friends
	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	IGA Golf: World Cup:	Flintstones Flintstones
4:00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Third Round	Munsters Laverne
	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame . Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook Racing	Alice Carol Burnet
C:00		News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Break	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter SpeedWk.	Andy Griffith Sanford
	Rags to Riches	Beauty and the Beast	Full House Married Dora	Friday the 13th: The Ser-	Wash. Week Wall $t. Wk.	Movie: "Bus- tin' Loose"	NFL's Grea- test Moments	NBA Basket- ball: Boston
	Miami Vice	Dallas	Mr. Belvedere Pursuit of	Movie: "Thun- derbolt and	McLaughlin Business	"	Top Rank Boxing	Celtics at Ph ladelpia 76er
	Private Eye	Falcon Crest	20/20	Lightfoot"	Innovation Market	News INN News	94	H.'s Heroes
10:00	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	News M*A*S*H	Barney Miller Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	SportsCenter	Night Tracks Power Play
4 4:00	Ent. Tonight	Solid Gold in Concert	B. Buddies Nightline	Movie: "The	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Walk-	AWA Wres- tling	Night Tracks
10:00	Late Night With David	Sybervision CHiPs Patrol	700 Club	Uninvited"	Sign-Off	ing Tall: Part	SpeedWeek Drag Racing:	Night Tracks uniforms," Snavely said. "The only thing they are worried about is (the

it for a long time," Snavely said.

complaints.

chasing the uniforms.

"My people have been in favor of

Watson said he has heard a few

Nora Downie, a laborer in the car-

"Nobody really wants them," she pentry shop, said she is against pur-said. "Facilities can spend their uniforms) being uncomfortable."

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 21, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Gummi Bears Smurfs	Hello Kitty Jim Henson's	Care Bears My Little Pony	Kidsongs LovelyLocks		Farm Report World Tom.	SportsCenter Fishin Hole	Bonanza .
8:00	"	Muppet Ba- bies	Pet Monster Puppies	Popples Get Along	Adventure Adventure	Charlando People-People	Bill Dance	National Geo graphic Ex-
	Fraggle Rock Alvin	Pee-wee Play. Visionaries	Little Wizards Ghostbusters	Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig	Cliffhangers Old House	Minority Busi- Movie: "Mur-	Tractor Pull Auto Racing	plorer
	ALF	Popeye & Son Teen Wolf	Flintstones Jem	Visionaries Power	Motorweek Animals	der Cruise"	Sports SportsCenter	NWA Super Bouts
	Tom & Jerry Stan Parrish	College Foot- ball: Notre	College Foot- ball: Ohio	Wonder Woman	Painting V. Garden	Soul Train	Saturday Senior PGA	Movie: "Goo zilla"
12:00	Can't Take It Control	Dame at Penn State	State at Michigan	Movie: "White Lightning"	Sesame Street	Movie: "Hold That Ghost"	Golf: Ma- chado Ford	Movie: "The
	Horse Racing:	11	"		Woodwright Plain & Fancy	W.	Classic: Se- College Bas-	Big Mouth"
2:00	"		College Foot-	Star Trek	Bodywatch W. Alexander	Movie: "Stan- ley and Living-	ketball: North Carolina vs.	,,
3:00	"	College Foot- ball: Okla-	ball: UCLA at Southern Cal	Battlestar Gal- actica	Kovels Collect Calligraphy	stone"	Syracuse IGA Golf:	Bonanza
A:00	Breeders' Cup Continues	homa at Ne- braska	"	Buck Rogers	Focus/Society Focus/Society	Puttin' on Hits Good Times	World Cup: Final Round	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies
F:00	Wild Kingdom NBC News		"	Black Sheep Squadron	Business Seventy-Fifth	Bustin' Loose Charles	Sports	World Cham pionship
	Hee Haw	Mama It's a Living	Guinness Rec. B. Buddies	Star Trek: Next Gener.	Lawrence Welk Show	It's A Living Mama's Fa-	Scoreboard College Foot-	Wrestling
	Facts of Life 227	Movie: "Aga- tha Christie's	The Sheriff 9 to 5	Mr President In Prison	Wonder- Works: A Lit-	Movie: "Rio Grande"	ball: Clemson at South Caro-	Movie: "Ma- con County
	Colden Cide	13 at Dinner"	Ohara	New Adven- Second	Austin City Limits	7,	lina	Line",
9:00		West 57th	Hotel	Rich & Fa- mous	Country Cliffhangers	News INN News	College Foot-	Cousteau Amazon: The
10:00	News Saturday	News Star Trek:	News Movie: "Bon-	The Sheriff Friday the	Great Per- formances	H.'s Heroes Movie: "Mad	College Foot- ball: Air Force	Night Tracks Chartbusters
		Next At the Movies	nie and Clyde"	13th: The Ser- Solid Gold in	"Dr. Fischer of Geneva"	Max"	at Hawaii	Night Tracks
	Friday the 13th: Series	Dallas		Concert NCTV Hour	Sign-Off	SCTV	N.	Night Tracks

SUNDAY NOVEMBER 22, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KIKA @	(B)	O	WGIN	ESFIN	***
7:00	James Ken- nedv	Jerry Falwell	Jimmy Swag- gart	Superfriends		R. Schuller Heritage-Faith	NBA Today PGA Tour	Flintstones Tom & Jerry
	L. Lundstrum Robert	Day of Discov- ery		All Star Wres- tling	Sesame Street	Sunday Mass Popeye	SpeedWeek Racing	Flintstones Andy Griffith
	Caballas	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written This Week	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Special	Vissionaries Power	Sportstalk This Week in	Good News Movie: "Air-
10:00		For Our To Be An-	With David Business	Black Sheep Squadron	Sesame Street	Superman Lone Ranger	Sports Center	port"
	Control	nounced NFL Today	All Star Wres- tling	Star Trek: Next	Wonder- Works: A Lit-	Cisco Kid Rawhide	Sunday: NFL Auto Racing:	"
12:30	NFL Football: NBC Regional	NFL Football: Detroit Lions	Movie: "Miss- ing In Action	Movie: "Tar- zan's Secret	Wash. Week Wall $t. Wk.	Twilight Zone	NASCAR At- lanta Journal	Movie: "San
1:00		at Chicago Bears	2: The Begin- ning"	Treasure"	Adam Smith Computer	Movie: "Su- san Slept	500	Francisco"
2:00			Kansas Illus. B. Buddies	Movie: "The Shakiest Gun	That Delicate Balance	Here"	Auto Racing	Movie: "The
3:00	NFL Football: NBC Regional	College Bas-	Weight Loss WWF Wres-	in the West"	One on One Interests	Movie: "The Mark of	Continues Senior PGA	Kid With the Broken Halo"
4:00		Pvt. Benjamin Blublocker	tling Your Skin	n	Vintage Years Su Communi-	Zorro;	Golf: Ma- chado Ford	Championship
5:00	"	CBS News News	News Football	_00)1	Bradshaw on the Family	Movie: "Char- iots of Fire"	Classic: Final Ski World	Wrestling New Beaver
6:00	Our House	60 Minutes	Disney Sun- day Movie	21 Jumpstreet	Wild America Nature	n	NFL Prime Time	Movie: "Duel"
	Family Ties Movie: "The	Murder, She Wrote	11	Werewolf MarriedWith	Nature	At the Movies	NFL Football: Miami Dol-	ő
8:00	Empire Strikes Back"	Movie: "The Gambler III	Dolly	Tracey Ullman Duet	M. Theatre: The Bretts	Star Search	phins at Dal- las Cowboys	National Geo- graphic Ex-
9:00		The Legend Continues"	Buck James	Marblehead Throb	Great Per- formances	News	17	plorer
	News Sports M.	News Marblehead	News Movie: "The	Mama Hardcastle	"Pagliacci" Candidates	Darkside Lou Grant	SportsCenter Sunday	Sports Page Jerry Falwell
11:00	Entertainment This Week	Rich & Fa- mous	Park Is Mine"	Dating Game	'88/M. Kalb Tony Brown	Movie:	NFL Prime Time	World Tomor-
12:00	Siskel & Ebert Gene Scott	Sign-Off		Lou Grant	Sign-Off	"M*A*S*H"	NFL Sportstalk	Jimmy Swag- gart

KTWU

Kedzie 103 ClassAds 532-6555

Classifieds are payable in advance unless cli-ent has an established account with Student Publi-

dline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

01

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch, Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

HORSE-DRAWN hay rides. Anywhere, anytime. 539-

HOLIDAY FLOUR sales: Take home some flour for Mom to bake with. White, whole wheat, and rye flours, pancake mix. Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1-4 p.m., Friday, Nov. 20, 12-6 p.m. Shellenberger 220. Sponsored by Grain Science Club. (61-64)

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manhattan. (62-75)

PATIENT INSTRUCTION at the Little Apple Driving School. Class begins Saturday, Nov. 21. Call today! 539-2715. (62-64)

HIS AND Hers super styles. Grand opening. 308 Tut-tle Creek. Perms $19.95, unlimited tanning $29.95. 776-1330. (63-67)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its product selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. We will be closed on Thanksgiving, (64-65)

THANKSGIVING DINNER: All KSU students are invited to St. Luke's Lutheran Church, at 330 North p.m. The cost is $4 per person. This event is spon sored by the Lutheran Young Adults. Call 539-2604 to reserve a plate of turkey and the trimmings! (64)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT—FURNISHED 02

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

Two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Call now. 537-9259. Anderson Place #7. (60-64)

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, u $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (601f)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. $200/month Split dtilities, assume lease Jan. 1. Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson. (61-64)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call 537-1442. (61-64)

TWO-BEDROOM, balcony, close to campus. Ander son Place, available Jan. 1, 1988. Call 776-9923. (62-

ONE BEDROOM Basement. Unique. City Park. 539. 7307. (63-67)

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom apartment available in January. Furnished, one and one-half bath, dish washer, personal storage, walking distance from campus. $330/month. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66) A BEAUTIFUL one bedroom furnished apartment.

mester. Bills are paid. $230. 537-0428. (64tf) WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1. $133/month, one-third utilities. Own room. 539

ONLY 15 OUT OF 350????

That is the number of apartments available for January occupancy from among our university influenced complexes.

If you need an apartment for the spring semester, we'd suggest you call us soon.

Prices from $245 to $360.

2700 Amherst

Rubes

By Leigh Rubin

"Honest, Boss, I ain't in any misery!"

JACKSON'S FALTERING!

ROBERTSON SEEN RUNNING TWO POINTS AHEAD OF DUKAKIS

IN DUBUQUE!

Bloom County

* BUSH IS AHEAD BY THREE POINTS ... DOLE BACK BY TWO!

GORE UP FOUR!

Garfield

I, THE CAPED AVENGER, SHALL SEEK OUT INJUSTICE WHEREVER IT MAY LURK...

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf)

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred, $265 a month, 539

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, efficiency, $185 per month, water/ gas furnished. Available now, 539-5136. (61tf)

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, carpeted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

ONE-BEDROOM—Large enough for two. Unfurnished, $265. Call Chris, 539-7906 after 5 p.m. (62-

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco-rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus, $315 a January-May. Call 539-2830, leave mes sage. (63-66)

THREE BEDROOM, with garage. Living room and dining room. Range and refrigerator in kitchen. Close to campus. Prefer small family or older student. Deposit required. No pets. $375. Call 776-3454. (64-68)

FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person. All utilities paid including basic cable TV. Call Jeff, 539-9173, evenings. (64)

THREE-BEDROOM apartment, large rooms, gas heat. Available Nov. 20, 1987. $245. Phone 537-7087 (64-65) TWO BEDROOM-two blocks east of campus. Pay own utilities. Available Jan. 1, $250/month. 539-2116 or 539-2892. (64-65)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

FOR SALE 1976 Dodge Aspen. Good condition, must sell. Call 539-4649 after 3:30 p.m. (60-64)

04

09

1980 CAPRICE Classic Landau, power steering, power brakes, air conditioning, cruise, real sharp. 293-5250. (61-65) 1972 CADILLAC Coup DeVille, new tires, runs well.

$550 or best offer. Call 532-3603. (64) 1976 CHEVROLET Malibu four-door. Has power steering, power brakes, air conditioning and cruise. $725 or make offer. Must sell. Call 456-9576.

1983 FORD Mustang Excellent condition, AM/FM cassette, grey, many extras, reasonably priced. Call 539-9636, (63-65)

MAZDA GLC 1979, AM/FM cassette, excellent condi-tion. Call 537-1886 or ask for Olga at 532-5123. (63-

FOR SALE: 1977 Dodge Aspen, two-door, automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, AM/ FM. Doesn't look too great, but it'il get you there! $500. Call 537-4524. (64)

FOR SALE: 1971 Malibu. Good shape, green. $400. Call Tommy, 539-3769 or 539-9834, leave message

FOR SALE: 1978 Caprice Classic, good condition, $480. Call 539-2776 after 4 p.m. (64-68)

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40 HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs-your $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (45-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe South America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

LOCAL HELP Free to Callers Low Cost Advertising 539-CALL

RESORT HOTELS, cruiselines, airlines and amusement parks Now accepting applications for sum-mer jobs, internships and career positions. For information and application; write National Collegiate Recreation, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head Island, SC 29938. (59-66)

ASSISTANT INSTRUCTORS, Physics. The KSU Department of Physics may have a few openings for part-time instructors in its introductory teaching program for the spring semester 1988. The duties can include teaching physics laboratories, grading papers and general assistance to the director of the laboratory program. Minimum qualifications for present KSU undergraduates are junior standing and completion of two semesters of physics with high grades. Other individuals must have a B.S. in physics or a related field. If an applicant's first language is not English, he/she must have scored at least 220 on the SPEAK test. Apply to the Department of Physics, Cardwell 116. Deadline Dec. 4, 1987. (60-64)

TEN ENTHUSIASTIC outgoing salespeople to re-place ten who weren't. Days or evening shifts. For more information please call 537-9027 anytime

THE MODERN POLITICAL

REPORTER PAUSES TO

REFLECT ON THE

EXHAUSTIVE

POLITICAL

ANALYSIS.

DEPTH OF HIS

NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY!

By Berke Breathed

By Jim Davis

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont,

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY for experience. Manage the Crafty Senior Plus non-profit store, 321 Poyntz part-time. Responsible for total operation includ ing merchandising, scheduling and training volun teer clerks, taking consignments and bookkeep ing. Prefer upper division or graduate student Apply at the store, 12-4 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work; electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, ties, $425, 539-4294 or 539-4576. (611f)

TWO BEDROOM house. Near City Park. Air condi-tioned. Some furnishings. 539-7307. (63-67)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vauited ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 × 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath 537-1029. (62-71)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un-til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

CUSTOM SCREENING

4 less, \(\square \text{us out!}

FIREWOOD-SPLIT oak mixed; corn feed beefsold live weight plus processing. 499-6682. (61-65) VINTAGE CLOTHING and antique solid oak wall unit book or display case, 12 feet long, 8 high. Gumbo Hill Antiques, 539-5778. (61-64) cited? Guess who! (64) KING SIZE waterbed, priced for immediate sale, eve rything included; a surefire steal at $185. Contact Mr. Price, 537-7587. (61-64) PIKES AND Pike Lil Sis's-The Pilgrims did it, and

PLEASE BUY this like new Pioneer 45 watt receiver, DE-2 Hitachi deck, $300 retail investment, each are only $50. 537-8556, Sheldon. (63-67)

1-800-321-5911

RUBY EMERALD sapphire earrings. Grade A quality at manufacturer's prices. Manhattan Coins and

PYRAMID PIZZA

Collectibles, 1130 Laramie. (63-64)

All Slices 99° after 5 p.m.

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

The 111 S. 4th $3.95 with salad bar

FRIDAY 5-9 p.m. Fried Chicken or Spaghetti w/meat sauce all you can eat

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.-next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th

LEE'S WESTERN WEAR

Pendleton Wool Shirts & Sport Coats

2 miles east of K-Mart, Hwy 24 Manhattan, KS 66502 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30, Thurs. 9-8:30 Sunday 1-5

QUEEN SIZE floatation mattress waterbed. Priced to sell. Good condition. 776-4003. (64)

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

MONGOOSE MOUNTAIN bike, like new, new crankset, 15 speeds, chrome frame, $225. Call Mark, 532-3560. (62-66)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Hayes House of Music

FENDER STD. STRATS w/Kahler Trem w/hardshell case $539

327 Poyntz 776-7983 PERSONALS

BLONDE DU in Art History: love your smiling face, let's meet -- name the place. Call me Sushi. (64) CHI-O KRIS: Have an awesome #19 tomorrow. Celebrate with style! AXO Love, your roomie. (64)

THANX MIA!! We've had a great first year. Wow!!! ! love you, Grant! (64) FLY CASUAL-Blue sky, black death, football-You

TO THE Women's Cross Country Team: Good luck at

DON R. I'm glad you finally found out how I feel. As the cliche goes, better late than never. I hope it's not too late to show you how much I really do love you. Your blond Admirer. (64) KKG MARTINS²—Bonner Springs or bust! I can't date. You gotta love it! TGIF-Piglet. (64) DARCY AND Paul - Hope you have a grrreat birthday. You're both awesome. Saturday will be full of fun and surprises. Heh, heh. Love, Amy and Cary. (64) McGRAW-ROSES are red, violets are blue, you're gonna die, when I embarass you! (64) OUR PLEDGE class is going on sneak. (To be sung to the tune of Nan-ny Nan-ny Boo Boo). Ar(ch) you ex-

the Indians too. Now let's give it a try for a broader point of view. No need for arrows or muskets too. We'll simply use flags and enjoy some food. See ya nday at the meeting. (64) TKEs MIKE and Tracy. Tomorrow night is the time. when we will all wine and dine, double the party, double the fun, our TKE dates are second to none.

P.S. You'll suit us just fine! Love, your G-Phi Dates HEY COWGIRL! The last week has been great. You eyes are shining the light for our future. Signed?

ATO'S: FORGET the milk and cookies, let's get on with a "raging recess." We can't wait to play with you. See ya on the playground! Love, the Thetas.

D-RAIL, Hey old man are you already going to be 23? I just hope you can still keep up with me. Hope you have a great day. I love you! Smakey. (64)

SNUS TED, Doug: Get ready and willing, tomorrow's the night. We promise these ladies will treat you right. Dinner and dancing, nothing's too good. Our plans are set and it's understood. We're ready to party, 30th will be a blast. Kites at midnight, how ong will we last? Love, your G-Phis, Jamie, Tammy.

NANC, YOU finally made it to the big 20. Let's make this a year we'll never forget. Love, J. (64)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

PUREBRED BORDER collie pups. No papers, $50.

BABY BOA for sale. Good eater and great dorm or apartment pet. Call 537-7865. (61-65)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

20 Bloke

hock

work

up

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence, 913-841-5716, (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential Call 537-9180. 103 S Fourth St., Suite 25. (11f)

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

21 TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and noncorrecting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE 22

message at the tone. We can handle it all! 537-3166. (60-66)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (62-64)

TYPING: LAST minute jobs, large and small. Leave a

Resumes -- Graphics Plus

ROOMMATE WANTED FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

11th & Leramie 539 -6027

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester. Nice spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-89) WANTED: FEMALE roommate to share two-bedroom apartment located close to Aggieville and cam-pus. Available Jan. 1st. $143 per month plus onethird utilities. Call 539-3644. (58-64) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female to share luxury townhouse. Own room—many extras. 537-7605. (60-64) MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Two-bedroom apartment. Own bedroom. Clos pus. $150 plus utilities. 776-1878. (60-64) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semeste Available December or January, two-bedroom, 537

1273. (60-67) WANTED: ONE non-smoking female to share house Own room, close to campus, $115 plus utilities. Phone 776-3283. (61-64)

NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for furnished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

ROOMMATE WANTED-own room, $160/month, one-third utilities, two blocks from campus. 539-2034. (61-64) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next semester to share nice house with three roommates. Own room, $120 plus utilities. Call 776-7455. (61-65) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for house near campus. $113/month plus utilities. Call 776-9605. (62-

TWO-THREE male roommates needed to share nice apartment one-half block from campus-crawling distance from Aggleville, 776-3896. (63-67)

FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Furnished, own bedroom. Call Jenny, 537-7367 Tues-day and Thursday after 5 p.m. and weekends. (63-

Own room, very close to campus. $150 month plus one-fifth utilities. 537-9764. (63-67) MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room, very spa cious, comfortable, one block from campus. 776

1893. (63-65)

MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester

STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (63-67) ONE FEMALE roommate wanted. Close to campus.

nice apartment, fun roommates and cheap. Call 537-3940 and ask for Kathy. (64-68) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted second semester to s share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walking distance from campus. $165/month plus one-half utilities. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66)

NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle Creek Boulevard second semester. $150 per month, utilities paid. Call Alten (913) 492-6835. (64-

WANTED: FEMALE roommate for spring semester rent $140/month. Anderson Place. Call 539-5881 FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills. Also, $110 deposit. 537-1757. (64-65) SITUATION WANTED

FAMILY NEEDS college girl for second semester Food and rent in exchange for helping household No smoking. Write Box 3, c/o Collegian. (63-65)

SPORTING/RECREATIONAL EQUIPMENT

SNOW SKIS and poles for sale! Various sizes and prices. Call evenings and weekend. 539-0904. (63

FEMALE NEEDED to sublease apartment. Aggie apartment, own room, rent negotiable. 539-6457 after 5 p.m. (62-71) WELCOMES

ST. LUKE'S Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod), Sunset and North Delaware welcomes students to ser-vices: Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 8 and 10:45 a.m. Bible classes, 9:30 a.m. (64)

lege Heights Road. First worship service 8:30 a.m., Sunday School 9:30 a.m., second worship service 11 a.m., Training Hour 6 p.m. Sunday. Sunday evening worship service 7 p.m., mid-week service Wednesday 7 p.m. (64)

COLLEGE HEIGHTS Baptist Church SBC, 2221 Col-

MANHATTAN FRIENDS meeting (Quaker), Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson, Sundays. Silent worship 10 a.m., discussion, 11 a.m. For information, call 539-4676 or 539-2636 (64)

19

WANTED 28 WANTED: "HEARD II through the grape vine." Des-perately seeking four raisin guys. Two microphone and two hands guys. Reward. Phone 539-0900 before 9 a.m. (62-64) WANTED-ONE season basketball ticket. Price ne gotiable. Call Julie 532-2193. (63-64)

FIREWOOD FOR sale. Mixed, seasoned hardwoods

2436 Jeff Ebert. (63-67)

$55 per pickup load, delivered and stacked. 494

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword ACROSS

8 Adages 12 Eggs, to Cicero 13 Singer Turner

4 Work

14 On the peak of 15 Temple to the gods

17 Links cry

singers

rock

thing 19 Bewildered 20 Sunday

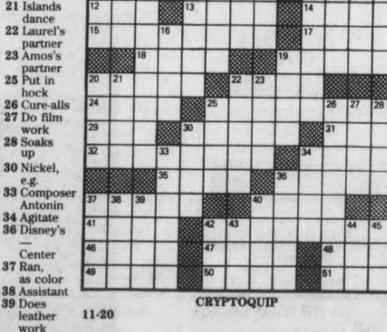

22 '60s

18 "Any-

24 Ship's frame 25 True reed instru-musical work 40 Linemen 42 Chum 43 In the 45 Jazz instru-

COTZN IXHCQB? "ITCE

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WISE FRENCH CHEF IS ADAPTING TO POPULAR CULTURE WITH A HAUTE

Today's Cryptoquip clue: O equals M

ARTHROSCOPIC SURGERY SNOOPY .. THEY PUT A TINY LENS INSIDE YOUR KNEE.

Peanuts

YOU'RE GOING TO HAVE

AND WITH ONE SWIFT MOTION OF MY MIGHTY HAND, I WILL GO ...

WITH ONLY SEVERAL HUNDRED MONTHS TO GO.

T'S GEPHARDT NECK

AND NECK WITH ALF

THE ALIEN" IN ALBUQUER

QUE!

42 Insulin

46 Author

hase

51 Gender

DOWN

50 Ultimate

1 Quiz type

secreter

Ferber

9 The whole 28 Soaks 47 Actor Ray 10 "She -48 Coach Yellow Parseg-Ribbon' hian 49 Editorial 11 Broke

7 Jose or

Juan

search the limit

strenuously

16 Work

19 Party

8 Game

spread 2 Zsa Zsa's choices sister Solution time: 20 mins

QOI ITCE WGQD."

Regents end universities' reciprocal agreement

By Brad Fanshler Collegian Reporter

The reciprocal agreement allowing Kansas students to study dentistry in Missouri while Missouri students learn architecture in Kansas is

The old arrangement, which let Kansas residents study dentistry at the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Dentistry and pay instate tuition while Missourians studied architecture at K-State under the same agreement, was replaced Thursday with a new system.

Stanley Koplik, regents executive that would support successful col-al interest to Kansas.

dental program each year for Kansas that after graduation, dentists must return to Kansas to practice. Graduates who choose not to practice in the state will be required to pay the difference between resident and non-resident tuition plus 15 percent annu-

One stipulation of the program is lege study.

Dodderidge also said the requirements for getting a high school diploma may be too low.

Donald Slawson, chairman of the Board of Regents, questioned the COCAO criteria for admission of non-residents. The criteria would allow admission of all non-resident students who finish in the top onethe new deal between the two states. "Is it a good deal? Yes!" Koplik

The Kansas Board of Regents director, was the main negotiator of approved the new plan at its regular monthly meeting in Topeka. The plan will pay UMKC $50,000 per said in anticipation to other regents' year for a guarantee of 25 seats in its > Koplik also says he believes 25 seats will be adequate to fill Kansas' need for dental care in the future.

> "The 25 is based on our analysis of current manpower needs projected by the Department of Labor for the state of Kansas and the age grouping of current dentists and how many will be retiring," he said.

The other portion of the deal was third of their graduating high school class, but it wouldn't afford the same opportunity to Kansas residents.

Under the COCAO recommendation, even a class valedictorian would not have to be admitted to a Kansas regents institution unless the regents' recommended curriculum had been completed.

Soaps

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

piled by Sive Associates, distributors of "The Soap Opera Challenge," the first on-air soap starred Fibber McGee and Molly in 1925 as "The Smith Family." Soaps originally got their name back in the days of radio, when soap products were introduced and sold through the medium of serialized, daily stories.

regents.

Missouri students wishing to study architecture will be required to complete the first two years of their degree at the UMKC before coming to K-State. Once enrolled in the K-State program, the students will be required to pay non-resident tuition.

Both Koplik and K-State President Jon Wefald predict an increase in enrollment revenue from the new

2809 Claffin

539-8888

-1304 Westloop

10% off with KSU IDE

539-0888

"At this point in time, because of the unavailability of a public instituapproved in a separate action by the tion in Missouri offering architecture and the surrounding states having tuition levels higher than Kansas, I do not anticipate any significant reduction in enrollment, but rather see a substantial increase in tuition receipts for Kansas," Koplik said.

Wefald said the loss of enrollment due to the deletion of reciprocity was a concern for K-State. The newly structured architecture agreement will allow students from the prearchitecture program at UMKC to transfer to K-State for their last three years of study.

In other action, the Board approved a $333,000 budget increase for the Cooperative Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station to make up for a reduction of federal funds due to Gramm-Rudman. The loss represents an almost 5 percent reduction in federal funds.

The Board also heard first reading of proposed housing rate increases, including a $40 per semester increase in KSU residence halls. Final action is expected at the next regents

Thanksgiving Bar 539-9727

Office 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan

Proposal

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 classes to ensure a high grade point average, Funk said.

Regent Richard Dodderidge said the focus of the recommendation is not to penalize students for getting a "C," but rather to encourage them to take a course of study in high school

Cat

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 The Cat is already scheduled to visit the grade schools in the community.

"We want to get more students of all ages interested in the arts," Steffen said. "If students are interested when they're younger or at least exposed to the arts, it carries over. They're our patrons of tommorrow."

Three of the four students who play the role of the Culture Cat are members of the McCain Student Advisory Board. This board helps host entertainers, distributes promotional materials and offers input and opinions on McCain Board descisions and new promotional ideas such as the Culture Cat.

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--I Can't Believe It's

YOGURTI Frozen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

·Beauty Supply·

Now Supplying

AVEDA

Haircare

Pure nourishing ingredients

for hair & skin

718½ N. Manhattan 539-5512

UNITED ARTISTS SETH CHILDS CINEMA 776-9886 SETH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD.

No Tuesday Bargain Night Bargain matinees Daily All Shows Sat. before 6 p.m.-$2.50

FATAL ATTRACTION (R) Daily 4:30, 7, 9:30; Set/Sun. 2, 4:30, 7, 9:30

FLOWERS IN THE ATTIC (PG-13) ally 5, 7:25, 9:35; Sat/Sun. 2:30, 5, 7:25, 9:35

DATE WITH AN ANGEL PG) Daily 4:45,7:05,9:20; Sat/Sun. 2:10,4:45,7:05,9:20

FATAL BEAUTY (R) Daily 4:35,7:20,9:35; SaL/Sun. 2:15,4:35,7:20,9:35

LESS THAN ZERO (R) Daily 4:50,7:10,9:25; Sat/Sun. 2:25,4:50,7:10,9:25 THE HIDDEN (R) CINDERELLA (G)

COMMONWEALTH THEATRES MOVIE INFORMATION 539-1291

CAMPUS The Running Man R Today at 7:00 and 9:00 Mat. Sat. & Sun. at 3:00 and 5:00

IN JUNCTION CITY CALL 762-4084

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

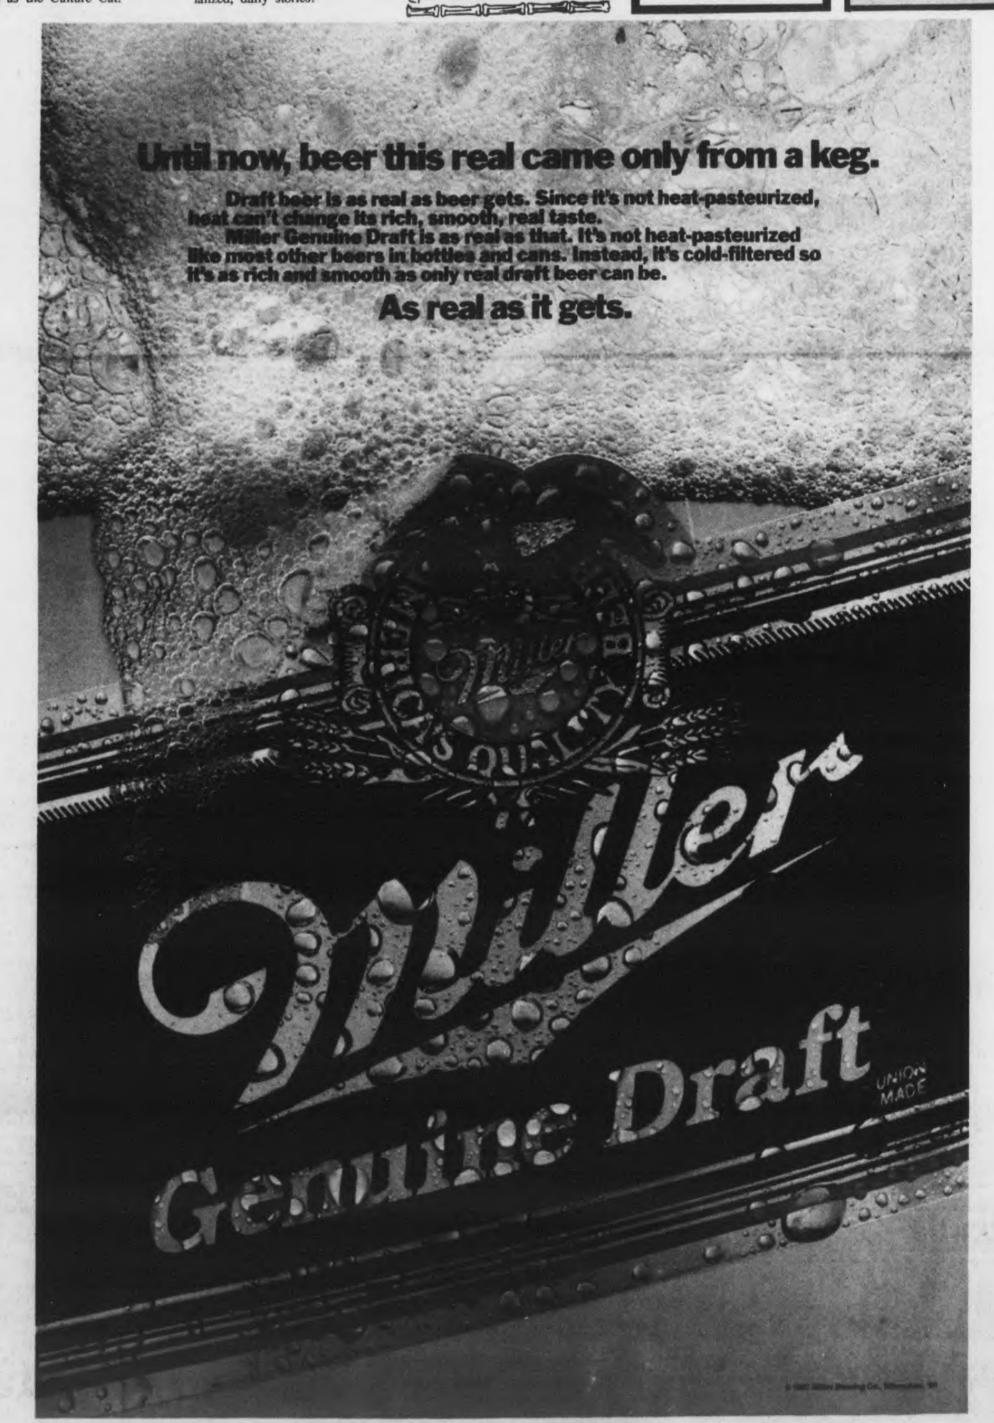

The Princess Bride PG Sat. & Sun. at 2:0

Baby Boom PG

Teenwolf Too PG Sat. & Sun. at 2:10

Deathwish 4 R Today at 4:45-7:20-9:25 nee Sat. & Sun. at 2:20

Russkies PG edsy at 4:45:7:20-9:25 se Sat. & Sur. at 2:20

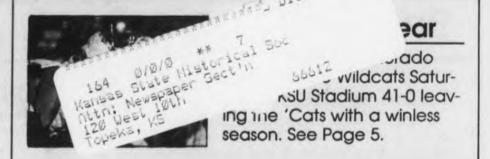

New Opportunity

The Community Service Program will involve a group of students assisting a rural town for eight weeks this summer on a variety of projects. See Page 3.

Weather

Sunny today, high in low 50s. Mostly clear tonight, low in upper 20s. Partly cloudy Tuesday, high in low 40s. Partly cloudy Thanksgiving Day, high in mid-40s.

Monday

November 23, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 65

Kansas State Collegian

Cuban prisoners riot in Louisiana jail

By The Associated Press

OAKDALE, La. - Cuban prisoners who rioted after they found out they might be sent back to Cuba held more than 20 hostages in a smoldering federal detention center Sunday and demanded that they not be deported, authorities said.

The center was surrounded by hundreds of law officers after the riot left 23 people injured Saturday night.

"They're still asking the same thing - they don't want to go back to Cuba and they'd like not to be prosecuted for what they're doing," said Luenette Johnson, a spokeswoman for the center run by the Bureau of Prisons and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Just before dark, Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman Mario Ortiz sounded an optimistic note on the talks with the detainees. One group was now negotiating on behalf of all the prisoners, he said.

"There is a smaller group of detainees meeting with a smaller group of federal negotiators," said Ortiz. "I don't know what that means, but we're hoping for a breakthrough."

Meanwhile, 17 Cuban inmates in Laredo, Texas, escaped from a medium-security detention facility early Sunday by climbing through a steel roof grating. Authorities recaptured all but three of the escapees within hours.

An armored car and busloads of officers in riot gear helped ring the 48-acre site outside Oakdale, a town of 7,000 in rural south-central Louisiana.

The Cubans seized 28 guards and staff members but released a few who complained of medical problems, said J.R. Johnson, warden of the complex built in 1985 as a minimum-security holding center for illegal aliens.

"They want information on what will happen to them in the future," the warden said. He said officers had no plans to go inside as long as the inmates assured them that hostages would not be hurt.

"We have assurances that the workers are still safe and that there have been no fatalities," J.R. Johnson said, adding that released hostages said they were treated well.

Greg Leo, an INS spokesman in Washington, said a regional agency head was on the scene.

U.S. Rep. Clyde Holloway, R-La., and three reporters talked with some inmates by radio from a building at the entrance to the compound.

An inmate identifying himself as Roberto Chaniques, speaking through an interpreter, blamed the rioting on the U.S. decision to return Cuban detainees to their homeland, said Pat Jones, a newspaper editor who talked with inmates.

Inmates were faced with deportation The United States and Cuba > announced Friday that Cuba had agreed to take back about 2,500 of the 125,000 refugees who came to the United States in the 1980 Mariel boatlift. Most of those to be returned are criminals or mentally ill.

All but 50 of the 1,050 people held at the center were Cubans, Luenette Johnson said. Federal officials have said many Cubans held at Oakdale were among those to be returned to

Humana Hospital admitted five detention center employees and five inmates; another 13 people, five of them inmates, were treated and released, spokesman Don Cameron

An employee with a head injury and multiple trauma was the most seriously injured, he said. He did not know how the man was hurt and would not give the man's name.

There was no heat or power behind the 14-foot-high fence, with temperatures rising into the low 40s under partly cloudy skies Sunday after a freezing night.

The inmates raided the prison commissary and cafeteria before burning them, J.R. Johnson said. He was unsure how long their food supplies would last.

Inmates also burned the two-story administration building, INS processing building and chapel and set fire to some of the dormitories at the 14-building, brick and cinderblock complex, Luenette Johnson said.

For mere $50 to $100, class to allow students to trade market futures

By Jerod Heiman Contributing Writer

Learning about the stock market is one thing. Gambling money on it for

A course in commodity futures marketing that will be offered in the spring for the first time will allow students a chance to make actual trades of various commodities on different exchanges. "All it takes is $50 to $100 per person to make it real enough that (participants) will have experiences comparable to real life," said Bill Tierney, assistant professor of agricultural economics and class instructor. Although participants will not be required to invest, only those who do will vote on the class's trades. The class will be set up similar to commodity analysis departments used by businesses, Tierney said. Class groups will analyze commodities and make trade recommendations to the class each week. Based on the recommendations, the class will choose a commodity and make the trade.

"I would take the class even if I didn't have the money, but I'll be more involved if I do have the money invested," said Jeana Kleysteuber, junior in agricultural economics. In past commodity-trading exercises, paper trades — not real ones — were used. Commodity trades will be made, but a difference exists between the class's trades and real trades, said Jim Buchanan, commodity broker. Hedging with physical commodities - selling and buying goods at a specified time to prevent a loss through decreasing prices — is used with commodity futures and options as price-risk management. The class's trades will be strictly speculation on what the markets will do, but some of the trades will be treated as if the participants actually had physical commodities to hedge. "The importance of this (speculation) exercise is that people don't get confused about what hedging is vs. speculation; speculation is not hedging," Buchanan said. The class is good because it ties education to the real world, Buchanan said.

"(In the class), a lot of decisions you make aren't going to turn out the way you expected. The important thing is that you accept this fact, figure out what went wrong and decide what you're going to do about it," Tierney said. "Are you going to let losses run indefinitely?"

Learning from bad trades is just as important as learning how to make good trades.

"How do you teach damage control in a business principles class?" Tierney

Tierney said the graduate-level class will attract people who have some background and genuine interest in commodity markets and who will actively

No grades will be assigned, but one hour of credit will be given to participants based on their participation in the small analysis groups and class discussions and for writing a five- to 10-page paper analyzing a commodity.

Staff/Neal Hinkle

Going for two unusally mild November day by playing basketball at Woodrow

A group of students takes advantage of low basketball goals and an Wilson Elementary School early Sunday evening. Today's weather will not be as warm, with a high in the low 50s.

Man stabs 5 worshipers at church

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Texas - A homeless man went "berserk" and stabbed at least five worshipers who tried to stop him from approaching a priest during a Sunday morning Mass. The man was then critically wounded with his own knife.

Police Capt. Jerry Blaisdell said attempted murder charges were being prepared against a 28-year-old transient who was stabbed three times, once in the heart, as churchgoers wrestled with him inside St. Patrick Cathedral in downtown Fort

It was uncertain how the man suf-name would not be released until for- Fort Worth Ostcopathic Hospital, mal charges were filed, police said. "He had gone berserk inside the church and stabbed several people before being subdued," said police Sgt. Ken Francis. The Rev. Gonzalo Morales said he read from the Bible and instructed the organist to play while the struggle went on. Afterward, the congregation prayed for the man.

In addition to the five worshipers who were taken to hospitals, several others suffered minor injuries and did not seek treatment, officials said.

John H. Sheedy, 80, stabbed in the lest ribcage, and David A. Yaniko, 54, wounded in the abdomen, were fered the wounds, Blaisdell said. His both listed in serious condition at officials said.

A third person, Felix Lozano, 45, was treated and released at Harris Hospital for an abdomenal wound, while two other people, who were not identified, were treated at hospitals with less serious cuts, officials said. The suspect was listed in critical condition at John Peter Smith Hospital.

Blaisdell had said the suspect was panhandling inside the church, but Morales said he sat through two Masses before the violence broke out at the third Mass.

Church officials estimated 550 to 600 people were inside the ornate

After the man fell to the floor during the struggle with ushers, he cried, "Oh God! Oh God!" said a witness, John Snow.

Morales said the man had been at the church since the start of the 8 a.m. Mass, the first of three morning

The priest said he spoke to the man after the second Mass because one of his parishioners, a police officer, had commented that the disheveledlooking man seemed potentially dangerous.

"I asked him, 'Can I do anything?' and he said, 'No, I just want to stay and pray.' Of course, there was nothing I could do with him then, but church at the time of the incident. I made the ushers very aware of it."

Telenet helps educate financial aid advisers

By Susan L'Ecuyer Collegian Reporter

The Kansas Telenet system was used Wednesday for the first time to broadcast a program educating high school counselors and college financial aid advisers about the mysteries and intricacies of student financial aid applications. The Kansas Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators sponsored the program, which was broadcast from the K-

State Union to 18 locations and about 230 counselors and financial aid advisers around the state using the Telenet system.

Telenet is an instructional telephone conference network capable of linking 38 designated classroom and seven special locations in Attica, Elkhart, Healy, Hill City, Oxford, St. Francis and Ulysses.

The Telenet system allows interaction among the people at the different locations. The sys-

See TELENET, Page 10

Crime against elderly declines

WASHINGTON - Elderly Americans are half as likely as younger people to become crime victims, and the violent crime rate against the elderly has declined 50 percent since 1973, the government said Sunday.

However, when crimes are committed against elderly victims, the crimes tend to be more serious, concluded the study by the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics.

From 1980 through 1985, elderly violent-crime victims were more likely to face offenders with guns than were younger victims - 16 percent versus 12 percent.

The study found that 20 percent of the victims aged 75 or older required medical treatment after a serious crime, such as a robbery, assault or attempted rape, compared with 11 percent of violent crime victims who were 65 to 74 years old and 13 percent of those younger than 65.

But overall, those 65 and older had the lowest victimization rates of any age group in the U.S. population starting with age 12. The 1985 violent crime rate against the elderly was 50 percent lower than the rate for 1973.

From 1980 to 1985, people from 50 to 64 years of age were about twice as likely to be victims of violent crimes as those who were 65 and older.

Kennedy assassination marked

WASHINGTON - Members of the Kennedy family marked the 24th anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination Sunday by laying white roses on his grave and that of brother Robert

F. Kennedy. Ethel Kennedy, widow of Robert Kennedy, and four of their children visited the gravesites in Arlington National Cemetery at about 11:30 a.m. EST, said Kerri Childress, historian for the

"They went to both John and Robert's graves, said a prayer and placed a white rose at each of the graves," Childress said.

She said they stayed about five minutes at each gravesite. She said she did not know whether Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy II., D-Mass., was among Kennedy's children at the gravesites.

Earlier Sunday, Evelyn Lincoln, who was President Kennedy's personal secretary, laid a single rose at his grave.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was traveling over the weekend but had paid a visit to his brothers' gravesites on Friday, which was Robert Kennedy's birthday, according to Melody Miller, a spokesman for his office.

President Kennedy was assassinated on Nov. 22, 1963 as he rode in a motorcade in Dallas. Robert Kennedy was slain in June 1968 as he was campaigning in Los Angeles for the Democratic presidental nomination.

Pilot dies after landing plane

NEWARK, N.J. - An American Airlines pilot suffered a fatal heart attack while landing a jumbo jet with 94 people aboard, but the co-pilot took the controls and brought the plane safely to a stop, the airline said Sunday.

Capt. Don L. Ely, 51, was stricken Saturday night as the DC-10 was landing at Newark International Airport, said American Airlines spokesman Lee Elsesser.

It was not clear whether co-pilot Tom Meeker landed the plane or took the controls when the craft was on the ground.

Meeker told airport police that Ely slumped over the controls while the plane was about 50 feet above the runway and that Meeker landed and taxied the plane to the terminal, said Federal Aviation Administration spokeswoman Kathleen Bergen.

However, Meeker told the airline that Ely landed the plane and that the co-pilot took over while the craft was speeding down the runway, said Elsesser.

"You have to understand this is an ongoing investigation and we're still dealing with preliminary information," said Elsesser. None of the 10 other crew members or 83 passengers aboard Flight 612 from Chicago was injured, Elsesser said.

A crew member made an announcement "concerning the slightly rough ride into the terminal and putting on the brakes," he said. However, he said he did not believe passengers were told Ely suffered a heart attack.

Guerrillas announce cease-fire

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador - Leftist guerrillas on Sunday announced a unilateral cease-fire to celebrate the return to El Salvador of two opposition political leaders after seven years in vol-

Ruben Zamora, vice president of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, said he and Guillermo Ungo, the front's president, will explore the possibility of resuming their political struggle inside El Zamora arrived Saturday from Mexico. Ungo is due to arrive from Mexico City Monday.

Five chiefs of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, or FMLN, in a message delivered to The Associated Press, said their troops stopped fighting Saturday afternoon after Zamora's arrival.

The democratic front is the political ally of the FMLN, an umbrella organization of guerrilla groups that have been waging war against the U.S.-backed Contras for eight years.

At Sunday's Mass at the Metropolitan Cathedral, Zamora placed a floral offering on the tomb of Monsignor Oscar Amulfo Romero, who was killed March 24, 1980, by a sniper.

for appointment

Feel like your life is getting out of control??? Lafene Health Center's Mental Health Clinic can help!!!

OFFERING:

•Individual & Group Counseling •Biofeedback

•Marital/Relationship Therapy

Stress Management

Psychological Testing

Dedicated to Optometry

in a friendly manner

K-State, we'd like to be your optometric office

Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended wear, tinted soft contact lenses

Contact lenses competitively priced
 Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting

 Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock •Evening and Saturday appointments available

Drs Price, Young, Odle and Horsch 1119 Westloop

Big screen TV - watch your favorite soaps or sports

2 - FER LUNCH! All-U-Can Eat

Pizza & Salad Buffet 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday-Friday ONLY

Two Lunch Buffets ONLY Reg. $3.05 per person

Expires 12-16-87 Not good with any other offer or specials 519 Richards Dr. • Manhattan (913)776-1170

- Enjoy the best in animated entertainment

Comedy Invasion Every Monday & Tuesday TONIGHT

Steve McGrew featuring Craig Higgins

> Have A Happy Thanksgiving!

Office Bar 539-4321 539-9727 531 N. Manhattan

THE MYSTIQUE OF MALE DANCING IS OVER. BUMP AND GRIND IS DEAD FEMALE AUDIENCES DESERVE MORE. WE INVITE YOU TO EXPERIENCE THE MOST INNOVATIVE TRAVELING BURLESQUE SHOW IN AMERICA. WE DARE TO BE DIFFERENT. COME SEE US. BE DARING. LET US TOUCH YOU.

MANAGENIN

LANDMARK CALENDARS

ANY 1988 Calendar

with this ad Expires Dec. 2, 1987

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:30, Fri. & Sat. 8:30-5:30, Sun. 12-5 704 N. Manhattan Ave. In Aggieville 539-7654

Campus Bulletin

BUSINESS COUNCIL meets at 4 p.m. in Union 206.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Craig F. Morris at 1:30 p.m. in Throckmorton 313. The topic is "Physiological and Genetic Studies on Seed Dormancy and Preharvest Sprouting Resistance in Wheat (Triticum Aestivum L.)

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS meets at noon at 1021 Denison Ave. Meetings are held Monday through Thursday at noon. Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA meets at 7 p.m. in

ENGINEERING STUDENT COUNCIL meets at 6:30 p.m. in the Union Big Eight

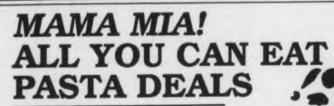

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 4 p.m. in Natatorium 4

Notice

The Collegian will not be published Tuesday through Friday because of Thanksgiving break. In addition, classes will not be held Wednesday through Friday. The University will also be closed Thursday and Friday.

Family Health Insurance Costs Too High?

Call Rick Nash at Keating & Associates 537-0366 1011 Poyntz Security Mutual Life Nebraska

SUN. & MON.

Italian Rotini Pasta, Sauce and Garlic Toast.

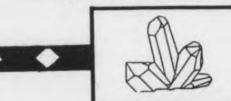

TUES. & WED. Italian Pasta Shells, Sauce and Garlic Toast

Italian Spaghetti and Garlic Toast

710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, tel. 539-9706

1124 MORO AGGIEVILLE

"Beautiful objects from the earth." OPEN WEDNESDAY

NOVEMBER 25

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-6 MONDAY - SUNDAY 10-8 THURSDAY

20% OFF ALL MERCHANDISE

excluding Colors fragrance

Pre-Thanksgiving Sale

1222 MORO Aggieville, USA

Open Sun. 1-5 Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 Thurs. 10-8:30

United Colors of Benetton.

Program to give students chance to help rural Kansas communities

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

A community service program each project, Peak said. will allow students in all areas of helps rural communities make improvements.

Students with skills in math, public relations, architecture, surveying, marketing, statistics, recreational planning, gerontology, landscape design or graphics can obtain an "internship" through the College of Arts and Sciences.

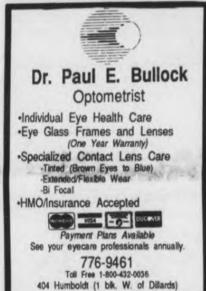

Although the Community Service Program is located in the College of Arts and Sciences, Community Service Program Director Carol Peak encourages students from every college or department to apply.

be no specific major required this business district. because so many of these projects need skills that not everyone has," she said.

The Community Service Program is a new opportunity for students at K-State. It will involve a group of students assisting a rural town for eight weeks this summer on a variety of projects in return for experience, scholarship money and possibly college credit hours.

Each person in the program will receive a $1,500 stipend at the end of the eight weeks and will be given a $400 scholarship upon returning to school in the fall, Peak said. The Community Service Program is a two-year project provided by a grant from the Foundation for Improvement of Post Secondary Education.

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat. 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

With 8 Gallon

Fill-up

ONLY AT DERBY STATION

720 N. THIRD

N MANHATTAN

Lottery tickets available here

Seven different job descriptions have been included in the program with four to five students working on

"These communities have a wish, study to apply for a program that and we will help them carry it out with these projects," she said.

> One of the seven projects involves developing a tourism plan for 10 counties in northcentral Kansas. Another incorporates a land-use study of the 3-mile area around Goodland to make recommendations for future developments and usage of the land.

> Improving the image of the business district on U.S. Highway 36 in Marysville is the third project. Students will analyze the functions and needs of the community.

Peak said the town wants to exa-"On each project team, there will mine the possibility of expanding

> Oberlin has applied to the Community Service Program in hopes of developing a summer humanities camp. The camp will be planned for the 8-18 age groups and will focus on theater, music and the arts, Peak said.

> Decatur County will support the K-State students who will be working on this camp project. The job description lists marketing, management skills as well as skills needed for programming and camp activities

Onaga Hospital wants a team of students to create a long-range health care plan. The hospital wants its health services to better meet the needs of its clientele, Peak said.

The fifth project will allow students to plan a 200-acre recreational area. The city of Paola owns the lake and the surrounding area which it wants to develop.

Wallace County is also supporting a project this summer which involves renovating a historic livery stable. The job has three parts: developing a museum in Weskan, Kan.; designing a playground at Weskan Elementary School; and preparing a brochure for a self-guided tour of historic sites in Wallace County.

An eighth project is in the final stages of negotiation and will be announced soon, Peak said.

The advantages of doing this community service internship is "getting to work with students from other majors and getting the opportunity to live, learn and adapt in a rural community," Peak said.

Each team will have a department supervisor who will visit the students at their job site several times during the eight weeks.

Lafene Health Center

Services available

Lafemme (Gyn) Clinic

Mental Health Clinic

Physical Therapy

X-Ray Department

Dietary Counseling

In-Patient Hospital

Sports Medicine Clinic

Clinic Hours • 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

532-6544

Outpatient Clinic

Allergy Clinic

Laboratory

Pharmacy

Wart Clinic

"The professors will help provide the students with the neccesary knowledge and recommendations to get the job done," Peak said.

During the students' eight-week stay in the community, they will stay with local residents free of charge.

Several more rural communities needed help in the completion a town project and wanted to be included in the program, Peak said. Many were ruled out because the projects were not as well designed.

"We will be working with (each town) during the spring semester to get the projects more clearly defined for next year's community project program," she said.

Some students may be able to receive credit in their major department, but, Peak said they should check the details with the department

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

START 1988 ON THE MOUNTAINS Keystone for only $235. Jan. 4-10

INCUDES motorcoach transportation, lodging at Keystone Resort condos; state tax and discounts on lift tickets. A deposit of $50 will hold your space.

Call Kansas State Travel David Baerg-Host 537-2451

Finally, a great pizza delivered.

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA™

Super Party Pack $13.99

Present this coupon and receive two medium four Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery

Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery.

ited delivery area and time. Offer

GODF THERS PIZZA KSU Expires 12/13/87

11180

11300 11310 11330

11900 11910 11920

12720

12740

12750

05340

19630

19840

20140

20150

20200

20370

20460

20560

20670 20750 25790

25870

25880 25940

25990

26280

26340

29390 29840

29850

30410 30640

30820

31320

31370

31380

31520

32970

33350

33460 33470

33510

33540

Large Pizza for a Medium Price

Present this coupon and receive any large pizza for topping Thin Crust Valid on Stuffed or Original Pizza. Not Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery pizzas, plus four soft valid with refills on refillable jug ofter. On Sunday your choice: either use this coupon or take advantage

Not valid with any other promotional offers. Add $1 for use this coupon or take advantage delivery. Limited delivery area. of free drink offer Sorry, you can on-delivery. Limited delivery area.

PIZZA

2 for $9

Receive two medium cheese pizzas for only $9. Added ingredients available for only $1 Receive 2 Hot Slice Pizzas

Hot Slice™

2 for $2

VISTA TRAVEL MUG

When you order a Sunrise Sandwich and a cup of coffee for $1.95. Offer good with other breakfast entrees

> Then whenever you bring your Travel Mug back to Vista through December 31, your coffee refills are 5¢!

Mug also available separately for 99¢, filled with coffee!

At Wayne's Quik Lube We'd like everyone to have a happy Thanksgiving!

...and remind you to have your car serviced before traveling for the upcoming holidays.

Wayne is offering a offer good through November 28, 1987 Wayne's convenient hours are Mon.-Sat. 8:00-5:30 NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

Manhattan

Spring 1988 Closed Class List

ı				•	-	300	-	-	-	200
ł	00205	07210	13930	23130	26610	32390	34270	05590	13240	20920	26350	31530	33640
1	00250	07300	13970	24170	26650	32400	34290	05600	13260	20950	26370	31580	33660
ı	01020	07590	13980	24270	26660	32410	34310	05630	13360	21100	26390	31590	33750
ı	01160	07660	14340	24640	26680	32420	34320	05690	13400	22200	26410	31610	33820
П	01170	08570	14590	24650	26690	32430	34330	05710	13460	22450	26420	31630	33840
П	01180	08700	14620	24670	26700	32440	34340	05750	13470	22460	26430	31650	33860
L	01210	08830	14640	24690	26740	32450	34420	05760	13770	22480	26460	32060	34130
П	01470	09260	14720	24850	27210	32460	34550	05770	13820	22490	26470	32310	34150
L	01480	09290	14760	24860	27220	32470	35120	05800	13630	22500	26490	32320	34160
L	01610	09310	14790	24890	27920	32480	35130	05860	13870	22510	26510	32340	34200
ı	01660	09320	15010	24960	29060	32490	35160	05980	13910	22530	26520	32370	34210
L	02040	09330	15020	25050	29070	32540	35170	07000	13920	22910	26540	32380	34230
г	02170	09340	15190	25060	29080	32600	35180	23077	22020
ı	02180	09360	16420	25070	29090	32630	35181
П	02340	09370	16650	25090	29100	32650	35240
L	02390	09380	16720	25450	29120	32690	35370
L	02520	10830	16730	25460	29130	32700	35500
ı	02650	10920	16950	25470	29140	32730	35860
ı	02700	10930	17460	25540	29151	32750	35870
ı	03150	10970	17480	25580	29190	32780	35880
ı	03160	11100	17540	25590	29240	32820	35950
L	03180	11110	17570	25610	29260	32330	36460	211
П	03520	11120	19270	25670	29290	32840	36470
ı	03750	11130	19420	25680	29300	32860	36580		537
ı	03900	11140	19440	25700	29310	32880	36680
П	03930	11140	19470	25710	29320	32950	36700

37120

37310 37390

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, November 23, 1987 ■ Page 4

Budget deficit proposal addresses critical need

Unity.

In many spectrums, especially the political one, unity is a rarely achieved accomplishment. It's rare that one idea or proposal can transcend partisan lines to produce a unified vote of approval.

That's why it's especially gratifying to see that, for once, party lines have been erased and that Republican and Democratic leaders are strongly supporting a deficitreduction plan announced Friday by President Reagan and congressional

The plan, which would cut $30 billion from this year's deficit and $46 billion from next year's by implementing reduced spending and increased taxes, has received high marks from a number of officials, including Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III. Baker believes there will be enough votes in both houses to pass the plan.

Amazingly, the plan significantly cuts spending without imposing undue slashes in domestic programs. Basic programs falling under the domestic spending umbrella would be cut a relatively slim $2.6 billion, while the Defense Department's budget would be cut about $12

Most importantly, Social Security and other federal pension programs would not come under the budgetary

The need to reduce the nation's deficit is evident, and it has been evident for an excruciatingly long time. The most powerful reminder of that came on Black Monday last month when the stock market dropped more than 500 points.

Although the budget deficit alone couldn't be given all the blame for the market collapse, it certainly commanded a fair share of the finger pointing.

Although some legislators are trying to politicize the deficit matter, most are not - and that's a tribute to the legislative bodies as a whole. Those politicians who insist on drawing party lines simply for the sake of making waves must remember the grave need to reduce the

This isn't a political matter. It's a matter of the nation's survival.

Uniform poll-closing not answer to problem

In the United States, equality is something often spoken of and just as often abused. Many times, women, children or minorities are taken advantage of - all in the name of some grand cause.

Currently, two-thirds of the United States is letting its voting equality slip out of its grasp, all for the "Let's get more voters" cause.

A bill which has recently passed the House of Representatives would establish uniform poll-closing hours throughout the country for presidential elections. This is to prevent any "warping" of the Western voters by televised reports of how people on the East Coast had voted in the election.

The proposal would require polls to close earlier in order to prevent loss of voters due to the knowledge that their vote doesn't really matter.

In theory, this idea sounds noble. In 1980, Jimmy Carter conceded the election at 5:15 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, causing many people to charge that the vote in the Western states was skewed because of on-air tabulations and premature predictions.

Yes, the vote was probably skewed; people who would have voted probably thought that their vote didn't matter.

However, because polling places will be closing an hour earlier for those on the West Coast, the same people can say the same thing. It's hard to get people to vote when those people have a shorter time to go to

The answer does not lie in changing polling times, but rather in changing the media's attitude toward election coverage. The media should avoid "projecting" a winner until the local polls close, and they should also avoid projecting state winners until every poll in the continental United States has closed.

The media must realize that if they continue such intense coverage before all the polls close, the voters in two-thirds of the United States could end up with shorter - or less convenient - voting times.

Steve Rasmus Greg Vogel Steve Wolgast

SPORTS COLUMNISTS

Tom Perrin David Svoboda

Jim Dietz

Brett Hacker

Gary Lytle

PHOTOGRAPHERS Brad Camp

GRAPHIC ARTIST

Mary Ward ADVERTISING GRAPHIC ARTIST

U.S. foreign policy truths must be faced, corrected Last week, we all had the chance to listen to Noam Chomsky, one of America's leading political dissenters. He is a professor of linguistics and philosophy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and his work in the field of linguistics is world-renowned. However, Chomsky is perhaps better known for his stinging criticism of U.S. foreign policy and the brutal ends it strives to achieve.

Chomsky is not your ordinary critic. His background in linguistics is especially helpful as he examines what our leaders say to us and how their words differ from reality. He does extensive research to unearth mountains of unpublicized government documents that tell what is really going on in our government, apart from all the public relations gloss-over treatment we normally see. He shows us obvious contradictions in domestic and foreign policy, such as President Reagan's "love" for the Nicaraguan Contras and his "hatred" for terrorism which spew forth like so much diarrhea.

It is impossible to put Chomsky into any ideological niche. He is literally without ideology and, in fact, he's as absolutely opposed to all ideologies as any politically knowledgeable person I have ever met. He does not get on stage seeking converts, as so many evangelists and politicians do with numbing regularity. Chomsky is not trying to get your vote, nor would he accept it. His only goal is to challenge his audience to exercise its rationality and find the truth hidden within the rhetoric.

Chomsky's revelations are sometimes very unsettling. If you plan to read his works or listen to his lectures for entertainment, you will be sadly disappointed. The facts he presents are shocking, disgusting and revolting, yet enlightening as to the true nature of the the government to wield its power with home.

Commentary

KIRK CARAWAY Collegian Columnist

political reality we face today. I can see where some people would refuse to listen to the things Chomsky presents, much like a Mafia boss's daughter who refuses to believe to Managua. The fact that the Contra operathe father who has loved and protected her all these years could be involved in criminal behavior. Sometimes the truth is painful, and some people refuse to deal with this pain, opting instead to stay ignorant.

I have read many of Chomsky's books and articles over the past year, with each succeeding piece invoking disgust at my ignorance. So when I attended his lecture, I was already prepared for what he was going to say and, at most, hoped to hear some analysis of recent world events. As expected, he did cover the atrocities being carried out by the United States in Central America: the torture, murder and repression financed with our tax dollars. However, I was surprised when he expressed guarded optimism that things were looking up.

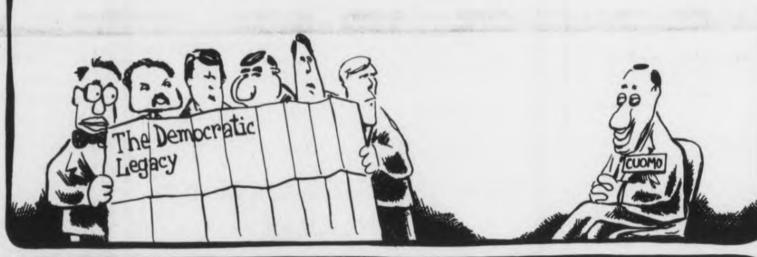

While he admitted the torture of the Third World people continues, he said many segments of our society have become aware of these atrocities, and this makes it tougher for face up to this painful reality, we're halfway Chomsky described how American involvement in the Vietnam War was all started in plain, public view. But when the American people began to pay attention to what was going on, the government was forced to operate underground, as it did in the "secret" bombing of Laos and Cambodia. It was no secret to the people of these countries that they were being bombed by the United States, nor was it a secret to the Soviet Union, China, North Vietnam or any of our other "enemies." The only people kept in the dark were Americans.

Since Vietnam, the United States has had to keep secret its ongoing brutal tactics being employed against people from Mozambique tions were started in secret shows how much our government trusts us. It was no secret to the Nicaraguans that they were being attacked by the United States, nor is it a secret to the families of the victims of the government death squads in El Salvador and Guatemala that finance their pain. The participants in the Iran-Contra fiasco went to great lengths to keep their operations "covert" — a code word that means to hide the truth from the American public.

The works of Chomsky should be on the reading lists of everyone interested in knowing the truth about what our government does in our name. The basis of democracy lies in the hands of an educated electorate. If the citizens of America continue their present course of ignorance, they will one day be forced to face up to some not-so-wonderful realities. As with alcoholism, the first step is admitting there's a problem. Once people

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES WORRY THAT A RINGER MIGHT TRY TO COME IN AT THE LAST MINUTE AS THE TRUE HEIR.

LIKEWISE THE REPUBLICANS. BUT THE EXPRESSION IS FAMILIAR

Letters

Future peace

In reference to Judd Annis' "Teach children for future peace," after reading a week's worth of editorials about how much better AC/DC is than Sting, I found Judd Annis' article to be a pleasant change of pace. If a global sponsorship program such as Annis suggested was implemented, then there might be a glimmer of hope for the future of the world. I lived in Ireland for 40 years before emigrating to the United States, and there has never been as much hostility as there is currently. People are afraid to open their own car doors for fear that some crazy Ireland Republican Army member has planted a bomb in the name of religion.

Annis, your article showed pure journalistic talent which is lacking in many newspaper articles. Unlike some of your other articles this semester, this article was the most intelligent, compassionate and optimistic article I have had the pleasure to read. It almost makes me cry to think there could be a journalist like more substantive. yourself who has hope for the world. The best you.

John Skarda junior in computer engineering and one other

Fishy facts

As one who has spent many years studying fatty acids, the compounds which they form and properties and uses of these materials, I read the recent article on fish in the diet with interest. You are to be commended for calling sapentaenoic acid, the most abundant of all what I think of as the fish oil phenomenon to N-3 fatty acids in fish oil. the attention of your readers. There were, however, two problems with the article.

The first is the use of the "omega" nomenclature. This system violates one of the basic principles of chemical nomenclature and has been discouraged for many years. The preferred designations for the fatty acids called omega-6 and omega-3 are N-6 (N minus 6) and N-3, respectively. The second problem is

The article implies that our only dietary way to obtain world peace is to show every- source of the N-3 fatty acids is fish oil. This is one that it can work. And if our governments not correct. Soybean oil, which is the most won't help us, then at least we can count on common vegetable oil in the United States, contains 9 percent of an N-3 fatty acid. Hydrogenation of the oil will reduce this to some extent. In addition, this same fatty acid is the major fatty acid in most, if not all, green, leafy vegetables. Therefore, these acids should be present in most people's diets, although not in quantities found in fish

> Those who wish to purchase these fatty acids can find them in pharmacies and drug stores. Many times they are labeled as containing EPA. This is an abbreviation for eico-

> > William E. Klopfenstein professor of biochemistry

Letters to the editor pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be type-written or neatly printed and signed by the author. They should not exceed 300 words.

Letters may be brought to Kedzie 116 or mailed to the Collegian.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander CAMPUS EDITORS Jenny Chaulk
Chad Sanbom
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR Judy Lundstrom
FEATURES EDITOR Susan Staggenborg
AGRIBUSINESS EDITOR

Janet Swanson GOVERNMENT EDITOR Candy Leonard
ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR Becky Howard SPORTS EDITOR Jeff Rapp

COPY EDITORS Peggy Aeschlims Betsy Edwards Lori Siegrist STAFF WRITERS Tom Denzel Jennifer Dorsch Lori Lindstrom Alison Necly COLUMNISTS

Judd Annis Kirk Caraway

Doug Folk REVIEWER Gary Leffle SPORTS WRITERS

Bill Lang

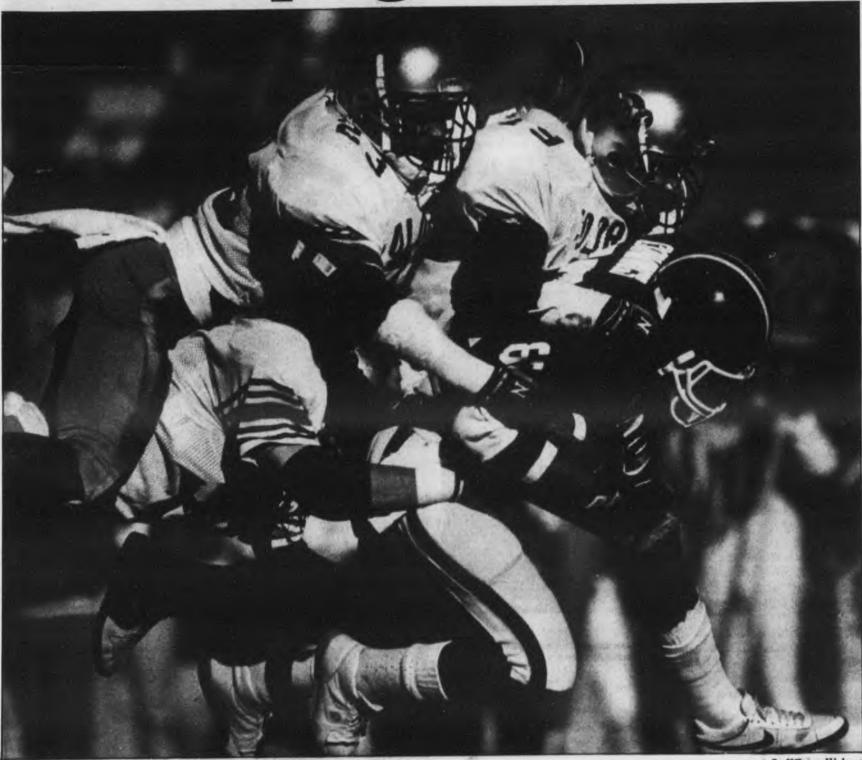

EDITORIAL BOARD Judy Lundstron Alison Neely Kirk Caraway Chad Sanborn Erwin Seba ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz ASST. ADVERTISING MANAGER Jada Allerheiligen
REGIONAL REPRESENTATIVE CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER Barry Steffen SALES REPRESENTATIVES Jennifer Kopp Melissa Paul Stacey Darrell Cathy Doud Er CLASSIFIED SALES REPS Eric Snell Tracy Mayhew Jackie Clements Janelle Dennis
DIRECTOR Dave Adams ASSISTANT DIRECTOR Gloria Freeland NEWS ADVISER Connic Fulkerson
GRAD. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR David Svoboda
ADV. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Receive Fail, prime 335; schools 35; schools 7, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editors agent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

SportsMonday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, November 23, 1987 ■ Page 5

'87 campaign leaves Wildcats winless

After catching a pass from quarterback Gary Swim, K-State receiver during the second quarter of the game Saturday in KSU Stadium. An Todd Cowings is hauled down by three University of Colorado defenders illegal procedure penalty nullified the play.

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

Yes, there was another college football game played Saturday besides the Oklahoma-Nebraska matchup. And, yes, K-State closed out the 1987 campaign without a win.

At KSU Stadium, Colorado held the Wildcats to 177 total yards in offense and blanked K-State, 41-0, in front of 12,500 fans — but it was closer to 2,500 fans by the time the disappointing season came to a close.

"I was surprised anybody showed up," Wildcat Coach Stan Parrish said. "I don't have much to say other than we were very flat."

Field position spelled the big difference in the ball game. The Buffaloes had great field position throughout the day; K-State didn't.

"You've got to beat a wishbone team by making them go the distance, and we didn't do that," Parrish said.

On one series in the second half, K-State started a drive at its own 40-yard line. But for the most part, the 'Cats started from their own 20 or worse. Their only scoring chance was lost late in the final quarter when Lawrence Tolbert dropped a halfback pass from Ray Wilson in the end zone.

Colorado, though, began five of its drives in K-State territory, which resulted in four scores and a missed field goal. This was accomplished largely with senior backup quarterback Mark Hatcher, who replaced starter Sal Aunese when he suffered a second-degree shoulder separation early in the game.

But that didn't slow the Buffaloes. All Colorado did offensively was rush for 335 yards and set a team record for rushing yards in a season, breaking a record that had stood

"We've lost Sal (Aunese). He will not be able to play for us next week.

Mark Hatcher will have a great chance in his last game as a Buff to go out in style (against Nebraska)," Colorado Coach Bill McCarteny

Parrish had planned to utilize the passing attack against Colorado, which ranked last in the Big Eight Conference in pass defense. But without tight end Kent Dean, who was out with a knee injury, the 'Cats completed just six passes for 61 yards.

"We placed a big emphasis on our passing game to our tight end for eight weeks, and then we had to draw away from that and throw it to the outside," Parrish said. "That made it tough on us."

Starting quarterback Gary Swim said Dean's loss wasn't the reason the Wildcats were ineffective through the air, but he didn't have a solution.

"Our offense has looked good all year. It was the first time we were shut out. I don't know what else to say," Swim said.

About the only bright spot for the 'Cats came in the form of senior running back Tony Jordan, who carried the ball 16 times and gained 106 yards. Jordan closed his career with 1,593 yards, which ranks him third in K-State history — behind Issac Jackson (2,182) and Cornelius Davis (1,873).

Senior linebacker Matt Wallerstedt led K-State with 12 tackles and closed the season as the Big Eight's leading tackler with 161. He was one of the 17 somber seniors who ended their careers with just eight wins in "Early in the season, when we got beat the first game, we got frustrated and started pointing fingers at each other, and it really hurt us in the end," Wallerstedt said.

K-State finished at 0-10-1 overall and 0-6-1 in the Big Eight. With a game left to go Saturday against Nebraska in Boulder, Colo., the Buffaloes are 7-3 and 4-2

Game Stats

STATISTIC First Downs Rushing Yards 116 61 Passing Yards Return Yards 9-6-0 Att.-Comp.-Int. 20-6-1 428 2-0 Total Yards 177 Fumbles-Lost 1-0 Penalties 8-37 COLORADO 0 24 710-41 K-STATE

RUSHING - K-State, Jordan 16-106, Lewis 7-17, Wilson 2-9, Henry 1-2, Swim 5-(-18); Colorado, Kissick 10-85, Pritchard 8-46, Bieniemy 8-45, Campbell 2-33, Wheeler 6-26, Flannigan 8-23, Oliver 5-25, Aunese 2-11, Simmons 3-7, Hatcher 12-17, Marquez

3-14, Smith 1-3. PASSING - K-State, Swim 15-4-1-48, Hanson 2-2-0-13, Straw 2-0-0-0, Wilson 1-0-0-0; Colorado, Hatcher 6-3-0-53, Wheeler 3-3-0-40

RECEIVING - K-State, Jordan 3-24, Dillon 1-23, Cotton 1-8, Lewis 1-6; Colorado, Hemmingway 1-25, Campbell 1-17, Nelson 1-13, Ferrando 1-13, Carl 1-15, Oliver 1-10.

A - 12,500.

Ron Lackey, freshman in business administration, Jeff Cummings, sophomore in art education, and Richard Meyer, sophomore in business administration, take a nap at the football game Saturday.

the effort he showed during his football career at K-State. Jordan, the Wildcat tailback, closed his career with 1,593 yards, which ranks him third in K-State history. Jordan, a native of Rochester, N.Y., carried the ball 16 times in the loss to Colorado for 106 yards and caught three passes

Preseason optimism evolves into bitter end of frustration

Svoboda on Sports

DAVID SVOBODA

Sports Columnist

I think it's safe to say that crow washed down with Welch's Sparkling Grape Juice isn't my favorite pre-Thanksgiving meal.

Stan Parrish and I didn't really get together for dinner Saturday night following K-State's season-ending 41-0 loss to Colorado, but we really didn't need to - both of us had been having a different course of our meal week by week all season long.

Coming into the 1987 campaign, Parrish had high hopes for his team, and the non-conference schedule seemed to fan those flames a bit.

Like a few other informed but blindingly loyal observers, I let my emotions get the best of me and got caught up in the fever that Parrish was passing around like a contagious disease.

or five wins were a distinct possibility, I bought it hook, line and sinker. And why not? Tony Jordan, a possible 1,000-yard rusher was returning; the Wildcats had a hot-shot new quarterback (Gary Swim) from the juco ranks; and the defense was the strength of the team in 1986 and could only get better.

It took one game to wake all of us up - or some of us anyway. The scason-opening loss to Austin Peay State University effectively ended any hopes the Wildcats had for winning more than two games. Swim - looked upon as a possible savior at quarterback - didn't even start the game, and his heroic second-half efforts weren't enough to rally his team. The defense - and in particular the secondary - seemed flat, as if still on summer vacation. With as many sophomores as K-State employed on defense, the dreaded

'sophomore jinx" was ready to rear its head, and it did so in the ugliest fashion imaginable. When the Wildcats ran off the field following that shocking defeat, they left their emotions - and more importantly their pride - right there on the KSU Stadium carpet.

They regained their pride at Iowa,

When Stan told the media that four a most unlikely place for a team on a losing streak to regain anything.

Through three quarters at Iowa City, the Wildcats played like worldbeaters, sending the host Hawkeyes running for their collective lives. Stunned television commentators from around the nation assured viewers that the score they were reporting was correct, that K-State was indeed giving mighty Iowa all it could handle.

But the momentum gained at Iowa didn't last, and through the first several games of the conference campaign, the team had more personalities than Rowdy Roddy Piper did during his career as a professional wrestler.

The team was good, it was bad, it was happy, it was sad, it was lost, it was found - you get the picture by

After making it through the run of games against the Big Eight's big three (Oklahoma, Nebraska and Oklahoma State), the Wildcats found themselves in a position to salvage their season with wins over Kansas and Iowa State.

So much for the salvage job. The 17-17 tie with Kansas, although Parrish claimed it was somewhat of an emotional lift to his club, did nothing to lift the spirits of an already tired team.

Parrish, much to his credit, was able to inspire his troops the following week in practice, and the Wildcats went into Ames, Iowa, to take on Iowa State, ready to pull off an upset.

After Jeff Shudak's field goal stunned the Wildcats 16-14, K-State's season, by Parrish's own admission, was over.

"I tried to get them up one last time, but I couldn't," Parrish said after the loss to Colorado that closed

As Parrish has often said, however, his team is now 0-0 and ready to begin preparations for the 1988

He has indicated he will conduct a thorough evaluation of his program from top to bottom, including himself - and will decide what course this team will take in the future.

Parrish told the media following the loss to Colorado that he still believes he can get it done here. The academic performances of those he's coached have been strong, and he'll have more players he's coached graduating on time than most coaches we've had here.

The man is a winner, and I for one hope he sticks around long enough to see his hard work pay off.

Will it pay off next year? Well, that's anyone's guess. The nonconference schedule is tougher, and the Big Eight Conference is always tough.

One thing is for sure, however. Parrish will be entering the 1988 campaign with but one class remaining that he did not recruit. Having three classes on the field that he recruited should allow us to make a true evaluation of the job he has done in moving to turn this program around.

Not to say that the boys down the Kaw have done anything right in recent memory, but Parrish might be wise to use his young players in 1988 every bit as much as Bob Valesente did this year at Kansas.,

With future or current defensive stars like Erick Harper, Lorne Whittle, Bobby Lawrence and James Enin-Okut leading the way, the Wildcat defensive unit appears sound enough to win some games in the 1988 season.

It's the offense, however, that is the biggest question mark. Jordan is lost to graduation, and Swim, according to coaches and defensive backs around the conference, does not dazzle you with his footwork, and telegraphs his throws by locking his eyes on his primary receiver.

Freshman redshirts Antoine Dulan and Paul Watson - a tailback and a quarterback, respectively - should have legitimate shots at being in the lineup opening day next year in Tulsa's Skelly Stadium. Parrish said last week that he would be disappointed if Watson, whom he compared to Oklahoma State's talented Matt Gundy, isn't the man under center in the opener next Parrish, however, did say that he expects Swim and returnees Chris Cobb and Carl Straw won't go down without a fight. And it's the fight that Parrish needs to continue moving his program forward. Let's hope Stan stays in the fight long enough to ensure that we don't make a habit of eating such poor pre-Thanksgiving meals.

With the recent decision by Larry Travis to stay at K-State rather than take the athletic director's post at Virginia Tech, Parrish has the support he needs from the top down to have a legitimate shot.

Only time will tell if he can succeed where others have failed, but I'll bet you a cold crow sandwich and half a bottle of bad grape juice he

K-State's Amy Dodson blocks the ball as Mary Kinsey waits to assist during the Big Eight Volleyball

KU ends spikers' season

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Tournament Friday night in the Salina Bicentennial Centre.

SALINA - For three K-State volleyball players, Friday night was a very special night, yet one they wish they could forget about

K-State seniors Kelley Carlson, Kristi Jacquart and Karen Kinderknecht dressed out Saturday in a Wildcat uniform for the last time. For the second year in a row, K-State faced the University of Kansas in the first round of the Big Eight Conference Tournament. And for the second consecutive year, Kansas defeated the Wildcats in five games - 15-4, 14-16, 16-14, 7-15, 15-12.

"Losing to Kansas is the worst thing in the world," Jacquart said. "It's definitely not a good way to end my career (at K-State) or the

K-State coach Scott Nelson wasn't happy with the team's performance, but he said the team played hard at times - just not all

K-State defeated Kansas twice during the regular season in four and five games. It's hard to beat a team three times in one season, Nelson said, but K-State could

Athletes in action over holiday

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

While most K-State students have been spending time deciding how to spend the Thanksgiving holiday, several others already have their holiday schedules planned out for

A handful of student-athletes have been preparing to represent the purple and white in athletic competitions that will take up all or some of their holiday time off.

The K-State men's basketball team will be heading to Fresno, Calif., to play in the Sun Met Classic Basketball Tournament on Friday and Saturday. In their first round match-up the Wildcats will take on San Diego State University. Other teams playing in the tournament include Fresno State University and the University of Northern Arizona.

"We don't really know too much about these teams," said Wildcat mentor Lon Kruger. "The kids have been working hard, and we're expecting some good things."

The 'Cats will be hosting the University of California Statethe Monday following the holiday

The Lady Cats will also be in action on Friday and Saturday as they host the McCall Pattern Basketball Tournament in Aheam. The other teams making up the four-team field include Central Missouri State University, Rockhurst College and the University of Arkansas-Little Rock.

The K-State women's cross country team is in Charlottesville, Va., preparing to compete in the NCAA cross country championship race to be held today. The women qualified NCAA District 5 meet in Columbia,

Just about the time most students will be figuring out different ways to devour leftover Thanksgiving turkey, the K-State basketball teams will be taking to the courts.

"(Playing during holiday breaks) is all part of basketball," Kruger said. "All basketball teams are playing their first games of the season this time of year.

"It's unfortunate that the kids can't be home for Thanksgiving," he Northridge in Ahearn Field House on added. "But the kids are really excited about playing their first, real game, and they are ready for the season to start."

Women's head coach Matilda Mossman said playing during the break will not have a negative effect on her squad's play.

"Our kids have known since they signed with us that we had a tournament over the Thanksgiving break," Mossman said. "They have all been athletes long enough to realize that you have to make sacrifices for your

"The girls are very excited to finalfor the meet by placing second in the ly be playing their first real game," Mossman added. "We really need to play a game against a different opponent. The girls need to see a different offense and a different defense and to see how their offense and defense can work."

Mossman also said that many of the parents come out for the games, making it easier for the players to handle being away from home over the holiday.

Old timers remember 'Cats' past

> By Bill Lang Sports Writer

The look in the eyes was still the same. The determination was still there; the only thing holding these players back was Father Time.

Saturday night, Ahearn Field House saw some of its greatest players come back and shoot a few hoops, or as one player put it, "huff and puff and try and get to the other end of the court."

Players such as Max Moss, Sonny Ballard, Tim Jankovich, Steve Honeycutt, Dick Knostman, Don Matuszak, Mike Wroblewski and many others donned the uniforms once again for a friendly scrimmage.

Four former Wildcat coaches also made their return to Ahearn - Jack Gardner, 1940-42 and 1947-53, Tex Winter, 1954-68, Cotton Fitzsimmons, 1969-70, and Jack Hartman, 1971-86.

The games between the alumni

Staff/Brad Fanshier K-State president Jon Wefald takes a warm-up shot from outside the three-point line before the game between stars of the 1950s.

were divided into three categories; players from the '50s, players from the '60s, and players from the '70s

In the first game, with the '50s players, the white squad won the 10-minute contest, 22-19. In the second contest among the '60s players, the purple squad won the 15-minute game, 26-19. In the final contest, players from the '70s and '80s, the purple squad in another 15-minute contest, won on a last-second onehanded shot by Steve Soldner, 36-34.

It was obvious that the coaches still hadn't lost their touch either. When fouls were whistled on the members of the team the coaches were sitting with, they would stand up and look at the referee with arms open as if to say, "C'mon Ref, give me a break. What kinda call was

One thing was evident to all the players and the coaches who made their return to Ahearn - the fans are still the most significant part they

"Time marches on," Hartman said. "I have my opinions about moving to a new building. The fans have meant so much to this place and the teams that have played in it. I think when ■ See ALUMNI, Page 6

Sports Notice

The athletic department ticket office. There is no limit to announced that about 200 student the number of tickets students can season basketball tickets would buy, but a valid fee card must be on sale starting at 1 p.m. last accompany each purchase. The Friday in the Ahearn Field House season passes cost $35 apiece.

TEMPORARY EMPLOYMEN

during Christmas break in Johnson County

Available for typists, word processors, file clerks, data entry and light industrial.

Apply in person, by appointment Friday, Nov. 27 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. (No fees)

BOSSLER-HIX TEMPORARIES

11015 Metcalf, Overland Park, Ks. Call Ann 1-913-491-0944

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

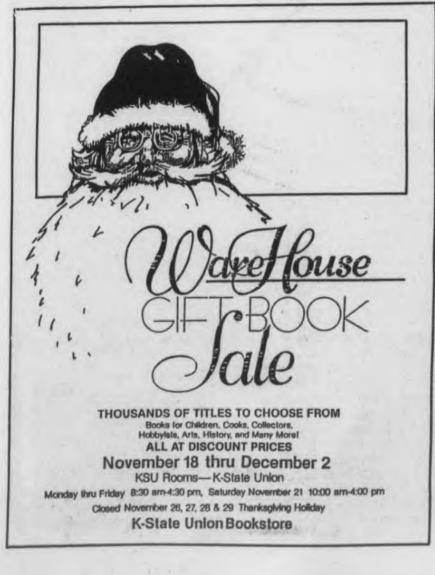

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Enjoy a Holiday Feast in a True Thanksgiving Tradition Thursday 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. 57% per person children under 10-3355

Popular space heaters present fire risk Devices operating safety tips offered

A variety of space heaters are available, including kerosene heaters heaters - radiant, convection and room by using a reflector. Convection units use a fan to blow the heat into a room, and a combination unit

Lt. Larry Fronce of the Manhattan

Fire Department said space heaters are the cause of many fires each year but only because they are operated combination units.

uses both systems.

incorrectly.

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter

Cold weather is just around the corner, and when the mercury drops, interest in keeping warm rises accordingly.

According to an article in Consumer Reports magazine, portable space heaters are a good, economical way to heat a room rather than turning up the thermostat on central heating systems. Portable heaters also make it possible to shorten the heating season by letting users turn on central heat later in the fall and turn it off sooner in the spring.

Students who live in apartments and houses which do not have adequate heating units often resort to using space heaters.

Christina M. Wright, senior in

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--I Can't Believe It's YOGURT Frozen Yogurt Stores

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

HAIRCUT SHOPS WORLD'S GREATEST HAIRCUT OSCAR WINNING CUTS, STYLES, PERMS

elementary education, used space 7.6 cents per kilowatt-hour.

heaters an entire winter to keep warm because her house's heating system

Students living in University housing have not requested any additional heating in their dorm rooms, said Thomas Frith, director of plenty adequate," Frith said.

"I think the heating in the dorms is

The article said a typical electric space heater operating for one hour at a maximum output of 1,500 watts would cost less than 12 cents at the national average electricity rate of only heated one room.

Under 12 KIDS KUT $5 MIDWEST'S FAVORITE HAIRCUTTERS

JUST DROP IN! VILLAGE PLAZA-539-4043 30th & ANDERSON

FREE DELIVERY Restaurant 1304 Westloop 10% off with KSU IDE (539-8888

Hair Cuts for $5 before Thanksgiving

HAIR AFFAIR

465 E. Poyntz-Next to Food 4 Less-776-5488 Good thru Dec. 1, 1987 Present this coupon

FAJITAS

Heard the talk? Fajitas have come to PINATA, and are they ever worth the wait! Chunks of marinated steak, or chicken, with fresh onion slices served sizzling on a hot skillet. Comes with a wide array of toppings for your choosing: guacomole, shredded lettuce, sour cream, salsa, chopped tomatoes & fresh grated cheese. A serving of rice, refried beans, & tertillas complete your meal. Don't miss out, try our Fajitas today!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

Open Daily 11 a.m.

Don't Approach the Work Force with NO EXPERIENCE Work for the Fifth Largest Morning Daily Newspaper in Kansas Now Taking Applications for Spring Collegian: News Editor Copy Editors Campus Editors Feature Editor Science/Health Editor Sports Editor Agribusiness Editor Sports Writers Staff Writers Columnists Reviewer Graphic Artists Cartoonist Arts & Entertainment Editor Photo/Graphics Editor Pick Up Your Application in Kedzie 103 NOW Applications Due by 5 p.m. Dec. 1, 1987, in Kedzie 103

"They are not bad, but clothing and curtains get in contact with them and they start fires easily," Fronce and three different types of electric He also said pets and young children can easily knock space heaters A radiant unit directs heat into a over.

Kerosene units are more dangerous than electric ones because they may expose an open flame and can give off potentially hazardous fumes. Kerosene units also require people to store flammable fuel, the magazine

Electric units have built-in safety features, such as tipover switches and heat sensors, greatly reducing the chance of fire.

The article lists seven safety tips for operating space heaters: Read manufacturers' instructions and warning labels.

■ Keep flammables, combustibles, furniture and curtains at a distance. If an extension cord is necesor 12.5 amps, not a common lamptype extension cord.

Keep the electric heater away from water.

Do not use the heater on the same circuit with another highwattage appliance.

Inspect wall outlets and heater plug regularly for excessive heat while unit is on.

Unplug the heater when it is not in use.

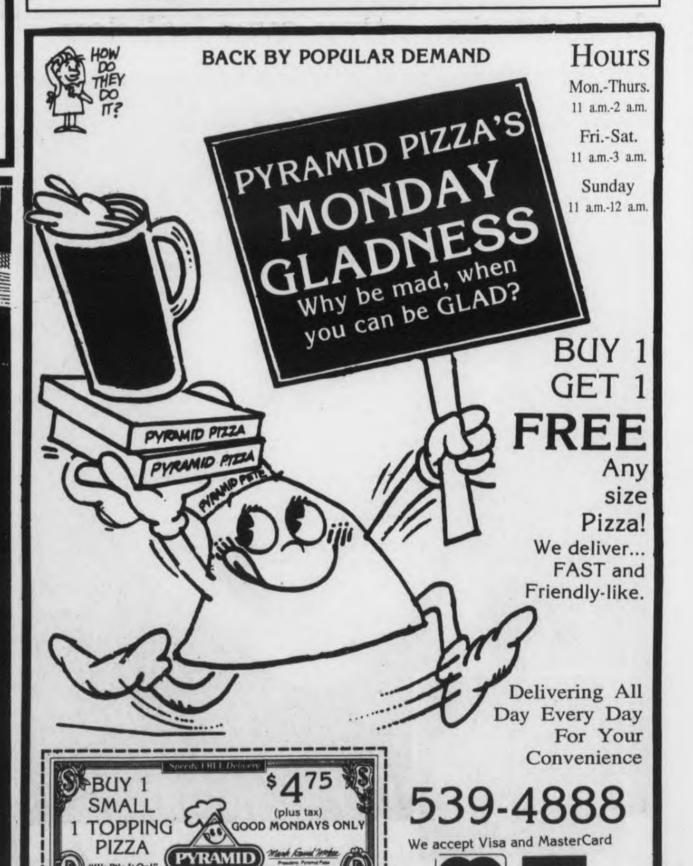

Have story or photo ideas? CALL 532-6556

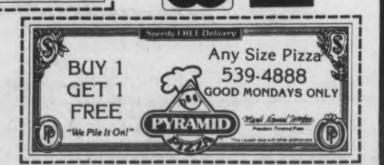

The Collegian Advertising Staff is looking for a few motivated, and determined students to sell. Applications available in Kedzie 103 and due Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 5 p.m.

Positions available: Asst. Ad Manager, Campus/Tearsheet Sales Representative, Sales Representatives and Graphic Artist.

GET IT ON THE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING STAFF

Offering Thin Crust or Our Original Golden Braided Crust

Alumni

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 they move they'll lose some of that atmosphere.

"Aheam is a special place to me," he added. "There have been a great deal of games played here. I'm going to miss it."

Fitzsimmons, who is now coaching for the Phoenix Suns, accented the sentiment of Ahearn's closing by have meant to the program through the years.

people who come to the games every

"I remember my first year here," he said. "I was under a lot of fire, but there were those fans who stuck out the season, and then the next year we went on to win the Big Eight title and made the NCAA Tournament. Those also mentioning how much the fans fans who stuck with us are the greatest people I know of."

Gardner, the man who helped "I don't think it's the building that open Ahearn Field House on Dec. 9, has the reputation," he said. "It's the 1950, remembers the beginning wasn't that easy.

"I remeber that first game," he said. "We had to bus over from Nichols Gymnasium (now Nichols Hall) because the showers weren't completed.

"The game we had with Utah State was almost a disaster," Gardner added. "We had so many distractions going on with the opening of the building that we almost lost the game."

The 'Cats won the contest with Utah State 66-56.

"I remember that game very well," Gardner said. "I think that was one of the most important days in my life."

Former K-State player Max Moss, a guard for the last 'Cat team to make the Final Four in 1964, remembered not only the fans but also the people he played for.

'The fans are the greatest," he said. "But the people that you play for are your friends for a lifetime. Tex (Winter) is a special person and a friend.

"Tex was ahead of his time," Moss added. "He sent the program in the right direction, and it's only gotten better since then."

players for the Chicago Bulls, expressed the disappointment of Aheam's closing.

"I think the reputation of this place being a tough place to play is in full swing," he said. "Now, they're closing up. They (the fans) will have to start all over again.

"I would estimate that fans helped us attain the winning percentage of about 70 to 75 percent during those Winter, who now helps to scout years with their support," he added.

WHY PAY 15.5% TO 20% APR INTEREST WITH CHARGE CARDS?

GET A 14% APR SIGNATURE LOAN WITH US.

you qualify for a signature loan. loan officer today.

Now borrow up to ten percent Your good credit record is your of your gross K-State income if collateral. Stop in and speak to a

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants.

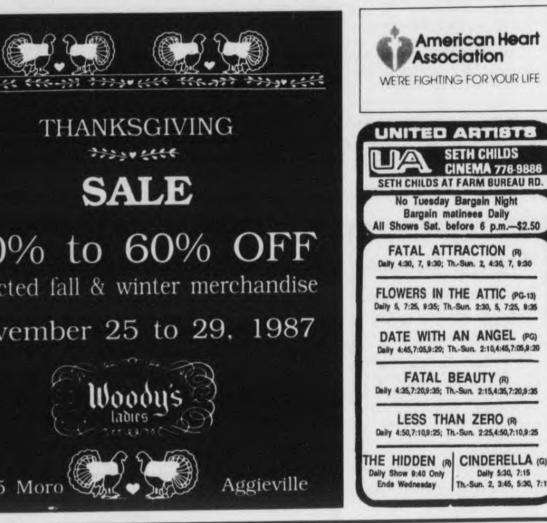

Anderson Hall, Room 24A Open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday (except on University holidays) Telephone 532-6274

DENTAL ASSOCIATES,

514 Humboldt Plaza Hygiene Department

TV Listings

By TV Data

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today,	CBS News Morning Pro-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo,	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	Movie: "Cap Fear"
8:00	"	gram	n n	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Billiards: Nine-	"
	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Top Rank Boxing	17
10:00	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Write Course	Love Boat	"	ir
	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Communi. Taste of Adv.	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	College Foot- ball: Clemson	" +
4:00	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Nature	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	at South Caro- lina	"
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Nature Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	- M	Tom and Jerry
	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	AWA Wres- tling	Flintstones Flintstones
00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing Auto Racing	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook Surfer Mag.	Alice New Beaver
C:00		News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter NFL	Andy Griffith Sanford
	ALF Val's Family	ALF Val's Family	MacGyver	Hill Street Blues	First Eden: Strangers in	"Hoover Vs. the Kennedys:	NFL Matchup NFL Monday	Movie: "Fame"
	Movie: "Lena: My 100 Child-	Movie: "Lena: My 100 Child-	NFL Football: Los Angeles	It's Howdy Doody Time:	Oil: The Global Gam-	the Second Civil War"	Auto Racing: NASCAR At-	n u
9:00		ren"	Rams at Washington	A 40-Year Ce- lebration	On Stage at Wolf Trap	News	lanta Journal 500	11
40:00	Nowe	News Cheers	Redskins	Barney Miller Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Auto Racing SportsCenter	Bonanza
4 4:00		Diamonds	News Nightline	Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Mom-	NFL Great NFL	National Geo graphic Ex-
	David Latter	Movie: "Miss- ing Pieces"	700 Club	"Destination Tokyo"	Sign-Off	mie Dearest"	NFL's Greatest Moments	plorer

Collegian Classified Advertising

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC., KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506. You can also stop by Kedzie 103 to place your ad or call 532-6555. Student Publications now accepts MasterCard and Visa. (Minimum charge of $5.) The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for cancellation is NOON the day before publication.

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

* Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials.

* No abbreviations, please.

Total days in paper.

* No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.

* Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. * Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

* If mailed ads do not arrive by the Noon deadline, they will be placed in the next day's paper.

	Class	ifie	d /	Ad I	Rate	S		Classified	Cat	egories
Words/Day	1	2	3	4	5	Extra Days	01	Announcements	15	Miscellaneous Merchandise
1-15	2.25 3		4.00			1,00	02	Apartments for Rent — Furnished	16	Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale
16				4.80		1.05	03	Apartments for Rent — Unfurnished	17	Musical Instruments
17	2.55 3	.,	75.5			1.10	04	Automobiles for Sale	18	Personals
19				5.70		1.20	05	Automobile Rentals	19	Pets and Pet Supplies
20	3.00 4					1.25	06	Card of Thanks	20	Professional Services
21	3.15 4					1.30	-		21	Rentals
22 23	3.30 4					1,35	07	Child Care	- 55	Resume/Typing Services
24				7.20		1.45	08	Computers	22	Service Control of the Control of th
25	3.75 5					1.50	09	Employment	23	Roommate Wanted
26	3.90 5					1.55	10	Financial Services	24	Situation Wanted
27	4.05 5					1.60	11	Garage and Yard Sales	25	Sporting/Recreational Equipmen
28	4.20 5					1.65	12	Houses and Mobile Homes for Rent	26	Sublease
30	4.50 6						13	Houses and Mobile Homes for Sale	27	Welcome
Over 30 words	4.00	-	*					Lost and Found		Other
Classified N	Iall O	rde	or F	orn	n
Name								Phone no	-
Address								Student ID #
10011-000								4
										10
1		- 2-						g g
1		7_				8		99		16
1		7_				13		14		15
1		7_				13		14		15
161		7_ 12_ 17_ 22_				13 18 18 23		14		20
161		7_ 12_ 17_ 22_				13 18 18 23		9 14 19 24 29		20

FREE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK

with the purchase of any sub

12th & Moro-Aggieville

expires 12-7-87 with this coupon only void with other offers

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets,

camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear.

Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un-til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St.

Receive a

FREE

LOTTERY TICKET

When you buy 10 or more sessions.

10 FREE

LOTTERY TICKETS

NOW SELLING

³2 sessions

FIREWOOD-SPLIT oak mixed; com feed beef-

PLEASE BUY this like new Pioneer 45 watt receiver.

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bail and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th.

We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

MONGOOSE MOUNTAIN bike, like new, new

THIS A little rhyme to Sigma Nu actives, who on this day found all the scurbs vanquished. We left you a lay that Sunday we did bust, we toast to you all the best house on campus. Scurbs. (65)

a lot, if you see her at 'Wackers, buy her a shot

FLY CASUAL - Believe you me . . . The best of Kan-

Skellar, RV'ing it to Wyoming, stripbars and tons of alcohol. We had a hell-uv-a time, thanks guys. Look us up if you're ever in town. Love ya, Tammy and

Lisa. P.S. Luke and Randy, Colorado's cold but we

MISS SARAH: The non-bearded man told us a secre

KRIS N. Happy B-day to the girl who stole my heart

IT'S BEEN fun and it's been great, but Sunday mo

Our future may look far away but I promise we will never be far apart. I love you. Franko. (65)

ing you wake up too late. We're off on a shore, to drink beers many and more. We have big John, and Steiner too, but that Lett boy we're going to beat black and blue. At J-Rod's place we're gonna stay, we'll be sking and partying every day. If until Tuesday night you don't stay, hope you all have a real

BABY BOA for sale. Good eater and great dorm or

SPAYED FERRET, cage and set up. Gentle and very playful. 539-1988 evenings - keep trying. (65-66)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (11f)

apartment pet. Call 537-7865. (61-65) but we can't tell until you're 201 Happy 19th! The

HER FRIENDS all love her, so give her a cheer. If you see her at Kites, buy her a beer. She's 22 and that's

Happy Birthday, Molly. Love, Karen. (65)

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

Mark, 532-3560. (62-66)

sas . . . First Place. (65)

FIJI'S THAT roadtripped it to ( hope we kept you warm. (65)

mo.'s Kayla, Darla, Traci, Leslie. (65)

FLY CASUAL -- "The Team" to watch (65)

good Turkey Day. (65)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

21 Close

22 First

Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PERSONALS

sold live weight plus processing. 499-6682. (61-65)

DE-2 Hitachi deck, $300 retail investment, each are only $50, 537-8556, Sheldon, (63-67)

PYRAMID PIZZA

All Slices 99

after 5 p.m.

1126 Laramie

Also come in and register for

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

By The Collegian Staff

Coping with the stress and challenges associated with a career and family is the topic for the second session of the Sixth Annual 1987 Professional Development Seminar

Virginia Moxley, associate dean for academic affairs in the College of Human Ecology, will present "Managing a Private and Personal Life" at

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

MARY KAY Cosmetics-Skin care-glamour prod ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Hand-

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto

HIS AND Hers super styles. Grand opening. 308 Tut-

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its product selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. We will be closed on

CREW CATS: Meeting tonight 9 p.m. Union Little

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

Rubes

Theatre. Be there for some important stuff! (65)

tle Creek. Perms $19.95, unlimited tanning $29.95.

Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manis 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Kedzie 103

ANNOUNCEMENTS

hattan (62-75)

776-1330. (63-67)

Thanksgiving. (64-65)

icapped accessible. (1-75)

11:30 a.m. Dec. 2 at the University

Lynda Spire, coordinator of the event, said participants at last year's seminar requested topics dealing with professional skills.

"So, this year we designed the series to include topics we felt would aid people in their professional growth," she said.

People's changing employment roles make Moxley's presentation

TWO-BEDROOM, balcony, close to campus. Ander-son Place, available Jan. 1, 1988, Call 776-9923. (62-

ONE BEDROOM Basement. Unique. City Park. 539-

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom apartment available in January. Furnished, one and one-half bath, dishwasher, personal storage, walking distance from campus. $330/month. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66)

A BEAUTIFUL one bedroom furnished apartment.

WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $220/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 1. Call 776-1192. (65-66)

QUIET. WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets. waterbeds. 537-9686. (65-69)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf)

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart-nent. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

ONE-BEDROOM—Large enough for two. Unfurnished, $265. Call Chris, 539-7906 after 5 p.m. (62-

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco-rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit 539-

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus, $315 a month. January-May Call 539-2830, leave mes

By Leigh Rubin

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, ca

Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

$133/month, one-third utilities. Own room. 539-mester. Bills are paid. $230. 537-0428. (64tf) near campus and Christian college for the next se-appropriate, Spire said.

'The fact is more people are working and struggling to find time to meet the demands of building a career and strong family," Spire said. 'Virginia has a lot of good ideas on how to juggle family and work and still have time to grow as an individual."

The $15 registration fee for the seminar will cover lunch, the seminar and supplies. Registration forms

ONLY 15 OUT OF 350????

That is the number of apartments available for January occupancy from among our university

If you need an apartment for the spring semester, we'd suggest you call us soon.

Prices from $245 to $360.

McCullough Development

THREE BEDROOM, with garage. Living room and dining room. Range and refrigerator in kitchen Close to campus. Prefer small family or older stu dent. Deposit required. No pets. $375. Call 776-

THREE-BEDROOM apartment, large rooms, gas heat. Available Nov. 20, 1987. $245. Phone 537-

RENTAL-FINDERS

AUTO-FINDERS

539-CALL

TELE-FIND

WO BEDNOCHI-Iwo blocks east of campus. Pay own utilities. Available Jan. 1, $250/month. 539

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, one and three-fourths

1980 CAPRICE Classic Landau, power steering

1976 CHEVROLET Malibu four-door. Has power

1983 FORD Mustang. Excellent condition, AM/FM

MAZDA GLC 1979, AM/FM cassette, excellent cond

tion. Call 537-1886 or ask for Olga at 532-5123 (63-

FOR SALE: 1971 Malibu. Good shape, green. $400. Call Tommy, 539-3769 or 539-9834, leave message.

FOR SALE: 1978 Caprice Classic, good condition

1978 PLYMOUTH Road Runner, $650 or best offer.

1972 VW Super Beetle for sale. New battery, stereo clutch. $450 negotiable. Call Jose, 537-3914. (65-

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity—Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770

Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe, South America. Australia. Asia. All fields. $900-2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

By Berke Breathed

$480. Call 539-2776 after 4 p.m. (64-68)

776-1532 afternoon and evenings. (65-69)

sette, grey, many extras, reasonably priced

cruise. $725 or make offer. Must sell. Call 456-9576.

steering, power brakes, air conditioning a bath, 1402 LeGore. One block walk from campus. No pets. $400/month plus utilities. Available Jan 1. 776-1214 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.). 776-4446. (65-68)

2116 or 539-2892. (64-65)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

power brakes, air condi 293-5250. (61-65)

Call 539-9536. (63-65)

EMPLOYMENT

3454 (64-68)

influenced complexes.

are due by noon Nov. 30 and can be picked up at Umberger 317.

The event is sponsored by the K-State Division of Continuing Education, the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, the KSU Small Business Development Center and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

RESORT HOTELS, cruiselines, airlines and amusement parks Now accepting applications for sum-ment parks Now accepting applications for sum-mer jobs, internships and career positions. For in-formation and application; write National Collegiate Recreation, PO. Box 8074, Hilton Head Island, SC 29938, (59-66)

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont, New York. (62-71)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work; lectronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641. 0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425, 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf)

TWO BEDROOM house. Near City Park. Air conditioned Some turnishings, 539-7307 (63-67)

TWO-BEDROOM house, near campus, garage. No children, no pets, Jan. 1. 776-3321. (65-66)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13 A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 x 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi-ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931.

MONDAYS

418 Poyntz

SHRIMP NIGHT 15¢ shrimp $1 draws $2.75 pitchers 4-7 p.m.

TANS TO GO 5/$1250

Cobblers Lane

Aggieville 776-7874

Hayes House of Music

DOD Guitar Effects 30% Off 776-7983

327 Poyntz

ATTENTION LADIES DARK HORSE PRESENTS DANCE•COMEDY•MUSCLE

Coming Tuesday, Dec. 1

ner of

3 Gawain's

title

city

5 Senate

6 Had a snack

8 "...through a glass,

9 Curved

10 Weather

word

13 Asiatic

19 Buck

plant

heroine

11 Sea birds

molding

employee

4 Chinese

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

SAVE—WORD processing: term papers, letters, resumes, etc. Call Kristi at 532-6026 or 776-4900. (65-67)

TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and noncorrecting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

Resumes -

-= Graphics Plus

11th & Laramie 539 -6027 message at the tone. We can handle it all! 537 3166. (60-66) TYPING: LAST minute jobs, large and small. Leave a

TRISH'S TYPING SERVICE

(913) 539-6263 By Appointment Only Forms Resume's

Thesis

23

Reports

Dissertations Letters

Technical Typing

ROOMMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 h plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776 1996. (55-75) ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester. Nice spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester. ble December or January, two-bedroom, 537

1273. (60-67) NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for fur nished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next semester to share nice house with three roommates. Own room, $120 plus utilities. Call 776-7455. (61-65)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for house near campus. $113/month plus utilities. Call 776-9605. (62-TWO-THREE male roommates needed to share nice apartment one-half block from campus—crawling distance from Aggieville. 776-3896. (63-67) FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Furnished, own bedroom. Call Jenny, 537-7367 Tuesday and Thursday after 5 p.m. and weekends. (63-MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester.

Own room, very close to campus. $150 month plus one-fifth utilities. 537-9764. (63-67) MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room, very spa

cious, comfortable, one block from campus. 776-1893. (63-65) STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (63-67) ONE FEMALE roommate wanted. Close to campus nice apartment, fun roommates and cheap. Call 537-3940 and ask for Kathy. (64-68) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted second semester to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walking distance from campus. $165/month plus one-hal utilities. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66)

NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle

Creek Boulevard second semester. $150 per month, utilities paid. Call Allen (913) 492-6835. (64 WANTED: FEMALE roommate for spring semeste rent $140/month. Anderson Place. Call 539-5881 (64-66)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Ren $110 plus one-third bills. Also, $110 deposit, 537

1757. (64-65)

24 SITUATION WANTED

FAMILY NEEDS college girl for second semester. Food and rent in exchange for helping household. No smoking. Write Box 3, c/o Collegian. (63-65)

SUBLEASE FEMALE NEEDED to sublease apartment. Aggie apartment, own room, rent negotiable. 539-6457 at ter 5 p.m. (62-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester starting December or January. $112.50 per month plus small share of utilities. Own room, close to campus. Call after 4 p.m., ask for Valerie. 776-9763. CHEAP AND close to campus, Aggieville. $120/ month, utilities pald, own room. 539-1988. (65-66)

FIREW00D

FIREWOOD FOR sale. Mixed, seasoned hardwoods $55 per pickup load, delivered and stacked. 494 2436, Jeff Ebert. (63-67)

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 36 "The Sons 1 One type of Katie of waist? 37 Fruitless 5 Golfer's 40 High note 41 In a violent 42 Camera 12 Estrange bug's den? 14 Temple's 47 "The - of husband Spring' 15 Historical 48 Total effect

DOWN

1 Small mass

16 Check 49 Source of roughage 17 Ending for vamp 50 Money coining 18 Keepneed sakes 51 Home of Anna's king 20 Go on a shopping 23 Turnpike charge 24 Marion ette

8 French

illustrator period

maker

feature quilized prayers

Solution time: 24 mins

fiction? 23 Joyce Kilmer poem 7 Renovated 25 Paid attention 26 Wife of Geraint 27 Florida county 29 Build up the nest egg - annum 33 Shut out the light 34 "Wake up" signals

36 Actress Sommer ruler Nino 40 Gaelic 43 Cuckoo

39 Composer Kenobi

2 In the man- 20 Compass reading friends CRYPTOQUIP

XTIFGB QGWLATLYXQUCO

VLZGSETIW,

"ICB

VLEFGBX. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHY DID ELECTRIC LIGHTING COME EASILY TO SMART EDISON? "EASY

Today's Cryptoquip clue: E equals N

Bloom County

BOSS! REMEMBER ALL OUR SENSATIONAL PANIC - CAUSING

STORIES ABOUT THE GREAT HETEROSEXUAL AIDS EPIDEMIC ?!

Garfield

YAWN

"Just can't get the hang of these darn things.

By Jim Davis

Yesterday's answer 11-23

46 Club abbr.

Sarcastic 44 -- - Wan

attendee:

45 Palm leaf:

COME, EASY GLOW.

Telenet

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 tem was used during the program to allow for question-and-answer

Janet Dodson, coordinator of the event and financial aid director at Bethany College, said the program has been held for about 11 years, but in individual sessions at selected locations across the state. This was the first year the Telenet system was "(The Telenet broadcast) is a cost to us, but we feel it's a very good cost," Dodson said. "It's very costeffective."

All aspects of the subject of financial aid were covered in the program, from how to complete the financial aid applications to how need and the amount of financial aid are determined.

A new concept and a major change in the way financial aid is administered was covered in the program. The method used to calculate need has been altered. Need is determined by the information students submit on financial aid applications.

The change from what was called Uniform Methodology to the method now in use - Congressional Methodology - will affect how much and whether or not many students receive

Larry Moeder, associate director of financial aid at K-State, said the new method results from the reauthorization in October 1986 of the Higher Education Amendments of

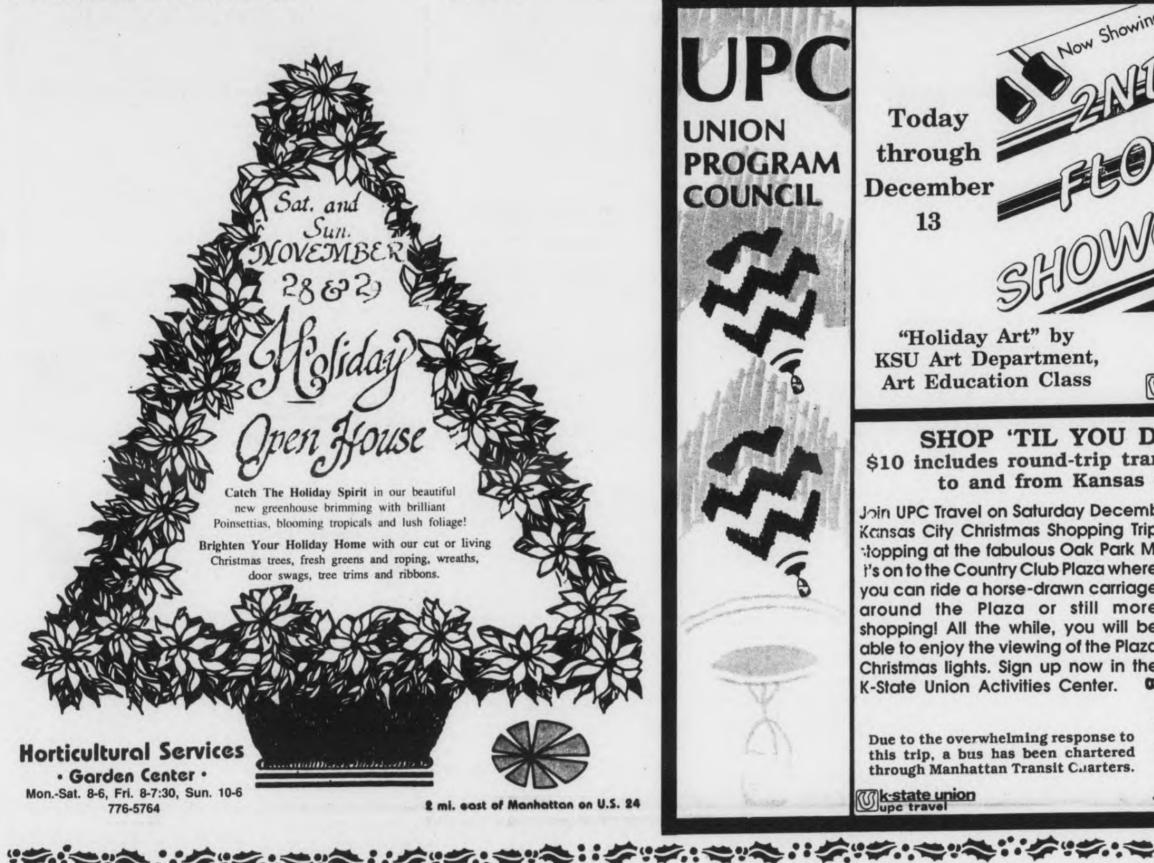

"Basically, Congress put into law how financial aid should be calculated," Moeder said. "Before, it had been done by the U.S. Department of Education. Many believe the legislation was passed in response to special interest groups."

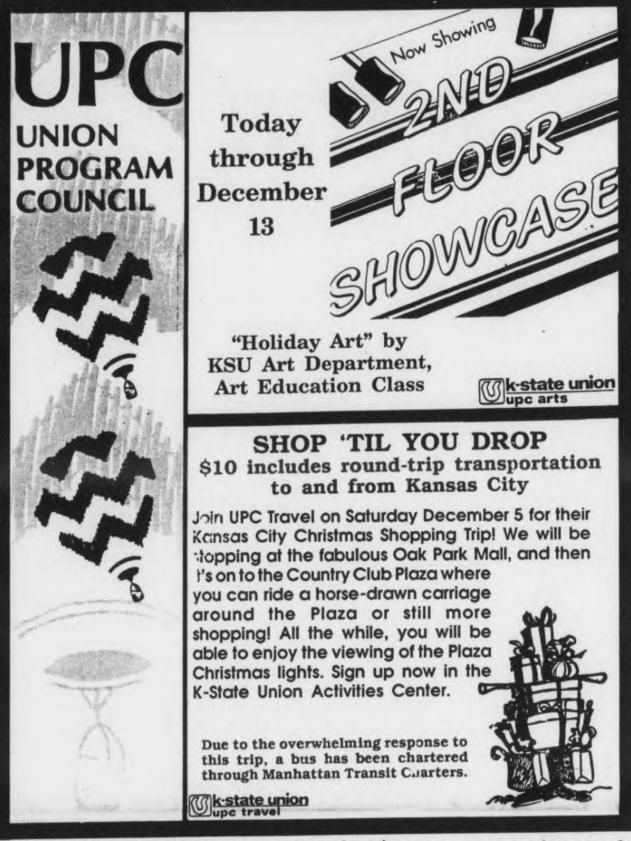

The new method now allows considerations for groups identified as displaced homemakers, dislocated (unemployed) workers and the underemployed (part-time workers.) Special considerations are also provided for students who come from a farm family.

The contributions students are their education will generally to $4,800.

increase while parents' contributions will decrease due to the consideration now of the base-year income of a student, which is what the student made the previous year.

Considering the base-year income, independent students with no dependents will see an average increase in the amount they have to expected to make toward financing pay for their education from $2,300

OLIDAY GIFT BOOK SALE

THESE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE HUNDREDS OF SALE BOOKS AT VARNEY'S BOOK STORE TO MEET YOUR GIFT-GIVING NEEDS!

30%-50%

Quantities are limited, so come in today!

THE AKC'S WORLD OF THE PURE-BRED DOG: A Celebration of the Pure-Bred Dog in America. Ed. by D. Barnes. The American Kennel Club salutes the pure-bred in art and prose, 350 dramatic illus, capture the animal in all its beauty and grace while an engaging text covers its hisstories by O. Henry, John Steinbeck and other leading authors, followed by a special full color section featuring works from the AKC's famed collection. 368 pages. 81/2 x • 10 % . Orig. Pub. at $29.95Only $14.98 AMERICAN FEASTS. By S. Williams. The best in American regional menus from New England chowders to Creole Sandwiches. Great ethnic and regional variety, easy-to-follow recipes and many full color photos. 288 pages. Pub. at $22.95

Only $7.98 BEST OF COLD FOODS. Ed. by C.P. Latham. Over 250 full color photos. Terrific for hot summer days. More than 400 kitchen-tested recipes for light, refreshing dishes cooked ahead then chilled. Elegant foods, simply prepared are perfect anytime whether planning a cocktail party or backyard picnic. 8% x 11%. Pub. at

Only $9.98 CHARLTON HESTON: A BIOGRA-PHY. By Michael Munn. 12 pages of photos. The larger-than-life story of Hollywood's resident epic hero and his amazing ascent. He began life as a lonely child in Michigan and rose to become the most authoritative and influential actor in the American cinema. 224 pages. 5% x 8%. Only $4.98

CHINA'S FOOD: PHOTO COOK- THE GAME OF WORDS. By W.R. Espy. BOOK. By R. Wolf and L. Tiger. Over 200 full color photos. Exquisite photos and a • witty, informative text capture the essence of Chinese culture as it is reflected in Chinese cuisine. Incl. selected recipes that enable any cook to sample the flavors of China at home. 232 pages. 10% x 10% Only $19.95 Pub. at $40.00

CROSSFIRE. By J.C. Pollock. A beautiful woman becomes entangled in a secret, deadly battle between the U.S. and the Soviets. 341 pages. Pub. at $15.95 Only $1.98

DEATH IN KENYA. By M.M. Kaye. For Victoria Caryll, the acceptance of a job at the family estate brings her face to face with grief, confusion, and murder. Pub. at Only $2.98

DEATH IN ZANZIBAR, By M.M. Kaye. A classic whodunit. Young Dany Ashton is invited to vacation at her stepfather's house

tory. For dog lovers there are heartwarming in Zanzibar, but before her plane leaves the murder and intrigue begin. Pub. at Only $2.98

> DEGAS: The Avenel Art Library. Approx. 60 full color plates. Superb celebrates the keen delicacy of the great French Impressionist, famous for his exquisite treatments of the ballet, cafe-life and race Only $6.98 track scenes. 9% x 12. DISTANT REPLAY. By Jerry Kramer and Dick Schaap. The Green Bay Packers renew friendships, trade memories, revive rivalries, share joys and sorrows as they reunite 18 years after winning the first Super Bowl. 236 pages. Pub. at $16.95 Only $3.98

FAYE DUNAWAY. By Allan Hunter. 16 pages of photos. Witness the birth of a star in this probing, highly personal portrait of the Oscar-winning actress. Follow her amazing career from her pre-Bonnie & Clyde days into the '80s. 256 pages. 51/4 x 8 % . Pub. at $16.95 Only $4.98 GAME MAGAZINE BIG BOOK OF GAMES. Ed. by Ronnie Shushan. Fully illus., 32 pages in full color. From the game lovers' bible, an enticing assortment of puzzles, quizzes, mind benders, plus every type of word play you can imagine. It's challenging, it's exciting-it's just plain fun! 192 pages. 81/2 x 11. Pub. at $18.95Only $7.98 A delightful collection of word games and play ranging from epitaphs to anagrams, palindromes, cryptograms, epigrams, euphemisms, franglish, malapropisms, Only $5.98

OPEN:

12-5 p.m. Sun.

GERMAN WARBIRDS: FROM WORLD WAR 1 TO NATO ALLY. By K. Munson. Brilliant collection of German fighting planes. Offers concise, accurate info on 150 famous craft from fabric covered scouts of WWI to the sophisticated radar guided models of today. Each entry illus. in full color plates showing side and split plan view. Photos. 71/2 x 10. Pub. at Only $5.98 $19.95

THE ILLUSTRATED ESCOFFIER. By Auguste Escoffier. Five star treasury from the King of Haute Cuisine featuring a selection of his finest recipes from the classic Le Guide Culinaire. Ideal for the busy cook with step-by-step checkpoints and easy-toread type. Full color photos. 192 pages. 91/2 Only $14.98

LEARN TO COUNT WITH LITTLE RABBIT. By J.P. Miller. An excellent first introduction to numbers. Children are invited to join little rabbit as he receives lessons in counting from 1-10. Full color illus. 6% x 12. Pub. at $3.95 Only $2.49 NESTLE REG TOLL HOUSE COOK-BOOK. From the Nestle REG kitchens, a tempting full color cookbook featuring recipes for delectable desserts such as pies, cakes, pudding and-of course-those famous toll house cookies, all made with Nestle REG toll house chocolate. 96 pages. 8 x 10%. Spiralbound. Only $4.98 NEW COMPLETE BOOK OF COL-LECTIBLE CARS. By R.M. Langworth, G. Robson and the Auto Editors of Consumer Guide. 32 pages of brilliant full color plates and 700 color and b&w photographs.

Provides detailed technical profiles of hundreds of cars from the massive machines of the '30s to the sleek compact cars of the '80s. 416 pages. 9 x 10%. Only $14.98

OCEAN BIRDS. The birds of the sea gracefully captured in hundreds of full color and b&w drawings, paintings and photographs by author Lars Lofgren. A delightful book for birdwatchers or lovers of the sea, offers engaging accounts on the evolution. abilities and behavior of various species. Maps incl. 244 pages. 8 x 111/4. Orig. Pub. Only $15.95

ON ASSIGNMENT. 150 full color and b&w photographs. Over 50 years of history as seen through the lens of photographer Dmitri Kessel. While on assignment for Life magazine Kessel travelled the world over capturing everything from wars to weddings. This giant retrospective represents the life work of one of the world's photographic geniuses. 240 pages. 91/4 x 12. Pub. at $45.00 Only $14.98 OUR FORGOTTEN PAST. Ed. by J. Blum. Over 250 full color and b&w illus.

Brilliant reconstruction of life in the rural community over the last 700 years. Using obscure info. garnered from manuscripts, paintings, and other sources a historian, folklorist, and economist examine farming methods, family structure, superstitions, folk customs and other aspects of village life. 240 pages. 8% x 10%. Pub. at Only $14.98 THE PICTURE BOOK OF MOTHER

GOOSE. By Berta & Elmer Hader. Exquisitely illus. picture book version of Mother

Goose features evocative line art in full color and b&w. 160 pages. Only $7.98 PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE. By P.W. Slosson. Over 650 photos and illus., many in full color. Panoramic celebration of the American experience, from the first settlers to the Reagan Administration. Gives a real feeling for the development of the American national character. 332 pages. 9 x 12.Only $12.98 SANTA'S SUPER CHUNKY PLAY- THE WATER BABIES. Charles Kings-BOOK. From jolly old Saint Nick an ley's ageless tale of an orphaned little chimassortment of games, puzzles and coloring ney sweet whisked away by fairies. Rich activities for youngsters. Softbound. Orig. Pub. at $5.95 Only $1.98 THE SCOTTISH WORLD. By H. Ovel, and illus., plus 60 full color plates. A group of scholars well versed in the history, art and 9% literature of Scotland have collaborated to produce this comprehensive chronicle of Scottish culture. 328 pages. 8% x 12. Orig. Pub. at $45.00 Only $17.95 SISTER SWEET ELLA: LIBRARY

EDITION. By R. Hoffman. Enchanting story about a little boy who casts a spell on his baby sister. A tale of sibling rivalry full of rich imagery and bewitching full color illus. Young readers. 81/4 x 8 1/4. Pub. at Only $2.49 TEDDY BEAR'S CHRISTMAS: Holiday Greetings from the Secret World of Teddy Bears. By P. Prince and E.F. Keenan. From the team that brought you the ship for kids of all ages. Humorously illus. bestselling Secret World of Teddy Bears comes a festive album of touching scenes gift for all Teddy Bear lovers. Pub. at Only $3.98 TEDDY TRUCKS: LIBRARY EDI-TION. By M. Cartlidge. Outstanding full color illus. follow the scenic and wonderful route of the Teddy Trucks transport company. Incl. Teddy Trucks Road Game. Winner of the 1979 Mother Goose Award. Young readers. Pub. at $11.88Only $1.98 THE VERY NICE JEWISH QUIZ BOOK: From Chopped Liver to Dr. Spock. By Dan Carlinsky. Lighthearted gathering of questions and quizzes about all more. 144 pages. 6 x 9. Only $4.98 full color plates and elegant line drawings by Jessie Willcox Smith highlight this beautifully produced volume with bonded leathet al. Over 225 full color and b&w photos er binding, foil stamping, deckle-edged front and full color case. 240 pages. 7% x Only $8.98 things Jewish. Incl. the Jewish Math Test,

the Jewish Mother Puzzle, Israeli Trivia,

WEBSTER'S CONCISE ENCY. CLOPEDIA OF FLAGS AND COATS .. OF ARMS. By W.G. Crampton. The flag of virtually every nation in the world identified and illus. in full color, in addition to the coats of arms of every independent nation. A brief text accompanies each country detailing its history and the symbolism behind the flag and coat of arms. 6 maps. Only $5.98 224 pages. 4 x 6%. A WELCOME FOR ANNIE. By H. Craig. Two playful pigs find a target for their mischief when a new family moves in next door. An engaging story about friendin full color. 9 x 9. Pub. at $7.95 from a Teddy family Christmas. The perfect WHAT TIME IS IT, LITTLE RABBIT? By J.P. Miller. Learning to tell time is easy! In this fully illus., full color picture book Little Rabbit teachers young friends the basics of telling time. 61/4 x 12. Pub. at Only $2.49 $3.95

WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT . TODAY? By A. Krauze. Joyous full color cartoons take a peek at a group of anxious animals as they prepare for a birthday celebration. Young readers. 8 x 10%. Pub. at Only $1.98

WHIFF, SNIFF, NIBBLE, AND CHEW.

By C. Pomerantz. Today's children will love this modern retelling of the classic Gingerbread Boy. Illus. in color. 7 x 94. Only $1.98 Pub. at $9.50

9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat.

いっかこかっかこかっかこうできなこれでかいかっかいかっかいかっかいかっかいかっかい

PLUS, SAVE 25% EVERY DAY ON OUR

TOP 10 HARDBACK BESTSELLERS

623 N. Manhattan Ave.

539-0511

66612 mond led the Wildcats to a 65-50 victory over Fresno State and the Sun Met Classic title. See Page 7.

Monday

November 30, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 66

Kansas State Collegian

Cubans release hostages in Louisiana

Rioters in Atlanta still hold 90 captive

By The Associated Press

OAKDALE, La. - Cuban inmates Sunday threw down their weapons and released the 26 hostages they had held for eight days at a burned-out federal prison after a Cuban-born bishop urged them to accept a government agreement.

At the riot-tom Atlanta federal penitentiary, Cuban inmates released four of their hostages early Sunday, leaving 90 people still captive.

The freed hostages, some of them grinning broadly, walked from the Federal Detention Center near Oakdale at 2:25 p.m. Cheering and weeping relatives ran alongside the bus that carried the men to Humana Hospital in Oakdale for checkups. All of the hostages appeared to be in good health, said Louis Deumite, the hospital's executive director.

After releasing the hostages, some of the 950 Cuban inmates threw their homemade knives, clubs, hammers and boards studded with nails into a pile in the yard of the detention center. One Cuban waved an American

Cubans seized control of the facility on Nov. 21 and the federal penitentiary in Atlanta two days later in riots sparked by a government announcereturned to Cuba.

The inmates demanded that they be allowed to remain in the United States. Federal officials have said they would delay any deportations until the Cubans' cases could be reviewed individually.

The rioting left one person dead, 53 people injured and the prisons badly damaged by fires and looting.

About a half-hour after the hostages were released, four representatives of the inmates signed the agreement with the government. The signing was witnessed, at the inmates' insistence, by Auxiliary Bishop Agustin Roman of Miami's Roman Catholic archdiocese.

J.D. Williams, a regional director of the federal Bureau of Prisons who was the government's chief negotiator, refused to reveal details of the ment that many inmates would be agreement, saying it might jeopardize negotiations with Cubans in Atlanta.

"We did not give away the store," Williams said. "I think it's a good agreement. It's an agreement we all can live with. We got an amenable agreement."

The agreement followed a videotaped appeal by Agustin Roman, who urged the Cubans to release their hostages and sign the pact with federal authorities.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III, in a statement released by the Justice Department in Washington, said, "While this is understandably a time of rejoicing and thanksgiving, the Department of Justice will not rest until the situation in Atlanta is also peacefully concluded and all the hostages there are released."

About 200 Cubans, classified as minimum-security prisoners, will be sent from Oakdale to the Army base at Fort Polk, La., Williams said.

The rest will remain at Oakdale. where they would reside in four undamaged dormitories, until they could be processed and transferred to any of more than 40 other federal lockups across the nation, Williams

At Sacred Heart Church, where families of the hostages had been keeping vigil, relatives began screaming and crying as they watched a closed-circuit television picture of the captives being released.

When the bus carrying the hostages to the hospital passed by the church, many of the relatives ran out of the church, jumped ditches on the side of the road and started following

Ron Thompson of Mobile, Ala., began screaming the name of his twin brother Donald, when he caught sight of him getting off the bus. "Oh, God! Thank you!," he yelled four times before breaking down crying. Roman's taped message was shown to inmates on closed-circuit television sets set up around the perimeter of the 40-acre detention center, said Mark Sheehan of the Justice Department.

"The past will end and the future will begin," Roman told the inmates. "Sign the document. You can be sure that what you will have done is Negotiations continued Sunday with Cuban prisoners in Atlanta. Authorities reported some hopeful signs but said there was little movement.

Staff/Steve Wolgast

High lights

Completing work he started six hours earlier, Paul Robinson, junior in market- Sunday afternoon. Robinson and other house members decorated the house with ing, tapes a string of Christmas lights to the roof of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity about 20 strings of lights in preparation for the holiday season.

Association names rep as director

By Nancy Hill Collegian Reporter

Becky Klingler, admissions representative, has been selected to fill one of the positions left vacant in the Alumni Association due to the departure of Lewjene Schneider.

Schneider's job as Director of Alumni and Student Programs in the Alumni Association was divided into two positions when she left in October to work under Gov. Mike Hayden as Director of Travel and Tourism for the

The two positions are Field Director of Alumni Club Programs and Associate Director of the Alumni Association. Klingler has been chosen to fill the position of field director.

"We were looking for someone with a strong background in business and public relations, with an outgoing personality, with experience working with volunteers and speaking before large groups, and with strong K-State orientation," said Larry Weigel, executive director of the Alumini

■ See ALUMNI, Page 5

For some couples employed at K-State, work is family affair

By Corbin Novotny Collegian Reporter

For some couples employed by the University, bringing the work home isn't any more of a problem than bringing the home to work.

K-State has a few of these co-working couples who either work on campus but in different offices, or work with each other in the same office. Myrna and Robert Daly, who both work on campus but are in different departments, said they have no real problem with their jobs. Robert is an associate professor of journalism and mass communication, and Myrna is the

"I feel it's an advantage that we're in completely different departments, because we work at the same university. We have a lot in common, and we have a lot of the same interests about the University," Myrna said.

publications coordinator for the department of extension communications.

"She is way up on the other end of campus. I rarely ever see her," Robert said. "The only time I see her is when she comes to the printing service here sometimes.

Robert and Myrna met at Marquette University in Milwaukee where both were studying journalism.

"I moved here because of the job," Robert said. "She started work at extension three or four years later. We didn't move as a package here."

A positive aspect Robert said he sees about working for the same university is the entertainment and speakers which are always available for nighttime

There is almost always too much to do at a university," Robert said. With a family of two, Myrna tries not to take her work home with her. Since Robert teaches, he can't get away with it as easily.

"I have more work at home from teaching writing courses," Robert said, "I also get a fair amount of calls from students in the evening."

Another working couple on campus is Mike and Judy Lynch. The Lynches

■ See COUPLES, Page 9

Officials investigate air disasters

Korean Air jetliner vanishes Sunday near Burma

By The Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea - A Korean Air jetliner carrying 115 people on a flight from the Middle East vanished somewhere near Burma and apparently crashed into the sea or thick jungle, officials said Monday.

An air operations official at Seoul's Kimpo International Airport said KAL Flight 858 from Baghdad, the capital of Iraq, to Seoul went missing Sunday without a trace and officials were trying to find out what happened.

"It just disappeared," said one official, who spoke on condition of not being identified.

The Boeing 707 was carrying 95 passengers and a flight crew of 20, the airline said. All but two of the people, an Indian and a Lebanese living in Abu Dhabi, were South Korean, officials said.

The Burmese Civil Aviation Administration in Rangoon said the plane was over the Andaman Sea, about 150 miles west of the Burmese coastal town of Tavoy, when contact was lost.

The Andaman Sea lies between the Indian subcontinent and South-

Minister of Communications Banharn Silpa-Archa told newsmen Monday that Royal Thai Air Force craft had been searching the Thai-Burmese region and had found evidence of a crash. But he also said Flight 858 may have plunged into the Andaman Sea.

A provincial police chief said villagers said they saw an aircraft plunge into a jungled area along the Thai-Burmese frontier and patrols were dispatched to determine whether it was the South Korean

Police Col. Punlop Roongsumphun said in a telephone interview that the villagers came from Huay Kaper, a border hamlet in Kanchanaburi Province 150 miles west of

■ See PLANE, Page 9

South African jumbo jet crashes with 159 aboard

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - Search teams pulled five bodies Sunday from the Indian Ocean where a South African Airways Boeing jumbo jet crashed with 159 people aboard, including one American, officials said. There were no known survivors.

Authorities then suspended the search because of rough seas but said it world resume Monday.

The plane, apparently on fire, crashed early Saturday as it approached Mauritius for a refueling stop en route from Taiwan to Johannesburg.

The five bodies recovered Sunday were not identified. Two were men, two were women and the other too mutilated for the search crew to determine gender, airport officials on the island of Mauritius

Passengers on Flight SA295 came from 12 countries. The American was identified as G. Murless, South African Airways said. The airline earlier did not identify any of the passengers as American. It was the world's worst air tragedy this year and the worst in South African aviation history.

Officials would not speculate on the cause of the crash of the 747-200B "Combi," a jumbo jet designed to carry both passengers and cargo.

Contact with the plane was lost 10 minutes before the scheduled landing, after the pilot, Capt. Dawie Uys, 49, radioed to the control tow-

South African Airways spokesman Nico Venter denied a report that the plane was delayed in Taiwan because of a bomb threat. It was delayed one hour because of weather and to accommodate passengers from other flights making connections, he said.

Ships from France, Mauritius, Taiwan and Japan took part Sunday in the search.

Job forcast good despite crash

EAST LANSING, Mich. - The job outlook for college graduates is good despite the recent stock market crash, according to a Michigan State University recruiting survey.

Employers questioned after the crash said they plan to hire 3.8 percent more college graduates this year, with starting salaries for graduates with a bachelor's degree averaging $22,600, the survey by placement services at Michigan State found. That was down from 5.5 percent before the crash.

"Apparently the economy is more solid than reflected by 'Black Monday' and it did not shake the confidence of the employers as much as many people believed," said John Shingleton, who conducted the survey.

Large corporations plan to cut back at middle- and topmanagement levels, but increase hiring 2 percent to 5 percent for 1987-88, the survey results indicate.

According to the survey:

■ The regions of the country with the best employment opportunities for new graduates are the Southwest and the Northeast.

■ Twenty-seven percent of employers surveyed test new graduates for drug use. Two percent test for acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Statistics gathered for the annual survey were based on responses from 1,019 employers in business, industry, government

Shingleton said information was compiled before and after the Oct. 19 stock market dive.

Nebraska strives for waste site

LINCOLN, Neb. - Nebraska has mailed more than 1,200 information packets on a regional nuclear waste disposal site, double the number of any other state in the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact.

The mass mailing to local government officials and chambers of commerce across Nebraska prompted criticism from opponents, who say state officials are promoting the waste site.

But Gov. Kay Orr said she is living up to commitments made by Nebraska when the state joined the compact in 1983.

State officials say Orr also is honoring an agreement made this summer by all of the compact state governors to distribute the information compiled by compact commission.

Of the other states, Arkansas distributed 120 information packets; Oklahoma, less than 300; Kansas and Louisiana, less than 600 each, according to compact officials.

.Nebraska has received the most inquiries about the proposed facility from local communities. So far 15 to 20 towns have contacted state Department of Environmental Control officials, and six of those communities have held public meetings to gather more information on hosting the waste site.

Schulz's earnings not 'Peanuts'

SANTA ROSA, Calif. - Charles Schulz's earnings as creator of a cartoon-strip empire aren't exactly peanuts.

Schulz, according to Forbes magazine, earned an estimated $30 million last year, and is expected to earn $30 million this year, putting him among the ranks of such multimillionaire entertainers as Bruce Springsteen, Bill Cosby and Sylvester Stallone.

A constant source of income has been the "Peanuts" comic strip, which first appeared in seven newspapers on Oct. 2.

Family Health Insurance Costs

Too High?

Call Rick Nash at

Keating & Associates

Security Mutual Life Nebraska

- Big screen TV • watch your favorite soaps or sports -

Two Lunch Buffets

Expires 12-16-87

Not good with any other offer or specials 519 Richards Dr. • Manhattan

(913)776-1170

1011 Poyntz

All-U-Can Eat

Pizza & Salad

Buffet 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Monday-Friday

ONLY

SHOWBIZ

PIZZA PLACE

537-0366

Kansas accidents claim 8 lives

Eight people were killed in traffic accidents in Kansas during the extended Thanksgiving holiday weekend, including an Iola man who died early Sunday in a one-car accident near Yates

The Kansas Highway Patrol said Miles L. Kenssinger, 23, died about 2:20 a.m. after he lost control of his car on a Woodson County road about 41/2 miles east of Yates Center.

Christine Guevera, 32, of Garden City died shortly before 2 a.m. Sunday when her car and a tractor-trailer rig collided as the woman turned onto U.S. 50.

John Graff, 33, of LaCrosse died Saturday afternoon when a train struck his pickup truck at an intersection in LaCrosse, police said. Graff was a vocational-agriculture teacher at LaCrosse High Yonmi Park, 19, of Ottawa and Mark L. Henderson, 19, of Phillipsburg died early Saturday when their car slid off an icy bridge on U.S. 183 near Phillipsburg and struck a power pole and trees, the patrol said.

William Correll, 79, and his wife, Kathryn, 76, died in a twovehicle accident Friday afternoon on U.S. 63, near their hometown of Havensville in northeast Kansas, the patrol said.

Jill A. Hammer, 22, of Marshalltown, Iowa, was killed early Friday near Emporia when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on U.S. 50 as she attempted a U-turn, the patrol said. Last year, six people were killed in accidents during the Thanksgiving holiday period. Nationally, 430 people died over the holiday period, which officially began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Players say Lottery unfair

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Some Kansas Lottery players are complaining that the $100,000 jackpot drawing of losing tickets is unfair because Lottery retailers are using other people's

As part of its first instant-ticket game, the Lottery is allowing players to mail in an unlimited number of losing tickets, five to an envelope, for a $100,000 jackpot drawing.

Some players say many store owners and employees at Lottery outlets are using losing tickets left by customers at the counter, on the floor or even in the parking lot.

"They have an unlimited supply of free tickets," says 68-year-old Lottery player Bob Mount of Overland Park, a freelance writer who complained to lottery officials.

Soviet animal lovers protest

MOSCOW - About 70 animal lovers rallied in Moscow Sunday to demand an end to the extermination of strays and better public veterinary services, in one of the first protests against government policy to earn official sanction.

The placard-carrying demonstrators gathered outside Dynamo subway station in northwest Moscow and marched to an animal control center several blocks away where they said thousands of animals a year are killed.

Soviets are devoted pet owners and, although the protection of animal rights is a fairly new concept to them, it promises to stir strong emotions.

"Our goals are entirely acceptable under the principles of our government. See, even (Soviet founder Vladimir) Lenin loved cats," declared Lyudmila Yegorova,

Wichita Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Dedicated to Optometry

in a friendly manner

K-State, we'd like to be your optometric office

Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended

wear, tinted soft contact lenses Contact lenses competitively priced

Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting

 Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock •Evening and Saturday appointments available

Drs Price, Young, Odle and Horsch

537-1118 1119 Westloop

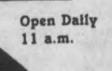

- Enjoy the best in animated entertainment -

CHILE RELLENOS

In English a Chile Relleno means a "stuffed pepper." Ours is a mild Anaheim pepper stuffed with cheese, breaded, & then deep-fried. We then smother it in chili sauce & melt Cheddar cheese on top. Mmmmm! A lettuce salad and a side of rice, sour cream, & salsa finish the meal. This is a truly special taste treat--only at PINATA!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

E SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students

On campus, building to building transportation

Inquire by calling 532-6436

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY COUNCIL meets at 5:15 p.m. in Justin 341.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 5:30 p.m. in Shellenberger 110 to begin baking for Wednesday's sale.

TUESDAY

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZA-TION meets at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA meets at 7 p.m. in Willard 218 for officer elections.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL meets at 6 p.m. in Union 209.

NATIONAL AGRI-MARKETING ASSOCIATION meets at 7 p.m. in Union

ECONOMICS CLUB meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209 to discuss the decrease in the DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet all afternoon at University Photography, 711 N. 12th St., to take composite pictures.

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS' Christmas party has been changed from Wednesday to Monday, Dec. 7.

Stadium Pizza

from the Dougout

FREE DELIVERY

Tues Sat 5 p.m. to Midnight

Call 537-1484

TAXPAYERS

with dependents

Beginning with your 1987 income

1988, you generally must list social security numbers for dependents who are at least five years old by the end of 1987. If any of your number, get an application form today from the Social Security dependents do not have this office in your area.

tax return that you will file in

HERE'S A TAX TIP:

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

IT'S NOT EASY DECIDING ON A PRESENT FOR A CRABBY BIG SISTER

25 shopping days to Christmas

Go easy on your heart and start cutting back on foods that are high in saturated fat and cholesterol. The change'll do you good.

YOUR LIFE

WERE FIGHTING FOR

MONDAY'S HIGH ROLLERS

Any call or premium liquor drink

$1.75

Tuesday Import Beer

only $1.25 Pitchers $2.25

Now Serving Sandwiches

Kitchen open til 1 a.m.

616 N. 12th 539-8976

FANNY WRAP

·black •teal blue •royal blue ·periwinkle blue

1224 Moro Aggieville Manhattan Town Center Mall

open 7 days FREE GIFT WRAP

You've got the job.

You could fill this space if you are dedicated, responsible and extremely motivated. The Collegian Advertising Staff is looking for these qualities in the following positions: Assistant Advertising Manager, Campus/ Tearsheet Sales Representative, Sales Representatives, and Graphic Artist. If you meet these qualifications...You've got the job.

Applications available in Kedzie 103, Due Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 5 p.m.

Poles vote in first referendum since '46

By The Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland - Millions of people voted Sunday in Poland's first referendum in 41 years, which asked them to endorse economic reforms including steep price increases and to back government-style democratization.

But according to official estimates, the turnout was the lowest in Poland in national balloting since the Communists came to power affter World War II.

State television reported early Monday that the Central Referendum Commission estimated about 68 percent of Poland's 26.8 million eligible voters cast ballots.

Police broke up anti-referendum marches by hundreds of people in Gdansk and Warsaw, which were the Millions consider economic reforms largest of several protests around the country, and many people boycotted the balloting that critics called a

Large numbers of Poles, however, clearly were intrigued by the opportunity to voice their views and expressed hope the election would improve life in this country beset by shortages of goods and worker

Unlike past rubber-stamp elections in Communist Poland, people had to actively mark the ballots in order to vote and were encouraged to make their choices in secret.

"Calm prevails ... and no one is disturbing the serious rite of the referendum," government spokes-

Urban expressed no disappointment after the turnout was reported. "We recognize this as something natural. There is no set tradition of participating in the referendum," he told reporters.

He said he considered the turnout good and thanked the voters.

In the June 1984 general election for People's Councils, the government said 75 percent of the electorate participated. The outlawed Solidarity union had boycotted the election and claimed the government figure was exaggerated.

That had been the lowest turnout under communist rule. In earlier reported turnouts of around 99 pecent.

Polls closed at 10 p.m. and the government was not expected to announce the yes-no results until

Approval of the first of the referendum's two questions would mean price rises averaging 40 percent next year, with increases of 110 percent for basic foods and 140-200 percent for heat and rents. The government says that if the question fails, increases would be less extreme.

A strong "yes" vote for the second question would strengthen progressive elements within the Communist man Jerzy Urban told reporters elections, authorities always democracy and openness in line with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reform campaign.

Reforms under discussion include changing election laws to end the practice of having preferred candidates, strengthening local governments and increasing the number of non-party people in high government positions.

Earlier this month, a group of opposition leaders tried to form a new Socialist Party, which the government deemed illegal, saying it would incite unrest.

Polish leader Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski has promoted the referendum as the latest sign of "renewal" in government who argue for greater Poland since the December 1981 crackdown on the later banned Solidarity independent labor federation. He voted Sunday at a museum near his modest home in southern Solidarity founder Lech Walesa dismissed the election as propaganda and said he was staying home at his apartment in Gdansk. The country's powerful Roman Catholic church did not take a stand on the referendum.

In Gdansk, about 2,000 people leaving Mass at St. Brygida's Church tried to form a march but were dispersed by police armed with truncheons, said a spokesman at the parish

Urban said only about 400 people were involved. He denied that police beat protesters and said demonstrators threw rocks at police.

Haiti's election-day violence leaves nearly 30 dead fall, with virtually no one in the tatorship by fleeing to France.

By The Associated Press

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti - The military-dominated junta dissolved the Independent Electoral Council after the council canceled Sunday's elections because of violence that left more than two dozen people dead.

At least 15 voters were shot and hacked to death at one polling station in the capital. Twelve other deaths were reported in scattered locations.

Junta chief Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy, in a television announcement at 6:30 p.m., condemned the violence, said elections can still be held and he plans to step down as promised on Feb. 7, 1988, to make way for a freely elected president.

As Namphy spoke, sporadic gunfire could be heard in the streets in renewed violence that started shortly after sunset.

In a decree read over television at 3:30 p.m., Namphy's three-member National Governing Council accused the electoral council of taking an action that "endangers the unity of the nation and invites the intervention of foreign powers in the country's internal affairs."

Foreign countries, including the United States, Canada, had provided millions of dollars in assistance for the balloting and sent observation teams. The United States provided $7.9 million for the election.

Voters would have elected a president and National Assembly to replace the governing junta that took over 22 months ago when Presidentfor-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier ended a 29-year family dictatorship by fleeing to France.

There were 22 candidates for the presidency and 328 candidates for 104 seats in the bicameral National

French Ambassador Michel de LaFourniere protested the junta's measure in this former French colony. Asked if the junta's decree amounted to a coup, he responded, "The coup was this morning," referring to the violence at the polling

In Washington, the State Department said America was immediately cutting off all non-humanitarian aid

Department spokesman Benjamin Justesen read a statement that said: "The United States has decided to remove all United States military assistance personnel from Haiti and to suspend all military assistance to

"In addition, all non-humanitarian being suspended and only humanitarian assistance will continue."

The electoral council canceled the elections less than three hours after the polls opened at 6 a.m.

The free elections would have been the first in Haiti, which shares Hispaniola Island with the Dominican Republic, in more than 30 years.

From Saturday night into Sunday morning Port-au-Prince, the capital city of 1 million, resembled a war economic aid programs to Haiti are zone. Bodies lay scattered about the downtown area. Explosions rocked neighborhoods. Gunmen sprayed slums and shantytowns with bullets. But the gunmen began disappearing after the election was canceled and by midmorning the streets were

"The election is canceled throughout the country," a spokesman for the electoral council president Ernst Mirville, said at 8:50 a.m.

Port-au-Prince was quiet by night-streets and little traffic.

no information of any injuries to U.S. citizens, including 12 members of the delegation sent to Haiti as election observers.

Voters would have elected a president and National Assembly to replace the governing junta that took over 22 months ago when "President-for-Life" Jean-Claude Duvalier ended a 29-year family dic-

Electoral council member Marc The State Department said it had Guerrier blamed the army for the cancellation.

In an interview from Gonaives, monitored in San Juan on Puerto Rico Channel 24-TV, Paul Latortue, a Senate candidate, said he did not "discard the possibility of U.S. intervention in the Haiti crisis if the situation continues.'

The army never publicly supported the election,

THIS SATURDAY:

CHARLIE'S 4TH ANNIVERSARY PARTY!

Look for details!

Donald L. Graham, D.D.S.

and

Mark D. Hungerford D.D.S., P.A. wish to announce the relocation of their Family and Implant Dental Practice to the lower level of

1834 Claflin Rd. (North of Goodnow Hall) Manhattan, Kansas New telephone number 913/539-5949

Emergencies seen immediately Evening and early morning appointments available Free consultations

START 1988 Keystone

for $235.

Jan. 4-10 Includes: lodging transportation taxes

discounts

CALL Kansas State Travel David Baerg-Host 537-2451

Comedy Invasion Every Monday & Tuesday at 9 p.m. TONIGHT

Mark Pitta featuring Tom Rhodes

10 oz. Sirloin $5.65 served with potato, bread & salad bar

Bar Office 539-9727 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan

Save $5.00 on the cost of a student ticket to

03820 03860 03870

08280

08300

16950 17460 17480

17540

11920

Present this voucher with your K-State student ID at the McCain Box Office and save $5 on any available seat.

Conditions: One student ticket per voucher. Offer good only for full-time K-State students. Voucher not redeemable for cash. Offer ex- pires Friday, December 4, 1987.

The Canadian Brass Sunday, December 6, 1987 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

Don't Approach the Work Force with NO EXPERIENCE

Work for the Fifth Largest Morning Daily Newspaper in Kansas

Now Taking Applications for Spring Collegian:

Science/Health Editor Government/City Editor Arts & Entertainment Editor News Editor Copy Editors Feature Editor Sports Editor Agribusiness Editor Sports Writers Reviewer Graphic Artists

Pick Up Your Application in Kedzie 103 NOW Applications Due by 5 p.m. Dec. 1, 1987, in Kedzie 103

Spring 1988 Closed Class List

00230	0,0000	09380	13820	19750	24270	26220	29850	32700	35181	03950	08700	13180	19270
00400	05340	09390	13830	19840	24460	26240	30410	32730	35240	03960	08830	13210	19410
00530	05350		13870	19850	24500	26250	30510	32750	35370	04310	09220	13240	19420
01020	05500	09940		20140	24600	26280	30600	32780	35500	04320	09260	13250	19440
01070	05540	10710	13910	20150	24640	26300	30640	32820	35510	04330	09290	13260	19450
01210	05560	10720	13920	20160	24650	26340	30690	32830	35770	04350	09310	13350	19470
01220	05590	10730	13930		24660	26350	30700	32840	35950	04610	09320	13360	19560
01610	05600	10740	13970	20170	24670	26370	30720	32860	35960	04670	09330	13400	19570
01700	05630	10750	13980	20180		26380	30820	32870	35990	04850	09340	13460	19580
02040	05660	10760	14330	20200	24690	26390	30870	32880	36020	05310	09350	13470	19630
02130	05690	10770	14340	20210	24730		31320	32950	36140	05320	09340	13510	19710
02150	05710	10830	14440	20220	24850	26410	31370	32960	36190	22450	25630	29120	32440
02170	05730	10840	14520	20230	24860	26420	31380	32970	36210	22560	25670	29130	32450
02180	05740	10890	14550	20310	24870	26430	31460	33350	36700	22580	25680	29140	32460
02340	05750	10920	14590	20370	24890	26470	31470	33400	36880	22680	25700	29151	32470
02390	05760	10930	14620	20460	24900	26480	31480	33460	36990	22760	25710	29190	32480
02510	05770	10960	14640	20560	24910		31510	33470	37120	22910	25720	29240	32490
02520	05800	10970	14720	20670	24950	26510	31520	33490	37220	23070	25760	29250	32540
02650	05860	11050	14760	20740	24960	26520	31530	33510	37310	23130	25790	29290	32560
02770	05980	11100	14790	20750	24970		31580	33540	37390	23140	25860	29300	32600
02920	06070	11110	14910	20800	24980	26610	31590	33550	37440	23570	25670	29310	32610
03150	06200	11120	14950	20820	25010	26660	31610	33560	3753C	24050	25880	29320	32630
031 60	06280	11130	14960	20830	25050		31630	33570	34310	24130	25950	29350	32650
03180	06420	11140	14980	20850	25060	26680	31650	33640	34320	24120	22120
03520	06840	11150	15010	20920	25070	26690	31970	33660	34330
03750	06850	11160	15020	20950	25090	26700		33750	34340
03760	07000	11170	15190	21100	25100	26740	32060	33800	34420
03770	07210	11180	16130	21110	25450	27210	32310	33820	34550
03780	07220	11300	16650	21210	25460	27220	32320	33840	34950
03790	07300	11310	16720	21230	25470	27920	32330		35100
03800	07590.	11320	16730	21290	25480	28990	32340	33860
03810	07640	11330	16880	21300	25490	29050	32370	34080	35120
03820	08200	11900	16950	21310	25500	29060	32360	34130	35130
03860	08230	11910	17460	21340	255 10	29070	32390	34160	35160
			174 60	21 25 0	266 20	20080	32400	34200	33110

32410 32420

34160 34200 34210

255 20

25530

25540 25550

29090 29100 29110

21350

21580

21710

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, November 30, 1987 ■ Page 4

'Gold Card' ID: creative funding idea instinctively look for ways to take additional money from their constituents without calling for a tax increase. These schemes usually involve "tax reform," "closing tax loopholes" or invoking new or increased "user fees." The K-State breed of bureaucrat, however, came up with a scheme for raising money this fall that ought to win some kind of award. K-State is charging faculty and staff, who come forth quickly enough with the necessary loot, a premium price for reserved parking spaces.

Of course, there have always been faculty and staff reserved parking spaces, and a fee has usually been charged. But qualification for a reserved space required some justification, however farfetched, based on one's administrative position or health. Now, that excuse is no longer needed. Just cross the University's palm with the right amount of cash and — first come, first served — you

When budgets are tight, bureaucrats may be the lucky recipient of a reserved stall.

I think it's a great idea. The potential for raising additional revenue is unlimited. In a "best case" scenario, the administration might bring in enough revenue to do away with tuition altogether.

I would definitely start offering premium parking to students, since it has proved to be so popular with the faculty. We may not have rich students, but we do have students with rich parents (at least, rich enough).

For the truly rich, we could offer valet parking at selected buildings. You pull up at Eisenhower Hall, for example, two minutes before an important exam, and a man in a monogrammed blazer parks your car for you. After the exam, you merely say, "Mine is the blue Porsche," and your vehicle is brought to the curb for you.

Then, those used to a certain lifestyle would certainly appreciate something more Commentary

JUDD ANNIS

Collegian Columnist

refined and elegant in the form of living accommodations. For a healthy share of the profit, we might allow a Hyatt Regency hotel to be built, say, on the large grassy area between Farrell Library and Cardwell Hall. It could feature a health club, indoor swimming pool, 5-star restaurant, room service, valet service, etc., with transport to class available via chauffeured, electric golf carts.

dent ID "Gold Card" which would entitle the bearer to the following privileges:

- Express checkout lanes at the Union Smoking" signs in every building.
- "Preferred customer" early enrollment;
- On-stage seating at all Landon Lectures;
- "Gold Card" vending machines stocked with quiche, shrimp and sushi;
- Reserved water fountains offering
- Union cafeteria seating, with belly dancers and palm trees;
- Bail bond up to $1,000 if arrested in the

Of course, if the student ID "Gold Card" went over big, the richest of the rich would be My last idea is the best, since it involves prime candidates for our new "Platinum virtually no expense to the University. For Card." It might offer you no-appointment $300 per semester extra, you could get a stu-visiting privileges with President Jon Wefald, visitor's gallery admission to Faculty Senate meetings or the right to ignore "No

> Lest you find my proposal a bit elitist for a land-grant university founded for the purpose of making higher education available to the common man, remember that nothing I propose would keep anyone out. The same can't be said for the regents' proposal for selective admissions. Under my "revenue enhancement" program, you may feel like a secondclass citizen. But, what the hell - you're probably feeling like a second-class citizen

> What's one more slam if it's for a good cause?

Retailers have just edge in losing ticket Lottery

People always seem to complain. First of all, Kansas had no lottery, so reforms were made to change that situation.

Then Kansas gets a lottery, and the whining begins.

Some people think Lottery retailers have an unfair advantage in the $100,000 jackpot drawing of losing tickets because they are using other people's losing tickets.

The tickets many merchants — or those employed by Lottery retailers - send in are not tickets purchased by those individuals, but rather losing tickets left behind by the actual lottery ticket purchaser.

Now people complain that merchants have an unfair advantage which they do. But these gripers have several options: They can take themselves to a store and pick up the losing tickets which have been left behind; they can ask others to save losing tickets for them, or they can contrive another legal way of collecting losing tickets.

Granted these suggestions are not easily carried out, nor are they actually fair. But who said life, or a chance of luck, is fair.

Deficit reduction plans will require cooperation negotiators have agreed to a $76 bil- the Reagan administration. lion deficit reduction plan, Congress is going to attempt the legislative impossible: to devise and pass a twoyear plan in the three weeks remaining before the legislators' Christmas

Cooperation is the key to achieving this milestone, according to many correct legislative leaders. It should be what pushes this accord toward passage and what helps eliminate this nation's staggering federal deficit. It should also be used to keep special interests from watering down yet another plan.

However, in their haste to pass this bill, legislators should remember fairness. They should remember that Social Security, family aid programs and health programs deserve as much attention — and money — as

Now that congressional budget Star Wars and other pet projects of

It would be an outstanding Christmas present to the nation if a deficit reduction plan could be passed. The plan would mark a milestone in cooperation between both houses of Congress and the administration.

Most of all, it would show the nation and the world that our country's leaders are serious about reducing the deficit, instead of collapsing under pressure from all sides.

There is no doubt that pressure exists to save certain programs from the budget-cutting ax. The real Christmas present would be if legislators show backbone in making the cuts - no matter how unpopular those cuts may be - for the good of the entire nation, not just for some

The Democrats' Search for Authenticity No blow-dried Not just another over-processed pretty face. No gimmicks (ok, one gimmick) No name Authentic recognition New Deal Democrat (not counting the singer) without the spending part. (as in authentic Van Gogh without the color part) ONE PORTRAIT HIS SUCCESSORS WON'T HANG IN THE OVAL OFFICE ...

Current United States democracy nothing but technicolor dream

With America's fast-food approach to life, there is a distinct tendency to simplify complicated issues into easily digestible buzz words and phrases. This tendency is exemplified by the television network news programs and newspapers like USA Today, which attempt to condense the happenings of the entire world into a few short paragraphs. This has become a major problem for America, and it has a profound effect on the way we view the events happening around us.

"Democracy" is a buzz word that is thrown around quite a bit. One would be hardpressed to find an American politician who doesn't use this word at least once per speech. To Americans, "democracy" has come to stand for everything that is good, which translated means "everything American." Americans invented democracy - or so they claim — and they do not hesitate to use their privileged position to impose "democracy" on the rest of the world, whether it wants it or

However, this term has been used so much and to describe so many things that it has lost all sense of its original meaning. If I were to ask 100 of you what democracy is, I would get 100 different answers. It is really sad to think the citizens of this country have lost touch with the idea this country was founded on, but that is the reality of the situation.

Since my mail basket has been empty all semester, I'm going to go out on a limb and make what many of you will call a wild accusation. America is not a democracy and has never been one at any time in its history. Surprised? I am. How could I have been so blind as not to realize there is a big difference between the real meaning of democracy and what we have in America? Enough of the accusations; it's time to prove my point.

First, we must come to an understanding of what democracy is. Democracy, in its common but forgotten meaning, is a government of, by and for the people. However, it can be better described as a process by which the people directly participate in the making and carrying out of policy that benefits the whole. This is not simply a system where elections

Commentary

KIRK CARAWAY Collegian

Columnist

are held but is a process that encompasses the principles of free speech, free press, free association and many other principles. It is a long, difficult process that takes a lot of hard work to complete.

But has America followed this process? Well, not really. It wasn't until 1922 that a majority of Americans even had the right to vote, much less the other required criteria. This was when women, who make up onehalf of the population, won the right to vote. Blacks and other minority groups didn't get the right to vote until the 1960s. We can hardly call a country a democracy if it doesn't allow large groups of its citizens to take part in the political process.

Well, I have at least proved part of my argument. The United States could not even be considered a democracy until the 1960s. But I will contend that it cannot even be considered a democracy today. Sure, we have elections and every citizen 18 years old and older is eligible to vote, but this does not a democracy make. For one, the people need to participate in order to have a democracy. Only 28 percent of those eligible voted for Ronald Reagan in his 1984 "landslide" victory. If candidates can't even get one-third of the eligible voters to turn out for them, just what kind of democracy is that?

Democracy is not only choosing the people to run the government but also the choosing of policy. Our electoral system does not allow people to choose policies they favor; rather, it focuses on trivial features such as with whom a candidate shares his or her bed.

How good you look on television is more important than the policies you represent.

One of the keys Reagan used to get elected was his image of being a good economist, whether it is true or not. If the electorate makes its decisions based on such trivialities, the democratic process is crippled, if not destroyed.

One reason for low voter turnout and image politics could be the lack of any serious alternatives to the two major parties. The differences between the Democratic and Republican parties are almost non-existent except in minor policy disputes. It is really one party with two factions, and even the distinction between those factions is blurred. There are conservative democrats and liberal republicans, with there being very few true differences between any party or faction.

There are minor political parties in the United States, but they are prevented from posing any serious challenge to the Democrat/Republican monopoly. Recent polls show most people cannot even name one minor party. This is because the media ignore them completely. Several of these parties run candidates for president, and their candidates make speeches and shake hands just like the major candidates do. You will not see them on the evening news, but you will see the democrats and republicans making speeches and shaking hands. This is not because these parties lack money; it is because there is a built-in bias in favor of the

There are many other problems with democracy in America that I can't even begin to explain here. These problems are not insurmountable, for there are other countries where these things don't happen. And if you think we don't have problems, open your eyes and get involved. You can start by writing a letter to the editor saying I'm full of crap. But until you become involved in the discussion, you only prove that democracy really doesn't exist in America and that the raving lunatic writing this is actually right.

So, go ahead. Make my day.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander CAMPUS EDITORS Jonny Chaulk
Chad Sanbom
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR Judy Lundstrom FEATURES EDITOR Susan Staggenborg AGRIBUSINESS EDITOR Janet Swanson GOVERNMENT EDITOR Candy Leonard
ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR Becky Howard SPORTS EDITOR COPY EDITORS Peggy Aeschliman Betsy Edwards Lori Siegrist STAFF WRITERS Tom Denzel Jennifer Dorsch Lori Lindstrom Alison Neely COLUMNISTS Judd Annis Kirk Caraway Doug Folk

REVIEWER

SPORTS WRITERS

Chase Clark Bill Lang

Tom Perrin David Svoboda PHOTOGRAPHERS
Brad Camp
Jim Dietz
Brad Fanshier GRAPHIC ARTIST Mary Ward ADVERTISING GRAPHIC ARTIST EDITORIAL BOARD Kirk Caraway Gery Lytle Erwin Sebe ADVERTISING MANAGER ASST. ADVERTISING MANAGER Jada Allerheiligen REGIONAL REPRESENTATIVE Bill Sherbert
CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER Barry Steffen SALES REPRESENTATIVES Cathy Doud Er CLASSIFIED SALES REPS Tracy Mayhew Jackie Clement DIRECTOR Dave Adams ASSISTANT DIRECTOR NEWS ADVISER GRAD. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR ADV. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

SPORTS COLUMNISTS

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedrie Hall, phose 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIFTION RATES: calendar year, $40; scademic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Toddler alive after three weeks alone

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - A 17-month-old girl survived for two to three weeks by apparently eating potato chips and drinking water from a toilet while her parents and infant sister lay dead nearby, authorities

She probably will have no recollection of the ordeal, they add.

Linda M. Cox was listed in fair condition at Bethany Medical Center, nursing supervisor Mary Chance said Sunday. The girl, discovered in her parents' home Friday, had a roast beef dinner Saturday and "she's eating fine today," she said.

Linda was found huddled with the family's Doberman pinscher in the bathroom after a relative went to visit, noticed an odor coming from the locked house and called police.

The bodies of her parents, Matthew A. Madl, 29, and Angela J. Cox, 17, were found with guns nearby in the living room of the small onestory house. Autopsies found they

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Weigel said the field director will work directly with alumni club officers throughout the country, attending alumni events, meetings, career counseling nights and other organized activities of the K-State alumni this position. She has been very effective in her work with alumni volunteers, high school counselors and administrators...she has the qualifications we were looking for," he

Klingler, who received a bachelor's degree in marketing from K-

State and went on to work as one of the admissions representatives, said

"I'm excited about Becky filling

Alumni

Association.

died of single shots to the head.

Police suspect that Madl, who had complained of financial problems, shot and killed Cox two or three weeks ago, then turned the gun on himself.

A neighbor who asked not to be identified said he was awakened about 3 a.m. on Nov. 6 by the sound of five gunshots from the house. He said he didn't call police because "in this neighborhood, you hear things like that all the time." Madl was last at work the day before.

The body of 3-month-old Amber D. Cox was found strapped in an infant seat in a bedroom. An autopsy found she died of dehydration.

Police Lt. Ron Miller said Linda may have survived by eating potato chips, since chips were found scattered throughout the house.

He speculated that the dog drank from the toilet bowl and said Linda could have done the same.

"I'm not sure she's old enough to know to stand on the toilet and drink from the bathroom faucet," Miller

"It will be different in a few respects, but I know a lot about campus, admissions and student recruitment, which can complement my work with the alumni," Klingler said.

will enjoy the job, which requires

65-80 days of travel per year.

time," Weigel said.

sions representative.

Weigel said he believes Klingler

"It's a big job that requires a lot of Klingler will assume the position as field director on Dec. 15, and will simultaneously end her job as admis-

The national search for someone

Weigel said they will be looking to fill the position of Associate Director of Alumni will begin in for someone with expertise in public relations, a background in business, and supervisory and administration

lenges of this new position.

said. "The doctors say the water from the bowl wouldn't have been toxic." Miller said dog feces found in the house led police to believe there was dog food within the dog's reach. 'It baffles the mind how these pcople were not missed for several weeks, especially over the holiday,"

When Linda is released from the hospital, the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services will take custody and place her in foster care, possibly with a relative.

Linda probably will have little recollection of the incident or suffer any long-term effects, said Ed Christophersen, a professor of pediatrics at the University of Kansas Medical Center and Children's Mercy Hospital.

"It's amazing what small children can bounce back from," he said. "She should be able to live happily ever

Friends and neighbors painted a bleak portrait of a young family strapped for money, without a car or

Have story or photo ideas? CALL 532-6556

Volunteer.

WERE FIGHTING FOR

American Heart Association

"Beautiful objects from the earth." Gems, Jewelry, Crystals,

10-8 THURSDAY

1124 MORO AGGIEVILLE

Fine Minerals & Gifts

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-6 MONDAY-SUNDAY

When is 2'sday?

Every 2'sday and Wednesday.

Come 2 Popingo and rent 2 movies for the price of one!

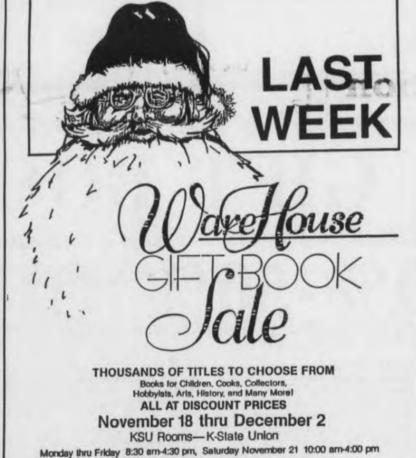

This includes new releases 2 (too)!

ALSO! Rent the NINTENDO game for 99¢

Mon.-Fri. 12-9 Village Plaza Sat. 10-9 Sun. 12-8 3045 Anderson

539-1299

Lafene Health Center

Closed November 26, 27, 28 & 29 Thanksgiving Hollday

K-State Union Bookstore

Services available

Outpatient Clinic Lafemme (Gyn) Clinic

Allergy Clinic Mental Health Clinic

Laboratory

hysical. Thera

harmae Ray Department

Dietary Counseling In-Patient Hospital

Sports, Medicine Clini Wart Clinic

Clinic Hours 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. 532-6544

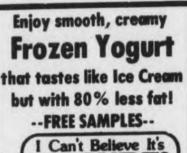

Since July, Madl had been working for about $3.45 an hour as a 30-hour-a-week cook and cashier at a nearby restaurant. His time card showed he last checked out Nov. 5.

The restaurant owner and manager and other acquaintances said Madl had been in need of cash since early October, when he said his ex-wife in

FREE DELIVERY Restaurant -1304 Westloop 10% off with KSU IDE 539-0888 1539-8888

California was demanding $4,000 in child support payments.

"He was feeling inadequate because he could hardly support his family as it was," said a family friend, Beulah Turrentine.

Frazen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

DANCERS START AT 8:30 GUYS LET IN AT 11

Campus Briefly

K-State to close for holidays

To save on energy costs, K-State will observe a curtailed holiday schedule between Christmas and the new year. The University will be closed Dec. 24-25 and Jan. 1.

The University is encouraging employees to take annual or compensatory leave for the four days that would normally be considered work days - Dec. 28-31.

During the holiday week, building temperatures will be 55 degrees. In cases requiring maintenance of regular temperatures especially in research where environments for animals, plants and instruments are crucial - requests for continued heating service should be made to the appropriate dean or director. The dean or director is responsible for approval and will forward requests by Dec. 1 to Ed Rice, general manager of physical facilities. "There is considerable difference in the means by which costeffectiveness can be achieved from one building to another," said George Miller, vice president for administration and finance.

The curtailed schedule will not affect distribution of payroll checks, which will be distributed in the normal manner and will be available at 3 p.m. Dec. 31.

Professor edits encyclopedia

A K-State professor is editing what will probably be the first encyclopedia of architecture published in English since 1860. Ifan Payne, professor of environmental design, is editor-in-chief of the multi-volume McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Architecture which will be published in 1990. The 800-entry encyclopedia contains major essays on specific topics written by 500 authors from around the world.

Payne said the project has been a major undertaking and very time consuming since he identified and coordinated the work of the authors and edited all of their manuscripts.

"The encyclopedia is a gathering of knowledge concerning the whole field of architecture - social, technical, historical and theoretical under one set of colors," he said. "I conceived the idea in 1980, and it has been worked on since then."

Payne said the encyclopedia is aimed at the widest possible readership and incorporates technical information for professionals, standard reference material and a whole range of material for the general reader.

"I hope this encyclopedia will be a major standard reference book in architecture for decades to come," he said.

Instructor to be honored

A woman who more than doubled the minority student enrollment and increased minority student retention to greater than 90 percent in K-State's College of Engineering will be honored Dec. 11.

Karen Hummel, instructor in the College of Engineering, will be honored when the minority study center in Seaton Hall is dedicated to her and renamed the Karen C. Hummel Minority Engineering Study Center.

"Engineering students' sentiment toward Karen was demonstrated by their request that (the minority study center) be renamed," said Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering.

Tree's lighting initiates season

By The Collegian Staff

Carolers and Santa Claus helped kick off the Christmas season Friday evening at the Manhattan Town Center mall.

Even though it was a cold and snowy evening, about 100 people attended the lighting of the 30 foot Manhattan Town Center Christmas

The ceremony began with Christmas carols sung by the faculty and students from the Manhattan Christian College. Then Santa and Mrs. Claus arrived in a horse-drawn sleigh to place two gold stars on the tree and officially light the tree.

When the Christmas tree was lit, the crowd applauded and Santa and Mrs. Claus greeted the crowd of children with special treats from their white pouch.

The Christmas tree was decorated with red hearts and bows. The red hearts symbolize this year's Manhattan Town Center Christmas theme "Christmas from the Heart".

The gold hearts that Santa placed on the tree symbolized the kick off of the Manhattan Toys for Tots program.

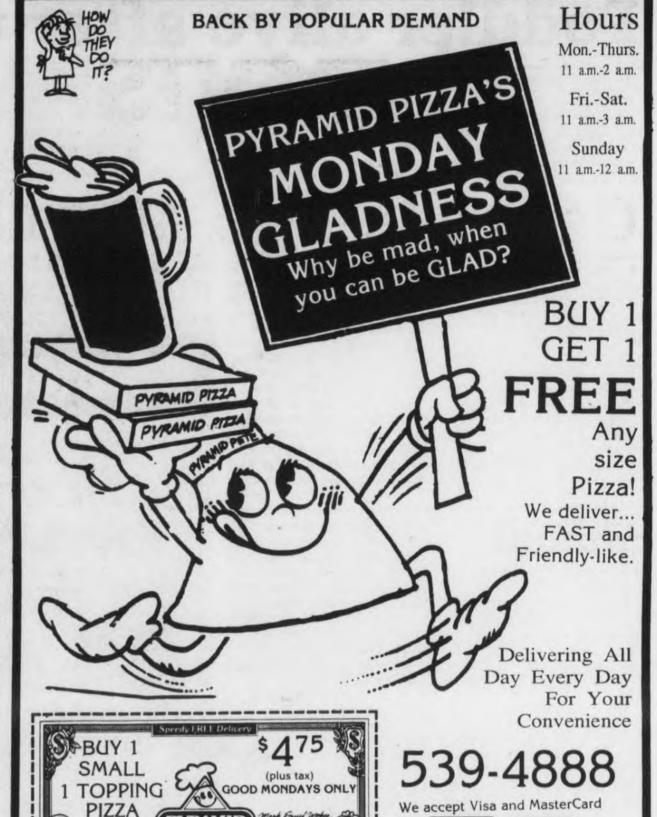

The Christmas tree was dedicated to everyone in the Manhattan community, but it is also being dedicated to the Manhattan Toys for Tots program," said Albert Myers, the director of the Toys for Tots program.

The program gives toys donated from the community to anyone in need of toys. Throughout December the Manhattan Jaycees will be helping Myers collect toys from the donation sites around Manhattan.

Some of the donation spots will be the First National Bank, 701 Poyntz Ave.; the Sears, Roebuck and Co., 205 S. 4th St.; and Peoples Heritage Federal Savings & Loan Association in Westloop.

The Manhattan Town Center Mall lighting ceremony ended with more caroling, and Santa and Mrs. Claus riding off in their sleigh.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Offering Thin Crust or Our Original Golden

Braided Crust

"We Pile It On!"

cially designed for the microwave. Now enjoy delicious Chinese meals anytime-with these fully-tested recipes you can't

THE MIDNIGHT CASTLE. By C.

Joems. Firebreathing dragons, damsels in distress and knights in shining armor come to life in this fantasy tale of an enchanted toy castle. Magical full color and b&w illus.

throughout. Young readers. 74 x 94. Pub.

NAMING YOUR BABY. Full color illus.

Selecting your baby's name is an important process. To help you make the right choice a collection of 500 alphabetically arranged names with info. on origin, meaning, spelling, derivations and nicknames. 48 pages.

PAMELLA Z. ASQUITH'S FRUIT TART COOKBOOK. Pastry chef Pamella Z. Asquith reveals the secret to light, flaky, melt-in-your-mouth tarts. Everything

THE POETICAL PURSUIT OF FOOD.

By S. Kondo. Japanese cooking American style! Tempting Japanese recipes specially tailored for the Western kitchen, with every ingredient and technique succinctly

miss! 81/4 x 101/4.

at $10.88

9% x 10.

Only $4.98

Only $1.98

Only $4.98

Only $5.98

Only $15.95

"からからかいからかいなっかいかっかいかっかいかっかっかっかっかっかっかっかっかっかっかっかっ

THESE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE HUNDREDS OF SALE BOOKS AT VARNEY'S BOOK STORE TO MEET YOUR GIFT-GIVING NEEDS!

30%-50% OFF

BABY ANIMALS. By R. Roe. Little ones are introduced to an array of exotic animals in this exciting full color picture book. 61/2 x • 12. Pub. at $3.95 Only $2.49 BODYWATCHING. By Desmond Morris. A celebration of the human form. More than 450 full color and b&w illustrations and a scintillating text reveal how we consciously and unconsciously manipulate, ornament, and display various parts of our bodies to signal attitudes, emotions or beliefs. 256 pages. 8 7/16 x 11. Only $12.98

BRANDEIS AND FRANKFURTER: A Dual Biography. By L. Baker. Powerful portrait of two Supreme Court justices, a great friendship, and an historic alliance that helped change the course of American law. Discussions of major cases and events (Sacco and Vanzetti, birth of Israel, the • Alger Hiss and Rosenberg cases) and portraits of contemporaries incl. Roosevelt, Wilson, Hugo Black, others. 568 pages. Pub. at $25 Only $5.98 Pub. at $25

BRUEGEL. 99 Full color plates and numerous b&w illus. Large format survey of the life and work of the 16th century Flemish genre and landscape painter. Covers the full range of Bruegal's art, from cheerful scenes of peasants in the fields to nightmarish phantasmagoria reminiscent of Bosch. 288 pages. 9½ x 13. Pub. at Only $24.95

$90 THE COMPLEAT STRAWBERRY. By S. Whiteaker. Full color and b&w photos S. Whiteaker, Full color and and illus, throughout. Traces the history of the strawberry in art, song, poetry and prose. Features more than 70 recipes for great strawberry concoctions plus advice on herbal remedies and beauty preparations that draw on the strawberry's curative pow-Only $2.98 ers. Pub. at $10.95

DO-IT-YOURSELF DESIGNER FUR-NITURE. By R. Entwistle. Use the clear, step-by-step instructions with over 200 • illus. of every piece at every stage from start to finish-and create the most beautiful furniture you've ever owned! 27 unique designs. 8½ x 10½. Pub. at $32.95 Only $5.98

DORIN & THE DRAGON: LIBRARY EDITION. By A. Dewey. Children of all ages will love this rich fantasy about the special bond between arl elderly dragon and a banished prince. Vividly illus. in full color. 81/4 x 10. Pub. at $11.88Only $1.98 EAT TO WIN: The Sports Nutrition Bible. By Dr. R. Haas. Indispensable book for anyone involved in a sport, health club or fitness program. Will guide your eating habits and enable you to reach your peak performances as well as gain years in top playing ability. Pub. at $14.95Only $4.98 ELVIS AND ME. By Priscilla Beaulieu Presley and S. Harmon. Priscilla's powerful and poignant, never-before-told story of her life with Elvis, from the time she met him as an innocent 14-year-old to her decision to leave the out-of-control superstar in order to save her own life. Illus. with photos. 256 pages. Pub. at $16.95 Only $4.98

THE FLOWER GARDEN. By A. Toogood. 250 full color illus. A wealth of inspiration and advice for flower gardeners. Filled tips on planning for summer colors, creating special effects and color schemes, achieving focal points and a variety of textures. Catalogs flowers by color, height and scent and includes info on soil improvement and planting methods. 128 pages. 81/4 x Only $7.98

FLOWERS: Growing, Drying, and Preserving. By D. Carter and A. Cormack. 550 full color illus. Learn to preserve the beauty of flowers, grasses and shrubs. Identifies all the plants which are most suitable for drying and preserving, while telling how to grow, cultivate and harvest them. Beautifully illustrated, and as charming as it is practical. 128 pages. 8½ x 11. Only $7.98

FLOWERS OF THE WORLD. By F. Perry. Over 800 full color illus. As beautiful as it is informative, this magnificent volume identifies and describes an enormous number of wild and domesticated flowers, while providing useful info about cultivating them outdoors, in greenhouses, or indoors in pots. Great care has been taken to make the striking full color paintings botanically accurate to the smallest detail. 320 pages. 9 x 12. Pub. at $30 Only $14.98

GLITZ. International best selling author Elmore Leonard presents an electrifying novel of death and vengeance set against the seamy backdrop of the underworld. A psychopath is on the loose and determined to carry out his vendetta against a Miami detective. 251 pages. Pub. at $14.95 Only $4.98

THE GRAMMAR OF CHINESE ORNAMENT. Omamental artwork of ancient Chinese cultures lavishly displayed in 100 exquisite full color plates. Comprehensive reference examines the style, form and color of China's decorative art. 224 pages. 9 x 13. Pub. at $100 Only $24.95

GREAT SHORT STORIES OF THE 20TH CENTURY: Stories by 12 Nobel Laureates in Literature. Compiled by M.H. Greenberg & C.G. Waugh. Distinguished collection of short stories by 12 of the greatest literary talents of the 20th century incl. Kipling, Yeats, Shaw, Faulkner, Hemingway, Steinbeck. 288 pages. 6 x 9. Only $5.98 Pub. at $15.95

THE GREEDY PIG. By N. Dawson. Ponzo the pig has become too fat to help his team win the big soccer match. Can the team slim him down before the opening whistle? A wonderful bedtime story. Full color illus. Young readers. 9 x 6%. Only $2.98 HEIDI. By Johanna Spyri. Striking full col-or plates and graceful line drawings by Jessie Willcox Smith complete this poignant classic about a Swiss orphan and her beloved grandfather. Handsome volume with bonded leather spine, foil stamping, deckle-edged front and full color case. 351 pages. 7% x 9%. Only $8.98 HISTORICAL ATLAS OF BRITAIN. Ed. by M. Falkus & J. Gillingham. A visual history of Britain's exciting-and at times obscure-past. Every important aspect of British history since 4,000 B.C. is skillfully depicted in flawless full color and b&w maps, diagrams, photos, paintings and illus. 224 pages. 8% x 11. Only $14.98 HOLLYWOOD COLOR PORTRAITS. By John Kobal. The biggest and brightest stars in Hollywood immortalized in full color, full page portraits by leading photographers. Garbo, Bogart, Hayworth, Cagney, Monroe, Brando and a parade of screen idols from the '30s, '40s and '50s captured at the height of their careers. Full color 171/2 x 22 poster of book jacket included with each order. 81/2 x 111/2. Pub.

at $19.95 Only $12.98 ILLUSTRATING NATURE. By Dorothea & Sy Barlowe. 16 pages of full color plates plus b&w illus. Capture the wonders of nature with lifelike accuracy-rock formations, birds, animals, plant life. Two successful artists demonstrate techniques for painting or drawing in a variety of mediums incl. oils, acrylics and watercolors. 81/2 x 10% . Pub. at $25

Only $8.98 THE IMAGERY OF ART WOLFE. 121 stunning, full color photos capture the beauty and splendor of the natural world where the mighty and tiny are joined in pattern, texture and color. Accompanied by haiku verse. 111/4 x 121/4. Pub. at $40 Only $22.95

PLUS, SAVE 25% EVERY DAY ON OUR TOP 10 HARDBACK BESTSELLERS

623 N. Manhattan Ave.

OPEN: 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 12-5 p.m. Sun.

INSTANT GUIDE TO REPTILES AND AMPHIBIANS. Fully illustrated pocket guide with color-coded text bands permits quick and easy identification of North American amphibians and reptiles. Info. on habitat, distribution and markings is supplied. 128 pages. 4 x 6% Only $3.98 INSTANT GUIDE TO BUTTERFLIES. Fully illus. pocket guide, with unique colorcoded bands, allows for rapid identification of North American butterflies from Skippers and Sulphurs to Swallowtails, monarchs and blues. Additional facts on habitat, distribution and marking supplied. 128 pages. 4 x 6%.

Only $3.98 you need to know to create stunning fruit INSTANT GUIDE TO WILDFLOWtarts that look store-bought, but taste homemade, is here. Features more than fifth ERS OF NORTH AMERICA. By P. Forescrumptious recipes from the classic apple y. Fully illus., pocket-sized guide allows to new sensations like kiwi and kimquat. instant identification of wildflowers of North America. Arranged by flower, habitat Illus. 144 pages. 7 x 91/4. Orig. Pub. at $12.95 and color for quick and easy access. 128 pages. 4 x 6%. PARIS 1900: The Art of the Poster. All Only $3.98 THE JOY OF CHINESE COOKING. the warmth, gaiety and spirit that is Paris in this bright, colorful volume featuring turnof-the-century poster art by renowned Parisian artists incl. Mucha, Misti, Grun, Metivet and Cheret. 192 pages. 91/2 x 13. Pub. at $30.00

Ed. by Lo Mei Hing, et al. Full color illus. throughout. More than a mere collection of recipes, this complete guide to Chinese cuisine clearly demonstrated all the essential techniques of Chinese cooking. Shows how to prepare its basic ingredients, how to use Chinese utensils and how to serve your finished dishes. Incl. recipes for 186 classic Chinese appetizers, soups, entrees and desserts. 317 pages. 8% x 11% 1. Only $14.98

LIFE WAS MEANT TO BE LIVED: A Centenary Portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt. By Joseph P. Lash. 125 photos, many in full color. The Pulitzer Prize-winner author of Eleanor and Frankling commemorates the 100th anniversary of Mrs. Roosevelt's birth with this compelling story of public triumph over private travail. 81/4 x 101/4. Only $7.98 Pub. at $24.95 MICROWAVE CHINESE COOKING. Full color photos. Quick and easy-to-follow recipes for authentic Chinese cuisine, spe-described. So simple even the beginner can create exotic Oriental delights with a minimum of fuss. Line drawings. 256 pages. Pub. at $17.95 Only $5.98 ROYAL FACES. By A. Clayton. Fascinating historical record of all the kings and queens of England from the days of William I to Elizabeth II and her heir Prince Charles. Little known facts about the heads of Britain's monarchy unfold in capsule biographies accompanied by full color and b&w photos, engravings, and images taken from coins, seals, and tomb efficies. 58 pages. 8% x 11. Pub. at $14.95 Only $6.98 SNAP! SNAP! By C. & J. Hawkins. When a furry green monster comes after her in the dark of the night brave Sally comes up with a practical solution to this common childhood fear. Features a cast of lovable monster friends illus, in vivid full color, 9% x 9% . Pub. at $9.95 Only $2.49 SOMEDAY THE RABBI WILL LEAVE. Harry Kemelman's lovable rabbi turned super sleuth is back, this time to battle corruption in the state capital! 264 pages. Pub. at $15.95 Only $2.98

SportsMonday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, November 30, 1987 ■ Page 7

Cats win Sun Met Classic

By The Associated Press

FRESNO, Calif. - Senior forward Mitch Richmond scored 20 points to ignite K-State to a 65-50 victory over Fresno State in the championship game of the Sun Met Classic on Saturday.

K-State beat San Diego State 79-68 Friday night in first-round action as Richmond scored 28 points.

In the title game, K-State, which led 27-24 at halftime, scored the first 10 points of the second half to break the game open. The Wildcats shot 77 percent from the field in the second half and led by as many as 23 points.

Richmond, who was named the tournament's most valuable player, scored 11 of his points in the second half. Guard Will Scott added 13 for the second straight game for the Wildcats, now 2-0, and Charles Bledsoe and Steve Henson each had 11 points.

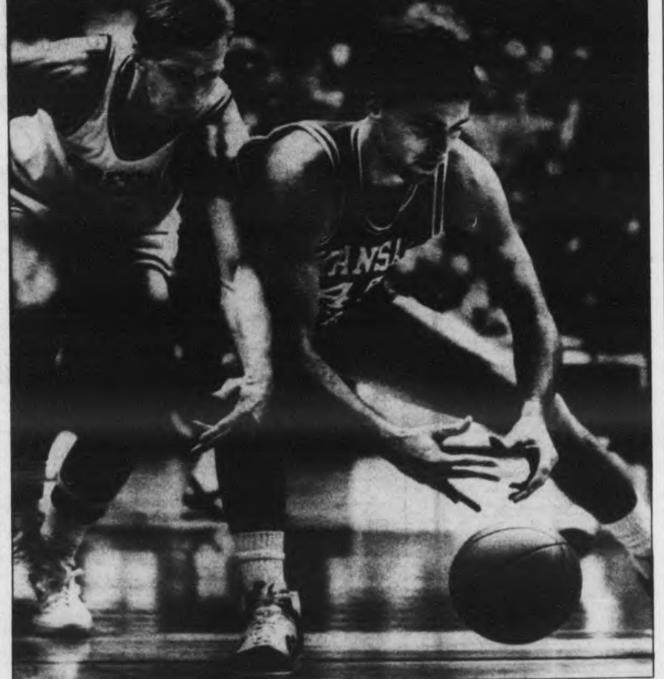

Guard Kevin Stevenson led Fresno State with 13 points, and Jervis Cole added 10 points. The Bulldogs, now 1-1, shot just 36 percent from the field for the game.

K-State Coach Lon Kruger said the Bulldog shooting woes were caused by an aggressive Wildcat defense.

"We cannot play much better defense," he said. "We got (Fresno State) to do things we wanted them to do, rather than what they wanted to

Other than in Big Eight preseason tournaments, the tourney title was K-State's first in 15 tries during the regular season dating back to the mid-1940s.

San Diego State defeated Northern Arizona 78-73 in the third-place

K-State's Ron Meyer, right, scrambles for a loose ball with Fresno State's Rene Ebeltjes in the championship game of the Sun Met Classic Basketball tournament Saturday night in Fresno, Cal.

Turnovers cost Manhattan state crown

By The Associated Press

Coaches these days stress ball security.

Manhattan didn't have it Saturday. Without it, the top-ranked Indians lost the Kansas Class 6A football championship.

and two interceptions — to beat the Indians 17-12 for its second straight 6A championship.

In other title games, Wichita-Kapaun Mt. Carmel defeated Pittsburg 16-8 in Class 5A, Abilene rallied past Paola 22-13 in 4A, Burden 54-28 in 2A, Midway-Denton cruised past Otis-Bison 27-6 in Eight Man Division I and Northern Valley bested Attica 20-6 in Eight Man Division II.

Two of the Manhattan turnovers led to Lawrence scores, and another

Manhattan turnovers - four fumbles 3A, Stockton downed Frontenac Charley Bowen intercepted a Manhattan pass and returned it 39 yards for a touchdown with 2:46 left to play to give the Lions a 17-6 lead as they beat the Indians for the sixth straight time. Scott Hickman caught a 14-yard halfback pass from Mickey Kimball after Tom Thaemert fumbled a punt at the Manhattan 14.

Hapless 'Hawks lose two straight

By The Associated Press

LAHAINA, Hawaii - Ken Battle scored 21 points and hit two key second-half baskets to thwart a Kansas comeback as Illinois upset the seventh-ranked Jayhawks 81-75 Sunday to finish third in the Maui Classic basketball tournament.

Battle's clutch shooting and Illinois' balance offset a 28-point peformance by Kansas forward Danny Manning and sent the Jayhawks to their second loss in three games. Kansas, now 1-2, lost to 11th-ranked Iowa 100-81 on Saturday.

Kansas battled from a 19-point deficit early in the second half to half. trail 75-71 on a jump hook by Marvin Branch with 2 minutes, 56 seconds remaining.

with a slam dunk on a lob pass from Kendall Gill and, after Lincoln Minor hit a jump shot to cut the lead to 77-73 with 1:55 left, Battle tipped in a missed shot to make it 79-73 with 1:33 to go.

Kansas had a chance to get even closer when Jens Kujawa of Illinois missed a free throw with 48 seconds remaining. But Glynn Blackwell stole the ball from Mike Masucci of Kansas and sank 74-69 with 4:56 to play.

two free throws with 44 seconds to go to seal the victory.

Blackwell added 13 points for Illinois, Gill scored 12 and Larry Smith and Steve Bardo had nine each. Kevin Pritchard followed Manning with 12 points, while Minor and Branch scored 10 apiece. Manning also grabbed 12 rebounds to lead both teams and handed out three assists before fouling out with 48 seconds left.

Illinois, 2-1, never trailed after scoring 10 straight points to break a 17-all tie. Battle converted a three-point play to start the run and capped it with a dunk for a 27-17 lead with 10:03 left in the

A 9-0 run helped by a technical foul on Kansas Coach Larry Brown, his second of the tourna-Battle countered that basket ment, increased the Illinois lead to 38-21 and the Illini led 48-33 at halftime.

Consecutive baskets by Battle, Smith and Kujawa stretched the margin to 58-39 with 16:41 left, but Pritchard scored six points to lead a 15-2 burst that pulled Kansas to 60-54.

However, the Jayhawks couldn't get any closer until Manning sank a free throw to make it

K-State signs Malham

By The Collegian Staff

Jeff Malham, a 6-foot-6 off-guard from Broken Arrow, Okla., has signed a national basketball letter of intent to attend K-State next fall.

Malham averaged 17 points and five rebounds per game last season for Broken Arrow High School. Last summer, he led his 17-and-under AAU team to a national third-place

"We're excited about Jeff," head coach Lon Kruger said. "He's a very solid basketball player with a great mind for the game. Physically, he's a good athlete with pretty good bounce and shooting ability.'

Malham was also recruited by the University of Arkansas, the University of Wyoming, Rice University and Colorado State University, before narrowing his choices to Tulsa University and K-State.

Malham's is the second signing announced by K-State. Reggie Britt, a 6-6 power forward from Coffeyville Community College, was the other

Women lose once, claim third place

By Bill Lang

Sports Writer

Call it a youth movement. In the consolation game of the McCall Pattern Classic, Nadira Hazim, Diana Miller and Kristie Bahner, all freshmen, received their first start and also their first win.

The Lady Cats defeated Rockhurst College 82-65, Saturday, to take a third-place finish in the Classic and start their season record out at 1-1. Central Missouri State University was the champion with a 70-67 overtime win over the University of Arkansas-Little Rock.

In Friday's first round game, the Lady Cats lost to UALR by the score of 62-59. The win by the Women of Troy was considered the biggest for their coach Van Compton.

"I guess you could say this is our biggest win ever, since this is also our first year as a Division I member," she said.

In the game the Lady Cats and the Women of Troy played an even match with the score being 27-26 at halftime.

At about the midpoint of the second half, K-State extended its lead to six, as Miller connected on a 13-foot jumper from the left side to make the score 45-39.

UALR whittled the lead down to two, 49-47, at the 5:39 mark. Then the Women of Troy outscored the Lady Cats 7-4, to take a 59-53 lead. The Lady Cats attempted several three-pointers and three-point plays in the final minutes, but fell short on all attempts.

"We were wanting to get a threepoint shot but we didin't get the ball to fall in," Mossman said.

Mossman added that if the team couldn't make a comeback Saturday, the confidence level of the younger players might go down. Not to worry, though, because the confidence level was up and so was of Arkansas-Little Rock.

the tempo of the Lady Cats' offense, as it ran past the Lady Hawks of Rockhurst College 82-65.

The Lady Cats cruised to their victory on the performance of Miller. She scored 19 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and dished out four assists.

"(Miller) did a great job for us tonight," Mossman said. "She's a good shooter and a great rebounder and she played with poise tonight." Mossman was also pleased with the play of the rest of the freshmen. "They all did a great job," she said. "We have a lot of young kids who should be more consistent for us down the road. The mistakes that they make are not bad ones, but ones they make just from over-eagerness." In the first half of the consolation game, the Lady Hawks of Rockhurst and the Lady Cats played a slow moving game that saw K-State take a 42-31 lead.

In the second half, the Lady Cats added another 40 points while the Lady Hawks could only muster 34 more, making the final score 82-65.

Mossman said the experience from this weekend will be beneficial in a couple of weeks when the team plays in the Dallas Hilton Classic.

"It was eating them up not being in the championship game tonight," Mossman said of her players. "They now know what it takes to be a winner and to make it to the finals, and that'll help us when we go to Dallas in few weeks."

CMSU's Tammy Wilson was selected as MVP of the Classic. In the tourney, she scored 39 points and collected a record 42 rebounds in wins over Rockhurst and UALR.

Joining Wilson on the all-Classic team were K-State's Miller, CMSU's Dawn Thomas, Kathy Anderson of Rockhurst and Karen Hames and Evelyn Willingham both

Big Eight squads in action

By The Associated Press

Although Oklahoma rolled to a 24-point victory in front of its home crowd Saturday in Norman, it was a sloppy season opener for both the Sooners and Texas A&M.

The Aggies committed 33 turnovers and the Sooners had 13, as Oklahoma cruised to 104-80 victory.

Junior center Stacey King, whose previous career high was 22 points in against Cal-Santa Barbara in his freshman year, poured in 33 Saturday

In other Big Eight Conference team action, Iowa State's Jeff Grayer, who scored 29 points against New Mexico, was named to the Big Apple NIT all-tournament team, as the Cyclones downed the Lobos 107-96 for the consolation title of the tourney.

Baylor edged the Big Eight's Nebraska Comhuskers 82-79 in a Maui Classic consolation game Saturday, as the 'Huskers' Henry T. Buchanan missed a 3-point shot from the top of the key at the final buzzer that would have tied the game against Baylor.

The 'Huskers bounced back Sunday, though, as they defeated Chaminade 79-78, to take seventh in the Classic.

Richard Dumas scored 28 points as Oklahoma State topped Northeast Missouri 75-60 for consolation honors of the Ala Moana Tournament. The Cowboys, who led 37-26 at intermission, took an early lead and never looked back.

Collegian/Phil Bays Lady Cat sophomore guard Elyse Funk drives around a Rockhurst player during the McCall Pattern Classic Saturday in Ahearn Field House. K-State finished third in the tournament.

Cuddly, gurgling infant greets '3 Men'

Film detours slightly, but result is pleasing

By Gary Leffler Collegian Reviewer

As of late, there seems to be a population explosion on the big screen. Babies are everywhere, from "Raising Arizona" to "Baby Boom," as gurgles are turned into big bucks. The latest film attempting to attract the cooing crowd is "3 Men and a Baby." And like any baby, there are moments that will be cherished and moments that belong in the trash can with the used Pampers.

The plot line for "3 Men and a Baby" is fairly simple. Take three attractive and socially active bachelors and add one cute but helpless infant. The comedy that results is sometimes clever, sometimes typical, but nearly always refreshingly played and very laughable. The film handled the same old shtick with a creative flare that even made changing diapers seem original.

Movie Review

The acting was even good on occasion. Tom Selleck, as architect Peter Mitchell, successfully left Magnum, P.I. back in Hawaii and delivered what is easily his best film performance to date. Steve Guttenberg, as Michael the successful cartoonist, also gives a strong showing, although not his most outstanding, as he teams up with Selleck to administer their naive, yet determined child care system.

The weak link in the trio of bache- genuine plot was genuinely funny.

character is not in the first half of the film, and when he returns to discover his new daughter, the film is bogged down badly. Peter, at one point, describes Jack by saying, "The man is one giant gland." Indeed, the characterization was.

The script also presented a major problem. Somehow, someone along the line decided that a baby story was too mundane - that some action was nceded. So, to our recipe of bachelors and baby, we add a narcotics smuggler, idiotic thugs and typically brash policemen.

The entire sub-plot surrounding a box of smuggled heroine became distracting and took the film out of its genre. Suddenly, this delightfully humorous story had become a thriller set in a construction site. Thankfully, this ended soon enough and the genuine plot continued.

This was fortunate because the lors is Ted Danson, as Jack the strug- Sure, it wasn't anything the audience gling actor. For the most part, his hadn't seen before, but the utter dumbfoundedness of three strong, macho men was more entertaining than a Huggie's commercial.

The artistic touches of director Leonard Nimoy (yes, Spock) added even more levity to the film. Several rounds of quick-speed photography had the three bachelors jumping about like untamed cartoon characout of their apartment and later spent the day in the park playing Frisbee and showing off their bundle of joy. "3 Men and a Baby" is not a great film, but it is enjoyable, and despite the questionable sub-plot, it is certain ters as they shuffled women in and to do well with the holiday crowds. After all, how can you go wrong with three handsome lead actors?

-Christmas Gift Idea:-

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

By TV Data

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	3HB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:30		This Morning To Be An-	Good Morning America	Scraby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:30	3 "	nounced	"	My Little Pong Brady Bunch	y Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook TBA	Little House on the Prairie
9:00	Hour Maga-	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Auto Racing: NASCAR At-	Movie: "Sorry Wrong Num-
10:00	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Write Course	Love Boat	lanta Journal 500	ber" ,,
11:00	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Communi. Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
12:30	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	College Foot- ball: Teams to	Movie: "Ac- ross the Pa-
1:00	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Nature	Van Dyke Andy Griff:th	be Announced	cific",
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Profiles of Na- Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	, n	Tom and Jerry
3:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	AWA Wres- tling	Flintstones Flintstones
		Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Racing: IHRA Nationals	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook Surfer Mag.	Alice New Beaver
6:00	News Wheel-Fortune	News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter NFL	Andy Griffith Sanford
7:00	Billy Graham	ALF Valerie's	Stuntman: Dar Robinson	Television Academy Hall	Sleeping Beauty	Movie: "Somewhere	NFL Monday NFL Monday	Movie: "My Favorite Year"
	Movie: "Fatal Confession: A	Movie: "Fatal Confession: A	NFL Football: Los Angeles	of Fame	Jessye Nor-	in Time"	College Bas- ketball: Pur-
9:00	Father Dowling Mystery"	Father Dowling Mystery"	Raiders at Seattle Sea-	Hill Street Blues	man's Sym- phony	News INN News	due at Illinois State	World of Audu- bon
	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	hawks	Barney Miller Wilton North	Wildlife Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Basketball: Great Alaska	Portrait of America: Ohio
4 4:00	Ent. Tonight	Night Heat	News Nightline	Report Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Des-	Shootout	Cousteau Odyssey
	David Letter-	"The Sky's No Limit"	700 Club	Hoover Vs. the Kennedys:	Sign-Off	tination Tokyo"	NFL Great NFL Great	"

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION Please check one: _Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40 ____Academic year (32 weeks), $35 _One semester (16 weeks), $20 _Summer session (8 weeks), $10 Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. Send to:_____ Street or Box No.:_____ City:_____State:____Zip:____ Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____ Purchased By:____ Street or Box No.:_____ State: Zip: City:_ (To Be Completed by Student Publications) Fall____Spring____Summer_ Amount Received $_____By:____

Juniors, Seniors & Grads...

GVEYOURSELF

APPLY NOW FOR YOUR VERY OWN...

 Bring a photocopy of your School I.D.

 No cosigner required APPLY NOW ON CAMPUS!

Date: Nov. 30, Dec. 2, 7 Time: 12:30-4:30 p.m. Place: Table in Union

Couples

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 work for the same department in Hol-

for institutional advancement, and Judy is the assistant director of the academic assistance center.

"Anything that has to do with Judy's salary or promotion, I disqualify myself from those decisions. They're made by someone else," Mike said.

at K-State. They worked together for three years before getting married in 1985.

"One of the pros is the simple terms of sensitivity to each others' jobs," Mike said. "When one or the said. "That sometimes is a little bit of other, or both of us, are under some a problem." kind of stress or pressure, the other one is pretty much in tune to it and is both of us out," Mike said. aware of it.

because each of us knows what the other is trying to do in the office. A common perception of people outhours a day, how can you possibly one?"

stand each other?' It's never been a problem. The relationship is not the norm for a working couple," he said. Taking work home for Mike and Judy is not easily ignored.

"It's just almost impossible not to Mike is an assistant vice president in our instance. Our lives are totally intertwined," said Mike. "We discuss work more at home than we are able to at work."

"I respect what he does at work tremendously, and I think that he does the same," Judy said. "I don't think most couples are able to do that.

"Sometimes we're both involved Mike and Judy met while working in things outside the working hours whether it be a conference, a Saturday workshop or evening presentations, and when you have a family and you both have to be gone, it just makes it more complicated," she

"There are a lot of things that take

Although Mike and Judy find no "We don't have to communicate, difficulty in working together, there are certain disadvantages.

"One of the more humorous disadvantages is when someone calls and side is, 'When you work together asks for Dr. Lynch," Mike said. "The eight hours a day and live together 16 receptionist then has to ask 'Which

Plane

Rubes

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

KAL officials said it appeared the four-engine jet crashed, although they would not rule out the possibility of hijacking. Airline officials also said a bomb may have destroyed the

"There is the possibility that a crash may have been caused by explosives," a KAL airline statement said.

Officials in Rangoon said the plane was making routine contact with air traffic controllers at Rangoon Airport before proceeding into Burmese air space when it disappeared. The officials said the plane's last radio contact did not indicate any problems and the plane was due to make another routine contact with the tower 21 minutes later. It never

Burmese officials informed the South Korean government that a search operation for the plane was

By Leigh Rubin

"Tell me, why is it that every time we sit down for dinner your mother drops in?"

THE WIND DOTH TASTE 50

I BET IT'S BLOWN THRU

BITTERSWEET, LIKE JASPER WINE AND SUGAR

OTHERS' FEET ...

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless cli-ent has an established account with Student Publi-Deadline is noon the day before publication;

noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error bes not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ional origin, sex or ancestry

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128. WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Man-HIS AND Hers super styles. Grand opening. 308 Tut tle Creek. Perms $19.95, unlimited tanning $29.95. 776-1330. (63-67) PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its product selection in time for the holidays. Do you hopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (66-70)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT—FURNISHED 02

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. al 537-4638. (60tf) AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

TWO-BEDROOM, balcony, close to campus. Ander son Place, available Jan. 1, 1988. Call 776-9923. (62-

ONE BEDROOM Basement, Unique, City Park, 539-SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom apartment available in January: Furnished, one and one-half bath, dish-washer, personal storage, walking distance from campus. $330/month. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66) WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1. nth, one-third utilities. Own room. 539

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $220/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 1. Call 776-1192. (65-68)

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (65-69)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf) NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in

Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf) AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, ca peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (6111)

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

THREE BEDROOM, with garage. Living from and dining room. Range and refrigerator in kitchen. Close to campus. Prefer small family or older student. Deposit required. No pets. $375. Call 776-3454. (64-68)

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, one and three-fourths bath, 1402 LeGore. One block walk from campus. No pets. $400/month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1. 776-1214 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.). 776-4446. (65-68)

I WONDER

IF WE'LL

MAKE IT

WITHOUT

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom, 501 Houston, $300, 539-4214, leave message. (66-70)

By Berke Breathed

"CARLUCCI

CARP SUSHI ..

OPTIMISTIC.

I'M NOT

CAR SMOOCHY.

ONE-BEDROOM—Large enough for two. Unfurnished, $265. Call Chris, 539-7906 after 5 p.m. (62-

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-1465. (62-75)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus, $315 a month. January-May. Call 539-2830, leave mes-

RENTAL-FINDERS AUTO-FINDERS 539-CALL

TELE-FIND AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

FOR SALE: 1978 Caprice Classic, good condition, $480. Call 539-2776 after 4 p.m. (64-68)

1978 PLYMOUTH Road Runner, $650 or best offer 776-1532 afternoon and evenings. (65-69)

1972 VW Super Beetle for sale. New battery, stereo. clutch. $450 negotiable. Call Jose, 537-3914. (65-

EMPLOYMENT

01

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids spond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe South America, Australia, Asia. All fleids. $900-2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

RESORT HOTELS, cruiselines, airlines and amuse ment parks Now accepting applications for sum mer jobs, internships and career positions. For in formation and application; write National Collegiate Recreation, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head Island, SC 29938. (59-66) NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driver's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont New York. (62-71)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work; electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

YOUTH DIRECTOR! First Christian Church is accepting applications for a half-time position to coordinate youth activities and direct teacher recruit ment. Application deadline Dec. 16, 1987. Send resume and three reference letters to: Search Committee Chair, 804 Laramie, Manhattan, KS 6502. Inquire at 776-8790. (66-70)

NEEDED: ONE immodest good-looking male stu dent to act as gift for special ladies. Phone 537-7251 for information, (66-67)

GREAT SUMMER camp jobs in the Colorado Rockies near Estes Park as counselors, cooks, nurses, of Room and board plus cash salary and travel allow ance. Fully accredited. Must be at least 19 to apply. Interviews on campus in early February. Write Cheley Colorado Camps, Dept. C, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616, For the summer of

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low ties, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) TWO BEDROOM house. Near City Park. Air condi-

ned. Some furnishings. 539-7307. (63-67) TWO-BEDROOM house, near campus, garage. No children, no pets, Jan. 1. 776-3321. (65-66)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13 A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 × 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537-1029. (62-71)

LOST AND FOUND

ACROSS

Fool

4 Expres-

12 Bambi's

13 Uncanny

15 Punch-

drunk reverence

21 Shoe part 57 Certain

17 Inspire

19 Closed

24 Caresses

Indian sauce

wines

Shankar's

18 Gat

25 East

By Jim Davis 14 Israeli

sionless

-Na-Na

mom, e.g.

LOST: ENVELOPE with pictures, Seaton Hall. Please drop in Putnam Hall or call 532-2033 (Giancarlo).

41 Namath

et al. 43 Cut,

in a way

45 Miss Dru

47 "- pig's

49 Rebukes

So. -

48 Circle

54 No: or

55 Author

58 Had

59 Stitch

Zola

56 "Ulalume"

railways

26 Like some Solution time: 26 minutes.

Crossword

ClassAds

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane 776-7874 Aggieville

4-7 p.m.

MONDAYS COTTON SHRIMP NIGHT 15¢ shrimp TLUB $1 draws 418 Poyntz $2.75 pitchers

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait d Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.-next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64

PLEASE BUY this like new Pioneer 45 watt receiver DE-2 Hitachi deck, $300 retail investment only $50, 537-8556, Sheldon, (63-67)

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays up til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

Study Rooms

are coming

539-7531

University" 17th & Anderson, 539-7531

after 5 p.m. WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

Receive a

FREE LOTTERY TICKET

When you buy 10 or more sessions. Also come in and register for 10 FREE

LOTTERY TICKETS NOW SELLING

$2 sessions

Personalized Programs are our specialty.

> Call Today! 776-1750

Hayes House of Music

FENDER SQUIRE STRATS

$309

327 Poyntz

1 Newspapers run them

2 Impresario

Hurok

milieu

4 Regard runners

5 Front-

6 Painter

Jean -

8 John

9 Pratfall.

machine

inventor

10 Sewing

7 Acrobatic

Maynard -

3 Neptune's

11 Capital

16 Country

of Yemen

776-7983

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

MONGOOSE MOUNTAIN blke, like new, new crankset, 15 speeds, chrome frame, $225. Call

Mark, 532-3560. (62-66)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES SPAYED FERRET, cage and set up. Gentle and very

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S Fourth St., Sulte 25. (1tf)

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

SAVE—WORD processing: term papers, letters, resumes, etc. Call Kristi at 532-6026 or 776-4900. (65-67)

21

Thesis

Reports

RENTALS TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and non-

correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf) 22 RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

TYPING: LAST minute jobs, large and small. Leave a

TRISH'S TYPING SERVICE (913) 539-6263 Forms

Resume's Dissertations Letters

Technical Typing TYPING: LAST mirfute and holiday jobs. Leave a mes-sage when you call. 537-3166. (66-67)

Resumes

—= Graphics Plus 11th & Laramie 539 -6027 ROOMMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester. Nice spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69) FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semeste Available December or January, two-bedroom. 537-

1273. (60-67)

nished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for house near cam pus. $113/month plus utilities. Call 776-9605. (62-

NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for fur-

TWO-THREE male roommates needed to share nice apartment one-half block from campus-crawling distance from Aggieville. 776-3896. (63-67)

MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester Own room, very close to campus, $150 month plus one-fifth utilities, 537-9764. (63-67) STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372, (63-67) ONE FEMALE roommate wanted. Close to campus nice apartment, fun roommates and cheap. Call 537-3940 and ask for Kathy. (64-68)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted second semester to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walking distance from campus. $165/month plus one-half utilities. Darlene, 537-0566. (64-66)

NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle Creek Boulevard second semester. $150 per onth, utilities paid. Call Allen (913) 492-6835. (64

WANTED: FEMALE roommate for spring semester, rent $140/month. Anderson Place. Call 539-5881 ONE-HALF BLOCK from Ahearn. Male ro

wanted to share four-man apartment. $130 per month. Call 539-1334. (66-70)

SUBLEASE 26 FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester starting December or January. $112.50 per month plus small share of utilities. Own room, close to campus. Call after 4 p.m., ask for Valerie. 776-9763. (65-66) CHEAP AND close to campus, Aggleville. $120/ month, utilities paid, own room. 539-1988. (65-86)

TRAVEL COLORADO

AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire-place, HBO, pool table, sauna. Great fishing. Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Silver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/ reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448. Get your friends to drive. (66-71)

TUTORING SERVICES

29 FIREWOOD FOR sale. Mixed, seasoned hardwoods $55 per pickup load, delivered and stacked. 494-2436 Jeff Ebert. (63-67)

GRADE-AID: Qualified tutor can help you get ready for finals: Algebra, Trigonometry, General Calculus, Accounting. (66-70)

By Eugene Sheffer

Bloom County

I WROTE A RHYME ABOUT HIM SOME YEARS AGO.

KNEW THE

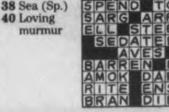

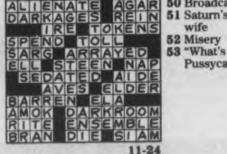

28 Ravi

club employee 20 "Miss -Regrets" 21 Object of 17 Across 22 Wine valley 23 Pancakes 27 Tuberous root 29 Healing CRYPTOQUIP 11-30

HSGVHACWCIFBM

BAHSGV: "KCTA LCOHIA." Yesterday's Cryptoquip: RISQUE AUTOBIOGRAPHY BY GOSSIP COLUMNIST, A FEMME FATALE: "SHE

Today's Cryptoquip clue: M equals T

Garfield

Peanuts

WHAT I WANT TO KNOW

MA'AM, IS HOW CAN THEY

DO ARTHROSCOPIC KNEE

SURGERY ON MY DOG IF DOGS DON'T HAVE KNEES

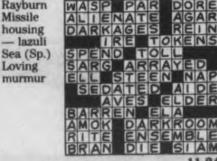

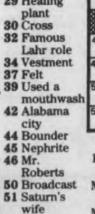

LIKE THOSE OF

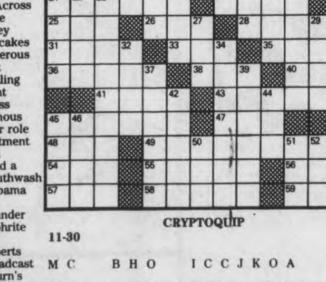

CASPAR WEINBERGER.

Pussycat?"

WAHLFTI JC MC

SNOOPS TO CONQUER."

Meats judging team places fifth overall in 'Superbowl' contest

By The Collegian Staff

K-State's meats judging team placed fifth overall with top 10 placings in each of the six divisions against 19 universities at the International Meats Judging Contest on

The contest, considered the "Superbowl of Meats Judging," was at the IBP Plant in Dakota City, Neb. Participants included five Big Eight Conference universities.

The divisions included beef grading, lamb judging, pork judging, beef judging, specifications and placings.

Texas A&M won the contest with first place finishes in beef judging, specifications and placings division of the contest.

Daryl Yarrow, junior in agriculture education, received first in placings and second in specifications judging to place sixth overall in individual standings. Other individual placings included Mark Frisbie, junior in animal sciences and industry, finishing second in the placings

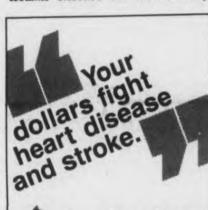

The team, coached by Michael Dikeman, professor in animal sciences and industry, was assisted by Jason Apple, graduate student in animal sciences and industry.

"The competition was rough...it was a good, challenging contest," said Dikeman.

He said that the results were good considering the lack of practice facilities and low, student interest. This year's team consisted of only four members, resulting in no alternate team members.

The contest consisted of judging nine classes - four of beef, three of pork and two of lamb, with five sets of written reasons. Contestants also had 15 beef carcasses to judge for yield and quality grading. In addition, there were 10 carcasses provided for specification judging.

In the specification judging, contestants checked the carcasses by

American Heart Association

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

United States Department of Agriculture regulations. Contestants had to give reasons if the carcasses' cuts did not meet the requirements.

Due to the incomplete renovation of the meats lab in Weber Hall, the team has been working out at various packing plants throughout the state. Members traveled to IBP in Emporia, Monfort Lamb in Harper, Roode Pack in Nebraska and Falley's grocery store in Topeka. The team practiced every Thursday and most Saturdays during the fall semester.

"The team is handicapped because of the meats lab. It has had a definite effect, and it will have a severe effect on the junior team," said Dikeman.

Because of the lab, pork and specification judging are the team's weak areas. Beef grading and judging were the team's strong points, though, he

The contest completed the 1987 season for the senior meats team. Workouts will begin in late December for the junior team that will compete January through March. The team will attend contests at the National Western Show in Denver, the Fort Worth Stock Show and the Houston Livestock Exposition.

Tomorrow!

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030 OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Call 532-6550 for appointment

Feel like your life is getting out of control??? Lafene Health Center's Mental Health Clinic can help!!!

OFFERING:

 Biofeedback •Individual & Group Counseling Stress Management Marital/Relationship Therapy

·Psychological Testing

A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

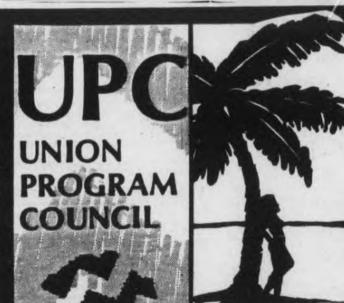

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

NOW ON SALE $29.95 PLUS TAX

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation!

SPRING BREAK '88 "LIFE'S A BEACH!" on South Padre Island March 12-19

Info Meeting: Tues., Dec. 1, 1987 Union 207, 7 p.m. Cost: $198 (all taxes included) Must provide own transportation.

k-state union

CONNECTION

Shop till you drop ... in Kansas City!

k-state union

Saturday, December 5, 1987 Cost $10 Enjoy shopping at Oak Park Mall and the famous Country Club Plaza!

> (Due to overwhelming response to this trip, a bus has been chartered)

Get into the Christmas Spirit!

Sign up in the Activities Center 3rd floor, Union, through Dec. 3

Dec. 2, 11 a.m.-6 p.m. Dec. 3, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. K-State Main & West Ballroom

(k-state union

For information on any UPC event, Call 532-6571!

This major German boxoffice hit is the amusing story of an unusual love triangle. It involves a jealous husband who is spying on his wife and her secret lover. They become the odd couple of Munich!

Unrated. KSU ID required. Wed. 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall Thurs. 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre & 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall

Whestate union

SANTA SUIT RENTAL

Dec. 1-15

Available in the Activities Center

Cost $10

k-state union

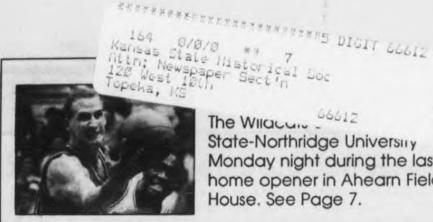

Shoplifting

Shoplifting is the third fastest growing crime in the United States and of increased concern during the holidays. See Page 5.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, highs around 50. Increasing cloudiness tonight, low around 30. Mostly cloudy Wednesday and mild, high 55 to 60.

The Wilacuis State-Northridge University Monday night during the last home opener in Ahearn Field House. See Page 7.

Tuesday

December 1, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 67

Kansas State Collegian

Fall loan rush depletes funds

By Julie Key Collegian Reporter

K-State's Office of Student Financial Assistance ran out of funds after more than $1 million in emergency loans were given to students during fall registration. This figure was about $300,000 more than last fall, said Larry Viterna, director of student financial assistance.

There is usually $500,000 available for emergency loans each semester in a revolving fund, said Doug Ackley, head of the cashier and loans department of the controller's office. This figure varies each semester depending on the number of unpaid loans.

The revolving loan fund is made up of contributions from companies or individuals and is specifically for emergency loans. The fund is replenished as the loans are collected.

After all the money in the revolving fund has been loaned, the student financial assistance office borrows money from the KSU Foundation.

"We had to borrow $400,000 from the Foundation and couldn't do moreloans until the Foundation was paid back," Vitema said.

"This was an abnormally large amount. We don't usually expect to provide that much," said Les Longberg, controller for the Foundation.

Because of lack of funds, no loans — except in extreme cases — could be made from about the third week of September to the end of October, Viterna said.

Some students had to borrow from parents and friends or take out a loan at a bank because they could not get a loan through the University, Viterna said. If students were unable to get a loan, he said the office of financial assistance would make an exception and loan them money.

In extreme cases, the financial assistance office could loan a student money from the funds from collected loans, Viterna said. He said when a loan was paid back to the office of financial assistance, the money was immediately made available to someone in such a situation.

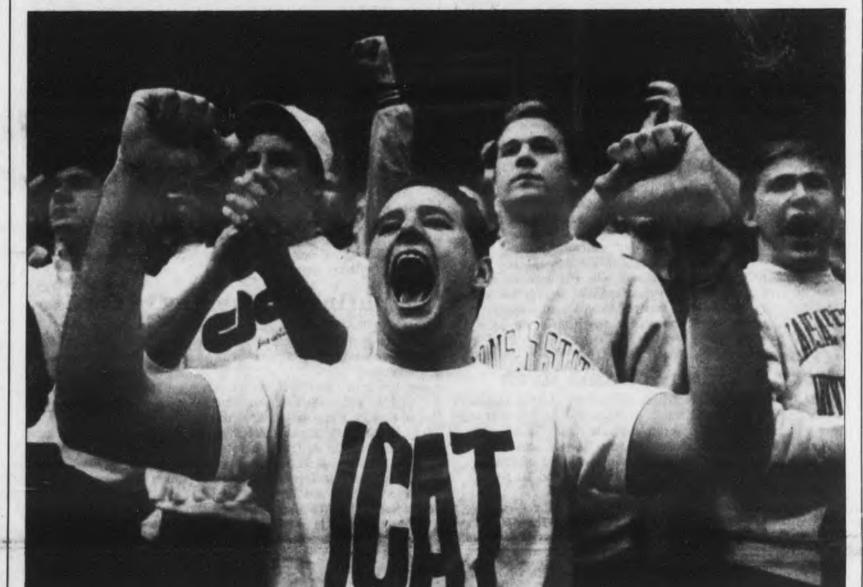

The Foundation has had to loan K-State money for student loans almost every semester for the last several years, Longberg said. The Foundation is paid off by installments as the loans are collected, he added.

Viterna said students get emergency loans for reasons varying from paying their tuition to paying bills.

A lower percentage of financial aid checks arrived at the University in time for registration and fee payment this fall, Viterna said. This was caused by the requirement of additional verification and documentation of loans and late applications.

Viterna said he doesn't expect a problem with funds next semester. By the spring, students' financial aid status has been verified and their checks come in without delay.

Something to cheer about

Chris Kemp, junior in political science, cheers Monday night dur- K-State held Cal State-Northridge to eight points in the first half, ing the first half of the final home opener in Ahearn Field House. leading 45-8, and then went on to win 91-46.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Standoff continues Minority blocks progress

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA - A "small but aggressive minority" of Cuban inmates blocked the release of 90 hostages from a federal penitentiary Monday, officials said, while hundreds of Cubans who surrendered in Louisiana were sent to other federal prisons.

The same 100 Cubans, out of a total population of 1,118, earlier blocked the release of 50 hostages in Atlanta, said Patrick Korten, deputy director of the public affairs for the U.S. Justice Department.

"Unfortunately, a small but aggressive minority appears to be able to intimidate this majority into dragging out the incident and avoiding a settlement," Korten

"Had it been up to those who have been negotiating on behalf of the apparent majority, they (the hostages) would probably be out."

The prison was quiet Monday, and there was no inmate reaction to the Louisiana settlement. Authorities spoke with some inmates on announcement that 2,500 Cubans Monday, but no formal negotiations were scheduled.

Monday evening, the detainees turned over double murderer Thomas Silverstein, 35, to prison officials.

Silverstein, considered the most dangerous inmate in the prison, had been released from his special maximum security cell by rioting Cuban detainees on Nov. 23 and had been seen roaming throughout the compound throughout the eight-day siege.

"I believe they regarded him as a potential threat," said Patrick Korten, deputy director of public affairs for the Justice Department.

Silverstein, originally sentenced to prison in 1975 for a California bank robbery, has been convicted of killing inmates at two prisons and a prison guard. One of his murder convictions was overturned, but he is serving life terms for the other two killings.

The riots by Cuban detainees in both states followed a government - mostly criminals or mentally ill would be returned to their homeland. The inmates have demanded that they be allowed to remain in the United States. Cubans seized the Oakdale, La., prison Nov. 21 and the Atlanta penitentiary two days later.

Atlanta inmates and federal officials have been at a stalemate since four hostages were released Sunday morning.

"We are prepared to be as patient as necessary as we await a decision by the Cuban detainees to settle the incident on a fair and equitable basis," Korten said, refusing to give additional details on the rift between inmates.

Federal agents will not use force to regain control of the 85-year-old stone prison as long as the prison workers held hostage are safe, he

Inmates have made videotapes of 70 of the 90 hostages and all appear to be safe, Korten said.

Faculty Senate's input ignored in University changes, some say

Proposals would affect administration

By Brenda Badostain Collegian Reporter

Changes are under consideration for the administration of the graduate school and the provost's office, but some members of Faculty Senate say they're not being properly informed about the proposals.

Among the changes being considered is for the dean of the graduate school to move to the provost's office as full-time associate provost, said Provost James Coffman.

A new dean would then be found for the graduate school. Robert Kruh is the dean of the graduate school and associate provost.

"We were not properly informed about impending changes - that's the main issue," said James Koelliker, professor of civil engineering and chairman of faculty affairs in Faculty Senate.

He said Faculty Senate has a history of being involved in discussions of possible administration changes. Channels exist for Senate input, Koelliker said, but "they're just not being used as effectively as they could be. "The main issue is not necessarily whether (the possible changes) are good or bad but...the decision (is) being made pretty much without proper faculty input," he said. Kruh said the change would relieve the ambiguity of dual titles.

"To some considerable degree I guess it might not be totally realistic to have one person handle all of the diverse activities," he said. "It has worked out reasonably well because of the colleagues that I'm fortunate to have here in the graduate office."

The proposed changes came into consideration when John Noonan, associate dean of the graduate provost's office, he said. school, announced he was retiring. A search committee was then formed this fall to find a replacement for Noonan. The committee has since been dissolved.

"The proposition is that I'd probably be leaving the office here (in the graduate school) very shortly...therefore, before we get an associate dean, we ought to get a dean first," Kruh said.

This change would give the new dean an opportunity to choose his or her colleague, and the new associate dean would also know for whom he or she was working, he said.

"The main issue is not necessarily whether (the possible changes) are good or bad but...the decision (is) being made pretty much without proper faculty input."

-James Koelliker

"So we could maybe do the more orderly thing of putting first things first," Kruh said.

"And I think we all regret that a search has been interrupted, but hopefully (the search was interrupted) in the cause of a higher value," he said.

Other changes are also being considered, Kruh said.

One proposal is to allow Kruh to work full-time as associate provost, and Robert Lowman, associate dean of the graduate school, would become acting dean until a new dean was found, Kruh said.

The graduate school has two associate deans: Noonan, who works with academic programs, and Lowman, who deals with grants and research.

Another proposal is if a new dean could be found within six to nine months, Kruh would continue temporarily in the graduate school and

Whatever changes are made will be "coupled with an interdisciplinary study of how the graduate school should best be structured for the future," Coffman said.

K-State's lack of manpower in several areas is also a reason for possible changes, Coffman said.

"We (K-State) have to figure out how to get ourselves positioned with extremely thin manpower," he said.

Kruh said any decisions about the proposals will be made by Coffman and President Jon Wefald.

Coffman is talking to several people, including the deans of all the colleges, the graduate council and Faculty Senate, Kruh said.

"He's wanting to be sure that he gets as much involvement as he possibly can. He's trying to touch as many bases as he possibly can," Kruh

Members of the Faculty Senate, however, were concerned with the amount of information they received about the possible changes.

Kruh said the Faculty Senate should be involved in the discussions of possible changes.

'They're very much a part of it (possible changes) and they're affected by it and ... expect to be consulted," he said. Members of the graduate council and graduate student council were also concerned about the lack of communication to them of possible changes. "No one really knows what's going on (in the graduate school) except that Noonan is retiring," said

Richard Courtney, graduate student in computer science and president of the graduate student council. Courtney said the graduate school is already short staffed and nobody knows who's going to be making decisions in the future. "And we kind of wanted some answers. ... (There are) just a lot more questions than there are answers right now," he said.

Cubans sent to Leavenworth moved to the facility. By The Associated Press

LEAVENWORTH - Nearly 200 Cuban detainees were transferred Monday to the federal prison in Leavenworth from the ederal detention center in Oakdale, La., according to reports. A federal Bureau of Prisons official in Washington said Leavenworth and other federal institutions across the United the end of a siege when 26 hos-tages were released Sunday.

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette reported that 90 prisoners were flown to a St. Joseph airport Monday morning. Another 108 arrived shortly after 1 p.m. for the one-hour bus ride to the federal prison, the newspaper said.

John Vanyur, a Bureau of States could receive more of the were sent to Leavenworth Mon-1,000 Oakdate inmates. The day morning the declined to say inmates, were moved following bow many inmates were being

"There may be more, By midnight tonight, they will all be where they are supposed to be," said Vanyur, adding that a final figure would be released Tuesday for the various prison facilities around the country.

Dan McCauley, a spokesman at Leavenworth, said the 90 Cubans arrived about 7 a.m. and were confined in space behind the walls rather than at the prison's bonor camp.

CHICAGO - More than 490 people were reported killed in traffic accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend, exceeding National Safety Council projections.

At least 494 people died on the nation's roadways between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday local time, considered the peak holiday travel period. California reported the highest state toll with 61 deaths, followed by Florida with 34.

The safety council had said 450 travelers might die during the long Thanksgiving holiday.

Council statisticians did not provide an estimate of how many deaths might be expected over a four-day non-holiday period at this time of the year, saying that methods for gathering and analyzing such data are not comparable.

Troops may leave Afghanistan

MOSCOW - Afghan leader Najib said Monday that Soviet troops could pull out of his country in a year or less and suggested a superpower conference on stabilizing the situation in and around his country.

Speaking to a National Council that, as expected, endorsed his election as president, Najib also said he was ready to meet leaders of the opposition to his Soviet-backed regime for direct peace talks.

According to the official Soviet news agency Tass, the Afghan leader indicated he would extend a cease-fire for government troops until July 15.

Leaders of the Moslem guerrillas battling Najib's government have denounced the cease-fire, which officially took effect Jan. 15. The guerrilla leaders say the order was a propaganda move and suggest that fighting has increased since then.

KCC delays plugging oil well

TOPEKA - The Kansas Corporation Commission said Monday it has delayed an attempt to plug an abandoned oil well located under water in the bed of the Neosho River in southeast Kansas.

Wet weather has made the area inaccessible to heavy equipment needed to divert the water so the well can be plugged, the KCC said in a statement. The well was covered when the river changed course years ago. Oil seepage has been noted for years, but the well was not located until recently.

The KCC said it would announce a new date for the attempted plugging.

Ferry accident claims lives

DHAKA, Bangladesh - Rescue workers on Monday searched a submerged ferry for the bodies of 30 people missing after the boat collided with a cargo vessel and sank, police said.

About 80 people were aboard the ferry when it sank Saturday in the Jamuna River about 35 miles northwest of Dhaka. At least 40 people swam to nearby silt islands and 10 bodies were recovered, police and newspapers said.

"We have little hope of finding the missing passengers alive," a source at the Aricha police station told The Associated Press. Rescue officials said they believed many bodies were entombed inside the submerged hull of the single-deck ferry.

Candidates to address farmers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - At least five Republicans and one Democrat seeking the presidency plan to address farmers at an agricultural forum Thursday, officials said.

As many as 3,000 farmers from the United States and Canada are expected to attend a two-day seminar sponsored by Successful Farming magazine, editor Richard Krumme said Monday. A candidates forum was scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday at Bartle Hall.

Krumme said Republican candidates who have agreed to attend the forum are former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont, former Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, Pat Robertson and Los Angeles businessman Benjamin Fernandez.

Jesse Jackson is the only Democrat who has made a commitment to attend, Krumme said.

Vice President George Bush, Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas and Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri are considering attending, Krumme said.

The forum will allow the candidates to give separate addresses, preferably on farm issues, he said.

Radon gas testing to resume

TOPEKA - The second phase of a survey which seeks to determine the presence of radon gas in Kansas homes is under way, state Department of Health and Environment officials said Monday.

Up to 1,600 homes statewide will be tested in a continuation of a survey begun during the heating season last winter.

Craig Schwartz, radiation protection specialist for KDHE, said letters were sent to Kansas households selected randomly by a federal Environmental Protection Agency computer, asking homeowners to participate. Volunteers are not being sought and will not be accepted for the program.

Health agency officials or volunteers will call the homeowners who received letters to determine if their homes qualify for the survey, and if they are willing to participate, said Bob Moody, KDHE information officer.

Those taking part in the survey will be asked to monitor the radon levels in their homes over a two-day period using charcoal cannisters supplied to them.

Fighting intensifies in Gulf

NICOSIA, Cyprus - Iran and Iraq accused each other of bombing civilian targets in a new round of air raids Monday, and two more Iraqi attacks on tankers in the Persian Gulf were confirmed.

Dissidents from both the warring countries claimed hundreds of Iraqi and Iranian soldiers were killed in the last several days in fighting along the northern part of the warfront.

In the southern gulf, an Iranian warship fired upon a helicopter carrying an ABC television news crew, shipping sources said. No damage or casualties were reported.

Baghdad and Tehran both reported strikes on industrial installations in Iran and Iraq.

Baghdad's official news agency said Iraqi jets attacked two power stations in western Iran - one north of the city of Hamadan and another south of Kangavar - "hitting their targets accurately and causing them to explode." The cities are 50 miles apart.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

COORDINATED PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are being taken through Dec. 15 for admission to the coordinated program in dietetics. See Dr. Roach, Justin 107, for more information.

TODAY

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet during the afternoon at University Photography to take composite pictures.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 6:30 a.m. in Shellenberger 110 to begin baking.

> Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat 5 pm. to Midnight Call 537-1484

When you fill out your Form W-4 or W-4A, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," remember: If you can be claimed on your parent's or another person's tax return, you generally cannot be exempt from income tax withholding. To get it right, read the instructions that came-with your Form W-4 or W-4A.

FREE DELIVERY

Restaurant

-1304 Westloop

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's

YOGURT!

Frozen Yogurt Stores

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

(539-8888

10% off with KSU IDE

539-0888

YOUNG DEMOCRATS meet at 8 p.m. in Union 202 for a discussion of next semester's activities.

THURSDAY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral disscrtation of Hossein Mozaffarian at 3 p.m. in Seaton 131. The topic is: "Free Vibration of Natural Draft Cooling Tower Shells."

PARACHUTE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in

SIGMA DELTA PI meets at 6 p.m. at 3005 Gary Ave. for a Christmas party.

"THE NUTCRACKER SUITE" REALLY PUTS ME IN THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT!

24 shopping days to Christmas

MARGARITAS 99¢ TACOS

OR 3 FOR $2.75 1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030 OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

ANNOUNCERS

Applications are being accepted for full time & part time announcers. *Broadcast experience required *Various shifts...days/nights/weekends EOE employer

KMKF 101+

KMAN 1350

2414 Casement, Manhattan, KS 66502

VISTA TRAVEL MUG

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation! WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE $29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggleville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

55 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

Peer colleges used to establish standing Comparisons justify requests Lawmaker questions methods

By Lori Lindstrom Staff Writer

Peer institutions are used to establish criteria to see just where K-State stands in comparison to other land grant universities. The Kansas Board of Regents uses peer colleges to justify its budget requests to the Kansas Legislature, such as the "Margin of Excellence" plan.

Don Hoyt, director of planning and evaluating services, said peer institutions are picked to "look like us" for comparison purposes and to exchange information about operations.

"Some people say if they're like you, you'll never get ahead," Hoyt said. "They say we should get those (peers) we aspire to and try to get ahead."

The MOE plan is an "idea for a benchmark" of spending and growth for the Regents schools. Hoyt said K-State "didn't pick well-funded peers," although they are better funded than K-State.

One state legislator also believes the peers were chosen incorrectly. Rep. Bill Bunten, R-Topeka and chairman of the panel and the standing House Appropriations Commit-

Greetings!

May the sweet memories of Christmas enhance your holidays now and forever.

Local Gift Certificates available in any amount.

Good at any Dairy Queen.

Off Gift Certificates

Dairu

Oueen

brazier

1015 N. 3rd

12th & Moro

tee, wants to study the manner of choosing peers for Kansas colleges before considering the MOE plan.

"The MOE program is a good plan and a great effort made in higher education," Bunten said.

He said the Kansas Legislature does not allocate funds, however, in the same way the states of the peer institutions do.

Rather, the legislative committee listens to the institution's request and examines its needs for equipment, operating expenses and faculty salaries. Bunten said the committee does not base its final decision, however, on peer institution comparison.

"It depends on the money available to give out," Bunten said.

The selection of peer institutions for K-State is a complex procedure beginning with an evaluation of states similar to Kansas. Hoyt explained that six factors are considered, and each is given a "weighted number" for comparison.

The factors include state population, percent of state population residing in non-metropolitan areas, per capita personal income, percent of high school graduates enrolled in public universities, percent of high school graduates enrolled in public community colleges and percent of high school graduates enrolled in private institutions.

After this evaluation, Kansas was grouped with 33 states, Hoyt said. The institutions in each state are then examined, Hoyt said, to see how comparable they would be as a peer institution for K-State.

In order to be a peer school, the university must be a public, 4-year institution located within one of the 33 states identified in the first evaluation. Also, it cannot be a special purpose campus — such as a medical center or a graduate center.

At this point, Hoyt said, K-State fell into a further defined group of institutions - those awarding doctoral degrees in six or more academic

Hoyt said the study identified 59 ■ See COMPARE, Page 6

Lawmaker questions methods

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Faced with consistently adverse comparisons of regents institutions with selected peer universities, one Kansas lawmaker suggested the way the comparisons are made might need

The Legislative Budget Committee reviewed a rough study from the Legislative Research Department indicating the six regents universities are underfinanced in several areas compared with peer schools the regents have

But the committee's review of the report had legislators asking questions about how the comparisons were made and how relevant these comparisons are among colleges in Kansas and other states.

Rep. Bill Bunten, R-Topeka, chairman of the panel and the House Appropriations Committee, said he plans to ask for an in-depth study of how higher education is financed in Kansas and in other states. He also wants an examination of how the comparisons are made with peer institutions.

"When you try to be a percentage of what someone else is, you lose control of what you're doing," Bunten said. "If we pick the right peers, we've got it made."

The Board of Regents chose a separate group of peer institutions for the University of Kansas; K-State; The Wichita State University, and the "regional" universities Emporia State University, Fort Hays State University and Pittsburg State University.

The peer institutions are selections based upon their similarities ■ See PEERS, Page 6 will host a discussion on

The U.S. Dollar and International

To be led by Professors:

Tuesday, Dec. 17:30 p.m. Union 209-Open to the Public

LADIES

PRESENTS DANCE*COMEDY*MUSCLE

Guys get in at 11:00 Tickets at the Door

VISA

Bar 539-9081

THE SINKING DOLLAR! The Economics Club

Exchange Rates.

Wayne Nafziger & Patrick Gormely

TONIGHT

Dancers start at 8:30

Office 776-6638

Lead the way ... be a part of the 1988 KSU student government

Judicial Council Student Review Board

Judicial

Traffic Appeals Board

Legislative

Student Senate Standing Committees Academic Affairs & University Relations Communications Finance

Legislative Affairs Senate Operations

Student Affairs & Social Services Student Senate Interns

Executive Student Body President's Cabinet Attorney General Chief of Staff College Council Coordinator

International Affairs Director Minority Affairs Director Public Relations Director State & Community Affairs Director

Applications & Information available in the SGS office, K-State Union. Applications due Dec. 9, 5 p.m.—SGA Hotline 532-7777

Spring 1988 26350 26370 26380 30720 30820 30870 32960 30410 26250 Closed Class List 30600 30640 30690 07670 26280 24670 31370 06560 06820 06840 06850 06860 07000 07210 26420 24690 26300 10930 10960 10970 10980 11050 35950 35960 31460 33350 19420 19440 19470 19480 19610 04610 04670 05290 07700 14100 31470 33400 03820 07930 03830 22480 25000 26510 31480 33460 35990 07960 31510 33470 05310 07970 14330 01020 03870 63880 22500 31520 33490 05320 11100 08010 19630 19710 19730 22540 22560 22580 25020 25050 26650 08080 11110 31530 33510 36140 31580 33540 01210 07220 36190 05340 08200 01220 07300 07540 07590 03910 31590 33550 25060 11130 14520 01280 05350 08230 31610 33560 31630 33570 03920 08240 19750 25070 26690 36700 05490 19840 19850 20140 22680 26700 25090 02030 14550 25100 31650 33660 03950 11160 26740 05540 08300 22910 3171 32060 3373 32310 33740 33750 31970 10730 05560 08380 10740 10750 10760 10770 11180 25450 27210 37310 05590 08560 02130 11190 11210 11300 23130 25460 25470 27220 37390 37440 20160 02150 05630 05660 05690 20170 14720 08580 02170 32330 08700 10830 13770 20210 235T0 23650 25490 25500 29010 32340 32370 33820 33840 35120 35130 11310 11320 05710 09220 02390 20230 32380 09290 05730 10890 23680 32390 32400 14910 20310 25520 25530 29070 34040 35170 35180 11710 05740 10900 11900 11910 11920 11930 12080 12740 12750 12790 12820 09320 02650 20430 20450 20460 20560 32410 25540 25550 25580 09330 05760 29100 23730 34160 35240 35370 03070 05770 16950 17460 17480 29110 32430 14970 05780 09350 32440 32450 25630 29120 05790 09360 20660 20670 23960 25670 34270 35510 35770 29130 15010 03180 09370 32460 17500 21150 09380 15020 24020 24050 24130 20740 25700 29151 34310 05840 09390 32700 32730 20750 34320 34330 09890 09940 15190 25710 29190 03400 18670 21290 25720 29240 32490 06200 06200 06280 13170 16130 32540 32560 20820 25760 29260 09950 24270 24460 32780 32820 29290 13210 16720 20830 25790 34380 03630 18860 21340 25860 29300 32600 10410 13240 16730 20850 34420 06420 03750 32610 25870 29310 34550 06430 32830 32630 21580 19270 13260 24510 25880 29320 34950 32840 24520 25950 10710 13350 16910 20970 29390 32690 24640

Finally, a great pizza delivered.

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA™

Super Party Pack $13.99

Present this coupon and receive two medium four Dine in, Carryout or Delivery topoing Thin Crust Valid on Stuffed or Original Pizza. Not pizza & two soft drinks for only pizzas, plus four soft valid with refills on refillable jug of-

GODETHERS

use this coupon or take advantage

Large Pizza for

a Medium Price

Present this coupon and receive any large pizza for the price of a medium.

er. On Sunday your choice: either

Present this coupon & receive a medium Original two topping

$8.99

Dinner for Two

Hot Slice™ 2 for $2 Receive 2 Hot Slice Pizzas by the slice for $2!

Dine-in or Carryout Monday-Friday, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

Combo or Pepperoni

Don't Approach the Work Force NO EXPERIENCE

Now Taking Applications for Spring Collegian:

Copy Editors Feature Edito Sports Editor Agribusiness Editor Sports Writers Graphic Artists Photo/Graphics Editor

Pick Up Your Application in Kedzie 103 NOW Applications due by 5 p.m. TODAY in Kedzie 103

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, December 1, 1987 ■ Page 4

Americans should be skeptical of news

"Journalists and their employers should conduct their personal lives in a manner which protects them from conflict of interest, real or apparent. Their responsibilities to the public are paramount."

-segment of the Code of Ethics of the Society of Professional Journalists (Sigma Delta Chi).

Consider the term "misinformation." In the dictionary, it is the giving of false or misleading information. At the recent University Convocation Nov. 17, Professor Noam Chomsky categorized misinformation as a vital policy of our government, and one aimed at the American people. Chomsky went so far as to say that the government considers its citizens — ordinary people like you and me - as an enemy which it must lie to in order to carry out many routine activities. Did he exaggerate? Maybe not.

Just how much of the information that we read in newspapers and magazines or see on television is controlled (directly or indirectly) by someone in Washington? One's immediate response would be that nothing of what the media presents us is government controlled. The noble ideals our society preaches and supposedly abides by, clash with censorship or any type of news regulation. Freedom of speech and even the press are guaranteed by the Bill of Rights - despite blunders of ference with those rights is only seen in totalitarian communist regimes.

That isn't necessarily true.

Shortly after the first inauguration of Ronald Reagan, a new unit, by the name of the Office of Public Diplomacy for Latin America and the Caribbean, was created in the State Department. The function of this office, according to Chicago-area professor Michael Bowman, was to publicize - mostly with lies - a certain Central American terrorist group known as the Contras. According to a report issued by the General Accounting Office (GAO), the activities of the office were misleading as to their origin and reasonably constituted propaganda within the common understanding of that term." But, more important than ignoring the fact that domestic propaganda with public funds is against the law, were the methods employed by this federal office.

On March 11, 1985, The Wall Street Journal published a column by John F. Guilmartin Jr. of Rice University, on the offensive threat of Soviet helicopters in Nicaragua. However, Guilmartin made no mention of the fact that he was a paid consultant to the Office of Public Diplomacy, nor that this was a collaborative effort with that office, as was later bragged in an "eyes-only" memo to Patrick J. Buchanan, then federal director of communiconservative jurists. And government inter- cations. The office also took over the direct Commentary supervision of all Contra propaganda, which ranged from the transportation and booking of Contra leaders for public presentation, to the actual penning of these speeches. Leaders like Adolfo Calero and Edgar Chamorro recited speeches written by the State Department and became mere puppets in the department's attempts to deceive America.

MICHAEL NICHOLS Collegian Columnist

Or consider the plight of Grenada. Despite the American invasion of that island on Oct. 25, 1983, having become an irrelevant memory to most of us, the condition of the Grenadian people has not improved. In fact, it has declined considerably. Unemployment, which was at about 28 percent around the time of the invasion, has risen to between 35 and 40 percent, reported Alexander Cockburn in the Oct. 14 issue of In These Times. Emigration of Grenadians has gone up to 2,000 a year, due to such actions as the layoff of more than half of the civil servants, or perhaps because of the public-sector deficit of 60 percent along with a $50 million foreign debt. Having "rescued a neighboring nation from a growing tyranny," as Ronald Reagan put it, we replaced the socialist government with a stereotypical, authoritarian

By cutting social service spending, disbanding the adult literacy program and destroying the national health-care system, new Prime Minister Herbert Blaize is financing attempts to attract the miracle cure for Grenada's maladies: American investment. The fact that no new industry has been created since the American invasion does not seem to discourage Blaize. American subsidies — $75 million in the first two years and $17 million in 1987 — are always a reliable allowance.

And what coverage does our press give Grenada? None.

Not quite, there have been instances of media attention. On Jan. 25, 1985, Tom Wicker reported optimistically in The New York Times: "Grenada is peaceful again and has a new chance for prosperity." And once again, in the Times, this time on Aug 11, 1986, Joseph Treaster assuredly informed America that: "Grenada...is returning to the peaceful, easy-going rhythms of the English-speaking Caribbean..." The above reporters' in-depth research of the subject undoubtedly justifies The New York Times reputation as one of the "liberal watchdogs" of America.

Why the persistent apathy of the American media to reality? The most sensible explanation is that, like our government, our media also caters to the most influential segment of American society: large corporations.

Does it surprise you that a study conducted by the Columbia Journalism Review in 1979 reported that a vast majority of the 290 directors of the 25 largest newspaper companies in America are tied to corporations and institutions (many of them federal government offices) the papers cover? As the study concluded: "Overall, the directors are linked with powerful business organizations, not with public interest groups; with management, not labor; with well-established think tanks and charities, not their grassroots counterparts."

Is this the freedom of the press we find in the Bill of Rights? The monopoly of more than half of the nation's newspapers - not to mention magazines and television networks - by wealthy businessmen? Perhaps Americans should become more skeptical about their everyday news. Alternative sources of information, not always easily found, are a good resource with which to compare the majority opinion.

Even in death, family couldn't rely on others

ly concern.

For the dead members of one Kansas City, Kan., family - and especially for the lone 17-month-old survivor - none of that seemed to matter. Their disappearance from the face of the earth for two to three weeks was apparently of no consequence.

least one employer. And not to any family members.

Three members of the family the parents and a 3-month-old girl were found dead last Friday. The mother and father were found shot, apparently the victims of a murdersuicide.

Their daughter Amber died of dehydration after being strapped to an infant seat in a bedroom. Police speculate that the father shot his wife before turning the gun on himself.

The couple's other daughter, Linda, survived along with the family dog apparently on a diet of potato chips and toilet water.

Although the dominant question remained obscure.

So much for the ties that bind. concerns the deaths themselves, Or even, for that matter, neighbor- another important question is why was this family not missed for up to three weeks? One neighbor said he heard five gunshots the morning of Nov. 6, but "in this neighborhood, you hear things like that all the time."

The father's employer said he thought nothing of it when the man didn't show up for work and never Not to their neighbors. Not to at called. Neighbors were obviously unconcerned that the porch light remained on at all hours and laundry that had been hung out to dry had never been collected.

> What makes that lack of concern even more puzzling is that they weren't missed over Thanksgiving. Said one official: "It baffles the mind how these people were not missed for several weeks, especially over the holidays."

> Most information suggests the young family members led a bleak, financially strapped existence without much outside love or concern.

How sad that even in death, they

WE'VE GOT OURSELVES BUT THIS IS ONLY A TREATY! THE BEGINNING.

Students need day off prior to start of finals

Once again, K-Staters are readying for finals week. The Union is staying open later, books are being taken out of the Varney's sack for the first time this semester, that lost course description has been found and people are swapping "missed"

Students are desperately working toward their one weekend to prepare for one week of finals, a week in which no matter what, at least three finals will fall on one day.

The University of Kansas, on the other hand, lets its students have one day off before the beginning of eight days of finals, which are separated by a weekend.

In the spring semester, K-State allows for a "Student Preparation Day" before finals begin.

The problem K-State creates is not letting students have the preparation time needed before finals week. Granted, students should not be behind in their classes, but the truth is most are. So why not be more realistic and give K-Staters a day to prepare and spread finals over an eightday period with a weekend off?

Some think students actually learn more in those last class days. But the truth is they're too busy trying to catch up.

Letters

No discrimination

Editor,

Re: Troy Millsap's ridiculous comments concerning the "unfairness" of ICAT getting better tickets for basketball games in the Oct. 26 issue of the Collegian. My comments and feelings should especially be heard by the Student Senate, the athletic department and even President Jon Wefald. I am not a rich student and I am not a member of ICAT. I bought a season basketball ticket with a group of people when the tickets went on sale. We went out the night before they went on sale to wait and we were pleased with our seats. I was also very pleased with the way the tickets were distributed.

Unlike Mr. Millsap, I will not complain about ICAT receiving preferred seating at basketball games. In fact, I commend the athletic department and the founders of ICAT for producing the organization. I remember when the organization started last year. The sign promoting ICAT read something like this: "Help support the KSU Athletic Department by creating scholarship funds and receive preferred seating at all athletic events." Where was Mr. Millsap then? I assume he can read and he knows how to comprehend those words. Then why is it such a big deal now? I find it quite ironic that Mr. Millsap chose to call the privilege "free preferred seating." Since when do twenty dollar bills grow on trees? If they do, why didn't Mr. Millsap pluck one down and get some "free preferred seating" of his own? Also, the argument that "the people of ICAT should have to camp out longer for tickets" because the ICAT people haven't been "putting out the time and the effort to support the 'Cats" is as warped a logic as I've ever heard. ICAT people have put forth much money to improve the athletic department and also stay at games much longer than the average Wildcat fan. It's too bad that the living group mentioned in the editorial didn't ask anyone how camping guidelines were last year. I'm not positive, but I do believe the person per tent limit was about four or six last year. A little foresight goes a long way.

Strange, I don't feel even the tiniest bit of discrimination that Mr. Millsap mentioned in his editorial. It must be that I have grown up and have realized that in today's world you get what you want by paying for it, not by crying about it.

Damian Gerstner senior in architectural engineering and 32 others

Real teachers

Re: Cindie Baldwin's article "Education college to require internship" in the Nov. 19

Collegian. Although the story was very informative for members of the College of Education who were unable to attend the S-NEA meeting on Nov. 4, there were a few mistakes. The headline was incorrect, as it is not the college that is requiring the internship; it is the state. The internship requirement does not affect he's obviously not much of a man. Women whether the student gets a degree from K-State; it only affects their certification.

The student has already graduated from K-State and must find a job like any other K-State graduate. They will be able to teach in their own classroom; they will be paid, and they will be certified to teach for one year further certification depends on the recommendation of the assistance-assessment

This brings us to the insertion of the word "student" into Kris Hill's quote about how the program will work. The teacher is not a student; he or she is a first-year teacher. The way this insertion is used seems to compare the internship to student teaching, and it is not. The teacher is just that — a teacher.

They will not have a supervising teacher to ask for assistance in maintaining classroom control. They will be on their own in the real world with two people watching them, assessing them and, hopefully, assisting them so that they may become the best teacher they possibly can.

> Valorie McKain junior in education

Three cheers

Re: Dale Schmidling's letter "Men should help" in the Nov. 19 Collegian.

Three cheers for Dale. He brought up some good points; first point being about "consenting" women. There is no such thing in rape; you can't rape the willing. Therefore, it is obvious that rape is a blatant disregard for a woman's feelings and rights. On the idea of flirting oneself into a bad situation, it still boils down to the man.

If he is so weak he can't control himself, are people with feelings, and I for one am very bitter toward poeple who violate them. If you ever consider committing an act of this nature, stop by first. I know several people who would be more than willing to beat you

> Mike Joyce junior in pre-veterinary medicine

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6355, SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $46; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

BusinessTuesday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, December 1, 1987 ■ Page 5

Shoplifting increases nationally, Manhattan merchants crack down

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

Shoplifting is the third fastest growing crime in the United States, said Sgt. Stan Conkwright of the Riley County Police Department.

And, Conkwright said, most businesses prosecute.

"Most of them (businesses) make it a habit to prosecute," he said. "Some people hear a store is an easy

Conkwright said it is hard to determine an overall shoplifting figure for the county, because shoplifting is included in the theft category of crime. Each case is put into one of four categories: adult and misdemeanor, juvenile and misdemeanor, adult and felony, and felony and juvenile.

For the adult categories, either a citation or a jail sentence is given, he said. For both juvenile categories, the shoplifters are handed over to their parents. Misdemeanors are handled by the city and felonies are handled by the district court.

It is usually up to the discretion of the court as to the punishment of violators, Conkwright said. Fines for a misdemeanor range up to $2,500 and a year in jail; for a felony a fine ranges up to $10,000 and up to 10 years in jail.

Three Manhattan merchants -Barry's Drug Center, JCPenney and Dillons are looking at the problem more closely since the holiday shopping season is in full swing.

Barry Sarvis, owner of Barry's Drug Center, said shoplifting has decreased in his store because of his nuously looking at the clerk are two

"We keep a very close eye out for said. shoplifting," he said. "We try to eliminate those things that invite shoplifting.'

Before Sarvis bought the store, he said, shoplifting was a problem. By improving the store's layout, lightcustomers and prosecuting violators, the numbers have gone down.

The shelf units are lower than before, and the more expensive items are to the outside of the aisles, Sarvis said. Also, raising the platform behind the drug counter has eliminated most of the blindspots in the

"There is no place to hide here," Sarvis said.

Another reason shoplifting has not been a problem is because a drugstore is not a high-risk industry, he we sell are not things you would steplifters, but he said dealing with suspects can be touchy.

"We don't want to libel ourselves," Sarvis said. "We suggest a suspicion. We do not want to accuse or embarrass the person."

But even then, Sarvis said, shoplifting is a pretty shady area.

"It is not illegal to put something in your pocket. Walking out of the store without paying is," he said.

are trained to spot a shoplifter. Refusal of a clerk's help and conti-ing, traffic flow, ratio of clerks to

"Ninety-five percent of the items al," Sarvis said.

Sarvis' policy is to prosecute sho-

Employees at Barry's Drug Center

common signs of a shoplifter, Sarvis plifting down," he said.

Sarvis' employees help curb sho- priced items that are taken. This can plifting by continuously circulating and by telling him if they suspect someone, he said.

"People are not going to steal if they do not know where you are," he

For JCPenney, the problem is much larger.

Bill Marks, senior merchandiser for the Manhattan Town Center's branch store, said shoplifting was a problem in the old store in downtown Manhattan, but that there are signs of it in the new store.

One or two shoplifters are caught each week, but he said he believes that is lower than in the old store.

"The problem is not quite as bad in this store because we have it staffed all the time now," Marks said. "I think we thwart a lot of them."

But, he said, this will probably change as more people come into the

"With increased traffic, I am sure shoplifting is going to be increasing," Marks said.

J.C. Penney Co. Inc. makes a policy of prosecuting shoplifters.

"There is no leniency at all," he said. "This is to establish that we are not an easy target."

To curb the problem, Marks said they are taking several steps. They include increased staffing, check systems for dressing rooms, keeping racks at eye level and monitoring blind spots.

"Just giving everybody good customer service is going to keep sho-mostly it is clothing.

increased security.

Boulevard.

easy," Conkwright said.

Marks said it is usually high-include little things like jewelry, but from home furnishings," he said.

the merchants and customers alike, said Marks. Although neither Marks nor Sarvis knew exact numbers, they agree the expense is passed on to every customer by higher prices.

to recoup their losses so they may raise their prices or pay out for sands (dollars for businesses) real

"The costs could run into the thou-

The cost is more specific for the

Jeff Ediger, assistant to the head cashier, said every $10 stolen has to be covered by $1,000 in merchan-

Shoplifting is a big problem for dise, time and increased staffing.

Dillons because they do not have a lot of people working all the time, he

"A lot of times we don't have the Grocery stores' larger aisles allow time to watch everyone," Ediger shoplifters more room to move around in. Only four or five shoplifters are caught each month, but more

Conkwright said poor economic times, a challenge, kleptomania and peer pressure are some reasons peogo undetected, he said.

Dillons store on Tuttle Creek

Conkwright said businesses have

"It is pretty hard to stash things

Shoplifting is expensive for both

Commentary WILLIAM L

Guest

Columnist

Pitfalls attract

Because most of us are extremely creative when it comes to ways of losing money, it's very hard to develop a list of "most" loughts, as well as those of Ronald Blue, editor of Master Your Money. Hopefully, these will serve as guideposts when considering investments.

Lack of goals. Money and nvestments are no more than tools to accomplish short- and ong-term objectives. Too often investment decisions are based on an "unbelievable deal," rather than a sound financial plan. You ed to analyze each investment in light of your goals, not the salesman's proposals. Law of diversification. The proven rule of "don't put all of our eggs in one basket" is probably one of the best pieces of estment advice ever offered. The recent stock market plunge or the real estate devaluation in Texas and Oklahoma offers good proof of this old axiom. Putting all ur dollars in one investment en the market turns against you, and it undoubtedly will at

Ignoring the riskireward relationship. Normally the higher the expected rate of return for an investment, the higher the inherent risk in such a project. For ome unexplained reason, people forget this when deciding to nvest their hard earned dollars. Investing only for tax motivated reasons. This type of investment will be less common under the new tax law because of the decreased benefit of tax investments. Unfortunately in the past many people have invested on the sole basis that they can save tax dollars. They may save $2,000 in tax and lose the $5,000 principal.

It just doesn't add up. Investing over the teleione. You can buy anything over e telephone...land in Arizona, ks, bonds, gold, silver, oil leases and on and on. The artiaz-ing thing is that people are actual-ly lured into purchasing these estments from someone that they have never seen, giving their money to a company that they often know nothing about. It's rrational to put your money in an nvestment without knowing about the company, the track record of the salesman, etc.

many people think that they can his the home run," and make it big. Better to go for the base hits. Strive for steady, conservative many investors investment opportunities with minimum risk.

> ■ Greed. Staying at the party too long can be dangerous. Don't be the one who says, "I have made a great return on this investment, if I stay in I'll make even more." Too often it turns the other way.
>
> Not reducing debt before investing. People are constantly looking for the exotic and tend to ignore the obvious. If an investment could offer you an 18 to 21 percent guaranteed rate of return, you would take it in an instant. However, few people think to pay off their credit cards before making other investments. You stabilize your base and make money at the same time.

Don't risk more than you can afford to lose, Basic savings, emergency, or retirement funds should be placed in safe, low risk investments. Only then should excess funds go into riskier investments. Too often people do not analyze their investments in that light, and may have all of their retirement money placed in a vehicle that has the potential of losing not only the interest but principal as well. If losing the money would cause a financial hardship, don't do it!

Becoming personally liable. In many investments, oil and gas leases being one type, you not only invest but sign a letter of credit for many times the original investment. The general partner normally assures the investor that the letter of credit will never be called upon unless absolutely necessary. But unfortunately "absolutely necessary" does happen, i.e. the fall in oil prices. When these levers are called, the partner must provide more money. What was once touted as an exceptional rate of return now goes to zero or can even turn negative.

Improper analysis of borrowing for investment. Often borrowing to invest makes sense. Just as often, it does not. The failure to analyze these borrowings puts many investors in the position of paying off loans made for investments that failed. Not much fun!

"A friend told me to." We see more people who want to put hard earned dollars into an investment because a good friend or fellow worker said it was a good deal. It may be perfect for your friend and absolutely wrong for

Read the small print, Know what you are getting into. By not knowing the "bells and whistles" of the investment, you can be your own worst enemy.

If you analyze your investment decision in light of these thoughts, it won't guarantee that every investment will work. But, it should increase the probability of meeting your financial goals and objectives.

By all means, consult experts, Taking the Big Plunge. Too but the final decision must be yours!

William Edison is the president of the Union National Bank and Trust

Study targets rural areas

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - A legislative committee wants to take a longer look at the problems and solutions for economically distressed areas in the state.

Rep. Rochelle Chronister, R-Neodesha, chairwoman of the Joint Committee on Economic Development, said Monday that the issue needs a thorough examination by lawmakers. She recommended that proposal target funds for economic development in distressed areas should be considered either by a standing committee or an interim committee next

The committee addressed the issue of state assistance to economically distressed rural areas in July. The report by the Commission on the Future of Agriculture and K-State proposal for the Blueprint for Agriculture Study had not been issued yet then. The committee decided these documents are important to the issue.

The committee decided that policy decisions should not be made about targeting funds to rural areas until the Legislature has had a chance to review reports and analyze the recommendations.

Tony Redwood, executive director of the Institute for Public Policy and Business Research at the University of Kansas, earlier told the committee that rural areas are undergoing major economic

Part of those changes is due to market forces, Redwood said.

By Cindie Baldwin

Despite the fall of the stock market and the rapid decline of the dollar, area merchants don't appear worried as holiday sales remain consistent and consumers are "buying

The added room will allow consumers a wider variety of items to

Toys, appliances top list

Sales increase despite market's problems

Collegian Reporter

aggressively."

One reason for the increase in holiday spending can be attributed to the opening of the Manhattan Town Center, said Rima Hassan, senior in elementary education and a salesperson in the catalog-credit department of JCPenney's. "Because of our move to the Town Center, I think sales will increase until Christmas since we've had to expand our departments," Hassan choose from. This will also increase sales, Hassan said.

In addition, Dillards is enjoying the benefits of the mall opening, said Clem Sheriden, general manager of the mall's Dillards.

"The sales performance of our store has exceeded our expectations," Sheriden said.

Because of the overall success of the store, Dillards did not have to increase advertising and promotions for the Christmas season, Sheriden

John Beaudoin, district manager for area K mart stores, said in the Nov. 10 Kansas City Times that K mart sales figures for Christmas 1986 showed a percentage increase in the double digits over 1985 sales. He expects a good 1987 shopping

Beaudoin said he thinks a positive

"The sales performance of our store has exceeded our expectations."

-Clem Sheriden

aspect of the economy is that unemployment is only at 5 percent.

"That tells us that a lot of people are out there working," Beaudoin said. "I think that we're going to surprise a lot of retail watchers this year."

The hiring of part-time employees for the holidays is still a must and has remained the same as previous years, Hassan said. "We've hired five sales people in the catalog-credit department already and more are being hired for other departments," she said. Manhattan's K mart has hired additional employees to work a total of 80 more hours than last year because business is increasing, said Mike Addis, assistant manager. "People are still out to buy aggressively, even after the decline of the stock market," he said.

The hottest selling items are still toys, appliances and electronic gadgets, Addis said. A decline of sales in K mart's domestic departments, such as clothes and cosmetics, has been attributed to the opening of the Town Center, he said.

Campus Briefly

Professor receives award

Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics, has been chosen as the recipient of the Edgar S. Bagley Award for Economic Research at K-State.

Nafziger was selected for the award by his colleagues on the basis of his extensive research and publication record in the area of international economic development. He is the author of seven books, eight chapters and 16 journal articles.

He has also been honored as a Fulbright professor in India, a visiting scholar at Boston University, a fellow at the East-West Center in Hawaii and a visiting professor at the International University of Japan.

Nafziger will receive $3,000 for the award, established anonymously by a student of Bagley's. Bagley is a retired K-State professor whose career at K-State lasted from 1940 to 1983. He still resides in Manhattan.

Bagley's teaching was primarily in the area of macroeconomics. His research was on the economic and legal aspects of groundwater and the economic impact of irrigation. During his career, Bagley was director of graduate studies and assistant department head in economics.

Development series continues

"Managing a Private and Professional Life" is the topic for the second session in the Professional Development Seminar Series offered through K-State's Division of Continuing Education.

The session will last from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the University Inn.

Virginia Moxley, associate dean for academic affairs in the College of Human Ecology, will deliver the seminar. She will examine ideas on managing a career, family relationships and the demands of daily living.

"In addition to juggling complex roles in careers and families, people also need opportunities for relaxation and fun," Moxley said.

The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, the KSU Small Business Development Center and the U.S. Small Business Administration are co-sponsors of the seminar series with K-State.

Chicagoans mourn death Mayor's political efforts praised

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO - The city bade a tearful farewell Monday to Mayor Harold Washington with prayers and praise as dignitaries, family and friends gathered at his funeral and thousands mourned outside under wet, gray skies.

Ministers, politicians and relatives eulogized the city's first black mayor before his flag-draped casket as a scrappy political fighter with a warm sense of humor. He died Wednesday of a heart attack at age 65.

Several speakers vowed to carry on Washington's self-proclaimed reform administration and surmount the political struggle now swirling around who will be chosen acting

"The death angel can make the and polarization."

very important irrelevant in the winking of an eye," said the Rev. Jesse Jackson, his eyes misty with tears. "How could he take Harold, we ask? We are hurt, we need him so

"We'll miss you, buddy...we will not let you down," Jackson said, drawing applause inside the nondenominational Christ Universal Temple.

Jackson, a Chicago-based civil rights leader and Democratic presidential candidate, said Washington's supporters must work to keep his City Council majority intact. "When great teams are down, they rally," said Jackson, who cut short a trip to the Middle East to try mediating the succession struggle. "We cannot surrender to darkness, to pain Tim Evans, Washington's City Council floor leader, and Alderman Eugene Sawyer, who was linked more with regular Democrats than with Washington's reform administration. Both are black. Interim Mayor David Orr has said

The two front-runners vying to become acting mayor are Alderman he is not interested in becoming acting mayor. Orr, an alderman and the city's vice mayor, was sworn in to the interim position on Thursday and will serve, under law, until the council selects an acting mayor from its Side church, bells tolled throughout representatives.

the city for one minute and the city's black South Side, Washington's old neighborhood. Thousands of people, many wearing Washington-formayor campaign buttons and holding yellow candles, lined the more than 40-block route to Oak Woods Cemetery. Other dignitaries at the funeral ing the mayor's body made a final pass through the predominantly included Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson; Mayors Wilson Goode of Philadelphia, Edward I. Koch of New York and Andrew Young of Atlanta; U.S. Sens. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts and Paul Simon of As the service began at the South Illinois; and other congressional

Over the weekend, more than 1 public transit system stopped million paid their last respects to the momentarily in Washington's honor. mayor at City Hall, where his body After the services, a hearse carry- was displayed around-the-clock.

Major offshore earthquake rocks

By The Associated Press

PALMER, Alaska - A major offshore earthquake rocked southcentral Alaska on Monday, prompting thousands of people to flee lowlying coastal areas for the second time in two weeks.

There were no reports of major damage or injuries in the quake, which measured at least 7.4 on the Richter scale. It shook the ground for a full minute and was felt more than 300 miles from the epicenter, in Anchorage and the Yukon Territory.

The Alaska Tsunami Warning Center issued a warning of a tsuanmi, or giant sea wave, but canceled it after 90 minutes when a 3.3-foot wave was recorded at Yakutat, the community closest to the epicenter.

"The wave was just insignificant," said Tom Sokolowski, geophyscist in charge of the warning center.

People began returning to their homes after the tsunami warning was

The 10:23 a.m. (AST) earthquake was centered 100 miles southwest of Yakutat in the Gulf of Alaska, the center said. A quake measuring 6.9 on the scale shook the same area Nov. 16.

While the center reported the preliminary magnitude at 7.4, University of California seismographs measured the quake at 7.7 on the Richter

The center issued a tsunami warning for Gulf of Alaska communities and British Columbia, and issued a tsunami watch for Washington, Oregon, California and Hawaii.

Compare

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

universities comparable to K-State. From this list of institutions, different characteristics were looked at "such as enrollment, financial expenditures and the percentage of bachelor's, master's doctoral and firstprofessional degrees conferred in each academic field," Hoyt said.

The peer institutions for K-State are Colorado State, Iowa State, North Carolina State, Oklahoma State and

"Because of the state funding (process), K-State had to choose the same states as the University of Kansas," Hoyt said.

The peer institutions for KU are the University of Colorado, the University of Iowa, the University of North Carolina, the University of Oklahoma and the University of located and the types of programs offered by the college.

Peers

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 with the Kansas institutions in areas such as enrollment, the demographics of the state, the type and size of the push behind the "Margin of of community in which the college is Excellence" program .

The regents have used these peer comparisons in making up budget requests to the Kansas Legislature. These comparisons are also the basis

The Segebrecht Award in Chemical Science will be presented to

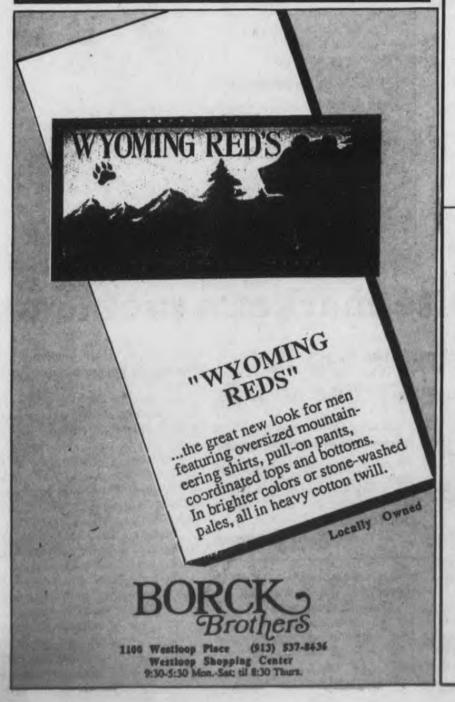

CLIFTON E. MELOAN

Students, Faculty, and Staff are invited

1:30 Lecture

Reception following lecture

Tuesday, December 1, 1987 King Hall Room 4

FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion Every Monday & Tuesday at 9 p.m.

> TONIGHT Mark Pitta

featuring Tom Rhodes GRILL SPECIAL 10 oz. Sirloin $5.65 served with potato, bread & salad bar Bar Office

539-9727 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan

PRE-HOLIDAY SAVINGS... FREE MEDIUM DRINK

with purchase of any sandwich.

12th & Moro Aggieville

Void with other offers. Not valid on delivery. Coupon expires 12/31/87.

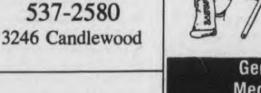

MEDICAL DIRECTORY

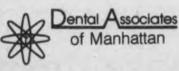

Dentists

Dr. John G. Hollingsworth

•general dentistry emergencies seen immediately

Family Dentistry

Root Canals

 Evening & Sat. Appointments We Welcome New Patients Insurance Accepted Emergencies Preventive Dentistry Restorative Dentistry Cosmetic Dentistry Periodontics

539-7401

1133 College Ave., Bldg. D (upper level) Drs. Hughes, Pettle. Lala, Fulton, & Strutz

First Semester Special Now $27

Dr. Eric J. Wisdom D.D.S. Family/Dentistry

- Dental exam
- •2 x-rays Complete cleaning

445 Anderson 776-1771 333-1771 Toll Free Call for

General Medicine

Charles Bascom, M.D. General Practice 532-6544

LAFENE Health Center Paula Davis, M.D. General Practice

LAFENE Health Center

532-6544

Robert Ecklund, M.D. General Practice 532-6544

LAFENE Health Center Thomas Ryan, M.D.

General Practice 532-6544 LAFENE

Health Center Dennis Elliott, R.P.A.C. General Practice 532-6544

LAFENE Health Center Daniel Martin, M.D. General Practice (Allergy/Dermatology Specialist)

LAFENE Health Center Larry Moeller, M.D. General Practice

532-6544

532-6544 LAFENE Health Center Guy Smith, M.D. General Practice (Sports Medicine Specialist)

532-7880 LAFENE Health Center

Robert Tout, M.D. General Practice 532-6544

Dentists-Orthodontists

Pat M. Dreiling D.D.S. M.S.

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ASSN. OF ORTHODONTISTS SPECIALIST IN CHILD & ADULT ORTHODONTICS

Building D Manhattan Medical Center 1133 College Ave. 537-0136

Hospital

full hospital service for your health needs

24-Hour Service 532-6544

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

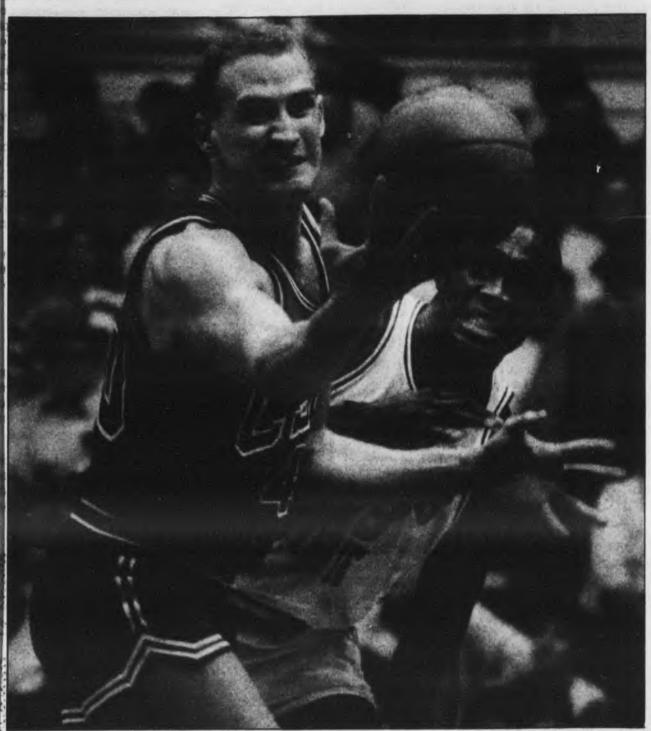

For all your health care needs.

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER 7 days a week 913-776-3300

across street from campus

Working Together For a Healthier You.

Cal State-Northridge player James Hecht grabs the ball in front of K-State's Mitch Richmond during the home opener Monday in Ahearn Field House. Richmond scored 18 points and had six rebounds.

Cats rip Cal State

By Jeff Rappy The Sports Editor

K-State hoped to experience in its with a lot of intensity the first 20 last home opener in Aheam Field House - not even the opponent.

The victim for the Wildcats Monday night was Cal State-Northridge University, as K-State held the Matadors to a mere eight points in the first half, then rolled on to a 91-46 thrashing in front of a crowd of 10,500.

Northridge's only offense in the first half came on three field goals and two free throws. Needless to say, K-State coach Lon Kruger was pleased with his team's defensive showing in the initial period. "They (his team) didn't give up much very easy in the first half...no second shots. Obviously they did the things we like to work on," Kruger said. As the 'Cats took their giant 37-point lead into the locker room, they may have left the lion's share of their intensity on the Ahearn gymnasium floor. In fact, K-State won the second half scoring battle by only eight points, 46-38. Kruger said the first and second halves differed greatly.

different than the first. We generally Nothing stood in the way of the joy played pretty good and consistent, minutes...We should have been able to do that in the second half, but I wasn't real pleased with the way we went back out," he said.

The Wildcats didn't arrive back in Manhattan from winning the championship of the Sun Met Classic tournament in San Diego, Calif., until about 8:30 Sunday night, but it didn't seem to affect the play of the team or any of its individuals - especially junior transfer pivotman Fred McCoy. McCoy was 8-of-10 from the field, 4-of-5 from the charity stripe and added four rebounds, in a "breakout-of-his-shell" 20-point performance.

McCoy said Aheam may have played a part in his enthusiastic play.

"My shot was just falling and the crowd was really loud - it was a great feeling. As the game went on, I got more relaxed," McCoy said. "The team played well and good things happenend to us."

Not to be overlooked were the 18 points and six rebounds collected by "The second half was a little bit senior Mitch Richmond. Those numbers, however, were down a bit from his 24-point average as posted in the the Sun Met tourney.

The win improved K-State's record to 3-0, while the Matadors dropped to 1-2. The 'Cats will next see action against the University of Missouri at Kansas City at 7:35 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 2, in Ahearn.

MN FG FG3 FT R F TP

CSNU

C-0110	SABER.	8.00	1.00	* *	A .
HORWATH	17	3-7	0-0	2-2	5 5	8
BOLDEN	37	4-15	1-5	2-4	6 4	11
BOWSER	27	1-3	0-0	1-2	2 2	3
McGAVRAN	36	5-14	4-10	0-1	2 1	.14
DUEKER	20	2-5	0-0	0-0	1 0	4
Frazier	30	1-4	0-0	1-2	14	3
Cooper	10	0-1	0-0	0-0	0 1	3
Baker	15	0-1	0-1	0-0	1 2
Hect	6	1-1	0-0	0-0	1 1	2
Zeven	2	0-0	0-0	1-4	10
Totals		17-51	5-16	7-15	2020	46
K-State	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
BLEDSOE	24	3-6	0-0	2-4	9 2	8
RICHMOND	25	8-12	0-3	2-2	6 3	18
MEYER	15	1-1	0-0	3-4 0-0	4 2	5
SCOTT	18	2-5	0-1	0-0	1 0	4
HENSON	22	3-7	1-4	2-2	2 1	9
McCoy	22	8-10	0-0	4-5	4 3	20
Glover	18	1-3	1-2	4-5 0-0	4 3 1 1 1 2 3 0	20 3 8
Diggins	19	3-5	0-0	2-2	1 2 3 0	8
Dobbins	11	3-4	0-1	1-2	3 0	7
Nelson	12	1-1	1-1	4-4	2 0	7 7 2 0
deAlmeida	10	1-2	0-1	0-1	3 2	2
J. Wright		0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
W. Wright	2 2	0-1	0-1	0-0	0 0	0
Totals		34-57	3-14	20-26	41 16	91
Halftime score		State 45	Cal S	tate-No	ethride	. 8.

me score: K-State 43, Cal State-Northridge 16.

Harriers place 16th in nation

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Just getting to the NCAA women's cross country championships was good enough for K-State coach John Capriotti.

K-State finished 16th out of 16 in the NCAA Division I cross country championships held last Monday at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, Va.

'Realistically, before the year started, I didn't think we would even qualify for nationals," Capriotti said. "I can't apoligize for being 16th. I really don't feel that bad about finishing 16th. Of course I want to do better, but I'm happy.

"I thought we could have done a little better, but when I looked at it after the race I realized we couldn't have done much better. I thought we'd be 14th to 16th and that's where we finished," Capriotti said.

K-State finished with 405 points in the meet. The only other Big Eight Conference school at nationals - the University of Colorado - finished 12th with 249 points. The University of Oregon won the national championship with 98 points and was followed closely by North Carolina State University with 101 points.

"(K-State junior) Laura Haggerty didn't have a good day, but she wasn't very fit when she went into the race," Capriotti said. "She's been hurt the last six to seven weeks. Other than that, the girls ran very well. Except for Haggerty, they all ran their best times of the year."

Senior Anne Stadler was the best finisher for the Wildcats in 89th place with a time of 17:47.37. Haggerty placed 98th with a time of 17:52.26. Senior Alysun Deckert finished 104th, freshman Jenny Faunce came in 109th, sophomore Marge Eddy was 120th, sophomore Becky Ives placed 122nd and freshman Tammy van Laeys finished 124th out of 134 runners that finished the Oklahoma State's Jackie Goodman was the top finisher from the Big Eight Conference. She finished second in the race with a time of 16:15.55. Indiana University's Kimberly Betz won the national championship individual honors finishing with a course-record time of 16:10.85.

White ends effort at comeback

Tom on Tuesday

TOM MORRIS Sports Writer

As in most comeback attempts by former professional sports greats, Jo Jo White's bid to return to stardom ended in disappointment.

White, 41, retired from the Continental Basketball League's Topeka Sizzlers on Monday after announcing his comeback try 26 days ago. A former member of the Boston Celtics and a past star from the University of Kansas. White said he simply did not have the legs to keep up with younger players. "Jo Jo White has never been one to kid himself. The legs seemed not to be responding as I would have liked them to," White said during a brief press conference.

One can't blame White for trying. In September at an alumni game between KU and K-State, White showed signs of his past court wizardry and scored 23 points. On Nov. 4, he announced his comeback and his appointment as an assistant coach and tutor for Lloyd Daniels, the troubled star from New York City whose vagabond career has led him to Las Vegas and trouble with drugs.

Sizzlers. White averaged 5.6 points a game, despite playing an average of more than 24 minutes a game. He also had a 44.4 percent field goal percentage.

However, in five games with the

"The young blood that flowed through young legs made it difficult," Sizzlers' Coach John Killilea said. "He couldn't do what he wanted to do."

Comeback attempts are commonplace these days. Blame it on pride that was formed in a day when athletes played for the love of the game and not the money.

When Walter Payton was about to shatter Jim Brown's National Football League rushing record, Brown mulled over joining the Los Angeles Raiders to protect his mark.

Remember former heavyweight boxer Muhammad Ali trying one desperate comeback against Larry Holmes? Sadly, Ali was beaten into submission and has never been the same since - mentally or physically. And now Holmes is planning a return to glory against champion Mike Tyson.

White was smart. He gave it a shot, but realized it just wasn't to be.

With the Jayhawks' poor showing in the Maui (Hawaii) classic with losses to Iowa and Illinois, it looks as if Coach Larry Brown could use White's talents at Allen Field House

Sports Briefly

Garver honored again

Matt Garver, a senior offensive guard on this year's K-State football team, has been named to the District 7 All-Academic Team as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Garver was one of seven Big Eight Conference players named to the 20-member district team. By being chosen to the district squad, his name will be placed on the national ballot for Academic All-America consideration.

Garver owns a 3.71 grade point average. Earlier, he was honored as a Big Eight All-Academic First Team selection.

A native of Corydon, Iowa, Garver has started on the offensive line the last two years for the Wildcats. He is currently attending the K-State School of Veterinary Medicine.

Baseball card benefit planned

Four major league baseball players highlight the Vista Baseball Card and Sports Memorbilia Show scheduled for this weekend in K-State's Brandeberry Indoor Complex. Proceeds from the event will benefit the K-State baseball team.

Signing autographs on Saturday will be K-State alumnus Ted Power, now of the Kansas City Royals and Rafael Palmiero of the Chicago Cubs. Sunday, the show will feature Will Clark of the San Francisco Giants and Mitch Webster of the Montreal

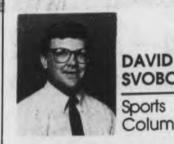

In addition to autographs, the show will feature several sports memorabilia dealers from the midwest and other parts of the

"We're excited about this as a fundraiser," said K-State head baseball coach Mike Clark. "We look forward to big crowds

Hours for the show Saturday will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., then Sunday the doors will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be a $2 admission charge and a $5 autograph charge.

Time for making lists, checking twice

Svoboda on Sports

SVOBODA Sports Columnist

Lists are an important part of staying organized or prioritizing your needs, especially during the holiday

Whether it be a "wish" list of things wanted for Christmas or a "don't forget" list of things to do before that big date, appointment or party, we all find ourselves frequently making lists of one kind or another.

With that in mind, I offer you my list of those people, places and teams in the world of sports that rank as my favorites or that draw my ire as those I dislike - and in most cases, hate the most.

I'll begin my list with my favorite sport - baseball - and let the list wind through pro and college footfew other so-called "minor" sports that have captured my fancy. Favorite baseball team

Kansas City Royals. I was born and raised in Kansas City and, if I don't bleed the Nile green and camation white of my fraternity, I surely bleed royal blue. Most disliked (hated) baseball team - New York Yankees. This one is hands down. No one else is even close. I'll never forget what the Yanks did to my Royals in 1976, 1977 and 1978 in the American League Championship Series.

Favorite baseball player -Kevin Seitzer, Kansas City Royals. Kevin is the kind of player I'd want my child to be; he hustles and plays

Most disliked baseball player - Rickey Henderson, New York Yankees. What a hot dog! There isn't enough mustard in the world to cover Favorite baseball park - you guessed it, Royals Stadium in Kansas City. The major leagues' nicest park is just a few miles down the road on Interstate 70.

Most disliked baseball park -Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome, Minneapolis, Minn. So what if the ball, pro and college basketball, and a world champs play there; there's a giant trash bag hanging in right field that we're supposed to pretend is an outfield wall. Give me a break.

Favorite pro football team -Kansas City Chiefs. I seem to support real winners in football, don't I? Most disliked (hated) pro football team - Oakland, oops, Los Angeles Raiders. The Raiders remain the dirtiest cheap-shot artists in pro sports. It's safe to say I hate this team with a passion. No matter how you slice it, this team still smells like Oakland: bad.

Favorite pro football player — Bill Kenney, Kansas City Chiefs. I like guys like Kenney who repeatedly have their starting jobs taken away from them, only to bounce back and be better than ever. I also admire Bill's ability to overcome injuries and play with pain.

Most disliked pro football player - anyone who plays for the Los Angeles Raiders. Enough said.

Favorite college football team (besides K-State) — Florida State. Bobby Bowden consistently has good teams, and his program is clean from top to bottom. That's refreshing in today's world where cheating is common in college athletics.

Most disliked college football team (besides KU) — Oklahoma. The Sooners — or should we call them the sideline loungers? - take this one hands down (or lying down, as the case may be). I have respect for their program, but that doesn't mean I have to like it.

Favorite college football player - Tim Brown, Notre Dame. I'd pay big money to get in to see this guy play. He can do it all - run, catch passes, return kicks, sell hot dogs while the defense is on the field, play in the band at halftime. You get the picture.

Most disliked college football player — Steve Taylor, Nebraska. There's nothing I like less than a player who's so cocky he can barely get his helmet on his swelled head. This is that kind of guy. I'm almost glad Oklahoma shut this twerp up.

Favorite pro basketball team - Boston Celtics. The Garden, the banners, Larry Bird - is there anything this team doesn't have?

Most disliked pro basketball - Sacramento Kings. This team left my hometown for money on the West Coast. How I hate this Favorite pro basketball player - Larry Bird, Boston Celtics. How can you say anything more about the greatest ever to play the game? Most disliked pro basketball player - anyone playing in the NBA who has been involved in drugs. Drugs have no place in sports - or in society, for that matter.

Favorite college basketball team (besides K-State) - North Carolina. Dean Smith is a coaching legend, and the Tar Heels always seem to be in the Top 20. ■ Most disliked college basketball team (besides KU) - Oklahoma. I hate Billy Tubbs and his basketball team more than I hate the Oklahoma football team. That's pretty intense.

Favorite college basketball player - J.R. Reid, North Carolina. The sky's the limit for this guy. He could, and should, rewrite the NCAA record books if he stays a Tar Heel for four years.

Most disliked college basketball player — the entire Oklahoma team. Once again, enough said.

Favorite sport that most don't consider a sport - pro wrestling. OK, I've joined fellow columnist Tom Perrin and have admitted that I too like - make that love - pro wrestling.

Favorite pro wrestler -Nature Boy Ric Flair. Ric, after his Thanksgiving win over Ron Garvin in a steel cage match, is NWA World Champion for the fifth time. This guy belongs in a soap opera. Most disliked (hated) pro wrestler - Honky Tonk Man. Anyone who manhandles women and breaks guitars over people's heads is worthy of some heavy-duty loathing. This moron tries to imitate Elvis and can't even do that right.

Favorite things to do - watching baseball, wrestling or "Days of Our Lives" on TV, and writing this column for the Collegian and being called an ignorant fan (rather than an objective journalist) by readers.

Most disliked things to do watching K-State lose in football, missing "Days of Our Lives" or wrestling on TV, having my wisdom teeth pulled, listing to Madonna on the radio, looking at Madonna's armpits in magazines, interviewing Billy Tubbs or Barry Switzer - I hate Oklahoma, remember!

That just about does it for this list I wanted to share with you. If it provokes you to make one of your own, I'd love it if you'd share it with me so I can share it with the readers.

Until then, I'd better get to work. I've got nine more items on my list of things to do today.

Students designing 'face-lift' for Paola

By Debbie Lyons Collegian Reporter

Students in Ray Weisenburger's urban design and preservation studio are designing more than a makebelieve town square for a makebelieve town on paper. Paola, a town of about 5,000 in eastcentral Kansas, is about to get recommendations for a "face-lift" from Weisenburger's students.

The students made numerous trips to Paola, collecting pictures and rough sketches of the site and interviewing residents to better understand the community.

The students' goal is to design ways to make downtown Paola more accessible and attractive to shoppers. Their plans include rebuilding storefronts, landscaping the city park in the middle of the square, and tearing down older buildings and replacing them with modern structures.

Weisenburger, professor of regional and community planning, said the plans will be presented to the city of Paola during the second week of January. It will be up to the city planners whether to put the students' plans into effect, he said. The city may choose to do some of the renovations now and leave the more costly additions for later, if all the renovation plans are accepted.

The class annually chooses a small community like Paola that has planned to redevelop a part of the city but has not hired an architect or planner to develop plans. Weisenburger's class provides the plans at no charge.

"But we make it known that the departments (of architecture and regional and community planning) need money, and donations would be welcome. They usually donate some money," Weisenburger said.

The class is made up of 15 graduate and undergraduate students in landscape architecture, architecture, urban design and historic preservation. Students from Missouri, Kan- the K-State class used its research to sas, Arkansas, India, Taiwan, Pakis- develop blueprints for tan and Egypt make up the class this semester. The class is taught each fall semester, attracting students from a variety of backgrounds.

Paola was chosen from a list of towns that included Leavenworth, Oberlin, Marysville and neighborhoods in Kansas City, Kan. Weisenburger and University of Kansas professor Glen Leroy worked together to select Paola.

This is the first year the planning has been a joint project between K-State and KU. For the first time, only one planning student is in Weisenburger's class, so the planning was turned over to the KU students and redevelopment.

Leroy's planning students from KU prepared a report on Paola during the spring semester. As the first half of the project, the students analyzed the city and sales area for the K-State students to then design a development suitable for the community.

The plan for Paola includes not only redeveloping the buildings but also landscaping the park square in the middle of downtown into a recreational and educational area.

The square is at the center of the downtown area with some of the main streets in the city along the four sides of the square. Students in the class have been assigned sections of the main streets as well as blocks near downtown for which they are to develop plans.

In 1968, the city of Paola put up metal storefronts to cover the limestone and other materials used to build the stores. Weisenburger's class has proposed that those storefronts be torn off and the original buildings be cleaned up, repainted and, in some cases, rebuilt to preserve the historical significance of the buildings.

We want to create an atmosphere of what the town used to be," said Trent Carr, fifth-year senior in architecture.

The Collegian Advertising Staff is looking for a few motivated, and determined students to sell.

Applications due today at 5 p.m. in Kedzie 103

Positions available: Asst. Ad Manager, Campus/Tearsheet Sales Representative, Sales Representatives and Graphic Artist.

GET IT ON THE COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING STAFF

Christmas Gift Idea:-

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

Please check one:Calendar year (2 senAcademic year (32 wOne semester (16 weSummer session (8 w	veeks), $35 eeks), $20	, $40
Fill out the form below and s to: Student Publications; Kee Manhattan, Kan. 66506.
Send to:
Street or Box No.:
City:
Date Purchased:	Date to Sta	art:
Purchased By:
Street or Box No.:
Street or Box No.:	State:	ZIP:
City:	ed by Student Pul	olications)

Save $5.00 on the cost of a student ticket to

Present this voucher with your K-State student ID at the McCain Box Office and save $5 on any available seat. Conditions: One student ticket per voucher. Offer good only for full-time K-State students. Voucher not redeemable for cash. Offer ex- pires Friday, December 4, 1987.

The Canadian Brass Sunday, December 6, 1987 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

TV Listings

By TV Data

TUESD	AY DEC	EMBER	1, 1987					4
	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00		This Morning To Be An-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo,,	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00	"	nounced	11	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Sports	Little House on the Prairie
	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	World Cup Skiing: Men's	Movie: "I Saw What You
	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric The Rock	Love Boat	and Women's Skiing: Men's	Did"
	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Psychology Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
	Maria	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	Coaches Coaches	Movie: "Des- tination
4:00	Lives Another World	As the World	One Life to	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	M. Theatre: The Bretts	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Coaches Coaches	Tokyo
	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Mod. Maturity Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	Racing: Fuji 1000 Champ.	Tom and Jerry
3:00		Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	AWA Wres- tling	Flintstones Flintstones
4:00		Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing: NASCAR	Munsters Laverne
	Family Ties	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook NBA Today	Alice Carol Burnet
		News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter College Bas-	Andy Griffith Sanford
7:00		Houston Knights	Who's Boss? Gro. Pains	Geraldo Riv- era Live "Mod-	Nova	Modern Love	College Bas- ketball: Notre	NBA Basket- ball: Seattle
		Jake And the Fatman	Moonlighting	ern Love"	One More Season		Dame at Indi- ana	SuperSonics at New York
9:30	11	Law & Harry McGraw	Thirtysome- thing	Hill Street Blues	Story of En- glish	News INN News	College Bas- NHL Hockey:	Knicks Billy Graham
10:30	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	News M'A'S'H	Barney Miller Wilton North	Wildlife Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Winnipeg Jets at Los An-	Crusade Movie: "A
	Ent. Tonight	Hunter	B. Buddies Nightline	Report Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Kid-	geles Kings	Gathering of Eagles"
	David Letter-	Movie: "The Parade"	700 Club	Hoover Vs. the Kennedys:	Sign-Off	napped"	Racing	0

	TO: Mary
0	FROM: John
\	Season's Greetings

	,
4- 1

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon Thursday, Dec. 10. Ads will run in Dec. 11 Collegian.

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets,

Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Su

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

University

THE

COTTON

CLUB

418 Poyntz

4387. (67-70)

1126 Laramie

The

Downtown

camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear.

til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St.

PLEASE BUY this like new Pioneer 45 watt receiver. DE-2 Hitachi deck, $300 retall investment, each are only $50. 537-8556, Sheldon. (63-67)

Study Rooms

are coming

539-7531

17th & Anderson, 539-7531

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait

and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th.

We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

COMPACT DISCS; cassettes; audio video tapes, movies—never opened, any variety. 539-1089, 776-

Receive a

FREE

LOTTERY TICKET

When you buy 10 or more sessions.

10 FREE

LOTTERY TICKETS

NOW SELLING

$2 sessions

SUN NO

RUSH

to Cottonwood Racquet Club for you next social gathering

We welcome all clubs & housing organizations

Tennis, Racquetball, Saunas

and Jacuzzi available

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic

YAMAHA XT600. 1984, low miles, excellent condi-

Hayes House of Music

FENDER SQUIRE STRATS

$309

FENDER QUAD reverb tube guitar amplifier. $300.

AKAK-LALE, about last Friday night, I thought could be right, but obnoxious I was, just because you're out-of-sight. Love-Photo Thief. (67)

SUSHI-WHETHER or not Sushi's your name, I'm ready to play your Art History game. The ball is in your court.—Blonde DU. (67)

NORMAN, one and one-half hours late you showed and the party was a bore, but the champagne was great and to Aggie we went. Let's do it again-

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

tion, make offer. 776-7323. (67-70)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

327 Poyntz

776-7323. (67-70)

books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

776-6060

3615 Claflin Rd.

RIB-IT

Night

All You Can Eat

just $3.95

BBO Ribs & Fries

Baked Beans

776-7983

Also come in and register for

TUESDAYS

TNT

2 Tacos $1

99¢ Margaritas

4-7 p.m.

Kedzie 103

Display Classified Rates One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per Inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

01

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED—100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manhattan. (62-75)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its product selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (66-70)

WATERSKI TEAM, meet in Union Room 204, tonight. Be there or be square! 8:30 p.m. (67)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: outh Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or skiing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

Rubes

VULTURE

CATFISH

0

RICH BURN TECH UNIN

tle Creek. Perms $19.95, unlimited tanning $29.95, 776-1330. (63-67)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

537-1442. (65tf) ONE BEDROOM Basement. Unique. City Park. 539-

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking. $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (65-69)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, furnished, across from Putnam Hall, 1306 N. Manhattan, $205/month. call 776-7045. (67-71)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or

NICE SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75)

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment. Close to campus air conditioning, dishwasher, furnished. Ready Jan. 1, 537-8061. (67-70)

TWO-BEDROOM on main floor. One-half block west, furnished, $300. 539-8106. (67-71)

By Leigh Rubin

LOBSTER

GARAGE SALE ENTHUSIAST

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from cam-

NICE. LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

AVAILABLE Jan 1st nice large one-bedroom apart ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-

peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf) rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

Close to campus. Prefer small family or older student. Deposit required. No pets. $375. Call 776-3454. (64-68)

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, one and three-fourths bath, 1402 LeGore. One block walk from campus. No pets. $400/month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1. 776-1214 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.), 776-4446. (65-68)

$300. 539-4214, leave message. (66-70) ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, eve-

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, nice. 926 Bluemont,

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1978 PLYMOUTH Road Runner, $650 or best offer. 776-1532 afternoon and evenings. (65-69)

1972 VW Super Beetle for sale. New battery, stereo, clutch. $450 negotiable. Call Jose, 537-3914. (65-

1976 FORD Pinto, good condition, $900 or best offer. 776-2751 or 537-8337. (67-71)

EMPLOYMENT

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided, Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025, (40-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe. South America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, drivr's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont. New York. (62-71)

GREAT SUMMER camp jobs in the Colorado Rockies near Estes Park as counselors, cooks, nurses, of fice, wrangiers, drivers, unit directors, childcare Room and board plus cash salary and travel allow-ance. Fully accredited. Must be at least 19 to apply. Interviews on campus in early February. Write Cheley Colorado Camps, Dept. C. Box 6525, Denver, lorado 80206, 303-377-3616, For the summer of

RESEARCH ASSOCIATE, Department of Grain Sci-

pus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf)

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco-

THREE BEDROOM, with garage. Living room and dining room. Range and refrigerator in kitchen.

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom, 501 Houston,

nings. (67-75) TWO-BEDROOM duplex, one block from campus, available Jan. 1. No pets, 539-8016 after 6:30 p.m.

776-9017. (67-71)

04

FOR SALE: 1978 Caprice Classic, good condition, $480. Call 539-2776 after 4 p.m. (64-68)

1974 CAPRI, very reliable, great mileage. $500. 539-

ence and Industry, Kansas State University. Appli-cants should possess a PhD in Food Science, Cereal Chemistry or Biochemistry and have a demonstrated ability to carry out independent research. Position responsibilities will include: re-search centering on the performance of wheat flour doughs in convenience food systems, collection and analysis of data, preparation of reports and manuscripts. Familiarity with standard biochemical techniques is essential. Prior experience with flour fractionation, experimental baking and dough rheological techniques is highly desirable. Salary range: $18,000-$20,000 annually. Dead-line for applications: Dec. 15, 1987. Starting date: Jan. 4, 1988. Applications should be made by subletters of recommendation to Dr. Jon Faubion, De partment of Grain Science, Kansas State Univer-sity, Manhattan, KS 66506. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer. (67-69)

Scavengers. Chasing Reality

By David Krug and Steve Cooper

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

WE APPRECIATE IT ...

532-6555

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly w electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

YOUTH DIRECTOR. First Christian Church is accepting applications for a half-time position to coord youth activities and direct teacher recruitment. Application deadline Dec. 16, 1987. Send resume and three reference letters to: Search Committee Chair, 804 Laramie, Manhattan, KS 66502. Inquire at 776-8790. (66-70)

NEEDED: ONE immodest good-looking male stu-dent to act as gift for special ladies. Phone 537-7251 for information. (66-67)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT, full time, immediate open ing. B.S. degree in biology or related field. Must have experience in electron microscopy and/or biochemical procedures. Will conduct research in thin sectioning and immunological techniques. Salary approximately $16,000/year plus benefits. Submit resume, college transcripts and two let ters of recommendation to: Dr. D. B. Bechtel, De partment of Grain Science and Industry, Kansas State University, Shellenberger Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 776-2713. Application deadline is Dec. 11, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer. (67-

SCHOOL BUS drivers beginning immediately, $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driv-ing record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Job description available. Apply to: USD #383, 2031 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, KS 66502, 913-537-2400. EOE. (67-71) HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs-your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

NEW YORK! Live-in mother's helpers needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January. Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone 203-656-0707. (67-72)

REMEMBER THE time you really needed a friend, and someone came through for you? All those who have thought about becoming a volunteer someday—Why not today? The FONE Crisis Center needs You! One day volunteer training will be held Saturday, Dec. 5, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., UFM House, 1221 Thurston, Come and bring a friend! Special speakers are: Dr. Joan McNeil; Dr. Howard Barnes, and Dr. Tony Jurich. 532-6565, (671).

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425, 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf)

TWO BEDROOM house. Near City Park. Air co tioned. Some furnishings. 539-7307. (63-67) HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A REAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home: three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, i wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75) DECEMBER GRAD, Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14

× 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537-1029. (62-71) NOW AVAILABLE 1968 Great Lakes, two bedrooms

Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, washer, dryer. Low utilities. 537-7873. (67-71)

14

LOST AND FOUND

LOST: ENVELOPE with pictures, Seaton Hall. Please drop in Putnam Hall or call 532-2033 (Giancarlo). (66-67)

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888 TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane Aggieville

776-7874

20 "Picnic" author

sagging cheeks and all! (67)

22 Pueblo Indian 23 Solar disk 24 Man, e.g.

> deferring device 45 Words to a minister 46 Through

47 Piteous YBNNZQG DEAR DDD pledges: From Diana, Stacy, Kristi, and Shocka . . . Thanks for the sneak to C.U. Here's to pit-stops for beverages, some special new songs, O.U. campus, our three studs in the little black Honda, O'Connell's, and yes, even the SRO. Anyone want to play a game? Well . . . I never?! We love

SCHOOL BUS driver #22, how about another midnight rendezvous? Only this time with candle light and a bottle of white wine. The Spare Driver. (67)

20

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S

Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf) PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75) sumes, etc. Call Kristi at 532-8026 or 776-4900. (65-67) SAVE-WORD processing: term papers, letters, re

21 TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and non correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

22 RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave a mes-

-- Graphics Plus 11th & Laramie 539 -6027 FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner

Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED 23 FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 nth plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-per month pl 1996. (55-75) ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester. Nice spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester.

Available December or January, two-bedroom, 537-NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for furnished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month, 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

TWO-THREE male roommates needed to share nice apartment one-half block from campus - crawling distance from Aggieville. 776-3896. (63-67) MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester

Own room, very close to campus. $150 month plus one-fifth utilities. 537-9764. (63-67) STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (63-67)

nice apartment, fun roommates and cheap. Call 537-3940 and ask for Kathy. (64-68) NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle Creek Boulevard second semester. $150 per month, utilities paid. Call Allen (913) 492-6835. (64-

ONE FEMALE roommate wanted. Close to campus,

ONE-HALF BLOCK from Ahearn. Male roommate wanted to share four-man apartment, $130 per month. Call 539-1334. (66-70)

MALE BOOMMATE wanted, furnished, own rou deposit, one block from campus. 776-1893. (67.70) ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester, large four-bedroom house, share with three others, own bedroom, $132.50/month plus utilities, non-smoker. Call 539-7681. (67-71) MALE ROOMMATES for second semester. Nice twobedroom, 776-9017, (67-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom on

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills. 537-1757. (67-70) MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share two-bedroom

westside. Lots of extras. Call 539-9185. (67-71) at 537-3339. (67-69) LOOKING FOR roommate to replace roommate who graduated. Female roommate wanted. Quiet, at tractive, roomy apartment, own room, swimming pool, dishwasher, microwave and lots more. $150 plus one-half utilities. 537-1835 evenings. (67-75) partment. Close to campus, have own room. Larry

WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1 $133/month, one-third utilities. Own room, 539-

7915. (67-72) TRAVEL COLORADO

AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire-place, HBO, pool table, sauna. Great fishing. Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Siiver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/ reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448. Get your friends to drive. (66-71)

29 FIREWOOD FIREWOOD FOR sale. Mixed, seasoned hardwoods, $55 per pickup load, delivered and stacked. 494-2436 Jeff Ebert. (63-67)

TUTORING SERVICES

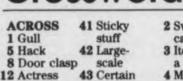

GRADE-AID: Qualified tutor can help you get ready for finals: Algebra, Trigonometry, General Calculus, Accounting. (66-70)

SPRING BREAK

LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so far! Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

48 This (Sp.) 49 Epoch

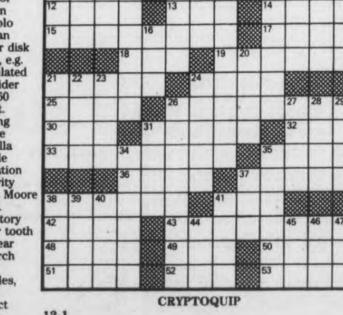

Gray

movie

18 Auricle 19 Miss Rogers DOWN 21 Teacher's need

26 Football position 30 Gibbon 31 Pith helmet 32 Scam 33 Aerial maneuver

Yesterday's answer:

NBEEZU

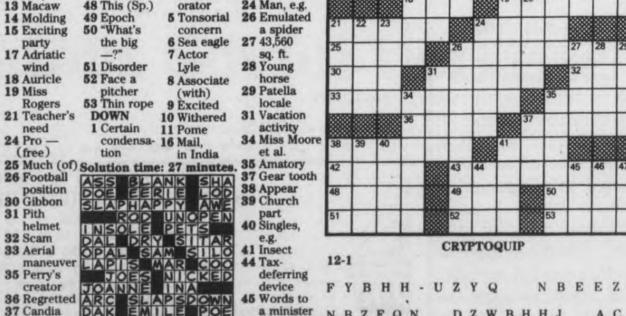

NBZFQN DZWBHHJ ACU

YZAVU HZSQ

VCTTZHJ QSQN BDUQN Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO SAY GOODBYE TO THE ARCHAEOLOGIST LEAVING TO DO RESEARCH: "BONE

BWG

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals R

2 Swiss canton 21 Talon 3 Item for a cushion 4 Marx's collab-

Court rejects custody attempt

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The Supreme court: Court on Monday rejected an attempt by a mentally retarded Illinois couple to regain the 3-year-old son taken from them.

The court, without comment, let stand rulings that Paul and Patti Ensign were unfit parents even though they loved their son and never intentionally neglected him.

that state court rulings against the Ensigns demonstrate "inherent prejudice against persons with mental retardation."

Barbara Heathfield, a Chicago lawyer who helped represent the Ensigns, characterized the high court's treatment of their appeal as "unenlightened."

"We concede that the Ensigns are not model parents. But there should have been some consideration, in an enlightened society, of those actions that could be taken without having to terminate all parental rights," she

In other actions Monday, the Agreed to decide in a case from New York City whether local governments may regulate the quality of cable television signals. The Federal Communications Commission opposes such local regulation, saying it could hinder the cable industry's Agreed to consider letting the Lawyers for the couple had argued Reagan administration stop regulating some natural gas prices, a move government lawyers say could save consumers $100 million a year.

■ Let stand a $703,000 award won by a former automobile plant foreman in Framingham, Mass., who accused a labor union of libeling him in its newspaper.

The parental rights case centered on Paul Ensign Jr., who was born Nov. 28, 1984. The Ensigns have not seen him since December 1985, when he was placed in the custody of the state Department of Children and Family Services.

The Ensigns' parental rights were terminated then, and state officials were enpowered to consent to Paul Jr.'s adoption. Monday's action will clear the way for adoption of the child, who has been living in a foster

Questions about the Ensigns' ability to care for their son were raised when he was 11 or 12 days old. Ensign was holding Paul Jr. in a plastic infant seat outside a restaurant in Sullivan, Ill. When he brought his knee up to balance the seat, the baby and blanket covering him slid out, falling about three feet to the sidewalk.

Someone who saw the accident notified the Moultrie County nurse, who examined Paul Jr. and later sent him to a doctor for a further checkup. He had not been harmed.

At the 1985 hearing, witnesses testified that the Ensigns were loving parents but could not care for Paul Jr. without help.

Writers to promote book; profits to aid famine relief

By Brett Hacker Collegian Reporter

Reading for relief - that's what three Kansas City area fiction writers will be doing at 4:30 this afternoon in Union 212. The readings will be to promote the book "These and Other Lands: Stories from the Heartland," an anthology of 19 short stories by Midwestern writers whose profits from book sales will go to aid famine relief organizations in Africa.

The reading is sponsored by the Department of English and is free to the public. Writers who will be reading are Donn Irving Blevins, Kelly Barth and Michael Pritchett.

Profits from sales of "These and by Westphalia Press, are being donated to the Lalmba Foundation, an African relief organization active in Ethiopia and the Sudan. To date, $3,000 has been sent to the Lalmba Foundation from book sales, said Steve Heller, associate professor of English and director of the creative writing program.

The idea for the book started when G.S. Sharat Chandra, a professor at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, and his students started a collective and wanted to publish a volume of short stories, the profits of which would benefit the relief effort in Africa, Heller said.

Heller's selection in the book, "Rainbow Syndrome," is about an Heartlands Fiction Collective.

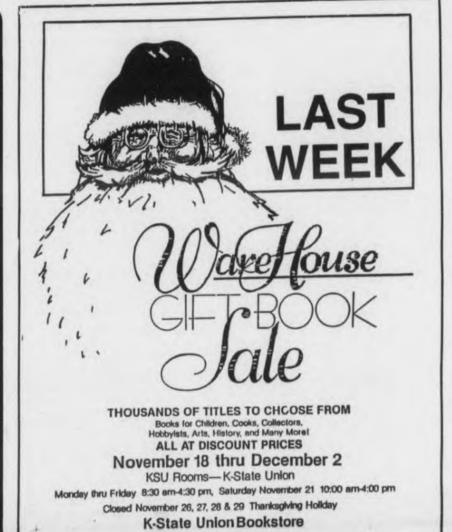

Other Lands," published last March elderly man in Hawaii who watches a Hawaiian try to drink 1,000 beers in 10 days on a bet to impress his

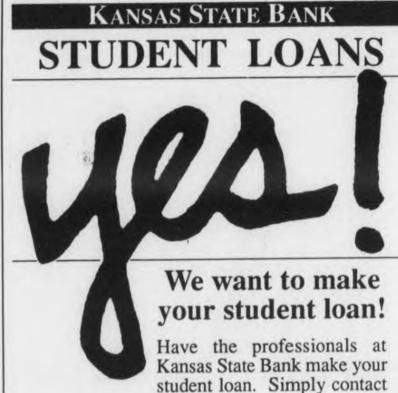

> Although all of the writers are from the Midwest, the stories range in locale from Hawaii to India to

> The book features stories by established writers as well as new, some of whom have won O. Henry Awards and other honors. Shirley Ann Grau, Pulitzer Prize-winning fiction writer, has said "there is a freshness, a vitality to the writing" in the stories in "These and Other Lands," Heller said.

> Blevins is editor-in-chief of the us at:

537-4400

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

KANSAS STATE BANK

Intramural A Managers Meeting Thurs., Jan. 14

at 4 p.m. K-State Union, Forum Hall 44444444 ALL MANAGERS MUST ATTEND

LOCKERS

Remember to renew your locker before leaving for the Holidays! Fall semester lockers expire on December 31, 1987. Locker renewals are being accepted now through Wednesday, December 23, 1987 in the Ad-ber 23.

USE CARDS

ministrative office.

FACILITY

for the month of January will go on sale on December 21, in the Recreational Services Office. The offfice will be closed from December 24 through January 3 due to Christmas break, so mark your calendar to come in and buy your January facility use cards between December 21 and Decem-

FACILITIES

CLOSED

Recreational Services

DECEMBER

ACTIVITIES CALENDAR

Recreational 5	ervices	220	THE PERSON NAMED IN	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	- Desiration of the last	Triudy
the outdoor rental center fill be closed until be closed until be special request, call 332-6894 with 48 hours dvanced notice and leave a message on their mawering machine.	November 30 - Please Note. The pools will be CLOSED from 7:30 - 10:00pm because of Men's Home Banketball game.	1 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 7:30pm - 6:15pm A 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm	2 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 1:30pm Closed At Night!! AQF 6:30am - 7:15am A 6:30am - 7:15am 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm Men/Women BB - Nome	3 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 7:30pm - 8:15pm A 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm	4 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 6:30am - 7:15am A 6:30am - 7:15am	5 RC 9:00am - 10:00p P 1:00pm - 5:00p 7:00pm - 10:00p Women BB - Home
6 RC Noon - 11:00pm P 1:00pm - 5:00pm 7:00pm - 10:00pm	7 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 1:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 6:30am - 7:15am A 6:30am - 7:15am 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm	8 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 3:30pm Closed At Nightil AQF CAMCELLEDII A 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm Men BB - Home	9 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 1:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQP 6:30am - 7:15am A 6:30am - 7:15am 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm	10 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:30am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 7:30pm - 8:15pm A 4:30pm - 5:20pm 5:30pm - 6:20pm	11 RC 6:00am - 11:00pm P 6:00am - 7:30am 11:00am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm AQF 6:30am - 7:15am A 6:30am - 7:15am Last Day of Aerobics Until January 13th.	12 RC 9:00am - 10:00pm P 1:00pm - 5:00pm 7:00pm - 10:00pm
13 RC Noon - 11:00pm P 1:00pm - 5:00pm 7:00pm - 10:00pm	14 RC 8:00am - 11:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm	15 RC 8:00am - 11:00pm P 11:30am - 3:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm	16 RC 8:00am - 11:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm 7:30pm - 10:00pm	17 RC 8:00am - 10:00pm P. 11:30am - 3:30pm Closed At Night!! Men BB - Home E K	18 RC 8:00am - 10:00pm P 11:30am - 3:30pm Closed At Night!!	19 RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P CLOSED1!
20 RC 1:00pm - 9:00pm P 1:00pm - 4:00pm 7:00pm - 9:00pm	RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm Office Open Sam - 5pm Begin selling facility use cards for January at no additional cost 	22 RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm Office Open 8am - 5pm	23 RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm Office Open Sam - 5pm Last Day To Renew Fall Semester Lockers!1	Christmas Eve	25 CHRISTMAS DAY ACILITIES	CLOSED
27 ALL	28 RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm	29 RC 11:00am - 9:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm	30 RC 11:00sm - 9:00pm P 11:30sm - 1:30pm	31 RC 11:00am - 5:00pm P 11:30am - 1:30pm	RC REC COMPLEX P POOLS ORC OUTDOOR RENTAL	PHONE NUMBERS REC CHECK 532-6000 TH HOTLINE 532-6292

CLOSED >>>

REC SERVICES IS HIRING INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL OFFICIALS MEETINGS #1-Thursday, January 14 at 6:30 p.m.

CE CE CE OFFICE

K-State Union, Big 8 Room #2-Wednesday, January 20 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym #3-Thursday, January 21 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Fitness Room

All prospective officials MUST attend ALL 3 meetings!!

Intramural Basketball Entry Deadline: Mon., Jan. 11

CENTER
A ...AEROBICS
AQF ..AQUA-FITNESS

until Fri., Jan. 15 Rec Service Office Open Daily 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

IM HOTLINE

REC SERVICES

RC EQUIPMENT/ COURTS 532-6951

CENTER 532-6894

Rec Services office 532-6980

Rec Complex (Court Reservation) 532-6951

Outdoor Rental Center 532-6894

Rec Check 532-6000

Intramural Hotline 532-6292

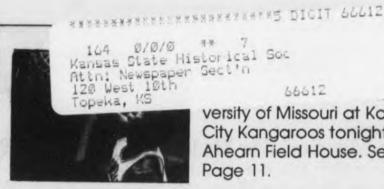

Wild Dishes

November is the beginning of hunting season and the beginning of a season of wild game blessing the dinner table. See Page 7.

Weather

Partly cloudy today, high in low to mid-50s. Fair tonight and Thursday, low around 30. High Thursday in 50s.

66612 .a University of Missouri at Kansas City Kangaroos tonight in Ahearn Field House. See

Wednesday

December 2, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 68

Kansas State Collegian

No silent moments for N.J. schools

Court rules unanimously

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court on Tuesday refused to let New Jersey provide moments of silence for public school students but gave no hint whether similar laws in other states impermissibly promote school court to uphold the New Jersey law. prayer.

the New Jersey legislators who sought to press the controversy in court no longer have the proper legal

The ruling therefore said nothing about the constitutionality of a 1982 New Jersey law that said students may use the daily silent moments "for quiet and private contemplation or introspection." About half the states have similar laws.

A federal appeals court struck down the New Jersey law, ruling that it violated the constitutionally required separation of church and

The issue has been, and most likely will continue to be, politically charged. And it is likely that a case testing the validity of another state's moment-of-silence law will reach the high court.

"The constitutional issue is still a live question," said Steven F. McDowell of the Milwaukee-based Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, which had urged the

"I expect that some other state's The court ruled unanimously that law will be reviewed by the high court. With a new justice joining the court, I believe we will see that law being upheld," McDowell said. "I was concerned the current court might be evenly divided on the issue, which would have upheld the lower court's ruling."

> President Reagan has asked the Senate to confirm Anthony M. Kennedy, a conservative federal appeals court judge from Sacramento, Calif., to fill the Supreme Court vacancy created when Justice Lewis F. Powell retired last June.

Little is known about Kennedy's church-state views.

In other decisions, the justices: Ruled unanimously in a Virginia case watched closely by environ-

■ See COURT, Page 14

Mall general manager to decide renewal fates

By Susan L'Ecuyer Collegian Reporter

More than 10 businesses located in the Manhattan Town Center have signed leases that will expire Dec. 31, and several of those businesses may not have their leases renewed for the new year.

The stores signed short-term leases in the mall, and they may not have a choice in whether or not their leases are renewed. At the end of their lease period, only those that are selected to stay will be allowed to do so, said Mickey Thompson, advertising and marketing director for the mall.

"We select the ones we would like to stay," she said.

The selection decisions will ultimately be made by Chris Heavey, the mall's general manager. Heavey, Thompson said, will base the selections on the stores' sales and displays.

But, Thompson said, the most important factor is how much the business appears to be an "in-line" or permanent store. "We want them to seem as if they're a permanent part of the mall," she said. Thompson said some of the local businesses were approached by Forest City Developers and asked to locate in the mall. They were selected for the variety they would add to the

"Mainly, we felt there was a lack of certain types of stores in the overall mix," Thompson said. "We approached the stores we thought added variety to the mix."

Managers of The Palace and the Diamond Connection both signed short-term leases due to the holiday season and the mall's opening.

Staci Wipplinger, assistant manager of the Diamond Connection, said the store will be moving into a permanent store in downtown Manhattan in January.

"Basically, we moved here for the convenience to shoppers during the Christmas season," Wipplinger said.

Bryan Taylor, manager of The Palace in Aggieville and in the mall, said the store might permanently locate in the mall.

"From the mall's opening (Oct. 26) until Christmas are the eight best weeks of the year, and it was an opportunity for us to see what a mall atmosphere would be like," Taylor said. "If we have a good period, we might make it permanent. We've done fairly well and expect business to really pick up in the next four

A never-ending affliction

Mysterious | 'flu' affects millions

By Paula Selby Collegian Reporter

They are plagued daily by pains in their joints, but they don't have arthritis. They are overwhelmingly exhausted and debilitated, but they don't have acquired immune deficiency syndrome. They have difficulty concentrating and often lose their memory, but they don't have Alzheimer's disease.

Few people are aware of the disease, but 12 million Americans will get it in the next several years, according to the Centers for Disease Control. By comparison, the government projects there will be 270,000 AIDS cases by 1991.

What "they" have has been nicknamed the "Yuppie Flu" because it usually occurs in ambitious people who push themselves, said Evelyn Zanella, leader of the Manhattan support group for those afflicted with Chronic Epstein-Barr Virus Syndrome. But "they" are people of all ages and economic situations.

Group offers support/ Page 10

CEBV has no known cause and no known cure. It is considered a rare disease that has been described as an endless mononucleosis, but it has many more symptoms and many more consequences.

Zanella has had the disease for close to seven years, but it took her six years to discover what was plaguing her body.

"I found out (the name of the illness) a year ago last October, but I had to go to my doctor after doing my own research," Zanella said. The symptoms of CEBV are widespread and vary in severity depending on the person. The most common symptoms are extreme fatigue and exhaustion, muscle aches and spasms, joint pain and swelling, dryness of the eyes and mouth, sore throat, dizziness, difficulty in concentrating, memory loss and lack of coordination.

Other symptoms sometimes occurring with the illness are low blood sugar attacks, panic or anxiety attacks, sleep disturbances, hair loss, depression, mood swings and personality changes.

Many people travel from doctor to doctor looking for an answer to these symptoms. In the meantime,

Evelyn Zanella has been afflicted with Chronic Epstein-Barr Syndrome for nearly seven years, but it took her six years and considerable research to discover what was plaguing her body.

hypochondriacs or told "it's all in your head."

These answers are given mainly because "it has just been in the last two years that it's really coming to the attention of the medical profes- causes mononucleosis, she said.

they are misdiagnosed, labeled as sionals," Zanella said.

Researchers are still debating the cause of the disease. Many believe it occurs in people who have been exposed to the Epstein-Barr virus, which is the herpes virus that

The National CEBV Syndrome Association has published literature to inform the public and medical professionals about the disease.

A report from the association said that "nearly everyone (95 per-■ See DISEASE, Page 10

Reagan lashes out against Soviet detente

By The Associated Press

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. - President Reagan pledged on Tuesday to "keep right on marching" toward further arms agreements after next week's expected treaty signing, but he said the United States must not be lulled into a new period of detente allowing a secret Soviet military buildup.

Less than a week before his summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, Reagan had harsh words for that period of broadly improved relations with the Soviet

"More than a decade ago, there was a warming in U.S.-Soviet affairs that we called 'detente.' But while talking friendship, the Soviets worked even faster on the largest military buildup in world history. They stepped up their aggression around the world. They became more repressive at home. We do not his "Star Wars" space-based missile defense can people than that." want mere words. This time we're after true peace," Reagan said.

"In the excitement of the summit, the treaty signing and all the rest, we must not forget that peace means more than arms reduction,"

In a speech to high school seniors and their parents in Jacksonville Veterans' Memorial Coliseum, Reagan said he and Gorbachev will "have words about Soviet expansionism" during their three days of meetings in Washington.

And he told one of the students during a question-and-answer session later that in his talks with Gorbachev he might find himself "bending his ear" on what Reagan said was a need for religious freedom and other reforms in the Soviet Union.

One student also asked Reagan to defend plan, prompting the president to compare it to a gigantic gas mask."

Reagan recalled that gas masks were retained after poison gas was outlawed. The Strategic Defense Initiative, he said, was "a gigantic gas mask and maybe...the thing that could bring about the end of nuclear

The president made no reference in his speech to Gorbachev's hour-long NBC television interview on Monday night. Asked what he thought of the Soviet leader's presentation, Reagan said, "I have had a respect for him ever since I met him."

When one student asked if Reagan was worried that Gorbachev's apparent popularity in the West would make the American people more receptive to communism, the president replied, "I have more faith in the Ameri- Dec. 8-10, will be the third between the two

As for his own feelings, Reagan said, "I don't resent his popularity or anything else." The president, referring to his days as an actor, joked, "Good Lord, I co-starred with Errol Flynn once."

When another student asked the president what advice he would like to give to Gorbachev, Reagan replied, "To really stick to his program of glasnost," or more openness in society, and "to make their country like ours

- a place that people don't want to leave." Of particular importance, he said, would be "when the day comes that the people of the Soviet Union can worship God in the way they want to."

"Yes, I may find myself bending his ear on that very subject," Reagan said.

The summit in Washington, scheduled for leaders. They met in Geneva in 1985 and in Reykjavik, Iceland, in 1986, but failed to come to terms on arms control.

"For many years, critics around the world have insisted that it would be impossible to get an agreement along the lines we've now worked out," Reagan said. "Six years ago, when I proposed the elimination of an entire category of U.S. and Soviet intermediaterange missiles, they sneered and said I couldn't be serious.'

Now, he said, "we are about to sign an agreement that will do just what I proposed."

"After the summit," Reagan said, "we will keep our negotiators working on an agreement that could lead to cutting the U.S. and Soviet long-range nuclear arsenals in half and reducing the disparities in conventional forces - that is, the armies that face each other in Europe."

Army blamed for Haitian terror

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — U.S. observers on Tuesday blamed the army for the terror campaign that thwarted elections, and some leading presidential candidates vowed to boycott any balloting supervised by the military-led junta.

Calls increased for multinational intervention to oversee national elections the government claims it still intends to hold before a Feb. 7 deadline.

Most Haitians distrust the government, which dissolved the autonomous Provisional Electoral Council Sunday after votertargeted violence forced it to call off the nation's first free elections in 30 years. Meanwhile, the streets of this impoverished capital of 1 million began to show signs of life Tuesday, although schools and some businesses stayed closed. Leading presidential candidates and members of the dissolved electoral council remained in hiding.

As the polls opened Sunday, at least 34 people were killed and 75 wounded when gunmen and soldiers set fire to polling stations, confiscated ballots and attacked voters with guns and machetes.

Common Cause criticizes Dole

WASHINGTON - Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole came under sharp criticism Tuesday from a lobbying group for "protecting the current corrupt system" of financing congressional campaigns.

Common Cause, in a letter to Dole, blasted the Kansas Republican for leading a GOP filibuster, a parliamentary delaying tactic, that blocked consideration earlier this year of a Democratic proposal to revise the campaign finance system.

"The Senate's failure to deal with this 'national disgrace' is directly attributable to your efforts," wrote Fred Wertheimer, president of the liberal lobbying group. "Your record in the campaign finance reform area, furthermore, has been one of saying one thing and then doing another."

Hayden may replace secretary

TOPEKA - Gov. Mike Hayden is expected to make an announcement about the status of Corrections Secretary Richard A. Mills in the near future, possibly next week.

Sources said Tuesday the Republican governor will announce he is replacing Mills, 54, an appointee of former Democratic Gov. John Carlin. Mills, a former policeman, highway patrolman and county corrections administrator, has served as the head of the state's penal system for almost 21/4 years.

Kathy Peterson, Hayden's press secretary, would say only that an announcement will be made soon, but Mills said it could be made "possibly by the first of the week."

Other sources, who asked not to be identified, said Hayden plans to make the announcement early next week, probably Monday.

These sources also said Friday will be Mills' last day on the job. Neither Mills nor Peterson would confirm the report. Sources differed over whether the replacement would be a Kansan or someone from out of state.

"The governor has interviewed several people for the position of secretary of corrections," Peterson said. "An announcement will be made shortly."

Rivers says GQ libeled her

LOS ANGELES - Comedian Joan Rivers said Tuesday she will file a $50 million libel suit against Gentlemen's Quarterly magazine and the author of what she called "a vicious article" that said she had wished her husband dead prior to his suicide.

The story in GQ's December issue, which also quoted her as saying her marriage to Edgar Rosenberg had been near an end, "is not just inaccurate, but 100 percent false," Rivers said at a news conference, in tears and flanked by attorney Bob Chapman and daughter Melissa Rosenberg.

She said the magazine admitted Tuesday morning that the name of the author, Bert Hacker, was a pseudonym. She said she was offering a $5,000 reward for anyone who would provide the real name of the author to her publicist, Richard Rivers also demanded an immediate and total retraction of the article.

A spokeswoman for GQ in New York, who spoke on condition she not be identified, said the magazine would make no statement until court papers had been received.

Rivers said she would use whatever money she might win to create a fund for victims of libel who do not have the money to defend themselves.

U.S. author dies in France

ST. PAUL DE VENCE, France - Black author James Baldwin, who became an articulate and sometimes angry voice decrying racism in the United States through his novels, plays and poetry, died in the hilltop town on the Mediterranean where he took refuge "from the madness of America."

Baldwin, 63, died of stomach cancer on Monday night, his publisher said.

His best known works included "Go Tell It on the Mountain," his first novel, published in 1953; "Notes of a Native Son," "Evidence of Things Not Seen," and most recently, "Har-

France was Baldwin's adopted country and he lived here for 40 years, the last 16 in St. Paul de Vence. For the man who once urged blacks to go out and kill whites, France was "a refuge away from the madness of America."

His life here, he once said, "was an ongoing love affair." In Chicago, the Rev. Jesse Jackson called Baldwin "a great source of inspiration for that generation...a prolific and sensitive writer...a great advocate of personal and racial freedom."

African nations may get grace

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia - The Organization of African Unity proposed Tuesday that African nations be given a 10-year grace period on interest payments on their staggering debt.

The group also called for an international conference of lender nations and institutions next year to find ways to ease Africa's debt problems.

The call was issued at the close of a two-day summit held to form a common African position on dealing with the $200 billion debt owed to foreign lenders.

The OAU has been unsuccessfully appealing for an international conference on debt since 1985.

starting 9:30 p.m. (Back of Rip & Mo's)

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet during the afternoon at University Photography to take composite pictures.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 6:30 a.m. in Shellenberger 110 to begin baking.

KANSAS STUDENT NATIONAL EDU-CATORS meet at 3:30 p.m. in Bluemont 225. A student teacher competition video will be shown, and a Christmas bingo party will

SOCIETY FOR CREATIVE ANA-CHRONISM; SHIRE OF SPINNING WINDS meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union 205.

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 9 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

THURSDAY

GAY/LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.

ROCK CLIMBING CLUB meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Sharon C. Doll at 3:30 p.m. in Ackert 301. The topic is "An Investigation of Persistent Viral Infections of the Central Nervous System Using Neuropeptides and Nude

SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT meets at 7 p.m. in Union Little Theatre to hold officer elections and to hear Eric Duvall from Quaker Oats speak.

PHI KAPPA PHI meets at 4 p.m. in Union

Live

TONITE!

Aggieville U.S.A.

Flint Hills Room to honor 116 students with membership.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

meets at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131. KAPPA DELTA PI meets at 7:30 p.m. in ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3. Ruth Wefald will be the speaker.

DELTA EPSILON KAPPA meets at 8 p.m. at the DEK house for officer elections.

> Have story or photo ideas? CALL 532-6556

23 shopping days to Christmas

KENNEDY'S CLAIM

NEW SOUND

with DJ Rich Deiss previously a radio DJ All Current Top 40 Music

Great New Drink Specials FREE NACHOS

4-7 p.m. 25° DRAWS $150 PITCHERS 51[™] MARGARITAS

Student's Dream $450

SCREWDRIVERS and BLOODY MARYS 75° DRAWS

Across from Holidome 2304 Stagg Hill Rd.

Ay $250 PITCHERS Open to the Public 537-8440

Michele, Mark, Jan, Ray, Lu, Shelly

Ray's Hair Maxim Roffue SPECIAL ON PERMS

reg. $3500 PERM for $2500 (including cut) with this coupon

Call or Walk-in

622 N. Manhattan in Aggieville

537-8620 exp. 1-1-88

This ShoeWill Have You In Stitches.

Up to 60 of them in fact. Because this is a Dexter handsewn shoe. Traditional. Comfortable. Timeless.

TAYLOR'S SHOES

1118 Moro-Next to Brother's

DIJCOVER

TONIGHT WELCOME ICAT

Come in and Party before and after all WILDCAT GAMES

THIS SATURDAY CHARLIE'S 4th Anniversary CHRISTMAS PARTY

32 Pitchers all day and night COVER CHARGE—ONE CANNED GOOD

(donations go to Flint Hills bread basket) 539-9619 1800 Claflin

Falsettos PIZZA

539-3830

For the Best "Homemade" Pizza in town with the Best "Hometown" Price. Two Delicious

Homemade Pizzas

		M	ENU
Per	lian Sausage pperoni ound Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlone	Jalapenoa Pineappie Green Peppera	Hem Extra Cheese
			TWO 10"	TWO 14"
C	heese		5.99	8.99
1	Item		6.94	10.39
2	Items		7.89	11.79
3	Items		8.84	13.19
4	Items		9.79	14.59
D	eluxe		9.79	14.59
V	egle		9.79	14.59
				15.99
E	sch Additio	nal Item	95	1.40

Prices do not include tax 1127 Moro · Aggieville We Accept Checks

Lack of housing, morale plague China Professor discusses urban reforms

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

Lack of adequate housing and a decrease in worker morale are among the problems plaguing the Republic of China's chance for growth and prosperity, said William L. Parish, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago.

Parish spoke Tuesday in the final segment of the China Lecture Series. Addressing the topic of "Urban Reforms in China," He spoke on the various problems the Chinese are currently facing.

ture series, said Parish is "the leading scholar of China in this country.

Although housing is considered a major concern in China today, it has seen "tremendous success" since 1978, Parish said.

Prior to and in 1978, the issue of housing was not given much attention, Parish said. The average floor space per capita was 3.6 square

Tim-Yu Ting, organizer of the lec- space for three-generation families,"

When the government recognized housing had become a major problem by 1986, it improved living conditions by increasing the average floor space to 6.1 square meters, Parish said.

Despite the increase in floor space, he said housing still needs a wide range of improvements.

The Chinese live in housing own-"This was not a whole lot of living ed by their employers, which can be an advantage or disadvantage, Parish

"A successful and profitable organization, such as the railroad, can provide its employees with good housing while a poorer, smaller organization can only offer cheap, rundown housing," he said.

Rent is usually very low and, as a result, the government cannot afford to rebuild or renovate the housing areas, Parish said.

One of the proposals brought up to solve the problem is raising rent to provide the government with money for rebuilding, Parish said.

Another alternative would be to sell subsidized housing to employees to give them incentives to rebuild the structures themselves, he said.

Worker morale, another problem facing China today, can be attributed to many factors, Parish said.

The baby boom of the 1950s has caused an overpopulation of workers resulting in a shortage of jobs, he

Employee pensions and lifetime health benefits provided by companies encourage employees to work for a longer period of time, Parish

"This causes no job openings for the incoming work force," he said.

To remedy this problem the government has offered a "golden handshake," which is a large bonus given to employees who retire early.

Another solution is to offer a job to a retired employee's son or daughter, station builders

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - NASA

The contracts may eventually be valued at $6.5 billion and could pro-

The contractors selected for the glas Astronautics Co. of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Houston; General Valley Forge, Pa., and East Windsor,

By The Associated Press

Co. will close nine district offices and move as many as 250 employees to its Denver regional headquarters,

The move is part of a nationwide

"It's a simple move to improve

As part of the reorganization plan,

Kornegay said it is likely that all nine district offices in Amoco's 17-state

Denver region will shut down, including a local office in Montbello

Other district offices scheduled to be closed include Anchorage, Alas-efficiency," Amoco spokesman Tom organization, officials said.

Kornegay said Monday.

that employs 150.

officials say.

DENVER - Amoco Production

Rockwell International, Canoga Park, Calif.

"The best minds in the nation went to work on this project and all of the proposals we received were outstanding," said James Fletcher, the administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Competing proposals were submitted for two of the contracts but the winning firms, Fletcher said, "were clearly superior."

The space station plans call for a permanently manned base in earth orbit that would be in operation in the include four habitable modules, two to be provided by the United States

N.J.; and Rocketdyne Division of and one each by Japan and by the European Space Agency.

NASA has told Congress the total cost of the station would be $14.6

Boeing was awarded a contract for what is called Work Package 1. NASA said the proposed cost for that package in the first phase of the station is about $750 million. If a phase II option is added later, another $25 million would be tacked onto the

The unsuccessful bidder for Work Package 1 was a team led by Martin Marietta Corp. of New Orleans.

Work Package 1 includes the space station laboratory and living modules, along with environmental controls and life support systems.

Denver

McDonnell Douglas won the contract for Work Package 2 with a proposed cost of $1.9 billion in phase I and $140 million for the phase II

The unsuccessful bidder for Work Package 2 was a team led by Rockwell International Corp. of Downey,

Work Package 3 was awarded to General Electric on a cost estimate of $800 million. This package will include a free-flying platform that would orbit in formation with the space station. It also would include a robotic satellite-servicing system. A phase II option could add $570 million to this contract.

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT! Frozen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

"Purple and White" Swirl CONES and CUPS

Have story or photo ideas?

CALL 532-6556

Can't Believe It's Frozen Yogurt Stores

(on purple & white swirl cones and cups excluding waffle cones) WEDNESDAY to Everyone Wearing Something Purple!

Enjoy the taste of Ice Cream but with one-fifth the fat and half the calories

GO CATS!

We'll be cheering you on to victory against UMKC

FREE SAMPLES EVERY TIME YOU COME IN

Closed Class List

Open 11 a.m.-11 p.m. daily Noon-11 p.m. Sunday 705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers, Aggieville

NASA names space named four companies on Tuesday as winners of billions of dollars in contracts for construction of a space station, the next major step for U.S. exploration and use of space.

vide about 12,000 jobs, officials said.

space station hardware design and development are Boeing Aerospace of Huntsville, Ala.; McDonnell Dou-Electric Co., Astro-Space Division, mid-1990s. The station would

Amoco moves employees to ka; Oklahoma City; Liberal, Kan., Farmington, N.M.; and Casper, Evanston, Powell and Riverton,

> Up to 250 administrative employees of the district offices' 1,250 workers will be relocated to Denver with the remainder sent to offices at oil and gas production sites, officials

For example, Amoco will close its Casper division office by sending most of its employees to the Salt Creek field 40 miles away.

Komegay said he was not aware of any plans to lay off employees. Amoco Production, a division of Chicago-based Amoco Oil Co., employs about 900 at its downtown Denver regional headquarters.

Kornegay said details of the reorganization have not been finalized, including a decision on where to locate additional office space in Denver. He said the restructuring would occur over a three-year period beginning in 1988.

E 3/6 30 Edelaine's 421 Poyntz 776-4498 HOLIDAY PARTYWEAR TUXEDOS DYEABLE SHOES 10-8 M-F 1-5 Sun.

PRICE SALE

ONE DAY ONLY!!! Thursday, Dec. 3

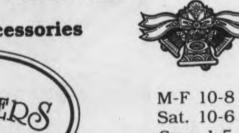

Store is now 1/2 it's original price*

SHOP NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Sat. 10-6 Sun. 1-5

Every Apparel Item in the

*excludes accessories 331 Poyntz DOWNTOWN

14110 14120 14190
14260
14380
14380
14470
14490
14530
14590
14590
14590
14590
14590
14590
14590
14760
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780
14780 17540 17570 18450 18460 18720 18140 18140 18140 18860 19270 19290 19410 19290 19410 19480 19270 19480 1950 1950 1950 1950 1950 1950 20140 20150 20160 20170 20200 20210 20200 20210 20200 20210 20200 20210 20200 20310 20450 20640 20670 20179 20790 20820 20820 20820 20920 20920 20930 20930 211100 211100 21110 21230 21230 21230 21230 21230 21230 21230 21230 21230 22460 22460 22460 22460 22500 23500 09920 09920 09930 09940 09940 09970 09980 10000 10050 10050 10150 10240 10320 10410 10430 10440 10470 10480 10490 10500 10720 10730 10740 10730 10740 10730 10740 10740 10990 10900 23720 23730 23740 23830 23850 23850 23850 23950 23950 24020 24020 24030 24030 24030 24510 24520 25480 25540 25510 25550 25550 25550 25550 25550 25550 25570 25620 25720 26740
26870
27220
27220
27920 29000
29010
29020
29030
29050
29050
29050
291100
291100
291100
291100
291100
291100
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150
29150

CAREERS IN ENGINEERING

Presented By:

Kevin Schoen Plant Engineer Manager—Cedar Rapids

Thursday, December 3, 1987 7:00 PM University Inn at 17th and Anderson

Reception to Follow Immediately

Candidates for degrees in Chemical, Electrical, Mechanical and Agricultural/Food Processing Engineering: Come meet and talk with our Representatives about career opportunities at General Mills in Project Engineering.

事の事の事の事の事の事の事の事の事の事 Christmas Golf Sale!!

 Shoes Rainsuits

Golf bags

Golf gloves

Umbrellas

Golf Shirts

Entire Inventory 10-50% OFF

. Golf Clubs (MEN'S & LADIES)

Sweaters

 Windbreaker Jackets Wood Headcovers

Golf socks

Putters & Wedges

Sale *5895 Pull Carts by Titleist Retail *80 STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB PRO SHOP

GOLF BALLS RETAIL $2400 SALE $1795

Titleist, Pinnacle, TopFlite, Ultra, Hogan GIFT CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE

LESSONS FOR SPRING 8am-6pm Seven Days A Week

> 1 Mile East of Manhattan Airport on K-18 とのないないないのないないのはいない

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Critics' use of satire could end with ruling

Supreme Court is going to decide how far satirists can go in their attacks on public figures or if they should have to pay for inflicting emotional distress, even though their work might not be considered libelous.

The case stems from a suit filed by the Rev. Jerry Falwell against Hustler magazine for an ad parody the publication ran. Among other things, the ad suggested Falwell had lost his outhouse.

Lower courts agreed that the ad was not libelous since it carried a disclaimer stating it was an ad parody. Furthermore, the courts stated, no reasonable person would ever believe such a thing about Falwell.

This is in accordance with other precedents that have been established and used to settle libel suits. However, the lower courts have awarded Falwell $200,000 in damages for "intentional infliction of and President Richard Nixon? Or emotional distress."

If the award for emotional distress Reagan? is upheld, it will effectively circumvent libel laws and rulings. What this this country lose an effective tool for means is even though someone could be found innocent, they could still be punished for the charges of which they were acquitted. It is double jeopardy of sorts, since someone fights with one hand tied behind the could effectively be tried twice and back.

Later during its term, the U.S. found guilty or innocent of the same charges - which is unconstitutional.

Besides upholding a possibly unconstitutional ruling, an affirmative vote in this case could seriously affect cartoonists and satirists. It could have a chilling effect in that they might be afraid to attack some issues or public officials for fear of punishment. Since monetary punishment is the most effective in libel suits, upholding this ruling would virginity to his mother in an make the danger of punishment just as real - even if no libel is proven.

> Satire has been used for many years to - among other things combat corruption and force society to see itself in a different light. What would have been the result had Thomas Nash been restricted in his cartoons of the figures from Tammany Hall days? How about writers and cartoonists driving home the point of the need for civil rights for blacks in the 1960s? How about Watergate Irangate and President Ronald

> Without the use of satire, critics in bringing about change and enlightening people about social concerns and problems. Society and the country cannot afford going into these

U.S., French actions contradict their words

Iranian diplomats — suspected of terrorist activity - for two Frenchmen held by pro-Iranian captors from Lebanon.

Even though French Premier Jacques Chirac said France would only negotiate with other countries and not with terrorist groups, in an indirect way, the release of the Iranian diplomats is a concession to those groups.

The same concept also applies to the Iran-Contra affair, in which the United States sold arms to Iran in hopes of gaining the release of American hostages in Lebanon. The United States and France may say they won't deal with terrorists groups, but their actions say the opposite.

people being held hostage is something the government should strive for, but conceding to the demands of limited.

Last Monday France swapped two terrorist groups is not the way to achieve the release of hostages.

> The United States and other nations should take a hard stance against international terrorists and any nations supporting acts of terrorism. Groups holding hostages and engaging in terrorist activity will not stop their actions if they see any positive gain in such activity.

Governments around the world receive a great deal of domestic pressure to gain the release of hostages, but this happens at the expense of giving in to terrorist demands.

U.S. citizens, especially, must realize that the law and order they find so commonplace in the United States is severely lacking or nonexistent in other countries of the world. The United States tries to ensure the Granted the release of innocent security of its citizens wherever they go, but its ability to do so, especially in the Middle East, can be severely

K-State Christmas list Dear Santa: We really need...

Thanksgiving is traditionally the beginning of the Christmas shopping season. So, as the cranberry sauce begins to melt and we munch on cold turkey sandwiches, do we immediately begin worrying about what gifts to get all our friends and relatives? Of course not! The first thing we all do is make out our own Christmas list to make sure everyone else can buy us the right things.

Well, it dawned on me as I was inking my own little letter to that jolly fellow up north that someone ought to ask Santa for a few things for K-State. So I took it upon myself to write to Mr. Claus on K-State's behalf. Hope there are no objections. (Like you can do something about it.) Here's the letter:

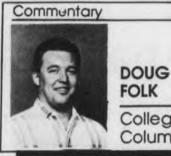

Dear Santa,

How are Mrs. Claus and the reindeer? Hope you had a good Thanksgiving and laid off of the pumpkin pie. You don't want to get stuck in any chimneys, you know. (Ha ha.)

Heard your elves unionized and went on strike. Don't worry, Santa, you've got the public's sympathy. Maybe President Reagan will order them back to work. And if he doesn't, I bet you can find some football scabs who need a job.

We have been very good at K-State this year. Our enrollment is up, and we didn't riot after the K-State-University of Kansas football game, either. So this is what we would like for Christmas:

First, we would like the Margin of Excellence plan to pass the Legislature. Even though it will cost the students some, it will be a commitment to higher education that we haven't seen in a while from the state. We would also like the students to have more go, like they do at other universities. Next, we would like more of those pretty, wooden trash cans on campus. We all love purple, but we think there are probably better something new to put in the atrium of the things to stand out on campus than old, metal input into where the money from MOE will trash barrels. Also, we would like a better football team. We have asked for this every year, Santa, and are becoming a little bit disillusioned with your abilities. We have behaved very well Maybe we have discovered the real reason you always wear a red-and-white suit.

Collegian Columnist

Santa, while we're on the topic of sports, we don't think it's unreasonable to ask for a Big Eight basketball championship and a National Collegiate Athletic Association for this year. If you bring us anything else, Final Four appearance this year. We really appreciated the new coliseum you gave us come down the big smokestack, but make would be a good way to say goodbye to set out a plate of those 81/4 -inch mammoth Ahearn. We know that every January you cookies and some fresh K-State milk. take off that red coat and put on your purple sweatshirt, so how about it, hmm?

Another present we've asked you for for P.S. We've enclosed a K-State bumper years, Santa, is a new parking garage. We're sticker to put on your sleigh.

tired of having to allow 45 minutes every morning either to find a parking space or walk from the one we found. Maybe you have a hard time relating to this problem. Remember, we can't just plop down on any old rooftop like you can.

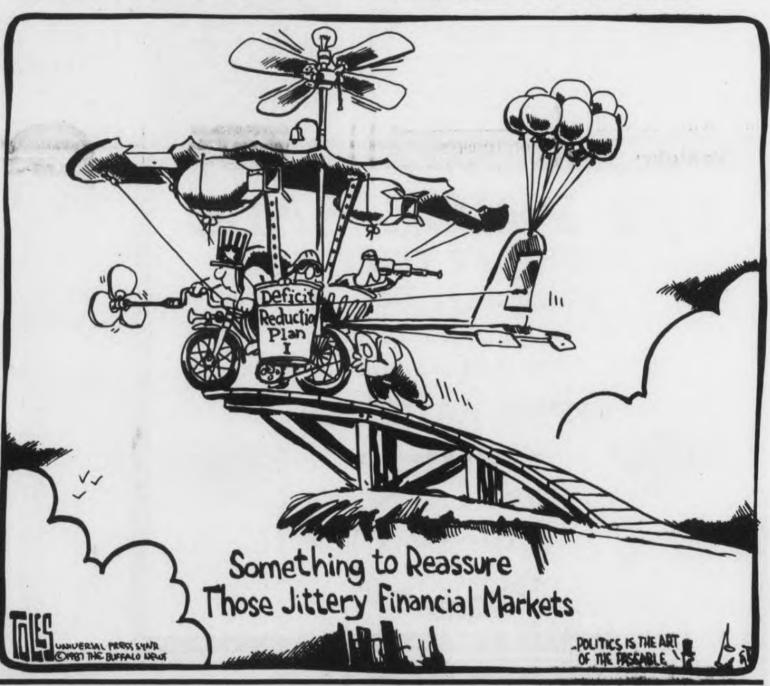

Santa, we want very much to have a better library this year. Some of us don't like the cruddy old building it's in. We have to bring shorts and winter coats so we're prepared for the climate changes from room to room. A lot of us get tired of not being able to find the book or periodical we need for our research. You can just leave us a few million dollars in our stocking to take care of this one.

Another thing we would like to have is Union. Most of us think the mobile that hangs there now is, well, unappealing to the eye. And it's really weird, too. Just bring us something attractive and tasteful...like a giant purple wind sock.

There's just one more thing that we Klately and think this is something we deserve. Staters would like this Christmas. We wish you would leave KU a big lump of coal in its stocking. Oh, we don't really mean that, but they always act like such spoiled brats. Don't you think it'd be a good lesson for them?

Well, Santa, that's about all we want to ask just make sure it's purple. You'll probably (actually, we gave us), and we think this sure you stop by the Union. We'll be sure to

> Your friends at Kansas State University

Letters

Applaud solutions

What a neat idea — an electric "hot" seat for potential muggers!

Cab drivers are "sitting ducks." To alleviate their susceptibility, their solutions range from drooling German Shepherds (nauseous smell during the winter months when windows are shut and the heater's on HIGH) to a small revolver under the seat (no second-time offenders). Maybe 52,000 volts going through a mugger's rear end might make him/ her (don't want to be sexist) think twice before attacking a "duck" when it's not "in season." The French have again found a creative solution to a real problem. Typically

When French farmers went on strike, for Editor, many of the same reasons as our farmers, they went to political centers to protest. Instead of dumping their unsellable, surplus grain on the ground, they used it to fill elevator shafts of the city buildings. Depending on where you stand on the farm issue, I won't argue good or bad, just effective. Politicians

France is a country of 55 million people and 33 million pets. If you've ever been to Paris, you know what kind of problems this can cause. The French solution? Small motorcycles with vacuum-type pooperscoopers on each side. City employees roam the sidewalks after the "rush hours" of early morning and late evening keeping cities

So Judd, how about if we learn from the French and adopt creative solutions to our problems of parking, understaffing, riots and Farrell Library. If however, you're into mugging cabbies, may I suggest rubber

Teresa L. Lewis senior in electrical and computer engineering and Rotary Scholar to France, 1986-87

Need safety plans

Would you know where to go in case of a tornado or a fire? Would you be able to locate the nearest fire extinguisher? With no fire or smoke alarms, would you be able to escape the building in time?

In recent speeches given by students here at K-State, the issue has become apparent that there is a lack of safety guidelines and safety equipment in buildings on the K-State campus. In talking with the KSU Campus Safety Director, Mr. John Lambert, there seems to be a lack of concern for these problems. K- State is here for our benefit as students, and we feel we need to be adequately prepared for any emergency.

Immediate action is needed for the safety of our students. Our buildings are not in compliance with the Manhattan or State of Kansas Fire Safety Codes. A simple 81/2 " x 11" sign indicating the location of the nearest fire extinguishers, the quickest espcape route, and the nearest tornado shelter area would help make students more aware in case of an

Along with these signs, a five-year plan of installing fire and smoke alarms in all the buildings is highly recommended and needed on the K-State campus.

Awareness is one, if not the most, important factor in surviving an emergency situation. It is our lives that are at stake, so immediate action should be taken, before it is too

> Melinda McIntire sophomore in accounting and one other

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged.

Commissioners reject proposal

Speed increase sought

By Erwin Seba Collegian Reporter

Manhattan city commissioners rejected a Kansas Department of Transportation recommendation Tuesday to increase the speed limit along the southern arterial of Fort Riley Boulevard.

Jim Tobaben, assistant traffic engineer with KDOT, told commissioners the recommendation was based on a study of speeds currently being driven on the boulevard.

Commissioner Nancy Denning, one of the three commissioners voting against the change, said the increase would endanger pedestrians crossing Fort Riley Boulevard.

Currently, the speed limit along the boulevard is 35 mph from the east entrance of Manhattan Town Center mall to Richards Drive, where the Manhattan Holiday Inn and Holidome is located.

KDOT recommended the speed limit along the arterial from Seth Child's Road to Delaware Avenue be increased to 45 mph. From Delaware Avenue to Third Street, KDOT recommended the speed limit be increased to 40 mph. From Third Street to the east entrance of the Town Center, the speed limit would have remained Tobaben told commissioners the KDOT study showed that 85 percent of drivers on the boulevard traveled at or below those speeds. Tobaben said setting speed limits based on what a majority of drivers were traveling would limit the number of accidents on the arterial.

Because most drivers along the boulevard would be traveling at similar speeds, the likelihood of "conflicts" between faster moving and slower traveling drivers would be reduced, Tobaben said.

Commissioner Dave Fiser disagreed with Denning about the KDOT recommendation.

"I think (the KDOT recommendation) is a reasonable compromise and a good one," Fiser said. Fiser joined with Mayor Gene Klingler in voting for the increased speed limit.

Tobaben said KDOT would still formally recommend the speed limit increase.

Leaders seek new Chicago

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO - Thousands of chanting demonstrators gathered outside City Hall on Tuesday evening in a bid to stall the vote on a successor to the late Mayor Harold Washington, but the front-running candidate blocked action on a lawsuit that also sought to stall the vote.

The council meeting was delayed as Alderman Eugene Sawyer - considered the front-runner for the acting mayor post - and Alderman Tim met in private to try to iron out the dispute over leadership that added another page to Chicago's tangled political history.

Outside City Hall, a crowd police estimated at 5,000, many of them Evans supporters, had gathered, some yelling, "Remember Harold! No deals!" Many carried signs with messages such as "No More Uncle Toms" and "Don't Sell the Legacy."

Earlier in the day, the council eulogized Washington in an atmosphere thick with political intrigue as alder-Evans, the other leading contender, men twisted arms and counted votes in the battle to succeed the city's first black mayor. Both the leading contenders for the acting mayor position are black, but at least one white alderman also sought the post.

The lawsuit by the Better Government Association, filed in Cook County Circuit Court an hour before the council's special meeting was to begin, alleged that City Council members had violated the state's Open Meetings Act by holding several closed-door meetings in the past six days to discuss selecting an acting mayor.

It asked the court to issue a temporary injunction barring the council meeting because any decision on electing an acting mayor would be made "without open discussion and on the basis of discussions previously held in secret." The suit was immediately referred to Circuit Judge Sophia Hall, who opened a hearing on the suit as the scheduled time of the council meeting approached.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Ambassador's aides seize letter-bomb

By The Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon - A letterbomb addressed to British Ambassador John Gray was intercepted by his aides Tuesday and defused by police, embassy officials and police said.

An official at the British Embassy, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Gray and his wife left Lebanon on vacation three days ago.

The official confirmed the letterbomb was delivered at the gate of the ambassador's residence in east Beirut's Naccash district Tuesday afternoon.

He said the letter was "treated with normal caution and was checked." Police were called because embassy officials suspected the letter contained explosives, he said.

Police warrant officer Elias Haddad, an explosives expert, told The Associated Press he examined the letter about 90 minutes after it was

"I found 35 grams of explosives concealed in a white envelope with Gray's address typewritten in English along with the words 'confidential," Haddad said.

He said he took the letter-bomb to the main police station in east Beirut for further examination and defused

Haddad said police investigators had no clue "as to the identity and motive of the perpetrator or perpetrators."

SUN-BATHE YOUR HAIR SPECIAL!

The Hair Expert Design Team can give you Summer Hair Now!

Reg. $2000 Now $1000 with this ad. We are the experts!

reg. $1.25

good Wed, 12/2-Sat. 12/5

SANDWICHES Now being served!

Tonight:

$1.50 Well drinks

75¢ Draws $2

blended drinks $1 Wine

Thursday:

$1.25 Well drinks

616 N. 12th 539-9967

WEDNESDAY

Coed Guest DJs

eet Tonite's BAR DIRECTORS

$2 PITCHERS

at back bar $1 SHOTS

KAMIKAZIS etc...

$1.50 SHOTS B-52s etc...

ampbell's

Collectable Christmas Treasures

Reed & Bartons Holly Bell

Silver Christmas Bell

Bing & Grondahl

A Special Store for Truly Special Holiday Gifts

Poyntz & 5th • Downtown 1227 Moro • Aggieville 776-9067 Open Sundays 1-5 539-1891

SAFEWAY

222 N. 6th 3011 Anderson 539-3226 776-5202

New Store Hours 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. 7 days a week

99¢

$1.99

Specials Dec. 2-Dec. 8

Coca-Cola

2 liter bottle

Coors regular or light

6 pack/ 12 oz. cans

Doritos tortilla chips

16 oz. bag

Grade A Large Eggs

1 dozen, limit 2

Check cashing with student I.D.

NEW JOBS

Prospective Manufacturer Manhattan Industrial Park

Major International Company (one of 200 largest in U.S.) is evaluating the location of a new manufacturing plant in Manhattan Industrial Park. This company wants to identify the available labor force to staff up to 300 new jobs. Those interested in future employment are encouraged to register and complete a questionnaire at a place shown below:

Skills Being Sought:

The company is seeking both trained and trainable workers in:

- -computer numerical control
- -electrical repair
- -electronic technician -electronic equipment installer
- -grinder-od, id, surface -heat treatment
- -industrial maintenance
- -lathe-set up/operate-turret, copy, engine
- -machine repair
 - -milling machine operator
 - -millwright
 - -quality assurance control -secretarial/clerical
 - -tool & die maker -welding

Register At:

- -Manhattan Job Service, 621 Humboldt, 8:00 to 4:00, M-F, no later than Dec. 18.
- -Ft. Riley, Building 749, 9:00 to 3:00 on T & Th, see Bill Smith, no later than Dec. 17. -Pottawatomie County Economic Development Committee, 1003 Lincoln, Wamego, 8:30 to 4:30,
- M-F, no later than Dec. 18.

f you are experienced with the above skills and are unable to report for registration, please send La resume (including work experience, past employers, dates) to: Industrial Survey, P.O. Box 940, Manhattan, KS 66502.

If you want more details contact: Manhattan Job Service, 621 Humboldt, 913-776-8884.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MANHATTAN . KANSAS

In cooperation with City of Manhattun, Pottawatomic and Riley County Commissioners, partners for community and economic development.

BUSINESS SALE Regular Priced Merchandise MANHATTAN AGGIEVILLE

QUITTING

Investigators find toddler's parents die by murder-suicide

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - The deaths of the parents of a 17-month-old girl who survived with a dog for three weeks in a home among their bodies have been ruled a murder-suicide, the Wyandotte County district attorney said Tuesday.

District Attorney Nick Tomasic said his office concluded that Matthew A. Madl shot Angela J. Cox on the night of Nov. 6 or early Nov. 7, then shot himself.

Their daughter, Linda M. Cox, survived alone by apparently eating potato chips and drinking water from the toilet until she was discovered Friday.

A police report on the deaths of the couple and a 3-month-old girl also found in the home said Madl, 29, was "quite intoxicated" and smoking marijuna on the night of Nov. 6, when the couple was last seen alive.

Madl and his wife, 17, had been playing cards at the home with another couple, the police report said. At one point Madl fired a single shot from a pistol into a sofa, and the other couple fled, the report said.

The Wyandotte County coroner's report, made public Monday,

FREE DELIVERY

Restaurant

-1304 Westloop

CATS: Congrats on the tourney win! Good Luck vs. UMKC

$2.50 Pitchers

$1.50 Wells &

Imports

Come in after the game!

Office 776-6638

539-8888

10% off with KSU IDF

539-0888

of single bullets to the head. Amber D. Cox, found strapped in an infant seat in a rear bedroom, died of dehydration and starvation, the report said.

Linda was reported in good condition Monday at Bethany Medical Center. Gifts and offers to adopt her and the Doberman pinscher, Princess, have poured in from across the country, authorities said.

The Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services was granted temporary custody of Linda at a hearing Tuesday, said Terry Showalter, director of the county juvenile department.

The girl's grandparents have sought joint custody of the girl. Custody could be decided at another hearing Dec. 18, Showal-

The police report said Larry Armstrong of Kansas City, Kan., who had been with the couple the night they died, returned to check on the family about 11 a.m. on Nov. 7 but found the doors

No one answered his repeated knocks. He told police he heard the dog and baby inside but did said Madl and Angela each died not suspect anything was wrong.

TONIGHT

and every game night

Join us

after each wildcat victory

$150 Wells

80° Draws

Body By Schliebe

MOST PHYSICAL CONTEST

FINALS 9 p.m. 500 Grand Prize

539-9727

539-4321

Siege in Louisiana causes transfer of Cuban detainees to Springfield

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. - Uprisings at federal prisons in Oakdale, La. and Atlanta have resulted in the transfer of 85 inmates - most of them Cubans - to the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners in Springfield.

Keith Hayes, administrative assistant to the warden, said 13 additional Cubans from the Louisiana facility arrived at the medical center late Monday night. An earlier shipment of 66 Cuban detainees arrived Monday before dawn from Oakdale, where an eight-day siege by Cubans ended Sunday.

Hayes said six non-Cuban inmates were moved to Springfield from the Atlanta prison Saturday as part of the medical center's work cadre inmates who work in food services, as electricians and in other areas to maintain the operation of the facility.

The inmates sent to Springfield were among some 1,000 Cubans transferred to a dozen federal facilities across the country after the Oakdale siege ended with the release of 26 hostages. The Cubans there and in Atlanta, where a siege continued today, protested plans to deport undesirable prisoners.

Hayes said the additional prisoners boosted the population at the medical center to 1,020. The facility has a capacity of 1,200 inmates, he

He said all 79 Cuban detainees at Springfield were being held in the medical center's psychiatric unit. "We are evaluating them now. The preliminary information was that they were in need of mental health care, but we are evaluating them now to make that determination," Hayes

John Vanyur, a U.S. Bureau of Prisons spokesman in Washington, said it was too early to discuss the disposition of Atlanta inmates after the siege there ends. "We'll have to wait and see what happens and what kind of inmates we have," he said.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., sent a letter to Attorney General Edwin Meese Monday urging him to take special security precautions with Cuban inmates sent to the medical center in Springfield.

"It is my hope that you will direct the Bureau of Prisons to take steps to assure that those transferred to Springfield are held in a totally secure environment until their condition and state of mind have been assessed thoroughly," Danforth wrote.

"Obviously, these individuals were in an unstable and highly unpredictable environment prior to their transfer. Moreover, it must be assumed that they would share, at least to some extent, the attitudes that led to disorder in other facilities."

Conviction made in former K-Stater's slaying

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA - One of the four people charged in connection with the stabbing death last summer of former K-State basketball star Jari Wills pleaded guilty to a reduced charge Tuesday.

Two others were convicted in the case last month, and a fourth goes on trial next week.

Charles E. Tevis, 34, of Carbondale, pleaded guilty in Franklin County District Court Tuesday to aiding a felon, who was identified in the complaint as Michael Hicks, the last of four defendants in the case.

Tevis was charged originally with aiding and abetting second-degree murder, a criminal charge that could result in a life prison term. He faces one to two years in prison when he appears Jan. 8 before Judge Jules V. Doty.

Tevis and the other defendants were charged with aiding and abetting second-degree murder for the death of Wills, 29, during a July 25 barroom fight in Ottawa. In the pleabargain agreement Tuesday, Tevis agreed to testify at the trial of Hicks, 36, of rural Wellsville.

Donald Burgess, 39, of Ottawa, was convicted of the charge last month and was scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 18. His wife, Sherrell, 24, was convicted Nov. 6 of a reduced charge, aiding and abetting voluntary manslaughter. She faces sentencing Dec. 8, the same day

Hicks is scheduled to stand trial. The reduced charge against Tevis accused him of concealing information about a knife that may have been used to stab Wills. Tevis told authorities initially that he knew nothing about the knife but told the judge Tuesday that he overheard Hicks discussing with Donald Burgess "something about wiping the prints off and getting rid of it.'

Asked by the judge what happened at the Ottawa bar that led to the death of Wills, Tevis said that Hicks became involved in an argument between Donald Burgess and Wills.

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation! WFFK AT KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE

$29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggleville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon. Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

Featuring freshly cut Kansas grown Scotch Pines, and Firs (Frazier, Noble, & Douglas) & Pines From up North. 2ft. to 10ft. tall! Individually staked for easy viewing.

Fastside & Westside Market east of Manhattan on thuy 24 - west Ft. Riley Blud.

FoodWednesday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 2, 1987 ■ Page 7

taste of... The Wildle

'Tis the night before opening day, and visions of quail and pheasants fly through hunters' heads. Hunting season is nigh, and roast duck, pheasant and quail will soon grace the dinner table.

November is the beginning of the wild fowl hunting season, and Kansas is abundant in wild game, particularly pheasant, quail, duck and prairie chicken.

The authors of the "L.L. Bean Game and Fish Cookbook," Angus Cameron and Judith Jones, note that most people consider wild game a delicacy. People apparently don't realize wild game was an important part of Americans' diets for more than two centuries.

The most common wild game recipes are for quail, pheasant, duck, goose, rabbit and venison. Yet, many recipes exist for less sought-after game such as squirrel, raccoon, beaver, muskrat, moose and antelope.

The Kansas hunting season for quail and pheasant runs from Nov. 14 through Jan. 31. Prairie chicken season, which opened Nov. 7, runs as long.

Don Haley, wildlife biologist for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said this year's population of pheasant, quail and prairie chicken has increased due to last year's mild winter.

He said this part of the state has seen more of an increase in pheasant and quail than Northwestern Kansas. Prairie chicken numbers, however, have not increased significantly.

Haley said a bad winter is harder on the bird population than any other predation. This year the population was finally able to rebound from the previous years' poor winters. Quail has become somewhat of a delicacy with many gourmet restaurants that offer quail eggs on their breakfast menus. Quail are small and require a larger number per serving than other fowl. The L.L. Bean cookbook suggests a minimum of two quail per person. The most common and easiest way to prepare quail is by roasting.

Pheasant and prairie chicken can be prepared in a similar fashion. The L.L. Bean cookbook suggests using lemon juice, which will "sweeten" the meat and prevent an icebox odor when it is stored. It can also act as a tenderizer for older birds.

Before storage, sprinkle a small amount of lemon juice over the surface with fingertips.

Haley said the duck season is split into three different phases to accommodate migrating ducks. The first portion of Kansas duck season opened Oct. 24 and ended Nov. 7. The second portion started Nov. 14 and will close Sunday. The final season begins Dec. 24 and closes Jan. 3.

All duck and geese should be cleaned and drawn prior to cooking. They should be seasoned with salt and pepper and a tablespoon of vinegar.

They should then be placed in a cold water brine (about two tablespoons of salt to a quart of water) and allowed to stand in a cold place overnight in order to help remove blood clots and strong flavors. Remove the brine, and dry the birds thoroughly.

Deer hunting is popular among Kansas hunters, some of whom prefer the challenge of the archery method to kill a deer. The season for bow hunters is Oct. 1 through Dec. 31. The rifle season is open only nine days - Saturday through Dec.

Hunters must obtain a deer license, and fish and game officials say they are increasing the number of deer licenses each year. Faley said the increase in license numbers would not affect the deer population.

Venison is considered by some to be as popular as beef and is used in many recipes in place of beef.

RECIPES

Bacon-Wrapped Quail Four cleaned quail Four slices bacon Salt and pepper Butter

Liberally coat a roasting pan with melted butter. Season quail with salt, pepper and any other desired seasonings. Wrap one slice bacon around each bird, secure with a toothpick. Cover with additional melted butter. Place in 475-degree oven and bake for approximately 15 minutes. Reduce to moderate heat of 350 degrees and bake until done. During baking, baste often with juices and butter. Bacon should be cooked. Serve with gravy made from juices.

Roast Mallard Duck

Prepare duck in a cold water salt brine and allow to stand overnight. Remove duck from the brine and dry thoroughly, inside and out. Salt and pepper the inside; also add some celery salt if desired.

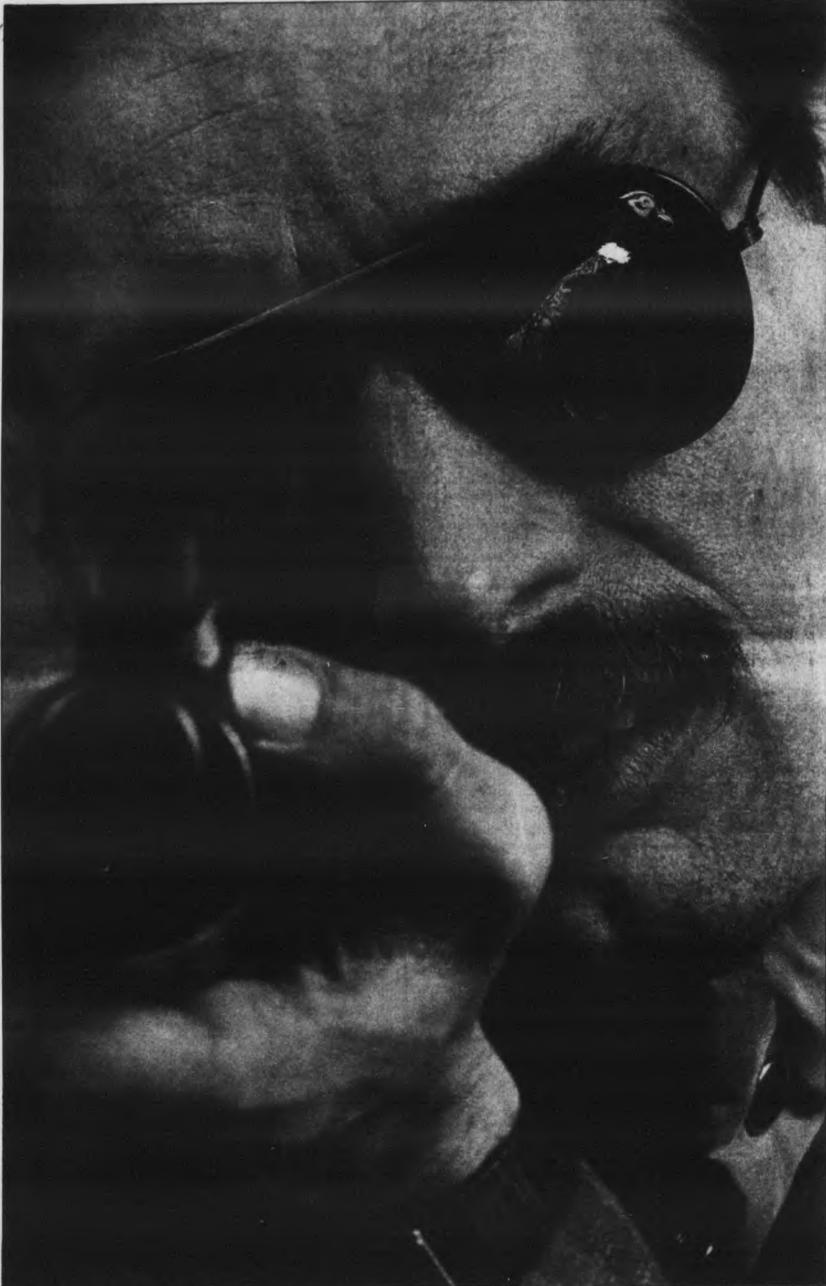

Prepare quartered chunks of apples, onions and celery in about equal portions and fill the bird. Sew up, and take thin strips of bacon and tie around the breast of the bird. Put in a closed roaster, breast side down.

Pour about 2 inches of water or consomme into the pan, so the breast of the bird will be lying in the water. Place in an oven set at 350 degrees and bake for about 31/4 hours or until bird is tender.

Take roaster from the oven and remove half of the remaining liquid. Turn the duck over so that it is now breast side up and put in 400-degree oven for about 20 minutes or until the breast is nearly browned. Continue to keep bacon on breast. Baste occasionally while browning. Serve with wild rice.

Broiled Venison Steaks

Brush four 1/2 -inch-thick venison steaks from leg, rib or loin chops of young animal with 2 tablespoons of salad oil. Let stand 15 minutes. Broil steaks 3 inches from heat for 7-10 minutes, turn. Broil on other side for 7-10 minutes. Combine 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon onion juice and dash of salt. Brush on broiled steaks.

Story by Janette Poole

Illustration by Steve Rasmussen

Are those carrots worth a measly few pounds?

Diets — who needs them? It seems like everyone you run into is on a diet or "trying to drop a few pounds. These people, who are trying to drop a dress size or squeeze into the "Calvin's" they wore back in 1979, are true dieters.

"I'm going to give up watermelon for a whole month," each says.

They utter these words as the snow flies outside. Another drop 20 pounds." I say good luck to these diehard dieters. Eat-good one is, "I'm going to eat nothing but grapefruit until I ing six grapefruit in one day will pucker your mouth to the extent that you will not be able to eat anything else if you a meal together is like pulling teeth. Cooking a low-calorie, filling meal to satisfy everyone is no thrill either. They like fried chicken, you can only eat baked. They want wanted to.

These fad diets don't work. I've tried them all. All it got me was a closet full of clothes that I'm keeping for when I lose those extra pounds (some of my clothes date back to the early

Diets are nothing but heartache. You eat rabbit food for weeks, and all it gets you is too much roughage. Suddenly Bugs Bunny looks like a fun date.

Diets are even more depressing when you live with someone who does not need to diet. By keeping chips and frozen pizzas around the house, they show no sympathy for your situation. They show no feeling as they munch loudly on potato chips in front of the television set. The closest sound to crunching chips you get to hear is when you eat celery.

Dieting and trying to feed non-dieters is hard to do, Eating french fries, and you eat carrot sticks. The kitchen looks like the aftermath of an explosion in a Crisco plant by the time you get two separate meals on the table.

It is not worth the time. So you decide to go out to eat. Another difficult decision. The salad bars at your favorite fastfood restaurant lack green, leafy vegetables, and low-calorie dressing on a hamburger will overload your allotted 600 calories per day.

Oh, how I wish there was such a thing as a low-calorie, low-fat, diet Big Mac! Maybe someday, but until then I will continue to eat their "tossed salads made fresh last week."

The American Heart Association offers these tips for lowering caloric consumption: When you pick up the phone to order that "quickie" delivery pizza, consider the calories which are also being delivered. Your best bet would be to choose restaurants that use unsaturated oils and restricted amounts of salt. When you order, ask that margarine - not butter - be used in cooking.

Look for phrases that announce low-fat preparation, such as "steamed," "poached," "roasted" or "broiled."

Superpowers discuss arms reduction

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Proposals made in U.S.-Soviet strategic arms reduction talks would cut nuclear arsenals by about 30 percent instead of the 50 percent advertised by leaders in Moscow and Washington, according to a private study released Tuesday.

The study by the liberal Natural Resources Defense Council said the catch is in how the superpowers tally warheads, such as counting a bomber or submarine as one warhead rather than counting all bombs or missiles aboard. Thus a bomber with 24 bombs would be counted as one weapon rather than 24.

It concluded that no matter how much progress President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev make during their summit next week, the complicated issues involved in strategic arms talks known as START probably cannot be resolved before Reagan leaves office.

While a START treaty would have the positive effect of reducing nuclear arsenals, said the report, it would not stop the modernization of weapons systems, would probably not significantly reduce military spending, and might actually destabilize the nuclear balance by leaving missiles.

Council studies START proposals

"The negotiating proposals made by the two sides have not been fully thought out," said William M. Arkin, an author of the study. "A grand strategy doesn't seem to exist." Unlike the Intermediate Nuclear Force pact, which Reagan and Gorbachev plan to sign at the summit, proposals for a START treaty for the most part would eliminate old rather than modern systems, the study said.

"Every current and future U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons system would be permitted under the terms of the current proposals, though perhaps not in as large numbers as originally planned," the study said. "The nuclear modernization process may be accelerated in some cases."

"Under a START treaty the nature of the arms race would markedly shift from quantitative to qualitative competition," as the superpowers replace old systems with more accurate and deadly ones to meet START limits, it said.

Thus the United States would phase out forces already headed for retirement, such as Minuteman mis-submarines and 25-year-old B-52 or the number of warheads that could bombers, but would continue deploying more modern MX and Trident II missiles, as well as the B-1B and Stealth bombers. It would reduce its stocks of one new system, the Air-Launched Cruise Missile.

The Soviets would retire missiles and bombers of similar vintages, while continuing a very ambitious program to field new weapons, the study said.

"Both sides are modernizing their forces. It's business as usual" in spite of the arms control talk from the White House and Kremlin, co-author Thomas B. Cochran told a news conference.

Current START proposals would limit each side to 6,000 nuclear warheads, to be carried by 1,600 stategic

Add diversity

to your weekend!

THURSDAY

VERANDAS

FRIDAY

IN/OUT

SATURDAY

BAND TO BE

ANNOUNCED

intact too many land-based ballistic siles, Poseidon and Trident I nuclear nuclear delivery vehicles. Sublimits, be carried by land-based missiles, bombers and submarine-launched missiles, are under negotiation.

Two years ago Reagan proposed limiting the number of ballistic missile warheads to 4,500, of which only 3.000 could be carried by land-based

But a treaty drafted last May raised limits to 4,800 ballistic missile warheads of which 3,300 could be land-

The Soviets want to raise the ballistic missile warhead limit to 5,100, with 3,000-3,300 on land-based missiles, the system which the Reagan administration and the study agree are the most destabilizing.

Despite U.S. and Soviet claims that START would reduce strategic nuclear delivery vehicles by half, the study said, it would actually cut American delivery vehicles by only 20 percent, from the current 2,000 to 1,600. It would cut Soviet strategic delivery vehicles by 35 percent, from 2,475 to the common level of 1,600.

START would reduce U.S. overall warheads by 30 percent, from 13,000 to 9,000, and Soviet warheads by 35 percent, from 11,000 to 7,000.

"The only area in which there is a (proposed) 50 percent reduction is in Soviet ballistic missile warheads," from about 9,400 to 4,800 warheads. U.S. ballistic missile warheads would fall 40 percent, from 7,950 to 4,764, the study said.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Tele-Find modernizes classified ad service

By The Collegian Staff

Instead of scanning the classified section of papers, some people in the Manhattan area are turning to Tele-

"One phone call (to 539-CALL) and you can get anything you want," said Larry Plumlee, founder of Tele-Find. "It's convenient."

Tele-Find is a call-in classified advertising service that started in March. Using computerized listings, the service covers everything from rental apartments to furniture to babysitters.

Plumlee said he developed the service to help people find a specific

When advertisers call to place an ad, their items are printed on a com- parties are still in progress.

puter's file. The customer can then call the service and request a specific category.

For a 300- to 400-word ad, Tele-Find charges advertisers 33 cents a day. The service is free to the call-in customers.

Tele-Find currently serves the Manhattan area and Wamego, but Plumlee plans to expand the service to a 100-mile radius in the future. That would include Salina, Junction City and Council Grove.

Plumlee said he's talked with K-State officials about the installation of a Tele-Find computer in the Union. It would help students in a central location and would be convenient to students without phones, he said. Discussions between the two Digital Contin

VISTABURGERI With 8 Gallon Fill-up

ONLY AT DERBY STATION 720 N. THIRD

INTERNATIONAL TOURS OF MANHATTAN

is sponsoring a (men's) basketball road trip to

Omaha, Nebraska this Saturday, December 5

CREIGHTON

The trip only costs $30 and this includes your ticket and transportation. The bus leaves from the north side of Ahearn at 3 p.m. and returns immediately following the game. Space is very limited, so sign up today in Aheam 101, Thursday at Union table, or at the KSU-UMKC game tonight. (check or payment will act as reservation) Deadline is this Friday, Dec. 4 at noon.

TRIP OPEN TO EVERYONE Also, be sure to come to the ICAT pre-party tonight at Charlie's Bar from 5:30-7:00.

GO CATS!

Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

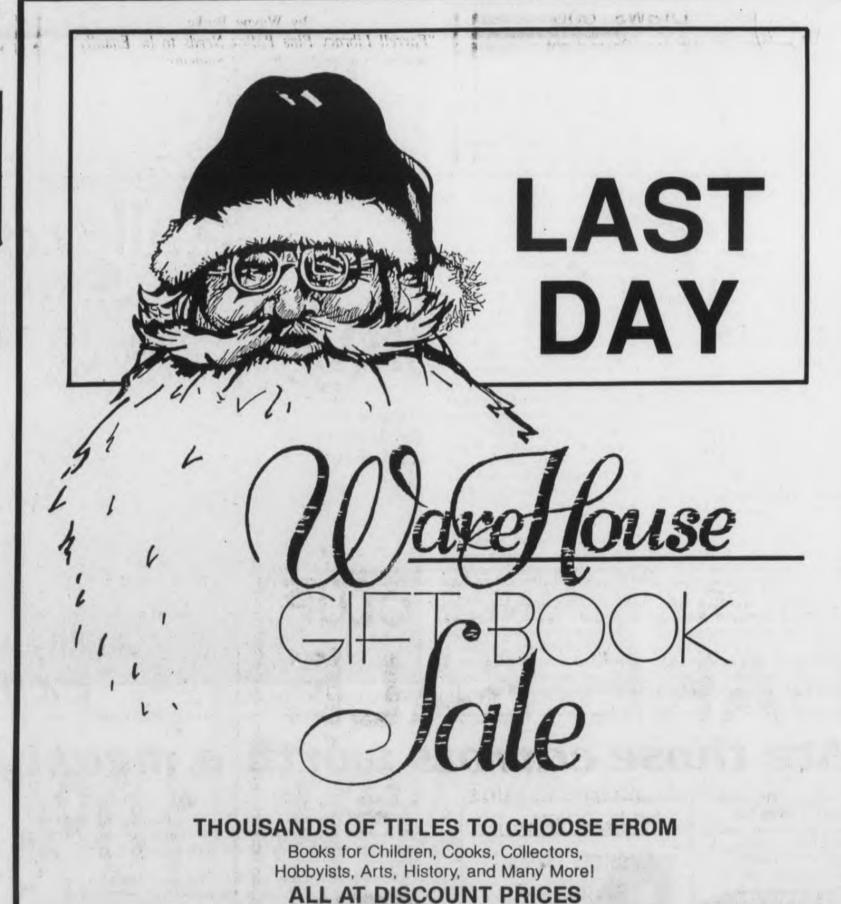

Christmas from the heart

The Manhattan Town Center gift certificate. Always appropriate, always useable. It's perfect for last-minute shoppers, or when you just don't know what to get for someone. And, it's available at our customer service desk just off Center Court.

While you're here, bring the kids to have their pictures taken with Santa, listen to a little live music, and stop for a bite to eat at Picnic Place. And, of course, do stop into our many fine stores. There's something special here for everyone on your list!

THE GIFT NO ONE EVER

Monday through Saturday 10-9 Sunday 12-6 Dillard's JC Penney Specialty Shops Picnic Place AT 3RD AND POYNTZ

November 18 thru December 2

Monday thru Friday 8:30 am-4:30 pm, Saturday November 21 10:00 am-4:00 pm

KSU Rooms—K-State Union

Closed November 26, 27, 28 & 29 Thanksgiving Holiday

K-State Union Bookstore

Small decline promising Economic gauge down 0.2 percent

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The government said Tuesday its main economic forecasting gauge edged down 0.2 percent in October, the first setback in nine months. But analysts took the modest decline — in the face of the stock market plunge - as an encouraging signal the economy may avoid a recession next year.

The Commerce Department's Index of Leading Indicators showed broadbased strength in a variety of areas and would have been up a sizable 0.9 percent if not for the drop in stock prices.

The government also revised the September leading index upward to show it unchanged rather than down 0.1 percent as first reported.

the stock market collapse could have on consumer confidence, many economists said the performance of the leading index supported their belief that the country is headed for slower growth next year but no recession.

In a second report Tuesday, the Commerce Department said construction spending fell 0.5 percent in October to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $407.9 billion. It was the first decline since March and was led by big drops in spending for new factories and shopping centers.

Analysts predicted further weakness in construction in the months ahead as residential construction is depressed by high mortgage rates and high apartment vacancy rates.

The leading index, which is composed of 11 forward-pointing business statistics, has taken on new While not discounting the impact importance as analysts try to determine how severe an impact the stock market decline will have on economic growth.

Three consecutive monthly declines in the leading index has often, but not always, signaled an impending recession.

But with September now revised to show no drop, analysts said even if the index falls as expected in November, it will not have the same negative impact.

The magnitude of the October decline in the index is smaller than what one would associate with the onset of a recession," said Jerry Jasinowski, chief economist of the National Association of Manufacturers. "The indicators declined because the stock market fell through the floor and not because the underlying economy was particularly weak."

Allen Sinai, chief economist for Shearson-Lehman Brothers of New York, said he expected growth, as measured by the gross national product, would dip to a sluggish 2 percent annual rate next year, down from the 3.7 percent GNP growth rate so far this year.

'The leading index and the logic of the stock market crash do point to a significant slowdown next year, but I think we will be able to avoid a recession, if nothing worse happens," he said.

Analysts are particularly concerned that continued turmoil in the stock market and a plunging dollar could cause consumers to grow more fearful about the future during the critical Christmas selling season.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had fallen more than 76 points on Monday in a selloff reminiscent of the October crash, partly recovered

Students to tour, explore K-State during senior day

By The Collegian Staff

Forty seniors from a fivecounty area will be on campus today for North Central Senior Day to tour K-State and explore areas of study.

Julie Schuler, admissions representative, said invitations were extended to 20 high schools in the counties of Ottawa, Cloud, Republic, Jewell, Mitchell and Osborne. Twelve high schools in these counties will be represented.

Schuler said the number of participants in Senior Day is up from last year.

"That's higher than last year," she said. "That's fine for this time of year with the weather and everything.'

Schuler said senior days appear to be effective in student of the students on campus now that participated in the senior days last year," she said.

The students will arrive at K-

State around noon and will have lunch in the Flint Hills Room in the Union. Larry Moeder, associate director of Student Financial Assistance, will speak about financial aid.

During the afternoon, the students will tour the campus, residence halls and the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. They will also visit the departments or colleges they are interested in for individual conferences.

The students will eat supper at Derby Food Center or Kramer Food Complex, meet with K-State students, and end the day by attending the K-State vs. the University of Missouri at Kansas City men's basketball game.

Schuler said the students paid a "We have well over 50 percent registration fee to attend Senior

ry weather, disease

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Dry conditions in the west and a spread of wheat streak mosaic that has reached epidemic proportions continue to stunt development of the 1988 state wheat crop.

Kansas Agricultural Statistics said in this week's report on condition of establish good wheat stands before the crop that lack of moisture across western Kansas is hampering establishment of a good root system for the wheat, and that the mosaic disease is virtually certain to cause heavier loss of acreage than in past years.

In the western third of the state, KAS said, some fields have yet to harms wheat growth winter sits in. However, statewide 20 percent of the acreage is good enough to pasture cattle, compared with 10 percent at this time in an average year. Only 57 percent of the acreage is rated as good to excellent, while 30 percent is rated as fair and 13 percent as poor to very poor. Condition of the crop is worst in the west and gets better to the east.

Besides the wheat streak mosaic, leaf rust is present in fields all over the state and greenbugs are showing up in many areas, endangering the younger wheat, the service said.

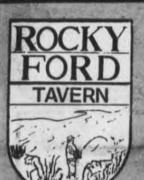

The lack of moisture has left pastures in fair to very poor condition.

ANNOUNCERS

Applications are being accepted for full time & part time announcers. *Broadcast experience required *Various shifts...days/nights/weekends EOE employer

KMAN 1350

2414 Casement, Manhattan, KS 66502

Pitchers $2.10 Draws 85¢

On tap: Coors Light, Budweiser, Old Milwaukee "Your Discount Beer Barn"

Now Open on Sundays

"The Finest Little Tavern By A Dam Site"

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

FREE SPEECH

Six Persuasive Speeches on KSU Issues "KSU Admissions Policy: It Ain't Broke"

by Susan Goss and Kristi White "Diversification—A Need"

by Laurian Cuffy

"Part-Time Students Should Be Allowed to Purchase KSU Season Tickets to Athletic Events" by Mark Lacy "Financial Aid Office Needs to Join the 20th Century"

by Wayne Burke

"Farrell Library Fine Policy Needs to be Equally Applied to Both Faculty and Students"

by Krista Hershey Thursday, December 3, 1987 Nichols Hall Theatre

Noon-1 p.m.

These Speeches are Free-The Public is Invited

Call Rick Nash at Keating & Associates 537-0366 1011 Poyntz

Family Health Insurance Costs

Too High?

Security Mutual Life Nebraska

Donald L. Graham, D.D.S. and Mark D. Hungerford D.D.S., P.A.

wish to announce the relocation of their Family and Implant Dental Practice to the lower level of

1834 Claflin Rd. · (North of Goodnow Hall) Manhattan, Kansas

New telephone number 913/539-5949

Emergencies seen immediately Evening and early morning appointments available Free consultations

THE CANADIAN

The Canadian Brass Sunday, December 6, 1987 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

Save $5.00 on the cost of a student ticket to

Present this voucher with your K-State student ID at the McCain Box Office and save $5 on any available seat.

Conditions: One student ticket per voucher. Offer good only for full-time K-State students. Voucher not redeemable for cash. Offer expires Friday, December 4, 1987.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB BAKE SALE

Monster Cookies Blueberry Muffins Raisin Bread French Bread

Brownies

TODAY

Shellenberger Hall, Rm. 105

3:30 p.m.-until sold out

Quality Christmas Specials For a Happy Holiday

All Running Tights
NIKE-HIND-ADIDAS-PUMA

All Tennis Rackets Champion Sweats Heavyweight

All Bicycle Tops

Ice Skates Men and Women Figure-Hockey

1218 Moro-Aggieville-Manhattan

913-539-2441

Victims get help for 'never-ending flu'

By Paula Selby Collegian Reporter

At least 25 to 30 people in the Manhattan area have a disease that feels like a never-ending flu - the Chronic Epstein-Barr Virus Syndrome, said the founder of a support group for those afflicted with the disease.

Evelyn Zanella, a Manhattan resident who has the disease, started a local support group for CEBV victims about six months ago. The group was designed to let the victims know "there are others out there with the same illness," Zanella said. The group also helps them cope with their changing lifestyles.

Because awareness of the disease is extremely low among the public and members of the medical community, victims find that easy acceptance and adaptation to the illness are rare, she said.

Also, because no one has pinpointed the cause of the illness and a multitude of other viruses and disorders can produce similar symptoms, it isn't surprising that many physicians are skeptical, dismissing patients as hypochondriacs or assigning their complaints to other causes, an article in Newsweek magazine person's lifestyle varies. Some victims function only slightly below par, while others are too sick to do the simplest chores.

The National CEBV Association

"It (CEBV) eventually gets into your bone system. There are times meetings and counsel those afflicted when I have severe pain in all my with the disease. In January, Ruth bones and feel like I could relate it Hoeflin, professor of human devehonestly to someone who has cancer," Zanella said.

"During this process a person gets down in bed and cannot get up. Some people have experienced paralyza-tion. I haven't," she said. "It's just that you don't have the energy to get up and do anything. You don't feel like cooking; you don't feel like get-water; you don't feel like reading, watching TV - you're just incapacitated."

The support group has various guest speakers who come to the lopment and family studies, will be speaking on what professions are available to people with CEBV.

"We're looking for (professions) to go into that are not stressful and fatiguing," Zanella said.

CEBV can be "really frightening" because the people it usually affects are already educated, in a successful said the effect the disease has on a ting up to get yourself a glass of field and are accustomed to a successful lifestyle. They have to reeducate themselves and go back to college, because they can't do what they're trained to do, she said.

Most of the victims prefer to remain anonymous because no one has heard of this disease and no one understands it on the local level yet, Zanella said.

Those who have CEBV keep quiet because they fear losing their jobs, she said, adding that one Manhattan woman with the disease even goes out of town for medical treatment.

In the absence of a cure for CEBV, some specific symptoms can be treated to help the patient live a more normal life, according to the national association. Physicians can prescribe anti-depressants, anti-inflammatory drugs, and analgesics to ease some symptoms. A combination of proper diet, rest and stress reduction can also CEBV patients can have good days and bad days, Zanella said. "The important thing to remember is not to overdo it on your good days, even though you may feel like running a marathon," she said.

The support group meets at 7 p.m. the first Wednesday of every month at The Saint Mary Hospital in the conference room. The group meets tonight.

Disease

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 cent of the public) is exposed to the common Epstein-Barr virus, which stays in the body for life. In most people, it remains dormant and causes no harm. But in some people, the virus either stays active from the moment of infection or flares up later. (In those cases) chronic illness sometimes results.'

CEBV is not contagious. The Epstein-Barr virus, which is carried by saliva and is not spread by sexual contact, is found all over the world. Whether someone develops CEBV depends on how his or her body deals with the virus, the association said. Some researchers believe the virus emerges from its latent state because of its reaction with a new virus, environmental pollutants or even stress factors.

Researchers have recently found that 15 percent to 30 percent of the people with the symptoms of CEBV have normal antibody levels to the may just be another symptom of the illness rather than the cause, according to an article in Rolling Stone magazine.

Some symptoms of CEBV can be treated by medications prescribed by doctors, but there is no known cure. Dr. Nabih Abdou, a researcher at the University of Kansas Medical Cen-EB virus, which has convinced some ter, may have found a treatment to doctors that the EB virus activity eliminate the severe symptoms of the disease, according to an article in the Kansas City Kansan.

The treatment is basically a massive dose of immune serum globulins which are injected into the patient once a month. The treatments last six months, and each injection costs about $600, the Kansan stated.

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Tailor Made Seat Covers Tanneau Covers Boat Covers Window Tinting Convertible Tops Vinyl Tops Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery 201 Sarber Lane (behind Wal-Mart) Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometrist

Individual Eye Health Care ·Eye Glass Frames and Lenses (One Year Warranty) ·Specialized Contact Lens Care -Tinted (Brown Eyes to Blue) -Extended/Flexible Wear -Bi Focal

·HMO/Insurance Accepted

Payment Plans Available your eyecare professionals annually 776-9461 Toll Free 1-800-432-0036 404 Humboldt (1 blk. W. of Dillards)

Blue Kiver Pub ATTENTION GUYS

THEY'RE BACK SHEER DELIGHT

Female Strippers Thurs., Dec. 3rd 9 p.m.-1 a.m. $3 Cover Charge Next to Tuttle Creek Dam

Dedicated to Optometry in a friendly manner

K-State, we'd like to be your optometric office

- Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended
- wear, tinted soft contact lenses Contact lenses competitively priced
- Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting
- Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock ·Evening and Saturday appointments available

Drs Price, Young, Odle and Horsch

Christmas Fruitcakes

2 lb. loaf form in decorative pan.

Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Information Days December 3rd & 4th

Main Floor K-State Union

Applications available for 1988-89

YOU MUST APPLY EACH YEAR

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Fruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

Gain Real World Experience Volunteer for the FONE CRISIS CENTER

—It Provides—

- Maturity
- interpersonal relations experience to deal
- with pressure situations

Volunteer Training Session Saturday, Dec. 5 8:30-5 p.m. For more info. 532-6565

Christmas Gift Idea:-

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:

____Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

____Academic year (32 weeks), $35

One semester (16 weeks), $20

____Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Send to:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:_____

Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____

Purchased By:

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:___

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Fall____Spring___Summer____

Amount Received $_____By:_____

KSU EANBAS STATE

INTERSESSION Intersession registration is December 7-9, 1987 in the Farrell Library Basement, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Beginning

December 10 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 317 Umberger Hall, from 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. Phone or mail registrations will be accepted after December 7, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 317 Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506. Tuition is $43 per undergraduate credit and $62 per graduate credit and is due at the time of registration. The maximum credit allowed is three hours per student. To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 317 Umberger Hall.

CREDIT INSTRUCTOR

2UG/G Floyd Smith

2UG Robert Bullock

3UG/G L. Pavlides

2UG/G C.A. Keithly

2UG/G Mark Lapping

2G

2UG/G Chip Winslow

2UG/G Thomas Daniels

Thomas Daniels

Mark Lapping

3UG/G Clenton Owensby

REF. # COURSE # COURSE TITLE 94100 AGRON 615 Sustaining Agriculture 94101 GENAG 505 Comparative Agriculture: Tour Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii 94102 ENVD 299 Architectural and Interior Delineation 94103 ENVD 699 Arch. Planning in Greece LAR 741 Golf Course Design Community Economic Development 94105 PLAN 590 Community Economic Development PLAN 815 Computer Applications in Planning and Design PLAN 630 Rural Planning in the 3rd World PLAN 590 Rural Planning in the 3rd World 94109 PLAN 815 Art/London 94110 ART 300 94111 CMPSC 110 Intro to Personal Computing 94112 CMPSC 490 94113 ENGL 395 94114 GEOL 310 94115 HIST 533 "C" Programming Language Literary Britain Roadside Kansas A History of Conservative Religion and Right-Wing Politics in Twentieth Century America

94116 JMC 690 94117 JMC 740 94118 MATH 499 94119 MUSIC 310 94120 MUSIC 390 94121 MUSIC 424 94124 SOCIO 301 94125 SOCWK 610

94126 STAT 708 MANGT 498 94128 EDAF 892 94138 EDAO 842

94130 EDCI 502 94131 EDCI 502 94132 CT 650 94133 ID 499 94134 HDFS 708

94129 EDCI-051

Advanced Desktop Publishing Contemporary Public Relations History of Musical Instruments Beginning Recorder Playing Jazz in Kansas City and the SW Topics and Issues of Terrorism Chemical Dependence/Codependence: The Therapeutic Intervention Process Use of Statistical Computer Packages in Data Analysis MANGT 498 Computer Concepts and Applications Business Start-Up for the Professional

Counseling Black Students Curriculum in Agriculture II Study Skills Laboratory Teacher Assistant Program Education Field Experience

Study Tour: Brussels, Paris, and London Photography, A Visual Communicant in Design Coping with Life Crises

ouncing English as a Second Language

Diane Dollar C. Yerrapragada 3UG Karen Brewer G.W. Clift 2UG Charles Walters 2UG/G Robert Linder 2UG/G Charles Pearce 2UG/G Shirley Ramsey 1UG Lyle Dixon Mary Lee Cochran 2UG 2UG Frank Sidorfsky Alfred Cochran 2UG Manjur Karim 1-2UG James Ward 1UG/G Kenneth Kemp

Linda Innes Frederick Rice 1UG Margery Neely 3G John Parmley 2UG Charles Heenm Charles Heerman 1-2UG Jackson Byars

2UG

2UG

1/4-1/8 1-2UG Ray Kurtz Bettie Minshall

Bernard Rueschhoff/ 12/27-1/10 8am-5pm Robert Habiger 1/4-1/12 1-5pm 2UG/G David Balk

1/2-1/12 8am-12:30pm Calvin 010 1/5-1/7 9am-NOON & 1/7-8,11-12 5-9:30pm 12/21-1/12 1-5pm 1/2-1/12 8:30-11:30am 1/4-1/12 8am-4pm 1/4-1/12 8am-4:30pm

DATES TIMES

12/26-1/14 8am-5pm

1/2-1/10 8am-1pm

12/22-1/12 1-6pm

1/4-1/12 1-5pm

1/4-1/12 1-5pm

1/4-1/8 9am-5pm

1/4-1/12 8am-NOON

1/4-1/12 8am-NOON

1/2-1/12 9am-NOON &

1-2:45pm

9am-NOON

8am-NOON

9am-NOON

6-10pm

1-4pm 1-5pm

12/26-1/10 9am-5pm

1/4-1/12 8-11:15am

1/4-1/12 8am-NOON

12/26-1/10 varied

1/2-1/12

1/4-1/11

1/2-1/12

1/4-1/8

1/2-1/12

1/2-1/12

1/2-1/12

1/4-1/12

1/4-1/8

1/2-1/12 9am-3pm

1/2-1/12 8:30-NOON

Bluemont 107

Seaton 106K&M

Australia

Greece

Seaton 308

Denison 222

Denison 222

Seaton 221

Seaton 221

Nichols 122

Nichols 127

Thompson 101

Denison 216

Kedzie 105

Calvin 208

Bluemont 113

McCain 105

McCain 135

McCain 105

Denison 120

Bluemont 341-D

8:30-11:30am Denison 124

England

England

Seaton 252/219

Bluemont 343 Bluemont 116 KS Schools KS Schools Europe Justin 347 8am-NOON Bluemont 108

NON- Sharon Reagan

Fairchild 204 1/4,7,8,30 9am-7pm

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 2, 1987 ■ Page 11

By Daran Neuschafer Sports Writer

Filled with youth, speed, and excitement, the K-State Lady Cats host the Creighton Lady Jays tonight in Ahearn Field House. Tip-off is scheduled for 5 p.m. and the game will precede the K-State vs. University of Missouri at Kansas City men's contest.

K-State, which enters the game with a record of 1-1 after finishing third in the McCall Pattern Classic this past weekend, will give head coach Matilda Mossman another look at her youthful, yet talented team.

The Lady Cats' "youth movement" was never more evident than last Saturday in the consolation game of the McCall's tourney, when Mossman started three freshmen and a junior college transfer in the game. All four players responded with fine performances to lead the Lady Cats to their first win of the young season, an 82-65 victory over Rockhurst.

Freshman Diana Miller was one of those bright spots. The 5-foot-11 forward from Buhler High School responded to her first start of the season by scoring 19 points and grabbing 11 rebounds team-highs in both categories. Miller's good play earned her a spot on the all-tournament team as 24 points and eight rebounds.

By The Associated Press

Associated Press college football awaiting their Orange Bowl showdown against the Miami Hurricanes.

But Miami, 10-0, still has one regular-season game left, against South Carolina on Saturday night.

In the next-to-last regular-season poll, Oklahoma received 48 of 55 first-place votes and 1,090 of a possible 1,100 points. Six first-place votes and 1,049 points went to Miami.

but one poll this season. They slipped to second two weeks ago, but reclaimed the top spot by defeating

Miami stayed in the No. 2 spot for the second straight week after crush-

Nebraska on Nov. 21.

The Sooners have been No. 1 in all poll. Miami is No. 2

South Carolina.

Oklahoma is ranked No. 1 in The Between them is eighth-ranked

K-State's only qualifier.

But Miller wasn't the only newcomer who played well for the Lady Cats. Freshmen Nadira Hazim and Kristie Bahner each contributed in a big way, with Hazim scoring 13 points from her guard position and Bahner pulling down eight rebounds. Dodge City Community College transfer Stacey Boyle also helped out the cause by adding 10 points.

Overall, Mossman was pleased with the team's effort, and said things should, and hopefully will, get better.

"They all did a great job," Mossman said. "We have a lot of young kids who should be more consistent for us down the road.

"I think we saw some very good things from our team, and I feel like we are going to get better and better as the season goes along."

And the Creighton team should provide a good test for K-State tonight. The Lady Jays, also 1-1, come into the game fresh off a win over Cal-Irvine in the Freedom Bowl Invitational. The Lady Cats own a 7-1 lead in the series against Creighton, but the Lady Jays won last year's contest 62-59 in Omaha, Neb., and return three starters from that team.

Creighton is led by forward Pam Gradoville, who is averaging

Florida State, Syracuse and

Nebraska held onto the 3-4-5 spots.

respectively. Florida State, 10-1, received 985 points following a

28-14 triumph over Florida; Syracuse, 11-0, completed its regular sea-points, while Nebraska, 10-1, a 24-7 winner over Colorado, received 904.

Fiesta Bowl and Syracuse meets No.

swapped positions. Auburn climbed from seventh place with 803 points

by defeating Alabama 10-0, while

LSU, which ended its regular season

South Carolina remained eighth with 708 points and Michigan State held onto ninth with 635. However,

Notre Dame fell from 10th to 12th while UCLA moved up from 11th to 10th with 573 points.

a week ago, slipped to seventh.

6 Auburn in the Sugar Bowl.

Florida State plays Nebraska in the Auburn and Louisiana State

ing Notre Dame 24-0.

Young Lady Cats Kangaroos invade Ahearn to play Creighton By Jeff Rapp Sports Editor

Through the years, opposing coaches, players and fans have often referred to Ahearn Field House as a "zoo" of sorts.

Tonight, with Ahearn in its final season, the 38-year-old facility may live up to its reputation, as K-State tips off at 7:35 against an 11-member roster of Kangaroos.

This group, however, just happens to be the University of Missouri-Kansas City Kangaroos basketball team - a team in its first season in the ranks of NCAA Division I competition.

K-State coach Lon Kruger said his program decided to take on the former NAIA team because of the fine reputation of its head coach.

'Lee Hunt has done an excellent job wherever he has coached...and we're playing them because of Lee Hunt. He is highly respected in the coaching profession, and when he called to see if we might be interested in playing, we told him we would do whatever we could to help.'

Hunt's impressive record came mostly as an assistant under Gene Bartow. In 12 years under Bartow at Memphis State, UCLA and Alabama Birmingham, Hunt coached in the NCAA post season tournament six times. Two of those years Hunt reached the Final Four - once in 1972 with Memphis State and once in 1976 with UCLA.

As a head coach, however, Hunt has not fared quite as well. In four years at the University of Mississippi, he compiled a 50-66 record and has made but one tournament appearance, which was in the 1982 postseason National Invitational Tournament.

Coaching records and NCAA infancy aside, however, UMKC almost won its very first Division I contest Monday night against Rice University. In fact, it took a lastsecond shot by the Owls to defeat UMKC at the buzzer. Kruger said UMKC will be no pushover.

"They've got outstanding athletes. They're young as far as experience goes, but I'm sure they'll come into Ahearn with sky-high dreams," Kruger said.

The Kangaroos have no returning lettermen, but their top newcomers include 6-9 center Ron Davis, 6-8 forward Billy Newbill and 6-5 forward Jay Boster.

Boster averaged nearly 16 points per game last year at Independence Community College, where he canned 94 shots from beyond the three-point line. Davis, from Seward County Community College, was named MVP of the Kansas juco allstar game last season.

in Ahearn Field House Saturday.

Senior Mitch Richmond gets a slam dunk against Cal State Northridge Monday in Ahearn Field House. Richmond and the Wildcats hope to tame the University of Missouri at Kansas City tonight in Ahearn.

Freshman gaining early experience

S.C. stands between giants

The Oklahoma Sooners have com- son a week earlier and received the pleted an 11-0 regular season and are remaining first-place vote and 914

By Bill Lang Sports Writer

Referring to freshman Diana Miller, Lady Cat coach Matilda Mossman said, "What she did last Saturday was indicative of what she can do for us all season long."

That may seem like lofty praise from the coach to just a freshman, but maybe not, when taking a look at what Miller has already done in just two games as a Lady Cat.

What she accomplished last Saturday was scoring 19 points, grabbing nine rebounds and dishing out two more assists in her first start at K-State in the consolation game of the McCall Pattern Classic in Ahearn Field House.

For her efforts she was named to the all-tournament team - something that took Miller by surprise.

"I was very surprised," she said. "I didn't think that it would happen. Especially after the way I played Friday night.

"I guess that my play on Saturday made up for the Friday night showing," she added.

Mossman, though, feels there is more good in store for Miller.

"Diana has the ability and the talent to make the Olympic teams and the Pan Am teams," she said.

"She can score, rebound, and have high numbers of assists for us," Mossman added. "She's so talented. She's playing beyond her years...she's playing like a veteran."

One glance at Miller's Buhler High School records may prove Mossman knows what she's talking

While at Buhler, Miller averaged 23 points and 10 rebounds per game in leading her team to a state title and 24-1 record. She was named Outstanding Junior Olympic Athlete for the 18-and-under age group in the Missouri Amateur Athletic Union. And she is Buhler's all-time leading scorer and rebounder.

Mossman is responsible for bringing the talents of Miller to K-

"Coach Mossman is the main reason that I'm here," Miller said. "She's a friend of the players, and she cares about us on and off the

"I was recruited by other schools Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Louisiana State, Missouri and others," she added. "But coach Mossman was the nicest of all the coaches."

The difference between high school basketball and college basketball has very quickly become evident to Miller.

"The work load is so much more," she said. "The officials let the players play their game. They don't call some of the fouls that would be called in high school, and the players are stronger."

■ See MILLER, Page 14

Lady 'Cat freshman Diana Miller scored 19 points and made nine rebounds during the consolation game of the McCall Pattern Classic

Gansz doesn't feel need to defend his No. 1 QB

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Why in the world, wonders Kansas City Coach Frank Gansz, does he feel compelled to defend Bill Kenney?

Gansz knows there are those who say that the Chiefs, 2-9, with nothing to lose, should give unproven Frank Seurer a chance at quarterback. But Gansz said Kenney will start the rest of the season.

"I'm having to sit here and defend Bill Kenney," said Gansz, stopping himself short Tuesday at his weekly media luncheon after going through a of litany Kenney's accomplishments.

"He's the guy who threw four touchdown passes against the Chicago Bears. Who else has done that? Bill Kenney's record is defending

"I will tell you, gentlemen, when he is healthy, it's not even close." Health has always held Kenney back. He started all 16 games in 1983, passed for 4,348 yards and went to the Pro Bowl. He then missed seven games in 1984, could not start the last five games of 1985 because of a variety of bruises and missed starting critical games in 1986 because of an injury to his throwing

"When he's healthy, he'll be our starting quarterback," Gansz said. "We're going to play the guy who can win the ballgame, and that's Bill Kenney. We have to protect him. Let's face it, if your quarterback is going to get nailed all the time, you could have Superman back there and he would be wearing a knee brace."

Kenney started Thanksgiving Day against the Detroit Lions and was not sacked once, the first time this year in non-strike games that the Chiefs did not give up a sack. He helped break Kansas City's franchise record ninegame losing streak, throwing two touchdown passes and completing 18 of 26 passes for 246 yards.

"He's got the experience, he's got the gun (strong arm) and he can communicate the offense," Gansz said.

Gansz started the season with Todd Blackledge at quarterback. He gave up on Blackledge after two games and went to Kenney. After Kenney sprained his wrist, Seurer started two games.

"I think I've seen enough of Frank," Gansz said. "He's got a quick arm, he's got great foot movement and he has leadership skills. Those are all of the things that make a great quarterback."

Gansz just nodded his head when told it appeared obvious Blackledge had no future in Kansas City. Blackledge, a No. 1 pick in 1983 taken ahead of Dan Marino and John Elway, has been a bust for the Chiefs.

He was taken out after the first half of the season's second game at Scattle and hasn't been seen since. Kansas City tried to trade Blackledge at his request, but found no takers. The former Penn State star is working on a one-year contract.

Selling of dairy products now tradition

By The Collegian Staff

Since 1923, Call Hall's snack bar has been selling dairy products made by animal sciCall Hall snack bar in 64th year ences and industry students during class. teaching phase of the dairy and food industry industry. The snack bar sells ice cream, milk, cheese "The purpose of the snack bar is to have as a whole on-campus," said Harold Roberts, Collegian/Jennifer Quist After filling a 3½ gallon container with vanilla ice cream, Harlan The containers are sold to the residence halls during special occasions and holidays.

"Most products are derived from the department's dairy," Roberts said. The products are part of the teaching and research process being done in the department.

The ice cream, produced in 31/2 gallon containers, is used by residence halls during holidays and on special occasions. Churches and other social organizations off-campus purchase the ice cream for special events such as socials and Christmas parties.

No other facility uses the ice cream on- or off-campus because it is produced in small

"It is not our intent to sell our ice cream to compete with commercial companies," Roberts said. "The standard for ice cream is to have 10 percent premium, (if it is) sold by Collegian/Jennifer Quist Kimble fills a milk container as part of a weekly routine. The milk, processed at Call Hall, is used by the residence halls. commercial outlets. Our standard is 12 percent premium. To try to compete, we would have to lower our standards, and that is not what we are here for."

Living up to those standards is no simple task. A special process is used to produce the best ice cream possible; Roberts said. A number of ingredients - including milk, cream, sugar and stabilizers that are used to improve the ice cream's texture as well as the flavor -

After all the ingredients are combined, the ice cream is pasteurized to destroy any bacteria. Next, the large molecules are broken down by homogenization. The ice cream is then cooled at 35 degrees. Immediately prior to freezing, liquid flavors or colors are added to the ice cream. If any bulky ingredients such as strawberries or candies need to be added, they are done so after the freezing process. Finally, the ice cream is placed in a hardening room which is maintained at 20 degrees below zero. The ice cream is then stored over

Despite the snack bar's success. Roberts said the location is small, usually creating a line. Public parking in front of the building is also poor, he said.

"The facilities at Call Hall for ice cream are not set-up to handle a large volume, even though we could," Roberts said.

Although Call Hall occasionally advertises, most publicity is by word of mouth.

"One person tries our ice cream. If they like it, they will tell another," Roberts said. The snack bar also provides public relations for Call Hall.

"The public does not realize we are the only state university with a full line of dairy products in the Midwest," Roberts said.

Mgeasons

Kimble, dairy food processor, puts the containers in the freezer.

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 1913) 539-5391

December Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away $13 Single $18 Double Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—$10

(Offer good now thru December 17, 1987) Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

Lead the way ... be a part of the 1988 KSU student government

Judicial Judicial Council Student Review Board Tribunal

Traffic Appeals Board

Legislative Student Senate Standing Committees Academic Affairs & University Relations Communications Finance

Legislative Affairs Senate Operations Student Affairs & Social Services Student Senate Interns

Executive Student Body President's Cabinet Attorney General Chief of Staff College Council Coordinator International Affairs Director Minority Affairs Director Public Relations Director

State & Community Affairs Director Applications & Information available in the SGS office, K-State Union. Applications due Dec. 9, 5 p.m.-SGA Hotline 532-7777

By TV Data

WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 2, 1987 KTWU KSHB WGN ESPN WTBS Good Morning B. Hillbillies Bewitched Scooby Doo Teddy Ruxpin on the Prairie $25K Pyramid Ghostbusters Card Sharks G.I. Joe Movie: "You'll Like My Love Boat Dame at Indi-Love Connec Perry Mason Getting Fit CFL Football: Grey Cup Movie: "The Van Dyke Andy Griffith Tom and Flintstones Munsters 5:30 NBC News 7:00 Billy Graham Movie: "Ca-10:30 News News Cheers 1 1:00 Ent. Tonight "The Marcus- NBA Today "Who's Mind-12:00 David Letter-700 Club

ANSAS STATE BANK

STUDENT LOANS We want to make your student loan! Have the professionals at Kansas > State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

KANSAS STATE BANK

TO: Mary

FROM: John

Season's Greetings

Say you care with a Collegian Personal—

,		*
	7
		- 4-
	100	13	-

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon Thursday, Dec. 10. Ads will run in Dec. 11 Collegian.

22

ClassAds

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75) FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Glub call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

End of the semester

Parachute Club meeting

Thursday, December 3, 1987 7:00 p.m. Union 206

All members must attend to still be considered active.

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its product selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyo on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (66-70)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or skiing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a red poinsettia! On sale now at the K-State Union.

LATE NIGHT

with Campus Crusade

Thursday Night 10 p.m.

Alpha Chi Omega Sorority 1835 Todd Road Sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ

YOU'VE BEEN

SEEING ANOTHER

HAREM, HAVENTYOU!

Rubes

weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto rvice, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manhattan. (62-75) APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124. NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basemen apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per waterbeds. 537-9686. (65-69)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, furnished, across from Putnam Hall, 1306 N. Manhattan, $205/month, call 776-7045. (67-71)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or 776-4246. (67-75)

NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December Call 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency spartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190.776-3624. (67-75)

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment. Close to campus air conditioning, dishwasher; furnished. Ready Jan. 1. 537-8061. (67-70)

TWO-BEDROOM on main floor. One-half block west, furnished. $300. 539-8106. (67-71)

CLEAN, QUIET, basement two-bedroom apartment, Jan. 1, $225/month. 776-1703. (68-70) FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person, all utilities paid including basic cable T.V. 539-9173, evenings. (68-72) NICE TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Available

Jan. 1. $360. 539-4840. (68-72) CLEAN BASEMENT apartment. One male student.

No smoking, drinking. $160, North 11th. 539-8758. (68-70)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03 FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from cam-

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf) AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, carpeted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

By Leigh Rubin

THREE BEDROOM, with garage. Living room and dining room. Range and refrigerator in kitchen Close to campus. Prefer small family or older stu dent. Deposit required. No pets. $375. Call 776

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, one and three-fourths bath, 1402 LeGore. One block walk from campus. No pets. $400/month plus utilities. Available Jan 1. 776-1214 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.), 776-4446. (65-68)

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom, 501 Houston $300. 539-4214, leave message. (66-70) ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75) TWO-BEDROOM duplex, one block from campus available Jan. 1. No pets, 539-8016 after 6:30 p.m. (67-69)

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

•24-hour emergency maintenance

 On-site laundry facilities ·Two outdoor swimming pools

 Professional on-site mgt. Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary Call Today 539-2951

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, nice. 926 Bluemont,

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE

APARTMENT FOR rent, one bedroom, close to campus. (Gold Key). 776-9264. (68-70)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

FOR SALE: 1978 Caprice Classic, good condition, $480. Call 539-2776 after 4 p.m. (64-68

1978 PLYMOUTH Road Runner, $650 or best offer 776-1532 afternoon and evenings. (65-69)

1974 CAPRI, very reliable, great mileage. $500. 539-1945. (67-69)

1976 FORD Pinto, good condition, $900 or best offer. 776-2751 or 537-8337. (67-71) gine, (25,000 miles). Running great. Call 776-8016. (68-72) DODGE OMNI 1979. Four cylinders, overhauled en-

1982 CAVALIER type 10 CL. Automatic transmission power steering, air conditioning, very nice. $3,100 494-8484. (68-71)

EMPLOYMENT.

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids spond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menio Ave., Suite 219, Menio Park, CA 94025. (40-

OVERSEAS JOBS. Summer, year-round. Europe, South America, Australia, Asia. All fields. $900-2,000 month. Sightseeing. Free information. Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont,

GREAT SUMMER camp jobs in the Colorado Rockies near Estes Park as counselors, cooks, nurses, office, wranglers, drivers, unit directors, childcare Room and board plus cash salary and travel allowance. Fully accredited. Must be at least 19 to apply. Interviews on campus in early February. Write Cheley Colorado Camps, Dept. C, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616, For the summer of your life! (66-70)

ence and Industry, Kansas State University, Applicants should possess a PhD in Food Science, Cereal Chemistry or Biochemistry and have a constrated ability to carry out independent reflour doughs in convenience food systems, collec-tion and analysis of data, preparation of reports and manuscripts. Familiarity with standard bio-chemical techniques is essential. Prior experience with flour fractionation, experimental baking and dough rheological techniques is highly desir-able. Satary range: $18,000-$20,000 annually. Dead-line for applications: Dec. 15, 1987. Starting date: Jan. 4, 1988. Applications should be made by submitting a letter of application, resume and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Jon Faubion, Department of Grain Science, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506. Kansas State Univer sity is an equal opportunity affirmative action

RESEARCH ASSISTANT, full time, immediate opening. B.S. degree in biology or related field. Must have experience in electron microscopy and/or biochemical procedures. Will conduct research in thin sectioning and immunological techniques. Salary approximately $16,000/year plus benefits. Submit resume, college transcripts and two letters of recommendation to: Dr. D. B. Bechtel, Department of Grain Science and Industry, Kansas State University, Shellenberger Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 776-2713. Application deadline is Dec. 11, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer. (67

By Berke Breathed

HOW LONG'S THIS GONNA

TAKE ?

EXPECT

By Jim Davis

NO SNOW

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The Aggieville Business Association is accepting applications for parttime Executive Director. Self-motivated individual with creative mind and flexible schedule. Send Resume and references to P.O. Box 764, Manhattan.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work; electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

YOUTH DIRECTOR. First Christian Church is accept ing applications for a half-time position to coordinate youth activities and direct teacher recruit ment. Application deadline Dec. 16, 1987. Send resume and three reference letters to: Search Committee Chair, 804 Laramie, Manhattan, KS 66502. Inquire at 776-8790. (66-70)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

SCHOOL BUS drivers beginning immediately. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driv ing record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Job description available. Apply to: USD #383, 2031 Poyntz Ave Manhattan, KS 66502. 913-537-2400. EOE. (67-71)

HIRINGI GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76) NEW YORK! Live-in mother's helpers needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January.

Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone 203-656-0707. (67-72) REMEMBER THE time you really needed a friend and someone came through for you? All those who have thought about becoming a volunteer someday—Why not today? The FONE Crisis Center needs You! One day volunteer training will be held Saturday, Dec. 5, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., UFM House, 1221 Thurston. Come and bring a friend! Special speakers are: Dr. Joan McNeil; Dr. Howard rnes, and Dr. Tony Jurich. 532-6565. (67-70)

KSU DAIRY Bar needs person for daily cleaning. Ap proximately 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Fri-day. Work-study preferred. Contact Kevin Grow in Call Hall 154 or at 532-5654. (68-70) RESIDENT MANAGER Position-Bold seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apart ment units. Near campus, compensate in signifi-cant rent reduction for one-bedroom apartment. Live in required, year-round position. Minimum commitment two years. Requested. Respond to: P.O. Box 1329, Manhattan, KS 66502 with resume

GARAGE AND YARD SALES

KAPPA DELTA garage sale, 1220 Centennial Drive, Saturday, Dec. 5 from 7:30 a.m. to noon. All proceeds go to charity. (70)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom duplex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston, $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75)

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor effi-ciency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055 Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 eve-

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776 3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, x 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537-

Crossword

NOW AVAILABLE 1968 Great Lakes, two bedrooms Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, washer, dryer. Low utilities. 537-7873. (67-71)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un-til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75) DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Bivd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64

COMPACT DISCS; cassettes; audio video tapes, movies—never opened, any variety. 539-1089, 776-4387. (67-70)

TANS TO GO

5/$1250 Cobblers Lane

Aggieville 776-7874

UDERCOVER

Lingerie

GIFT CERTIFICATE

What a good idea!

1224 Moro Aggieville Manhattan Town Center Mall

Study Rooms

are coming 539-7531

17th & Anderson, 539-7531

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75) QUEEN WATERBED. Nice headboard. Baffle mattress. Jensen car stereo, auto-reverse, separate treble/bass. 539-8399. (68-72)

RUSH

to Cottonwood Racquet Club for you next social gathering We welcome all clubs & housing organizations Tennis, Racquetball, Saunas and Jacuzzi available

776-6060 · 3615 Claflin Rd.

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

MEN'S CONVERSE leather shoes, size seven, brand ew. Phone 537-2624. (68-70)

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

YAMAHA XT600. 1984, low miles, excellent condi-tion, make offer. 776-7323. (67-70)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

FENDER QUAD reverb tube guitar amplifier. $300

Hayes House of Music FENDER SQUIRE STRATS

$309

327 Poyntz

776-7983 PERSONALS

CHURCH GUY: Something for you to think about— you could have hung up the first time. (68)

11 Inning

parts 16 Marsh

20 Goad

22 Opiate

23 Spanish

25 Failure

29 A tide

34 Den 38 Thomas

31 - canto

32 Reddish

brown

Alva -

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES SPAYED FERRET, cage and set up. Gentle and very

playful. 539-1988 evenings-keep trying. (68-70)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf) PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf)

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RENTALS

TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner. Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

Resumes Typeset & laser printed

-- Graphics Plus 11th & Laramie 539 -6027 DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (68-70)

ROOMMATE WANTED FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester Nice spacious house across from Durland, available

Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69) NEAR KSU Need one female roommate for fur nished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) ONE FEMALE roommate wanted. Close to campus nice apartment, fun roommates and cheap. Call 537-3940 and ask for Kathy. (64-68) NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle Creek Boulevard second semester. $150 per month, utilities paid. Call Allen (913) 492-6835. (64-

ONE-HALF BLOCK from Ahearn. Male room wanted to share four-man apartment. $130 per month. Call 539-1334. (66-70)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, furnished, own room, no deposit, one block from campus. 776-1893. (67-70) ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester, large four-bedroom house, share with three others, own bedroom, $132.50/month plus utilities, nonsmoker. Call 539-7681. (67-71)

MALE ROOMMATES for second semester. Nice twobedroom. 776-9017. (67-71)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom on westside. Lots of extras. Call 539-9185. (67-71)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills, 537-1757. (67-70) MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share two-bedroom

ent. Close to campus, have own room. Larry apartment. Close to at 537-3339. (67-69) LOOKING FOR roommate to replace roommate who graduated. Female roommate wanted Quiet, at tractive, roomy apartment, own room, swimming pool, dishwasher, microwave and lots more. $150 plus one-half utilities. 537-1835 evenings. (67-75) WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1 $133/month, one-third utilities. Own room. 539

FEMALE LOOKING for female roommate for two bedroom apartment. Bills paid. 537-8096. (68-70) MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood. $150/ month plus utilities, negotiable. 539-6515. keep trying. (68-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed-very nice, furnished, one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. $150/month. Call Julie, 539-1482 first months rent free. (68-70)

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $100 per month plus one third utilities own bedroom. Call 776-6880. (68-72)

FEMALE OR male roommate. Own room, no deposit, $140 month. Available now, one-third utilities, three blocks from campus. 539-5220. (68-69) MALE OR female. Non-smoking. $120/month. One-fourth utilities, one block west of campus. Own room, washer, dryer. Great roommates. 539-7709.

SUBLEASE

CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville. $120/

for one, $200 for two, Call 537-2178, (68-70) TAKE OVER my lease and bring three friends. $120/person, all utilities paid, including basic cable TV. Call Jeff 539-9173 evenings. (68-72) SUBLEASE SPACIOUS, nice one-bedroom, available Dec., spring semester, $250 month/plus utilities, 539-0199, (68-70)

TRAVEL COLORADO

28 AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire place, HBO, pool table, sauna. Great fishing. Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Silver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/ reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448. Get your friends to drive. (66-71)

TUTORING SERVICES

GRADE-AID: Qualified tutor can help you get ready for finals: Algebra, Trigonometry, Gene lus, Accounting, (66-70)

31

SPRING BREAK

LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so far! Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-

By Eugene Sheffer

OTOHZZJ

XPUWJ

Garfield

Bloom County

MADAM.

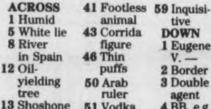

AN EMERGENCY.

51 Vodka

cocktail

painter

57 French

DOWN

1 Eugene

3 Double agent 4 BB, e.g.

material

6 TV actor

Robert

7 Beseeches

9 Dartboard

feature

10 Horizontal bar

8 Commercial

5 Coat

2 Border on

wingding 54 Italian 15 Loud croaker 55 Eddie 17 Cheongsam Cantor's feature wife 18 Stone slab 56 Lady 19 — the Chaplin beans

21 Remnants angel 24 Law matter 58 "— Gun"

12 Oil-

tree

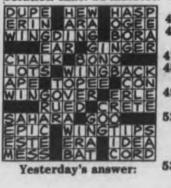

14 Waikiki

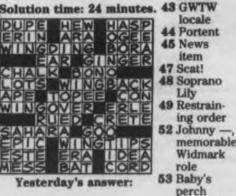

25 Obligation 28 Nevada city 30 Recede 33 Eskimo knife 34 Enticed 35 Affirm-

21 Remnants

36 Arabic letter 37 Taj Mahal city 38 Slippery 39 Film composer

Francis -

missionary 26 High note 27 Arena for 43 Across 40 High nest 42 Pussycat's CRYPTOQUIP 12-2

OUT

TOSSWTTYOZ GIHSQ HUB YKWZB SVHXFKPU H G

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SMALL-TIME RABBIT RAISER FINALLY GOT MARRIED AND MIGHT LIVE HOPPILY EVER AFTER.

KUGP

Today's Cryptoquip clue: O equals U

I HATE BEING SICK.

Peanuts

OUR VEHICLE IS STUCK AND WE COULD

USE A LITTLE MORE

WEIGHT FOR

Two on Korean plane swallow suicide pills

By The Associated Press

MANAMA, Bahrain - A mysterious Asian couple took suicide pills Tuesday just before being questioned about a South Korean jetliner that disappeared over Burma and may have been bombed.

Officials said the couple boarded Korean Air flight 858 at Baghdad, Iraq, where it originated Sunday, and got off at Abu Dhabi before the Boeing 707 headed across Asia toward Seoul with 115 people aboard.

It vanished near the Burma-Thailand border, before a scheduled refueling stop in Bangkok. Officials in Seoul said there were strong suspicions a bomb destroyed the aircraft.

The man, who appeared to be middle aged, died four hours after biting into a suicide pill concealed in a cigarette, said Takao Natsume, Japan's acting ambassador in Bahrain. He said the woman, who was younger, was unconscious in critical condition at a military hospital but "she will survive."

They had been waiting to be questioned by immigration officials who stopped them from boarding a Rome-bound flight. The two were believed to be either Japanese or Korean and were traveling on forged Japanese passports, apparently as father and daughter.

"Just after swallowing the pills they both fell on the floor and their bodies went very stiff," Ambassador Natsume said.

Both collapsed "in seconds," but the woman apparently survived because she swallowed less of the poison hidden in the cigarette filters, he said. The type of poison was not known.

Other Japanese sources quoted an embassy official who was present as saying the two were less than fluent in Japanese.

Japanese and Bahraini officials said the couple flew from Baghdad to Abu Dhabi on Flight 858 and caught a Gulf Air plane to Bahrain, a Persian Gulf island state, while the South Korean plane left for South Korea's government broadcasting service said investigators were checking possible links between the mystery woman and Chosen Soren, an organization of Koreans living in Japan that supports communist North Korea.

An official of the airline said: There is a high possibility that the missing plane crashed because of a bomb explosion" because no distress call was received from the aircraft. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

Burmese officials said there was no hint of trouble during the last routine radio contact with the crew.

Thai police searching for wreckage reported a large swath of leveled trees in mountains along the border. Airline chairman Cho Choong-hoon, accompanying seven Korean investigators, reported seeing a "gray spot" in the same area but would not speculate on what it was.

Security sources in Bahrain said investigators also were checking on possible ties between the couple and the Japanese Red Army.

Woman disappears leaving few clues

By The Associated Press

ST. JOE, Kan. - Authorities had few leads to follow today after suspending the search for a missing woman described as despondent over the drowning of her son in June.

Ann Ellington, 36, disappeared Saturday night, three days after what would have been the 5th birthday of her son, Richard. Her husband, Marvin, also 36, said she was still despondent and had spent the birthday anniversary mourning.

A trail of footprints left in wet sand wound down miles of rural roads before ending a few hundred yards from the Cheney Reservoir dam, said Reno County Sheriff Jim Fountain.

Dozens of friends and neighbors continued searching several square miles of countryside around the couple's mobile home about a mile west of St. Joe in southeast Reno County. Fountain said he doesn't know what happened.

"I can't theorize. That's not a privilege that's allowed us. We have to work on facts," the sheriff said.

Investigators continued checking out leads today, including a phone call from a Wichita nurse who wanted to talk to authorities about the woman.

Marvin Ellington and his Australian-born wife had been married 10 years.

He said she often went for walks when she felt down. A lot of factors contributed to the depression she was feeling Saturday, said Ellington, a pilot and captain for Air Midwest, as he sat in the living room where his two young daughters played.

Court

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 mental groups across the nation that only government regulators may sue industrial polluters for past violations of the federal Clean Water Act.

-Voted 8-0 in a case from Louisiana to narrow the power of federal judges to overrule labor arbitrators' decisions deemed to be against public policy.

Ruled unanimously in another Louisiana case that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., a government agency, may collect debts owed to failed banks it takes over even when the banks misled the borrowers.

Miller

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 11 Miller said since her arrival, the improvement in her game has been noticeable.

"My outside shooting has gotten much better," she said. "And I've been able to get more rebounds. Both of those are due to the weightlifting that we have to do. "I remember in high school, when had an outside shot I would just throw it up towards the basket and hope for the best. Now I can make three-point shots."

Forget high school, though; Miller has plans for the future.

'I'd like to be named an All-America basketball player," she said. "I'd like to play for the United States on the Olympic team sometime and do a few Pan American games. Right now I'd just like to see the team do

As of now, Miller's thoughts are focused on her playing days as a Lady Cat. Those days, she said, will be enjoyable.

"We're good. We're young, but we're good," she said. "I know that the inexperience will hurt us a little bit. The next two years, though, we'll be turning some heads."

> Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

DECEMBER 4 & 5 8:00 P.M.

Tickets
Nichols Box Office (532-6398) through Dece

DANCE PROGRAM, DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Featuring a variety of gifts . . .

Ornaments, stuffed animals, stained glass, wood carvings, jewelry, weavings, and MORE!

> TODAY: 11 a.m.-6 p.m. TOMORROW: 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

> > K-State Union Main and West Ballroom

k-state union

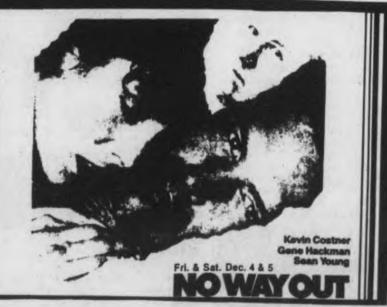

TIS' THE SEASON ...

to rent a SANTA COSTUME!

Cost $10-Available through December 23 in the Activities Center, 3rd floor, Union. Call 532-6571 for information.

k-state union

KEVIN COSTNER SEAN YOUNG GENE HACKMAN

Set within the protected inner reaches of the Pentagon, "No Way Out" presents a fascinating group of troubled characters for whom deception has become a means of survival. A tense and timely thriller!

Rated R. KSU I.D. required.

TODAY: 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall Friday & Saturday 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall 7 & 9:30 p.m. $1.75

TOMORROW: 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre UNRATED; KSU I.D. required. $1.75 (in German with English subtitles)

(k-state union

SHOWTIMES:

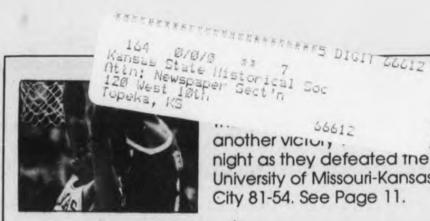

Chimney Sweep

More people have returned to heating their homes with coal and wood, increasing the demand for chimney sweeps. See Page 7.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, high 55 to 60. Mostly clear tonight, low 30 to 35. Mostly sunny Friday, high 55 to 60.

another vicioi, night as they defeated the University of Missouri-Kansas City 81-54. See Page 11.

Thursday

December 3, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 69

Kansas State Collegian

Suit over landfill faces county, city

$1 million plus sought in damages

By Judy Lundstrom Special Projects Editor

A lawsuit seeking damages in excess of $1 million has been filed in U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan., against the Riley County Commission and Manhattan City Commission.

The suit, filed Nov. 24 by Charlene Sweet, stems from water contamination problems at Moehlman Bottoms, a community situated near the Riley County Landfill along the Kansas River about three miles south of Manhattan.

Sweet is an employee of the county and works at the landfill. Water contamination was detected in November 1985 on her property adjacent to and east of the landfill.

Sweet's lawsuit is based on four

■ The first count requests immediate closure of the landfill.

■ The second count requests a judgment in excess of $10,000, alleging that the contamination deprived Sweet of use of her water and

■ The third count alleges that the county and city were negligent in locating, constructing and operating the landfill along the Kansas River without taking measures to prevent groundwater contamination. For that count, Sweet again requested a judgment in excess of $10,000.

■ The final count is for punitive damages of $1 million.

The charge alleges that the county and city refused to close the landfill upon Sweet's request and that, because of the contamination problems, the landfill has become a nuisance.

Because of the contamination, the charge continues, Sweet has been unable to obtain financing for improvements to her house for the upcoming winter season.

In conclusion, the suit claims, the county and city knew of the contamination "but knowingly, and with great disregard to the health and safety of plaintiff, allowed said condition to exist...'

Peter Rombold, Sweet's attorney, said the suit was filed because county commissioners ignored three letters he sent to their attorney.

The first letter, dated Oct. 7, requested that the county buy out Sweet's property for its appraised value of $35,000. The second letter, on Oct. 16, requested that as an interim solution, the county pay for replumbing Sweet's house and installing a furnace, or give her $400 a month to obtain alternative housing until the matter could be resolved.

"As a result of the contaminated water supply, the plumbing in her residence will have to be completely replaced," Rombold wrote. "Furthermore, there is no heat in the house.

Ms. Sweet has attempted to obtain a home improvement loan, but it has been turned down on the grounds that the lending institution did not want to become involved with any property contaminated with or potentially contaminated with toxic chemicals. Thus, Charlene is facing the winter with a house that has no plumbing or heating."

Rombold said he received no positive response from commissioners. On Oct. 30, he again wrote to the county.

"It would appear that Riley County intends to do nothing for Charlene Sweet in the near future," he wrote. "Please be advised that we intend to seek legal remedies for Charlene's problems within two weeks of the date of this letter unless a satisfactory solution can be worked out in the meantime." County Commission Chairman Darrell Westervelt said Wednesday night that commissioners knew nothing of the lawsuit.

"We haven't been notified," he said. "The legal papers have not been served." Westervelt said commissioners' attorney Dan Myers had been in "constant contact" with Sweet's attorney. When contacted, Myers said he could not comment.

"Nothing has been served on us and I don't know anything about it," Myers said.

continues

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON - The Rev. Jerry Falwell and sex magazine publisher Larry Flynt listened in silence Wednesday as the Supreme Court used a dispute they sparked to explore the legal boundaries of satire

The justices, whose ruling is expected by July, must decide the validity of a $200,000 award won by Falwell for an advertising parody published by Flynt's magazine,

The phony ad purportedly quoted Falwell, a Baptist minister who until recently led an organization called the Moral Majority, discussing a sexual encounter with his mother in a Virginia outhouse and a habit of getting drunk before giving sermons. The court is being asked to decide whether people who say they suffered emotional distress over a satirical attack should have a better chance of winning a lawsuit than if they sued

The case is being closely watched by many in the news business, especially political cartoonists and

Flynt's lawyer, Alan Isaacman of Falwell

lawsuit and parody.

for libel.

commentators.

■ See SUIT, Page 14

On the edge

skills on the west wall of Memorial Stadium Wednesday afternoon. The climbing club tains near Boulder, Colo.

Alan Sink, vice president of the KSU Rock Climbing Club, practices his climbing is new this semester and recently returned from an excursion to the Rocky Moun-

■ See COURT, Page 14 Haitians promised free elections

By The Associated Press

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti Haiti's ruling junta called Wednesday for a reorganization of the Electoral Council by tonight and promised to hold elections in time to transfer power to a new government as scheduled Feb. 7.

The Electoral Council was dissolved by the military-dominated junta after the council canceled Sunday's elections because of widespread violence directed at voters.

Soldiers and thugs wielding guns and machetes killed 34 people and wounded 75 before the elections were called off.

In a communique signed by Information Minister Gerard Noel and broadcast on state-run television Wednesday night, the junta asked the nine organizations that named the last council "to each designate personalities others than the ones previously chosen" to replace the council dissolved on Sunday.

The statement said the junta led by Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy hoped that the council will be "reconstituted" by midnight tonight. "The new Electoral Council is would do that, they have nothing to "Clearly, this is a potentially volatile situation. There is the potential for more violence. There are a lot of angry people here."

—Unidentified U.S. diplomat called on to supervise and organize general elections...for the designation of the country's new president, freely elected by the people," the communique read.

Council members remained in hiding and could not be reached immediately for their reaction.

But on Tuesday they issued a statement defying Namphy's dissolution decree and saying they would declare void any elections organized by the three-man junta. According to the constitution, the Electoral Council has ultimate authority in election

Council spokesman Rene Belance said in an interview Wednesday that he did not think the groups that appointed the nine-member Electoral Council would comply with the new communique. "I don't see why the institutions reproach their members of the Electoral Council (for)," he said. The institutions that appointed members to the Electoral Council include two churches, human rights groups, journalists associations, agricultural cooperatives, the Supreme Court, universities, the junta and its

All four major presidential candidates have declared unconstitutional the junta's decree dissolving the council. At least two, Marc Bazin and Gerard Gourgue, stressed that they only recognize the current Electoral Council.

advisory council.

In addition, a leading president candidate demanded Wednesday that Namphy step down or face "total civil disobedience" from voters cheated out of free national elections. Sylvio Claude of the Christian Democratic Party called for Namphy's resignation within 48 hours and recommended that a provisional government comprised of "three patriotic officers and four civilians" replace the Namphy's junta.

But there was no indication that Namphy, Maj. Gen. Williams Regala, and lawyer Luc Hector had any intentions of immediately ceding power, which they assumed Feb. 7, 1986, after dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier fled to exile in France.

They had pledged to step down next February to make way for the new government.

Claude vowed to boycott future elections organized by the junta, as did the country's largest labor union, the Autonomous Central of Haitian Workers, and opposition political

"We would call on Haitians all over the country to begin total civil disobedience," Claude said in remarks broadcast by Radio Metropole.

Claude, a Protestant pastor and accountant, earned a reputation for bravery for his vocal criticism of Duvalier. His outspokenness landed him more than once in the torture chambers of the Tontons Macoute, ■ See HAITI, Page 14

Airline flights late despite reforms

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The major airlines reported fewer delays and lost baggage during October, but one in every five flights still arrived at least 15 minutes late, the government said Wednesday. The Transportation Department guide for air travelers, using figures supplied by the carriers, for the second straight month ranked American Airlines with the fewest flight delays. American had 86.1 percent of its flights arriving on time.

At the other end of the ranking was Pacific Southwest Airlines with a 60.3 percent on-time record.

San Francisco had the worst on-time arrival record among 27 airports during October, with just over half of its flights arriving on time, followed by Los Angeles International Airport with a 65.3 percent on-time record.

Two of the nation's busiest airports had the best on-time performance. Atlanta's Hartsfield International had 88 percent of its flights on time followed by Dallas-Fort Worth, where American has its largest hub, with 87.6

In all, 80.3 percent of the more than 400,000 flights during October arrived on time, the department said. In September, 77 percent of the flights were on

The department's second monthly consumer's guide on air travel reflected attempts by airlines to improve their on-time record by changing flight schedules, lengthening scheduled times in the air, and speeding up ground operations at hub airports.

The statistics showed that the number of chronically late flights, those arriving tardy at least 80 percent of the time, declined from

See DELAY, Page 14

Dole picks campaign co-chairs

BOSTON - Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas brought his Republican presidential campaign to Massachusetts on Wednesday, saying he sees the contest for the party's nomination as a two-way race between himself and Vice President George Bush.

"Right now, Bush is still the front-runner," Dole said, adding that Bush has a great advantage in campaigning "because vice presidents don't have much else to do."

He said he was encouraged by recent polls that show him leading Bush in Iowa, the first state in the presidential nominat-

Dole also noted that Massachusetts will play an important role because the state's Republican primary falls on "Super Tuesday" in March. Hoping to boost his chances here, Dole appeared at a downtown hotel to attend a fund-raiser and to announce the co-chairs of his Massachusetts campaign.

Woman relieved to be home

LAWRENCE - Like Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," Emily Hill has returned to Kansas, convinced after surviving a blizzard in Tibet and a rhinoceros attack in Nepal that there really is no place like home.

"The thing I'm most excited to see is the hackberry tree in my back yard," the 19-year-old woman said Wednesday. "Simple things like that. It's nice to be home."

Hill, a sophomore at Dartmouth College, is recuperating at her parents' home after suffering leg, chest and back wounds last month when a rhinoceros gored her in an animal preserve

In October, Hill spent about a week snowbound with 40 tourists in a rusty and battered bus that stalled during a blizzard in the Tibetan Himalayas. She and two friends eventually hiked 60 miles in the snow to Katmandu and got help for the stranded travelers.

Less than a month later, Hill was with a trained guide in the Chitwan National Park when the wild Indian rhinoceros, spooked by an elephant, attacked. She required 60 stitches.

"It was the worst experience of my life," she said. Hill said it was hard to believe that her odyssey is over. "I'm kind of in a fog right now," she said.

Sea turtles' tumors baffling

CLEARWATER, Fla. - Endangered green sea turtles are developing wart-like tumors, which baffled marine biologists plan to study.

The tumors, called "papillomas," have been found only on green sea turtles, although similar growths have been found on some loggerhead turtles, said marine biologist Alan Huff of the state Department of Natural Resources.

"It's a surface growth that can cover the animal, restricting its movement, and it can cover their eyes," he said recently. Researchers plan to study the condition at the Clearwater Marine Science Center. Scientists think the growths are caused by a viral infection, but they don't know what is causing the infection, Huff said. The disease has been seen in green sea turtles on both coasts of Florida and in Hawaii and the Cayman Islands, scientists

Stadium Pizza

from the Dougout

Call 537-1484

A CAN FOR

ALL REASONS

Filled with

Freshly flavored

POPCORN

SOCIAL
1439 Anderson-537-7079
(South of McCain)

Agencies get anti-drug money

TOPEKA - Seventeen city and county law enforcement agencies in Kansas have received a total of $528,661 in federal grants to beef up anti-drug efforts, Gov. Mike Hayden's office announced Wednesday.

The grants, from the federal Bureau of Justice Assistance, will be administered through the state Department of Administration. Recipients include the Wichita Police Department, the Hutchinson Police Department, the Saline County Sheriff's Department and the Topeka Police Department. The money was made available through the federal Anti-Drug Abuse Act of

In addition to the federal money, the law enforcement agencies will raise $176,216 in matching funds, to bring the new funds for anti-drug efforts to $704,877.

The money will be used to hire additional personnel, buy equipment, beef up training programs and enhance local prose-

Spuds' Santa appearance nixed

COLUMBUS, Ohio - An Ohio liquor law that forbids using Santa Claus to promote alcohol has taken a bite out of an Anheuser-Busch beer campaign featuring Spuds McKenzie in Santa garb.

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control gave Anheuser-Busch until today to remove Bud Light beer cartons bearing pictures of the bull terrier adorned in a red cap, jacket and mittens.

Department spokesman Vicky Gelety said Anheuser-Busch has promised to cooperate.

But a spokeswoman for Heidelberg Distributing in Cincinnati, which distributes Anheuser-Busch products in the Cincinnati and Dayton areas, said the company had been told cartons that had already been distributed could remain on the shelves.

"Retailers have not been told to pull it," said Heidelberg's Lee Oberlag. "We have not been told to pull it."

She said that under normal conditions, the supply already on store shelves would last through Christmas. But she acknowledged the cartons in question could move earlier than that.

Hospital keeps federal funding

OSAWATOMIE - Osawatomie State Hospital, threatened last summer with the loss of Medicare and Medicaid funding. now meets government standards for patient care and will continue to receive federal funds.

Inspectors from the federal Health Care Financing Administration visited the state's oldest hospital for the mentally

Inspectors praised the staff for bringing the hospital into compliance with federal standards and indicated the hospital will continue to get the Medicare and Medicaid funds, hospital spokesman Larry McCourt said:

The hospital's federal funding was threatened last summer because the facility had too many patients and not enough doctors and nurses.

In the past three months, 10 nurses and two doctors have been hired, pay for nurses and therapists has been increased and hospital officials have cut admissions by 40 percent. The hospital houses 322 patients.

FREE DELIVERY

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

GAY/LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.

ROCK CLIMBING CLUB meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Sharon C. Doll at 3:30 p.m. in Ackert 301. The topic is: "An Investigation of Persistent Viral Infections of the Central Nervous System Using Neuropeptides and Nude

SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT meets at 7 p.m. in Union Little Theatre to hold officer elections and to hear speaker Eric Duvall, a representative from Quaker Oats.

PHI KAPPA PHI meets at 4 p.m. in Union Flint Hills room to honor 116 students into membership.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST meets at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

KAPPA DELTA PI meets at 7:30 p.m. in ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3. Ruth Wefald will be the speaker.

DELTA UPSILON KAPPA meets at 8 p.m. at the Delta Upsilon Kappa house for officer elections.

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 8 p.m. in Union 212.

PRE-VET CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Trotter

Correction

Field House.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMI-

CAL ENGINEERS meets at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120. Dr. Erickson will speak on bioch-

THE DOOR MINISTRIES meets at 7

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK

FRIDAY

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 5

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of William Henry Turlington at 3 p.m. in Call 140. The topic is: "The Effects of Protein, Carbohydrate and Fat Sources on

Nutrient Digestibility of the Early Weaned

ARMY ROTC meets at 6 a.m. in Aheam

p.m. in Shellenberger 110 for a fruitcake bake.

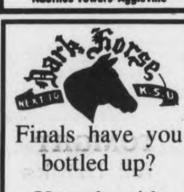

ENGINEERS will not meet as scheduled this emical engineering and graduate school.

p.m. in Union 213.

The meeting place for the Chronic Epstein-Barr Virus Syndrome support group was incorrectly identified in Tuesday's Collegian. The group meets at 7 p.m. the first Wednesday of every month at Memorial Hospital.

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--I Can't Believe It's YOGURT! Frozen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Uncork with

$1.50 Pitchers

CAREERS IN ENGINEERING

Presented By:

Kevin Schoen Plant Engineer Manager—Cedar Rapids

Thursday, December 3, 1987 7:00 PM University Inn at 17th and Anderson

Reception to Follow Immediately

Candidates for degrees in Chemical, Electrical, Mechanical and Agricultural/Food Processing Engineering: Come meet and talk with our Representatives about career opportunities at General Mills in Project Engineering.

Closed Class List

10000 10010 10020 10030 10040 10050 10060 10150 10160 10150 10240 10250 10320 10320 10340 10420 10430 10440 10450 10450 10450 10450 10450 10520 10520 10530 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10550 10570 10580 10570 2247c
22480
22490
22500
22510
22520
22530
22530
22540
22580
22580
22760
22710
22760
23070
23130
23070
23130
23140
23070
23130
23140
23070
23130
23540
23550
23540
23570
23570
23570
23570
23570
23570
23570
23570
23570 109900 109920 109930 109960 109900 110950 110950 111050 111100 11100 13770 13770 13770 13820 13870 13920 13920 13930 13930 14930 14030 14100 14100 14100 14160 14160 14260 14360 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14560 14600 14600 18490 18710 18720 18730 18740 18750 18820 18830 18840 18850 18840 18840 18840 19270 19270 19410 19440 19440 19450 19450 19450 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19580 19640 19730 19840 19730 19840 19850 08090 08090 08100 081100 081100 082100 08280 08380 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08580 08590 23850 23850 23950 23950 24950 24170 24170 24170 24170 24170 24510 24510 24510 24510 24510 24510 24650 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 26600 20210
20220
20220
20220
20220
20240
20310
20310
20430
20440
20450
20450
20450
20560
20450
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560
20560

Student loan defaulters ruin chances for others

K-State may be completely 'cut off'

By Corbin Novotny Collegian Reporter

K-State students who are defaulting on their student loans are hurting those who are applying now, said Brent Stockwell, freshman in elementary education. Stockwell also works as a collector for The Loan Servicing Center/Kansas in Lawrence, which is a subsidiary of one of the largest student loan servicers in the country.

The U.S. Department of Education is trying to get a bill passed which would halt student loans to universities with a default rate higher than 20 percent.

K-State's default rate, according to the DOE, has been figured as 16.8 percent, which is 3.8 percent above the national average.

"If the Department of Education goes through with sending its bill to Congress denying students' financial assistance to schools that go above a 20 percent default rate, then K-State could be cut off," Stockwell said. "16.8 percent isn't too far at all."

"The Department of Education can do whatever they want, and if they see we are over 20 percent, we're out of here. Students might not be able to go to school because of alumni who can't pay back their student loans," he said.

There are precautionary actions students can take to help them from going into default on their loans.

A loan defaults when a bank or servicer doesn't receive a payment after 180 days. After that time, the loan is turned over to a collection agency.

One precaution is informing the bank or servicer of every address change that occurs.

"The banks and servicers are there to help them (students), and they're default the bank or servicer can

50¢ off

All Imports

All Day

THURSDAYS

HOME OF THE AROUND the WORLD

BEER CLUB

Open To Public!

not a collection agency," Stockwell demand the entire amount of the said. "There are a lot of different loan. ways they can help students from going into default."

One way the banks could help would be a deferment program, said Sharon O'Neal, student loan coordinator at Columbia Savings. This would postpone payments while students are in school, unemployed or in the military. Banks can also reduce the payment of the loan for a couple months to just the interest on the

"The Department of Education can do whatever they want, and if they see we are over 20 percent, we're out of here. Students might not be able to go to school because of alumni who can't pay back their student loans." -Brent Stockwell

"The problem is when the people don't contact the bank, then the servicer or bank has the right to go through credit records or department of motor vehicle records - anything they can do to find the borrower," Stockwell said.

When the servicer goes through a credit record, this then puts a mark on the borrower's credit check to show non-payments, he said.

"They (students) need to make some effort to pay before we are willing to help," O'Neal said.

Another way to prevent defaulting is clearly filling out student loan applications and naming three references who would know where you are at all times.

However, if a loan goes into

"After 180 days, the servicer can sit there and say, 'We want all of your money back now," Stockwell said.

"If you ignore the notices that are coming, you can go into demand," he said. "They (the bank or servicer) will demand payment in full with nothing you can do."

Columbia Savings is required to turn a loan over to a servicer when the payment becomes 60 days to 90 days late. After 150 days, Columbia Savings sends out a final demand letter requesting the full payment within 30 days, O'Neal said.

If a student still does not pay, the servicer can turn the loan over to a guarantor who will pay it off. Then the student has 48 hours to contact the guarantor.

After a bank and collection agency have failed to receive any payments on the loan, the person can have money deducted from a tax refund by the IRS, be denied any financial aid, or taken to court.

Columbia Savings has only 5 percent of its loans that are considered problems, O'Neal said.

While still in school, students do not have to pay the loans off. The banks or servicers need to know students are still in school, so they can send the proper forms to fill out.

Another precautionary action is to always read carefully the front and back of everything you sign.

"There's plenty of literature out there to help students," Stockwell

Literature is available in the registrar's office, in the student financial assistance office and at some banks to help students understand loans, and to let them know what's expected of them so they do not go into default.

Crafty painter Diana Hatch, graduate in education, creatively uses her spare time between sales at the annual Arts and Crafts Sale by painting ceramic ornaments. The sale continues today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Three injured in pit bull attack

By The Associated Press

the Union.

TOPEKA - Three people, including an animal-control officer, were injured Tuesday when they were attacked by two pit bull terriers.

Injured were Fawn Valdez, 15, Rhonda Buchanan, 17, and animalcontrol officer Lisa Pinkley, 23, all of Topeka. All three were taken to Stormont-Vail Regional Medical

A hospital spokesman said Valdez underwent surgery for cuts to both legs but was released late Tuesday. Buchanan and Pinkley were treated for bites to their legs, then released.

Another woman, Cynthia Meade, said she was also bitten by the dogs but did not require hospital

The dogs, both wounded by either police or animal-control officers' gunfire, were in quarantine late Tuesday at a Topeka veterinarian's office, police said.

Police said the victims were bitten at 3:24 p.m. Tuesday after the dogs escaped from the home of their owner, Tommy Dorsey.

Dorsey said he kept his dogs inside his house or tied up, but they escaped through a broken window.

Looking for an apartment? Blue Kiver Pub Check Collegian Classifieds Tonight IMPORT SHEER DELIGHT BEER TONIGHT

Well Drinks $ 1 25

Draws 75°

Pitchers $225

FRIDAY FREE HORS

Now Serving

D'OEUVRES

SANDWICHES 616 N. 12th 539-9967

NEBRASKA BACK THIS WEEKEND Located next to Tuttle Creek Dam 537-9877

TOWN EAST CENTER

N MANHATTAN OPEN HOURS: Mon.-Fri. 10 am -9 pm Saturday 10 am - 6:30 pm

Sunday Noon - 5:30 pm FREE LAYAWAYS RETURN & EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES

NEW THIS WEEK

New Paul McCartney

 Mannheim Steamroller Christmas

Country LP's 20% OFF 1204 Moro in Aggieville

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

ashion Company

OPEN HOUSE SAT. & SUN., DEC. 5 & 6

OLIDAY OPEN HOUSE!

sweaters, watches, Rhea jewelry, and hair accessories SCARF TYING SEMINARS

Saturday, 11:00-noon, 4:00-5:00pm Sunday, 2:00-3:00pm FREE MUFFLER SET DRAWING

FREE REFRESHMENTS

holiday hours: Mon.-Thurs.: 10-8:30, Fri. & Sat.: 10-6:00, Sun.: 1-5:00 708 North Manhattan Avenue, Aggieville, 537-0707

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzle Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Avoid emergency loans; complete forms early

"They would give you the money if it wasn't for all the red tape.' That's the basic message the Office of Student Financial Assistance is giving K-State students. Since the third week of the semester, emergency student loans, provided to students to pay tuition or other bills, have been unavailable except for the most extreme emergencies.

After spending the approximately $500,000 in the emergency loan fund, the financial aid office borrowed $400,000 from the KSU Foundation to meet the demand for emergency loans.

While borrowing from the Foundation to provide loans has not been an unusual action for the financial assistance office to take in the past several years, the enormous amount required this year exceeded all expectations.

The greater-than-average demand was caused by the additional documentation required of students filing for financial aid for the first in order.

sas anymore," said a naive, Kansas farmgirl in the famous movie "The Little did Kansans realize that the Dorothy and Toto naivete and the

"Gunsmoke" mentality would become the rest of the nation's impression of the Sunflower state.

seeds, Moralizers and Methodists:

The 20th Century Image of Kansas,"

he says Kansas enjoyed a respect from the nation during the first 20 years of the 20th century. But from

During the last 65 years, he says,

Kansas has built a reputation of being, among other things, puritanical, irrelevant, traditional, unsophisbook to make it obvious that Kansas is not a state taken seriously by most non-Kansans. Just watch any movie

Unfortunately, it did not take a then on, it's been downhill.

ticated and drab.

In Robert Bader's book "Hay-

Wizard of Oz."

'Hick' Kansas jokes

anything but funny

"Toto, I don't think we're in Kan- remark about Kansas will be made or Kansas.

object?"

jokes.

time this year.

Large numbers of students showed up this semester expecting to pick up grant, loan or scholarship checks at the beginning of the semester, only to find none.

Like all those before them who have found the cupboard bare at the financial aid table in Ahearn Field House during registration, these students quickly sought emergency loans. So many, in fact, to bring about the current lack of emergency loan funds.

Students' ability to pay back the loans was further hampered because of the long time it took for their financial aid to arrive. Because of this delay to pay back their emergency loans, the loan fund could not be replenished.

Because the federal government is so distrustful of students applying for financial aid, students would be advised to file early for financial aid.

And to make sure their papers are that one of the characters will represent an ignorant hayseed from which deserves the nation's respect.

People rarely ride horses to work,

chase Indians off their property, visit the outhouse or look in the sky and wonder "What is that there big flying

Kansas is a state with a proud history, and if the citizens don't stand up for its integrity, Kansas will only continue to be the butt of Hollywood's and the nation's tasteless

Next time you hear a Kansas joke, don't laugh; just remember the rest of the nation is laughing at Kansas and learning to believe that what

Hollywood has portrayed is the true

Kansas jokes aren't funny; they're

Kansans know Kansas is a state

Letters

Before the police officer arrived, my wife public relations and image reasons. An atticounter-productive to such a policy. At any rate, when the real police officer arrived I was allowed to explain my side and was asked one question: "Were you in your car?" In response to my affirmative answer, I was allowed to leave having wasted my time, the police officer's time and the time of my correct this situation?

This letter is for your information and a warning for students to beware. On Monday, Oct. 26, at approximately 4:10 p.m., I was parked in front of Anderson Hall in the 30 minute parking zone. I was sitting in my car waiting for my wife who works in the controller's office and who had an appointment with her optometrist that day. Within 10 minutes of my arrival a representative of the KSU Police Department whose duty I assumed was to write parking tickets approached my vehicle, took one look at my student parking "sticker" and informed me that this was not a student parking zone and that I would have to move my car. I tried repeatedly to explain to him that I was not parked there as a student, but as the spouse of a staff member. It was my understanding that the "No Student Parking" sign means that students may not park there while they attend class. The "officer" refused to listen and instead, as I showed no intention of moving, Editor, called on his radio for a regular campus came out of Anderson, yet we were prevented from leaving as the man, who identified himself only as "No. 95," stood purposely behind our car. By this time I was beginning to get steamed. An honest mistake I can understand, but the "better than thou" attitude displayed by No. 95 was despicable. To my understanding the KSU Police Department changed its name from KSU Security and Traffic for tude like that of No. 95 is, I believe, highly wife's optometrist who was kept waiting.

questions. Why was I treated in this manner while sitting in my car harming no one? What does the "No Student Parking" sign really mean? If I had chosen to wait for my wife inside Anderson Hall would I have gotten a parking ticket even though I was parked there for less than 20 minutes? Would I have gotten a ticket if I had removed by student parking "sticker"? If the KSU Police Department is really trying to upgrade its image within the University community, why is an attitude like that shown by No. 95 allowed to exist within the department? What will be done to Beware of waiting will be played in Ahearn. This can be the police officer.

This incident brings to my mind some

Louis Wood senior in accounting Help retain legend

North Carolina has probably been the most consistently awesome basketball team in the history of college basketball. Dean Smith, the North Carolina coach, is considered to be among an elite circle of coaches, known for their skill and coaching talents.

Last year, K-State was scheduled to play this giant of college basketball tradition. There was a problem, however, with the scheduling. It was supposed to be a home game for the 'Cats, but where would this contest take place? As it turned out, the game was played in Kemper Arena, in Kansas City, Mo. -a somewhat more neutral site. Dean Smith had refused to play in Ahearn Field House; he refused to play in what he termed the "snake

The reputation of Ahearn Field House and the reputation of the fans who call it home had stirred up some warning bells in Coach Smith's mind. Instinctively, he had sensed danger.

This is the last year that K-State basketball greatest year that Ahearn has ever known. We've got it all! The team — check out some of these names: Buster Glover, Mitch Richmond, Carlos Diggins, Will Scott, Charles Bledsoe, Steve Henson and Ron Meyer. How about our location in Ahearn with those wonderful bleacher seats built not to sit on, but rather to stand on?

K-State basketball fans don't want to sit down; they want to fight, yell, scream and be a part of the game (not just watch it). K-State fans, this year, have an opportunity no one will ever have again. The signs are right to create something that has yet to be seen — the perfect winning environment. Ahearn can be the death trap that all opposing teams dread. You stand challenged to make Ahearn the "snake pit" once again!

Jim Thorp profession. senior in information systems

Hysterical column

Re: Kirk Caraway's column "U.S. foreign policy truths must be faced, corrected" in the Nov. 23 issue of the Collegian.

Kirk Caraway, in his column about Noam Chomsky and foreign affairs, sounded a bit hysterical. Few can argue about covert operations. They are nasty affairs and people usually die. As to these facts, this K-Stater is not "ignorant," as Kirk enjoyed calling us in his

A strict policy of isolationism could end covert operations. However, the United States followed an isolationist policy after World War I and ended up being attacked and dragged into a much larger war later on.

We basically inherited the role of patroling much of the world from the British. I don't like it very well myself but have yet to hear a trustworthy alternative. Perhaps the paper's editors could try finding some constructive possibilities rather than constantly

Noam Chomsky would not bring true solutions to our problems but would rather bring the Northeast back to its former dominating position over this nation's affairs.

> Scott Hughbanks junior in horticulture

The real facts

Now that we have heard the opinions regarding chiropractic effectiveness, let's get the real facts. Klein and Sobel, an independent, non-biased survey team, researched 492 back pain sufferers from all 50 states. Their findings showed that nine out of 10 people in the survey started seeing an M.D. Only 38 percent however, remained under such care. The rest resolved their problems by seeing a practitioner who was neither a medical doctor nor someone working under the supervision Chiropractors fared well in the survey. In fact, they provided more relief than the orthopedist. More people, however, reported initially seeing an orthopedist rather than any other specialist.

Dr. C. Richard Wolf of the California Workmen's Compensation Bureau conducted a study of 1,000 cases in California. Wolf concluded that while it took 32 days for a medical physician to get the average injured worker back on the job, the chiropractor averaged only 15.6 days (slightly less than half the time) for comparable injuries.

Another study by the Oregon Workmen's Compensation Board showed similar results. Dr. Rolland A. Martin, medical director of the board, found that chiropractors on the average got twice as many injured workers back on the job within a week as medical

Dr. Freitag, an orthopedic surgeon at John F. Kennedy Hospital, was asked why he utilized the services of the chiropractors (who are on staff at JFK) in relationship to back pain. His reply was, "To get the patients better faster." He also stated, "Without fail, patients who receive chiropractic manipulation at JFK get out of the hospital a week sooner than if not treated by a chiropractor."

Chiropractic is a branch of the healing arts specializing in the correction by spinal manual therapy of what chiropractors identify as biomechanical disorders of the spinal column. They carry out spinal diagnosis and therapy at a sophisticated and refined level.

Chiropractors are the only health practitioners who are necessarily equipped by their education and training to carry out spinal manual therapy.

Chiropractic is not a "cure all," but it definitely has its place in the health care

> Michael W. Cortner, D.C. Manhattan resident

Wrongful act

Editor.

If the legislature and the Board of Regents decide to selectively admit students to K-State, they will be contradicting the Morrill Act of 1862. This act, which indicated that higher education should be available to the sons and daughters of farmers and mechanics, established the land-grant colleges as a democratic alternative to the exclusiveness of the private college.

K-State has already proven that an excellent academic record can be maintained under this democratic system (count our Marshall, Rhodes and Truman scholarship winners). Let us hope that our open admissions policy will continue, so we can be at least as progressive as were our mid-19th century policy makers.

Wayne C. Rohrer professor of sociology

Good people

There is always publicity about what this fraternity or sorority did that was bad, or someone had complaints about noise. I am writing to say that there is at least one fraternity house that has done an excellent job of helping to shape some young boys' lives. I am sure there are others, but I was only in contact with one.

The Sigma Chi fraternity sponsored and coached a flag football team this year. The head coach was Scott Turner and he was helped by several young men from the house. They furnished the team with T-shirts, had a picnic at the house and a pizza party after the season was over.

At practice time the coaches took time out for horse play. They taught the boys to work together as a team and to have fun while doing it. They stressed good sportsmanship more than winning. The coaches all appeared to be sensitive to the boys needs, and took time to listen to what they had to say. I personally never heard a coach yell loudly or curse the boys because of a stupid mistake. They always encouraged them and told them several times that they were doing a good job.

Thank you for letting me have my say. I thought someone should be made aware that there are several good people still around.

N.J. Eller Manhattan resident

Letters to the editor pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be type-written or neatly printed and signed by the author. They should not exceed 300

Letters may be brought to Kedzie 116 or mailed to the Collegian.

Asian couple's identity sought in connection

Escaped serious injury

Three people escaped serious injury at 5:52 p.m. Wednesday in a three-car accident eight miles west of Manhattan on U.S. 24. A 1968 Pontiac driven by Chadwick Chebultz, Manhattan, collided head-on with a 1982 Oldsmobile driven by Rebecca Pacha, Marysville, while trying to pass another car not involved. Both Pacha and Terri Fenstermacher, Marysville, were treated and released at The Saint Mary Hospital while Chebultz was admitted for observation. The third car, driven by Uwe Grund, Marysville, was following the Pacha vehicle and slid into the other two cars. Neither Grund nor his wife Linda were injured.

THIS SATURDAY

Free Mug to 1st 200 Customers

PLUS PRIZES FOR

BEST TREE ORNAMENT (nothing breakable please)

BEST COUPLE UNDER THE MISTLETOE (HOTI)

and other crazy competitions

(come in for more details)

GET YOUR PICTURE TAKEN WITH SANTA, BUD MAN & SPUDS MCKENZIE

TONIGHT THE ORIGINAL SDAZES

-ALSO-

4th ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Cover Charge: one canned good

(donations go to Flint Hills Bread Basket)

Letters help students voice needs

By Jackie Wendt Collegian Reporter

Student interest in the needs of higher education resulted in more than 200 letters being sent to Gov. Mike Hayden and the Kansas Legislature.

As part of its work for the Higher Education Rescue Operation program, the Associated Students of Kansas sponsored an information table in the Union which provided information on the issues involved, such as the "Margin of Excellence" plan and selective admissions.

The group also provided letterhead stationery and postage to students who wanted to write letters to Hayden or the Legislature to express concerns about the funding of higher education in Kansas.

"Before Thanksgiving, we had 200 letters written," said Jennifer Leeds, campus director for ASK and junior in political science and economics. "The most important thing these letters said was that students are concerned with higher education,

MUSICAL GARAGE SALE

BOOKS, RECORDS, MUSIC, ETCETERA

Leavengood Courtyard McCain-Music Wing Thursday, December 3

9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Sponsored by Pi Kappa Lambda Honorary students' problems."

ASK sent letters to living groups, various campus organizations and Student Senate urging them to participate in its letter-writing program.

ASK will also be contacting faculty members and graduate students to ask them to participate in the letter campaign, Leeds said.

"We haven't got a lot back from the living groups, but we at least hope to have around 500 letters," she said.

Most of the letters sent from K-State were addressed to Hayden, but some students also wrote to their

There's NO business

like SNOW business like NO business I KNOW ...

704 N. Manhattan Ave.

In Aggieville

539-7654

Open Evenings & Sundays

and they gave personal examples of state legislators, Leeds said.

"Our goal was to try to get the let-Besides the information table, ters to Governor Hayden before he made his budget over Thanksgiving," Leeds said. "Letters were sent to (state) senators and representatives, too, but the only thing the Legislature can do now is to amend the budget, and that is why we needed the most letters before Thanksgiving."

A special allocation from Student Senate for the HERO program paid for the $140 postage of the letters, time, and it's worthwhile," Leeds said.

800 CLAFLIN

Other regents schools are participating in the special letter-writing program. The University of Kansas sent around 1,000 letters, she said.

"We started later (than they did)," Leeds said. "We were supposed to start the second week of November, but KU started a little earlier because it was more convenient."

Staff/Brad Camp

"It's a big problem at KU because they have a higher enrollment, and the Legislature is still sending them "Writing letters doesn't take much the same amount of money," she

By The Associated Press MANAMA, Bahrain - Officials sought the identities Wednesday of an Asian couple who took poison rather than be questioned about a jetliner that may have been bombed. The woman revived for a time, but said nothing. The man died of the poison concealed in the filters of cigarettes in a pack the woman carried. Both carried forged Japanese passports and were detained Tuesday at the Bahrain airport before boarding a flight to Rome via Amman, Jordan.

They flew from Baghdad to Abu Dhabi on the South Korean jetliner, which disappeared Sunday near the Burma-Thailand frontier with 115 people aboard. A search continued Wednesday for the Boeing 707, which South Korean officials believe was destroyed by a terrorist bomb.

In Tokyo, police said they were investigating possible links between the disappearance of Korean Air Flight 858 and a 1985 North Korean spy ring case in Japan.

Takao Natsume, Japan's acting ambassador to Bahrain, said the woman regained consciousness for about two hours before noon Wednesday but slipped back into "an aggravated condition" without entry visas.

with missing airliner

Since then there had been "no sign of progress in her condition," which he described as "very serious," Natsume told a news conference.

Neither Japanese nor South Korean officials were admitted to the military hospital where she was under guard. Bahrain security officials, however, allowed Japanese diplomats to obtain pictures and fingerprints of the woman and her male companion, who apparently were traveling as father and daughter.

Their false passports identified the man as Shinichi Hachiya, 69, and the woman as Mayumi Hachiya, 27, both of Okayama, Japan. The real Shinichi Hachiya was found later in Tokyo, where he works for a computer company.

Available evidence indicated the two were members of the Korean community in Japan and possibly connected with groups sympathetic to communist North Korea.

Authorities in this Persian Gulf sheikdom put a lid on information about the case. Japanese sources said some Japanese travelers, including businessmen and journalists, were being denied the customary 72-hour

KIWANIS PANCAKE FEED

Sat., December 5th Community House at 4th & Humboldt 7 a.m.-4 p.m.

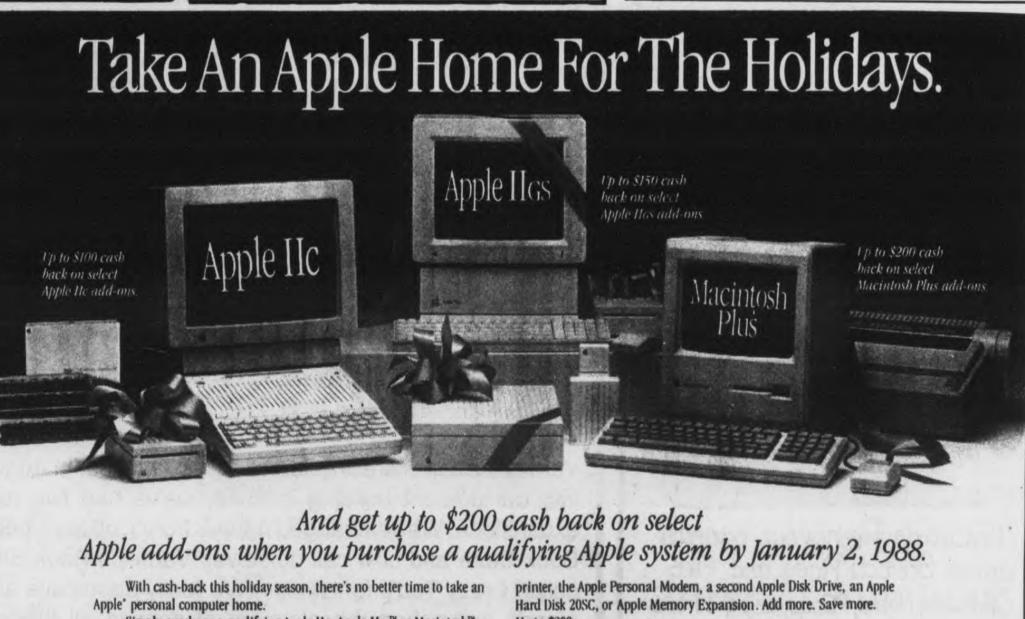

Holiday Gift Book Sale 30-50% OFF

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

Topics include children's books, cookbooks, bestsellers, art, architecture. history, reference, sports, nature, picture books, and more!

9-9 Mon.-Sat. Noon-5 Sun.

539-9619

Simply purchase a qualifying Apple IIc, Apple IIcs™ or Macintosh™ Plus system. Buy select Apple add-ons—and get up to $200 cash back. Choose the Apple add-ons that best fit your needs: the ImageWriter* II Up to $200.

Which means you can take home a complete Apple system, right away. All at a price that's easy to afford.

formerly Computer Patch

1115 Westloop * 539-0801

Certain restrictions apply. See us for details. Offer subject to availability of product. Apple expressly reserves the right to substitute and delete add-on products.

8) 1987 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logs and Image/Kriter are registered trademarks of Apple Computer. Inc. Apple 16s and Macintude are trademarks of Apple Computer. Inc.

Soviets violate treaty,

By Jill Conger Collegian Reporter

Student Senate will wrap up its semester with tonight's meeting at 7 in the Union Big Eight Room.

Senators will hear the first reading of a bill concerning the 1988 Student Senate Standing Rules. This bill outlines the rules and procedures to be followed during each Senate meeting. It also explains the privileges of the six standing committees.

Doug Folk, Student Senate chairman and junior in electrical engineering, said the bill has only one change, which deals with the speaking privileges for members of the finance committee.

"In the past, the finance committee had speaking privileges throughout the year on any issue," Folk said. "The intent of the change is that the committee members are to talk freely on allocations and to just have speaking privileges during the final allocation process. Otherwise, if the members want to speak on any other issue during a Senate meeting, they will have to have another senator buy them time in order for them to speak," Folk said.

In old business, Senate will be electing a new Faculty Senate repnominated for the position. They are Todd Johnson, sophomore in agronomy, and Cindy Riemann, freshman in biochemistry.

"Faculty Senate representative is an important position because the representative is the person who informs Senate about what is going on with the Faculty Senate," Folk said. "They are the communication link."

Folk explained the Senate meeting will also include an orientation for new senators about the upcoming

Senators will be submitting three resentative. Two senators have been preferences for an office hour and their choices for the standing committees they want to serve on throughout the year, Folk said. Senators may also request a University committee or apply to serve as the chairperson of any standing

> Folk said positions are also open on the Cabinet Interview Selection Committee, which is responsible for interviewing the student body president's appointees for attorney general and chief of staff. The committee will provide recommendations to Student Senate.

Reagan charges

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan accused the Soviet Union Wednesday of flouting a 1972 arms control treaty by shifting two radar installations to the vicinity of Moscow and Kiev and probably carrying out illegal anti-missile tests.

A report - submitted to Congress just five days before the arrival of Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev for a summit meeting and treaty signing - made serious new charges that the Kremlin had violated the Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty.

The report said that in addition to shifting the two radar installations, the Soviets had improved a challenged radar at Krasnoyarsk and may be preparing an anti-ballistic missile defense of the country in violation of

"I am confident the Congress fully shares my concern about Soviet noncompliance," President Reagan said in a letter accompanying the report.

Earlier in the day, reporters asked Reagan how he could ask the Senate to ratify a new treaty at the same time he is accusing the Russians of violating an old one.

by that, he added, "on the part of us who are talking to each other." White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater was asked to explain a tough tone in Reagan's recent speeches. He said it was appropriate to "a summit between old enemies."

"I am confident the Congress fully shares my concern about Soviet noncompliance." -President Reagan

"The speeches that the president has made and his comments concerning arms control and dealing with the Soviets is entirely devised to set a climate that we think is appropriate for the summit," Fitzwater said.

Meantime, a dispute over an exchange of weapons data was eased as the two sides pushed ahead for the start of the third Reagan-Gorbachev demanded by the U.S. side, U.S. officials here said. The two sides still intend to exchange charts and diagrams "and we do not anticipate any problems," said one of the officials, who demanded anonymity.

Gorbachev is to arrive Monday afternoon, see Reagan on Tuesday

Charles E. Redman, the State Department spokesman, said earlier the United States was witholding data from the Soviets pending Moscow's move. But Redman, correcting himself, said later the American information actually was turned

The report was the latest in a series of assessments of Soviet adherence to existing accords. Referring to previous accusations, Reagan said "the Soviet Union to date has not corrected its noncompliance activities."

The Soviets promptly denied the latest charges.

"We have invited the American side to send observers to the region so that they can see for themselves that we are not breaking the ABM treaty," Albert Vlasov, a spokesman for the Soviet Central Committee, told a Washington news conference.

Pressed to explain what he meant turned over all the information central Soviet Union, and were moved to an electronics plant in Gomel, near Kiev, and to the Moscow region this year.

The new construction at Krasnoyarsk and the relocation of the radars outside a permitted deployment area "are violations of the ABM treaty," the report said.

On Krasnoyarsk, which many critics of Reagan agree is a violation, the report said "the Soviets have sought recently to convey the impression that they are addressing our concerns in a responsible fashion."

Actually, the report said, the Soviets "have not taken any actions which in fact redress our concerns regarding their possibile preparation of a territorial defense.

Reagan, in his letter, said the Gomel violation could be quickly corrected by Moscow "if it so chooses." He added: "We are urging them to take the actions needed to do Seminar discusses aiming goals high, stress management

By Linda Huddleston Collegian Reporter

Succeeding in a career and in family relationships demands time, energy and attention, said Virginia Moxley, associate dean for academic affairs of the College of Human Ecology.

Moxley was the featured speaker at the second seminar of the Sixth Annual 1987 Professional Development Seminar Series Dec. 2 at the University

"It's important for each person to develop their own method of managing the stress associated with being successful in both work and family life," she said. "We need to aim for things within our reach and learn to be happy with a less- than-perfect life."

People need to accept stress as an inherent part of life and learn ways to deal with it, Moxley said.

"People who strive for perfection spend most of their time saying 'Am I doing this right?' Instead of saying, 'Am I doing the right thing?'" Moxley said. "In human endeavors, perfection isn't possible on any grand scale, so it is important to aim for things within your reach."

When people are under stress, they only see the problem directly ahead of them, instead of the goal they're working for, Moxley said. For this reason, it is important for people to concentrate on their goal, and relieve pressure by delegating responsibilities to others at home and work.

"Our goal should not be to eliminate all stress and assume all the responsibilities of the task ahead. But, ask for help from others and keep stress at a level we can deal with," Moxley said.

"A great deal of stress we all experience is self-imposed. The goals we set for ourselves provide us with stress, and that stress is caused by the difference between our level of accomplishments, and our level of aspirations," she said.

Moxley said all stress, whether too low, optimum or too high, can be managed by expanding stress tolerance. Eating a nutritionally balanced and calorically appropriate diet, exercising regularly and balancing work and rest to restore energy are the crucial steps to increasing stress tolerance.

Lynda Spire, coordinator of the event, said stress management skills are essential, and the topic interests many professionals with

"This presentation is especially timely and appropriate with the holiday season rapidly approaching," Spire said. "The topic was well received by the audience."

Save $5.00 on the cost of a student ticket to

Present this voucher with your K-State student ID at the McCain Box Office and save $5 on any available seat.

Conditions: One student ticket per voucher. Offer good only for full-time K-State students. Voucher not redeemable for cash. Offer expires Friday, December 4, 1987.

The Canadian Brass Sunday, December 6, 1987 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

1/2 PRICE SALE ONE DAY ONLY!!!

Thursday, Dec. 3

Every Apparel Item in the Store is now 1/2 its original price*

SHOP NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

*excludes accessories

331 Poyntz

DOWNTOWN

M-F 10-8 Sat. 10-6 Sun. 1-5

Featuring freshly cut Kansas grown Scotch Pines, and Firs (Frazier, Noble, & Douglas) & Pines From up North. 2ft. to 10ft. tall! Individually staked for easy viewing.

east of Manhattan on Hung 24 . West Ft. Riley Blud.

VARNEY'S 71st ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

10% off everything in the store excluding textbooks

> On Thursday, Dec. 3rd 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Varney's Book Store is celebrating it's 71st year in Aggieville. Since moving into our present building in 1916, we've had two remodelings and two expansions. We've changed names from College Book Store to University Book Store and now call ourselves Varney's Book Store. (We were even called Crazy Ted's for awhile.) We really appreciate all the customers and friends we've had the pleasure of serving all these years.

Ted Varney Jon Levin Dan Walter Barb Hinkin Ruth Ridder

InFocus Thursday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 3, 1987 ■ Page 7

Rick Berry, owner of Ashes Away Chimney Cleaners, uses a wire brush to clean a chimney.

A Clean Sweep

A profession that brings luck

"Chim chiminey, chim chiminey, chim chim cheree, a chimney sweep's lucky as lucky can be!"

This song, once sang high above the rooftops by men dressed in top hats and tails, depicted the life of a chimney sweep in England.

Chimney sweeping became a regular profession in Europe in the 1500s. Since then, chimney sweeps have been symbols of good luck.

The traditional outfit for a chimney sweep was a top hat and black tailcoat. Most sweeps received the clothes secondhand from undertakers. Some said they wore the formal outfit to appear dignified, while others claimed the black coat was worn because it didn't show the soot from a day's work.

Although not all of the "sweeps" were treated with respect in every country, many felt they were a symbol of good luck.

Climbing chimneys and rooftops was dangerous work, yet most sweeps survived their perilous adventures.

Many people were astounded at the sweeps' cheerful attitude.

Many superstitious beliefs have developed along with the chimney sweep legend.

It is considered good luck for a sweep to kiss a new bride and shake THE CANADI Stock of moorg out

Bowing three times to a sweep is also said to bring good fortune. Both stories originated in Europe after a sweep escaped from a dangerous situation without injury. According to the book "Chimney Sweeps: Yesterday and Today," by James Cross Giblin, chimneys became harder to clean after they were added to buildings of several stories. Home owners could no longer reach up the chimney shaft, or flue, and brush the soot away. It became quite a challenge to scale the inside of a chimney with a brush in hand, fireplace. so a daring new worker entered the scene: a chimney sweep.

Traditionally, small boys were used to clean the chimneys because they could fit in small, narrow flues. Conditions were harsh for these children, who usually worked under a master from before sunrise to after sundown. Many died from breathing in the soot, and others suffocated after being trapped in flues.

A turning point in the profession occured in 1875 when the English Parliament established strict regulations for the licensing of chimney sweeps. Young boys were eliminated from the profession as masters had to register all their sweeps with the city.

During the 1600s and the 1700s, farmers in the American colonies often used live geese to clean their chimneys. The flapping of their wings cleaned the shaft. As the cities in America grew, so did the demand for sweeps.

During the 20th century, the number of professional sweeps declined as more homes were heated with fuel oil and natural gas. The energy crisis of the 1970s caused many people to return to heating their homes with coal and wood-burning stoves and

Today, about 75 percent of homes being constructed have chimneys, said Rick Berry, owner of Ashes Away Chimney Cleaners. This is his second year in the business, and he cleans anywhere from five to nine chimneys a week.

Berry said he cleans three types of chimneys: a normal fireplace, a wood stove, and a fireplace insert.

Inserts are old fireplaces that have been converted to wood stoves, he said, adding that these types take the longest to clean because they are built into the

Berry's basic equipment consists of wire brushes, extension rods, a specialized vacuum, and a plastic

The vacuum is set up inside the house on top of the plastic sheet. The vacuum catches most of the soot and creosote that is scraped from the insides of the chimney and falls down the shaft.

A wire brush, which fits the size of the shaft perfectly, is lowered into the chimney shaft. Extension rods enable Berry to stand on the roof and clean the chimney from top to bottom.

Most people call a chimney sweep because they just don't want to deal with cleaning their chimneys themselves, he said.

"I have the right equipment, and it's a dirty job," Berry said. Fall and winter are a sweep's two busiest times of the year.

"Nobody thinks about having their chimney cleaned until one of their neighbors has a chimney fire," said Dan Boeding, an associate of Berry's. "Then the whole neighborhood calls for help."

Berry recommended that all fireplaces be cleaned at least once a year to reduce the chance of fire.

Chimney sweeps often find unexpected objects when opening a damper that has been closed all summer. Birds and squirrels can get caught in the shaft.

"I don't really like those kinds of things," Berry said. "I watch it when I open the damper."

Cleaning chimneys is something he likes to do in his spare time. The initial investment wasn't that bad, Berry said, adding that the liability insurance is much worse.

"My insurance doubled last year although I had no problems (while chimney cleaning)," he said.

Berry makes a visual inspection of the chimney before cleaning it.

With the onset of winter and the expectations of Santa Claus making his way down the chimney, Berry finds the Christmas season a busy time of the year for chimney cleaning. Here, Berry vacuums ashes from the fireplace at the Bill Marks residence.

Story by Karen Allen

Photos by Steve Rasmussen

fficials recommend chimney cleaning

The Manhattan Fire Department 1s to refrain from burning green recommends a biannual chimney cleaning for frequently used fireplaces and an annual cleaning for less-used fireplaces.

"For those who heat their house with a wood stove, we recommend a cleaning twice during the heating season," said Larry Wesche, Manhattan fire marshal. The key secret to a safe fireplace a fireplace:

wood, he said.

"Green wood burns off more creosote (a wood preservative)," Wesche said. "Seasoned wood gives off less. Creosote buildup is the main problem (in the case of chimney fires)."

Wesche offered these safety tips to remember when burning wood in Keep a fire extinguisher handy at all times. Call the Fire Department if you have a problem.

If the chimney does catch fire, shut off all air to the fireplace. Don't put water on the fire. The steam will crack the chimney.

Place a smoke detector in your home. Unfortunately, most people will until they hear it. "It sounds like a train coming through your house - a big roar," not know their chimney is on fire

Wesche urged everyone who wasn't sure whether their chimney had caught fire to call the Fire Department immediately. "We'll come out and check it out," he said.

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Attorney General Robert T. Stephan said in an opinion released today that the Health Care Commission has the authority to establish participation charges for health insurance for state employees.

Sen. Michael Johnston, D-Parsons, sought the attorney general's opinion on the state's new health insurance benefits plan. The senator questioned whether the participation charge could be based on the state employee's income level, as called for by the new contract. The contract, with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas, is effective Jan. 1, 1988.

Johnston also sought Stephan's opinion on whether smokers can be charged an additional $10 a month, with the money going toward "wellness programs."

Stephan, in his nonbinding opinion, said these provisions in the contract were in keeping with the law.

"The statutes granting authority to Kansas state employees Health Care Commission to establish employee participation charges do not limit the commission's discretion in establishing such charges," Stephan said.

"Further, the distinctions drawn between higher and lower income employees and smokers and nonsmokers do not rise to the level of equal protection," the attorney general added.

He also said: "We believe moneys generated by the smoking surcharge should be used to benefit smokers is some way. The mere incentive to stop smoking may be sufficent benefit, but it is hoped that smoking cessation programs and overall health cost reduction will be targets of these

Stephan also said expenditures of revenues collected by the tobacco surcharge are subject to legislative appropriations acts.

The new plan has prompted protests because of the increase in premiums, including an increase of at least 9.5 percent.

Hayden recalls Vietnam challenge

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURG - Mike Hayden has grown used to political skirmishes in the year he's been in office as governor of Kansas, but on Tuesday he recalled a time when skirmishes meant death on muddy jungle

Hayden told a history class at Pittsburg State University that lessons he learned as a platoon leader in Vietnam have helped him become a leader in civilian life.

"I consider the Vietnam War to be one of the greatest experiences of my life," he said. "It's an experience that I wouldn't trade for anything, but I hope and pray that no one has to go through it again."

to the rank of captain. He said that as he flew into Vietnam for the first time, he noticed shell holes.

the ground was pock-marked with "When we landed, it was 105 in

Hayden was drafted into the Army soon after graduating from Kansas State University. He served in Vietnam in 1969 and 1970, and rose the shade," he told the students. "The heat and humidity were staggering." During his first night in Vietnam, he mistook flashes from artillery fire for lightning. Hayden said he was assigned to a unit engaged in heavy combat along the Cambodian border. Soon after arriving, his platoon was ambushed on a jungle trail.

The ambush taught him to never use trails, he said. Instead, he ordered his men on subsequent patrols to travel through dense foliage.

"Until you've been to the jungle, it's virtually impossible to envision what it's like," he said. "It makes a very difficult environment in which to conduct war operations."

Hayden said many soldiers wrote slogans on their helmet liners. One, he said, expressed a sentiment many American soldiers shared.

The liner said, "We the unwilling led by the unknowing are doing the impossible for the ungrateful."

"The American soldier was caught between his country and what he knew should be done," he said. "We had the feeling that we either ought to win the war or get out." Hayden said he knew why he was in Vietnam.

"I was fighting for my friends and family and this country to protect our freedom," the Republican governor said, adding that Vietnam veterans are "every bit" as patriotic as American soldiers who fought in the Revolutionary War.

Hayden said he values his Vietnam War experience.

"There is no experience like knowing you might die ... There is no doubt in my mind that had I not gone through it, I would not have served in the Legislature and I certainly would not have been governor."

Hayden was elected governor in November, 1986.

Questions will be answered about loans

By The Collegian Staff

Students will have a chance to talk to financial aid representatives to ask questions and to receive applications for federal loans today and Friday in the Union.

The Office of Student Financial Assistance will have a table set up from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. staffed by representatives from the office to answer any questions students have about financial aid, said Larry Viterna, director of student financial

They will also be distributing family financial statement applications. To be considered for federal financial aid, all students must fill out this application," Viterna said.

He said students must fill out this application each year regardless of whether they have previously applied for financial aid.

Students are advised to fill out the application carefully and correctly the first time "to avoid any delay in the processing of the application," he

Viterna recommends students apply for financial aid after the first of January and no later than March

"The longer the student waits, the less money there will be to give out," Viterna said.

The distribution of money is limited, and priority is given to the students who apply the earliest, he said.

Christmas Fruitcakes

2 lb. loaf form in decorative pan. Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Fruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

EXAM-CRAM Runza Care Package

Take a study break...take your favorite mate...and take off to Runza for food that's great!!

- · 2 freshly ground,
- quarter-pound hamburgers 2 tasty-great, home-baked
- Mini Runza sandwiches • 1 order of homemade
- onion rings 1 order of golden
- french fries

• 2 large soft drinks All for just ...

You save ... $2.66

NOW 2 LOCATIONS!!

Town Center Mall Aggieville 1101 Moro Picnic Place Coupon expires: Dec. 31, 1987 Come on and get a taste

$24,000 FOR COLLEGE

NAVY OFFICER

Baccalaureate Degree Completion Program (BDCP)

Benefits-

- *$20,000 Annual Starting Salary *Supervisory Positions
- *Opportunity for Advancement *Free Medical and Dental Care *30 Days Paid Vacation Yearly

To Qualify-*College Junior *U.S. citizen in good physical condition *Age 18 to 25 APPLY NOW!

OFFICER REPRESENTATIVES WILL BE ON CAMPUS DECEMBER 9-10, 1987. CONTACT PLACEMENT OFFICE FOR APPOINTMENT.

800-821-5110

LATE NIGHT

Campus Crusade FINALS: THE STRESSED OUT STUDENT

Everything you ever wanted to know about stress (well, almost) and more . . .

TONIGHT 10 p.m.
Alpha Chi Omega Sorority

1835 Todd Rd.

Sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ

APPE 'TEASERS'

Like to tease your appetite before dinner arrives? PINATA is the place! We offer 'teasers' of fresh Guacamole Dip, several varieties of Nachos, and our spicy Chili Con Queso with plenty of tortilla chips to dip. Or try our new appe 'teasers', Three Cheese Nachos!, served with guacamole, sour cream, & fresh

Come on in & let us 'tease' you, too!

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation!

WFFK A KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE

$29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a giff to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzle Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

$5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

Preparing for emergency

Danger to residents smoke, not fire

By Chuck Horner Collegian Reporter

Fire protection for K-State is provided by the Manhattan Fire Department under a 1984 agreement.

The agreement provided six acres of the University's land at the corner of Denison and Kimball avenues for lease to the city for a fire station site, and it disbanded K-State's fire fighting unit and initiated a contract for Manhattan to provide fire protection to K-State in return for money.

In fiscal year 1987, K-State paid the city of Manhattan $71,000 for fire protection, said Manhattan Fire Chief Bill Smith.

Under the terms of the agreement, state fire marshals inspect K-State buildings and facilities, and the Manhattan Fire Department is responsible to fight the fires, said John Lambert, K-State's Director of Public Safety.

K-State has about five to 10 small fires per year, most of which are extinguished almost immediately by the occupants of the buildings, Lam-

Smith, who has been a firefighter for 30 years and the fire chief since how fires can be fought on campus. The location of parking, weather and ground conditions all affect how close to the building the department's ladder truck can get.

Under ideal conditions the Manhattan Fire Department ladder truck can extend upward 70 feet. The seventh floors of Haymaker, Moore and Ford halls are about 84 feet up. The eighth and ninth floors of these halls are, of course, even higher.

"Although the truck's ladder can actually extend 75 feet, we use 70 feet for a planning figure, taking into account the need for some angle on the ladder and the truck's proximity to the building," Smith said.

The farther away from the building the truck has to be parked, the more the maximum height is diminished, he said.

Manhattan's Uniform Building Code has no provision prohibiting construction of buildings higher than the limits of the fire department's ladder truck, as evidenced by the 12-story-high senior citizen's resi-Humboldt streets, Smith said.

1974, said many factors contribute to reach 110 to 120 feet would cost fire. $500,000 to $600,000, he said.

A limited evacuation exercise to determine the feasibility of rooftop evacuation from residence halls was conducted in 1984 in the Derby Complex, with the assistance of U.S. Army helicopters from Fort Riley.

However, no formal agreement exists between Manhattan or K-State and the U.S. Army for the use of helicopters to effect rooftop evacuation, K-State is not subject to Manhattan building and fire codes, but it is subject to state codes, which K-State meets, Lambert said.

Markley said results of the state fire marshal's inspections are not shared with the Manhattan Fire Department, and to his knowledge, Manhattan has not asked for copies of the inspection results.

Under the 1984 agreement, the Manhattan Fire Department is not responsible for the following on the K-State campus:

Fire inspections.

Responding to hazardous dence on the corner of Fifth and chemical spills when there is no fire. Coordinating to have buildings

An aerial ladder truck that could razed that have been destroyed by Testing fire alarm systems. Reviewing construction and renovation plans for compliance with fire codes.

Inspection of steam pipes and sprinkler systems.

Smith said Manhattan fire crews are routinely familiarized with K-State buildings' physical layout by means of actual visits.

Extensive inspections of offcampus fraternity and sorority houses were performed by the Manhattan Fire Department after the fire at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house at the University of Kansas last spring, Smith said.

Follow-up inspections at the houses revealed about a 90 percent compliance with the codes and correction of the problems identified by the inspections, he said.

"I would hope that fire drills are being conducted routinely in the residence halls. Young people have a tendency not to get excited enough about fire alarms. If the alarm goes off people have to get out, not using the elevators or playing around," campus protection

By Chuck Homer Collegian Reporter

Under ideal conditions the Manhattan Fire Department ladder truck can extend upward 70 feet. The seventh floors of Haymaker, Moore and Ford halls are about 84 feet up not to mention the eighth and ninth floors of these halls.

Any danger of being burned while awaiting evacuation from these buildings is overshadowed by the danger of being overcome by smoke or the inhalation of toxic fumes, said Manhattan Fire Chief Bill Smith.

"The majority of casualties from fires occur in residences, and most fatalities result from the inhalation of smoke or toxic fumes," said Larry Reese, Manhattan Deputy Fire Chief.

Thomas Frith, director of the Kbelieves the danger of being trapped Fently in forces Smith said:

94134 HDFS 708

Coping with Life Crises

incing English as a Second Language on the upper floors of a residence hall is remote.

"The real danger lies in the inhalation of smoke and toxic fumes," he

Frith said the key to the survival of the halls' residents in case of a fire is based on the construction of the buildings, which include such features as multiple stairwells for escape routes, fire doors and the use of noncombustible construction materials.

Smith said people seeking refuge in the stairwells will be subjected to smoke and toxic fumes because no smoke dampers or ventilator systems exist in buildings constructed before such requirements existed. This includes Haymaker, Moore and

Buildings in this category are said to be "grandfathered," and do not State Department of Housing, said he have to meet every code that is cur-

"The majority of casualties from fires occur in residences, and most fatalities result from the inhalation of smoke or toxic fumes."

-Larry Reese

In the interest of enhanced fire safety, smoke detectors either have been installed or are being installed in all residence hall rooms, said Gene Wiley, supervisor in the housing department. The installations are complete with the exception of Goodnow and Marlatt halls.

Work is scheduled to resume on Goodnow after the first of the year, people to ensure any problem areas and both Marlatt and Goodnow we identify are corrected," Markley should be completed by the begin- said.

ning of the next school year, said Gene Tebbutt, supervisor in the Department of Housing.

K-State buildings are inspected annually by members of the state fire marshal's office, said John Lambert, director of public safety.

"The No. 1 focus of our inspections is the safety of people," said Paul Markley, chief of the prevention division in the state fire marshal's office.

'We concentrate our inspections on proper exiting, early warning systems and emergency lighting.

"There are only eight state fire inspectors to cover the entire state, so the time that can be devoted to each location is limited," he said.

'We rely on the administration of the institution and the public safety

Tree retriever

Jeff Bissey, freshman in finance, climbs toward a football that had lodged between branches in a tree Wednesday afternoon.

WINTER INTERSESSION Intersession registration is December 7-9, 1987 in the Farrell Library Basement, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Beginning

December 10 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 317 Umberger Hall, from 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. Phone or mail registrations will be accepted after December 7, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 317 Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506. Tuition is $43 per undergraduate credit and $62 per graduate credit and is due at the time of registration. The maximum credit allowed is three hours per student.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 317

Umberger Hall. TIMES CREDIT INSTRUCTOR REF. # COURSE # COURSE TITLE 1/2-1/12 8:30-NOON Bluemont 107 2UG/G Floyd Smith AGRON 615 Sustaining Agriculture 12/26-1/14 8am-5pm GENAG 505 Comparative Agriculture: Tour Clenton Owensby Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii Seaton 106K&M 1/2-1/10 8am-1pm ENVD 299 Architectural and Interior Delineation L. Pavlides 12/22-1/12 1-6pm Greece 3UG/G ENVD 699 Arch. Planning in Greece Seaton 308 9am-3pm 1/2-1/12 Chip Winslow LAR 741 Golf Course Design Denison 222 2UG/G Thomas Daniels 1/4-1/12 PLAN 590 Community Economic Development Denison 222 Thomas Daniels 1/4-1/12 1-5pm PLAN 815 Computer Applications in Planning and Design C.A. Keithly 1/4-1/8 Seaton 252/219 2UG/G PLAN 630 Mark Lapping 1/4-1/12 8am-NOON Seaton 221 PLAN 590 Rural Planning in the 3rd World 2UG/G Mark Lapping Diane Dollar 8am-NOON 1/4-1/12 Seaton 221 PLAN 815 Rural Planning in the 3rd World 12/26-1/10 9am-5pm England 2UG ART 300 Art/London 1/2-1/12 9am-NOON & CMPSC 110 Intro to Personal Computing C. Yerrapragada 1-2:45pm Nichols 122 Nichols 127 1/4-1/12 "C" Programming Language Karen Brewer 8-11:15am CMPSC 490 Literary Britain G.W. Clift 12/26-1/10 varied 94113 ENGL 395 Charles Walters 1/4-1/12 8am-NOON Thompson 101 GEOL 310 Roadside Kansas 94115 HIST 533 A History of Conservative Religion and Right-Wing Politics in Twentieth Century America 9am-NOON Denison 216 2UG/G Robert Linder 1/2-1/12 Kedzie 105 1/4-1/11 9am-5pm 94116 JMC 690 Advanced Desktop Publishing Charles Pearce Contemporary Public Relations 2UG/G Shirley Ramsey 1/2-1/12 6-10pm Calvin 208 94117 JMC 740 8am-NOON 1/4-1/8 Bluemont 113 1UG Lyle Dixon MATH 499 History of Musical Instruments Mary Lee Cochran 9am-NOON 1/2-1/12 McCain 105 MUSIC 310 1/2-1/12 1-4pm McCain 135 Frank Sidorfsky MUSIC 390 Beginning Recorder Playing MUSIC 424 Alfred Cochran 1-4pm McCain 105 Jazz in Kansas City and the SW 1/2-1/12 1-5pm Denison 120 Topics and Issues of Terrorism 1-2UG Manjur Karim SOCIO 301 1/4-1/12 94125 SOCWK 610 Salina James Ward 1/4-1/8 Chemical Dependence/Codepende Therapeutic Intervention Process 8:30-11:30am Denison 124 1UG/G 1/4-1/8 STAT 708 Use of Statistical Computer Packages in Data Kenneth Kemp 94127 MANGT 498 Computer Concepts and Applications 94135 MANGT 498 Business Start-Up for the Profession 1/2-1/12 8am-12:30pm Calvin 010 Linda Innes 1/5-1/7 9am-NOON & Business Start-Up for the Professional 1UG Frederick Rice Calvin 201 1-3G Margery Neely Counseling Black Students 1/7-8,11-12 5-9:30pm EDAF 892 Bluemont 341-D EDAO 842 Curriculum in Agriculture II John Parmley 12/21-1/12 1-5pm Bluemont 343 EDCI 051 Study Skills Laboratory Charles Heeman 1/2-1/12 8:30-11:30am Bluemont 116 Teacher Assistant Program EDCI 502 Jackson Byars 1/4-1/12 8am-4pm KS Schools 1/4-1/12 EDCI 502 Education Field Experience Ray Kurtz 8am-4:30pm KS Schools Bernard Rueschhoff/ 12/27-1/10 CT 650 Study Tour: Brussels, Paris, and London 8am-5pm Bettie Minshall Photography, A Visual Communicant in Design 2UG Robert Habiger 1/4-1/12 Justin 347 94133 ID 499 1-5pm Bluemont 108

2UG/G

CREDIT

David Balk

Sharon Reagan

1/4-1/12

1/4,7,8,30 9am-7pm

8am-NOON

Fairchild 204

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

at Kansas State University.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:Calendar year (2:Academic year (3:One semester (16:Summer session (2 weeks), $35 weeks), $20	$40
Fill out the form below an to: Student Publications; Manhattan, Kan. 66506.	nd send it, along with
Send to:	Carrie Land
Street or Box No.:	ACCEPTANCE OF THE PARTY OF THE
City	State:	Zip:
Oity.
Date Purchased:	Date to Sta	art:
A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR
Date Purchased:

By:

Summer

Spring.

Amount Received $

Priest appeals to Cubans

Major obstacle in talks not revealed

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA - Cuban inmates holding 89 hostages met with a lawyer Wednesday to discuss matters raised in talks to end the standoff and heard a taped appeal from a Cuban-born bishop credited with ending a Louisiana uprising.

Auxiliary Bishop Agustin Roman of Miami's Roman Catholic Archdiocese said he told the inmates: "Be very charitable with all the hostages because every person is our brother. I wish the situation would finish well, honorable. ... Don't ask more than the law permits."

Also on Wednesday, six inmates met with Gary Leshaw of the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, who has represented some of them. Leshaw said afterward there was one major obstacle to a settlement, but he refused to disclose the issue.

The tape of Roman was played in Spanish over the penitentiary's public address system to the estimated 1,100 Cuban inmates holding the

An appeal from Roman to surrender was credited with ending an eight-day siege at the federal prison in Oakdale, La. About 1,000 inmates there freed their 26 hostages Sunday.

Roman said he will travel to the prison, probably today, "as a brother, not a negotiator." He told Miami television station WPLG that he anticipated an end to the 10-day crisis by the time he arrived and hoped to "celebrate with my brothers."

Earlier, the Rev. Francisco Santana, archdiocese spokesman for Hispanic affairs, charged that federal negotiators were standing in the way of mediation by Roman and a quick end to the crisis prompted by inmate fears of deportation.

But U.S. Justice Department spokesman Patrick Korten said Roman has not asked to be part of the negotiating team.

Leshaw, after meeting with the inmate leaders, said he was "not there to negotiate. I was there to answer questions for the detainees."

"I think there is one major stumbling block," Leshaw said. "I think if we could get that issue, we have a real good chance for a settlement.

"I don't want to get tremendously optimistic or tremendously pessimistic. We've been at this for eight or nine days and we're still here."

No talks between federal officials and inmate representatives were scheduled, Korten said.

The group negotiating on behalf of the inmates grew from four to six Wednesday, which Korten interpreted as a sign that "the negotiating team is fairly fully representative of those inside.

Prison officials said earlier that a group of at least 100 dissident inmates has prevented efforts by other prisoners to reach a settlement.

"It appears there is a sincere desire inside to move toward a settlement of this incident, although it is important to understand that such a settlement is not imminent and there is no way to predict how long it will take," Korten said.

Many of the inmates appeared in a festive mood Wednesday. About 75 climbed to the roof of a hospital annex building and put up a 6-foot Christmas tree with red and silver

One inmate carried a cardboard Santa Claus, waving its movable arms at the wives and children of inmates who lined the street across from the prison. On Tuesday night, inmates released hostage Abdul-Saboor

Rushdan, 36, a senior corrections officer at the prison, taken over Nov. Korten said Wednesday the 89 hostages appeared well. At the government's request, inmates photographed most hostages and promised to take pictures of the others soon.

Administration quizzes Kennedy little on issues

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The Justice Department said Wednesday that Supreme Court nominee Anthony M. Kennedy was given no litmus test to determine how he would vote on controversial issues likely to come before the high court.

Prior to the selection of Kennedy to fill the court's vacant seat, neither the president nor other officials asked Kennedy his views on "any case, issue or subject" that could be decided by the justices, the department said.

The department made the comments in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which had requested documents on any communications between Kennedy and administration officials. Assistant Attorney General John R. Bolton acknowledged the department has informal lists of questions that may have been asked Kennedy, but did not make clear whether they would be given to the panel.

Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, D-Vt., a committee member, said the panel should press for everything the department has available.

We have to make sure somebody is not appointed based on litmus test commitments of how they will vote in cases coming up,' Leahy said in explaining the committee's document request.

Conservative supporters of the president have expressed hore that the next Reagan nominee on the court could tip the balance in their favor in their drive to ban abortion and race-based quotas, and to lower the wall of separation between church and state.

Confirmation hearings on the federal appellate judge from Sacramento, Calif., begin Dec. 14. Little opposition has surfaced, leaving a much calmer atmosphere than last September, when a pitched battle had broken out over the Reagan administration's first high court nominee, Robert H. Bork.

Bork's narrow reading of individual rights protected by the Constitution led to his defeat by the Senate, 58-42.

The administration's second choice for the vacant Supreme Court seat, Douglas H. Ginsburg, asked Reagan on Nov. 7 to withdraw his nomination after a furor erupted over his past marijuana

Bolton, in the department's letter, described contacts between Kennedy and a number of administration officials — including the president - before the nomination was announced Nov. 11.

Bolton said Reagan met with Kennedy Nov. 9 and Nov. 11, and asked "questions relating solely to personal data and Judge Kennedy's individual qualifications."

Bolton said a number of questions posed by the administration were "confidential in nature" and added, "There is no written record, transcript or other document reflecting" the questions or answers.

But Bolton said White House Counsel Arthur B. Culvahouse Jr. did have a standard form with personal questions used in background checks, and two other informal lists of possible topics and questions "relating to background data and personal issues."

Bolton did not offer to turn those lists over to the committee.

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

KANSAS STATE BANK

KSU Gets a "D" from Santa!

A Holiday computer special for K-State Staff and Students

for a complete Leading Edge Model "D"

This "Best Buy" system includes full PC compatibility, 2 disk drives, 512K memory, high resolution mono monitor, word processor, speller, merge, DOS and an amazing 20 month warranty.

Connecting Point

1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

Falsettos 539-3830 For the Best "Homemade" Pizza

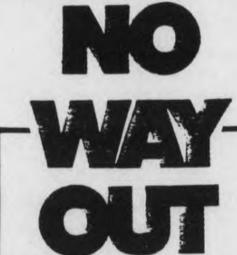

in town with the Best "Hometown" Price.

Two Delicious Homemade Pizzas

		11011100
MENU
	Italian Sausage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushrooms Black Offves Onlons	Jalapenos Pineappie Green Peppers	Ham Extra Chessa
			TWO 10"	TWO 14"
	Cheese		5:99"1" met	5000 rb.00 u
	1 Item		6.94	10.39
	2 Items		7.89	11.79
	3 Items		8.84	13.19
	4 Items		9.79	14.59
	Deluxe		9.79	14.59
	Vegle		. 9.79	14.59
				15.99
	Each Additio	nal Item	95	1.40

Prices do not include tax We Accept Checks 1127 Moro · Aggieville

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL

Fri. & Sat. Dec. 4 & 5

A group of troubled characters for whom deception has become a means of survival. Starring Kevin Costner, Gene Hackman, and Sean Young.

7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75 KSU ID Required Rated R

k-state union upc feature films

An amusing story of an unusual love triangle by director Doris Dorrie. A German Box-office hit with English subtitles.

> Today at 3:30 p.m. in Little Theatre

Tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Forum Hall

Unrated; $1.75; KSU ID Required

k-state union upc kaleidoscope

TODAY! at the Kansas State Union Main Ballroom 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

k-state union

SANTA SUIT RENTAL!

still available at the Union Activities Center $10/day Now-Dec. 23

Coming: Pictures with Santa only $1 with Santa of the hour, Kent Bradley

Pat Bosco Larry Travis Willie Wildcat Troy Lubbers and more k-state union special events

The annual K-State Union Christmas Smorgasbord will be held on Thursday, December 10 through Saturday, December 12 from 5:30 - 8:30 p.m. in the K-State Union Ballroom. The dates in the '87-88 PROGRAMMER were partially incorrect. Call 532-6591 for ticket information.

westate union

K-State swamps Kangaroos, 81-54

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

There was no doubt about the outcome the second time around for the University of Missouri-Kansas City who just this year joined the Division

In the Kangaroos' first-ever game in Division I men's basketball competition Monday, a disputed lastsecond shot gave Rice University a one-point win. But in Ahearn Field House Wednesday night, K-State welcomed UMKC to the big time with a 81-54 setback.

K-State, 4-0, shot 66.7 percent from the field in the first half (16 of 24) and built a 39-18 advantage. The 'Cats built that lead with a patient offense, an agressive man-to-man defense, and a murderous press which resulted in seven turnovers by UMKC.

"There in the first half, (the press) got us a little spurt there a time or two," K-State Coach Lon Kruger said. "And when you get a six- or seven-point run a couple of times in the half, it's really doing what it's supposed to do.'

After a sluggish start which found the 'Cats trailing by one with 15:13 left in the first half, senior forward Mitch Richmond took control. He scored three straight baskets to put K-State up by five and finished the half with 14 of his game-high 21 points. Kruger said Richmond is dangerous as a high-post player.

"Mitch is real effective at the high post because he can pass well...and he can put it on the floor and take it at you," Kruger said. "When he catches it up there, there's a lot of options available.'

UMKC Coach Lee Hunt said if K-State hadn't made a 17-1 run in the first half - which gave the 'Cats a 22-9 lead - the 'Roos "could have made it into a pretty fair ball game." He was impressed, though, with the Wildcats' shot selection.

"Sometimes when a good team plays a young team like this, they'll have a tendency to become impatient. But (K-State) had extremely good patience in the first half," UMKC Coach Lee Hunt said.

For the 'Cats, it was their secondstraight blowout after dumping California State-Northridge, 91-46, Monday in Aheam. But Richmond, for one, is enjoying the tuneup games before the rugged Big Eight Conference schedule arrives.

"Well, I can't really say I'm ready for a nail biter. If we get a win, we get a win," Richmond said.

In the first half, K-State was able to shoot so effectively because 14 of its 24 first-half shots were taken inside the paint. This takes away some of the spark from guard William Scott's outside shooting game which was so highly prized last

Scott, who finished with 11 points, is biding his time while recovering from a foot injury.

"Right now, I'm not in really good shape. Right now, I'm just trying to run the offense and get everybody the ball and not forcing the shots," Scott

Also in double figures for K-State were reserves Fred McCoy with 12 and Buster Glover with 11.

UMKC, 0-2, was paced by guard Deveon Francis with 16 points. The Kangaroos' leading scorer, Ron Davis (16.0 points per game) was held to just five points and fouled out with 1:22 left to play.

UMKC MN FG FG3 FT R F TP

NEWBILL	26	04	0-0	0-0	2 3	0
RUSSELL	22	2-4	0-0	0-1	1 4	4
DAVIS	26	0-3	0-0	3-4	1 5	3
FRANCIS	32	7-13	1-2	1-2	11	16
	36	2-3	0-1	1-2	1 2	5
MOLAK Boster	10	1-3	0-1	1-2	12	5
Oliver	9	0-4	0-2	0.0	11	16 5 5 0 9
Crompton	20	0-4 3-7	1-3	2-2	6 4 3 1	9
Petteway	12	4-5	0-0	0-0	3 1
Robinson	7	2-2	0-0	0-0	1 2	4
Total		22-48	2.9	8-14	2323	54
K-State .	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
RICHMOND	28	8-13	0-1	5-8	9 4	21
BLEDSOB	25	4-7	0-0	1-2	5 2	19
MEYER	17		0-0	1-2	0 0	3,
HENSON	26	740	0-0	2-2	3 0	131
SCOTT	25	5-7	1-2	0-0	53	11
SCOTT McCoy	16	1-3 1-4 5-7 4-7 3-6	0-0	34	5 3	12
Glover	19	3-6	2-3	3-4	11	11
Diggins	18	1-1	0-0	1-4	1 2	3
Dobbins	10	1-2	0-1	0-1		2
Nelson	10	0-3	0-0	0-0	1 1	0
deAlmeida	6	0-1	0-0	4-4		4
Total		28-54	4-8	21-31	3716	81

Tumovers: K-State 8, UMKC 16. PG Pct.: K-State 51.9, UMKC 45.8. Att.: 10,500.

Staff/Andy Nelson University of Missouri-Kansas City forward Billy Newbill slaps away the shot of Charles Bledsoe as he attempts a layup during the first half of the Wildcats' 81-54 win against the Kangaroos.

OU places 5 players on AP team

By The Associated Press

A record-tying five players from No. 1-ranked Oklahoma - including repeaters Keith Jackson at tight end and guard Mark Hutson, plus three members of the nation's topranked defense - were named Wednesday to the Associated Press 1987 All-America college football team.

Second-ranked Miami of Florida, No. 3 Florida State and No. 6 Auburn each had two players on the All-America team, which includes three other holdovers from 1986 - Ohio State linebacker Chris Spielman, Miami defensive back Bennie Blades and Notre Dame flanker-kick returner-running back Tim Brown.

Brown, a wide receiver on the 1986 All-America team, made the 1987 squad as a return specialist, the first time the AP team has included such a position.

Brown's receptions were down from 45 in 1986 to 39 as opponents double-teamed him and Notre Dame threw less. He finished sixth nationally with an average of 167.55 allpurpose yards a game and a total of 1,843 yards — 144 rushing, 846 receiving, 401 on punt returns and 452 on kickoff returns.

The All-America wide receivers are Marc Zeno of Tulane, the NCAA all-time leader in reception yardage, and Indiana's Ernie Jones, Player of the Year in the Big Ten.

Oklahoma's defensive representatives are linebacker Dante Jones, Defensive Player of the Year in the Big Eight Conference; end Darrell Reed, a four-time All-Big Eight selection; and free safety Rickey

Since the AP released its first All-America team in 1925, only Army's 1945 national champions had five first-team players. The 1945 team consisted of only 11 players - there were no separate offensive and defensive units - and Army was represented by tackles Dewitt "Tex Coulter and Al Nemetz, guard John Green and backs Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard.

Lady Cats hustle to overtime win

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Even though the K-State women's basketball players weren't always doing what Coach Matilda Mossman told them to do, the Lady Cats came out with a win.

K-State defeated the University of Creighton in overtime, 67-60, Wednesday night in Ahearn Field House. The win raised the Lady Cats' record to 2-1, while the Lady Jays fell to 1-2. "A lot of times we didn't know what we were doing, but their hustle really made up for it," Mossman said. "Defensively, I think we have a pretty good basketball team. We don't always do the right thing all the time. But we're pretty good from the standpoint we anticipate and get after people."

Motivation was a factor in the game also, as the Lady Cats had to climb back from a seven-point deficit in the first half and hold off a late drive by Creighton in the later stages of the second half.

This year's K-State squad is one team that doesn't need any lessons in getting motivated, Mossman said.

"I don't have to do anything to motivate this team," Mossman said. "They motivate themselves. We have a bunch of kids that are winners and they don't like to lose. It definitely made a difference tonight."

The crowd in Ahearn Field House at the start of the game was little more than a splash of purple dotted among the bleachers. But by the end of the game, Ahearn had taken on a definite purple hue as 2,000 to 3,000 'Cat fanatics cheered the Lady Cats on, harassed the referees and distracted Creighton.

"I think the crowd is always a factor," Mossman said. "The louder it got, the more motivated the team got with those students down there at the floor level."

K-State and Creighton displayed sloppy shooting and lots of turnovers during the first half. K-State shot only 26 percent from the field and had 15 turnovers. Creighton could only manage to connect on 25 percent of its shots and had 14 turnovers.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Lady Cat Nadira Hazim and Pam Rudisill, of the Creighton Lady Jays, grab for the ball Wednesday evening in Ahearn Field House. The Lady Cats went on to win in overtime, 67-60.

The first half started off with Nadira Hazim scoring from underneath to give the Lady Cats a 2-0 lead. Creighton was quick to answer with a 3-point basket from Mary Hohl. K-State took the lead back at 4-3 but wasn't able to hold it. Creighton regained the lead and went into the locker rooms at halftime with a 20-19 advantage.

"I felt good about the way we were playing at halftime," Mossman said. "When we can hold another team to 20 points in a half, I feel real good about what we're doing. Offensively, we still have a long way to go and we have to continue to work on it."

the second half, the Lady Cats dominated Creighton, outscoring the Lady Jays 22-10 to take a 41-30 lead.

Creighton wasn't ready to fold yet, though. The Lady Jays hacked away at the lead, one notch at a time, until the game was tied at 49-49 with 4:30 left in the second half. With tough defensive efforts from both sides, the buzzer sounded to end regulation time with the score tied at 53-53.

Then came overtime, but it appeared someone forgot to tell Creighton the game wasn't over yet.

The Lady Cats held control of the ball in the early stages of overtime as they outscored the Lady Jays 10-1 to fly out to a 63-54 lead with 2:13 left.

Throughout the first 11 minutes of Creighton was only able to muster a brief run at the Lady Cats with 6 points in the final minute and a half. But the final score was still in K-State's favor, 67-60.

"I told them the team that played the smartest and the hardest in the last five minutes would win," Mossman said. "And that's what happened."

Hazim led K-State in scoring with 17 points. Hazim was 7-for-14 from the field and 3-from-3 from the charity stripe. Kristie Bahner shot 5-for-5 from the field and 1-for-3 from the line for a total of 11 points. Stacey Boyle, with 10 points, was the only other Lady Cat to score in double

'Cats, Kangaroos headed for rivalry

Sports Rapp

JEFF RAPP Sports Editor

To everyone who got to see the K-State vs. UMKC game Wednesday night, let's take this opportunity to sit down and plan out what we're going to tell our grandkids about...

Think about it. In 40 years or so, when the 8th-ranked Wildcats take on 10th-ranked Kangaroos in the Big Nine Conference postseason tournament, everyone who saw the two play for the first time will have a story to tell. So let's get it straight.

Of course, with age, we'll choose to add a few things like, "In my day, we had to ride a donkey 10 miles through the snow and rain just to get to the game," but let's strive for uniformity as far as the facts are concerned.

First off, we'll tell them about the resurgence of the K-State basketball program with the arrival of former Wildcat star Lon Kruger as coach. Of course, most of us will be lying again when we say we can remember when Kruger played, but hey, that's one of the luxuries of being a grandparent.

Then we'll brag of the great players and fans K-State had. We'll say, (truthfully this time) "Mitch Richmond was one of the best in the country and Aheam Field House was the best place there ever was to watch a basketball game."

Of course, by that time the construction of the K-State Kruger-Dome will be nearly completed and we'll have to explain to the youngsters why there's just a huge parking garage shaped like a barn just west of the Union.

All of this may sound a bit farfetched, but admit it; things usually evolve into more than they're expected to and the case of the K-State-UMKC basketball rivalry will probably be no different.

The point is that last night's contest was not just another preseason hurdle for the 1987 Wildcats. It was history being made. Just as K-State fans cringe when they hear the names "Jayhawk" and "Shocker" today, they'll also exude hate in the future when the "Kangaroo" mascot is mentioned.

The reason UMKC can and probably will have a good NCAA division I basketball program in the future all lies within the location of the university.

Kansas City, as a town, is a great place to field a college basketball team. In my opinion, Kansas City is the best city around for recruiting purposes, and the residents love their college basketball.

Additionally, a population center as big as Kansas City to draw from can't hurt. With no other basketball teams in the city, the citizens could easily choose to rally around the Kangaroos, if the team achieves some success in the next few seasons.

So in the year 2027, when the K-State-UMKC rivalry is as intense as any rivalry the Wildcats have ever known, you'll look back on Wednesday night's game and think, "I was there when this whole nutty thing began."

Second black mayor to lead Chicago

ClassAd

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO - Veteran black Alderman Eugene Sawyer was sworn in Wednesday as acting mayor of Chicago. He was chosen to succeed the late Harold Washington in a raucous 61/4 -hour City Council meeting amid charges of a return to machine politics.

Sawyer, elected with support from old-guard whites, immediately vowed that Washington's reform movement "shall remain intact and go forward. It will continue untainted by special interests for the rich and powerful."

But some allies of the city's first black mayor predicted that Sawyer would revert to old-style cronyism and dealing during his 17 months as acting mayor.

Sawyer was elected at 4:01 a.m., climaxing a chaotic 19 hours of political intrigue. Ten aldermen reported death threats, an estimated 5,000 protesters mobbed City Hall and a lawsuit was filed in an unsuccessful bid to stop the council's selection of an acting mayor.

He defeated Tim Evans, a black alderman who had been Washington's floor leader, by a vote of 29-19 with two abstentions in the 50-member council. Voters will elect a mayor in April 1989 to serve until 1991, finishing out Washington's second

Washington, who died of a heart attack last week, had after years of battle with old-guard whites forged a majority on the council.

Evans' support came from the council's four Hispanics, some whites from liberal lakefront wards and 12 black supporters of Washington.

Sawyer, the longest-serving black alderman with 16 years on the council, was supported by 23 whites, many of them veterans of the opposition bloc that vigorously opposed Washington in the "Council Wars" of his first term. Six of the 18 black council members also voted for Sawyer.

In his acceptance speech, the 53-year-old former schoolteacher pledged: "There will be no cronyism or favoritism. When Harold Washington proclaimed the machine is dead, he was speaking the absolute truth."

"Even if Sawyer were to moderate his return to the old ways, he is faced with controlling a bloc that has absolutely no interest in reforming its ways," said political strategist Don Rose, who worked for Washington's spring re-election campaign.

"I think you'll see a lot of old-style Chicago wheeling and dealing on contracts and jobs that'll make Washington's era look like Camelot.

Rose said white aldermen who opposed Washington found they could support Sawyer because "he is No. 1 pliable and secondly defeatable" in the next mayoral election.

The Better Government Association, a consumer group, said Wednesday it would proceed with its lawsuit accusing City Council members of violating the state's Open Meetings Act by gathering in secret to discuss selecting an acting mayor. A spokeswoman said the group was considering an attempt to nullify Sawyer's election with the lawsuit.

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless cli-ent has an established account with Student Publi-

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.) Classified advertising is available only to those to do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ligion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75) PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its prod uct selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m. 6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. 5 p.m. (66-70)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida, Hilton Head, South Carolina or ski ing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a insettia! On sale now at the K-State Union

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of ManEnd of the semester

Parachute Club meeting

Thursday, December 3, 1987 7:00 p.m. Union 206

All members must attend to still be considered active.

FREE MOVIE—"Cry From the Mountain." K-State Union Room 213. Thursday, Dec. 3, 7 p.m. Sponsored

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for a single adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shopping Center. (69-75)

SHE-D.U'S-Don't forget-last days to have your mug taken for the cor nposite are Thursday and Fri-

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128. (1tf)

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-1465. (55-75)

CHRISTMAS GIFT idea #1: A decorative tin filled with up to three different flavors of popcorn. Irvine Popcom Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road, 776-

LATE NIGHT

with Campus Crusade

Thursday Night 10 p.m. Alpha Chi Omega Sorority 1835 Todd Road

Sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ

THURSDAY DECEMBER 3, 1987

WIBW

This Morning TBA

Price Is Right

WKRP All Bold/Beautiful ren

$25K Pyramid Ghostbusters Card Sharks G.I. Joe

To Be An-

KTKA

Good Morning

Who's Boss

Love Connec.

Ask Dr. Ruth

One Life to

General Hos-

Mr. Belvedere Dick Van

TV Listings

7:00 Today

9:00 Hour Maga-

1:00 Lives As the World Turns

8:00

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment. Close to campus air conditioning, dishwasher; furnished. Ready Jan. 1. 537-8061. (67-70)

02 lurnished. $300. 539-8106. (67-71) CLEAN, QUIET, basement two-bedroom apartment

Jan. 1, $225/month. 776-1703. (68-70) FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person, all utili

TWO-BEDROOM on main floor. One-half block west, ties paid including basic cable T.V. 539-9173, evenings. (68-72)

NICE TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Available Jan. 1. $360. 539-4840. (68-72) CLEAN BASEMENT apartment. One male student

No smoking, drinking. $160, near campus. 512 North 11th. 539-8758. (68-70)

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Heat paid. $350. Call 776-4099. Early morning or late evening ok. (69-73)

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer parking. 776-8495, evenings. (69-75)

VERY CLEAN, spacious one-bedroom apartment Call Kathy, days 532-5535, evenings $210/month. Call 537-7293. (69-73)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $275/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 21. Trash and water paid. 539-1686. (69-73)

KSHB

3

My Little Pony

Brady Bunch

Who's Boss

M.T. Moore

Dyke Green Acres

Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies

Zoobilee Zoo

Mr. Belvedere

Scooby Doo

KTWU

Today's Mister Rogers

Art in Its Soul

Psychology Collectors

Sesame

One More

Living Cookin

Sesame

Street

WGN

Teddy Ruxpin

Andy Griffith

Love Boat

Geraldo

News

Van Dyke Andy Griffith

Beaver Ghostbusters

Bozo

Smurts

to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124

532-6555

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431

after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf) AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimu waterbeds. 537-9686. (65-69) ONE-BEDROOM apartment, furnished, across from Putnam Hall, 1306 N. Manhattan, $205/month, call

776-7045. (67-71) ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or 776-4246. (67-75)

NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet

ESPN

Nation's Bus.

SportsCenter

SportsLook

Tennis: Na

bisco Mas-coverage

Aerobics

Getting Fit

Top Rank

Boxing

ters: day one

Racing

conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75) (Continued on page 13)

By TV Data

WTBS

B. Hillbillies

Little House

on the Prairie

Movie: "Ber-

Perry Mason

Movie: "Death

Scream

Tom and

Flintstones

Flintstones

Munsters

Carol Burnett

Movie: "Buck

Movie: "De-

serk

Put A Smile on Someone's Face and Warmth to Their Hands This Christmas Season.

Help decorate the Christmas tree located in the lobby of Lafene Health Center by adding a new pair of mittens.

Proceeds go to: Crisis Center Head Start Manhattan Shelter (all mitten sizes needed.)

Sponsored by: LAFENE Health Center

HOW TO ENRICH YOUR EDUCATION BY $1,000 A MONTH.

If you're a math, engineering or physical sciences major, you could be earning $1,000 a month during your junior and senior years.

This excellent opportunity is part of the Navy Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program. It's one of the most prestigious ways of entering the nuclear field - and rewarding, too. You get a $4,000 bonus upon entrance into the program, and $2,000 more when you complete your Naval studies.

You also receive a year of paid graduate-level training that's the most comprehensive in the world. And you'll acquire expertise with state-of-the-art

APPOINTMENT.

nuclear reactor and propulsion plant

As a Navy officer, you'll lead the adventure while gaining high-level experience that will help make you a leader in one of the world's high-tech industries.

In addition to the professional advantages, nuclear-trained officers get an unbeatable benefits package, travel opportunities, promotions and a solid salary.

Find out more about the Navy Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program, and make your education start paying off today. Call Navy Management Programs:

1-800-821-5110

NAVY FOFFICER.

DECEMBER 9-10, 1987. CONTACT PLACEMENT OFFICE FOR

OFFICER REPRESENTATIVES WILL BE ON CAMPUS

LEAD THE ADVENTURE.

FROM: John

Season's Greetings

Say you care with

	5,14
· ·	27
40 4	West Francisco

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon Thursday, Dec. 10. Ads will run in Dec. 11 Collegian.

MOORE MANAGEMENT

has one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, targe one-pedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $285 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, carpeted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

Second semester apartments in several convenient locations.

One & two bedrooms $240-$360.

Call soon for best selection.

Development 2700 Amherst

776-3804

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom, 501 Houston, $300. 539-4214, leave message. (66-70) ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75) TWO-BEDROOM duplex, one block from campus, available Jan. 1. No pets, 539-8016 after 6:30 p.m. (67-69)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, nice. 926 Bluemont. 776-9017. (67-71)

eral convenient locations. One and two bedroom. $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75)

APARTMENT FOR rent, one bedroom, close to campus. (Gold Key). 776-9264. (68-70) Rubes

Bloom County

RIGHT.

BAD BOY.

DON'T KID ME, BUDDY. YOU DON'T NEED MY HELP. THIS THING'S

POUR-WHEEL DRIVE.

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

•24-hour emergency maintenance ·On-site laundry facilities •Two outdoor swimming pools ·Professional on-site mgt.

Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary

Call Today 539-2951

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles, 1615 Anderson, $315/month 539-2830. (69-73) AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1978 PLYMOUTH Road Runner, $650 or best offer. 776-1532 afternoon and evenings. (65-69) 1974 CAPRI, very reliable, great mileage. $500. 539-

1945. (67-69) 1976 FORD Pinto, good condition, $900 or best offer 776-2751 or 537-8337. (67-71)

gine, (25,000 miles). Running great. Call 776-8016. (68-72) DODGE OMNI 1979. Four cylinders, overhauled en

1982 CAVALIER type 10 CL. Automatic transmission, power steering, air conditioning, very nice. $3,100. 494-8484. (68-71)

EMPLOYMENT

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The Aggieville Business Association is accepting applications for parttime Executive Director. Self-motivated individual with creative mind and flexible schedule. Send Resume and references to P.O. Box 764, Manhattan.

By Leigh Rubin

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in sev

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

OVERSEAS JOBS, Summer, year-round, Europe, South America, Australia, Asia, All fields, $900-2,000 month, Sightseeing, Free information, Write IJC, PO Box 52—KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA 92625.

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont New York. (62-71)

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

YOUTH DIRECTOR. First Christian Church is accepting applications for a half-time position to coordi youth activities and direct teacher recruit ment. Application deadline Dec. 16, 1987. Send resume and three reference letters to: Search Committee Chair, 804 Laramie, Manhattan, KS 66502. Inquire at 776-8790. (66-70)

GREAT SUMMER camp jobs in the Colorado Rockies near Estes Park as counselors, cooks, nurses, of fice, wranglers, drivers, unit directors, childcare Room and board plus cash salary and travel allow ance. Fully accredited. Must be at least 19 to apply Interviews on campus in early February. Write Che ley Colorado Camps, Dept. C, Box 6525, Denver Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616, For the summer of your life! (66-70)

RESEARCH ASSOCIATE, Department of Grain Sci ence and Industry, Kansas State University. Appli cants should possess a PhD in Food Science, Ce real Chemistry or Biochemistry and have a nstrated ability to carry out independent re search. Position responsibilities will include: re-search centering on the performance of wheat flour doughs in convenience food systems, collection and analysis of data, preparation of reports and manuscripts. Familiarity with standard bio chemical techniques is essential. Prior experi ence with flour fractionation, experimental baking and dough rheological techniques is highly desir able. Salary range: $18,000-$20,000 annually. Dead line for applications: Dec. 15, 1987. Starting date. Jan. 4, 1988. Applications should be made by submitting a letter of application, resume and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Jon Faubion, Department of Grain Science, Kansas State Univer sity, Manhattan, KS 66506. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity affirmative action

RESEARCH ASSISTANT, full time, immediate open ing. B.S. degree in biology or related field. Must have experience in electron microscopy and/or biochemical procedures. Will conduct research in thin sectioning and immunological techniques. Salary approximately $16,000/year plus benefits. Submit resume, college transcripts and two let ters of recommendation to: Dr. D. B. Bechtel, De partment of Grain Science and Industry, Kansas State University, Shellenberger Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 776-2713. Application deadline is Dec. 11, 1987. Kansas State University is a equal opportunity affirmative action employer. (67

SCHOOL BUS drivers beginning immediately. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required, 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Job description available. Apply to: USD #383, 2031 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, KS 66502. 913-537-2400. EOE. (67-71) HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

ASSISTANTS

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

HEALTH CLUB looking for enthusiastic individual to work part-time evenings and weekends. Apply in person with resume, 1100 Moro. (69-71)

RIP & Mo's Deli is hiring delivery drivers. Apply in person with valid driver's license and proof of surance at 710 N. Manhattan, 1 p.m.-4 p.m. (69-71) ENTHUSIASTIC PERSON needed for telephone mar keting sales. Monday evenings 2-3 hours. Call 539-1662 between 9-12 for interview. (69-73)

EARN $200 as a subject in a heat stress experiment; three hours/day for six days in first or second week of January. Men only. Apply in person at Industrial Engineering Office, 238 Durland. (69)

ATTENTION MARKETING students! Great opportu nity and income potential. Promote Manhattan's premiere magazine "Where . . Altitude to Manhat-tan," Sales position open now. Part-time flexible hours. Possible Internship available. Call Direct Marketing Services at 539-6287. Ask for Mary. (69-

NEW YORK! Live-in mother's helpers needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January. Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone

203-656-0707 (67-72) REMEMBER THE time you really needed a friend, and someone came through for you? All those who have thought about becoming a volunteer someday—Why not today? The FONE Crisis Center needs You! One day volunteer training will be held Saturday, Dec. 5, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., UFM House, 1221 Thurston. Come and bring a friend! Special speakers are: Dr. Joan McNeil; Dr. Howard Barnes, and Dr. Tony Jurich. 532-6565. (67-70)

KSU DAIRY Bar needs person for daily cleaning. Approximately 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Work-study preferred. Contact Kevin Grow in Call Hall 154 or at 532-5654. (68-70)

COULD YOU be a Boston nanny? Are you a loving, nu turing person who enjoys spending time with chil-dren? Live in lovely, suburban neighborhoods en-joy excellent salaries, benefits, your own living quarters and limited working hours. Your round-trip transportation is provided. One year commit-ment necessary. Call or write: Mrs. Fisch, Child-care Placement Service, Inc. (CCPS), 149 Buckminster Road, Brookline, MA 02146, 1-800-

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required year round position. Minimum commitment two years. Requested.

Respond to: P.O.Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume please.

FINANCIAL SERVICES

INVESTOR NEEDED: Recup $35,000 within seven years by tax savings. Half ownership small busi-ness. 913-456-7483, after 6 p.m. (69-73)

10

11

GARAGE AND YARD SALES

KAPPA DELTA garage sale, 1220 Centennial Drive, Saturday, Dec. 5 from 7:30 a.m. to noon. All proceeds go to charity. (70)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utili-ties, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom du plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston. $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor effi ciency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055. Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) TWO-BEDROOM trailer home with small pasture, east of Manhattan. Available Jan. 1. Call after 9 p.m. 456-9188. (69-71)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-

3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75) DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile no x 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537-1029. (62-71)

NOW AVAILABLE 1968 Great Lakes, two bedrooms Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, washer, dryer. Low utilities. 537-7873. (67-71)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays

til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75) COMPACT DISCS; cassettes; audio video tapes movies-never opened, any variety. 539-1089, 776-4387. (67-70)

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

QUEEN WATERBED. Nice headboard. Baffle mattress. Jensen car stereo, auto-reverse, separate treble/bass, 539-8399, (68-72)

RUSH

to Cottonwood Racquet Club for you next social gathering We welcome all clubs & housing organizations Tennis, Racquetball, Saunas and Jacuzzi available

776-6060 3615 Claflin Rd.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Thursday, December 3, 1987

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Greater K.C. provides confidential, abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75) Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane

All Slices 99º

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

MEN'S CONVERSE leather shoes, size seven, brand

FINALS TOO much to take? Take a popcorn break! Ir vine Popcom Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road, 776-8334. (69-71)

NDERCOVER

Lingerie

GIFT

CERTIFICATE

What a good idea!

1224 Moro Aggieville

Manhattan Town Center Mall

Our Lady

of Guadaloupe

Fiesta

Seven Dolors Parish

December 12, 1987

6:00 Mass

7:00 Dinner Dance

5350 in advance,

5400 at the door

6 and under free

FOUR VERY nice five-drawer metal desks. Come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. (69-73)

YAMAHA XT600. 1984, low miles, excellent condi

FENDER QUAD reverb tube guitar amplifier. $300.

Hayes House of Music

FENDER SQUIRE STRATS

$309

ROLAND JUNO-2 keyboard. Less than one year old, come and see al 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.-

NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case. $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

CHICO SAN rice cake—Ya know what? Do it. Oh yea. No way. Eeeeaaah and Happy 20th Birthday. Toot-sie and Max wish they could help you celebrate.

CHURCH GUY: Something else-you didn't have to

ACACIA LITTLE Sisters-'Twas the night before

Christmas, and all through the Acacla House, no-body was in the Kitchen, not even Slim and his mouse. Little sisters and big bros will be exchanging their presents, and Santa will be their request-ing your presence. The annual bash will begin at nine, so everyone show up and we'll have a great time! Love, Acacia. (69)

CHRIS B.-Happy Birthday! You're now 23, enjoy

SPARE DRIVER-Observation point Friday night

You bring the wine, I'll bring the good time. Bus Driver #22. (69)

DENISE (ALIAS Princess Di): Have you dumped the guy in Albuquerque yet? An interested. A.J. (69)

A LIM for your B-day: Our III' Roos, once grown; Came here and was alone. Lonely guy was his race; Until what's-her-face; Thank God that she doesn't

SPAYED FERRET, cage and set up. Gentle and very

playful. 539-1988 evenings-keep trying. (68-70)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence, 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf) moan. Love, Your Roommates. (69)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

your day, but save your evening for me. Love, YSA (69)

Love, Wonton and Eggroll. (69)

beg me to come over. (69)

776-7983

18

(68-70)

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

tion, make offer. 776-7323. (67-70)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

327 Poyntz

5:30 p.m. (69-73)

PERSONALS

new. Phone 537-2624. (68-70)

PYRAMID PIZZA

after 5 p.m.

Aggieville

TANS TO GO

776-7874

RENTALS TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

21

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE 22 FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner. Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

Resumes -

--- Graphics Plus

11th & Laramle 539 -6027 DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professiona resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537

7294, 1211 Moro. (68-70) ROOMMATE WANTED 23

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester, $120

per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for second semester, Nice spacious house across from Durland, available Dec. 18. Call 539-3245. (55-69)

NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for ful nished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

ONE-HALF BLOCK from Ahearn. Male rou

wanted to share four-man apartment. $130 per month. Call 539-1334. (66-70) MALE ROOMMATE wanted, furnished, own room, no deposit, one block from campus. 776-1893. (67-70)

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester, large four-bedroom house, share with three others, own bedroom, $132.50/month plus utilities, non smoker. Call 539-7681. (67-71)

MALE ROOMMATES for second semester. Nice two-

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom on westside. Lots of extras. Call 539-9185. (67-71)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent

$110 plus one-third bills. 537-1757. (67-70) MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, have own room. Larry at 537-3339. (67-69)

LOOKING FOR roommate to replace roommate who graduated. Female roommate wanted. Quiet, at tractive, roomy apartment, own room, swimming pool, dishwasher, microwave and lots more. $150 plus one-half utilities. 537-1835 evenings. (67-75)

WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. $133/month, one-third utilities. Own room. 539 7915. (67-72)

FEMALE LOOKING for female roommate for two bedroom apartment. Bills paid. 537-8096. (68-70) MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood, $150/ nonth plus utilities, negotiable. 539-6515, keep trying. (68-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed-very nice, furnished, one-bedroom apartment. Close to cam-pus. $150/month. Call Julie, 539-1482 first months rent free. (68-70) FEMALE ROOMMATE, $100 per month plus one third utilities own bedroom. Call 776-6880. (68-72) FEMALE OR male roommate. Own room, no deposit. $140 month. Available now, one-third utilities, three blocks from campus, 539-5220, (68-69)

MALE OR female. Non-smoking. $120/month. One fourth utilities, one block west of campus. Own room, washer, dryer. Great roommates. 539-7709.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester, non-smoker. Own bedroom, near campus, near Aggieville, $175 per month plus utilities. Apartment is furnished, microwave, color TV, VCR, available Dec. 17. 539-6498 or (316) 683-6446. (69-72)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed across from Ahear $140 and half utilities. Call Dawn at 537-4811. (69-

26 SUBLEASE

CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville. $120/

ONE-TWO roommates needed. Spacious, nice. $160 for one, $200 for two. Call 537-2178. (68-70)

TAKE OVER my lease and bring three friends. $120/ person, all utilities paid, including basic cable TV Call Jeff 539-9173 evenings. (68-72)

SUBLEASE SPACIOUS, nice one-bedroom, available Dec., spring semester, $250 month/plus utilities. 539-0199. (68-71)

CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville. Room for one or two. Take over lease Jan. 1 and get one nonth's rent paid! Furnished apartment, laundry, great roommates. Call Karen, 776-7176. (69-71)

TRAVEL COLORADO

AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire-place, HBO, pool table, sauna. Great fishing. Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Silver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448.

Get your friends to drive. (66-71) 30 TUTORING SERVICES GRADE-AID: Qualified tutor can help you get ready for finals: Algebra, Trigonometry, General Calculus, Accounting. (66-70)

31

SPRING BREAK

LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so farl Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-day! (67-75)

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 42 Cautioned 58 Record, locale

e.g.

1 Duel memento Not even 8 Load 12 Donut feature

13 Negative vote 14 Be a sot 15 With (Fr.) 16 Potato part

18 Quit 20 Desert 22 Overly 23 Oh (Ger.)

singer last words? 33 Ram's dam hero (abbr.) Yesterday's answer:

19 Thus 21 Make lace 24 Aglow 25 Bother 26 "School Days" 4 Read from character 28 Have an obligation

in a way

DOWN

2 Inlet

3 Stouts scale memory 5 Rating

1 Herring

11 Proceed

29 Recep-6 One of tionist's concerns 7 Tinctures 30 Waikiki 8 Carbohydrate wear 31 Lease 9 Indian 36 Revoluweapon 10 Kind of > a krone 38 Last 6 lines of 42 Lament plant item 46 Bit

48 Muscle quality Literary snippets

JELFPM

MONEY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: I equals B

For my Christmas tree, I decorated a tumbleweed.

By Berke Breathed

FLOZA!

FROZEN

0

LOOK, YOU'RE VERY CUTE, BUT UNLESS

THERE'S SOME OTHER

WINTER CRISIS I CAN

AH FLOZA.

HELP THAW, I'LL BE ON MY WAY.

WHAT?

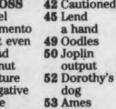

MNG LI

AH FLOZA

By Charles Schulz

54 French article 55 Kind 17 Last word, of at times jacket 56 Focusing device 57 Oxygen,

24 "The George Apley 27 Popular country 32 Fiancee's

34 Teeny 35 Fielding 38 Playlet 39 Agency 40 Litigate

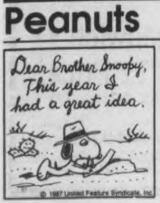

37 Part of Solution time: 24 minutes

41 Not them 43 Medicinal 44 Pharmacy

47 Road sign p

tionary CRYPTOQUIP YNLS

> IFJJ, OOTFJ DLFJYMX Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SUCCESSFUL TRACK AND FIELD CHAMPION AT HIS PEAK USUALLY RUNS INTO

anything."

confrontation.

Human Rights.

Delay

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 150 in September to 124 in October. No flights were late 100 percent of the time in October, while six flights were never on time the previous month.

After American Airlines, carriers with the best on-time record during October were Southwest with 85.2 percent on-time arrivals and Continental with 84.4 percent. The airlines with the worst record after Pacific Southwest, were America West, 74.9 percent, and Alaska, 75.2 percent. Several of the 14 airlines, which

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Eddy Volel, a top Claude aide and brother of presidential candidate

Yves Volel, who was assassinated in October, said in an interview: "We'll reports, showed sizable improvements in promptness in October. USAir and Northwest, two worst carriers in September, increased their on-time record but still ranked in the bottom half of the carrier list.

are required to submit monthly

The department reported a drop in mishandled baggage in October with an average of 6.94 complaints for every 1,000 passengers, compared with 7.91 the previous month.

Northwest Airlines and United Airlines for the second month led with the highest number of baggage complaints, while two airlines, Pan American and Eastern, which ranked

But other political leaders were

"We want to stay within the demolooking for a solution other than open cratic process," said Gerard Bissainthe, political coordinator for presidential candidate Gerard Gourgue, a founder of the Haitian League for Namphy tried also in June to take high in number of consumer complaints to the Transportation Department, had the fewest complaints involving baggage.

Northwest had 10.62 baggage complaints for every 1,000 passenges carried, followed by United at 10.26 complaints. Pan Am reported 2.89 complaints per 1,000 passengers and Eastern 3.91 complaints.

Officials said, however, that in some cases airlines have used different criteria when counting baggage complaints so a direct comparison among airlines may not be totally nationwide demonstrations and strikes. The capital, Port-au-Prince, was quiet Wednesday, with more stores and businesses open. Schools were control of the elections from the council, a move that prompted closed for a third day. The U.S. Embassy and consulate opened for the first time since

Court

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Beverly Hills, Calif., portrayed the ad as just one salvo in a continuing political battle between Flynt and Falwell.

"Hustler has every right to say that man is full of b.s.," Isaacman said. "This is a public figure, somebody who's supposed to have a thick skin.'

When he added that the effect of the ad is "Hustler saying let's bring this stuffed shirt down to our level," many in the courtroom, including several justices, erupted in laughter.

Falwell's lawyer, Norman Roy Grutman of New York City, urged the court to uphold his client's legal victory. He called the ad parody "deliberate, malicious character assassination" that should not go unpunished.

The justices — especially Sandra Day O'Connor, John Paul Stevens and Antonin Scalia - appeared to be struggling for some way of balancing free-speech rights with legal protections against offensive attacks.

O'Connor got Isaacman to concede that the states have an interest in ment (which guarantees freedom of protecting their citizens from emotional distress. She also quizzed Grutman about the limits of such protection.

At one point, O'Connor referred to journalists' pursuit of stories about former presidential candidate Gary Hart's relationship with model Donna Rice. "Should that result in liability?" she asked.

Grutman said no.

When Isaacman told of a 200-year-old political cartoon picturing George Washington on a donkey and referring to Washington as an "ass," Justice Antonin Scalia said, "I can handle that. I think George could handle that."

Amidst the courtroom laughter, Scalia added, "That's a far cry from committing incest with your mother in an outhouse."

Outside the court building, Falwell said he sued Flynt and Hustler because of the attack on his late mother's reputation. "I can't imagine any red-blooded male in the world not being incensed," he said.

Flynt, who indicated he is concerned about his fate before the high court, said, "I think the First Amend speech) gives me the right to be offensive. ... My indictment is mainly for bad taste.

While attending a Supreme Court argument four years ago, Flynt was forcibly removed from the justices' presence and arrested for shouting obscenities. Asked about that, he said, "I think it's time I started to behave myself."

The sued-over ad, which appeared in two issues of Hustler, featured Falwell's photograph and small lettering at the bottom of the page that said the ad was "not to be taken seriously."

Finding it no laughing matter, Falwell sued Flynt and Hustler for $45 million. He accused them of libel, invasion of privacy and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

A federal jury in Roanoke, Va., in late 1984 ruled that the ad did not libel Falwell, and the presiding judge threw out the invasion-of-privacy allegation.

But the jury ruled for Falwell on his allegation of emotional distress. It awarded him $100,000 in compensatory damages and $100,000 in punitive damages.

fight with what we have - rocks, stones, machetes, matches,

Suit

Haiti

Duvalier's private army.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Rombold said commissioners would have 20 days to respond to the charges, but that an extension would likely be filed.

This is the first lawsuit of its kind in Kansas, he said.

The controversy began when water contamination was detected on Sweet's property two years ago last month. A second contamination area was found in November 1986 on the property of John Pratt Jr., 1,000 feet southeast of the landfill.

Sweet and Pratt were later notified by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment that their water contained harmful levels of vinyl chloride, 1,2-dichloroethylene, benzene and chlorobenzene.

The contaminants were "suggested cancer-causing agents and even at the indicated levels could significantly increase the risk of a user developing health problems over a long period of use," a KDHE official wrote in the letter.

After learning of the problem, Moehlman Bottoms residents petitioned the county for installation of a city water. City commissioners approved the district April 27, and installation is nearly complete.

On July 17, KDHE ordered that the landfill be closed by July 1990. The closure was mandated because water testing indicated "beyond a reasonable doubt that contaminated groundwater from the Riley County Landfill has migrated beyond the boundaries of the landfill and has contaminated groundwater ... '

Records in the county clerk's office indicate the city opened the landfill in 1961. Riley County took water district to supply them with over the operation in 1976. The city, however, still holds the deed to the property. For that reason, Sweet is seeking damages from both agencies. One of the major deadlines mandated by the KDHE landfill closure order is Dec. 31, when Riley County Commissioners must submit a landfill closure plan to KDHE. On Nov. 19, however, commissioners submitted a request to KDHE for a two-year extension of the closure date.

The extension was requested because commissioners signed a joint agreement Nov. 9 with Geary and Pottawatomie County Commissioners to share in the cost of hiring a consultant to assist in development of a regional, or tri-county, solid waste management plan.

"Such an approach will take substantially more time to coordinate and complete," commissioners wrote

KDHE. "Additional time will be needed to reach a formal agreement, to organize a regional solid waste committee, to review proposals and select a consultant, and finally to actually complete, adopt and implement the approved plan."

To date, KDHE has not responded to the request, said Commissioner Wilton Thomas.

"But we anticipate that it will be approved," he said.

Forcing maids to work on knees called demeaning, angers union

By The Associated Press

BOSTON - Chambermaids at Boston's luxurious Copley Plaza Hotel have been ordered to put aside their mops and start scrubbing floors by hand, angering union leaders who say washing floors on hands and knees is demeaning.

"A maid is a maid, and that's just what she has to do," said Alan Tremain, president of Hotels of Distinction, which operates the Copley Plaza for owner John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

He said the hotel maintains its reputation by being "a hands-on business, with a lot of attention to detail. The minute the bags are carried from the car, they are given to a bellboy in the lobby. The silver is polished when it's put on the table."

Copley's nearly 60 maids are not exempt, he said, adding he believes the Boston Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union Local No. 26 is protesting the order because contract negotiations are coming up in December 1988.

Union President Dominic Bozzotto said the hotel's maids were ordered Nov. 10 to turn in their mops. Signs in the hotel directed the women, who are paid $7.15 an hour to start:

"There will be no mops used in the rooms of this hotel until further notice! Please help yourself to as many clean rags as you like for hand washing floors."

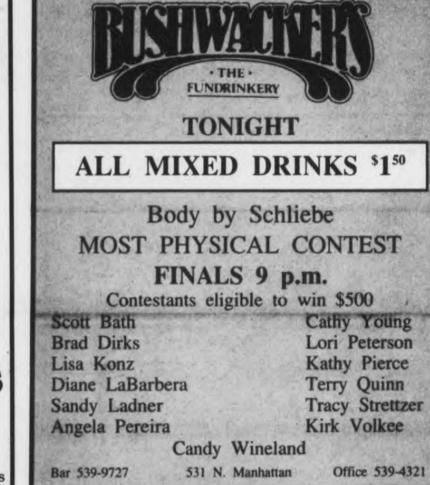

"This means that they can only clean with their hands, and that means they'll be on their hands and knees," Bozzotto said. "The hotel knows that 99 percent of these maids are minorities and most of them are older women. It's just outrageous that in 1987, we have no cleaning instruments to do this job.

"The scene of a white male sitting in his hotel room reading The Wall Street Journal while the black maid is in the bathroom on her hands and knees — it's just preposterous.'

Most of the maids are unwilling to speak out against the new policy for fear of losing their jobs, Bozzotto said.

Speedy FREE Delivery

ONE MEDIUM

TWO TOPPING PIZZA

539-4888

"We Pile It On!"

Self Serve Copies 31/2 ¢

Excluding Xerox 1025 Copiers Not including 11x17 exp. date 12/9/87

1110 Laramle

Speedy FREE Delivery

Resumes professionally typed—$12-$15 per page.

With this coupon, 10 copies of your resume free.

776-3771

$30

$35

PERM SALE Gals Reg. Now

Axiom $45 Warm & Gentle All Perms Include Curly Cut and Style

Apple Pectin

Body Partial 404 Humboldt

539-TAME or 539-8601 Expires 12-10-87

ALL SERVICES Monday-Thursday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. with this coupon expires Dec. 18, 1987 776-4794 512 Poyntz Ave.

AL-BASHA

WE DELIVER ALL

DAY EVERY DAY FOR

YOUR CONVENIENCE

GREEK & MEDITERRANEAN FOOD 1209 Laramie St. 537-7533

Buy One Gyro Sandwich, Get the Second at 1/2 Price

(with coupon-offer expires 12-10-87) Open Daily 11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. & 4-9 p.m.

The Most Delicious Treat In Town

WinterDance

The K-State Dance Workshop will be performing works in ballet, modern dance and jazz during the annual Winter-Dance concert. See Page 9.

Weather

Sunny but cool today, high 45 to 50. Clear and cold tonight, low around 30. Mostly sunny Saturday, high 50 to 55.

ball team is 4-0, Head Coach Lon Kruger still sees room for improvement. See Page 9.

Friday

December 4, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 70

Kansas State Collegian

Commissioner calls lawsuit 'absurd'

Landfill employee seeks $1 million

By Deron Johnson Editor

A Riley County Commissioner Thursday night called a $1 million lawsuit against the County Commission and Manhattan City Commission "absurd" and charged that the lawyer handling the case has used underhanded techniques.

Nov. 24 in U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan., seeks, among other things, immediate closure of the Riley County Landfill and actual and punitive damages in excess of $1 million. The suit stems from water contamination problems at Moehlman Bottoms, a community about three miles south of Manhattan where Sweet lives.

County Commissioner Wilton Thomas would not comment on the lawsuit other than to say it was

"It's absurd," he said. "It's just

"You can get a real idea how absurd it is by the fact the lawyer didn't even notify us (it had been filed). But yet he notified the media.

"He's trying to try his suit in the media - it's that weak," Thomas

Thursday morning, Sweet's attorney, Peter Rombold, presented a copy of the lawsuit to the county commissioners prior to their regular 10:30 meeting.

County Commissioner Marjorie Morse said the commissioners knew nothing about the suit until they read Wednesday's Collegian.

"We knew that a lawyer had been hired (by Sweet) and that our county counselor had been in constant contact with her lawyer," Morse said.

The commissioners' attorney, Dan The suit, filed by Charlene Sweet Myers, could not be reached by the Collegian Thursday evening. County Commission Chairman Darrell Westervelt and City Attorney Bill Frost could not be reached, either.

Morse said she was concerned with the costs the case will involve, win or lose. Neither she nor Thomas would comment whether they will seek an out-of-court settlement.

"We certainly will make a strong defense," Morse said.

Sweet, who is an employee of the county and works at the landfill, said she decided to file the suit when she couldn't obtain a home improvement loan due to her property's contamination by toxic chemicals. She sought the loan to replace a malfunctioning furnace.

"I just couldn't get anybody to finance me to get a furnace to put in this house this winter," said Sweet, who has lived in her home for nearly 10 years. "I had to do something. After hauling water for two years, it gets kind of old."

Staff/Brad Fanshier

Attorney Peter Rombold presents a copy of a lawsuit to Darrell Wes-■ See SUIT, Page 10 tervelt, Riley County Commission chairman, prior to the commissioners' meeting Thursday morning. The lawsuit, filed Nov. 24 in U.S. District Court by Charlene Sweet, seeks $1 million in damages.

Agreement ends Atlanta siege

Cuban inmates release all 89 hostages

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA — Cuban inmates freed their 89 hostages early today, peacefully ending an 11-day prison uprising under an agreement that provides a moratorium on deportations of 3,800 Mariel detainees nationwide.

The hostages were released moments after the eight-point agreement was signed. The agreement, signed shortly after 1 a.m., also provided for no reprisals for damage to the prison.

The siege, one of the longest prison uprisings in U.S. history, left one prisoner dead and three buildings gutted.

As they filed out of the prison, some of the hostages shook hands with their former captors and embraced waiting friends and ones.

ouse votes to

At the signing ceremony, broadcast on live national television, one of the inmates sitting at the table had wrapped himself in the Cuban and American flags. The group placed a large silver crucifix on the table before them.

At Atlanta's airport Thursday night, Auxiliary Bishop Agustin Roman was asked if he had come to witness the signing of the agreement. "Yes, I think," he said.

After the agreement was read in Spanish and then English and signed, the inmates shook hands with Roman and the others in the room and began

Relatives of the hostages, wearing yellow ribbons and carrying balloons, had packed into a small room at the prison to wait for their loved Dixon, whose husband, Gene, was a

Shortly after the agreement was approved Thursday afternoon, cheering detainees waved and sang the Cuban national anthem on the roof at the stone prison.

Later, federal authorities rushed Roman on U.S. Customs Service jet from Miami who helped negotiate an end to a similar standoff in Oakdale, La., and whose presence apparently was requested by the 1,105 inmates who have held the prison since Nov.

He flew by helicopter into the prison compound, and stopped briefly at the Bureau of Prison's regional headquarters before entering the penitentiary at 10:52 p.m.

The standoff here and one that ended Sunday in Louisiana had

"I could walk on air," said Carol threatened to unravel an agreement between the United States and Cuba to deport some of those imprisoned after arriving in the Mariel boatlift of > Several hundred marchers carried candles and sang "We Shall Overcome" as they walked to the prison from a nearby church Thursday

> "Without your prayers, there would have been no solution to what has been a long period of misunderstanding," the detainees shouted from the roof. "We thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Someday, we will give back something good to those who helped us."

Federal officials had suggested the agreement be signed in the area of the prison where negotiations were conducted, said Thomas Stewart, a Jus-

■ See RELEASE, Page 12

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The House voted without dissent Thursday to cut off all U.S. aid to the government of Haiti until a civilian electoral commission is reinstated and the impoverished nation is put back on the road toward free elections.

The House action, on a voice vote, essentially ratified the earlier suspension of nearly $64 million in U.S. aid by the Reagan administration, and added the legal requirement that the Provisional Electoral Commission must be reinstated in order for aid to be resumed.

badly needed economic aid to Haiti, Hemisphere, the measure's sponsor, eligibility for trade benefits under it was the only way to express U.S. outrage over the violence that and other economic sanctions. canceled Sunday's elections.

"Anything we take away is going to hurt people." Oberstar said. "But this is the only action we can take that will mean something to the government that ambushed democracy on Sunday, and to the forces for democracy who are looking to the United States to do something...to help put democracy back on track. We can help re-establish the process that was snuffed out."

Oberstar's legislation, attached to a massive catch-all spending bill, While the move means revoking also contained nonbinding language calling on the the poorest country in the Western State Department to suspend Haiti's

Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., said the Caribbean Basin Initiative and to seek an international arms embargo

Another $35 million in humanitarian aid flowing through private relief organizations for public health, nutrition and housing programs would be unaffected by the change.

The money bill, with the aid cuo the Senate for further action. Also on Thursday, the Senate Appropriations Committee adopted similar language proposed by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., on a separate foreign aid

At the White House, presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater repeated U.S. determination to leave Haiti to solve its own problems. "We have no plans for involvement at this time," Fitzwater said.

The Organization of American States, which had been scheduled to meet Friday on the Haitian crisis, postponed its meeting until Monday to permit Haiti's foreign minister to come to Washington and present his government's views to the body.

The OAS is to consider a resolution deploring the country's violence, calling for self-determination by the Haitian people and stating its opposition to any outside intervention in the country.

Tensions in Haiti have been high since Sunday, when rampaging bands of sonore than two dozen would-be voters at polling places, forcing cancellation of national elections.

House approves $76 billion cut for budget pact

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The House approved a massive $587 billion spending bill Thursday that would push Congress to meet its deficit reduction goals but also risk a presidential veto because of a rash of attached controversies.

"This is the first step that I believe must be taken...to move against the deficit and begin a coordinated effort by the two political parties," said House Majority Leader Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash.

But House Republican leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., said beneath the rhetoric was a package laden with special-interest spending, a bloated monster created by Democrats acting "as a legislative Dr. Frankenstein."

"This is government by appetite and I'd respectfully suggest the Democratic leadership put itself on a legislative diet," he

Despite opposition from most Republicans, the bill was approved 248-170 and sent to the Senate. A GOP attempt to send the package back to committee was also beaten by Democrats on a 220-198 party-line vote.

virtually all government operations in fiscal 1988, which began Oct. 1. Military and domestic spending, which under normal procedures is governed by 13 separate bills, was wrapped into a single package.

The House voted 236-177 to bring the bill in line with the $76 billion, deficit-reduction pact worked out by congressional and White House negotiators before Thanksgiving. The bill would be altered to increase military and foreign aid spending and cut domestic programs, but details of those changes were left for later, after the Senate approves its version of the bill.

As it worked through a stack of amendments, the House:

■ Voted to extend for 8♥ months the Clean Air Act. The brief extension, which would allow efforts to strengthen the anti-pollution law to continue next year, was approved by voice vote after the House rejected 257-162 a 19-month extension supported by industry.

Reinstated by a 259-157 vote the "Fairness Doctrine," which requires broadcasters to provide time for the airing of both sides of controversial issues. The Federal Communications Commission ceased enforcing the longstanding regulation this year and Reagan vetoed an earlier congressional attempt to restore it.

Woven into the legislation The spending bill would cover were dozens of relatively small spending items sought by individual members of Congress for their districts - new highway lanes, railroad spurs, post office improvements and other spending commonly referred to as "pork barrel."

Former principal wants old job

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. - Nearly three years after accusations of sexual misconduct threw Joseph Escobedo's life into turmoil, the former elementary school principal is trying to pick up the pieces of his career.

The 52-year-old educator said Thursday he is overjoyed that a 12-year-old girl who accused him of fondling her has recanted her story. But his battle for full acceptance is not Escobedo, who spent 20 years with the Denver school district before being suspended in 1985, is petitioning the school board there to be reinstated as an elementary school principal.

The board said Wednesday without elaboration that he would not be rehired. However, he has retained a lawyer to press the case. Escobedo lost his Massachusetts teaching job in June after the allegations caught up with him, and he said he has no firm prospects of a new position soon.

Escobedo said he decided to tell what happened only after girl's parents went public with the truth last week.

"It was a horrendous ordeal and very trying on myself and my family," he said. "It is a very difficult thing to fight. "A youngster says something, and it becomes an emotional issue, and you have no recourse, even though you haven't been charged with anything." Escobedo said his ordeal started innocuously in early 1985, after he helped the girl off a piece of playground equipment. "She alleged that I had touched her on the playground," he said. "The allegation is just there and without substance, but it provides that cloud that just hangs over you, and you can't do anything about it."

Two other children subsequently complained that they also had been touched by Escobedo. He was suspended.

Jesse Jackson charms farmers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Jesse Jackson, the lone Democrat to accept an invitation to a farm conference, followed four Republicans to the podium Thursday to charm an audience of white farmers with talk of unity with the urban poor.

Jackson told people attending the ADAPT2 conference that absence of the other Democratic presidential candidates was proof that family farmers being displaced from their land needed to align themselves with unemployed workers and the poor if they were ever going to wield political clout.

"Maybe that's the reason other candidates are not here it's just a meeting of farmers in Kansas City," Jackson said at the conference, which was devoted to teaching the 3,000 farmers who registered about alternative crops and others ways to generate additional income from their land. "And maybe (they feel) there is not enough of them to make a difference. So they'll go someplace else. The urban black, the rural white could all come together. Family farmer, you are right trying to adapt, but your patch isn't big enough. When we put all the patches together, we have a coalition." Later, about 100 people gathered into a room to hear more

"Jesse, I want to be your secretary of agriculture," said Wayne Clark, a middle-aged white man in cowboy boots and jeans from Duval, Texas.

Jackson picked out about a half-dozen people from Iowa in the crowd and had them sign up with his campaign aides, enlisting pledges from them that they would participate in the state caucuses.

Poisonous water kills children

HARARE, Zimbabwe - Contaminated water from a well near a school killed two children and forced 33 of their classmates to be hospitalized, education officials said Thursday.

At least 88 other children, three teachers and several parents also were poisoned but were recovering at home, said Mashonalnd Provincial Education Director Mark Kadenge.

Police and health officials were testing the water to determine whether it had been contaminated deliberately or whether typhoid had broken out in the well.

Victims first began complaining of stomach cramps and headaches Nov. 18 at the Inyagui Primary School near Goromonzi, about 32 miles east of Harare.

Man may have died days later

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - A man who police believed killed his girlfriend and then himself on the same night last month may instead have been alive for a number of days before committing suicide, according to his mother and a coroner.

The case received national attention when Matthew Madl's 17-month-old daughter, Linda Cox, was found alive in the house containing the bodies of Madl, his girlfriend and their 2-month-old daughter. Authorities said Linda had apparently survived alone in the house for two to three weeks by drinking water from a toilet and eating potato chips.

City and county law enforcement officials have said the deaths inside the Kansas City, Kan., house occurred the weekend of Nov. 7. But Mary Frances Ramirez, Madl's mother, said she spoke with her son Nov. 19.

"That one day is going to burn in my memory," Ramirez told the Kansas City Star in a story published Friday. She said there was no indication during the conversation that anything

Dr. Alan Hancock, the Wyandotte County coroner, said Madl's body did not appear to be as decomposed as that of his girlfriend, Angela Cox. He said it was possible that Madl died a few days after Cox, but that it was unlikely he died as late as Nov. 19.

"It would fit," said Hancock, who had examined the bodies. "There may have been a few days' difference. I can't say there was, but it's reasonable."

Boston hotel throws in sponge

BOSTON - Maids at the swank Copley Plaza Hotel won't have to drop to their knees to scrub floors after all, the hotel said Thursday.

"In an effort to avoid any misunderstanding over this issue, and at the same time to provide the cleanest accommodations possible, the hotel will provide mops, cloths and everything else the chamberperson needs," said a statement read by Melanie Marcus, a spokeswoman for Hotels of Distinction Inc., which manages the Copley Plaza.

The issue began Nov. 10 when the maids were ordered to turn in their mops, said Dominic Bozzotto, president of Local 26 of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union.

Signs addressed to the maids read: "There will be no mops used in the rooms of this hotel until further notice! Please help yourself to as many clean rags as you like for hand washing

This means that they can only clean with their hands, and that means they'll be on their hands and knees," Bozzotto-said earlier this week.

Holiday Gift Book Sale

30-50% OFF

Topics include

children's books, cookbooks,

bestsellers, art, architecture,

history, reference, sports,

nature, picture books,

and more!

9-9 Mon.-Sat.

Noon-5 Sun.

Campus Bulletin

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 5 p.m. in Shellenberger 110 for a fruitcake bake.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of William Henry Turlington at 3 p.m. in Call 140. The topic is: "The Effects of Protein, Carbohydrate and Fat Sources on Nutrient Digestibility of the Early Weaned

ARMY ROTC meets at 6 a.m. in Aheam.

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet all afternoon at University Photography in Aggieville for composite pictures.

WOMEN'S RESOURCE CENTER has scheduled a program at noon in the Union 213. The topic is: "In Search of Strategies Designed to Improve the Academic Performance and Persistence of Young Black Females."

FOOD SCIENCE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. at Winston Place Clubhouse for a Christmas

TAU BETA PI meets at 6:30 p.m. in Union Flint Hills room for initiation and Company of the Year banquet, honoring Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory. Cost is $7

FREE DELIVERY

Restaurant

1304 Westloop 10% off with KSU IDE

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's

YOGURT!

Frozen Yogurt Stores

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

539-8888

539-0888

at 5:30 p.m. at the Lambda Chi house for ARTS AND SCIENCES COUNCIL

FONE CRISIS CENTER vounteer training session is from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at University For Man House, 1221 Thurston St. For

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 8 p.m. in

PRE-VET CLUB meets from 8 a.m. to 4

SUNDAY

PRE-VET CLUB meets from 1 to 4 p.m.

DELTA TAU DELTA LITTLE SIS-

LAMBDA CHI LITTLE SISTERS meet

TERS meet at 7 p.m. at the Delt house. All pledges will be taking their pledge tests.

more information call 532-6565.

p.m. for Hired Hand Day.

for Hired Hand Day.

meets at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

MENNONITE STUDENT GROUP meets at 6:30 p.m. at 1116 Bluemont, Apt. 4.

TGIF TERRIFIC BUFFET JOIN MANHATTAN'S TGIF TRADITION!

> No membership needed For restaurant & bar! Open To Public!

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

NEW! JUST IN TIME FOR THE HOLI

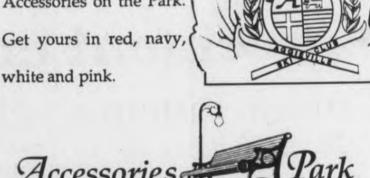

ust off the

The press! hottest and idea newest sweatshirts comes to Accessories on the Park.

white and pink.

708 North Manhattan Avenue, Aggieville, 537-0707 holiday hours: Mon.-Thur.: 10-8:30, Fri.&Sat.: 10-6:00, Sun.: 1-5:00

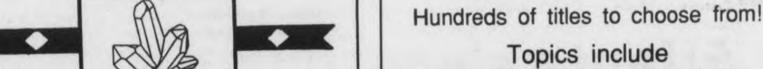

1124 MORO AGGIEVILLE

"Beautiful objects from the earth."

Fine Minerals & Gifts

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-6 MONDAY-SUNDAY

Gems, Jewelry, Crystals,

10-8 THURSDAY

Ring In Some Holiday Cheer For Others With Pizza Hut. 6th ANNUAL CANNED GOODS

Bring 3 Canned Goods and we'll deduct $2.50 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA

Bring 2 Canned Goods and we'll deduct $1.50 OFF ANY

LARGE or MEDIUM PIZZA CANNED GOODS ARE DONATED TO THE FLINT HILLS BREADBASKET OFFER GOOD THRU DEC. 21, 1987

* NOT GOOD WITH ANY OTHER SPECIAL OFFER OR COUPON DINE-IN, CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY

AGGIEVILLE 539-7666 WESTLOOP 539-7447 3RD & MORO 776-4334

KSU Gets a "D" from Santa!

A Holiday computer special for K-State Staff and Students

$ 995 for a complete Leading Edge Model "D"

This "Best Buy" system includes full PC compatibility, 2 disk drives, 512K memory, high resolution mono monitor, word processor, speller, merge, DOS and an amazing 20 month warranty.

Connecting Po

1115 Westloop Shopping Center Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

539-0511

OPEN 7 DAYS WEEKDAYS til 8:00

Backless Body Briefer

1224 Moro Aggieville

Foundations for Formal Dresses: · Strapless · Backless · Black · Hosiery

K-State cheerleaders qualify for top national competition

By Jeff Stead Collegian Reporter

The K-State cheerleaders really have something to yell about now.

Thursday night they were notified that they have qualified for the national cheerleading competition in San Diego, January 8-11.

"We're really excited," said Scott Johnson, sponsor and assistant instructor of animal sciences and industry. "It's like making the Final Four in basketball. It's recognition for all of the hard work we've done."

The competition gives the cheerleaders a chance to perform for themselves instead of for the football or basketball games, John-

They will be performing a threeminute routine which includes a cheer, a sideline routine and a routine to music.

Four members of the squad will be making their second trip to the national competition. Brett Bromich, senior in marketing; Jim Thorp, senior in information systems; Cheryl Skidmore, graduate in elementary education; and Kris Tulp, senior in journalism and mass communications, were on the squad two years ago when they qualified.

"Last time we were really happy to make it, this time we want to win," said Bromich, squad cocaptain.

To prepare for this year's competition, the squad is planning to practice a lot harder over Christmas break. They will be practicing for two hours, three times a day, Bromich said.

The squad has to work its competition preparations around its regular schedule.

"It makes it really tough," Bromich said, "We'll do most of our practicing after Christmas."

The 14-member squad sent in an audition tape which was scored by the UCA on composure and projection, cheering fundamentals, group technique, overall group effect and footage from the season on crowd effect, Johnson said.

New telephone number creates added expense for crisis center

By Brett Hacker Collegian Reporter

The FONE Crisis Center is in a crisis of its own these days. Its phone number is being changed and volunteers to man phones at the center are

The phone number is changing because of increasing phone costs, said Linda Ekdahl-Crabb, center director. The Student Governing Association has decided to have the FONE center's number changed from a campus number to an offcampus number. This will reduce expense caused by the center not being offically located on campus.

The center has had the same phone number since it was founded in 1969. though. This causes Ekdahl-Crabb to be concerned about the service's users and their reaction when they are unable to reach the center at its original number.

The center, funded primarily by SGA, has a yearly budget of $13,000. The majority of that pays rent at the University for Man house, the cen- about to commit sucide, and they're ter's location. It also pays two full- on a pay phone, and they get 'I'm sor-

Sniffin' around for something to do?!

We're smelling good!

TONIGHT

IN/OUT

SATURDAY

lines, office supplies and postage.

The limited budget, Ekdahl-Crabb said, is why she is concerned about changing the phone number. "The decision to change the number has caused a great amount of grief...with that you have publicity and the cost of publicity," she said.

However, Mark Burns, coordinator of finances for SGA, said SGA recently made an allowance of $225 to increase publicity for the center. It will fund posters and flyers announcing the change.

Other problems the center has had are not all its own fault, Ekdahl-Crabb said. A advertisement in the Collegian listed the wrong dates for a recent training session, reducing the session's turnout and the number of possible future volunteers.

In the 18-year history of the center, they have never lost a suicide caller, which is amazing, Ekdahl-Crabb said. The center averages about 25 suicidal callers each year.

"If you have someone who is

TAVERN

weekend

at the Dam Site"

SUNDAYS

time workers, for the three phone ry that number has been changed to...' do you think they're going to bother to call back?" Ekdahl-Crabb

> The center is located at 1221 Thurston St. and is open from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily. Its phone number is 532-6565.

> The center's new number will start Jan. 1, but it has not been issued yet.

> Volunteers man the phones in three shifts. The first starts at 5 p.m. until 8 p.m., the second 8 p.m. to midnight and a third one stretches from midnight to 8 a.m. The center currently has 30 volunteers, but Ekdahl-Crabb said that two volunteers on each shift would be optimum.

> It's important to have training sessions for the volunteers, Ekdahl-Crabb said. The sessions give volunteers background on how to handle certain types of calls.

The center's next training session is 8:30 a.m., Dec. 5 at the UFM

■ See FONE, Page 5

Horticultural Services • Garden Center •

the Christmas tree located in the lobby of Lafene Health Center by adding a new pair of mittens.

> Proceeds go to: Crisis Center Head Start Manhattan Shelter (all mitten sizes needed.)

Sponsored by: LAFENE Health Center

Tax answers given Student money affected

By Paula Selby

Collegian Reporter

Students with scholarships or fellowships may be having questions about how the Tax Reform Act of 1986 has changed what is considered taxable income and whether they will have to file an income tax return. Students were supplied at fall registration with a memorandum explaining the implications the new tax laws will have on students, and there are plans to do so again at spring registration, said Larry Viterna, director of student financial assistance.

Ted Ayres, general counsel for the Board of Regents, prepared the memorandum to alert recipients of scholarships, fellowships and tuition remission or reduction to the changes in how financial assistance is treated, Viterna said.

Scholarships or fellowships granted after Aug. 16, 1986, will fall under the new tax reform laws. Financial assistance payments are considered taxable income if the student receives an amount exceeding tuition and fees, the memorandum

Therefore, according to the memorandum, if the student receives a full-ride scholarship or assistance covering "expenses for room and board, travel, research, clerical help, income tax returns. equipment and other expenses that are not actually required for enrollment at the school or in a course," those excess funds would be taxable Scholarships and fellowships are considered accountable income if they compensate for past, present or future services from an institution. The same rule applies if the scholarship covers studies or research pri- be filling out tax returns," Viterna marily for the benefit of the said. institution.

If a student receives payment for teaching, research or other services provided to the institution as a condition of a scholarship, those amounts are considered wages. In this case, the student will need to file a W-2

The memorandum said the U.S. Congress may provide technical amendments to the new tax code to clarify how graduate fellowships, research and teaching assistantships and other forms of financial assistance are handled.

Now that some of the technical amendments have been announced, Viterna said, as far as he knows at this point, the amendments did not make any further changes in how stu-

No one is required to file a Kansas tax return unless they earn $2,700 during a given year. Amounts received for scholarships in excess of qualified tuition and fees will count as part of that total income.

If students do not know whether to file tax returns, they should call a local tax adviser.

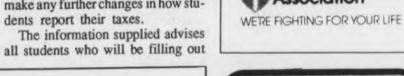

"But most students won't have to

Employed students who will be filing tax returns in order to receive money that has been withheld should not have to pay additional taxes for their scholarship or fellowship, Viterna said.

The memorandum said it does not supply comprehensive or specific advice for individual situations, so anyone with more specific questions should seek consultation with a personal tax adviser.

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

decorative pan. Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Fruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

How-Much-Shrimp-Can-You-Eat? A great deal on a great dinner combo! only $6.49

A choice Sirloin Stockade steak cooked to perfection, and all you can eat of our crispy, batter-fried shrimp. Includes your choice of baked potato or french fries and our fantastic salad, hot food and dessert bar. Available for a limited time only

Closed Class List

204-40 204-70 204-40 204-70 205-70 205-70 205-70 205-80 205-70 206-80 35340 35340 35420 35500 35510 35570 35770 35780 35980 36980 36000 36010 36050 36050 36050 33,500 33,400 33,400 33,510 33,510 33,510 33,510 33,510 33,510 33,510 33,710 34,710

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 4, 1987 ■ Page 4

Advice to lovelorn K-State students read your columns. I am always too busy with more pressing concerns (like trying to, once and for all, label my hair as dry, normal or oily) to read that part of the editorial page. But now my love life, and not my hair care, is my most pressing concern. I hope you can

My sob story goes something like this: Once upon a time, I met this very nice guy at a party. He was interesting, and I was interested. So I pursued him. Time out. I know girls aren't supposed to pursue guys (so says my mother), but I consider myself a little more open-minded than Mom is.

Eventually we went out. One thing lead to another and, before long, we had this enjoyable, budding romance on our hands. Perhaps I took it too seriously; perhaps I fell too quickly; or perhaps I chew my food with my mouth open. Whatever the reason, he decided to get back with his old girlfriend. He canceled our weekend plans, which doesn't really bother me, because I was needing some free time to clip my toenails.

What bothers me, Mr. Advicegiver, is the big picture. Of course, I was hurt. But what do I do about the hurting? Am I supposed to be dumped and like it? Am I supposed to mope

A good friend of mine suggested that you may be able to help me. I personally never read your columns. I am always too busy with Sometimes a puppy will suffice around, have a prolonged mourning period, and then go my merry way? Or am I supposed to fight to get him back?

My friends have given me conflicting advice. Some say if he really means something to me, then I should let it show - put forth some effort, bust an ego. He will be flattered. Maybe he will want to get back together. Other friends think I should ignore him. They say that if I act like I don't care, or if I act like I can get along just fine without him, he will suddenly want me back. Maybe he will want to get back together. Still others say to forget about him totally since he is the one who broke off the relationship in the first place. They always point out that at least 8,499 other men attend K-State.

Another friend told me to write a letter to you. At first I resisted because that would mean I'd have to read your column. But if you can give me some answers on the best way to put love back into my love life, it may just be worth it.

> Signed, A Lady in Limbo

Dear Limbo Lady, There are no easy answers to questions of Commentary

Columnist the heart, especially to the one you are pos-

JEFF

SCHRAG

Collegian

ing. What is the best way to attract a member of the opposite sex? Should you shower them with attention or taunt them with distance? I wish I knew the answer to your question, trust

(more than Ronald Reagan loves the Con- is more truthful: "Anything worth having is tras). Any rating beneath a "seven" is not worth your sweat or tears. You are just suffering from "attention withdrawal," which is very common and very similar to emotions that professional wrestlers feel when they realize that their entire television audience could actually fit in the ring with them. I am not calling you a professional wrestler. I am merely saying that average human beings like attention, and naturally feel depressed when they suddenly receive less attention than they are accustomed to. The feeling will pass before too long. If it does not, I suggest buying a puppy to fill the void you are experiencing. The little dog may dump on you, but in a different way than humans do.

However, if you would rate your attraction to him as an "eight" or higher, we are right back where we started. You obviously want me, I really wish I knew! All I can do is give to continue the relationship, because, if you some hints for lovelorn individuals like nothing else, you don't feel that it has reached its natural conclusion. This being the case, First, evaluate how much you love this you are obviously beyond feeling sorry for character on a scale from one (less than a poi- yourself. You are in the position where you sonous snake that is about to strike) to 10 are weighing which of the following phrases worth fighting for," or "If you love something, let it go. If it comes back to you, it is yours; if it doesn't, it never was."

WE CAN'T ALLOW THEM TO SEND BOAT LOADS OF CRIMINALS OVER HERE,

In my opinion, the truth lies somewhere between the two. Don't be a spineless jellyfish. Don't give him the impression you will do anything to get him back. However, don't sit back and let others run your life. That is your job, even if you don't do a very good job

Accordingly, if you are tempted to play mind games with him - pretending not to care or attempting to make him jealous - be aware that playing these games will only lead to more games. It is only fun to be involved in mind games if you are the one making the rules. They can easily backfire, and perhaps then you may not even be able to salvage a friendship out of the past relationship.

Above all, don't think that you are the only one in the world who is experiencing the emotions and confusion which you are feeling. Usually, those things in life which bring the greatest joy and reward if they succeed are the same ones which bring the greatest pain if they fail. Otherwise, their success would not be nearly so sweet, and the knowledge which leads to that success would not be nearly so precious.

Contamination lawsuit shouldn't be surprise

Riley County Commissioners shouldn't have been surprised when her $1 million plus lawsuit was presented to them at their Thursday meeting. The storm has been brewing for quite some time.

Water contamination was detected in Sweet's private well near the Riley County Landfill more than two years ago. Since being notified by state officials that the water was unsafe for cooking, drinking or bathing, she has hauled water to her home in 5-gallon jugs. Her sink, shower and toilet are coated with a rusty film. Her plumbing is ruined. She boils water to bathe in.

Now winter is quickly approaching and Sweet is faced with another problem. Her furnace went out last spring and her bank refuses to finance her further because of the contamination.

Last spring, Sweet and several others in the Moehlman Bottoms community hired a lawyer in an attempt to get some results. County

ner. Tuition, books and housing have taken a big chunk out of the shrinking bank accounts of students. Finals are coming up, your boss won't schedule you any hours, and the emergency student loan money is gone. So you think about picking up a few Christmas presents by using

If you find this to be an accurate description of yourself, then take these words of advice: Don't even think about shoplifting your way through the money crunch. Shoplifting is a crime and the shoplifter a criminal. The Manhattan merchants either.

your financial situation.

Charlene Sweet got tired of Commissioners responded positively at first, voting to install a benefit water district to supply residents with city water. Now the water lines are nearly complete.

> But the action stops there. Sweet is to get city water, but said she needs plumbing in order to use it. Three letters were recently written asking Riley County Commissioners for help. Her attorney said the letters were ignored. The lawsuit was filed, he said, because it appeared the county intended to do nothing for

An issue that could have been settled through a minor amount of negotiation could turn into a lengthy battle - one that could be costly to all parties involved.

Landfills exist in 104 other counties in Kansas, with the potential existing for similar contamination problems in each one. Many eyes will be on city and county officials to see how the case will be handled. Both agencies must do their best to settle the case as quickly and equitably as possible.

Everyone knows what a financial challenge it is to attend college these days. With President Reagan caring more about Contra aid than student aid, and Gov. Hayden giving all our money to the potholes, our situation does not look promising. But our future. Your resume will not look very good with a shoplifting conviction. It could also endanger your standing here at K-State. So please, for your own sake, don't shoplift. It gives us all a bad name and you a bad record. We don't need

AMERICA.

THIS IS

WE DON'T HAVE ENOUGH JAILS TO KEEP THEM IN...

Letters

Test not hard

Editor,

For the longest time, I always wanted a column in a small newspaper. I always thought it would be in a newspaper in a small town or a school paper, but after what I read in three issues of last week's paper, I came to the profound conclusion that I couldn't do it. I get too emotional about what other people

It all started with a letter to the editor in Monday's paper titled "Learn to Teach." I think the author is too quick to judge the instructor in the math department, because I am in the class she is talking about. On the surface, it is easy to blame the instructor, but if she had done two minutes of research, it would have been apparent that she was wrong.

Take a look at the exam. Not only did it have every equation needed to do the exam, but 75 percent of it could have been done correctly with the ability to use a calculator. The test wasn't too long, and it wasn't too difficult.

You might think it is easy for me to say this since I was one of the 3 percent to get an A, but there are some additional facts that support what I am saying. I am 24 years old, have been out of school for six years and have never had this math class before in my life. Everything that I have learned in his class, he taught me.

I think that more than half of the 84 percent of the people who received a 70 or below could blame it on themselves. Heck, somebody got a 0 on a multiple choice math test. Maybe a better alternative is to have the students take a class on how to study.

All of this about the math test backs up my feelings about open admissions. I almost hit the ceiling when I read Wednesday's editorial about it. Allowing anyone to go to school anywhere causes problems just like this. This school needs admission restrictions a lot more than anyone realizes.

Everyone has the right to further their education, but if someone had a lot of trouble in high school, they need to go to a city or community college first where they can get the extra attention that only small schools can

People might think it will hurt the community colleges' reputations, but that is why we have them.

the editor titled "Bookstore Protest." For the out having the passage way blocked. sake of argument, Playboy and Penthouse do distract from the educational atmosphere. So let's get rid of everything in the bookstore the doors look the same. You walk around for that does. We'll get rid of those greeting a while and then you can never remember cards, those posters and all of those magazines. The bookstore is a convenience to students.

If we got rid of those two magazines, we would have to get rid of everything in the store except for textbooks and school supplies. So what if the University of Kansas doesn't sell them? The schools don't own the bookstores; they are run for the school.

No, I don't need a column of my own, it is much more fun to act on your emotions and write what you feel.

Jon Kirkland freshman in nuclear engineering

A busy place

Have you ever been shopping in a zoo? Well, if you have been to the Manhattan Town Center mall, you know what I am talking about. The place is like a mad house. If you were to take roll call out there, I bet that all the yard apes from Manhattan High School would be present.

Everyone is excited about having a new mall in town, so they all want to go and see it. After a while the people will get tired of going all the time. But at the moment, it has become the local hangout for people of all ages. Therefore, the place gets hectic at times. Everybody runs around like a bunch of wild animals.

It is probably the easiest place in town to get lost in, so if you plan to go there to shop, you had better take a map.

People go to the mall to shop or just to walk around with friends and kill time. It is a great place to shop since you can find everything you need there. If you have a couple of hours to spare for standing in line, maybe you would like to try out one of the great eating places. The mall also has live entertainment almost 24 hours a day, but I think that hurts more than it helps. Sure it attracts a bunch of people, but that is the main problem. So many are there that it is almost impossible to shop. All the people gather around to watch the entertainment, and it blocks the way from one end of the mall to the other. It is hard enough

And the final straw was in Friday's letter to trying to find your way out of the place with-

The mall has "hundreds" of doors going into the place, but when you try to go out, all which door you came in. The place is like a maze; once you find the exit it is never the right one. Then you end up walking all the way around the building trying to find where you parked your car. It can be very frustrating, but if you like the zoo scene, you will definitely like the Manhattan Town Center

Jason McKee

freshman in industrial engineering

Honest people

Honesty is alive and well on K-State's

Just before the basketball game started Monday evening, I left my purse, only for a very few minutes. When I returned the purse was gone. However, a friendly stranger told me, "A lady found a purse and said she was going to turn it in."

Sure enough! At half time a loud speaker announcement said, "A ladies purse has been turned in to the score keepers' table."

I had enjoyed watching the first half of the basketball game. But, many thanks to a kind lady, I was more at ease with my purse in hand, during the last half of the game. I'm glad I live in such a helpful community. I hope others also have rewarding experiences right here in Kansas, at the center of our great United States of America.

Gerry McManis Manhattan resident

Good decision

Editor,

I would like to applaud Student Senate's recent decision requiring a referendum on future projects. I believe whenever this great of an amount of student money is spent on a single project, the entire student body should have input. I also believe the referendum will increase student interest in an issue since they can participate in the decision directly as opposed to leaving it up to Student Senate.

Larry Naillieux junior in agricultural economics

Kansas State Collegian

Shoplifting not way to 'pick up' presents

Panic time is here. Money is short will prosecute you if you are caught; and Christmas is just around the cor- a definite way to ruin Christmas.

the old five-finger discount to ease remember, we are here to improve

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzle Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Changes at Lafene discussed

By Jill Conger Collegian Reporter

Student Senate heard two speakers during the open period and elected a new Faculty Senate representative Thursday during its final meeting of the semester.

The first guest speaker during the open period was Dr. Robert Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center.

Tout informed Senate about the closing of the in-patient service. He said beginning the first of January, the in-patient service will be closed. This means any students requiring more than a 24-hour stay will have to be transferred to another hospital in notified about the closing of the inpatient service, and if a student did have to be transferred, the physicians would be prepared," Tout said.

Senate elects rep to Faculty Senate

Other changes taking place next semester at Lafene include the changing of office hours.

"We are going back to our regular hours of 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. because not enough students were using the facilities while the center was open over noon this semester," Tout said. "The need

"The area physicians have been for us to stay open isn't there, so we decided to go back to our regular hours."

> Shelly Fischer, freshman undecided, spoke to Senate about the location of the Vietnam Memorial, which will be built on the K-State campus within the next year.

> "I feel it is the right time for a memorial to be built, but it is going to be built in the wrong place," Fischer

> Currently the plans call for the memorial to be built north of the entrance of Nichols Hall. Fischer said this is a poor place for the memorial because it would be hidden behind the "huge water cooler that is also located north of Nichols Hall, and because it couldn't be seen from any campus drives.'

Fischer asked the senators to go look at the possible location sites and consider more appropriate locations. She believes Senate will be approached for partial funding for the memorial.

Todd Johnson, freshman in agronomy, was elected unanimously by Senate as the new Faculty Senate representative. Cindy Riemann, freshman in biochemistry and the other nominee for the position, declined her nomination.

Nebraska may host nuclear waste site

By The Associated Press

Odds are that Nebraska will be the site for a five-state dump for low-level radioactive wastes, a state environmental official said.

Jim Neal, Nebraska Department of Environmental Control public affairs officer, said he thinks Nebraska has "more than a 50-50 chance" of being selected to host the waste dump.

If Nebraska is selected, it will be about three years before construction starts on the dump, Neal said Wednesday.

About three years will be needed to select the specific site, Orleans to pick the host state.

study plans for the facility and make other preparations before construction begins, he said.

Federal regulations require that the dump begin accepting waste from the Central Interstate Low-

Level Radioactive Waste Com-

pact's five member states in 1993. The compact is made up of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The compact's commission is scheduled to meet in Kansas City, Mo., on Tuesday to create a formula for choosing a host state for the waste site. Another meeting is scheduled for Dec. 15 in New

Sabotage of Seoul Olympics feared

By The Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea - The suspected bombing of a South Korean airliner has stirred new fears that communist North Korea may attempt to sabotage the 1988 Seoul Olympics.

South Korean leaders have charged their archrival was behind the disappearance of the Korean Air plane and threatened to end all talks with the north on ensuring the success of the Seoul games.

"It is a plain fact that North Korea has intensified its provocative moves," President Chun Doo-hwan told a special cabinet meeting on the lost plane.

Officials in Seoul say the disappearance of the KAL Boeing 707 on Nov. 29 somewhere near Burma had all the hallmarks of a North Korean attack.

They believe a bomb hidden on the determined to "liberate" the south. plane tore it apart in midair with the loss of all 115 people on board and point to a long string of North Korean attacks on the south since the end of the Korean War.

The two Koreas, divided since 1945, technically are still at war since a peace treaty was never signed at the end of the Korean War in 1953 in which millions were killed and wounded. North Korea has said it is

For years, South Korean leaders have used the threat of North Korean invasion or terrorism as a justification for some of their more unpopular policies.

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat 5 pm to Midnight Call 537-1484

Come one come all!

Start your day with a homemade cookie!

Homemade Cookie Sale

Eisenhower Hall December 7, 1987 8:00 to 12:00

(or as long as the cookies last) Brownies, Christmas cookies, all shapes and sizes, coffee and cocoa also available Sponsored by Phi Alpha Theta

NAB's TASTE TEST NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

Saturday, December 5, 1987 Manhattan Town Center 1 - 4pm

Sponsored by: M.H.S. SADD

MADD ALCOHOL & OTHER DRUG EDUCATION SERVICE

"FREE Recipe Booklet"

FONE

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

house, Registration is from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. Guest speakers will address subjects that range from suicide prevention to counseling farmers and their families.

"If you are 18 years old, what do you say to a battered woman with three small kids or a farmer that has lost his farm?" Ekdahl-Crabb said.

relief services like the Farmers Assistance Counseling Training Service at night and on the weekends. The center is reimbursed $100 a month from FACTS.

Some of the hardest calls are from the FACTS line because "a lot of these people are losing their farms and are not just losing a piece of property - but generations of (family) history," Ekdahl-Crabb said.

"Suicide calls seem to come later in the night, the later the call, usually the more serious the nature," she said. "The caller has been thinking about their problem most of the night, so an effort is made to put the more experienced people on the latenight shifts."

The center averages about eight calls a night, but the work load goes The center also helps other phone in cycles, said Ekdahl-Crabb. Holidays, midterm and final times are always busy, she said.

"Sometimes people come down here and think they are going to save the world. They think 'I am going to work at the phone and I am going to save every person that calls in with every problem.' One of the things we have all found out is that we don't change people, people change themselves. You can't tell them how to live their lives," she said.

Ekdahl-Crabb said part of the problem with getting volunteers is a lack of interest.

"(This is the) take-care-ofyourself generation. People aren't interested in social work like they once were," Ekdahl-Crabb said.

The center's volunteers call two elderly ladies, "ring-a-day ladies," daily to check on their health and just to give them companionship, Ekdahl-Crabb said.

Last year, the center handled 3,500 calls, but that number has already been surpassed this year.

SATURDAY oled ned soon lifting Lucauri he

CHARLIE'S 4th ANNIVERSARY PARTY!

Cover Charge: A Canned Good

VFFK A

NEW SOUND with DJ Rich Deiss previously a radio DJ All Current Top 40 Music Great New Drink Specials FREE NACHOS 4-7 p.m. 25° DRAWS $150 PITCHERS Student's Y $100 MARGARITAS Dream SCREWDRIVERS and

BLOODY MARYS

75° DRAWS

Y $250 PITCHERS Across from Holidome 2304 Stagg Hill Rd.

Open to the Public 537-8440

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation! KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE

$29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

DECEMBER 4 & 5 8:00 P.M.

General Public 85 Students/Senior Citizens $4 Nichols Box Office (532-6398) through December 4 McCain Box Office evenings of performance

DANCE PROGRAM, DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

$5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzle 103.

Agreement possible on arms

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan said Thursday there is a reasonably good chance the superpowers can agree in Moscow next year to eliminate 50 percent of their strategic nuclear weapons, the most dangerous arms on Earth.

He made the evaluation of prospects for such a far-reaching agreement in a television interview four days before Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev arrives for a summit and the signing of a treaty to ban intermediate-range nuclear missiles, known as INF.

Reagan was interviewed by the anchormen from four networks — ABC, CNN, CBS and NBC.

Gorbachev, in an NBC interview earlier this week that was broadcast in the United States and the Soviet Union, also offered an optimistic assessment for a strategic arms accord next year.

"There are real prospects ahead of us...We believe that it is possible to do a lot of work with this present administration so...we could make headway on this major direction in the area of arms control," Gorbachev

Reagan said opposition to the INF United States. He and Reagan will Reagan considers plan for nuclear elimination treaty — centered among conservative Republicans, including most GOP candidates for president — was "based on a lack of knowledge" about what is in the agreement.

"Some of the people who are objecting the most and just refusing even to accede to the idea of ever getting any understanding, whether they realize it or not, those people basically down in their deepest thoughts have accepted that war is inevitable," Reagan said.

Despite the prospects of deep cuts in the superpowers' nuclear arsenals, Reagan said he still sees the Soviet Union as "an evil empire."

But he spared Gorbachev from tough criticism. He said Gorbachev "inherited" the stationing of 115,000 Soviet troops in Afghanistan and might not know that the government there was a puppet regime installed by his predecessors.

Gorbachev arrives in Washington on Monday on his first visit to the sign the INF treaty on Tuesday and hold meetings through Thursday on a possible 50 percent cutback in strategic weapons and other subjects.

The two leaders have tentatively agreed to meet again in Moscow by mid-1988, perhaps to sign a treaty on 50 percent cuts in the strategic weapons.

Asked if he would be heartbroken if the lack of an agreement prevented him from going to Moscow, Reagan said, "I think I'd stop short of that, but I'd be very disappointed. And I just don't think it's going to happen.

"I think we're going to have a meeting in Moscow and I think there is a reasonably good chance that we will make another gigantic step forward in the elimination of nuclear weapons."

Defending the INF treaty, Reagan said, "I hope it's going to sail through" the Senate, acknowledging that much of the opposition comes from his fellow conservatives. He said the critics "particularly were ignorant of the advances that have been made in verification. No treaty before has ever been based on as much verification and on-site inspection and so forth as this one."

Addressing concerns that the treaty will leave NATO allies outnumbered by East bloc conventional forces, Reagan said there still will be thousands of tactical battlefield weapons that can be fired by artillery.

Referring to a 1983 address in Orlando, Fla., that contained some of his toughest criticism of the Kremlin, Reagan said, "I haven't changed from the time when I made a speech about an evil empire." Quoting a Soviet proverb, Reagan said his philosphy is "trust but verify."

He said all Soviet leaders over the years have endorsed the Marxist concept of expansionism and "that the future lay in a one-world communist state." However, he said, Gorbachev "has never made that claim but is willing to say he is prepared to live with other philosophies and other countries."

On Afghanistan, Reagan said he would not accept any plan to with-draw Soviet forces that was contingent upon a cutoff of U.S. aid to the Afghan resistance.

KU to give students 'safe sex' packets

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE, Kan. — The University of Kansas' Student Senate decided Wednesday to provide funds so condoms and AIDS information can be handed out to students during spring enrollment.

On a nearly unanimous voice vote, the senators voted to allocate $4,325 for use by a task force on AIDS to pay for condoms, advertising and printed information about use of condoms, "safe sex" practices and acquired immune deficiency syndrome. The materials are to be contained in a "safe sex" packet to be handed out to students at the Kansas Union during enrollment Jan. 11-13.

But student body president Jason Krakow, who must sign the bill for it to take effect, said he might veto the senate's funding bill. He said he had been contacted by some individuals and groups that requested he veto the legislation — if it were approved by Senate — and allow them the chance to express their opinions.

Handing out the "safe sex packets" is the second of three phases the task force has formulated.

Pilot, former student of Orville Wright, dies

By The Associated Press

CASSVILLE, Mo. — Larry Enzminger, whose pilot's license was signed by aviation pioneer Orville Wright and who was among America's oldest licensed pilots, died Tuesday.

Enzminger, 97, began his flying career in 1919 and ended it with a final flight on his 90th birthday.

In that 61-year span, he learned to fly in an open cockpit Jenny, was a barnstormer in the 1920s, sold airplanes for Walter Beech — later an airplane tycoon — and piloted 81

Cessnas from Wichita, Kan., to the Royal Canadian Air Force during World War II. He also flew planes for two oil companies and managed a flying service and an airport before retiring at 77. Twelve years ago, Enzminger and his wife, Virginia, moved from Hutchinson, Kan., to Cassville.

Enzminger flew more than 16,000 hours during a career in which he never crashed a plane.

B'nai B'rith Hillel invites you to Shabbat Services

Fonight 8 p.m.

Manhattan
Jewish Congregation
1509 Wreath Ave.

For rides call: Mat 532-6096 David 532-6154

$1²⁵ each

cash and carry

12th and Laramie 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. M.-Sat. 537-9549

COMMONWEALTH THEATRES

MOVIE INFORMATION 539-1291
IN JUNCTION CITY CALL 782-4094

CAMPUS
HEART OF AGGIEVILLE

THE RUNNING MAN R

THE RUNNING MAN F Today at 7 & 9 Mat. Sat. & Sun. at 3 & 5

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

THE PRINCESS BRIDE PG Today at 4:30-7-9:30 Mat. Set. & Sun. at 2

> THE SICILIAN R Today at 4:30-7-9:30 Mat, Sat, & Sun, at 2 BABY BOOM PG

Mat. Set. & Sun. at 2:10
HELLO MARYLOU, PROM NIGHT II

THREE MEN & A BABY PG

PLANES, TRAINS AND AUTOMOBILES R Today at 4:45-7:20-9:25 Mart. Sat. & Sun. at 2:20

And get up to $200 cash back on select Apple add-ons when you purchase a qualifying Apple system by January 2, 1988.

With cash-back this holiday season, there's no better time to take an Apple' personal computer home.

Simply purchase a qualifying Apple IIc, Apple IIcs™ or Macintosh™
Plus system. Buy select Apple add-ons—and get up to $200 cash back.
Choose the Apple add-ons that best fit your needs: the ImageWriter*II printer, the Apple Personal Modern, a second Apple Disk Drive, an Apple Hard Disk 20SC, or Apple Memory Expansion. Add more. Save more.

Which means you can take home a complete Apple system, right away.

All at a price that's easy to afford.

Connecting Point.

formerly Computer Patch

1115 Westloop * 539-0801

Certain restrictions apply. See us for details. Offer subject to availability of product. Apple expressly reserves the right to substitute and delete add-on products.

O PNO Apple Computer, Inc. Apple the Apple large and Image Writer are registered transferred transferred transferred. Inc. Apple Its and Macintush are transferred transferr

EntertainmentFriday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 4, 1987 ■ Page 7

Gregory Alan, senior in dance and theater, performs part of a piece titled "Regenesis" at Wednesday's rehearsal in McCain Auditorium,

WinterDance '87

Concert combines talents

The annual WinterDance '87 concert will combine a collection of professional dancers, faculty and students during its performances at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in McCain Auditorium.

The K-State Dance Workshop, a performing student and faculty ensemble, will perform works in ballet, modern dance and jazz.

"Most of the works on the program will be performed by members of the dance workshop," said Luke Kahlich, associate professor of dance. The group will perform a variety of dances, including one that uses vocals, he said.

Two pieces will be performed by guest artists. The Susan Warden

Instructors Judy Quirk and Luke Kahlich work out details of the dancers, a modern dance company from Kansas City, will be one of the featured special guest artists.

"They will be premiering a new modern work that Susan Warden has done," Kahlich said. Wa den is a for-mer K-State dance professor and has recently received a National Endowment for the Arts, Chorcography Fellowship for the upcoming year.

The other guest artist, Rachael Warren of Hanover, will be performing a solo theater-type piece titled "Dummy Tango," Kahlich said.

Two K-State dance faculty will also be performing in the concert.

Jeffrey Groff, instructor of speech, will be perfoming a solo reconstruction of a Jose Limon piece. Limon, a renowned modern choreographer, Guest dancer Rachael Warren of Hanover checks the heartbeat of her partner in "Dummy Tango." The concert Friday and Saturday evening will feature professional dancers, faculty and students.

first danced the piece in Poland, Groff said. The piece is about Poland after World War II.

"What Limon was trying to get at (in this piece), was this man is running around Warsaw trying to remember what it was like before the war," Groff said. "It's a pretty heavy piece."

The other faculty piece being performed is a modern duet piece with Groff and Judith Quirk, instructor of dance and leisure studies. The piece was choreographed by a friend of Quirk's while she was working with the Cincinnati Ballet.

ballet than it is modern," said Quirk.

The work of Susan Dale, senior in dance, was chosen to be performed by the Dance Workshop. Dale is the only student whose choreographed work was chosen to be performed. Dale's modern piece was chosen after several student works were auditioned. It will be performed by dancers who are not majoring in

Dale said she choreograped the piece after she had listened to the music and she composed what she felt. "I choreographed it with feel-

"I guess it happens to be more of a ings that came from within," Dale

Not only is Dale choreographing dances for the concert, but she will be dancing in it as well.

"The dance concert gives people the opportunity to perform in front of people, and give them more of a stage presence," Dale said. Dale added that through performing, people are able to get over their shyness.

Tickets for the concert are $4 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

Story by Jim Dietz

Photos by Brad Fanshier

Michael Townsley, sophomore in nuclear engineering, looks over the scenery during a rehearsal of "Wipe-out." Tickets for the concert are $4 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

College adapts Dickens' tale in holiday musical production

By Corbin Novotny Collegian Reporter

This holiday the Manhattan Christian College will again perform the Christian adaptation of "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens. Their performances of "The Gospel According to Scrooge," will be at 8 p.m. today and Saturday at Manhattan Middle School, located at "The Gospel According to Scrooge" is a musical written by James Schumacher and directed by Ruby Poulson, associate professor of music at MCC.

9th St. and Poyntz Ave.

In this version, Ebeneezer Scrooge, played by Kevin Kelly, freshman at MCC, shows that his major problem is deeper than excessive greed, which is shown in the original version.

"Scrooge is finally able to grasp the fact that he has made money his god and, through a true change within his heart, he is able to set aside his greed and place God first in his life," Poulson said.

With help from the angels of Christmas past, present and future, Scrooge sees his mistake and changes his life.

"The Gospel According to Scrooge" consists of three different groups from MCC: Celebration Singers, a 30-member choir; Inspiration Ringers, a handbell choir; and New Creation, a small performing

The Inspiration Ringers use the handbells during the production, as well as performing Christmas carols before the production.

New Creation is a group of eight students who travel across the state performing and working with younger people.

They tour every year and just got back from a six-day tour, Poulson

They also traveled to Memphis, Tenn., this semester and performed religious dramas.

This is the second year MCC has performed "A Gospel According to Scrooge.'

It went over so well last year that people asked the school to do it again this year, Poulson said.

"This is the biggest production we ever attempted," she said. "Just about half of the students at Manhattan Christian College are involved in this production."

The groups also took a scene from the play and performed it for the people at the Manhattan Town Center.

The music for "The Gospel According to Scrooge" is written by Tom Elie and John Worre, and is directed by Linda Weis, associate professor of music at MCC.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Discount tickets are given to senior citizens and groups of 10 or more. Tickets can be purchased at MCC, Christian Books & Gifts, Abundant Life Book Store and Cross Reference Book Shop.

Canadian Brass quintet to bring seasonal sound

By The Collegian Staff

"Seventy-six trombones lead the big parade, with one hundred and ten comets close at hand." Well, maybe not quite that many. However, a few of these brass instruments will ring out and into McCain Auditorium at 8 p.m. Sunday.

These tones will be coming from the instruments of the popular quintet The Canadian Brass.

They will present pieces from a wide range of music, with works by Gabrieli and Vivaldi, holiday carols and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The Canadian Brass is a group composed of two trumpets (Frederick Mills and Ronald Romm), a French horn (David Ohanian), a trombone (Eugene Watts), and a tuba (Charles Daellenbach). They perform on a specially matched set of 24-karat gold-plated Yamaha instruments originally designed by Renold Schilke.

They first appeared on the musical scene in 1970, and have been accredited with revolutionizing brass music and establishing the brass quintet as a vital force in the musical world.

The key to The Canadian Brass' performance style is communication between the artists and their audiences.

"It's important that people get involved in the music," said tuba player Charles Daellenbach. "We feel a responsibility to see to it that the audience has fun. A good performance isn't enough - people have to go out feeling happy."

The New York Times has written the Canadian Brass is acclaimed for their "brilliant virtuosity and ensemble playing of remarkable unanimity. They add appropriate commentary and tasteful touches of humor to their concerts."

Their repertoire ranges from baroque to Dixieland and have been described as transcending the "snob barrier" between classical and popular music.

Highlights of the Canadian Brass' 1987-88 season include more than seventy performances in the United States and Canada, with performances in Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Houston, Miami, Milwaukee, Portland, San Francisco and at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C., and concerts with the Denver, Indianapolis, Phoenix and Toledo symphonies.

The Canadian Brass has appeared on the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, the Today Show, Camera III and Sesame Street. They were the first brass ensemble to play in Carnegie Hall. Tickets for the performance are $18, $16 and $14 for the general public and $14, $12 and $10 for students and senior citizens.

Spotlight

"WinterDance '87" 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday, McCain Auditorium. The Canadian Brass, 8 p.m., Sunday, McCain Auditorium,

"K-State Christmas," KSU Choral Ensembles, 3 p.m., Dec. 13, McCain Auditorium

FILMS K-State Union

"No Way Out," (R), 7 and 9:30,

"Once Upon A Time In America," (R), 7:30, Wednesday and Thursday, Union Forum Hall; 3:30, Thursday, Union Little Theatre.

Commonwealth Theaters

Campus "The Running Man," (R), daily at

Friday and Saturday, Union Forum 7 and 9; Saturday and Sunday at 3 and 5.

Westloop Cinema 6

"The Princess Bride," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and

Sunday at 2, "Baby Boom," (PG), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10. "Hello Marylou, Prom Night II," (R), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20;

Saturday and Sunday at 2:10. "Three Men and a Baby," (PG), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:20. "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," (R), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday 1. 3:20. "The Sicilian," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at

Seth Childs Cinemas

"Flowers in the Attic," (PG-13), daily at 5, 7:25 and 9:35; Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and 5.

"Fatal Attraction," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2 and 4:30.

"Less Than Zero," (R), daily at 4:50, 7:10 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:25 and 4.

"Like Father Like Son," (PG), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday at 2:15 and 4:40.

"Suspect," (R), daily at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2:05 and 4:30.

"Cinderella," (G), daily at 5:30, 7:15 and 9: Saturday and Sunday at 2, 3:45, 5:30, 7:15 and 9.

Students present views via speeches

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter

Several K-State students had the chance to present their views on campus issues Thursday.

Members of the Public Speaking II presented six persuasive speeches in Nichols Hall Theatre. The speakers chose a campus problem and presented their solution to the problem.

In "Financial Aid Office Needs to Join the 20th Century," Wayne W. Burke, junior in business administraby getting an on-line computer

"I want our University to come up to date and stop being behind the times," Burke said.

Students receiving aid are plagued office's need to update its aid system on time, getting their aid forms lost by the financial aid office, and having to return to the aid office over and over again when trying to find out what is going on with their financial aid, he said.

About 11,000 students of the University's 18,000 students receive financial aid, and about 30 percent of these students have experienced some of these problems, Burke said.

The University of Oklahoma and Washington University in St. Louis have computer systems for their financial aid offices, he said. Out of about 38,000 students, only about 200 students go through any problems with receiving their aid.

In "KSU Admissions Policy: It Ain't Broke," Susan L. Goss and Kristi L. White, both sophomores in business administration, reviewed the Board of Regents' proposal to change the regents' open admissions policy to a selective admissions policy.

In the regents' proposal, students would have to meet one out of three requirements to be admitted to K-State, the University of Kansas or The Wichita State University. The requirements are: 1. Students must make a score of 23 or higher on their ACT test; 2. Students must be in the top one-third of their class; or 3. Have 15 prerequisite classes with a 2.0 grade point average.

Goss and White think the proposed policy discriminates against

The policy could cause reduced enrollment and a potential loss of millions of dollars to the University, Goss said.

"Education is a right, not a privilege," she said. "Let's keep it that

In "Diversification - A Need." Laurian G. Cuffy, senior in business administration, addressed the need for more minority faculty members, namely blacks, on K-State's staff.

"Out of 1,020 educators at K-State, only two of them are black," Cuffy said.

The lack of minority educators stifles diversification, student role modeling - especially for black students, development of a black middle class and black student recruitment, he said.

"It is unfair for students to have to pay fines and the faculty to not have to pay any."

—Krista M. Hershey

Cuffy said in order to solve this problem, K-State President Jon Wefald, Student Senate and Black Student Union need to work together to make a conscious effort to change current conditions. Liaison officers must be sent out to attract minority educators to the University.

"We need to get rid of any indifference in hiring black educators," he said.

"Part-time Students Should Be Allowed to Purchase KSU Season Tickets to Athletic Events," by Mark V. Lacy, junior in business administration, criticized the athletic department's policy of not allowing part-time students to buy football and basketball tickets at reduced student prices.

The athletic department only allows students taking seven or more hours of class and graduate teaching assistants to be able to receive the reduced student ticket rate.

The department also says since full-time students pay more tuition fees, they should benefit from the reduced prices. Lacy said because none of the tuition fees are allotted to the athletic department, this explanation is not plausible. "Not one dime of these fees that we pay goes to the athletic department," Lacy said. Part-time students are just as interested in athletics, but many of them cannot afford to pay the public's rate for season tickets, he said

Lacy proposes sending a petition to the Intercollegiate Athletic Council and Student Senate to attempt to change this policy.

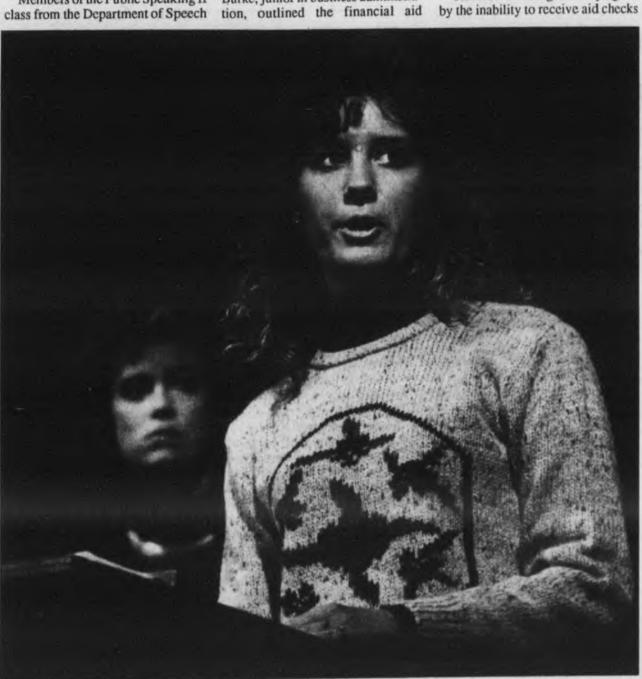

In "Farrell Library Fine Policy Needs to be Equally Applied to Both Faculty and Students," Krista M. Hershey, senior in speech, contends the fine policy is unfair.

Students can check out library materials for a maximum of 30 days. After this time, students receive a fine if they don't return the materials. Faculty members can check out library materials for a maximum of 120 days. However, they are not required to pay fines if they do not return materials.

"It is unfair for students to have to pay fines and the faculty to not have to pay any," Hershey said.

This condition causes problems for students needing certain materials and are unable to check them out. Library staff members also have difficulties because they have to make overdue notices.

Hershey proposes sending a petition to the dean of libraries for allowing students and faculty to have the same check out period.

Susan Gross, right, sophomore in business administration, delivers a speech Thursday in Nichols Theatre about the Board of Regents' proposal of selective admissions, while her speech partner, Kristi White, sophomore in business administration, listens. The pair was participating in Public Speaking II class.

Don't Miss Comedy Invasion

Next Monday & Tuesday Michael Floorwax

Bar 539-9727 Office 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan

KANSAS STATE BANK

STUDENT LOANS

(Good only in December) M-Th 12-9, Fri. 12-10, Sat. 10-10, Sun. 12-7 Behind Alco in Village Plaza

We want to make your student loan!

Have the professionals at Kansas

State Bank make your student 537-4400

loan. Simply contact us at:

New Paul McCartney Have a "Pizza Pak!" includes: 1 large Valentino's single topping pizza 2 liter bottle of pop 2 movies

PRICE BUSTER SPECIAL

2 pizzas $599

	M	ENU	10.70
Italian Sousage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlons	Jalapenos Pineappie Green Peppars	Ham Extra Cheese
		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Cheese		5.99	8.99
1 Item		6.94	10.39
2 Items		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
4 Items		9.79	14.59
Deluxe		9.79	14.59
Vegle		9.79	14.59
			15.99
Each Additio	onal Item		1.40
	Prices do r	not include ta	ax x
	. 01 1		D-11

We Accept Checks . Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

Finally, a great pizza delivered.

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA™

Super Party Pack $13.99

Present this coupon and receive two medium four topping Thin Crust pizzas, plus four soft

Large Pizza for a Medium Price

receive any large pizza for the price of a medium. Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery

Valid on Stuffed or Original Pizza. Not

$8.99 Present this coupon & receive a medium Original two topping pizza & two soft drinks for only $8.99

Dinner for Two

2 for $2 Receive 2 Hot Slice Pizzas Dine-in or Carryout

Hot Slice™

KANSAS STATE BANK

Lender Code #821176

1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 4, 1987 ■ Page 9

Bluejays next for Wildcats

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

K-State is 4-0 and not one of its opponents has been closer than 11 points at game's end. Men's basketball coach Lon Kruger still sees room for improvement, though.

"You want to win games, but the final score is not something you talk about as much as taking care of possessions and responsibilities on both the defensive and offensive ends," Kruger said.

After swamping California State-Northridge 91-46 Monday and the University of Missouri-Kansas City 81-54 Wednesday, Kruger wants his squad to work on its intensity and concentration - a difficult task when your squad is leading by 20-plus points late in the game.

"I think that level has to be improved a little bit before we go into the Big Eight Conference and play that competition," Kruger said.

"You want to win games, but the final score is not something you talk about as much as taking care of possessions and responsibilities on both the defensive and offensive ends,"

-Lon Kruger

With that in mind, the Wildcats will take on Creighton (1-1) Saturday at the Omaha Civic Auditorium in Omaha, Neb. Kruger said playing the Bluejays on the road is "going to be plenty interesting" after last year's K-State stung Creighton 81-64 last season in Ahearn Field House, the Wildcats' first triumph over the Jays' since the 1971-72 season.

Creighton, 9-19 last season, lost its wo leading scorers to graduation. but returns its No. 3 man, Rod Mason. The 6-foot-3 senior guard paces the Jays with 17.5 points per game. Freshman Chad Gallagher, a 6-foot-9 center from Rockford, Ill., averages 13.5 points and 7.0 rebounds per game.

The Bluejays lost their season opener to California, 70-49, but rebounded Tuesday night to slip past the University of Nebraska-Omaha,

An advantage to K-State's lopsided wins has been the opportunity to play several players and experiment with different combinations, Kruger said. One of these combinations that worked well Wednesday against UMKC is the combination of reserve guard Buster Glover and returning point guard Steve Henson.

With the Wildcats cruising to lopsided victories in their first four contests, K-State Coach Lon Kruger has been able to experiment with different player combinations. One of the combinations that worked well for Kruger against UMKC was that of Buster Glover at point guard and Steve Henson at the off-guard position.

When Glover enters the game, Henson switches to the off-guard position. Glover, a transfer from Allen County Community College (Iola), had a season-high 11 points against the Kangaroos, including two-of-three from three-point

"Steve is comfortable at the off-mind having out on the floor," Kru-

Glover recorded 17.2 points and 4.5 points per game at Allen County last season and was selected first team All-Region VI. NOTES: With its 81-point performance against UMKC, K-State guard spot. That's a lineup we don't topped the 100,000-point plateau since basketball began here in 1902-03...the Wildcats' opponents have scored 92,396 points, some 7,298 (3,946 field goals) fewer than the 'Cats...Mitch Richmond had a season-high nine rebounds against UMKC...K-State has yet to play in front of less than 10,000 fans.

Bulldogs to test Lady Cat defense

By Daran Neuschafer Sports Writer

Aggressiveness is something that basketball coaches have little control over when it comes naturally to their teams. Often, it is only found in a few people.

One thing is certain, though. Basketball coaches love to have aggressive players. Lady Cat coach Matilda Mossman has assembled a group of young women who are both quick and aggressive, especially on defense.

"We are playing real good defense, " Mossman said. "The offense is still a little off, but it will come around. The girls are working real hard."

That aggressive style was never more evident than on Wednesday night, when the Lady Cats defeated the Creighton Lady Jays, 67-60 in overtime.

Their aggressive play allowed the Lady Cats to outscore Creighton 10-1 in the opening minutes of the overtime period. K-State defense also held the Lady Jays' leading scorer, Pam Gradoville, who entered the game averaging 24 points per game, to just 10 points.

"We beat a very good basketball team in defeating Creighton," Mossman said. "They have some really good players, especially Gradoville, and I was just pleased with the way we came at them aggressively on defense."

And according to Mossman, her Lady Cats will receive another tough test tomorrow when they host the Drake Bulldogs in Ahearn Field House at 7:30 p.m.

Mossman feels Drake could offer K'-State its toughest test so far in this young season.

"They (Drake) didn't have a real good season last year, but they came on strong in the second half of the season. And with four starters returning from that team, they should prove to be our toughest game so far," Mossman said.

The Bulldogs, who were 9-18 last season, are currently 2-1 like the Lady Cats. Led by 6-foot-1 forward Julie Fitzpatrick, the Bulldogs have three players averaging in double figures. Fitzpatrick, a junior, is scoring 19.7 points per outing, while guard Jenni Fitzgerald is averaging 14.7 points, and center Caroline Orr is adding more than 13 points per contest.

The Lady Cats, meanwhile, are led by a trio of newcomers. Freshmen Nadira Hazim and Diana Miller, and junior transfer Stacey Boyle are all averaging 11 points per game. Sophomore Janet Madsen has been adding around 10 points a game.

Mossman said things continue to improve every day, but she and her coaching staff are having to take things a little slower than last year, when Mossman had a veteran ballclub to work with.

"The big difference is we are playing with freshmen instead of seniors like last year," Mossman said.

Mossman received a bit of good news on Wednesday in that sophomore Amy Davidson, who was injured the first game of the year, should be back to full strength for the Drake game.

Harris returns to squad

By The Associated Press

OVERLAND PARK — Johnson County Community College officials said Thursday they were satisfied with the steps taken by Tony Harris to resolve his legal problems and allowed him to rejoin the basketball team immediately.

Harris, a high-scoring guard, was suspended from the team Nov. 19, when college officials learned that the Jefferson County, Texas sheriff's department had issued a warrant for his arrest in June, when Harris skipped a court date to enter a plea on a third-degree charge of credit card

During the four games he played for Johnson County, Harris averaged 40 points a game and set a school record with 50 points. Johnson County was 4-0 with Harris in the lineup and averaged more than 100 points a game.

The Cavaliers have won three games without Harris, but their scoring average has dropped to 98 points.

"We feel Tony has made significant steps toward resolving his legal matters in Texas," said Mickey Yasco, Johnson County athletic director, in a news release Thursday afternoon. "Under the guidelines set forth by the college's student code of conduct, Tony may remain a member of the men's basketball team in good standing."

Harris, 21, will play in this weekend's Jayhawk Shootout in Hutchinson, barring further incidents, will play for the remainder of the season.

Hopeless Chiefs, Bengals tangle Sunday

Three contests sold out

K-State's home basketball games with Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri are sold out, K-State Athletic Department Ticket Manager Carol Adolph announced today.

"Requests for tickets have been coming in at a very good rate over the past few days," Adolph said. "Anyone interested in purchasing tickets should get a request in as soon as possible. Now that these three games are no longer available, I imagine that there will be more demand for the games that we have remaining."

Adolph also said that a limited number of public season tick ets are still available. Prices for those seats are $92.50 on the sides or $66.50 on the ends of Ahearn Field House.

The charge card line for Kansas residents living outside the Manhattan area is 1-800-221-CATS. In Manhattan, the number is 532-6920.

Football banquet scheduled

Tickets are still on sale for the K-State football honors banquet which will be held at 6 p.m. this Sunday at the University

Tickets are priced at $10 each and can be purchased at either the Ahearn Field House ticket office on the K-State campus or at the Wildcat football office located at 2201 Kimball Ave.

NHL may allow Soviet teams

NEW YORK - National Hockey League President John Ziegler, backing off an earlier statement, said Thursday that no specific agreements were reached to permit Soviet teams to play

Ziegler, who met with Soviet hockey officials this week, earlier said a tentative agreement would have four Soviet teams play in the NHL at the start of the 1988-89 season, and the games would count in the standings.

However, in Thursday's statement, issued by the league, Ziegler said: "Many details, including the important financial details, remain to be covered."

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI — One year ago, things were looking up for the Kansas City Chiefs and the Cincinnati Bengals. Now, both teams are looking up from the bottom of the American Football Conference.

The Chiefs, a wild-card team last season, and the Bengals, a near-miss for the playoffs, have won just five games between them in disastrous 1987 seasons. Kansas City's 2-9 mark and Cincinnati's 3-8 are the two worst in the conference.

Their slides have similarities slippery slopes greased by injuries, mistakes and late failures. Their misery will have plenty of company Sunday at Riverfront Stadium.

"I think it will be a very competitive game because Cincinnati is in much the same position as we are," Chiefs Coach Frank Gansz said. "I think we're a better team than our record indicates. I know Cincinnati

"Cincinnati could very well be -I say this in all sincerity — they could have well been a Super Bowl team with the abilities they had coming off last season."

Super Bowl visions will have to wait. For now, Gansz and Bengals Coach Sam Wyche are merely trying to salvage a few victories and a measure of pride in lost seasons.

The Chiefs' season has been a nightmare. They won their opener, then lost nine in a row before beating Detroit 27-20 on Thanksgiving Day their best such streak since 1981. with a season-high 408 yards on offense. The Chiefs' offense scored its first touchdown in four weeks as quarterback Bill Kenney shook off injuries that had sidelined him for two weeks.

Although the injury-depleted Chiefs suffered five more defensive injuries against Detroit, Gansz welcomed the victory, his second as an NFL head coach.

"It was nice to win one. It was a long time coming," he said.

One of the Chiefs' few bright spots this season has been the rejuvenation of their running game, one of the worst in the league the last four years. The Chiefs have rushed for over 100 yards in five consecutive games, formed well statistically.

Christian Okoye, the Chiefs' secondround pick in this year's draft, leads NFL rookies with 527 yards rushing on 123 carries. "They've got the running game back now," Wyche said. "It used to be that several years ago that was their game, the running game. Then it moved to the passing game, with the great receivers they got. Now they're turning back to the run." The Bengals also are hobbled by injuries as they try to snap a streak of six home losses this season, two of them in strike-replacement games.

Unlike the Chiefs, who are last in the NFL in overall offense and thirdlast in defense, the Bengals have per-

After coming through in '87, Tartabull wants reward

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Being named the team's player of the year is not enough for Danny Tartabull, who hit 34 homers and drove in 101 runs in his first year with the Kansas City Royals.

He'd like an award he can bank on. "I don't want to be the best bargain in the game anymore," Tartabull said after his selection by members of the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America was announced Wednesday. "I really hope people open their eyes to that when the team needed me the most, I was there. I hit in the clutch, consistently in the clutch."

"I'm not asking to be paid millions of dollars, but the good players have to be paid."

The Royals got Tartabull in a trade with Seattle last December, and he had to accept a take-it-or-leave-it offer of $145,000 from the team.

Tartabull became only the second player in Royals history - George Brett was the first - to hit over .300 with 30 or more homers and 100-plus RBI. He hit .309 and led the American League in game-winning RBIs with 21. Over the last 35 games of the season, he hit .377 with 12 homers and 32 RBIs. Tartabull's agent, Dennis Gilbert, called the trade that brought him to Kansas City "the steal of the

"Now that Danny has performed, and the Royals being an organization of integrity, they probably would want to (award) Danny the kind of money that other major stars in the game are making."

Tartabull, who is still a year shy of being eligible for arbitration, expects

"If they don't, they're going to make me very bitter," he said. "I don't want to be bitter, because I was very bitter at the start of this season and it wasn't a good feeling."

"But if they do make me bitter, I'll be out to get every last penny from them next year when I'm eligible for arbitration. And if that happens, year.

they'll be in trouble. Big trouble. I don't want to go out there trying to have a good year just so I can stick it to them, but I've always risen to revenge.

Tartabull complained about being overshadowed by rookies Kevin Seitzer, who hit .323 with 15 homers and 83 RBI, and Bo Jackson, who had 22 homers and 53 RBI but batted only .235, ending up on the bench late in the season.

Jackson, now playing pro football for the Los Angeles Raiders but vowing to continue with both sports, stands to make $533,000 if he puts in a full season with the Royals next

Suit

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Despite her action against her employer, Sweet doesn't believe her job is in jeopardy.

"I haven't done anything, I feel, to get fired," she said.

Prior to presenting the suit to county commissioners Thursday morning, Rombold said he would pursue obtaining the full $1 million.

"We feel entitled to that amount," he said, adding he hopes to settle the case as soon as possible.

Manhattan Mayor Eugene Klingler refused comment on the case Thursday afternoon, saying he hasn't seen the suit.

The suit is based on four counts: The first count requests immediate closure of the landfill. ■ The second count requests a judgment in excess of $10,000, alleging the contamination deprived Sweet of use of her water and property.

■ The third count alleges the county and city were negligent in locating, constructing and operating the landfill along the Kansas River without taking measures to prevent groundwater contamination. For that count, Sweet again requested a judgment in excess of $10,000.

■ The final count includes punitive damages of $1 million.

Water contamination was detected in November 1985 on Sweet's property adjacent to and east of the land-

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

assAds Kedzie 103 TWO-BEDROOM on main floor. One-half block west furnished. $300. 539-8106. (67-71)

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless cli-ent has an established account with Student Publi-cations. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

01 POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a

CHRISTMAS GIFT Idea #1: A decorative tin filled with up to three different flavors of popcorn. Irvine Popcorn Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road, 776-

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for single adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shopping Center (69-75) ST. PAUL'S Episcopal Church Olde English Country Faire Christmas Crafts Festival. Many artists, entertainment, good food. 6th and Poyntz, Manhattan, KS, December 5, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (70)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op has expanded its prod-uct selection in time for the holidays. Do your shopping at 811 Colorado. We're open to everyone on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and

Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (66-70) SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island: North Padre/Mustang Island Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or ski ing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today -800-321-5911. (67-75)

MARY KAY Cosmetics-Skin care-glamour ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto rvice, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Man hattan, (62-75)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

QUIET WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year mini waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, furnished, across from Putnam Hall, 1306 N. Manhattan, $205/month, call

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apart-ment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or

NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75)

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, air conditioning, dishwasher; furnished. Ready Jan. 1, 537-8061, (67-70)

MOORE MANAGEMENT

has one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

Allgeasons

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 (913) 539-5391

December Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away $13 Single $18 Double Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.-$10 (Offer good Sunday-Thursday until December 17, 1987)

Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

Christmas Gift Idea:

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:

____Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

____Academic year (32 weeks), $35

___One semester (16 weeks), $20

____Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University. Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Send to:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:____

Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____

Purchased By:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:____State:____Zip:____

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Fall____Spring___Summer_

Amount Received $_____By:_____

convenient locations. One & two bedrooms $240-$360.

Second semester

apartments in several

Call soon for best selection.

Jan. 1. $360. 539-4840. (68-72)

FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person, ties paid including basic cable T.V. 539-9173, evenings. (68-72) NICE TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Available

CLEAN BASEMENT apartment. One male student No smoking, drinking. $160, near campus. 512 North 11th. 539-8758. (68-70)

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Heat paid. $350. Call 776-4099, Early morning or late evening ok. (69-73)

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking. 776-8495, evenings. (69-75) VERY CLEAN, spacious one-bedroom apartment.

$210/month. Call Kathy, days 532-5535, evenings

537-7293. (69-73) ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $275/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 21. Trash and water paid. 539-1686. (69-73) SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/month plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available ng spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

KSHB

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from cam-

532-6555

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartm Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf) $100 Off One Mth's Rent

WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

 24-hour emergency maintenance On-site laundry facilities Two outdoor swimming pools Professional on-site mgt.

Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary

Call Today 539-2951 1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE

pus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf) (Continued on page 11)

KTWU

Report MacNeil / Leh"The Phantom rer Newshour Modern Love

Laughter

News Digger Phelps

WGN

Listings

FRIDAY DECEMBER 4, 1987

By TV Data

WTBS

Power Play Night Tracks

Crusade Night Tracks:

Wrestling Rodeo: Finals Night Tracks

Sports Center

AWA Cham-

	(B)	(B)	OD .	(D)	(D)	WGN	ESPN	WIDS
7:00	Today	To Be An-	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00		nounced		My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Horse Mag.	Little House on the Prairie
9:00	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Tennis: Na- bisco Mas-	Movie: "Strar ger in Our
10:30	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Africans	Love Boat	ters: day two coverage	House"
11:30		WKRP Young and	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
12:30	News Days of Our	the Restless Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lůcy	Sesame Street	News	Horse Show Jumping:	Movie: "Texas Lady
	Lives Another World	Wrld Trns To Be An-	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Mystery!: Do- rothy L. Say-	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Triathlon: Bud Light U.S.T.S.	:
2:00	Santa Barbara	nounced Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Seafood Cookin	Beaver Ghostbusters	Truck and Tractor Pull	Tom and Jerry
3:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	Championship Wrestling	Flintstones Flintstones
4:00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Racing SportsLook	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	Tennis: Na- bisco Mas-	Alice Carol Burnett
6:00	News Wheel-Fortune	News Truth/Conseq.	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	ters: day three coverage	Andy Griffith Sanford
	Mickey's Xmas	Beauty and the Beast	Full House I Married	Friday the 13th: Series	Wash. Week Wall $t. Wk.	Movie: "Brewster's		NBA Basket- ball: Los An-
8:00	Miami Vice	Dallas	Mr. Belvedere Pursuit of	Movie: "Come to the Stable"	Great Per- formances:	Millions"	Tennis Contin- ues	geles Lakers vs. Milwauker
9:00	Private Eye	Falcon Crest	20/20	11	Celebrating Gershwin,	News Digger Phelps		Bucks Billy Graham

Barney Miller

from 10,000 Sign-Off

Wilton North

SATURDAY DECEMBER 5, 1987

Concert

10:00 News News Cheers

1 1:00 Ent. Tonight

12:00 David Letter-

News M'A'S'H

B. Buddies

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Gummi Bears Smurfs	Hello Kitty Jim Henson's	Care Bears My Little Pony	Kidsongs LovelyLocks		Farm Report World Tom.	Pistol Shoot- Fishin' Hole	Bonanza
8:00		Muppet Ba- bies	Pet Monster Puppies	Popples Get Along	McLaughlin Market	Charlando People-People	Bill Dance	Cousteau Odyssey
9:00	ALF Alvin	Pee-wee Play. Visionaries	Little Wizards Ghostbusters	Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig	Cliffhangers Old House	Minority Busi- Movie: "The	Tractor Pull Auto Racing	Cousteau Odyssey
10:00	Fraggle Rock C. Power	Popeye & Son Teen Wolf	Flintstones Bugs Bunny	Visionaries Power	Motorweek Living with An-	Pearl of Death"	Sports SportsCenter	NWA Super Bouts
11:00	It's Howdy Doody Time:	To Be An- nounced	Jem Health Show	Wonder Woman	imals V. Garden	Soul Train	Tennis: Na- bisco Masters	Movie: "Mothra"
	A 40-Year Ce- lebration		Weekend Kansas Illus.	Movie: "The Lives of a Ben-	Sesame Street	Little Troll Prince	17	::
	PBA Bowling: $135,000 Bud-	11	College Bas- ketball: Louis-	gal Lancer"	Woodwright Plain & Fancy	Black Beauty	"	Movie: "The Sad Sack"
	weiser Tour- Sportsworld	NFL Football: Regional	ville vs. Notre Dame from In-	Star Trek	Bodywatch W. Alexander	Kung Fu	Tennis Contin- ues	,,
3:30	"	College Foot- ball: Okla-	dianapolis College Bas-	Battlestar Gal- actica	Kovels Collect Calligraphy	Exhibition Boxing	College Foot-	World of Aud bon
4:00	Al McGuire's You Can't	homa at Ne- braska	ketball: Indi- ana at Ken-	Buck Rogers	Focus/Society Focus/Society	Puttin' on Hits Good Times	ball: Arkansas at Hawaii	Vietnam: Me- dia Impact
E:00	Wild Kingdom NBC News	"	tucky	Nat. Geo. On Assignment	Leo Buscaglia	Bustin' Loose Charles	"	World Cham- pionship
6:00	Hee Haw	Mama It's a Living	Guinness Rec. B. Buddies	Star Trek: Next Gener.	Lawrence Welk: TV's	It's a Living Mama's	17	Wrestling
7:00	Facts of Life 227	CBS News Special: Child-	Sheriff 9 to 5	Mr. President In Prison	Music Man Movie:	H.'s Heroes College Bas-	College Foot- ball: South	Death of a Centerfold:
	Golden Girls Amen	Twilight Zone	Sable,	Beans Baxter Chance	"That's Dancing!"	ketball: De- Paul vs. Illi-	Carolina at Miami	The Dorothy Stratten Stor
9:00	J.J. Starbuck	West 57th	Hotel	Rich & Fa- mous	10	nois State News	"	Cousteau Amazon:
	News Saturday	News Star Trek:	News Movie: "Ama-	The Sheriff Friday the	"The Com- pleat Beatles"	INN News Movie: "Tora!	Sportscenter	Night Tracks: Chartbusters
11:00	Night Live	Next At the Movies	deus"	13th: Series Solid Gold in	Sign-Off	Tora! Tora!"	1987 Heisman Quarter Horse	Night Tracks
12:00 1	Friday the 13th: Series	Dallas	"	Concert NCTV Hour			Racing Rodeo: Finals	Night Tracks

SUNDAY DECEMBER 6, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	James Ken- nedy	Jerry Falwell	Jimmy Swag- gart	Superfriends		R. Schuller Heritage-Faith	NBA Today Jimmy Ballard	Flintstones Tom/Jerry
	L. Lundstrum Robert	Discovery Herald-Truth	Kenneth Copeland	All Star Wres- tling	Sesame Street	Sunday Mass Popeye	SpeedWeek Racing	Flintstones Andy Griffith
9:00	Schuller Jimmy Swag-	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written Week With	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Today's	Visionaries Power	Magic Years This Week in	Good News Movie: "In
10:00	gart World Tom.	Sunday Morn- ing	David Brinkley Business	Black Sheep Squadron	Sesame Street	Superman Lone Ranger	Sports SportsCenter	Harm's Way"
	Control NFL Live	NFL Today	WWF Wres- tling	Star Trek: Next Gener.	Little Princess	Cisco Kid Rawhide	Sunday: NFL Tennis: Na-
	NFL Football: NBC Regional	NFL Football: Atlanta Fal-	Movie: "Prom- ises in the	Little Troll Prince	Wash. Week Wall $t. Wk.	Twilight Zone	bisco Masters Semifinals	"
1:00	Coverage	cons at Dallas Cowboys	Dark"	11	Adam Smith Computer	Movie: "Quin- cy's Quest"	,,	Movie: "Send Me No Flow-
2:00		0.	WWF Wres- tling	Movie: "Come to the Stable"	Constitution	u u	Rodeo: PRCA	ers" "
3:00	NFL Football: NBC Regional	Statlers'	PGA Golf: J.C.Penney	"	One on One Interests	Movie: "My Friend Flicka"	National Fin- als	Movie: "Love Story"
4:00	Coverage	Christmas Present	Classic: final round	Movie: "It Happened	Frugal Gour- met: A Co-	"	Ski World
5:30	NBC News	CBS News News	News Football	One Christ- mas"	Mormon Ta- bernacle Choir	Movie: "Fan- tastic Voy-	Skiing: World Cup Slalom	Wrestling New Beaver
6:00	Our House	60 Minutes	"Student Ex- change"	21 Jump Street	Wild America Nature	age",,	NFL Prime Time	Movie: "Final Countdown"
7:00	Family Ties My Two Dads	Murder, She Wrote	Spenser For Hire	Werewolf Married With	Nature	Twilight Zone At the Movies	NFL Football: Chicago
8:00	Movie: "Downpay-	Movie: "A Ho- bo's Christ-	Dolly	Tracey Ullman Duet	Masterpiece Theatre: Nor-	Star Search	Bears at Min- nesota Vik-	National Geo- graphic Ex-
	ment on Mur- der"	mas"	Jennings/ Koppel Re-	Marblehead Throb	thanger Abbey Galway's	News INN News	ings	plorer
	News Sports M.	News Marblehead	News Movie: "Futu-	Mama Hardcastle	Xmas Carol Candidates	Darkside Lou Grant	SportsCenter Sunday	Sports Page Jerry Falwell
	Entertainment This Week	Rich & Fa- mous	reworld"	Dating Game	'88/M. Kalb Sign-Off	Movie:	NFL Prime Time	World Tomor-
12:00	Siskel & Ebert Gene Scott	Santo Gold Sign-Off	"	Geraldo Riv- era Live: Mod-	Sign-Off	"Knock on Any Door"	NFL Great Rodeo: Finals	Jimmy Swag- gart

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco-rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom, 501 Houston,

ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, nice. 926 Bluemont, 776-9017. (67-71)

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in several convenient locations. One and two bedroom $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75) APARTMENT FOR rent, one bedroom, close to campus. (Gold Key). 776-9264. (68-70) CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles, 1615 Ander 539-2830. (69-73)

FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apartment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75) able Jan. 1, $250/month. 539-2116 or 539-2892. (70-73) TWO BEDROOM -- Two blocks east of campus. Avail-

04

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1976 FORD Pinto, good condition, $900 or best offer. 776-2751 or 537-8337. (67-71) DODGE OMNI 1979. Four cylinders, overhauled engine, (25,000 miles). Running great. Call 776-8016. (68-72). 1982 CAVALIER type 10 CL. Automatic transmission power steering, air conditioning, very nice. $3,100. 494-8484. (68-71) 1980 CUTLASS Calet, black, loaded with extras

,000 miles), $4,000. Call 776-6294. Ask for Jeff S.

1979 JEEP CJ5, $2,500. 537-3912. (70)

FOUR USED tired P215/75R15 SB radials with sixlug, Datsun truck wheels. 537-2423. (70-71)

1979 TOYOTA Celica GT, five-speed, new paint, air conditioning, great car. Must sell. 537-8944, Mur-ray. (70-73) EMPLOYMENT

Rubes

FINE NIGHT TERME

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work 0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

YOUTH DIRECTOR. First Christian Church is accepting applications for a half-time position to coordinate youth activities and direct teacher recruitment. Application deadline Dec. 16, 1987. Send resume and three reference letters to: Search Committee Chair, 804 Laramie, Manhattan, KS 66502. Inquire at 776-8790. (66-70) NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont,

GREAT SUMMER camp jobs in the Colorado Rockies near Estes Park as counselors, cooks, nurses, of-fice, wranglers, drivers, unit directors, childcare. Room and board plus cash salary and travel allow-ance. Fully accredited. Must be at least 19 to apply. Interviews on campus in early February. Write Che-ley Colorado Camps, Dept. C, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616, For the summer of your lifet 168-70. your life! (66-70)

SCHOOL BUS drivers beginning immediately. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Job description available. Apply to: USD #383, 2031 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, KS 66502, 913-537-2400, EOE. (67-71) HIRINGI GOVERNMENT Jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

NEW YORK! Live-in mother's helpers needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January. Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone

203-656-0707 (67-72) REMEMBER THE time you really needed a friend, and someone came through for you? All those who have thought about becoming a volunteer someday—Why not today? The FONE Crisis Center needs You! One day volunteer training will be held Saturday, Dec. 5, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., UFM House, 1221 Thurston. Come and bring a friend! Special speakers are: Dr. Joan McNeil; Dr. Howard Barnes, and Dr. Tony Jurich. 532-6565. (67-70)

KSU DAIRY Bar needs person for daily cleaning. Apimately 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Work-study preferred. Contact Kevin Grow in Call Hall 154 or at 532-5654. (68-70)

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS

for Spring Semester (beginning January 6)

Reliable students with initiative to work part-time in the Collegian advertising production department. Experience with Mycro-Tek VDTs and/or pasteup preferred. Must be full-time student. Will work around class schedule between hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Apply in person, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. in Kedzie 113 before December 4.

By Leigh Rubin

seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required year round position. Minimum commitment two years. Requested.

Respond to: P.O.Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume please.

HEALTH CLUB looking for enthusiastic individual to work part-time evenings and weekends. Apply in person with resume, 1100 Moro. (69-71)

RIP & Mo's Deli is hiring delivery drivers. Apply in person with valid driver's license and proof of in-surance at 710 N. Manhattan, 1 p.m.-4 p.m. (69-71) ENTHUSIASTIC PERSON needed for telephone marng sales. Monday evenings 2-3 hours. Call 539-1662 between 9-12 for interview. (69-73)

The Aggieville Business Association is accepting applications for parttime Executive Director. Self-motivated individual with creative mind and flexible schedule. Send Resume and references to P.O. Box

ATTENTION MARKETING students! Great opportunity and income potential. Promote Manhattan's premiere magazine "Where . . . A Guide to Manhattan." Sales position open now. Part-time flexible hours. Possible internship available. Call Direct Marketing Services at 539-6287. Ask for Mary. (70-

years by tax savings. Half ownership small busi-ness. 913-456-7483, after 6 p.m. (69-73)

KAPPA DELTA garage sale, 1220 Centennial Drive

ceeds go to charity. (70)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utili-ties, $425, 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom du blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston, $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-ciency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055 Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) east of Manhattan. Available Jan. 1. Call after 9 p.m. 456-9188. (69-71) area, basement, three bedrooms, plus nice fenced yard. $495. 1st December. 537-8555, 537-8065. (70-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13 A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three

Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, washer, dryer. Low utilities. 537-7873. (67-71)

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

764, Manhattan.

DIRECTOR OF Music position, Starting Jan. 15. Con tact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-75)

FINANCIAL SERVICES INVESTOR NEEDED: Recup $35,000 within seven

GARAGE AND YARD SALES

Saturday, Dec. 5 from 7:30 a.m. to noon. All pro

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor e

TWO-BEDROOM trailer home with small pasture

ATTRACTIVE OLDER home, large living room, dining bedrooms, two bath, appthances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vaulted celling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75) DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 x 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath, 537-

NOW AVAILABLE 1968 Great Lakes, two bedrooms.

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931.

"Another sleepless night . . . maybe if I go terrorize some campers I'll get lucky and someone will shoot me with a tranquilizer. Bloom County

Beginning Dec. 7 jewelry. Always remembered. Manhattan Coins and Collectibles, 1130 Laramie. (70) (upon availability)

539-7531 University

17th & Anderson, 539-7531 GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75) DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St

Pendleton Wool Shirts & Sport Coats

2 miles east of K-Mart, Hwy 24 Manhattan, KS 66502 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30, Thurs. 9-8:30 Sunday 1-5

COMPACT DISCS: cassettes: audio video tapes movies - never opened, any variety, 539-1089, 773-4387. (67-70)

CASH PAID for coins, Jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

ND = RCOV= Lingerie GIFT

CERTIFICATE What a good idea!

1224 Moro Aggieville

Manhattan Town Center Mall

TANS TO GO 5/$1250

Cobblers Lane Aggieville 776-7874

QUEEN WATERBED. Nice headboard. Baffle mat tress. Jensen car stereo, au treble/bass, 539-8399. (68-72)

MEN'S CONVERSE leather shoes, size seven, brand ew. Phone 537-2624. (68-70) FINALS TOO much to take? Take a popcorn break! Ir vine Popcorn Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road,

GIFT IDEA

Give Nicaraguan coffee this holiday season. Drip grind or whole bean sacks are available at $5 per 8-oz. pack.

You may purchase the coffee at 1021 Denison (ECM Building) from 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Proceeds will go for funding a library in Nindiri, Nicaragua, project of Manhattan Friendship Cities.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (11f) PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277, (51-75)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Friday, December 4, 1987

21 TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and North 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931 (32tf)

FRIDAY 5-9 p.m.

Fried Chicken or

Spaghetti w/meat sauce

all you can eat

776-7983

111 S. 4th $3.95 with salad bar

YAMAHA XT600. 1984, low miles, excellent condi-tion, make offer. 776-7323. (67-70)

FENDER QUAD reverb tube guitar amplifier. $300.

Hayes House of Music

FENDER SQUIRE STRATS

$309

ROLAND JUNO-2 keyboard. Less than one year old,

NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case. $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

BRAD-HAPPY 22nd Birthday, Sweetie! Let's Par-

CHURCH GUY: And another thing—you didn't have to open the door when I knocked. (70)

JOHN T. Turning 21 is a terrific sensation. Under

LM-SUNDAY'S the day; It'll be a year. We went to a party full of holiday cheer. On that night I took a chance, and told you I loved you after the dance.

DURANT, DURANT-Ever wonder why rubbers come in packages of 12 but cigarettes come in packs of 20? We wondered. And, did you ever wonder how you will feel after your three-day birthday celebra-tion? We wonder. (70)

BLONDE DU: Met a black Pike that I really like. His name is Mike so take a hike. Call me fickle. (70)

TO: MICHELLE, From: John, Never found out if you received my Xmas present last year. But I will send one again, with fervent hope in the air, someday we'll be friends. Xmas kisses, Xmas wishes, they can all come true. But no wish could ever be

BARB Z .- Happy B-day! It's the big 21. Look out

HOT THETA dates-Put on your best for the fun in world-here she comes! Love, your "roomie." (70) store; We'll bring you joy and a whole lot more! Un-der the mistletoe we'll wait for you, Theta's are wild

KATs through and through. Ho! Ho! Who wouldn't go to "Moonlight and Mistletoe?" (70)

You attended

GEORGIA O'KEEFE EXHIBIT

in WASHINGTON, DC

Monday, Nov. 16

You're a Psych major, were returning to Topeka from a wedding in Connecticut and I kidded you when you set off the alarm. Remember? Hope to reach you.

Please call me at 201-633-1496. Gary

BUM, HAPPY Birthday! Let's "MWPL right here

COUNT COUNT: From Dillards you'll leave this Satur-

ILY! Wench. (70)

d he won't be mad.

got . . . again (ha). (70)

Angels fling! (70)

Theta date. (70)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

"Happy Sunday." - A. Nerd. (70)

now!" Sorry I've been "grumpy as Hell!" Always day night to party with me 'til the morning light. This week has been tough without being near you. Surely you see that your Cookie Monster's Dive.

go find the plastic and get spastic! I'll help with

"WTF" and pass the buck. I love you true blue

BUS DRIVER #21. Observation point was incredible, the wine was delicious and so were you. I'm looking forward to next time—maybe we'll get to see the view—I hear it's great! Hugs and kisses, Driver

DALE-YOUR gentleness is my strength-Your faith, my inspiration—Your love whispers hope in my life. Happy Anniversary, Candise. (70)

POOL-SHARK Malone: Does "Kris" or "party" ring any bells for you? Just a reminder in case you for-

TONIGHT YOUR hot dates you will bring, as we

XO SUSAN K .- Get psyched! Party. Wichita. You and

ATO JIM: Red, green, and mistletoe, Saturday nigh

SPAYED FERRET, cage and set up. Gentle and very playful. 539-1988 evenings—keep trying. (68-70)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in the moon will glo-We'll have a blast and do it right, dining and dancing into the night. Love your

This weekend, Baby, I can't wait! K. (70) dance, boogle, shout and sing! So be ready to party, we Pi Phis will party hardy, Hark the Pi Phi University Inn. come as soon as netimes va' gotta say granted, that's as sweet as you. (70)

Moonlight and Mistletoe we'll have a celebration

FREDDIE, HAPPY 24th Birthday! Louise. (70)

come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

Chef

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

327 Poyntz

PERSONALS

rrty! Love, Linda. (70

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE 22 FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner. Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537 7294, 1211 Moro, (68-70) 23 ROOMMATE WANTED

month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) ONE-HALF BLOCK from Ahearn. Male ro wanted to share four-man apartment. $130 per month. Call 539-1334. (66-70) MALE ROOMMATE wanted, furnished, own room, deposit, one block from campus. 776-1893. (67-70)

smoker. Call 539-7681. (67-71)

MALE ROOMMATES for second semester. Nice twobedroom. 776-9017. (67-71)

FFMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Furnished, laundry facilities, carpeting, microwave, cable, etc. Rent $110 plus one-third bills. 537-1757. (67-70)

th, one-third utilities. Own room, 539 7915. (67-72)

MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood. $150/ month plus utilities, negotiable. 539-6515, keep trying. (68-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed-very nice, fur-rent free. (68-70) FEMALE ROOMMATE, $100 per month plus one third utilities own bedroom. Call 776-6880. (68-72) MALE OR female. Non-smoking. $120/month. Onsfourth utilities, one block west of campus. Own room, washer, dryer. Great roommates. 539-7709.

is furnished, microwave, color TV, VCR, available Dec. 17, 539-6498 or (316) 683-6446. (69-72) FEMALE ROOMMATE needed across from Ahearr

$140 and half utilities. Call Dawn at 537-4811 (69-

ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment across from Old Stadium $125 plus three-fifths utilities. 776-3244. (70-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat quel temail

SUBLEASE

CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville $120/ (68-70)

person, all utilities paid, including basic cable TV. Call Jeff 539-9173 evenings. (68-72) SUBLEASE SPACIOUS, nice one-bedroom, available Dec., spring semester, $250 month/plus utilities.

539-0199. (68-71) CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville. Room for one or two. Take over lease Jan. 1 and get one month's rent paid! Furnished apartment, laundry. great roommates. Call Karen, 776-7176. (69-71)

TIRED OF living with nerds? Check out own room

27

WELCOMES

ST. LUKE'S Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod), Sunset and North Delaware welcomes students to ser vices: Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 8 and 10:45 a.m. Bible classes, 9:30 a.m. (70)

MANHATTAN FRIENDS meeting (Quaker), Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson, Sundays. Silent worship 10 a.m., discussion, 11 a.m. For informaion, call 539-4676 or 539-2636. (70)

log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire place, HBO, pool table, sauna. Great fishing Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Silver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/ reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448.

GRADE-AID: Qualified tutor can help you get ready for finals: Algebra, Trigonometry, General Calcu-

LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so farl Call toil free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 today! (67-75)

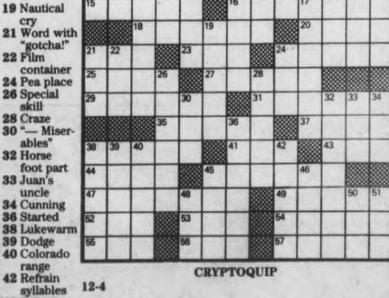

crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

19 Nautical 2 Conceit 44 Smooth 45 "Grin 3 Jack-o'-21 Word with and -"gotcha!" 22 Film 4 Eternally 47 Template 5 Spooky 49 Scopes 6 Derby 52 Ritual container assertion 7 War god 24 Pea place 53 Tell a 8 Positive 26 Special skill whopper response 28 Craze 54 Humongous 9 Pancake's 55 Lair 56 G-man "- Miserkin 16 Oater 10 Buenos ables' 18 Diffi-11 Musical 32 Horse 57 Add-on foot part DOWN notes 1 Wrestler's 17 Extreme 33 Juan's uncle fear need 34 Cunning Solution time: 25 minutes 36 Started 38 Lukewarm 39 Dodge

24 One of the media MANUAL STRAND
DESTIST STRAND
NOT SWEET WEST
NOT SWEET
NOT SWEET WEST
NOT SWEET SWEET WEST
NOT SWEET WEST
NOT SWEET SWEET WEST
NOT SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET
NOT SWEET SWEET
NOT SWEET 局學 25 Wagner 27 Mail Records By Charles Schulz 31 Takes on 35 Admit 37 Track part 38 Heads syllable chees 46 Persian Gulf nation 48 Sprite 50 Mature 51 Gender

LB WCAW-FQAAGFLCBM FCMAGK IBSGKGR

TKCT BLWGK

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

NEAR KSU. Need one female roommate for fu nished two-bedroom apartment, own room, $170 a

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester, large four-bedroom house, share with three others, own bedroom, $132.50/month plus utilities, non-

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom on westside. Lots of extras. Call 539-9185 (67-71)

WANTED FOR second semester, Available Dec. 1

FEMALE LOOKING for female roommate for twobedroom apartment. Bills paid. 537-8096. (68-70)

nished, one-bedroom apartment. Close to cam-pus. $150/month. Call Julie, 539-1482 first months

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semeste non-smoker. Own bedroom, near campus, near Aggieville, $175 per month plus utilities. Apartment

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished house. Own room, $120/month plus one-third utili ties. 537-1388. (70-74)

for luxury townhouse. $165, 537-7605. (70-74)

ONE-TWO roommates needed. Spacious, nice. $160 for one, $200 for two. Call 537-2178. (68-70) TAKE OVER my lease and bring three friends $120/you can and let the Fun begin. Cookle Monster. (70) great location, great girls, beautiful house. Cheap Must go. 312 N. 15th. 776-5957. (70-72) SHELL-BELL is approaching the big two-0, so let's

TRAVEL COLORADO AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy

Get your friends to drive. (66-71) 29 TUTOR WANTED

WANTED: EE or IE for immediate tutoring help. $5/ hour. Call 539-4851, evenings or weekends. (70-71) TUTORING SERVICES

lus, Accounting. (66-70) SPRING BREAK 31

ACROSS Brawl 6 Inlet 9 Manx By Jim Davis 12 Century Ida neighbor - Grande 15 Copier need > culties 20 Foil 21 One-spot 23 Brink, of a sort

(Fr.) 41 Peach part 43 Sauce base

Yesterday's solution:

SGML BQL

LWG Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO PICK UP RARE TICK-ETS TO BARBERS' ANNUAL BALL, LOCATE A SCAL-

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals O

United Way winds down Riley County fund raising

By The Collegian Staff

The Riley County United Way fund-raising drive is still striving to reach its goal, said Jim Lindquist, Riley County Extension director and campaign chairperson.

fund drive is $337,410. So far, $310,000 has been collected in Riley County, which is about 92 percent of the goal.

"We are in the process of wrapping things up," he said. "We are making some last minute contacts in hopes to raise more money."

Lindquist said the fund-raising drive started in mid-September and will continue through next week.

Release

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

tice Department spokesman. He said a doctor would make a quick examination of hostages, and Cuban detainees would be transferred to other approval of U.S. Attorney General

Edwin Meese III, and was initialed by all six inmates' representatives in a meeting with federal negotiators, said Patick Korten, another Justice Department spokesman. After it was put before the inmates, 150 detainees took to the roof, cheering and Korten said he was told the inmate

The two-page proposal had the prisons beginning today.

vote was not unanimous.

singing.

The money raised goes only to Riley County organizations, he said. United Way funds 17 agencies. If the drive does not meet its goal, these agencies' funds will be cut, he added.

Lindquist said fund raising con-Lindquist said the goal of the sists of contacting past contributors and asking them to contribute again. Two hundred United Way volunteers then contact others for contributions.

Cliff Schuette, K-State chairperson for United Way, said a campus goal was not really set, but it is hoped $65,000 is raised, which would be a 4 percent to 4.5 percent increase from what was raised on campus last year.

Schuette said 100 campus representatives contact all retirees from the University by "sending them a letter, soliciting their contributions."

Each department on campus has a representative who distributes envelopes and letters telling about United Way.

These letters are distributed to the 4,200 faculty, staff and graduate assistants asking them for contributions, he said. Only 950 employees have contributed.

Even though Riley County and K-State will end their fund-raising drives next week, they will still take contributions year around, Schuette said.

Looking for an apartment?

Check Collegian Classifieds

Stop by for that last fishbowl before finals!

$1 FISHBOWLS

Try our Kitchen: Burgers, Nacho Supreme,

Potato Skins & Steak-on-a-Stick

105 N. 3rd • Downtown • 539-9904

Obstacles of welfare examined become more detailed and more confusing because the government is afraid of making errors in deciding Applicants who may be poor, hungry, homeless, hopeless and humiliated have to fill out the 32-page form, which includes such details as proof of identity; proof of age and address; names and social security numbers of people living in the home; insurance; burial plans; rent receipts; bank statements; utility bills; marital status and employment

Members of the audience were eligibility.

By The Collegian Staff

It takes time and concentration to fill out a 32-page application in which a single error could result in a fine or imprisonment. Luckily, most people will not have to face this application; but it exists for anyone applying for food stamps, cash assistance or medical assistance.

"Meeting Basic Human Needs: Understanding the Consumer's View," sponsored by the League of Women Voters, examined the obstacles in the Kansas welfare system.

"I remember when the applicant simply signed a paper that said, 'I declare myself to be eligible for public assistance in Kansas," said Jacques Gibbons, assistant professor of social anthropology and social

Gibbons said the forms have

UNITED ARTISTS

SETH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD.

No Tuesday Bargain Night Bargain matinees Daily All Shows Sat. before 6 p.m.—$2.50

FATAL ATTRACTION (R)

Daily 4:30, 7, 9:30; Sat/Sun. 2, 4:30, 7, 9:30

FLOWERS IN THE ATTIC (PG-13) Daily 5, 7:25, 8:35; SeL/Sun. 2:30, 5, 7:25, 8:35

SUSPECT ®

Daily 4:30, 7, 9:30; Sat/Sun. 2:05, 4:30, 7, 9:30

LIKE FATHER LIKE SON (PG)

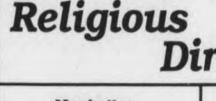

ally 4:40, 7:10, 9:20; SatJSun. 2:15, 4:40, 7:10. 9:20

LESS THAN ZERO (R)

CINDERELLA (G)

:50, 7:10, 9:25; Sat/Sun. 2:25, 4:50, 7:10, 9:25

SETH CHILDS

Manhattan Jewish Congregation Shabbat Services 8 p.m.

1st and 3rd Friday Religious School 9:30 Sundays Rides Available Sponsor B'nai B'rith Hillel

1509 Wreath Ave. (temple) 539-8462

at K-State

Campus Adviser, David Margolies 532-6154

Sunday Praise Hours 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Sunday School—9:30 a.m.

Office 537-7633 Seth Childs Rd. at Gary Ave.

Mike Wall, Pastor. 537-7967

Church of Manhattan Campus Bible Study Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. Sundays at University Inn

Come share the Spirit!

Lutheran Campus Ministry Worship 11 a.m. Study 9:45 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus) Student Movement 5 p.m nday - Lutheran Student Center

Don Fallon, Pastor 1021 Denison

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821 612 Poyntz

LIVING WORD CHURCH

Sunday 10 a.m. Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Campus Group 776-0940 (1 mile south on Hwy. 177)

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH

2901 Dickens All students & faculty welcome CHURCH SERVICES

Sundays 8:30 a.m. & 11 a.m. Welcome International Students to Dr. Bob's International Bible Hour Sundays 9:30 a.m.

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Sunday Massus 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 5 p.m. Saturday - 5 p.m.

scept Fridays) 539-7496 711 Denison Crestview Christian Church

Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 776-3798 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (on Hey. 24, across from State Park)

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 6:30 p.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 539-4079 1021 Denison

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan former Luckey High School Juliette St. and Pierre Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-0259 Nursery provided 537-8526

Directory (1)

given the chance to fill out the application forms and agreed the forms were too long, too complicated and

Peggy Bell, a single mother and a consumer of public assistance, said advocacy - having someone working on your behalf - is a "basic

"Just having someone pulling for

It is hard for social workers to be there for everyone, Bell said, because the social workers are usually over-you, helping you really helps," Bell very intimidating.

human need."

loaded.

 Collegiate Bible Class Transportation available

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH 801 Leavenworth

537-0518 Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m. Church School 9:30 a.m.

 College Outreach (Tuesdays, K-State Union)

Weekday programs

for youth Nursery available

Senior Minister Rev. Dr. Philip S. Gittings III

WORSHIP 8 and 10:30 a.m. College Class 9:30 a.m. Kermedy's Claim side entrance Sun. Eve. Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd. and 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m. 2nd and 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave. 537-7173 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH

8:30 a.m. First Worship Service 9:30 a.m. Sunday School 11 a.m. Second Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Evening Worship 537-7744 2221 College Heights Rd.

Trinity Presbyterian Church

Church School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Nursery Provided Handicap Accessible •Rides Available Pastor James Cramer 539-3921 1110 College Ave.

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH WORSHIP Sat. 6 p.m. Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. SUNDAY SCHOOL 9:30 a.m. COLLEGIATE FELLOWSHIP as scheduled 330 N. Sunse

FLINT HILLS FULL FAITH Church Sunday School 9:15-10 a.m. Worship 10:15-Noon Home Group Bible Studies 217 Seth Childs-Church Location (Bsmt. of Raoul's Escond

809 Houston......537-0256 FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School - 9:45 a.m. (Collegiate Class) 10th & Poyntz 537-8532

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

BLUE VALLEY MEMORIAL UNITED METHODIST

Sunday School 9:15 a.m. Morning Worship 10:30 a.m. 835 Church Ave.

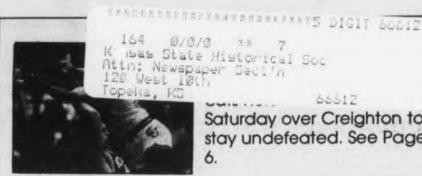

When you play as hard as The Fabulous Thunderbirds, grab hold of a Gold. Coors Extra Gold. For a color copy of this poster, send $2.50, in check or money order to. This Beer's For The Birds Poster Offer, P.O. Box 1146, Grand Rapids MN 55745, Valid only in the United States, Void where prohibited by law. Allow 4-5 weeks for delivery. Offer good white supplies last

Numbers Man

Curt Wood, director of finance for Manhattan, is obsessed with numbers and what those figures from the new Town Center Mall could do for the city's budget. See Page 10.

Weather

Morning fog and drizzle today, mostly cloudy by afternoon with high in low to mid-50s. Partly cloudy tonight, low 40 to 45.

Saturday over Creighton to stay undefeated. See Page

Monday

December 7, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 71

Kansas State Collegian

Officials hint at 'Star Wars' compromise

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet and American officials, on the eve of Mikhail Gorbachev's arrival in Washington, hinted Sunday that a compromise is possible on "Star Wars" testing, while a massive demonstration in the U.S. capital and a violence-marred protest in Moscow underscored differences on human

Thirteen months after the breakup of the last superpower summit, Gorbachev heads to Washington today for three days of talks with President Reagan and the signing of a treaty to eliminate intermediate-range nuclear missiles (INF) over three years.

Both leaders say they are optimistic about making progress toward a bolder agreement to cut long-range strategic nuclear weapons by half, paving the way for another summit by next June in Moscow.

Acknowleding a shift in the once-rigid Soviet opposition to Reagan's "Star Wars" missile defense plan, known formally as the Stategic Defense Initiative, White House chief of staff Howard Baker said the Kremlin's position "now is a little different than it appears to have been a few weeks or a few months ago."

Interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press," Baker predicted that Gorbachev would move forward on strategic-weapon cuts "perhaps president abandon SDI or reduce SDI or postpone SDI, which he's not going to do."

An estimated 200,000 marchers pressing for free emigration of Soviet Jews beseeched Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev to "let our people go" Sunday in the largest demonstration planned for this week's superpower

By Corbin Novolny

Collegian Reporter

Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev, the Soviet Union has started seeing changes in the way the country is being run.

Gorbachev has reported that changes are being made from the censorship of the press to a better living economy. But the real question is if they are actually taking place or are they tools that are being used to

Under the leadership of Soviet General

Author Elie Wiesel and Soviet emigre without requiring as a precondition that the Natan Sharansky were among those leading the march on "Freedom Sunday for Soviet Jews" - a national protest mounted by American Jews and other human rights activists on behalf of refuseniks who can't win government permission to emigrate.

> The demonstrators carried signs asking "Where is glasnost for Soviet Jews?" and flags emblazoned with the Star of David.

'Nothing's really new' in Soviet Union

according to K-State history professor make the Soviet Union look better in the street-smart," said John Daly, professor of history. "He had his connections carefully laid out with the KGB (Soviet secret police and intelligence agency), which would be an advantage in any leadership. "For all of the talk about Glasnost, none of the major high water marks which real progress might be measured by, never

"He's obviously got a lot of political eyes of other countries?

occurred," Daly said.

light and candle of freedom," Sharansky told the crowd.

Reagan did not attend the rally, but he pledged his support in a letter read to the people gathered there.

"I have high hopes for new, forward steps by the Soviets," he said. "I shall press for them in my talks with General Secretary Gorbachev in the coming days — for the release

"He may be saying it in a much more "Jewish immigration has not significantly increased; Soviet aid to liberation movements has not lessened; their military build-up has not slowed; their settlements with Afghanistan seem as far away as ever, and human rights are a topic which foreign nations are not allowed to impose in the media attractive image, but there is nothing really new," he said.

"No camps and prisons can extinguish the of all refuseniks, for full freedom of emigration, and for complete freedom of religion and cultural expression."

In Moscow, more than 200 plainclothes security agents roughed up Jewish activists and journalists during rival demonstrations for and against Kremlin policy.

"In the Soviet Union, they don't treat human beings in the way we think they ought to," Secretary of State George Shultz said. However, Georgi Arbatov, a Kremlin specialist on American affairs, said "there are a lot of people" trying to "throw sand into the wheels" of the summit and prevent it from happening. Human rights is one of four items on the summit agenda, along with regional conflicts such as Afghanistan, Nicaragua and the Persian Gulf, bilateral relations and arms Soviet officials said Star Wars was not even an issue. Gerasimov said a missiledefense system was not technically feasible

Shultz also said he and his Soviet counterparts "did make some headway" a week ago in Geneva on ceilings for strategic weapons. He said Reagan and Gorbachev would make progress in their talks, and that their decisions would be transmitted to each side's arms negotiators.

Soviet Union," he said. M See RUSSIA, Page 3

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Picking pines

Wamego, takes a break form selling Christmas trees Sunday after- stry department, said that sales are going well this year.

Don Johnson, owner and operator of the Pine Patch, south of noon. Johnson, whose trees were purchased from the K-State fore-

Mall: 'jewel of the prairies

First of five parts

Editor's note: This is the first of a five-day series examining the Manhattan Town Center and what its development means for Manhattan and surrounding areas.

> By Vicki Wiler Contributing Writer

"It's kind of a jewel of the prairies."

That's how City Commissioner David Fiser describes the Manhattan which is often formed over a long period of time under tremendous planning, the Manhattan Town Center was created.

It was an intricate and unique public/private venture between the city of Manhattan, a private developer and state and federal governments.

"It's not a typical mall development," said Karen Davis, Manhattan's assistant director of community development. "This thing is just incredibly complicated."

In the beginning

The beginning of the project can be traced to 1968 when the City Commission adopted a Land Use Plan — a policy by which the city committed to maintain downtown as a regional shopping area.

Although the idea of a downtown mall had not been proposed at that time, rezoning requests to allow the establishment of a mall outside the downtown area were denied by the 1977 on the basis of the Land Use Plan. That mall would have been pressure and crafted with painstaking constructed northwest of the intersection of K-113 and K-18.

The Manhattan Urban Planning Board, which had recommended that the requests be denied, told the city it would have to begin some type of downtown redevelopment to warrant future request denials.

In 1978, faced with a badly deteriorating downtown and convinced that a mall located away from the downtown area would aggravate the deterioration, the City Commission took two important steps toward initiating redevelopment of the area:

It hired a Boulder, Colo., consulting firm - Briscoe, Maphis, Murray and Lamont, Inc. - to evaluate the potential of the downtown area to continue as a regional shopping center.

Based on information gathered through public meetings and surveys of land use, buildings and consumers, the firm published its findings in Town Center. And just like a jewel, City Commission in 1971, 1972 and a report called "Downtown Manhattan, Yes!" One of the report's recommendations for the downtown area was an enclosed mall.

The second, and perhaps even more important step, was the hiring of Don Harmon as the city manager. Harmon, a man who had already successfully guided the development of a mall in Joplin, Mo., and another in Council Bluffs, Iowa, was singleminded during his nine-year tenure here and is regarded by many as a driving force behind the Manhattan Town Center.

"I had one objective," Harmon said. "And that was to make it

The developer

Following the "Downtown Manhattan, Yes!" report, the City Commission began searching for a developer for a downtown redevelopment project. From the eight prospective developers interviewed, commissioners chose Forest City Rental

■ See HISTORY, Page 10

Increase in taxes would cut deficit, affect corporations

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - For the third time in six years, the Senate is about to decide whether taxes should be raised to reduce the federal budget deficit.

Senate leaders hope to take a final vote this week on a $23 billion tax increase that is the centerpiece of a plan to slash the deficit by $76 billion over the next 22 months. Spending cuts that account for most of the saving are wrapped into a giant money bill on which a Senate vote also could come late in the week.

...raising taxes when we are trying to strengthen the economy is like bloodletting for an anemic patient."

-Sen. William Roth

The framework for the anti-deficit measures was worked out by President Reagan and congressional leaders in a much-publicized effort to show that the partisan differences can be put aside.

Nevertheless, there is opposition to the plan, from those who are against any tax increase and from others who say the spending cuts are much too timid.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Finance Committee, which wrote the tax bill, predicted it will pass because it is "as painless as possible" - meaning the impact will hardly be felt by typical taxpayers. The burden will fall almost entirely on corporations and upper-income individuals.

Sen. William Roth, R-Del., said he probably will vote no. He characterized the tax plan as "economic leeching," saying "raising taxes when we are trying to strengthen the economy is like bloodletting for an anemic

Even so, Roth said, "I expect the whole thing to get through because the president and the leadership are behind it."

Most of the tax provisions were approved by the committee before the Oct. 19 stock-market crash. But it took the disruption in the financial markets to coax Reagan and congressional leaders into negotiations that produced the base of the deficitreduction plan a month later.

As part of that agreement, Reagan had to drop his oft-stated opposition to any tax increase - just as he did in 1982 and 1984. This year's tax bill is smaller than either of the two earlier increases. The bill passed in 1982 was estimated to cost businesses and individuals about $50 million in the two years that followed immediately. The 1984 legislation had a two-year pricetag of $27 billion.

But unlike those two earlier bills, the 1987 tax increase has little in it to upset the average family. In fact, only one provision would affect a significant number of individuals; it would retain for three more years the 3-percent tax on local and longdistance telephone service, which is due to expire Dec. 31.

By comparison, the 1982 deficitreduction plan imposed tax withholding on interest and dividends (repealed a year later); reduced itemized deductions for medical expenses and casualty losses; doubled the tax on cigarettes; tripled the telephone tax and raised the levy on airline

Among the scores of provisions in the 1984 law were those raising taxes on liquor, extending the telephone tax once again, taking away part of the benefit from income averaging and limiting commercial uses of taxexempt bonds.

The money-raisers in the Senate bill are similar to those that passed the House in October, although there are a couple major differences.

The largest single revenue-raiser in the Senate plan, $4.8 billion, would curtail benefits available to automobile manufacturers and others that regularly sell from inventory on the installment plan. The telephone tax would raise $3.6 billion.

Considerably less revenue would come from such items as denying the child-care credit for expenses of overnight camp; requiring employers to pay Social Security tax on all their employees' cash tips, and freezing the maximum estate-tax rate at 55 percent, rather than permitting it to drop to 50 percent next year.

Couple sues WSU fraternity

WICHITA - A couple living near a Wichita State University fraternity house filed a lawsuit Thursday claiming the fraternity's members have conspired to harass them.

James and Jane Van Milligen asked in their Sedgwick County District Court lawsuit that the fraternity be barred from using two structures near Wichita State as fraternity houses. The couple lives across the street from the houses.

The Van Milligens also are seeking an unspecified amount of money in damages.

The suit claims fraternity members have played loud music, had loud parties, allowed underage drinking, shot off illegal fireworks and shouted obscenities at the couple.

The Kappa Sigma chapter president declined comment on the suit. Kappa Sigma attorney T. Michael Wilson would say only that the fraternity has been at the same location 20 years, twice as long as the Van Milligens have lived in their house.

Wilson, Kappa Sigma's alumni organization and WSU also were named as defendants.

Waldheim may have to resign CHICAGO - Austrian President Kurt Waldheim's handpicked commission investigating his claims of innocence in Nazi war crimes will reveal new evidence that likely will force his resignation, a newspaper reported Sunday.

Alois Mock, an Austrian leader, has told British and U.S. officials that when the commission's report is made public next month, he will divorce himself and his People's Conservative Party from Waldheim, the Chicago Sun-Times said in a London-datelined article.

The party Mock heads is part of Austria's ruling coalition and his move is expected to force Waldheim's resignation, the newspaper said.

Waldheim has said he has no intention of resigning because of international pressure.

The Sun-Times article also quoted unidentified sources at the U.S. Justice Department as saying they had officially notified the commission of the former United Nations secretary-general's "proved personal awareness of war crimes."

Waldheim was barred from entering the United States because of evidence linking him to Nazi atrocities during World War II.

Ugandan troops repulse attack

KAMPALA, Uganda - Troops inflicted heavy casualties in repulsing an attack by about 500 rebels on an eastern Ugandan trading center, Radio Uganda reported Sunday.

The official radio gave no details of the battle last Thursday at Katekwani trading center, about 20 miles west of Mbale Mbale is 170 miles northeast of the capital.

On Friday, soldiers captured about 200 rebels in a sweep around Kachumbala, a small town 25 miles north of Mbale, Radio Uganda said.

It said the operation made safe for travel the road from Mbale to Komuge. The road had been closed since June, cutting off Mbale from fishing villages around Lake Kyoga.

There was no independent verification of the reports. President Yoweri Museveni's 22-month-old government is fighting several rebel groups in eastern and western Uganda.

College faces financial woes

ATCHISON - Declining enrollment and a $2.2 million debt have prompted Benedictine College to close one dormitory and consider cutting faculty, staff and programs.

Benedictine student enrollment dropped by 274 since its 1980 enrollment of 1,082. Officials say a reduction in the number of federal college aid programs also has hurt.

The college, located about 50 miles northwest of Kansas City, was formed when Mount St. Scholastica, a women's college established in 1863, and St. Benedict's College for men, founded in 1859, merged in 1971.

About 15 percent of the students are from the Kansas City area, said Patricia Person, a school spokesman.

Administrators estimate that closing the dorm, a cafeteria and a student union will save Benedictine $150,000 to $350,000 a year. The college has an annual budget of $8.5 million. Person said the changes were painful, but necessary.

"If we weren't taking these steps toward financial responsibility our future would look a lot worse than it does now," she said.

A faculty committee at the liberal arts school is determining recommendations for possible staff and program cuts, said Sister Katherine Delaney, acting president.

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS meets at noon at 1021 Denison. Anyone is welcome to BUSINESS COUNCIL meets at 4 p.m. in BUSINESS AMBASSADORS meet at 4 p.m. in Calvin 209.

ICAT meets at 7 p.m. in Union 209.

DELTA UPSILON LITTLE SISTERS meet at 8 p.m. at the DU house for a Christmas

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Albert Raymond Denton at 1:30 p.m. in Bluemont 364. The topic is: "The Influencers of Post-Secondary Schools/Career Decision-Making Process as Perceived By High School Seniors."

FARMHOUSE LITTLE SISTERS meet

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Muhammad Saleem at 2:30 p.m. in Throckmorton 313. The topic is: "Influence of Temperature, Moisture, and Nitrogen on Tillering of Sorghum and Pearl Millet."

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 9 p.m. in

ALPHA PHI OMEGA meets at 7 p.m. in

TUESDAY GOLDEN KEY HONOR SOCIETY meets at 6:30 p.m. in Union 212.

S - L - E - E - P

ATTENTION: Group leaders of large or small groups — Lift tickets can be purchased in our office at competitive Group Rates (even though you are not on one of our tours) AND for any ticket not used, you will receive an immediate refund from our office.

OUR SKI BROCHURE IS READY WITH OVER 100 TRIPS Group Leaders Shop the Town - Then let us quote you a package. You'll be glad you did.

WEEKENDER SPECIAL: 2 Ski Days Departs every Friday starting Nov. 13, as low as $119.00 per person

Date	Ski Days	Destination	Cost P	P Lodge
Nov. 25-30	4	Keystone/Copper	$214	Hotel-Quad
Nov. 26-30	3	Winter Park	$205	Condo
Nov. 26-30	3	Keystone/Copper	$181	Hotel-Quad
Nov. 26-30	3	Keystone/Copper	$206	Condo
Nov. 26-30	3	Steamboat	$206	Hotel-Quad
Nov. 26-30	3	Steamboat	$219	Condo
Nov. 26-30	3	Crested Butte	$188	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 3-7	3	Keystone/Copper	$172	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 10-14	3	Steamboat	$210	Condo
Dec. 11-15	3	Keystone/Cooper	$172	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 17-21	3	Keystone/Copper	$178	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 17-21	3	Winter Park	$209	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 25-29	3	Keystone/Copper	$233	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 26-31	4	Keystone/Copper	$287	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 27-31	3	Keystone/Copper	$233	Hotel-Quad
Dec. 29-Jan. 3	4	Keystone/Copper	$287	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 1-5	3	Keystone/Copper	$233	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 3-8	4	Winter Park .	$265	Condo
Jan. 3-6	4	Keystone/Copper	$222	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 7-11	3	Vail	$212	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 7-11	3	Keystone/Copper	$188	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 14-19	4	Keystone/Copper	$232	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 15-19	3	Winter Park	$228	Condo
Jan. 15-19	3	Keystone/Copper	$193	Hetel-Quad
Jan. 15-19	3	Crested Butte	$213	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 15-19	3	Steamboat	$237	Condo
Jan. 21-25	3	Keystone/Copper	$188	Hotel-Quad
Jan. 28-Feb. 1		Winter Park	$223	Condo
Jan. 28-Feb. 1	3	Keystone/Copper	$188	Hotel-Quad
Feb. 4-8	3	Keystone/Copper	$168	Hotel-Quad
Feb. 4-8	3	Vail	$212	Hotel-Quad
Feb. 11-16		Keystone/Copper	$249	Hotel-Quad
Feb. 12-16		Winter Park	$235	Condo
Feb. 12-16	3	Keystone/Copper	$236	Condo
Feb. 12-16	3	Keystone/Copper	$211	Hotel-Quad
Feb. 12-16	3	Steamboat	$252	Condo

AND 35 MORE TRIPS TO CHOOSE FROM ALL TOURS INCLUDE SLEEPER BUS, LODGING AND LIFT TICKET EACH DAY LESSONS AVAILABLE SINGLE, DOUBLE & TRIPLE RATES AVAIL IN HOTELS

ANGEL FIRE VIA AMTRAK MAR. 12-17 AND MAR. 19-24

NIGHTS & 4 LIFT TICKETS $371 HOTEL-QUAD

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND VIA AIR 6 NIGHTS $360 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 4-10 5 NIGHTS $368 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 11-16 4 NIGHTS $368 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 16-20 MAR. 30-APR. 4 5 NIGHTS $320 CONDO

FOR BROCHURE KANSAS CITY AREA 741-8822 Overland Adventures 1-800-892-9788 MO 9505 N. Congress K.C., Mo. 64152 1-800-821-1500 USA

GRAND OPENING of our NEW Branch Office ADVENTURE SPORTS — Georgetown Market Place 9321 W. 74th St. (I-35 & 75th St.) !!!! REGISTER FOR DOOR PRIZES !!!!

Christmas Fruitcakes 2 lb. loaf form in decorative pan. Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Fruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

Add More. Save More. Do More.

Purchase a Macintosh Plus by January 2, 1988 and get up to $200 cash back on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Start with a Macintosh™ Plus, from Apple, the high-powered computer—for people who do work at home. Then you'll enjoy savings when you add on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Such as an ImageWriter" II printer. An Apple 3.5" Disk Drive or an Apple Hard Disk 20SC. An Apple Personal Modern, Or an Apple 2MB mory Expansion Kit.

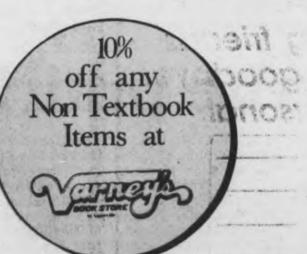

The more you add, the more capabilities you have. And this holiday season, you'll save more, too. Simply purchase a Macintosh Plus with your choice of select Macintosh Plus add-ons. And we'll send you cash back. Up to $200.

So add more. Save more. Do more with a Macintosh Plus. But hurry, offer expires January 2, 1988. ConnectingPoint 111

1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE Dead Week

9 a.m.-9 p.m. (Except Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Final Week 8:30-10 p.m. (Mon.-Tues.-Wed.)

Conference to be here Gorbachev 'compromises'

Officials to address black issues

By Stacey Schumacher, Collegian Reporter

The 11th annual Big Eight Conference on Black Student Government will be held at K-State Feb. 18-21.

The conference, hosted by K-State black students and faculty, will address issues concerning black students in higher education and the working world. The conference will also serve as recruitment for bringing black undergraduate and graduate students to K-State; said Anthony Pauldin, senior in business management and chairman of the entertainment committee for the conference.

Each year, one Big Eight school hosts the conference. The last conference held at K-State was in 1980.

In addition to the Big Eight schools, surrounding universities in Kansas such as Fort Hays State University and Friends University are scheduled to attend the conference.

Pauldin said 550 to 600 students are expected to register for the event, and he hopes all K-State students will participate in the conference.

"I don't want just black students on this campus to get involved. I want all students to get involved in this conference," he said. "We want them to support us in hosting this conference.'

Among the keynote speakers tentatively scheduled are Howard G. Adams, executive director of the national consortium of graduate degrees for minorities in Engineering Inc. at Notre Dame University, and Mary Berry, professor of history and law at Howard University.

A career fair will also be held in conjunction with the conference, Pauldin said. At least 75 corporations are expected to attend. The corporations will set up booths so students can talk to corporate representatives about possible internships and job

Other features of the conference include a gospel extravanganza, an all-greek step show and pending entertainment by the black African group, Ladysmith Black Mambazo. The group received national attention from recording and touring with Paul Simon on his Graceland album

The group performs a type of music called Cothoza Mfana or Isicathamiya, which is sung in a male a cappella chorus. The music was developed, practiced and perfected by men who left their homes and families to work in the diamond and gold mines in South Africa.

Pre-registration cost for the conference before Feb.1 is $55 for students and $65 for faculty and staff. The price is $65 for students and $75 for faculty and staff after Feb. 1.

in hopes of stopping SDI

By Corbin Novotny Collegian Reporter

Attempting to make their third summit meeting a success, President Ronald Reagan and Soviet General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev will continue negotiations on an intermediate nuclear forces treaty this week in Washington, D.C.

The driving force behind this summit is to sign an intermediate nuclear forces treaty. The plans were set in motion when U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz and Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze resolved the final complications that were stopping a treaty to destroy all U.S. and Soviet missiles with ranges of 300 to 3,400 miles.

Plans were also made for the United States to set up monitoring equipment near a missile assembly plant in the Ural Mountains to detect what goes in and out of the Soviet Union. In turn, the Soviets will do the same at a U.S. plant in Magna, Utah.

In addition to the signing of the INF treaty, negotiations could start for a Strategic Arms Reduction Talks treaty. This would cut the number of U.S. and Soviet longrange nuclear weapons in half.

UNION

PROGRAM

COUNCIL

"It's in the interest of both to sign," said John Daly, professor of history. "Gorbachev seems an engaging individual, but not one who seems to be inclined to compromise."

Daly has visited the Soviet Union, and he also has studied and taught Russia's history and military background for 17 years.

"There's been two summits before where Reagan came back with nothing," he said. "Gorbachev, on the other hand, can go back to Moscow and talk to his central committee and generals and say 'They signed this, maybe we can stop SDI (Strategic Defense Initiative).

"The only reason Gorbachev is signing this is for the greater chance of stopping the defense initiative. He is willing to make a great deal to make sure that it's dead and buried," he said.

"In terms of the ultimate value of the treaty, it's less than 6 percent of the total arsenals," he said.

There were two summits before that were failures because of the SDI issue, Daly said. He said the real chance was at the Reykjavik summit last year in Iceland. Gorbachev was willing to sign a 50 percent cut of long-range missiles because it would have stopped SDI. Reagan wouldn't sign because it would have stopped his SDI program, Daly said.

"I see this (summit) as public relations more than significant arms control," Daly said. "The most positive aspect of it is the agreements for verification."

"Reagan is a master of handling the media. That's been his entire career, and Gorbachev has suddenly pushed Reagan in a corner. According to a recent report, twothirds of the American people think Gorbachev is a nice guy," Daly

"I think it's pretty obvious that, in media terms, Gorbachev has scored a resounding success, where Reagan is stuck with his foreign policy," he said.

"Reasonable human beings want to believe our leaders want to avoid war. Normal people do not want to die," he said.

SGA positions

3 branches aid senators on decisions

By Jill Conger Collegian Reporter

Interested students are being asked to help "lead the way" by taking part in K-State's Student Government.

This is the time of year when the Student Governing Association selects students to serve on the judicial, legislative and executive branches.

Any K-State student can apply to serve on one of the governing bodies. Applications can be picked up in the Student Governing Office and are due at 5 p.m. Dec. 9.

"I want to emphasize that anyone can get involved in student government," said Troy Lubbers student body president and a junior in business administration - preprofessional. "I want students to know that when they apply for a posi-

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

is trying to change is the censorship of the media. The censorship in the

One of the issues that Gorbachev

Russia

tion in student government, they will standing committees and have speakbe selected on their willingness to work and the application, not by who they know."

Students have a variety of areas they can apply for.

The judicial branch offers five areas to get involved in. The judicial council is an example of a position offered in this area of government. The council exercises general supervisory power over the student judicial systems in matters of court administration and procedures, and serves as an advisory body to the Student Senate on matters of judicial policy.

The legislative branch covers the seven standing committees, covering areas from finance to academic affairs. Senators serve on these committees along with students at large and the number of students that serve on each committee may vary.

Student interns are also part of the legislative branch. Twelve student interns are selected each year. The interns provide assistance to senators in the research of issues, student opinions and other activities in which senators may need assistance. They are also assigned to one of the seven ing privileges at Senate meetings. The interns are eligible to receive one hour of credit per semester, for a total of two credit hours from the Department of Speech.

Cabinet positions fall under the executive branch of government. Positions like attorney general and chief of staff help make up the entire cabinet, which consists of seven

Lubbers said he works closely with this part of student government because these students help him communicate with the standing committees and Senate and help keep him organized.

Students who apply will be selected by individual committees from each area of student

Lubbers said the appointed positions will begin next semester and continue through the fall semester. He encourages anyone who is interested to apply, and if people have any questions they should call the student government hotline at 532-7777.

of certain problems."

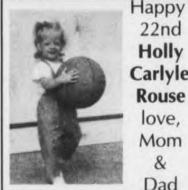

Another problem that Gorbachev is tackling is the economy. The constitution guarantees every citizen the right to work, and people that don't work would be supported by the who have marginal jobs," Daly said. "In foreign hotels, on every floor there's an old lady behind a desk by the elevator, and all she does all day is keep track of foreigners coming in. There's a lot of make-work."

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

Holly Carlyle Rouse love, Mom Dad

22nd

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Soviet Union has been strict, and everything that is published is passed through the government for its approval. In the past, the Soviet Union has had two Nobel Prize winners in literature who have been exiled from their country, Daly said. "Their censorship is becoming more sophisticated now. If you use a Soviet yardstick there is some progress," Daly said. "If you use a Western yardstick, it's like molasses flowing up a hill in January.

"There are no changes that have been instituted yet that could not be reversed tomorrow," he said.

"I'm sure it comes as a great shock to average Soviet citizens when they read about drug abuse in Pravda (Russian newspaper), but this is merely reporting some facts of life which were simply ignored before," he said. "That's not relaxation of censorship as much as it is an awareness

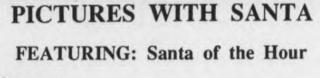

"There are a number of people

Don't let your graduating friends sail away without saying goodbye. Say you care in a personal.

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon the day before you want the ad to run. The last Collegian for fall will be Dec. 11.

Union Courtyard

The annual K-State Union Christmas Smorgasbord will be held on Thursday, December 10 through Saturday, December 12 from 5:30-8:30 p.m. in the Union K-State Ballroom. The dates listed in the '87-88 Programmer were partially incorrect. Call 532-6591 for ticket information.

This epic tale of two Jewish gangsters follows their friendship and fight for power from the roaring '20s of the prohibition to the mob vendettas of the Depression to the political wheeling and dealings of the '60s. Rated R. Stars James Woodsand and Robert DeNiro.

Wednesday, December 9, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall and Thursday, December 10, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre and 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall. All shows $1.75; KSU ID Required.

k-state union

Mon., Dec. 7: 11:00-Pat Bosco, Associate VP 12:00-Larry Travis, Athletic Director Tue. Dec. 8: 11:00-Willie the Wildcat 12:00-Carole Rood, "The Union Check Cashing Lady" Wed. Dec. 9: 11:00-Matilda Mossman Women's Basketball Head Coach 12:00-Troy Lubbers, Student Body President to ensure public access

When the U.S. Congress passed the $587 billion spending bill Thursday, it not only took a step cutting into the nation's federal deficit, it also restored an important element into this nation's broadcasting regulations.

One of the bill's amendments was to restore the Fairness Doctrine, which requires broadcasters to air both sides of controversial issues. The Federal Communications Commission, the federal agency which regulates broadcasting, stopped enforcing the rule earlier this year.

Broadcasters claim the rule makes it harder for them to cover controversial stories or issues because of the conditions placed on them. The doctrine says if broadcasters air a story or editorial, then they are obligated to seek out opposing viewpoints. Broadcasters claim this cools their efforts to report news or present opinions, since they have to seek out an opposing party as well, unlike newspapers, where opinions can be expressed without any obligation to present the other side.

What broadcasters tend to leave out of their arguments against the doctrine is that they operate under a public trust. They broadcast their product over public airwaves for the public convenience and well-being, unlike newspapers, which operate in the private domain.

One of the major purposes behind the Fairness Doctrine to begin with was to give the public access to its airwaves. The public has control over what is on the radio and television through licensing and grievance procedures broadcasters must go through periodically.

Congressmen obviously were not impressed with the rise in quality of coverage for controversial issues as the same type of editorial comment was still appearing on public airwaves. Hard-hitting issues such as "Safe driving: Are we for it or against it?" were still the main staple of broadcasting comment.

The Fairness Doctrine should include a place in the regulations to remind broadcasters that they are in the business to serve the public and should be allowing opposing comment on real issues whether they are obligated by law or not.

Senate should finance FONE's original number

In times of trouble, which seem to occur all too regularly in the pressure-cooker existence of college, it's good to know where help is available.

For the past 18 years, K-State students have known they could dial 532-6565 and find someone on the other end of the line who was willing to listen to their problems.

number of the FONE Crisis Center.

It will not be the number of the FONE Crisis Center after Dec. 31. What the new number will be is unknown to FONE or anyone else, save perhaps Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

For all those years, FONE has had an on-campus number at an offcampus location. The off-campus location is across Manhattan Avenue at the University for Man house. During FONE's residence at UFM house, a phone line has been strung across the street to give it an oncampus number.

This odd arrangement will cost FONE, or rather its funding agency Student Senate, $38 for each of three telephone extensions every month.

The total bill for one month would be $114. For one year, it would be

Apparently, $1,368 was more than Senate could bear to spend for a service, staffed by volunteers, which has prevented students from being consumed by the stresses of academic life for 18 years.

Senate doesn't seem to care that For 18 years, that has been the next semester someone may dial 532-6565 only to hear, "I'm sorry, but that number has been disconnected." What are senators going to say to that student's family who, grieving because of a suicide, discover their child's life might have been saved if a phone number hadn't been changed to save money?

> To be fair, Senate recently gave FONE $225 to use for publicity. Maybe the money will be enough to cover the campus with flyers and posters. It will not be enough, however, to reprint all the Union programmers and telephone directories which contain the old number.

It would appear Senate does want students to know that saving money is more important than saving lives.

SPORTS COLUMNISTS

Tom Perrin David Svoboda

Fairness Doctrine needed U.S. supports dictatorships Money determines acceptance

Last January, televangelist Jimmy Swaggart took the stage at the National Stadium in Santiago, Chile. In his stirring sermon, he told the crowd that military dictator General Augusto Pinochet is "a man who loves his country a great deal," and called the 1973 coup that brought him to power "one of the greatest events of the century." He also stated "I give thanks to God for the freedom enjoyed" in Chile."

This is a huge load of vile crap for anyone to spit out, even for a pro-fascist preacher like Swaggart. The fact that Swaggart equates freedom with military dictatorship shows his utter contempt for the religion he claims to represent. What makes the scene even more absurd is that Swaggart gave this speech in the very stadium that General Pinochet used as a concentration camp, where thousands of Chileans were tortured and murdered.

But Swaggart isn't alone in his support for dictatorship. His views on this point are shared by a majority of the people in the U.S. government, with both Democrats and Republicans siding against democracy. In fact, support for military dictatorship is a cornerstone for American foreign policy in the Third World. In Asia, Africa, Latin America and even Europe, the United States has created and supported military dictatorships and continues to do so with undiminished vigor. America is the most active supporter of dictatorships in the world.

The real question here is why does our government do this? Are the people running this country idiots? Are we idiots for electing them? Our government, much like Swaggart's speech in Santiago, twists horrifying realities into flowery propaganda for mass consumption by an ignorant public. This allows them to act with impunity, while reassuring the public at home that their country stands for something.

The United States doesn't support every dictator in the world, and some dictatorships Commentary

KIRK CARAWAY Collegian Columnist

they fight viciously. Take Cuba, for example. Ever since Fidel Castro overthrew the U.S. supported Batista dictatorship, America has been very hostile toward Cuba. The two countries still do not recognize each other diplomatically, and tensions between them have brought us to the brink of war more than once. It seems America hates to lose its dictators and takes revenge on anyone who overthrows one without permission.

Cuba is commonly used as an excuse for supporting dictatorships in Latin America. "We don't want another Cuba" has become a propaganda statement to justify why we send hundreds of millions of dollars in military equipment to some of the most brutal thugs in the world. Cuba is a living example of communist dictatorship in our own hemisphere, and is usually blamed for everything that goes wrong in Latin America.

However, maybe we should examine the alleged differences between what we support and what we are trying to fight against. In Cuba, there is a lack of a free press and other political freedoms. There is also evidence to suggest they hold political prisoners. On the other hand, the standard of living for the average person is very high for Latin American standards. Everyone has the basics of food, clothing, housing, medical care and education provided free of charge, and the infant mortality rate is lower than that of Washington, D.C. It is rated as the most livable country in Latin America.

Then we have the U.S. sponsored dictatorships in Latin America like Chile and Paraguay. In Chile, the government regularly shuts down newspapers and radio stations, and they also have a tendency to assassinate their opposition. In Paraguay, General Alfredo Strossner, who took power by a coup in 1953, is the second-longest ruling dictator in the world. He also shuts down the press and executes his opposition. Except for freedom of emigration, these two countries are just as bad as Cuba, if not worse. Poverty and unemployment are running rampant in Chile and Paraguay, while these problems are almost non-existent in Cuba.

And it's not like the United States is helpless to change these dictatorships into democracies. President Nixon helped General Pinochet in Chile to overthrow the democratically elected government to gain power. The United States is also the major trading partner with both these countries, along with most of the other dictatorships we sponsor around the world. If President Reagan really wanted democracy in these countries, all he would have to do is cut off all aid and trade. They would turn democratic real fast.

The reason America supports these dictatorships is mentioned in the above paragraph. A common denominator between these dictatorships is the amount of trade they do with the United States. A leader of a country who sets friendly terms for American business is our friend. Those who don't sell out their countries are considered the enemy. It all comes down to the most important aspect of American culture: MONEY.

So there you have it. The next time you hear about another dictator being flown out of his country on a U.S. cargo plane, just remember, he already bought his ticket to

Kansas State Collegian

Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander CAMPUS EDITORS SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR Judy Lundstrom FEATURES EDITOR Susan Staggenborg
AGRIBUSINESS EDITOR Janet Swanson GOVERNMENT EDITOR Candy Leonard ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR Becky Howard SPORTS EDITOR

EDITOR

Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR

COPY EDITORS Peggy Aeschlimar Betsy Edwards Lori Siegrist STAFF WRITERS Patti Paxson Tom Denzel Jennifer Dorsch Lori Lindstrom Alison Necly COLUMNISTS Judd Annis Kirk Caraway Doug Folk REVIEWER Gary Leffler SPORTS WRITERS

Chase Clark Bill Lang

PHOTOGRAPHERS Brad Camp Jim Dietz Brad Fanshier GRAPHIC ARTIST Mary Ward ADVERTISING GRAPHIC ARTIST Becky Lucas Judy Lundstron Alison Neely Chad Sanborn EDITORIAL BOARD Jeff Bielser Kirk Caraway Deron Johnson Oary Lytle Erwin Sebe ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz ASST. ADVERTISING MANAGER Jada Allemeiligen REGIONAL REPRESENTATIVE Bill Sherbert
CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER Barry Steffen
SALES REPRESENTATIVES CLASSIFIED SALES REPS Tracy Mayhew Jackie Clement DIRECTOR ASSISTANT DIRECTOR Gloria Freeland NEWS ADVISER GRAD. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR ADV. PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 332-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: ndar year, 340; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and lotters to the editor should be to the Kenses State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kanses State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66596.

Faith in 'future leaders' lost

Hey, you engineers out there! I have news for you. What you're doing now and in the future has the result of affecting the human life! Our job will directly or indirectly improve the quality of life, though I think some of you have forgotten or don't understand. Let me explain why I'm telling you this and why I'm angry.

What can be more of a show of ingratitude, arrogance, conceit and apathy than not showing up at class just because the instructor happens to be a foreigner and speaks with an accent? I'm referring to a repeated incident in one of my classes, but I'm directing my opinion to all students on campus. If you people are the future leaders of America, where is the country going if you can't even give a respectful hour of listening (which you paid for) to someone who can offer a different per-sense of unique enthusiasm for a topic? to improve what exists or design what cultures, perspectives or ideas. doesn't, and the world should be a better place to live because of this. You know, the United States isn't the only existing nation in ce of higher intelligence and wisdom. How do you expect to contribute successfully to America or the Middle East or anywhere else require a little exertion to hear, learn and beyond our borders.

Commentary

MICHELLE BRAZUKAS Guest Columnist

It's a show of contempt for what one can really learn from - listening to others who are different. No one can stand alone for long on his own self-conceit and expect to succeed spective, new idealogy and reflect a new and contribute to a change for the better of the current situation if that person is looking The job of an engineer in the future will be down at those who have different languages,

As students, we have an obligation to interact with our teachers and learn, listen and think. It's only to your advantage, because the world, and it's certainly not the only sour- you will be the ones in the future to help this world to change.

I get the strong and disgusting feeling that the betterment of our lives when you turn this incident summarizes in an odd way the your backs on something different - a chal- basic attitudes of American students today. Is lenge to understand? Maybe that's why this it true? Do you "future leaders" out there just country has world problems today which want to get by with the minimum, make a lot include enormous trade deficits, the national of money and remain ignorant about and debt and the problems that exist with Central apathetic to anything different that would understand? I do suppose that's why this country has such problems. Sometimes it must be just a little too difficult to try to understand someone who speaks a little differently, but who could, possibly, if given the incentive of getting the audience's honest attention, provide an answer or at least another way of looking at the problem.

There is only one more aspect to my anger, and that is due to the effect of this incidence on a person's self-esteem and self-assurance - a person who works hard to teach and cares to transmit knowledge, but is forced to do it in a language not native to him, under the pressure of a scrutinizing audience.

The absence of my classmates on these occasions was despicable, rude, apathetic and hurtful. It only adds another reason for my lost faith in the "future leaders" of this country. If I get even one person to understand or feel the slightest guilt for his or her absence, my anger will have been justified. I can't convert 20 years or so of programming. I just want a little hope and my piece said.

Michelle Brazukas is a senior in industrial

Letters to the editor pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be type-written or neatly printed and signed by the author. They should not exceed 300

Letters may be brought to Kedzie 116 or mailed to the Collegian.

Bush, Dole verbally assail opponents of arms treaty

By The Associated Press

PELLA, Iowa - Republican presidential front-runners Vice President George Bush and Sen. Bob Dole both attacked conservative opponents of the U.S.-Soviet arms control treaty, with Bush calling the critics "those noisy people."

During a campaign stop in Iowa, Bush said he "couldn't care less" what the conservative activists think about the treaty.

"I don't care what some of those noisy people attacking our president think. I don't think it's called for, I don't have any respect for it and I don't approve of it," Bush said.

Meanwhile, President Reagan called Dole in New Hampshire on Saturday night to thank him for a statement decrying "those ridiculous personal attacks" that "should never have any place in the political dia-

Put A Smile on

Someone's Face

and Warmth to

Their Hands This

Christmas Season.

Help decorate

the Christmas tree located in the lobby of Lafene Health adding a new pair of mittens.

Proceeds go to: Crisis Center

Head Start Manhattan Shelter (all mitten sizes needed.)

Sponsored by:

LAFENE

Health Center

Center by directed at the president of the United States on the eve of the summit."

Reagan also thanked Dole for a letter the senator sent Friday in which Dole said the treaty to eliminate intermediate-range nuclear missiles "is not a test of loyalty to our party or to you, as some have tried to portray

During the conversation, Reagan told Dole he understood the Senate's reponsibility in the treaty process and that he hoped that would be carried out expeditiously and that senators would take a thorough look at the treaty, White House spokesman B.J. Cooper said.

The president also told Dole that he had not been referring to Dole or any other senator when he spoke earlier about the treaty's critics, Cooper

In an interview on Thursday, Rea-logue and certainly not when gan had said that critics of the pact were people who had accepted "the inevitability of war," prompting the conservative attacks on the

> Bush, who has been the only GOP presidential contender to support the proposed agreement, described the conservative groups that attacked Reagan as simply "way off on the political extreme right."

"We're on the verge in Washington of something I think is quite historic," Bush told several hundred people in a crowded gymnasium Friday night. It's time, he said, to "put aside those little political aspirations and get behind the president of the United States."

Dole has said he wants to review the treaty before deciding, while more conservative candidates, including Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, oppose ratification.

December

1st thru

December

20th

Study hours extended for finals

By The Collegian Staff

With finals approaching, quiet study places are at a premium. Farrell Library and the Union are extending their hours, and local hotels offer students a change of scenery.

From today until Dec. 17, the ground level, first and second floor of the Union will be open 7 a.m. to midnight with the exception of Dec. 13, when the Union will be open 1 p.m. to midnight.

The Union's Stateroom will be open until 11:30 p.m.

The recreation center will maintain its normal hours.

Farrell Library's hours are also being extended. Dec. 7-11 it will be open 7:30 a.m. to midnight. Dec. 12 it will be 10 a.m. to midnight. Dec. 13 it will be open 1 p.m. to

During finals week, Dec. 14-17 the library will be open 7:30 a.m. to midnight, but on Dec. 18 it will only be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5

Both the All Seasons Motel and University Inn are offering discount rates on rooms from now until the end of finals week.

"We offer as many rooms as we have available," said Dan Richards, manager of the Universi-

'The Sunday and Monday of finals week will be the busiest," he said. "We've had up to 65 or 70 rooms reserved on one night."

Students are required to sign a contract that the room is going to be used for studing and not

"We've done this since 1978 and never had any problems," Richards said. "We monitor the rooms for study purposes and to make sure they're not partying."

Richards said the only time rooms would not be available is graduation weekend, Dec. 11 and

STUDENT LOANS We want to make your student loan! Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at: 537-4400

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

Unique Holiday Gift Ideas

Skiers Bicyclers

Campers Travelers Canoers Hunters

Oakley sunglasses

Patagonia ski jacket

Barrecrafter ski rack

photo fanny pack

Eyepoppers! (over $100)

Specialized

Cannondale

Yakima or Thule ski rack

cross country ski package

Schwinn exerciser

Mad River canoe

Schwinn

Woolrich mountain parka

$50-100

Sorel boots

climbing rope

a new bike:

Fuji

luggage

Moms and Grandmas Dads and Grandpas

Under $10

wool socks zipper thermometer bike gloves compass money belt passport carrier fanny pack carabiner hand warmer

$10-$20

Walbro water purifier gaitors Capilene underwear frame pump bike bottle/cage turtleneck checkbook organizer pedometer Swiss army knife nylon briefcase ragg wool gloves Tekna flashlight

$20-50 chamois shirt wool sweater flannel shirt down booties Acorn slipper socks Therma-A-Rest pad stove/cook kit lantern powder jacket silk underwear

bike helmet

sleeping bag

tent

Gift certificates available in any amount

539-5639

1111 Moro Aggleville Manhattan

Hrs: M-Th. 9-8, Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation!

WEFKA KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE

$29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggleville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

$5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

SportsMonday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, December 7, 1987 ■ Page 6

'Cats squander lead, yet stay unbeaten

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

Being 5-0 on the season isn't enough to please K-State basketball coach Lon Kruger. And maybe it shouldn't be.

K-State defeated Creighton 88-78 Saturday night in Omaha, Neb., but the Wildcats saw a 20-point first half lead fall by the wayside as Creighton staged a second-half rally and tied the game at 66-66 with 7:58 left in

"I'm not necessarily pleased anymore than (the team is) with the play in the second half," Kruger said. "They could have knuckled on under in the second half, but they didn't. They fought back, got a grip of it, and established themselves in the last six or seven minutes.

"I hope we learned a pretty valuable lesson. They played a lot harder than we did in the second half," he said. "They have a young ball club, and they certainly aren't going to quit because they're down a little at halftime. They certainly proved that.

"Overall, I would have thought that we'd be farther along as far as general abilities to take care of responsibilities," he said. "We've not been consistent for 40 minutes up to this point. Maybe that's typical of early season games, but we've got to Mason hit two 3-pointers early on in get there pretty quickly."

K-State's Mitch Richmond was too much for Creighton's defense. Richmond scored 31 points, shooting 12 of 16 from the field and 7 of 10 from the free-throw line.

"Mitch Richmond is a legitimate All-American player," Creighton coach Tony Barone said. "We weren't able to stop him and he made the difference for K-State."

"When we needed a few buckets to turn it around in the last six or seven minutes, Richmond got a couple of key ones down," Kruger said. "I'm awful proud of his effort.

"We played a lot of people and I thought they contributed very well. Ron Meyer played better tonight. He's got something to build on from tonight's game. Mark Nelson, at the point spot, gave us a little bit of stability when we badly needed it."

Creighton jumped out to a 7-3 lead in the opening minutes of the game. From then on, though, the first half belonged to K-State. The Wildcats rolled on to a 20-point, 51-31 halftime lead.

The first-half effort for K-State was led by Mitch Richmond with 17 points and 5 rebounds, and Steve Henson with 12 points.

Creighton's senior guard Rod the second half to cut K-State's lead to 16 and in turn sparked a rally by the Bluejays which saw K-State's lead slowly erode away.

"I thought in the first half, the tempo favored us," Kruger said. "We converted some transition opportunities against their press. Overall, the first half. I think we handled their press decently."

One of K-State's problems was the 'Cats couldn't handle the press very effectively in the second half.

Creighton's full-court press that had only minor success in the first half seemed to tighten up in the second half and forced K-State into several turnovers, including four steals by Creighton's junior guard James Farr in less than three minutes of

With 7:58 left in the game, Farr hit his second 3-pointer of the half to tie the game at 66-66. Then something happened.

The 7:58 mark was the dividing line between a K-State team that acted as if they would rather be watching the game from the stands and a Wildcat squad that wanted to win the game.

In the next 2:12 of play, K-State scored nine unanswered points to take a 75-66 lead. Richmond, who was held scoreless for the first 8:29 of the second half, was the driving force in the 'Cats' comeback. Richmond scored 11 points in the last

■ See 'CATS, Page 7

K-State	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
BLEDSOE	25	2-7	0-0	0-2	9 3	4
RICHMOND	38	12-16	0-1	7-10	6 1	31
MEYER	21	4-7	0-0	4-4	6 5	12
SCOTT	7	1-3	1-2	0-0	0 3	3
HENSON	38	5-8	2-3	2-2	3 1	14
Nelson	19	0-0	0-0	2-3	11	2
Glover	16	1-1	1-1	0-0	11	3
Diggins	11	0-0	0-0	3-5	0 1	3
Dobbins	10	2-3	0-0	2-5	2 1	6
McCoy	15	4-9	0-0	2-3	5 2	10
Totals		31-54	4-7	22-34	3719	88
Creighton	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
RODGERS	17	1-3	1-2	0-1	1 5	3
HARSTAD	34	4-6	0-0	v47	12 5	12
G'GHER	24	4-7	0-0	2-4	2 3	10
MASON	35	7-14	5-11	2-4	6 1	21
FARR	40	7-20	2-2	5-6	4 5	21
Cole	3	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Moser	2	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Roggenburk	20	0-3	0-3	0-0	0 4	0
0'Dowd	1.	1-1	0-0	0-0	10	2 2
Nygard	7	1-1	0-0	0-0	1 2	2
Johnson	17	3-4	0-0	1-1	3 5	7
Totals		28-59	8-18	14-23	3431	78
			-	4.0

K-State center Ron Meyer blocks a shot by Creighton's forward Bob Harstad during K-State's 88-78 victory in Omaha, Neb. The win leaves K-State with a 5-0 record on the season.

Ceremonies signal close of season

Staff/Brett Hacker

By Russ Ewy Sports Writer

K-State basketball coach Lon Kruger gives quick sideline advice to Carlos Diggins during the K-State-Creighton game Saturday night.

Despite going 0-10-1 during the 1987 campaign, the K-State football team capped its season on a high note last night during the 1987 K-State Honors Banquet.

K-State Head Coach Stan Parrish said farewell to the 17 seniors leaving the squad before presenting awards.

"Obviously we were a little disappointed with our record, but we have a great, great group of kids, good students and good citizens," Parrish said. "I hate to see (the seniors go), but they're quality guys who down the road will have helped us win."

Receiving one of the Most Valuable Player Awards was tight end Kent Dean, who set a new receiving record for K-State tight ends with 38 catches and gaining 481 yards.

"I'm a little surprised (to get the award), there are a lot of good players," Dean said. "Like I said, I'm really surprised to get such an honor; we've got a lot of great seniors."

The other MVP award went to linebacker Matt Wallerstedt, who led the Big Eight Conference in total tackles this year with 162.

"Well, as far as the season, it was really disappointing in a way, but I do believe that everything is going in the right direction, although we didn't have any wins," Wallerstedt said.

"The players voted (for the MVPs) and I'm very proud of them. It could've been one of many, but Kent did a great job for us; Matt did a great job for us, and I'm happy for them, as well as the rest of the team," Parrish

Other honors went to fullback Rick Lewis, offensive tackle Matt Garver and tailback Tony Jordan who were named as offensive tricaptains. Voted as defensive cocaptains were linebackers Grady Newton and Matt Wallerstedt. This year's Ken Ochs Pride Award went to defensive back Brad Lambert.

Staff/Brad Camp

Wildcat football coach Stan Parrish gave thanks Sunday evening to many people for their support of the 1987 football season. Parrish and other coaches, players and families attented the Wildcat Banquet in the University Inn basement. Parrish, 2-19-1 after two seasons at K-State, said farewell to 17 graduating seniors and expressed his hopes at the banquet for the upcoming season.

Big Eight teams survive weekend

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Missouri Coach Norm Stewart says it just goes to show what pre-season hype is worth.

Stewart's eighth-ranked Tigers survived - just barely - in two overtimes Saturday to beat Eastern Michigan 77-75 in the championship game of the Show-Me Classic.

"We are supposed to be this outstanding basketball team this year," Stewart said. "And here we are playing Eastern Michigan, who you all can say what you want about. Eastern Michigan showed that if people have an idea, a constructive organization and dedication ... they did a heck of a job."

In other games involving Big Eight teams, No. 16 Kansas downed St. John's, 63-54; No. 18 Oklahoma overwhelmed Loyola, 123-73; Iowa State topped Drake 83-77; Nebraska was beaten by Ohio State 72-63; and Oklahoma State lost to Baylor, 67-55.

Sophomore guard Lee Coward hit a jump shot with 11 seconds left in the second overtime to give Missouri, 2-0, the victory in its tournament.

Howard Chambers' lastsecond shot hit off the rim for Eastern Michigan, 3-1.

"We had all kinds of chances to lose the game and somehow we won it," Stewart said.

Eastern Michigan made 10 of 13 3-point attempts. Grant Long scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

The Hurons led 37-28 at halftime and 60-51 with 3:31 left in

"If you're ranked, everybody sees a chance to test you," said

Tigers forward Nathan Buntin, who scored 17 points. "Eastern Michigan played a great game. They had it down in the bag. They got loose balls, they were diving and crashing into the boards. I was definitely worried."

Danny Manning sleep-walked through the start of the first half before coming alive to lead Kansas, 4-2, to its 50th straight victory at home.

Manning finished with 21 points, but was benched briefly by Coach Larry Brown in the second

"I had (6-foot-11 Marco) Baldi on me," Manning said. "I thought that if I hit a few jumpers, he would come out. But I was shooting out of my range.

"Then I wanted to drive. But I wanted to do everything too quickly. Coach Brown told me to slow down and gradually get into my rhythm."

The Jayhawks, quicker than St. John's, forced the Redmen, 3-1, into 14 turnovers and built a 16-point lead in the second half.

Shelton Jones led a rally in the second half that saw the Redmen come within six points before the comeback fell short. Jones finished with 17 points.

"We started coming back in the second half, but their defense was so good," St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca said. "They had so many fast breaks. It was like we were wearing galoshes."

Harvey Grant scored 23 points and had a Lloyd Noble Center record 23 rebounds in Oklahoma's victory over Loyola. Grant topped Wayman Tisdale's record of 22 rebounds.

"We have some rough edges and a lot of room for improve-

■ See BIG 8, Page 7

Youthful, balanced Lady Cat team brings record to 3-1 with 76-65 win

By Daran Neuschafer Sports Writer

Last season, Lady Cat head coach Matilda Mossman was able to put a veteran lineup on the court that could carry the team on both offense and defense. The substitutes were rarely expected to do much of anything other than hold down the fort while the starters took a breather.

But things have changed, and this year Mossman and her assistants do not have the luxury of five seniors to consistently guide the team. So the Lady Cats have had to count on a more balanced attack, and that balance was never more evident than on Saturday night when all 10 of K-State's players scored as the Lady Cats defeated the Drake Bulldogs, 76-65, in Ahearn Field House.

"I was very pleased with the team balance that we showed tonight," Mossman said of the Lady Cats, who ran their record to 3-1. "It just didn't seem to matter who we had out on the floor, we just competed hard."

"I was very pleased with the team balance that we showed tonight. It just didn't seem to matter who we had out on the floor, we just competed hard and well as a team." -Matilda Mossman

And K-State's total team effort was not only displayed on offense, but also on defense where the Lady Cats shut down a potent offensive team in Drake. Forward Julie Fitzpatrick was unstoppable in the middle for the Bulldogs as she poured in a game-high 32 points, but it was not enough as K-State was able to hold down the rest of the Drake

"Julie Fitzpatrick is a great player and she proved that," Mossman said.

The lead seesawed for the first 10 minutes of the first half, as Fitzpatrick and K-State freshman Diana Miller traded baskets. Drake led by as many as five points, 19-14, with 9:23 remaining in the half, but K-State, led by Miller, quickly ran off 10 unanswered points to erase the Bulldog's lead.

After trading baskets with the Bull- the 5-foot-5 Funk took charge. Funk game. dogs, the Lady Cats went on another scored 10 of K-State's 16 points in a spurt, as they outscored Drake 9-2 over the final four minutes before half to help the Lady Cats open up a intermission to build a 39-27 half-continuing to go to Fitzpatrick inside, while attempting to shut down the inside play of the Lady Cats on the other end. The plan seemed to be working a little bit, as the Bulldogs stayed close and were successful in stopping K-State's Miller.

But sophomore point guard Elyse Funk showed the fans and the Bulldogs that she can do more than handle the ball and dish out assists for the Lady Cats. With the Drake defense really sagging in the middle seven minute stretch in the second 60-42 lead.

K-State's Janet Madsen fights for a rebound with Drake University's Julia McGhee Saturday night in Ahearn Field House. The Lady Cats defeated Drake, 76-65.

Mossman was pleased to see In the second half, Drake came out someone step in and pick up the slack, as Drake's defense was really shutting things down inside.

"Elyse stepped in at the key when their defense was really sagging and hit several big shots for us," Mossman said.

"They were sagging on me at the top of the key, and I just hit a few," Funk said."I felt a lot better about my game tonight."

The 18-point deficit was just too much for the Bulldogs to come back from, and K-State coasted the rest of

K-State did not let up from there. to shut down K-State's frontcourt, the way in winning its third straight

Funk led K-State with a careerhigh 16 points. She also pulled down five rebounds from her point guard position. Miller played another fine, all-around game, scoring 14 points, 12 in the first half, while grabbing eight rebounds and handing out two assists. Center Stacey Boyle chipped in 10 points to help the K-State cause.

The Bulldogs were led by Fitzpatrick and Jenni Fitzgerald, who added 17 points. The duo scored 49 of Drake's 65 points.

Next action for the Lady Cats will be tomorrow night when they take to the road for the first time this season, traveling to Wichita to take on rival The Wichita State University in a 7 p.m. contest.

ORR	25	2-9	0-0	0-2	5 2	4
SLOCKETT	32	1-5	0-1	0-0	22	2
FGERALD	40	7-13	3-5	0-0	2 3	17
Maison	13	0-1	0-0	0-0	0 1	0
Johnson	12	2-3	0-0	0-0	11	4
Frerichs	3	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Caspers	1	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Simmons	3	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 1	0
Bardon	1	0-1	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Jensen	9	1-3	0-1	0-0	0 0	2
Totals		31-63	3-7	0-3	2514	65
K-State	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
MATTEUCCI	21	2-6	0-0	0-0	3 2	4
MILLER	34	7-12	0-0	0-1	8 2	14
BOYLE	23	5-8	0-0	0-1	5 1	10
FUNK	37	7-10	0-0	2-2	5 1	6
HAZIM	13	3-5	0-0	0-0	0 4	6
Davidson	21	4-11	0-0	0-0	0 2	8
Lane	6	2-2	0-0	0-0	1 0	4
Bahner	21	2-3	0-0	1-2	7 0	5
Madana	17	24	0.0	1.1	2 2

Tumovers: K-State 15, Drake 12. FG Pct.: K-State 57.1, Drake 49.2.

Wish list brings hopes for future

Svoboda on Sports

DAVE SVOBODA Sports Columnist

With Christmas fast approaching, I'd like to share with you the gifts I'd give to - or the wishes I have for - some teams and coaches we're all familiar with.

In handing out these 15 gifts, I'd like to make one thing perfectly clear: if I could give these teams and coaches these things right now, I would.

In some cases, though, the teams and coaches will receive my gifts only if their performance is deserving of the gift. In other cases, the ultimate success or failure of each in opening a present from me depends on you, the

■ To K-State men's and women's golf coach Rob Sedorcek, I give the ability to have your name printed in the next line schedule as the K-State golf coach. Ray Wauthier retired two years ago, and yet in the line schedules since Sedorcek was named coach, he hasn't been listed as the man in charge. Sorry, Rob, but I can't give you this one myself.

To K-State men's and women's track and cross country coach John Capriotti, I give the ability to keep turning out the fine athletes you have since you took over for your mentor, Steve Miller. The academic record of the athletes that have performed in your programs is outstanding, and that's much to your credit. Keep up the good work!

■ To K-State volleyball coach Scott Nelson and his team, I give the ability to continue to excite us with a hard-working, never-saydie kind of play that typifies what K-State is really all about.

■ To K-State baseball coach Mike Clark and his team, I give the ability to use the late-season conference successes of last year as a spring board to a great conference campaign this year. Good luck.

To K-State women's tennis coach Steve Bietau, I give the ability to continue traveling far and wide to bring the most talented players you can to Manhattan to perform for you. You are probably the best kept secret on this campus.

■ To my friend, K-State football coach Stan Parrish, I give the ability to make the most of what you've been faced with and work toward satisfying yourself. If you're able to make yourself hap-lishes in 1988, chances are we'll be happy, too.

■ To K-State women's basketball coach Matilda Mossman, I give the ability to enjoy your kids - Scott Cash and your team - as much as they obviously enjoy you. You're probably the perfect mother, and I can't think of a better coach for such a young team.

To K-State men's basketball coach Lon Kruger and his team, I give the ability to make a return trip to the NCAA tourney. A trip to Kansas City and the Final Four would be nice, too, but I'd probably have to give you a 7-foot center first. Sorry, but I don't have any of those to give out this year.

■ To K-State athletic director Larry Travis, I give the ability to stay in Manhattan until the job you started is done. Follow your heart and what's best for you, but don't forget we've got a lot invested in you, too.

■ To the Kansas City Royals, I give the ability to trade for a catcher (Jody Davis would be nice) to finish the puzzle that might just give K.C. another division crown in 1988.

■ To Kansas City Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt, I give the ability to fire your president, general manager and head coach and find some competent people to lead this organization out of the dark ages it's been in since Christmas Day in 1971.

And now, for a few personal

To the Oakland native who questioned my parentage following my last column, I give an apology. The city of Oakland really doesn't smell bad - just the teams that play or have played there smell bad.

■ To the guys at Delta Sigma Phi, I give thanks for a fun semester. You're the best. The Nature Boy says thanks, too - especially to the other Horsemen.

To my brother Brian, best friend Spank and a kid from Indy, I give my love. Thanks for giving me what I'm giving you, even if I've been a jerk at times. You three make it bearable for me on days I feel like chucking it,

■ To the faithful readers of this column, I give my thanks. Although there probably aren't too many of you who read this column faithfully because it's too "rah-rah" for your tastes, I'm really not looking at the world through rose-colored glasses. I just love K-State and am damn glad to be here.

Until next semester, have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Also, don't forget that we aren't just celebrating Christmas because we need to give presents away. There is something more important about this season to consider.

I'll see ya in January.

Brown wins trophy, responds to critics

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Notre Dame's Tim Brown took the criticism personally. He also took the trophy. Brown became the 53rd recipient of the Heisman Trophy, given to the nation's top college football player, then answered those who had suggested he didn't deserve it after finishing up the regular season with two sub-par games.

"I took it personally because I didn't think I'm a bad person," the wide receiver-kick returner said Saturday."Whenever I had an opportunity in a game, I think I made something happen."

Brown outdistanced Syracuse quarterback Don McPherson, who finished second in the nationwide balloting of sports writers and broadcasters. Brown finished with 1,442 points to 831 for McPherson. The Notre Dame star finished first in the voting in five of the six sections: Mid-Atlantic, South, Southwest, Midwest and Far West. In the Northeast, he was second to McPherson. "I just wanted to cry because I was so relieved," Brown said of the moment his name was announced. "Everything was behind me and I didn't have to worry anymore." McPherson has led Syracuse to an undefeated regular season and a berth in the Sugar Bowl against

Auburn on Jan. 1. He also is a native of the New York Metropolitan area and local newspapers questioned whether Brown should be named over the quarterback. "I thought it was real close after reading all the articles and hearing the radio," Brown said of the balloting. "I guess all the votes were in (before his late-season slump)."

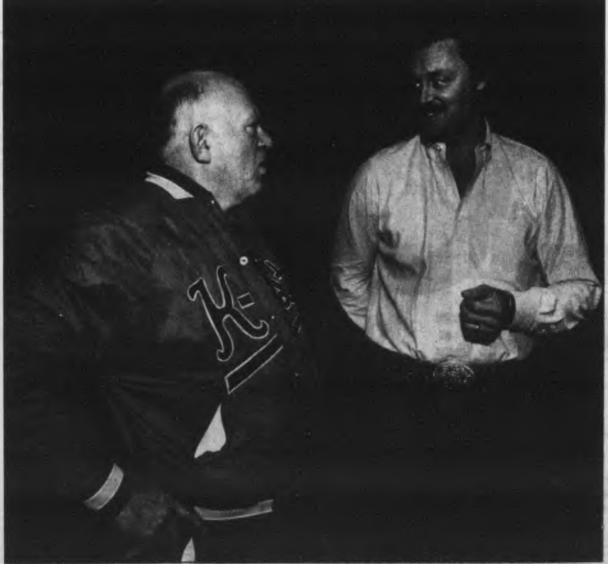

When Notre Dame lost to Miami in its regular-season finale, Brown dropped three passes. He also gained just 14 yards on two punt returns and two yards on his lone run from scrimmage.

"It happened and it's over and done with," Brown said of the Miami contest. "I've had too many good days to let one bad day pull me down."

McPherson also was relieved when Brown was named.

"I felt mostly relief for Tim Brown," the Syracuse captain said. "He went through the whole season as the 'Heisman Trophy candidate' and by mid-season he was the 'Heisman Trophy winner.' That's a great deal of pressure."

Gordon Lockbaum, a wide receiver and defensive back for Holy Cross, finished third in the voting with 657 points. Running back Lorenzo White of Michigan State was fourth with 632 points, followed by running back Craig Heyward, Pittsburgh, 170; linebacker Chris Spielman, Ohio State, 110; running back Thurman Thomas, Oklahoma State, 99.

Diamond chatter

Retired K-State maintainance supervisor Tom Shackelford talks with former Wildcat pitcher Ted Power during a baseball card show Saturday at Brandenberry Sports Complex. Power, who was recently traded from the Cincinnati Reds and signed by the Kansas City Royals, knew Shackelford when he maintained the K-State baseball field. The show's proceeds will benefit K-State baseball.

'Cats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

7:42 of regulation.

"We didn't do the things we were supposed to do in the second half, and we lost a tremendous lead," Richmond said. "It kind of surprised me when I looked up and it was 66-66. Creighton played a tremend-

"We lost the lead so we had to come back and establish and win, and we did. I think that first half kind of established something we can look forward to later in the year - pushing the ball, running the lanes and getting in shape," he said.

Four Wildcats scored in double figures in the game. Richmond led K-State with 31 points and 6 rebounds. Henson collected 14 points, Ron Meyer had 12 points and Fred McCoy scored 10 points. Charles Bledsoe led the team on the boards with nine rebounds.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 ment," said Sooners Coach Bill Tubbs after his club won its third game without a defeat. The Sooners led 64-36 with 17:58

left in the game.

They keep coming at you," Loyola Coach Gene Sullivan said. "Everyone thinks it's their inside people who are doing it. But it's the guards who get them the ball."

Ohio State rallied from eight points behind to beat Nebraska at

Elderhostel comes to K-State

People age 60 years or older who have a desire for learning and summer adventure have a chance to satisfy these desires through a program at K-State.

The University will be offering the Elderhostel program June 5-11. The program offers senior citizens the opportunity to take non-credit courses with no homework or testing and requires no previous knowledge of the subject matter.

Pam Evans, Elderhostel coordinator, said participants will live and dine in residence halls. Registration for the program will begin in March.

Classes offered this year will be "Konza: The Critical Contribution of Tallgrass Prairie in the Heart of the Breadbasket," "Home Landscape Design: Enhancing Your Home's Outdoor Environment and Attracting Birds and Wildlife," and "Canada: Portrait of our Northern Neighbor."

Elderhostel programs are offered at more than 800 educational institutions in the United States and abroad.

Lafene sponsors mitten tree

Lafene Student Health Center is getting into the Christmas spirit by providing a Mitten Tree to benefit the Crisis Center and Manhattan's Headstart program.

Jan Carl, registered nurse at Lafene and chairperson of the Mitten Tree, said the Headstart program has 57 children from low-income families enrolled.

"Because the average income of these families is so low, necessary living expenses leave no money for such things as mittens, scarves, etc," Carl said.

The Mitten Tree is a large Christmas tree in Lafene's lobby. Students, faculty and staff are invited to hang mittens or gloves on it. The mittens should be new and should be in children's Mittens and gloves may be taken to Lafene and hung on the tree from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday now through Dec. 18. The Lafene staff will deliver the mittens and gloves Dec. 21.

1,002 students to graduate

More than 1,000 K-State students - 1,002 to be exact are expected to complete degree requirements and go through formal cap and gown commencement ceremonies Dec. 12 in McCain Auditorium.

Degrees to be awarded include 38 doctoral, 131 master's and 833 bachelor's.

Ceremonies will be divided into four exercises: Engineering and Human Ecology, 9 a.m.; Agriculture and Business Administration, 11 a.m.; Architecture and Design and Arts and Sciences, 1 p.m.; and Education and the Graduate School, 3 p.m.

K-State President Jon Wefald will preside at all ceremonies. The 1987 student body president Kent Bradley will also speak. Regent Norman Brandeberry will represent the Kansas Board of Regents.

Check Collegian Classifieds

'Windfall' results in tax reformation

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - While Gov. Mike Hayden won't unveil his tax reform plan until the Legislature convenes five weeks from today, insiders say it likely will mirror the recommendations of his Tax Reform Task Force.

Hayden asked the task force to suggest modifications in Kansas' tax structure because a unique opportunity exists to make changes that reduce state revenue. Most years, the state can't afford them.

However, with the state due to collect an additional $135 million in revenue next fiscal year as a result of federal tax changes, extra funding will be available in the budget Hayden sends to the Legislature next

Most people don't think that opportunity will come again for years, and maybe never.

When Hayden campaigned for governor in 1986, he said he wanted to give back the tax "windfall" the state realizes because of federal tax cuts back to Kansas taxpayers.

Budget problems brought on by sagged in recent years will prohibit giving all the windfall back. That means the biggest battle lawmakers are likely to wage in the 1988 session will be over how much of the windfall should be used for tax relief and

While windfall revenue in Fiscal Year 1989 will total $135 million, $20 million automatically goes to local school districts to help hold down property taxes, leaving $115

The governor's budget director, revenue shortfalls as the economy Michael O'Keefe, made it clear at task force meetings that $30 million is the maximum that could be committed to tax changes

If Hayden dedicates $30 million to tax relief-reform, that leaves $85 million which will be needed to fund the fiscal year 1989 state budget depending upon how large a balance the governor and Legislature want at the end of next fiscal year.

The task force, headed by Revenue Secretary Harley T. Duncan, recommended a tax relief package costing $32 million.

Order at

Call Hall-Rm 144

Dairy Bar

Now thru Dec. 17

Selection of 6

Different Cheeses.

The Dept. of Animal Science

and Industry

. . . presents . . .

HOLIDAY CHEESE

GIFTS

Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended

wear, tinted soft contact lenses ·Contact lenses competitively priced

Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting

Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock

·Evening and Saturday appointments available

Drs Price, Young, Odle and Horsch 1119 Westloop 537-1118

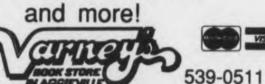

Holiday Gift Book Sale

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

30-50% OFF

Topics include children's books, cookbooks, bestsellers, art, architecture, history, reference, sports, nature, picture books,

9-9 Mon.-Sat. Noon-5 Sun.

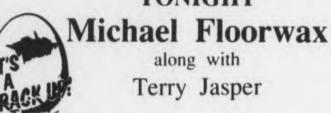

Comedy Invasion Every Monday & Tuesday at 9 p.m.

TONIGHT

539-9727

531 N. Manhattan

Office 539-4321

A CAN FOR ALL REASONS Filled with Freshly flavored or plain POPCORN I nere-Just For You! THE TEECREAM SOCIAL 1314B Westloop • 537-7079

Family Health Insurance Costs Too High?

Call Rick Nash at Keating & Associates 1011 Poyntz Security Mutual Life Nebraska

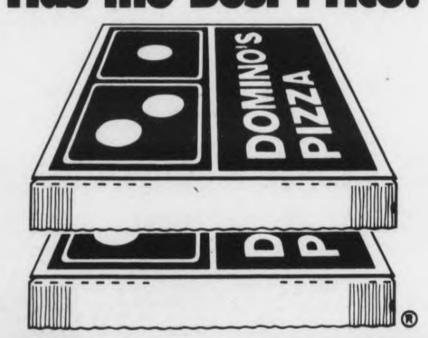

DECEMBER 7, 8,

STOREWIDE SALE

WK-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

Items Exempt from Special: Electronic Equipment, Special Orders, Textbooks, and Departmental Charges.

Now the Best Pizza in Town Has the Best Price!

Two Pizzas for Only $5.99!

Now you can have two delicious 10" pizzas for the price of one. They're custom-made with your choice of toppings on eachthey don't have to be the same! And we use only the freshest ingredients and 100% real cheese.

You're not seeing double. It's just our latest way to say that Domino's Pizza Delivers. And we deliver at no additional charge in 30 minutes or less. That's the Domino's Pizza guarantee.

No coupon necessary.

Call Us! Manhattan 539-0561 517 N. 12th Street

4pm-1am Sun,-Thurs. 4pm-2am Fri.-Sat.

COKE® AVAILABLE in 16 oz. bottle 75$ each. Domino's Pizza Delivers® Doubles.

Prices do not include tax. Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Limited delivery area.

PEPPERONI MUSHROOMS GROUND BEEF	SAUSAGE BLACK OLIVES ONIONS	-	EEN PEPPER EAPPLE	EXTR	PENOS A THICK CRUST A CHEESE
Menu		1	TWO 10"	10" & 14"	TWO 14"
CHEESE			5.99	7.99	8.99
1 ITEM			6.94	9.24	10.39
			7.89	10.49	11.79
3 ITEMS			8.84	11.74	13.19
4 ITEMS			9.79	12.99	14.59
DELUXE*			9.79	12.99	14.59
VEGI			9.79	12.99	14.59
EXTRAVAGANZ	ZA * * *		10.74	14.24	15.99
	NAL ITEM		.95	1.25	1.40

*DELUXE - 5 items for the price of 4. Pepperoni, Sausage, Mushrooms, Onions & Green Peppers.

VEGI-5 items for the price of 4. Onions, Green Peppers. Mushrooms. Black Olives & Extra

EXTRAVAGANZZA" - A special blend of 9 items for the price of 5. Pepperoni, Harn, Ground Beef, Sausage, Black Olives, Green Peppers, Onions, Mushrooms & Extra

© 1987 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

Program could assist unemployed grads

By Jan Schwartz Collegian Reporter

Unemployed college graduates living in southern Kansas may be eligible to become rural school teachers.

Sixty people who are unemployed or underemployed in target counties will be selected for the teacher preparation program during the next two years, said Floyd Price, professor of curriculum and instruction and program coordinator.

Target counties include Allen, Anderson, Bourbon, Cherokee, Clark, Crawford, Edwards, Finney, Ford, Gray, Haskell, Hodgeman, Kiowa, Labette, Linn, Meade, MontWilson and Woodson.

Price said K-State's project was one of 76 funded out of more than 1,900 projects reviewed by the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education.

"The project is designed to address three interrelated problems common to the southeast and southwest regions of Kansas," he said. "(These are the) depressed economy and the effect on individual economies, limited career opportunities in rural areas and the shortage of secondary teachers in the selected subject

Farmers filing for bankruptcy, employees laid off in the oil industry, banks failing and businesses closing gomery, Neosho, Pawnee, Seward, have had a hard effect on these regions and have created the need for a program such as this one, Price said.

He said people living in the target areas who have been displaced from their original careers can qualify for the program. Applicants must also have a bachelor's degree in fields other than education.

"If we can provide these people with the required courses for teacher certification without them having to disrupt their lifestyle, then they would be interested in this kind of program," Price said.

vide training in or near the participants' hometowns so relocation is unnecessary, he said. People are encouraged to remain in the rural communities, but it is not a stipulation of the program.

"Every person must take the required teacher certification package which is a set program of professional education courses all secondary teachers must complete," Price said. "To complete this requirement takes two semesters."

People who are deficient in their meet the state Department of Education's certification requirements will need to take additional courses or attend summer school, he said.

The necessary courses can be obtained by attending classes at community colleges cooperating with K-State and area regents' universities, passing competency tests, completing independent study courses and viewing regents' telenet courses, Price said.

Tuition grants of $500 a year will be awarded to participants, Price June 1.

The program is designed to pro- individual subject fields and do not said. The money will be funded by the K-State Department of Education Scholarship Fund.

> Applications to participate in the program will be accepted until the first week in January.

Price said 10 applicants from southern Kansas will be selected for January's 1988-89 program. Twenty additional applicants from each area will be selected for September's 1988-89 program. Applications for the second year will be accepted until Volunteer.

WERE FIGHTING FOR American Heart Association

EOE employer

KMAN 1350 2414 Casement, Manhattan, KS 66502

·····

······

ANNOUNCERS

Applications are being accepted for full time & part time announcers.

Various shifts...days/nights/weekends

*Broadcast experience required

Wichita Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

THE EXAM-CRAM Runza Care Package

Take a study break...take your favorite mate...and take off to Runza for food that's great!!

Town Center Mall

Pienic Place

Coupon expires: Dec. 31, 1987

- · 2 freshly ground,
- quarter-pound hamburgers · 2 tasty-great, home-baked
- Mini Runza sandwiches · 1 order of homemade
- onion rings • 1 order of golden
- french fries
- · 2 large soft drinks

All for just ...

Come on and get a taste

You save ... $2.66

NOW 2 LOCATIONS!! Aggieville 1101 Moro RESTAURANT

Falsettos

MONDAY 2-FERS 2 Pizzas $5.99

- lace	M	ENU
Italian Seusage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlons	Jalapenos Pineapple Green Peppers	Ham Extra Cheese
STUPPE		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Ohooso		5.99	8.99
			10.39
2 Itoms		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
4 Items		9.79	14.69
Deluxe		9.79	14.59
Vegle		. 9.79	14.59
			15.99
Each Additio	nal Item		1.40
	Prices do r	not include tax

We Accept Checks . Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

APPE 'TEASERS'

Like to tease your appetite before dinner arrives? PINATA is the place! We offer 'teasers' of fresh Guacamole Dip, several varieties of Nachos, and our spicy Chili Con Queso with plenty of tortilla chips to dip. Or try our new appe 'teasers', Three Cheese Nachos!, served with guacamole, sour cream, & fresh

Come on in & let us 'tease' you, too!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

Open Daily 11 a.m.

The folks back home happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

want to keep up with what's up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:

Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

Academic year (32 weeks), $35

One semester (16 weeks), $20

___Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Send to:

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:___

Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____

Purchased By:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:____State:___Zip:___

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Fall____Spring___Summer__

Amount Received $____By:_____

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND

PYRAMID PIZZA'S MONDAY GLADNESS Why be mad, when you can be GLAD?

11 a.m.-3 a.m. Sunday 11 a.m.-12 a.m.

Hours

Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-2 a.m.

Fri.-Sat.

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE Any > size Pizza! We deliver... FAST and Friendly-like.

Delivering All Day Every Day For Your Convenience

PYRAMID PIZZ

We accept Visa and MasterCard

Offering Thin Crust or Our Original Golden Braided Crust

ANATOMY OF A MALL

History

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Properties of Cleveland, Ohio - a firm with extensive experience in mall development.

In a town meeting in the spring of 1980, Forest City Vice President Mel Roebuck presented plans for a 400,000-square foot mall in the 100 to 200 blocks of Poyntz Avenue.

The area was chosen because it could best physically tie the mall into the rest of downtown, Davis said. The buildings in that area were also among the oldest and in the poorest condition, Harmon said.

However, approximately 70 businesses were located in the area needed for the mall site and many did not want to move.

It was a source of much public controversy and concern to the commissioners. Eventually, in order to obtain some of the property, the city was forced to file about 50 lawsuits invoking its power of eminent domain, a governmental right to take private property for public use, according to City Attorney William Frost.

The costs of appeals over land appraisals and subsequent increases in those appraisals drove the cost of acquisition up to about $11 million — $4 million more than anticipated.

The '81 campaign

The mall controversy became a major issue in the 1981 campaign, the year Fiser was first elected.

"The election was pretty well dictated by that issue," Fiser said. "I thought it was probably in the best interest of Manhattan that we build a mall downtown, if possible. I thought it would be better for the heart and soul of our community if they could pull this off. It looked like a good

The election was called by some a referendum on the mall - a referendum in which Fiser and incumbent commissioner Wanda Fateley, another mall supporter, received the most votes.

It was also the election in which the mall's most vocal opponent, Suzanne Lindamood, was first elected. Lindamood's opposition to the mall was based primarily on four

- She believed the mall concept was a throwback to the 1960s;
- She objected to the displacement of the businesses in the area;
- She was opposed to the injection of public money into what she felt should be a private venture;
- And she questioned some of the methods of financing the mall development.

In addition, she remained unconvinced that the downtown was "blighted" and that it would deteriorate if a suburban mall were to be

In expressing her opposition to so many facets of the mall development during her six years on the commission, Lindamood possibly became the catalyst that ultimately made the

"Ironically, she may well have made the project stronger," Manhattan Mayor Eugene Klingler said.

Klingler, a City Commission member since 1979 who is in his second term as mayor, said Lindamood's "nit-picking" probably caused the city's financial people to double- and triple-check things and make applications more complete and accurate.

"It was all done under a microscope because of her participation," Frost said.

The financing

In July 1981, the Riley County Commission denied a rezoning request to establish a mall near the municipal airport.

The following month, City Commissioners submitted an application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a $10 million Urban Development Action Grant, also known as a UDAG. The money was to be used to help pay for the acquisition and demolition of properties in the mall area and relocation costs for those displaced businesses.

In September 1981, City Commissioners approved a Resolution of Intent to establish Tax Increment Financing (TIF) to help finance redevelopment projects.

The next few years were filled with a myriad of problems blocking the way to securing the UDAG money necessary to get the mall pro- ment gave the city preliminary ject underway. Manhattan's applica- approval for the federal funds, but tion was considered by the federal government quarterly and was passed over seven times, seriously injuring the project's credibility, Davis said.

Changes by the federal government in its requirements for the grant and problems in interpreting requirements kept the city scrambling to keep up with the grant process. City officials eventually hired a consultant in Washington, D.C., to help them keep abreast of changing

One blockade to getting preliminary UDAG approval was that the city had only one commitment from a major department store, JCPenney, and not the two needed to anchor the mall as required by federal officials, Davis said. That problem was resolved when Dillard's agreed to take the second anchor slot.

The '83 campaign

The 1983 City Commission election once more revolved around the mall issue, and this time Lindamood garnered the most votes. Although there were other candidates who opposed the mall, none were elected.

This was critical because any ordinance authorizing acquisition by eminent domain require four of the five commision votes in order to pass, Frost said. Another commissioner's vote against the mall would have effectively put a halt to the Late in 1983, the federal govern-access to the UDAG money was still years away.

During the next two years, the city had to submit "evidentiary materials" to federal authorities to prove that it had all the commitments necessary for the project, Davis said.

A short delay occurred when Klepper Oil filed a lawsuit in state and federal courts challenging the city's right to create the TIF district and other actions taken by the city in connection with the mall development.

The lawsuit was settled out of court in the spring of 1985 with Klepper receiving the city's original appraisal amount for its property. The city also provided Klepper with another piece of property near the mall site and Klepper waived relocation benefits.

With these things resolved, the way was cleared in August 1985 for final approval of the UDAG. Due to a $1 million injection into the project by Forest City, the grant had been trimmed to $9 million.

However, the UDAG money could not be accessed, Davis said, until a certain amount of private money had been invested in the project. To solve that problem, the city issued $9 million in temporary notes to begin buying property and clearing the mall site. Once the site was cleared, Forest City was able to commit its money to the project, and the city began to receive UDAG funds.

Demolition begins

Demolition of nearly 60 buildings in the mall area began in December of that year. The groundbreaking for the mall was held in June 1986, and the Manhattan Town Center celebrated its grand opening with a gala event in October 1987.

Other major components of downtown redevelopment which complement the mall include the southern arterial, a four-lane street across the south side of the city which connects Fort Riley Boulevard and Tuttle Creek Boulevard.

In addition, Colony Square Office Complex in the 500 block of Poyntz Avenue was joined with a public parking area on the south side of the site, and a Conservation Area of existing buildings was constructed west of the mall where streetscape and facade improvements have been made and where a public plaza, which connects the mall to Poyntz Avenue, was constructed.

In all, about $58 million will be spent on the redevelopment project $26 million in private funds and $32 million in public funds.

Just as there were differing viewpoints about the mall project throughout its creation, there are two divergent views of the finished project. Lindamood, who moved to Ohio a few months before the mall was completed, said she was sure it was beautiful.

"But," she added, "I'm not sure if it's worth the pricetag or not. But the people will never know the real

Mall to lower property taxes, director of finance says

By Chad L. Sanborn

Campus Editor

Curt Wood, director of finance for Manhattan, is a numbers kind of guy. Constantly adding totals and circling figures, he quotes statistics off the top of his head.

Considering the many ways the city financed the new Manhattan Town Center and what the mall could do for the city budget, Wood's obsession with numbers may not be such a bad thing. "To understand how the mall was financed, you first have to understand the purpose of the mall," he said.

He said the Town Center was built on the hopes of saving the downtown area and, most importantly, lifting revenue burdens from Manhattan property owners.

"The success of the mall will provide a means to keep property taxes lower due to a greater reliance on sales taxes." Furthermore, Wood said, building the mall downtown will help that area remain a viable part of Manhattan's business, unlike other cities where malls are built on the outskirts of town and can lead to the demise of older sections.

"We anticipate $400,000 in sales taxes annually," Wood said. "That has already been budgeted for in 1988. That is $400,000 which reduces our dependence on property taxes. We watched the local economy and sales, and feel we are on target with $400,000," he said.

The city arrived at $400,000 from a 1983 regional retail study, Wood said. The study concluded that a mall with 380,000 square feet open for leasing to stores would generate between $400,000 and $450,000 in sales tax revenue a year. The Town Center has about 300,000 square feet open for leasing.

"We didn't have anything else to go on. Until we have more information we will go with the economic

"Hopefully, we will see growth. If inflation goes up, so does our income (from sales taxes). If we go into a major recession or depression like areas." some economists envision, that number ($400,000) could go down," Wood said.

However, in order to pay for some of the costs of the $36.4 million project, the city increased property taxes by 1 mill or $1 of every $1,000 of the appraised value of a piece of property.

A property owner with a $50,000 home will pay an additional $8.20 a year in property taxes.

Wood said the $8.20 increase is a lot better than the $20 increase the owner would have had to pay if the $400,000 had not been budgeted from sales taxes.

The first statewide reappraisal of property values since the late 1950s will also help shift some of the revenue burden from the private to the commercial sector, he said.

"After reappraisal there will be a shift in property taxes," he said. "Property taxes are classified as commercial, industrial, residential and farm. The shift will be toward higher taxes on commercial property. Inventories will be exempt, which will help some retailers with large inventories, like car dealers, but the shift will be toward commercial

If the sales tax revenues exceed commercial property to pay a higher percentage of property taxes, the Manhattan City Commission would have three options for the extra money

Wood said the commission could either vote to lower property taxes, increase city expenditures or use the extra money to build cash reserves.

"It would be a policy decision for the governing body to make at budget time," he said. "I can't say what they would do, but our cash reserves are generally low. However, all three (options) are considerations.'

But before the city can begin to reap large benefits from the Town

Center, the costs must be paid. The city will pay $165,580 annually for 20 years to the state. This payment will come entirely from property taxes. The city is also responsible for General Obligation bonds, which are issued through public sale to the bidder offering the lowest interest rate.

Wood said the G.O. bonds obligate the city to pay not only the city's share of the bond, but also the developers' shares if the developers are unable to make their payments. In $400,000 and the reappraisal causes order to cover a delinquent developer, Wood said the city would have to raise property taxes. The G.O. bonds are 20-year bonds.

> Although Manhattan already has $3.8 million in G.O. bond expenditures for the mall project, the city is planning to sell more G.O. bonds in May and November 1988 to help pay for future projects in the Town Cen-

Wood said the city is looking into making the bonds 10- or 15-year bonds, which would increase a deve-loper's payment, but lower the amount of interest paid over the life of the bond. However, the city has verbally committed to the 20-year bonds and will not sell 10- or 15-year bonds until 1989.

He said the mall project should be completed by the middle of next

A large single revenue source of the Town Center project was a $9 million Urban Development Action Grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development - the largest grant of its kind ever issued in Kansas.

In addition to the UDAG, the city received $1 million in private donations and $1 million in interest earnings.

Other bonds, such as Tax Increment Financing bonds and Industrial Revenue Bonds, are another large revenue source.

A TIF bond is one which the city sells to a financer, in this case First Securities Company Inc. and Stern Brothers Inc. of Wichita. The financer pays the city for the bonds, which provide the city with money for its project, and markets the TIF bond to private investors, Wood said.

The developers are Forest City Development Co. of Cleveland, Ohio and JCP Realty, a subsidiary of J.C. Penney Co. Inc. of New York. They make their payments, which are set at lower than average interest and tax rates, to the financer rather than the city. In turn, the financer pays the private investors. The life of the TIF bonds is 17 years.

The city received about $9.3 million from TIF bonds.

IRBs, which work on the same principle as the TIF bonds, cover the land on which the Town Center project was built, Wood said. The TIF bonds cover the building.

The IRBs, which were sold to the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, are 30-year bonds. The city received about $22 million from the

Should the Town Center flop, Wood said the city would not lose much monetarily, though it would be obligated to pay off the G.O. bonds.

SMO.
Edward District Control
Sheet And

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon Thursday, Dec. 10. Ads will run in Dec. 11 Collegian.

TV Listings

MONDAY DECEMBER 7, 1987

By TV Data

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today	CBS News This Morning	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00		"		My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Tennis: Na-	Little House on the Prairi
9:00	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	bisco Masters Semifinals	Movie: "A Christmas
10:30	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Write Course	Love Boat	11	Without Snow"
1 1:30	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Communi. Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
12:30	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	College Foot- ball: South	Movie: "Mid- way"
	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Nature	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Carolina at Miami	" "
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Nature Xmas Decor.	Beaver Ghostbusters	ű.	Tom and Jerry
0:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	AWA Wres- tling	Flintstones Flintstones
A:00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing: USAC Midg-	Munsters Laverne
⊏:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook Surfer Mag.	Alice New Leave I
6:00	News Wheel-Fortune	News Lose or Draw	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP G. Break	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Barney Miller	SportsCenter NFL Matchup	Andy Griffith Sanford
	ALF Valerie's Fa-	Kate & Allie Frank's Place	MacGyver	Hill Street Blues	Cámp David	Movie: "Ama- deus"	Tennis: Na- bisco Masters	Movie: "Back Street"
8:00	Movie: "Eye On the Spar-	Newhart Design. W.	NFL Football: New York	Movie: "It's a Wonderful	ABC/Globe Debates "Re-	,,	Final	11
9:00	TOW"	Cagney & La- cey	Jets at Miami Dolphins	Life"	publicans"			Movie: "Blos
1038	News Tonight Show	News Cheers))))	Barney Miller Wilton North	Wild America Business Rpt.	News,	Magic Years SportsCenter	soms in the Dust"
11:30	Ent. Tonight	Diamonds	News Nightline	Report Dating Game	MacNell / Leh- rer Newshour	Jeffersons Movie:	NFL's Greatest Moments	National Geo
1238	Liste Night with David Let-	All-American Beauty	.700 Club	Movie: "Thief of Hearts"	Sign-Off	"Brewster's Millions"	NFL Rodeo: Finals	graphic Ex- plorer

ClassAds Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

01 MARY KAY Cosmetics-Skin care-glamour prod ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Hand-icapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved, 100% guaranteed, 776-5114, 776-1465. (55-75)

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manhattan. (62-75)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or skiing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a red poinsettial On sale now at the K-State Union.

CHRISTMAS GIFT idea #1: A decorative tin filled with up to three different flavors of popcorn. Irvine Popcorn Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road, 776-8334. (69-71)

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for a single adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shopping Center. (69-75)

ICAT MEMBERS: Join in on the fun-Get involved through a committee! Meet tonight—Union 209 at 7 p.m.—Proud to be a Wildcat. (71)

02 APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

VERY CLEAN, spacious one-bedroom apartment Call Kathy, days 532-5535, evenings 537-7293. (69-73)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $275/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 21. Trash and water paid. 539-1686. (69-73)

SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/month plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available beginning spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30 p.m. (70-75)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, queen waterbed. Corner of Bluemont and Manhattan Avenues. Must rent! $175/month, negotiable. 539-8393. (71-75) NO BUGS, clean, quiet, two bedroom, two blocks east of campus, Jan. 1, $225, 776-1703. (71-75) MALE RENTING room. Use of whole house and washer and dryer. $150/month and one-third utili-ties. 776-2286 evenings, Pete. (71-75)

Rubes

blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, furnished, across from

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or

NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggleville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75)

TWO-BEDROOM on main floor. One-half block west,

FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person, all utili-

NICE TWO-bedroom, Close to campus, Available Jan. 1, $360, 539-4840, (68-72)

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom. Close to campus, Heat

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent con-

Second semester

apartments in several convenient locations.

One & two bedrooms

$240-$360.

Call soon

for best selection.

McCullough |

ALL YOU CAN

EAT $1.99

Development

2700 Amherst

776-3804

By Leigh Rubin

dition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking. 776-8495, evenings. (69-75) paid. $350. Call 776-4099. Early morning or late eve-ties paid including basic cable T.V. 539-9173, evernished. $300. 539-8106. (67-71)

Putnam Hall, 1306 N. Manhattan, $205/month, call after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

776-7045. (67-71)

776-4246. (67-75)

nings. (68-72)

ng ok. (69-73)

has one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished Apartment for non-smoking single advit or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75)

Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in

Lowest rates. 776-3624.

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car-peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (61tf)

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely deco-rated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-

ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75)

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

•24-hour emergency maintenance ·On-site laundry facilities

•Two outdoor swimming pools ·Professional on-site mgt.

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE TWO-BEDROOM apartment, nice. 926 Bluemont,

776-9017. (67-71) SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in sev-

CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles, 1615 Ander 539-2830 (69-73)

ment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75)

west of campus, $175 month. Call Jim, 776-2373. (71-73) half blocks from campus. Unfurnished, laundry fa-cility. Call Chris after 5 p.m. at 539-7906 or Jim at

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

TELE-FIND

1982 CAVALIER type 10 CL. Automatic transmission power steering, air conditioning, very nice. $3,100. 494-8484. (68-71)

EMPLOYMENT

SPRING BREAK vecation sales. Earn top pay selling vacations to Florida. Guaranteed $15 commission per sale. Must be organized, outgoing, and honest. Individuals or organizations call 1-800-338-0718. Florida Vacation Service. (71-77)

MOORE MANAGEMENT

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus. Available now. 539-1498. (21tf)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions.

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $285 a month. 539-

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary

Call Today 539-2951

eral convenient locations. One and two bedroom. $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75)

FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apart-

TWO BEDROOM-Two blocks east of campus. A able Jan. 1, $250/month. 539-2116 or 539-2892. (70-

BASEMENT APARTMENT available Jan. 1. One block

ONE BEDROOM large enough for two. One and one-

1976 FORD Pinto, good condition, $900 or best offer. 776-2751 or 537-6337, (67-71) DODGE OMNI 1979. Four cylinders, overhauled en-gine, (25,000 miles). Running great. Call 776-8016. (68-72)

FREE AUTO INFO

539-2255

1980 CUTLASS Calet, black, loaded with extras, (70,000 miles), $4,000. Call 776-6294. Ask for Jeff S.

FOUR USED tires P215/75R15 SB radials with sixlug, Datsun truck wheels. 537-2423. (70-72) 1979 TOYOTA Celica GT, five-speed, new paint, air conditioning, great car. Must sell. 537-8944, Murray. (70-73)

I DON'T

By Berke Breathed

I THOUGHT

I WAS A

LLAMA !

I SWEAR.

PLEASE CONTINUE.

NEED HELP on computer program. Will pay, call imately. 539-0199. (71-72)

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menio Ave., Suite 219, Menio Park, CA 94025. (40-

NICE FAMILY seeks caring pleasant girl for three children. Non-smoker, references required, driv-er's license. Call Ruth (914) 833-0199. Larchmont, New York. (62-71)

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare time assembly work; electronics, crafts. Others. Information (504) 641-0091 ext. 1837. Open seven days. (62-71)

SCHOOL BUS drivers beginning immediately. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Job description available. Apply to: USD #383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. 913-537-2400. EOE. (67-71) HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs-your area. $15,000-

$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76) NEW YORKI Live-in mother's helpers needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January. Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone

203-656-0707. (67-72) HEALTH CLUB looking for enthusiastic individual to work part-time evenings and weekends. Apply in person with resume, 1100 Moro. (69-71)

RIP & Mo's Deli is hiring delivery drivers. Apply in person with valid driver's license and proof surance at 710 N. Manhattan, 1 p.m.-4 p.m. (69-71) ENTHUSIASTIC PERSON needed for telephone mar keting sales. Monday evenings 2-3 hours. Call 539-1662 between 9-12 for interview. (69-73)

ATTENTION MARKETING students! Great opportunity and income potential. Promote Manhattan's premiere magazine "Where . . . A Guide to Manhattan." Sales position open now. Part-time flexible irs. Possible internship available. Call Direct Marketing Services at 539-6287. Ask for Mary. (70-

DIRECTOR OF Music position. Starting Jan. 15. Contact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-

BARTENDER, MONDAYS and Fridays and week ends. Simple well drinks and beer, 776-6862, ask for Forrest. (71-75)

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN. Part-time, variable hours, evenings and weekends; Must be available for year-round employment. Typing required. The St. Mary Hospital, 776-1981. (71-75)

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required year round position. Minimum commitment two years. Requested.

Respond to: P.O.Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume please. 10

FINANCIAL SERVICES

04

INVESTOR NEEDED: Recup $35,000 within seven years by tax savings. Half ownership small business. 913-456-7483, after 6 p.m. (69-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom du-plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston. $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75)

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor efficiency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055. Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75)

TWO-BEDROOM trailer home with small pastu east of Manhattan, Available Jan. 1. Call after 9 p.m. 456-9188. (69-71)

ATTRACTIVE OLDER home, large living room, dining area, basement, three bedrooms, plus nice fenced yard. $495. 1st December. 537-8555, 537-8065. (70-73)

THREE-BEDROOM house, double garage. Available Jan. 1. $400/month. Call Jim, 776-2373. (71-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

DECEMBER GRAD. Must sell 1971 mobile home, 14 70. Three bedroom, one and one-half bath. 537-1029. (62-71) NOW AVAILABLE 1968 Great Lakes, two bedro

Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, washer, dryer, Low utilities. 537-7873. (67-71)

LOST AND FOUND

SONY WALKMAN. Found in Union (student) parking lot Thursday, Dec. 3rd at 1 p.m. Was turned in to Lost and Found at Union. Identify by tape inside Walkman. (71-73)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un-til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St

SAVE $2

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

NEWEST RELEASES from Whiteheart, Petra, Maranatha and others! GREAT CHRISTMAS GIFTS (Album or cassette-in stock only)

Sale ends Dec. 12, 1987

GROSS EFERENCE

322 Poyntz 776-8071

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Balt and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in West moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

Study Rooms Available Beginning Dec. 7 (upon availability)

539-7531

17th & Anderson, 539-7531

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888 QUEEN WATERBED. Nice headboard. Battle mattress. Jensen car stereo, au treble/bass. 539-8399. (68-72) auto-reverse, separate FINALS TOO much to take? Take a popcorn break! Ir Popcom Express, 905 N. Seth Childs Road

776-8334. (69-71) TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane 776-7874 Aggieville

THE COTTON CLUB

418 Poyntz

SHRIMP NIGHT 15¢ shrimp $1 draws $2.75 pitchers 4-7 p.m.

MONDAYS

FOUR VEHY nice five-drawer metal desks. Come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m. 5:30 p.m.

COMPACT DISCS; blank tapes; cassettes; movies never opened, unbeatable prices. Chris 539-1089, Jeff 776-4387. (71-74)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

ROLAND JUNO-2 keyboard. Less than one year old, come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m. 5:30 p.m. (69-73) NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case, $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

PERSONALS BLONDE IN pink ropers at Olson's Shoe Thursday-

Interested in seeing the rest of your footwear - Tall black boots. (71-72)

CHURCH GUY: Oh yea-you didn't have to invite me You attended

GEORGIA O'KEEFE EXHIBIT in WASHINGTON, DC

Monday, Nov. 16 You're a Psych major, were returning to Topeka from a wedding in Connecticut and I kidded you when you set off the alarm. Remember? Hope to reach you. Please call me at 201-633-1496. Gary

XO SUSAN K .- Happy Birthday. I had a great week-SECRET ADMIRER: Thanks for the roses! Which

MWF class are you in? (71) PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (11f)

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be alraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RENTALS

21 TYPEWRITERS—CORRECTING and non-correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

22 RESUME/TYPING SERVICE FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner.

Letter quality printer. Copies available

TRISH'S TYPING SERVICE (913) 539-6263

waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

intment Only Forms Resume's Thesis

Dissertations Reports Letters

Technical Typing TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave message. 537-3166. (71-75) ROOMMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776-1996. (55-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester, large four-bedroom house, share with three others, own bedroom, $132.50/month plus utilities, nonsmoker. Call 539-7681. (67-71)

MALE ROOMMATES for second semester. Nice twobedroom. 776-9017. (67-71)

WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1 one-third utilities. Own room. 539-$133/month, 7915. (67-72)

MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood. $150/ month plus utilities, negotiable. 539-6515, keep

MALE OR female. Non-smoking, $120/month. Onefourth utilities, one block west of campus. Own oom, washer, dryer. Great roommates. 539-7709.

gieville, $175 per month plus utilities. Apartment is furnished, microwave, color TV, VCR, available Dec. 17. 539-6498 or (316) 683-6446. (69-72)

house. Own room, $120/month plus one-third utili-ties. 537-1388. (70-74) ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment across from Old Stadium. $125 plus three-fifths

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted, three rooms availa-

ROOMMATE WANTED for next semester. Clean, quiet, non-smoker to share house with older stu-dents. Private bedroom. Call Scott or Greg. 776-

SITUATION WANTED

sor and wife. Happily married for many years. Anxious to adopt newborn infant. Personal meeting. welcome. Lawful and proper pregnancy related expenses paid. Couple approved by California adop tion authorities in advance of placement. State su pervised adoption procedures. Please call collect Terri and Michael Fayer (415) 328-8723. (71-75)

TAKE OVER my lease and bring three friends. $120/ person, all utilities paid, including basic cable TV. Call Jeff 539-9173 evenings. (68-72)

CHEAP, CLOSE to campus and Aggieville. Room for one or two. Take over lease Jan. 1 and get one month's rent paid! Furnished apartment, laundry, great roommates. Call Karen, 776-7176. (69-71) TIRED OF living with nerds? Check out own room great location, great girls, beautiful house. Cheap! Must go. 312 N. 15th. 776-5957. (70-72)

TRAVEL COLORADO

log cabins/kitchens/fireplaces. Gameroom, fire-place, HBO, pool-table, sauna. Great fishing. Cross-country skiing. Downhill Winter Park/Silver Creek. Mountain Lakes Lodge. Brochures/ reservations—Grand Lake, CO. 1-303-627-8448. Get your friends to drive. (66-71)

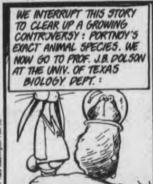

WANTED: EE or IE for immediate tutoring help. $5/ hour. Call 539-4851, evenings or weekends. (70-71)

Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven

By Eugene Sheffer

Bloom County

"O.K. the coast is clear. I'll turn the sign around, you get the lights."

Peanuts

Peter or Ivan 46 Become active 50 Grow together 53 Habitual drunkard 55 Uniform Eggs, to Cicero 56 Nevada 14 Florida resort 57 Lamp ornament 58 Tear with need 17 English school 18 One type of scooter 20 Sur-

> Solution time: 25 mins steadily follower

Walk un-ZIALS 32 Lofty home 33 Swimming barrier wedding expenses violence of bricks

Remick

59 Like -

60 Actress

61 Distress

call

DOWN

1 Fraudulent

scheme

25 Dies 43 Card game 2 River in 26 Uses 3 Suffragist leader 4 Cote call 5 Roman general 8 One type of race 9 Japanes vegetable 10 Rank and soldiers

12 WWII

general 19 Equip

Italy

poet

6 Caesar's

7 WWII

creation?

21 Actress Thompson 23 Where gardeners nap?

> 49 Make both meet 50 Malay isthmus 51 Lepidop terist's

Whitney's machine 27 In good order 28 Bandleader Fields 29 Turnpike charge 30 Lily plant 31 Stadium cheer 35 Wire measure 38 Double curve 40 Tibetan gazelle 42 Atelier feature 45 Hitchcock CRYPTOQUIP 12-7

VQPV SDDV FDJQ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SUGGESTION TO HIGH-

BDXME EXSS

EWME

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom on westside. Lots of extras. Call 539-9185. (67-71)

trying. (68-71) FEMALE ROOMMATE, $100 per month plus one third utilities own bedroom. Call 776-6880. (68-72)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester, non-smoker. Own bedroom, near campus, near Ag-

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished

utilities. 776-3244. (70-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat quiet female for luxury townhouse. Pool, tennis, many extras. $165. 537-7605. (70-74) GRADUATE STUDENT seeks responsible, mature, non-smoking roommate, one-half block from cam-pus, $115/month, utilities included. Jeff. 776-1513.

bie in spacious house four blocks south of cam-pus. $130 a month plus share of utilities. Call 537 9487 or 539-1820. (71-75)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE needed. Luxurious three bedroom apartment. Washer/dryer, microwave fireplace, dishwasher. Close to campus. Available now! 539-5875. (71-74)

ADOPTION IN California. Stanford University profes-

SUBLEASE SPACIOUS, nice one-bedroom, available Dec., spring semester, $250 month/plus utilities. 539-0199. (68-71)

29 TUTOR WANTED

SPRING BREAK LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so far! Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-

Crossword

ACROSS Cul-de-4 Nickname for comedian 7 Bongo 11 Rugged

rock

county 15 Feed the kitty 16 Salad dressing realist painter 22 First trans plant?

STER

movie 47 The birds 48 Lotto's cousin

52 Daughter Father's Day gift, often of Cadmus POWERED OPERA SINGER WENT IN ONE ARIA AND OUT THE OTHER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals L

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed across from Ahearn, $140 and half utilities. Call Dawn at 537-4811. (69-

WE'RE ALMOST on campus, and Aggie ain't far. If you have a T.V. or a VCR, as a roommate we you'd really be great. Call 776-8688. (71-75)

AFFORD COLORADO! $25/night for two. Ten cozy

Garfield

New Derby bakery offers alternative to 'care packages'

By Brett Hacker Collegian Reporter

Mom's care packages of baked goodies may soon be obsolete. Cakes, cookies, cinnamon rolls and caramel apples are just a few of the baked goods offered by the Derby Food Center Bakery.

The bakery, open since September, is only operating at 60 percent capacity because its oven is on back order, said Mary Molt, administrative dietitian for residence hall food service at Derby Food Center.

Everything is made from scratch at the bakery and research has been done to create the best product possible. Molt said she has sampled cookies and cinnamon rolls at a variety of businesses and has discussed the type of ovens and equipment they use, Molt said.

The biggest-selling product is the jumbo cinnamon roll, 60 cents, followed by the rice crispy square at 50 cents, Molt said. The bakery also sells soft Operating out of a remodeled coat closet, the bakery is located on the south side of the first floor of Derby Food Center.

Molt's goal of having the bakery be self-contained should be realized after its equipment comes in. Until the oven is delivered, the bakery is using the main kitchen in the Derby Food Center, Molt

The bakery's initial cost was $20,000, which is expected to be recovered by the bakery's profits,

Students arrive at work to make cinnamon rolls at 6:30 a.m. in order to have them ready when they open at 9 a.m.

The main reason the bakery was opened, Molt said, was to give residents a fresh product.

"Students who live in the residence halls really don't have access to the equipment to make a pan of brownies or a cookie or whatever. So it gives the students who live in the halls a way to have something that is freshly made," she said.

The bakery is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., and Friday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The bakery is not open on Saturday, but is open Sunday from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

WinterDance '87 provides variety

By Jackie Wendt Collegian Reporter

The art of dance was displayed by professional dancers, faculty and students at the annual WinterDance '87 concert in McCain Auditorium.

Ballet, modern and jazz dances were performed by the K-State Dance Workshop, The Susan Warden dancers, Rachael Warren of Hanover and two K-State dance faculty.

Twelve numbers were performed at the concert, four of which were said about the music.

choreographed by the concert's director, Luke Kahlich.

"Wipe Out," "Dummy Tango," "Regenesis" and "Frankly Speaking," were Kahlich's numbers which featured music by such diverse artists as Aretha Franklin, David Byrne, Igor Stravinsky and The Safaris.

Other music which was incorporated into the concert was by Herb Alpert, Sam Harris, F. Chopin, Rodgers and Hart, and Mannheim Steamroller.

"You name it, we have it," Kahlich

Only one number, "Regenesis," included scenery in its performance, and the props in it were chairs and a rooftop.

"There was very little scenery in the concert because of our budget and a lack of technical help - no time or people," Kahlich said.

"Dummy Tango," performed by guest artist Rachel Warren, involved Warren dancing with a dummy as her partner. Warren's attire for the number was a black dress with red scarf and her partner's costume was a vest, black pants and white shirt.

The rest of the costumes, like most of the concert, had great variety and were mostly created by Deedee

"They range from everything and are designed specifically for each dance," Kahlich said. "The dresses for the ballet were not classical tutus. but in that style. Regenesis' clothes are from the thrift shop."

A total of 42 performers danced in the concert, and one number, "Wipeout," featured 32 people Kahlich

the TANNING CENTER

.COMPLETELY PRIVATE, CLEAN, SOUNDPROOF .FEATURING THE WOLFF SYSTEM TANNING BEDS .FEATURING WOLFF'S BELLARIUM "S" SUN BULBS •MOST TANNING ACCELERATOR

Buy All You Want 776-8060

519 N. 12th

(next to Domino's) Must be used by Feb. 1, 1988

710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, tel. 539-9706

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

BLACK BRAS

10% off with KSU IDE

539-8888

539-0888

Dr. Paul E. Bullock

Optometrist

·Individual Eye Health Care •Eye Glass Frames and Lenses (One Year Warranty) ·Specialized Contact Lens Care -Tinted (Brown Eyes to Blue -Extended/Flexible Wear -Bi Focal

HMO/Insurance Accepted MEL -O- DICOME

776-9461 404 Humboldt (1 blk. W. of Dillards

Call your mummy.

You remember. She was always there when you were frightened. And if you got hurt, she was standing by with bandages. Wouldn't it feel good to talk to your mother again right now?

Calling over AT&T Long Distance Service probably costs less than you think, too. And if you have any questions about AT&T rates or service, a customer service representative is always standing by to talk to you. Just call 1800 222-0300.

Sure, your schoolwork and your friends keep you busy. But call home and find out what she's wrapped up in.

A Wefald Christmas

Christmas traditions for K-State's first family have had to change over the years. See Page 9.

Weather

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of light rain, high in low 50s. Clearing tonight, low around 30. Mostly sunny Wednesday, high 45 e a legitimate giant killer tonight at 7:30 in Ahearn Field House. See Page 13.

Tuesday

December 8, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 72

Kansas State Collegian

Jet crash kills 44; no survivors found At San Francisco International

By The Associated Press

HARMONY, Calif. - A Pacific Southwest Airlines jet crashed and exploded Monday after crew members reported hearing gunfire inside the plane, and all 44 people aboard were killed, officials said.

The four-engine jet en route from Los Angeles to San Francisco went down on a ranch near here at 4:14 p.m., about 175 miles northwest of Los Angeles, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

"There's airplane parts and body parts and luggage all over a 15-mile area. I don't know how anyone could have survived," said cattleman Bill Hartzell, on whose property the jet

There were 39 passengers and a crew of five aboard the flight, said PSA spokesman Jeremy James. He said the jet has a capacity of about

"There are no survivors," said Ron Wilson, spokesman for San Francisco International Airport.

FAA spokesman Fred Farrar in Washington, D.C., identified the plane as PSA Flight 1771, a fourengine British Aerospace-146 jet.

"At this point, we do not believe there are any survivors," PSA spokesman Bill Hastings said from the airline's San Diego headquarters. "We are in the process of notifying family now. We will release the names as they are being notified."

He was unable to confirm whether shots were heard by the crew in the moments before the crash.

"Just west of Paso Robles, the caused by criminal activity." crew reported gunshots in the back of the plane," said Drucella Andersen, a spokeswoman for the National Transportation Safety Board. "The plane crashed near Templeton."

The FBI sent agents to the scene, said bureau spokesman Fred Reagan in Los Angeles.

"We too have at least heard the reports of gunfire," said Reagan. "It's fair to say the first portion of our inquiry will be to determine the circumstances of the crash and if it was

Mary Wiley, Hartzell's daughter, Airport, about a dozen people waitsaid she was standing outside her ing for the plane to land have been home on her father's ranch when she placed in isolation, said Myron heard what sounded like a sonic boom and saw the door to her house the airport. shake. She saw smoke and firebursts a quarter-mile away.

"We ran to the end of my home by the ridge, and there was one huge flash, then an explosion," Wiley said. "There were one or two flashes. We saw pieces of airplane and body parts all over the place."

Schroer, PSA operations manager at

The crash site was 15 miles west of Templeton and about 175 miles northwest of Los Angeles, said a Morro Bay police dispatcher.

"Wreckage was spread out over about 10 acres," said Ron Alsop, spokesman for the San Luis Obispo County Fire Department.

Officials: Mall safe from flooding

The Manhattan Town Center is located in the Kansas River's ravaged this area of the city. But despite its location, developers con-500-year floodplain in southeast Manhattan. In 1951, floodwaters sider it "one of the safest sites that we've invested in."

Repeat of disastrous '51 flood unlikely

Second of five parts

Editor's note: This is the second of a fiveday series examining the Manhattan Town Center and what its development means for Manhattan and surrounding

By Judy Lundstrom Special Projects Editor

In the summer of 1951, a major flood ravaged a large portion of Manhattan.

severe damage was the central business district, the majority of which is located in the floodplain of the Kansas and Big Blue rivers.

A floodplain is the area along a river which contains soil deposited by past floods or which may be covered by floodwater in future floods.

As a result of the 1951 flood, several precautionary devices were constructed to prevent future downtown flooding.

Since then, a number of businesses have cropped up in the floodplain. The latest of those developments is the Manhattan Town

And, while officials say the chances of a flood wiping out the downtown area are next to nil, studies show that another flood similar to that of 1951 is likely and that the possibility of damage does exist.

Flooding history

Information obtained from historical records and newspaper gauge height of 33.4 feet on July 13

One of the areas sustaining accounts indicates a long history of flooding in Manhattan from the Kansas and Big Blue rivers.

The Kansas River is formed by the junction of the Republican and Smoky Hill rivers near Junction City and winds around the southeastern edge of Manhattan. The Big Blue River is east of Manhattan and flows southward to meet the Kansas River two miles downstream from the city.

Floods in the area occurred in 1785, 1826, 1844, 1845, 1858, 1870, 1881 and 1886. The three largest floods on record in Manhattan are May/June 1903, June 1935 and June/July 1951.

The 1951 flood was the largest and resulted from heavy rainfall July 9-12 over the lower portion of the Kansas River basin after two months of above-normal precipitation in the area. The Kansas River at Manhattan was above flood stage for 47 days, with the maximum (see related photo, Page 8). In Manhattan alone, the flood caused $13.4 million damage and one death. An estimated 1,900 people were evacuated, 60 percent of the city was flooded up to 8 feet, and 1,600 dwellings and 300 businesses were damaged.

Statewide, the flood was blamed for 18 deaths and $870 million in damage to 183 cities.

Flood protection today

Today, a number of dams and reservoirs serve as flood protection devices within the Kansas River basin upstream from Manhattan. The existing dams and reservoirs include Tuttle Creek, on the Big Blue River, which opened in 1962; Milford, on the Republican River, where storage began in 1967; and Kanopolis, on the Smoky Hill River, which opened in 1948.

Manhattan's central business ■ See FLOOD, Page 8

Agriculture group seeks legal action against K-State

By Janet Swanson Agri/Business Editor

The American Agriculture Movement approved a resolution at its weekend meeting in Great Bend calling for a committee to investigate possible legal action against K-State.

The Kansas AAM believes K-State has failed the Hatch Act mandate to "promote a sound and prosperous agriculture and rural life" and "maintain an equitable balance between agriculture and other segments of the economy," said Stephen Anderson of Alma, spokesman for

"I have no idea what they are referring to," said Kurt Feltner, associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station. "I believe we are meeting our obligation, but I am concerned that some organizations have the wrong notion on what the K-State program is all about."

The K-State Agricultural Experiment Station was created under the Hatch Act in 1888 to find ways to benefit family farmers, rural life and consumers. Anderson said.

"K-State isn't meeting the entire act. You can just look around and see that rural Kansas isn't healthy and it isn't prosperous," he said.

AAM believes K-State has used federal funds to conduct research in areas of agriculture that have become increasingly corporate-controlled.

"We don't have a single experiment going on that the information from it is aimed specifically for corporations," Feltner said. The experiment station's projects are selected based on input from producers, review groups, extension agents and services, Feltner said.

Walter Woods, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the Agriculture Experiment Station, was out of town and unavailable for comment Monday night.

Anderson said about 150 people attended the AAM meeting, but no breakdown on the resolution's vote was available. He said the committee appointed at the meeting would look into how much money is involved and find out how it is being spent by K-State.

The committee will look into what K-State is doing and list the priorities of what we think it should be doing," Anderson said.

The four-member committee should have its report completed within the next year, he said. Any possible legal action against K-State will depend upon the committee's findings.

"Our goal is to have a positive impact - purer water, less soil ero-■ See AAM, Page 12

Summit talks begin; leaders express hope

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev arrived Monday for summit talks with President Reagan and declared, "We sincerely want better relations between our governments and peoples."

The Soviet leader said that negotiations for the reduction of intercontinental ballistic missiles would be a central issue in the summit meetings which are to include the signing of a treaty on dismantling the two nations' medium-range missiles.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz greeted Gorbachev as he emerged from his plane at Andrews Air Force Base.

"Welcome to America," said the secretary of state, shaking the Soviet June. leader's hand.

Gorbachev, wearing an overcoat and hat, spoke for about five minutes. In an indication that he looks for the United States to show flexibility on issues that divide the superpowers, he said, "We are hoping that we years" and adopting other will hear some new words on their side."

"We can neither of us shirk the role that we are to play in world cuts in nuclear weapons in Eur e affairs. We must act with the utmost responsibility to our peoples and the chemical weapons and ending the peoples of the whole world."

With that, Gorbachev drove off for the only summit event on his schedule for Monday night - tea with the Schultzes - and to prepare for today's opening summit session with Reagan and the signing of the treaty.

Even as Gorbachev met with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher outside London for presummit discussions en route to Washington, U.S. and Soviet diplomats predicted that the Gorbachev-Reagan summit will yield progress toward a bolder, more far-reaching accord to reduce arsenals of strategic nuclear weapons.

Success in Washington this week could pave the way for an agreement signed in Moscow as early as next Thatcher said Monday she told Gorbachev the United States and Soviet Union should overcome mutual suspicions over Star Wars by extending their 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty for "a number of confidence-building measures.

But she told reporters she also cautioned the Soviet leader that further were possible only by eliminating

■ See SUMMIT, Page 12

Raisa reportedly annoys Nancy

WASHINGTON - Nancy Reagan sidestepped questions Monday about reports she and Raisa Gorbachev don't get along, but did express irritation over her Soviet counterpart's failure to respond in a timely fashion to an invitation to a White House gathering.

"I did say, I had to know. It got to the point where...I had to fill in the schedule," Reagan told reporters in a tone of

But the first lady quickly said she thought the wife of Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev "seems very nice."

Reagan, with a smile, added that "I don't know her very

The two women met at the 1985 summit in Geneva, where they were hosts of reciprocal teas. The first lady met with reporters as she greeted the arrival of the White House Christmas tree, just hours before Gorbachev and his wife arrived in Washington.

The Gorbachevs are scheduled to be given a full-blown state welcome at the White House today, complete with military honors and black-tie state dinner.

Grand jury completes task

PHOENIX, Ariz. - A statewide grand jury that investigated allegations that Gov. Evan Mecham failed to properly report a campaign loan has concluded its term and two new grand juries will be empaneled to continue the probe, prosecutors said Monday.

The grand jury completed its six-month session and was discharged Dec. 3 after hearing testimony from a number of Mecham aides and campaign officials. No indictments were

Extension of the grand jury's term "was not practical," the attorney general's office said in a statement Monday, because "we could not anticipate the amount of additional time" needed to complete the investigation.

But Dale Anderson, an attorney representing Lee Watkins, Mecham's prison-construction chief, said the attorney general's office asked for a new grand jury "because they didn't like the way the first one turned out."

Grand jury activities are secret, but Anderson said Monday he believed the panel took a vote "and it was not a vote to indict" Watkins.

Spanking order to be appealed

WICHITA - A Wichita school board order prohibiting spanking as punishment will be appealed to state officials, the head of a teachers association said Monday.

Jon Miller, president of the National Education Association-Wichita, said a grievance would be filed with the Kansas Department of Human Resources over what teachers see as a contract violation.

"It isn't the issue of spanking so much," Miller said, adding that the teachers contract contained a provision allowing corporal punishment. "If we allow this part to come out of the contract, we are concerned about what part will come out next."

The Wichita Board of Education voted 5-1 last month at the request of Superintendent Stuart Berger to prohibit spanking. Berger later denied an appeal by the NEA because teachers discussed the issue publicly in violation of their contract.

Madonna files for divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. - Rock diva Madonna ended months of speculation and filed for divorce from actor Sean Penn after 27 months of marriage, court records disclosed Monday.

In her Superior Court petition filed late Friday by attorney Michael K. Inglis, Madonna asked for restoration of her maiden name - Madonna Ciccone - and division of the couple's property according to a prenuptial agreement.

Details of the prenuptial agreement were not disclosed by Inglis, who referred all calls about the divorce petition to Madonna publicist Liz Rosenberg in New York. She did not return phone calls Monday.

The divorce petition cites irreconcilable differences. Attorney Howard Weitzman, who represents Penn, was in court Monday and unavailable to confirm whether the actor was served with the divorce papers.

Madonna, 29, and Penn, 27, were married Aug. 16, 1985, in a lavish, invitation-only ceremony on a Malibu bluff while news helicopters swarmed overhead.

The couple starred in the box office bomb "Shanghai

Pugnacious Penn, star of "Fast Times at Ridgemont High," "Bad Boys," "At Close Range" and "The Falcon and the Snowman," has been involved in a series of legal wrangles involving fisticuffs with photographers and others.

Ortega rejects Christmas truce

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Contra rebels began a 36-hour unilateral cease-fire Monday in their battle against the Nicaraguan government, and President Daniel Ortega rejected as 'impossible" a Christmas truce.

The Contra cease-fire, announced in Miami, came in response to a request from Nicaraguan Archbishop Miguel Obando y Bravo, who mediated talks between the two sides in the Dominican Republic last week.

The unilateral cease-fire began at 1 p.m. EST to mark the Roman Catholic celebration of the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary, said Adolfo Calero, one of the six directors of the Nicaraguan Resistance, the Contra umbrella organization.

On Saturday, Ortega had rejected the 36-hour cease-fire because he said it would not stop the United States from aiding the rebels.

Rare birds resume journey

LYONS - Three rare whooping cranes apparently have left a wildlife refuge in Kansas and resumed their unusual December journey to Texas.

The birds — two adults and a chick — stopped at the Quivira Wildlife Refuge in central Kansas Friday, prompting the closing of the refuge to hunters.

The birds, which are about one month behind others migrating from Canada to their winter nesting area in Texas, were spotted at the refuge again Saturday but were not seen during checks Sunday night and at mid-day Monday, said Jackie Jones, an assistant at the refuge. She said no-hunting signs would probably be removed today.

The stopover marked the first time that the whooping crane a 5-foot-tall North American bird with a wing span of 71/2 feet - had made a recorded stop in December at the refuge.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEPARTMENT OF DIETETICS applications will be accepted for the coordinated dietetics program through Dec. 15. See Dr. Roach, Justin 107, for more information.

TODAY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Christina Ling Chang at 8:30 a.m. in Burt 204. The topic is: "Charaterization of NIF H Cene Mutants from Klebsiella HORSEMAN'S ASSOCIATION executive meeting at 7 p.m. in Call 204. A regular meeting will follow at 7:30 p.m.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZA-TION meets at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

17 shopping days to Christmas

GERMAN TABLE meets at 12:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2. Anyone interested in German conversation is welcome.

GOLDEN KEY HONOR SOCIETY meets at 6:30 p.m. in Union 212.

PHI UPSILON OMICRON AND OMI-CRON NU meet at 7 p.m. at the Cotton Club in the Peach Room for a Christmas party. SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS meets at 6:15 p.m. at Union information desk to go bowling. The cost is 85 cents a game.

WEDNESDAY

GAY AND LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 8 p.m. in Union 202.

SOCIETY FOR CREATIVE ANA-CHRONISM, SHIRE OF SPINNING WINDS meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union 205.

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

MAMA MIA! ALL YOU CAN EAT PASTA DEALS SUN. & MON. Italian Rotini Pasta, Sauce and Garlic Toast. TUES. & WED.

Italian Pasta Shells, Sauce and

Garlic Toast

Italian Spaghetti and Garlic Toast

710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, tel. 539-9706

S-L-E-E-P

TO THE SLOPES ON OUR

SLEEPER BUSES

$214

$206

$219

$172

$210

$172

$178

$233

$287

$233

$233

$265

$222

$232 $228

$237

$188 $223

$188

$212

$235

$236 $211

Hotel-Quad

Hotel-Quad Hotel-Quad

Hetel-Quad Hotel-Quad

Condo Hotel-Quad

Hotel-Quad

Hotel-Quad

Hotel-Quad

Condo Hotel-Quad

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

Condo

ATTENTION Group leaders of large or small groups — Lift tickets can be purchased in our office at competitive Group Rates (even though you are not on one of our tours) AND for any ticket not used, you will receive an immediate refund from our office.

OUR SKI BROCHURE IS READY WITH OVER 100 TRIPS

Group Leaders Shop the Town - Then let us quote you a package. You'll be glad you did. WEEKENDER SPECIAL: 2 Ski Days Departs every Friday starting Nov. 13, as low as $119.00 per person

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Cooper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Coppe

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper

Keystone/Copper Keystone/Copper

Steamboat

Winter Park

Winter Park

Crested Butte

Steamboat

Winter Park

Winter Park

Steamboat

Steamboat

Steamboat

Crested Butte

Ski Days Destination

Nov. 25-30

Nov. 26-30

Nov. 26-30

Nov. 26-30 Nov. 26-30

Dec. 10-14

Dec. 11-15

Dec. 17-21

Dec. 17-21

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation! WFFK A

KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE $29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning In October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggleville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

Dec. 25-29 Dec. 26-31 Dec. 27-31 Dec. 29-Jan. 3 Jan. 3-8 Jan. 3-8 Jan. 7-11 Jan. 14-19 Jan. 15-19 Jan. 15-19 Jan. 15-19 Jan. 15-19 Jan. 21-25 Jan. 28-Feb. Feb. 4-8 Feb. 4-8 Feb. 11-16 Feb. 12-16 Feb. 12-16 Feb. 12-16 Feb. 12-16 AND 35 MORE TRIPS TO CHOOSE FROM ALL TOURS INCLUDE SLEEPER BUS, LODGING AND LIFT TICKET EACH DAY LESSONS AVAILABLE SINGLE, DOUBLE & TRIPLE RATES AVAIL IN HOTELS ANGEL FIRE VIA AMTRAK

MAR. 12-17 AND MAR. 19-24 4 NIGHTS & 4 LIFT TICKETS $371 HOTEL-QUAD SOUTH PADRE ISLAND VIA AIR

6 NIGHTS $360 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 4-10 5 NIGHTS $368 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 11-16 4 NIGHTS $368 HOTEL-QUAD MAR. 16-20 MAR. 30-APR. 4 5 NIGHTS $320 CONDO

KANSAS CITY AREA 741-8822 Overland Adventures 1-800-892-9788 MO 9505 N. Congress K.C., Mo. 64152 1-800-821-1500 USA

GRAND OPENING of our NEW Branch Office ADVENTURE SPORTS — Georgetown Market Place 9321 W. 74th St. (I-35 & 75th St.) IIII REGISTER FOR DOOR PRIZES IIII

Experts: When stress takes over, take control

Relaxation can enhance test performance

By Jan Schwartz Collegian Reporter

You're late for class, your shirt button just popped off and rolled out the door without you, and you're beginning to get the "Monday moming blues" every day of the week. Sound familiar to anyone?

Finals week is quickly approaching, which means all the stresses of college life will soon be smacking many students right in the face.

Wes Ward, psychology intern at Lafene Student Health Center, said people experience 50 to 200 stress reactions every day. Taking final exams can prove especially stressful to college students, he said. 'We learn to get stressed out about school in the first grade," Ward said. "Teacher and parent expectations put react by getting psyched up and nervous.

People learn at a early age to react this way, he said. As they progress through school, they continue to react in this manner and, most of the time, do not know how to deal with it.

"You've probably never had a teacher in your whole life teach you how to get relaxed for a test," Ward

Research has shown that a student who relaxes before taking an exam will do better on the test, he said.

The human body has a "fight-orflight" response built in which was inherited from human ancestors as alcohol and drugs, and changes in far back as the caveman days, Ward

The fight-or-flight response is the body's reaction to physical danger, he said. Chemicals are released in the pressure on you to do well, and you body causing the muscles to tense, the heart to beat faster and the blood

> "Today, people react in the same way to non-life-threatening situations," Ward said. "Being late, red lights and taking exams are all little situations during a day which create a moderate fight-or-flight response."

He said people think they are too busy to take time to recuperate from these everyday stresses, and the results show up physically. Ulcers, migraine headaches and high blood pressure are common results of stress. Psychological signs of stress such as depression, increased use of eating and sleeping patterns also

A person does need some stress otherwise, life would be boring, Ward said.

A person needs enough stress to have an incentive to meet life's challenges, he said. But people need to learn to control stress, so it doesn't control them.

Several strategies exist on how to relax and reduce stress, Ward said. Visualization and autogenic phrases are some of these techniques.

Visualization involves closing your eyes, taking a deep breath and imagining yourself for the next 10 minutes in your favorite setting, he said. An example of autogenic phrasing is repeatedly telling yourself you

Ward will speak on stress and demonstrate some relaxation techniques at 8:30 p.m. today in Moore

Students wanting help handling stress can also visit Lafene's mental health department for counseling.

Stimulants harmful, Lafene doctor advises

By Joni Manley Collegian Reporter

Finals week is almost here, and soon a majority of students will be hitting the panic button.

During this time, many students stay up all night to study for tests the next day or to put the final touches on a last-minute project.

Many students experience tension and stress during this time, and how these students deal with it is important, because it can affect their grades.

Many students try to stay awake by drinking coffee or taking stimulant drugs, but Dr. Burritt Lacy, student health associate at Lafene Student Health Center, said he would not recommend their use.

Lacy said the use of stimulants has never convinced him. "Your determination is what helps you stay up," he said. The stimulants can be effective, and they can work for some people, but, he said, "I'm not at all sure they do any good. My whole position as a professor is to tell students not to take the stimulants."

Lacy said he never recommends any drugs, because some people become irritable after using them.

On the average, Lacy said, the students do not come to him just during finals. He said some of the students have been dealing with bad study habits for years, but they just continue to procrastinate, and it makes the situation even worse.

■ See FINALS, Page 12

FREE

VISTA TRAVEL MUG

When you order a Sunrise Sandwich and a cup of coffee for $1.95.

Offer good with other breaklast entrees Then whenever you bring your Travel Mug back to Vista through December 31, your coffee refills are 5¢!

Mug also available separately for 99¢, filled with coffee!

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd

AT VISTA

ANNOUNCERS

Applications are being accepted for full time & part time announcers.

*Broadcast experience required *Various shifts...days/nights/weekends

KMKF 10

EOE employer KMAN 1350

2414 Casement, Manhattan, KS 66502

SHELBY (alias PIGLICKER)

on this holy occasion, we are celebrating 20 years of you being you . . . bad driving, salvo clothes, and "messes."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CUPCAKE! xxoo Kimbi, Hazellnut, P.S., & California

Don't let your graduating friends sail away without saying goodbye. Say you care in a personal.

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon the day before you want the ad to run. The last Collegian for fall will be Dec. 11.

Finally, agreat pizza lelivered.

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA"

Super Party Pack I $13.99

Present this coupon and receive two medium four drinks for only $13.99. Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery. Not vaild with other romotional offers or coupons. limited delivery area and time.

PIZZA KSU

Large Pizza for a Medium Price

Present this coupon and receive any large pizza for the price of a medium. Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery pizzas, plus four soft valid with refills on refillable jug of-

of free drink offer Sorry, you can on-

Dinner for Two $8.99

Present this coupon & receive a medium Original two topping topolng Thin Crust Valid on Stuffed or Original Pizza. Not pizza & two soft drinks for only

Dine in, Carryout, or Delivery Not valid with other promotional offers or

Dine-in or Carryout

Hot Slice"

2 for $2

Receive 2 Hot Slice Pizzas

by the slice for $2!

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, December 8, 1987 ■ Page 4

Biological warfare knows no winners

The United States has agreed to a reduction of intermediate-range missiles with the Soviets (the INF treaty), and rumor has it we are on the way to a new SALT treaty. Optimism may even sway some into believing that soon nuclear weapons will become merely an unpleasant memory. However, optimism does not change the facts.

According to Samuel Day Jr. in the November issue of The Progressive, only about 4 percent of the world's nuclear arsenal will be affected by the most recent agreement with the Soviets. Even if all the Euromissiles are withdrawn, Europe will still be littered with thousands of battlefield nuclear weapons controlled by the United States and the Soviet Union.

All pessimism aside, however, the recent arms negotiations do deserve praise. A reduction of nuclear weaponry was achieved, and a precedent was set. It is hoped this precedent will be continued by President Reagan's successor. But nuclear weapons are not the only threat to a safer world.

Deep within the twisted minds of Pentagon officials, there has arisen a new trend in military research, this time in a very delicate field: biological warfare. Over the past years, the Pentagon has been funding research in the field of biotechnology, apparently oblivious to the fact that these activities are illegal. According to the Biological Weapons Convention of 1972 - which was ratified by the United States in 1975 - research, development and production of biological weapons is to be banned.

Perhaps even more startling is the fact that most of this research is being conducted in universities very much like our own. Consider Donald Robertson, a biochemistry professor at Brigham Young University who, when not teaching, researches the deadly biological agent known as anthrax. This virus can kill when inhaled, and it contaminates the soil for up to 50 years — as happened in Gruinard, a quarantined island off the coast of Scotland where experiments with anthrax were conducted on herds of sheep in 1942. Robertson's reassurances that he sees "no indication of any offensive plans of the sort" to be derived from his research seem feeble when one considers that his funding comes from the military.

This case is only one of hundreds or possibly thousands of cases in which the military uses impressive federal grants to lure university researchers to do initial research for them. Very close to home, at the University Commentary

MICHAEL NICHOLS

Collegian Columnist

of Kansas, scientists are cloning genes of the debilitating dengue-2 virus. On other campuses, cloning is being done on genes of diseases with names like leishmania, shigella and salmonella. At the University of Massachusetts, biochemist Thomas Mann has a $1 million Army grant to research dengue-1 as well as a Southeast Asian disease known as Japanese encephalitis.

Can this research be a useful and humanitarian application of the taxpayers' money in curing certain nasty diseases? If so, why this sudden interest in virulent strains and vaccines by none other than the American military? Since when has the Pentagon been interested in curing diseases - an indisputable majority of which have never affected the U.S. public? Somehow, all cynicism aside, the notion that the Pentagon spends millions of dollars for a charitable cause does not seem very realistic.

And look at the figures. Since Ronald Reagan took office, funding for biotechnology research has quadrupled to more than $60 million, reported Seth Shulman in the latest Progressive. But even worse, funding for what the military calls "basic research" in this area has gone from $300,000 in 1981 to $20 million (a 60-fold increase) in 1986. Overshadowed by more glamorous and costly programs such as the Strategic Defense Initiative - currently estimated at $4 billion a year - biological warfare research has apparently escaped the meticulous attention of this nation's media.

Why don't the universities simply refuse military funding if the objects of their studies are so morally questionable? At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the biology department voted earlier this year to refuse Pentagon funds altogether. The result? An alarmed MIT administration threatened to cut off the biology department's in-house funding if the military money was turned down. Meanwhile, the Pentagon claims that the research in question is completely defensive in nature. Believing that, what are we to make of the following statement by Douglas Feith, former deputy assistant secretary for negotiations policy, before a 1986 Congress subcommittee? "Biological warfare can be designed to be effective across the spectrum of combat, including special operations and engagements at the tactical level."

Are we to assume that biological weapons are to be a bargaining chip in the next negotiations with the Soviet Union? Or is this research being carried on to prepare for the prospect of "biological aggression" from an enemy? Keep in mind that there is no realistic defense from a biological attack, short of vaccinating the entire population. And what to vaccinate against, if an attack could be presented in a variety of virulent strains?

Defensive biological warfare research, then, seems to be a contradiction in terms. Why even meddle in such a disastrous field? Curing diseases is a noble goal, but infecting the population of an entire country or continent to "ensure democracy" is sick. The very notion that overgrown infants in the Pentagon could have access to such weapons is enough to send chills down anybody's spine.

KU Senate is tackling AIDS problem head-on versity of Kansas students will usu- frank actions. ally admit that the university up or down — the river did something positive, K-Staters must do so in light of recent action taken by KU's Student Senate.

The Senate, after much discussion and at least as much controversy, voted last Wednesday to provide KU students free condoms during January fee payment. In addition, students will receive informational brochures about AIDS.

What the KU Senate's action does problem head-on — with education. Although AIDS experts commonly disagree over many facets of the virus, most agree on one thing: education is the best way right now to combat the problem.

Granted, the Senate's action is controversial, but as one senator said: "If you lower the controversy, you lower the education." The AIDS dilemma is not for the weak-willed. Nor is it for those afraid to deal with

Although neither K-State nor Uni- it in frank language or even more

The KU Senate's overwhelming decision to approve the bill makes it clear that it isn't playing with a killer. It's trying to save students' lives.

Admittedly, 10,080 condoms for more than 25,000 students won't eliminate the AIDS problem at KU even if all the sexually active students who receive them do use them.

But, as has been said myriad times for other proposals, if it saves just

The action by the Jayhawk Senate is tackle a growing and dangerous is one that needs to be seriously considered by K-State's Senate. To date, our senators have done embarrassingly little in dealing with the problem, and the tragedy won't solve

> Perhaps if K-State's Senate would concern itself more with saving students' lives than spending endless dollars on state buildings, the seemingly insurmountable AIDS problem would become just a little more manageable.

In a secret workshop, research into anti-SDI technology has been under way.

America's fat children need physical activity

America's children are fat. According to findings by the U.S. Public Health Service, children today are fatter than children 20 years ago. The study indicates children are spending more time watching TV than participating in some type of physical activity.

But, for those who don't believe the findings, they should look around at the children they know. How many of them head for the TV after school instead of going outside to play?

How many of these children are only mimicking their parents' actions? The children see mom or dad come home from work, start dinner and sit down in front of the TV - to relax.

Parents need to encourage their children to become physically active. Children don't need "to exercise," but they do need exercise. No one is saying to enroll 4-year-olds in aerobics, but parents should spend some time playing with their Parents also need to realize that the number of "fat" cells a person has develop while they are growing. Therefore, if people develop a large number of these cells early in life, weight control will become even more difficult as they grow older.

Baby fat is cute on newborns, but on 5- or 6-year-olds it is uncalled for. Parents need to heed the advice of the U.S. Public Health Service and encourage their children to exercise.

It would seem there is always news of Americans' poor health. Now, it's apparent where it all begins - with the children.

Letters

Mall not a maze

Editor,

Re: Jason McKee's letter in the Dec. 4 Collegian.

Have you ever been to a mall before?! From the sound of your letter, you are either a very uninformed person advertising your ignorance, or you just had a bad day and needed to gripe about something. Believe me, there are many "more worthy" causes to gripe about than the mall. For example, the K-State police force (and I use the term loosely), the mobile in the Union courtyard, the voluminous amount of ink with which the Collegian is printed, the paucity of parking spaces on campus or the traffic in Manhattan. But don't pick on something such as the mall, which is a great improvement for this town in which we must live until we complete our formal education.

You are obviously ignorant to the benefits the mall offers. I, for one, don't make a habit of "hanging out" in the mall, but I at least can find my way around in it, even without a map. By the way, just for you, they have the "maps" you proposed at each entrance, and the "hundreds of doors ... "? Come on. Be realistic! Oh, and about the people. If some people avail themselves of the free entertainment and cultural events the mall provides (which, by the way, is not offered "24 hours a day" since the mall isn't even open that much), who are you to degrade those things just because you find them unappealing? I suppose a riot would be more appealing to a person like you - sorry we couldn't arrange one for you this year. I personally would rather enjoy the atmosphere the mall provides, even if there are a few "yard apes" present. At least they aren't out in the streets going bananas on drugs, or whatever yard apes like to do. If indeed the mall causes you so much grief, I suggest you choose not to go there. After all, no one is forcing you to go - this is a free university (well, except for the rising cost of tuition). This choice would spare you the stress of the trip, and spare us who enjoy the mall the pain of seeing another griping face. If you should decide to go sometime during your stay in Manhattan, follow your own advice and go after the novelty has worn off so there won't be so many people there to bug you. Oh, and be sure to take some bread crumbs along so you can find your way back home.

Alan J. Krause junior in veterinary medicine

Unfair selling

Another year of Wildcat Basketball is upon us, and where are your season ticket seats? Are you "up in the rafters" because you didn't join ICAT or camp out for two weeks? The policy of selling basketball tickets is unfair at K-State. For the individual or individuals who were not able to man a tent 24 hours a day, or the people that did have a tent and were required to have the right number of people there every day, was this the best procedure for selling tickets? I think there is a better solution. What about a policy in which there were applications for tickets for everyone available around campus? The applications would then be sent into the ticket office, but could not be postmarked before a certain date. If a group wanted to sit together, they could send all their applications in one envelope. After this is done, tickets would be determined by the postmark on the envelopes, kind of a "first come, first serve basis." This is done in rock concerts sometimes, and is usually effective.

This would give everyone at K-State an equal chance of getting tickets for basket ballgames. With Bramlage Coliseum becoming the new home for the Wildcats, I think this would be a great time to try a new procedure for distributing basketball season

> Rob Sterneker junior in management

Help the MIAs

Editor,

Two thousand four hundred thirteen Americans are missing, and the ones who aren't presumed dead are, in all probability, incarcerated against their will. These men are the prisoners of war and those who are missing in action from the Vietnam War. My goal is to help close the book of this fateful chapter in our nation's history. I am not an extremist who thinks that there are still live MIA's, even though eyewitness reports state otherwise. I just want to get our men's remains back home where they belong so families can finally ease their grief in some little way. The way you and I can accomplish this is to write our congressmen, write letters to Vietnam and Laos, remember them in appropriate ceremonies and, most importantly, not forget

It shouldn't require "Rambo" or Chuck Norris taking out a few companies of commies for the public to show support. It doesn't take that, just a letter in the right place.

Wayne Burk junior in business management

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be nt to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

BusinessTuesdo

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, December 8, 1987 ■ Page 5

Bookstores' profits slim on textbooks

Prices just barely cover expenses

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

When it comes to buying and selling textbooks at local bookstores. some students feel they are being cheated.

"I don't think the buy back system is fair, because some of the used books I buy are in bad condition. And, when I sell them back, I still get a lower price for it," said Renee Harold, sophomore in journalism and mass communications.

However, by buying back the books, other students feel the bookstores are helping them out.

"The bookstores are doing us a favor by buying them back," said Kelly Farley, junior in preprofessional elementary education. "There are some books that, after a semester of using them, no one wants to keep.

By using the book all semester and selling it back, she said, the student is reimbursed for paying the original high price.

The dilemma for students is to find the best possible price, while, for the bookstore, it is to convince students they are not making as large a profit as students think, said Dan Walter, book department manager for Varney's Book Store.

"It is difficult for the student to see that we have lots of things to pay for in order to get the textbooks on the shelves," he said.

The K-State Union Bookstore also has high operation costs to cover the buy back period, said Judy Lundberg, assistant book department manager for the Union Bookstore.
Things such as employee salaries, computer maintenance and telephone calls are part of our operation costs," she said.

"There are a whole lot of factors that affect the book prices, because there is a lot of competition within the book buying business. We (the bookstore) are very much sandwiched in the middle between the wholesaler and the publisher," Lundberg said.

When a used book is sold back to the Union Bookstore, the book is returned to the shelves to re-sell the next semester, she said.

However, if a class is not taught the next semester, she said, the

The Union Bookstore ends up los-the unsold textbooks back to the wholesaler, Lundberg said.

Another factor affecting book prices is new editions of textbooks. "The publishers try to revise old editions every two years to try to get rid of used book dealers," she said. "They lose money with the selling of used books so they may change the cover or rewrite a few pages of the book to publish a new edition," she said. "The bookstore must comply with the publishers' wishes because they destroy all of their old editions, leaving very few copies left."

"The selling of textbooks is the worst moneymaking part of the bookstore." -Mary Lou Hutchinson

Varney's often gets stuck with the old editions of textbooks, Walter said. To get rid of them, Varney's has old textbook sales, throws some away and, sometimes, "we use them to soak up the water that leaks down from our ceilings in the springtime,"

"It's sad to have to throw books away, but we just don't have the storage (room) for the (used) books," Walter said.

Both Varney's and the Union Bookstore have set policies on new and used book sales.

'We have a very hard time determining how used a book is, because some students come in and tell us they have not even opened the book the whole semester, but they have still bought the book, which makes it used," Walter said.

Most students buy the used books because they are cheaper.

"I buy them used each semester and keep them because I know I won't make any profit by selling them back to the bookstores," Harold Varney's sets the price of all used textbooks at 25 percent less than new books, Walter said.

For a new book that costs the student $10, Varney's pays the publisher $8 and makes a $2 profit.

When the student sells the book back, Varney's pays the student half of the new price, $5, and resells the book the next semeter for $7.50.

The process continues until the remaining books must be sold to a book is no longer used by the class or wholesaler due to a lack of storage the publisher decides it's an old edition, Walter said.

Because the price of new books ing a lot of money by having to send varies so much, Walter said, Varney's does not have a set percentage for used book buy backs.

"We don't promise anything because it depends on what the publisher decides the price should be," he said. "The key is to sell as many used books as possible to get a

The Union Bookstore has a 20 percent margin for mark up on new books, Lundberg said.

For example, the Curtis Biology book, used for Biology 198, is currently retailed at $39.95. The Union Bookstore buys it new from the publisher with a 20 percent discount for $31.96.

Used, the Union Bookstore pays the publisher $19.97 for the book.

The student will pay $39.95 for the new book and $29.95 for a used version of the book.

The $7.98 difference from the new book and the $9 difference from the used book pays for operating expenses, which leaves little room for profit, she said.

"The selling of textbooks is the worst moneymaking part of the bookstore," said Mary Lou Hutchinson, manager of the Union Bookstore. "We are lucky if we break even on them."

The cost of shipping books to the Union Bookstore, which is often high because the books are being sent from the East and West Coasts, are included in the new and used book profit margin, Lundberg said.

"Some universities add an additional 25 cents to 50 cents on the cost of the book to cover freight costs," she said. K-State does not.

Both Lundberg and Walter said they do not charge the students extra for shipping.

Students that buy used books get a better return on their investment, Walter said.

He said students should resell their books as soon as possible, because it will give the student a better price.

"The price depends on the amount of books already on hand," Walter

However, the policy is unfair to students who can't sell their books back until later, said Suzanne Seetin,

Illustration/Jeff Stead

junior in marketing. "I don't think it is fair that the students who get through with finals first can sell their books back and get the better price on a book. It is just not fair to the students who have to take their finals later," Seetin said.

There is no real feeling of competition between Varney's and the Union Bookstore, Hutchinson said.

"We are able to work together to meet the needs of students and the University in a way that is better than either one of us could do by ourselves," Walter said.

"We work well together, but are not really involved in each other's business," Hutchinson said.

Foreign investments increase economic base, number of jobs

By Ann Iseman Collegian Reporter

Toyota cars, Nestle chocolate bars, Purina pet food, Michelin tires, Endicott shoes, Ball Park franks, Shell oil, Lipton tea and Lifebuoy soap are just a few of the products Americans buy from foreign companies on a regular basis.

These products are produced by foreign companies, but are made in the USA, said Ray Coleman, director of the International Trade Institute. Foreigners, eager for advanced technology, an educated work force and a broad consumer base, have been busily buying existing American companies or building their own companies on American soil, according to a Dec. 22, 1986, article in Fortune magazine.

It is estimated that foreigners own more than $1 trillion in U.S. assets. "The fraction (of America) owned by foreigners is less than people think," said Lloyd Thomas, professor of economics. "If it got up to 10 or 20 percent, then we'd start worrying."

There is no reason to worry yet, he said. The actual amount of corporate earnings claimed by foreigners in 1986 was less than 5 percent of the total. Also, 1 percent of U.S. real estate and farmland is owned by foreigners.

Foreign companies take their profits back to their homeland, but the United States keeps the jobs and the increase in gross national product. All products produced in the United States are considered U.S. products regardless of the company's owner, Coleman said.

"Even if the figure goes up, I won't be worried," Thomas said. "They want to make money and invest for the same reasons we do. Because they want to make profits, they become more efficient and this helps our economy."

Americans are far from unhappy about the growth in foreign investment in the United States, Coleman said. States are competing for the 300,000 new jobs and $10 billion in capital that overseas businesses pour into the United States every year.

The more foreign investment a state has, the more healthy its economy will be because of the multiplier effect, Coleman said. The increased number of jobs causes the service sector to prosper.

"As long as they are investing over here, we'll have more jobs and a stronger economy," Coleman said.

"It (foreign investment in the United States) encourages development," Coleman said. "Besides, we can always tax them.'

Kansas has been successful in luring foreign companies from France, West Germany, Japan, the United Kingdom, Australia, Denmark, Austria, Belgium, Canada, the Netherlands and New Zealand, Coleman

A few of the approximately 50 to 60 foreign-owned companies in Kansas, he said, are Total Petroleum Inc. in Wichita, which is owned by a French company; the Leavenworth Times, owned partly by a Canadian company; and The Clorox Company in Kansas City, owned by a West German company.

Besides corporate investments, foreign governments, individuals and businesses are also investing heavily in American real estate, farmland, securities, stocks, bonds and bank deposits, according to the Fortune article.

"The investment is not one-sided," Coleman said. "The benefits of having two-way trade based on comparative advantage is that it creates competition.'

There are several reasons for the increased activity of foreign investments in the United States, Coleman said. One of these is the declining value of the dollar. This makes U.S. products cheaper in other countries and foreign products more expensive in the United States.

For businesses, it is more profitable to produce goods in the United States now because the products will then be cheaper in other countries and in the United States, Coleman

Not only did foreign holdings total more than $1 trillion in 1986, but they are increasing at the rate of $100 billion a year.

Retailers improve service

A.M. FATEMI Guest Columnist

Have you shopped in Manhattan

If not, maybe you should. Something wonderful has happened. Quietly, but surely, Manhattan's shopping environment has undergone a tremendous change for the better. Not only are shops and stores filled with all kinds of formerly hard-to-find items, but the quality and the price range have been widened significantly.

Most impressive of all has been the marked change in the attitude of our local businesses. It seems like the "customer is the king" slogan has been taken off the shelves, dusted, polished and put right at the eye level of our sales clerks. The high level of service and the courtesy offered by our retail outlets is now superior to those offered by the comparable shopping facilities in the area.

Manhattan is Back!

But back to the point. The original phrase was coined to sell automobiles by Ford: "Have you driven a Ford lately?" Have you? If not, maybe you should! And, as you are out test driving a Ford, do the same with a Chevy and a Chrysler. You will be pleasantly surprised. The quality of U.S.-built cars has improved beyond recognition and, as Chrysler ads say, "America is Back!"

The driving force behind the marked improvement in the quality of U.S. cars has been competition. With the new businesses opening in the Manhattan Town Center and elsewhere, our retail outlets realize that they can protect their turf only through being responsive to the customers' needs. The Big Three automakers found this out after the Japanese invaded their turf.

Needless to say, the Japanese competition initially imposed some severe hardships on the autoworkers and the automakers alike. As a result, though, everybody is now better off.

Indeed, there is a golden rule at work: Unleash the competition and wonderful things start to happen, as they have in Manhattan's shopping environment. Restrain the competition and unpleasantries abound.

Here is an example of the latter: A short while ago, the occassion arose that I had to call the local cable company to render some standard services. To that end, a date was set and, taking time away from a busy schedule, I awaited the service person at home. It was a no show

I called the company and politely asked for an explanation. But a corollary to the golden rule says: You don't have to be courteous if you are the only provider, and the person at the other end was apparently a firm believer in the corollary.

Being highly disappointed, and wanting to doubt the validity of the corollary, I asked to talk to a superviser. As if wanting to prove how without a choice I was, the person at the other end put me on hold for a solid ten minutes.

Class time was approaching quickly, so I hung up and left. I called the superviser later that day only to find out what I had suspected earlier: How strongly the employees of a monopoly believe in the corollary depends on how strongly the middle and upper echelons of the organization believe in it.

Not all hope is lost, though. As the unresponsiveness of Detroit gradually invited the Japanese challenge, so will the disregard for customer satisfaction by legalized monopolies. We can all look forward to that day, but in the meantime we have plenty to be celebrating about.

A.M. Fatemi is an associate professor

Santa Claus — aka Kriss Kringle — delights shoppers

Claus waits on his front porch Monday afternoon to hear Christmas lists.

As part of Manhattan Town Center's Christmas promotions, Santa At his house in the mall, children can meet Kringle and have their picture taken with him.

By Debbie Lyons Collegian Reporter

Surrounded by elves and small children in the middle of the Manhattan Town Center sits a fat little man who calls himself "Santa Claus."

With a fluffy white beard, plump rosy cheeks, shiny black boots and a warm red suit, he attracts children of all ages to sit on his lap and confide in him their Christmas wishes.

"My real name? Why it's Kriss Kringle, of course," he said with a

'ho, ho, ho" thrown in for good measure. Kringle lives at the North Pole and spends most of his spare time getting ready for Christmas, he said. "All the gifts are handmade by my elves. They've really had to expand their knowledge of electronics to Kringle said. He also spends a lot of time caring for his reindeer and readying them for the long trek around the world, the jolly man said.

keep up with today's technology,"

■ See SANTA, Page 7

Collegian/Jennifer Quist

Santa Claus listens as five-year-old Brandon Figge says what he wants for Christmas. Figge said all he wants is a remote control race car.

Merry Christmas

from

the COLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF

Manhattan Town Center's Rocking Horse Gift Gallery

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Next to J.C. Penney

Tanning Sessions Makes a Great Gift!

expires Feb. 1, 1988

519 N. 12th Next to Dominos

International Tours

Your Local Contact for Sunchase Winter Ski Break 1988!

Breckenridge

from $1.54

Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

from $1.59 Steamboat Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

Winter Park from $1.72

Jan. 2-9, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

Vail/Beaver Creek from $178 Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

8th & Humboldt • 776-4756 M-F 8:30-5, Sat. 9-12

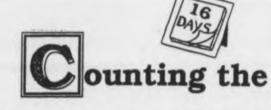

Holiday Trends Christmas Glasses filled and keep the glass!

Dairu Oueen

Days til Christmas?

Something for everyone on your gift list!

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggleville • 539-7654 Mon.-Thur. 8:30-8:30 • Fri.-Set. 8:30-5:30 • Sunday 12:00-5:00

□ Candy

□Stockings

□Balloons □1988 Calendars □ Posters

OT-Shirts □Potpourri Pots □Balloons

□Russell Stovers OPicture Frames

□Crabtree & Evelyn □Kansas Gifts

OStuffed Animals

OMugs

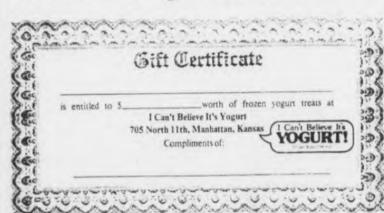

776•8060

We Wish You A Happy Holiday Season! Stop by and take advantage of our Holiday Specials.

521 N. 12th • 539 - 5269

The Perfect Gift ...for Any Occasion!

A Gift Certificate For Any Amount From ICBIY

Just imagine how much fun your favorite person will have using his or her gift certificate during every visit to our friendly

Will it be a Parfait Delight with three swirls of creamy ICBIY frozen yogurt with choice of delicious fruits? Or a smooth, tasty Fruit Smoothie? Or any of hundreds of other Tastebud Temptations made with our soft-serve frozen yogurt that tastes like ice cream but with one-fifth the fat?

OPEN: 11 A.M.-11 P.M. daily Noon-11 P.M. Sunday 705 N. 11th-Nautilus Towers AGGIEVILLE

Poinsettias grown in Wamego brighten homes in 4-state area

By Paula Selby Collegian Reporter

It looks like a flower made just for Christmas. If examined closely, though, observers can see it's not a flower after all. It's a plant - a plant with red leaves - a poinsettia.

In some countries, poinsettias grow wild; but not here. Thousands of greenhouses, some not so far away, labor for months so the red and green plants can brighten the holiday

One of those greenhouses, 15 minutes away from Manhattan in Wamego, opened 38 to 40 years ago and has been growing poinsettias ever since.

John and Cindy Hupe took over Wamego Floral in July 1986, so this is their "second poinsettia season," Cindy Hupe said.

The greenhouse "probably produces 40,000 finished poinsettias each Christmas," she said. They have about 46 greenhouses full of poinsettias that roughly account for onethird of their business.

Poinsettias seem to be popular for the holiday season because of their colors and they often last through the entire holiday season. The poinsettias usually last "longer than (the owner) likes to see them around. My mother bought some last year and they were still there at the frost this fall," Hupe said.

Since researchers have been breeding poinsettias, some varieties have been really getting strong, she said. "They are kind of persnickety, but if you have the right instructions it shouldn't be too difficult (to grow

"Poinsettias take quite a long time in preparation," Hupe said, "but once they hit the market stage we only have four to six weeks to get them all

The week after Thanksgiving was hectic for the Hupes with four to five truckloads and a couple vans of poinsettias on the road a day, Hupe

The process begins in March when the Hupes buy "a couple thousand" stock poinsettia plants from California. They plant those stocks, then about the last week in June or the first week in July, they start taking cuttings from the plants.

The plants have been trimmed all along. Hupe said, but each time the plants are cut, they double. From the cuttings, "each end is like a baby poinsettia."

The baby poinsettias are then put in long strips of floral foam with 10 holes for the sprouts called oasis cubes. The plants are misted with water until roots form.

In August, after the rooted cuttings are four to five weeks old, they are sold to other greenhouses all over the United States.

"One bunch went to the Virgin Islands," Hupe said. "The farthest east (they were shipped) was Maine, the farthest west was California, but they go down to Texas and all over."

About 150,000 to 200,000 rooted cuttings are placed in boxes and shipped through the United Parcel Service "by bus, plane or however we can get them there," Hupe said.

Safety commission reminds parents looks can deceive

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The fuzzy white moose seemed to smile, and his bells jingled, as the head of the government's product safety agency held him up recently with a warning that such friendly lookthe unwary.

The loosely attached bells on the moose can easily come loose and might choke a child, Terrence M. Scanlon, chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, noted at his agency's annual toy safety briefing.

The moose was one of millions of toys kept out of stores by federal officials, along with a toy train that had 300 times the legal amount of lead in its paint and a rattle with a long handle that could choke an infant, Scanlon

Recalls covering some 2.9 million children's products - mostly toys - were announced during the 1986 fiscal year, Scanlon said. In addition, he said, 2.2 million unsafe toys were stopped at ports of entry by commission and Customs Service officials.

But still, 35 children died last year in accidents involving toys and more than 100,000 were hurt seriously enough to require hospital care, Scanlon said.

Commissioner Anne Graham stressed the danger of three items - two of which she noted are not ing toys pose hidden dangers to toys at all, even though they are often used by children.

One of the most dangerous is all-terrain vehicles, those popular three-and four-wheel motorized cycles popular for off-road use.

Hundreds of deaths and hundreds of thousands of injuries have been blamed on these machines, she pointed out. The commission has urged that the vehicles not be sold to youngsters and that smaller versions of the machines intended for youths no longer be made, but consideration of a recall has been stalled by the Justice Department.

Second on her danger list was lawn darts, used to toss at a large ring in a game similar to horseshoes. Children struck by them have been injured and killed.

"Lawn darts are not toys for children," said Carol Dawson.

Santa

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

He said he leaves the North Pole after eating dinner Christmas Eve, having loaded the sleigh earlier in the day, and returns home from his international excursion before breakfast on Christmas Day.

The children leave a wide variety of treats for Kringle, including the traditional cookies and milk, or 7-Up, which they learned from television commercials, he said.

Sometimes parents leave egg nog for him, but he said he can't drink much of that since he's got to drive the sleigh and air traffic can be dangerous these days.

Kringle said he has a very good memory and has no trouble remembering what each child requested for Christmas. He said he tries to bring what the child wants.

"I do my best to get them what they want. It isn't always possible, but that doesn't mean I don't love the child any less. I just wasn't able to pull it off," Kringle said.

The most popular toys this year seem to be Transformers and Thundercats for the boys and some sort of doll for the girls, he said.

Three-year-old Christopher Carlson asked Kringle for a typewriter, "So I can type," he said. Christopher and his 10-month-old brother, Reno, visited Kringle at the mall Dec. 1 to get their requests in early.

Letters addressed to Santa Claus at the North Pole have been forwarded to him at the Manhattan Town Center, but he receives the bulk of the letters at home, he said.

At his house in the mall, children can meet Kringle and have their picture taken with him, said Anna Buckland, Kringle's manager. Pictures are taken by Cherry Hill Photo and are available for less than $6.

Diamond Connection

We have a Large Selection for that Special Gift.

14 K Gold "I Love You" bracelets

$39 reg. $50 While supply lasts 10-50% OFF

ALL Silver in Stock

408 Poyntz•539-3225•Town Center Mall

Santa Suits

- ·Mrs. Santa Suits
- ·Sexy Mrs. Santa

1631 Humboldt 539-5200

A Special Store for Truly Special Holiday Gifts

- Figurines
- ·Silver
- ·Crystal

·China

- Jewelry
- Collectibles
- •Picture Frames ·Music Boxes

Have a Happy Holiday Season!

Poyntz & 5th • 776-9067 Downtown

1227 Moro • 539-1891 Aggieville

1124 MORO AGGIEVILLE

"Beautiful objects from the earth."

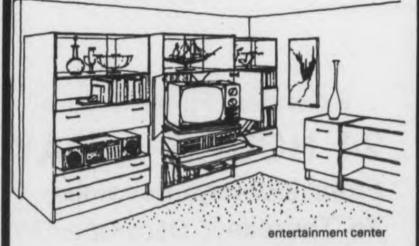

Gems, Jewelry, Crystals, Fine Minerals & Gifts

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-6 MONDAY-SUNDAY

10-8 THURSDAY

techline

the perfect blend of beauty and function

Techline's carefully crafted precision and heavy duty hardwareincluding ball-bearing drawer glides-assure good looks and quality that will last.

Let us help you get your home ready for the holidays.

323 Povntz CONTEMPORARY INTERIORS 537-2099

PRE-HOLIDAY SAVINGS... FREE MEDIUM DRINK

with purchase of any sandwich.

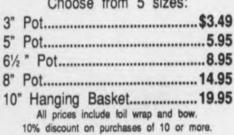

12th & Moro · Aggieville Not valid on delivery.

Void with other offers. Coupon expires 12/31/87.

Deck Your Halls with

Poinsettias we've grown just for you in shades of pink, white, marble and traditional red to brighten your Holiday Home!

Choose from 5 sizes:

Boughs of Holly, Boxwood, Fir, Pine, Cedar and White Pine roping.

Wreaths and Swags assembled from the finest assortment of fresh greens. Or select materials to fashion your own at our Come and Go Wreath Classes.

Fragrances from our collection of simmering potpourri, scent rings and scented oils. Baubles, Bangles and Bows:

Dress your home with porcelain, brass and wooden ornaments and a rainbow of ribbons. Fresh Cut Scotch Pine Christmas Trees ranging from 4' to 8' and priced from $14.95.

Happy Holidays from . . .

Horticultural Services

· Garden Center ·

Mon.-Sat. 8-6 Fri. 8-7:30 Sun. 10-6 776-5764 2 mi, east of Manhattan on U.S. 24

ATOMY OF A

Flood

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

district is also protected by a levee project completed in 1964 by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Known as the Manhattan Flood Protection Project, the levee was designed to provide protection to 178 acres of commercial area, 473 acres of residential area and 29 acres of non-taxable property. It runs for 5.5 miles along the left bank (north side) of Wildcat Creek near 15th Street to the Kansas and Big Blue rivers, said Bob Kern, civil engineering technician with the Kansas City district office of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The levee was designed for a 100-year flood, Kern said. The top of the levee is 1,026.5 feet above sea level, while the flood elevation for a 100-year flood is 1,020.6 feet.

According to a Flood Insurance Study published in 1984 by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, however, the levee was erected along the Kansas River to protect the southern and southeastern portions of Manhattan from a 500-year flood.

A 500-year flood is defined as one having an average frequency of occurrence once in 500 years. A 100-year flood is one having an average frequency of occurrence once in 100 years. When data for the 100- and 500-year floods are presented, many people tend to ignore the figures in the mistaken belief that such floods could not occur in their lifetimes. It is possible, however, for such floods to occur in successive years.

With the completion of Tuttle Creek Lake, flooding in the eastern section of Manhattan would now be caused mainly by backwater from the Kansas River, according to Floodplain Information, published in 1972 by the Corps of Engineers. A flood hazard still exists, however, when reservoir operation necessitates releasing of floodwaters through the spillway and from the remaining area below Tuttle Creek Lake.

In a 1973 report on flood control, a

Photo courtesy of University Archives

Floodwaters move swiftly past businesses at Fourth Street and Poyntz Avenue during the 1951 flood July 11. The Kansas River was above flood stage for 47 days, reaching a maximum height of 33.4 feet on July 13.

graduate student in architecture -Kenneth Glover - wrote that "even for all its benefits to Manhattan, Tuttle Creek Lake could create overconfidence if a flood event of noticeable magnitude does not occur in the near future."

exceeded in Manhattan five times on serious consequences not only to the Big Blue River and three times on the Kansas River since 1887 - a fact community." that can be unsettling, Glover said.

"This serves as an illustration of the fact that even though it can be said we are protecting against floods, such protection is only effective to a certain level," he said.

Limited measures

One item that must be mentioned in any work on flood protection, Glover said, is that all flood protection measures are limited. A levee is designed to contain the waters of a flood of a certain frequency and therefore will be inadequate when a larger flood occurs, he said.

According to Floodplain Information, a major flood similar to that of 1951 occurring in the developed por-The 100-year flood has been tions of the floodplain "could have those affected but also to the entire Kern disagreed.

"As long as the levee's taken care of, it's going to be all right. You're not going to have to worry," he said. "The only way it would get you in a world of hurt is if we had a toadstrangler (heavy rains) dumping downstream of Manhattan proper."

Kern said the only other problem that could arise would be a disaster at one of the reservoirs.

"Chances are that it will never happen," he said. "Besides, you can't build against disasters." Topeka has more than 40 miles of levees, Salina has 22 and Kansas City has a "huge system," Kern said.

Manhattan resident Gerald Grimes ran a bulldozer and grader for Clarkson Construction, a Kansas City company that built part of the levee.

Grimes said at the time the levee was built on the downtown side, a similar flood protection structure was built on the opposite side of the river to protect the Fairmont community.

On that side, he said, was an old salvage yard.

"We pushed all that stuff over to the back half of the levee farthest from the river and buried it," he said. "The side next to the river was all dirt."

been buried in the levee on the river side because mass and weight are needed to stop water from underseeping.

"As long as it's buried on the land side, it wouldn't have any effect at all," he said.

Grimes said he wasn't too worried about the salvage yard being buried in the levee.

The only thing I worry about now is the dam breaking," he said. "You know, it's made by man, so it's possible."

Concern over levee

One person who was concerned about the levee on the Fairmont side was Glover, who said the levee is not sufficient to contain a 100-year flood.

The Fairmont community is almost completely within the 100-year floodplain.

"This condition could create a situation where there would be unnecessary loss of both life and property because of unjustified confidence in the levee," Glover said in his report.

Contrary to popular belief, the Manhattan Town Center is not in the 100-year floodplain but is in the 500-year floodplain, said City Engineer Jerry Petty.

The levee is "considerably higher than the 1951 flood was," Petty said, adding the chances of the downtown area being flooded again are slim.

"I would never sit here and say it will never happen," he said. "It could happen tomorrow. But the probability of the downtown being flooded is very, very low."

However, Petty did say that the levee system, while designed to protect the city from flooding, has consequently caused another problem.

Even though it protects the city from the rivers flooding, if we have a rainstorm or a series of rainstorms, it causes problems because we can't get the water out of the city through the levee or over the levee," he said. "In that particular instance, it acts like a dam."

For the most part, however, Petty said the reservoirs and levees in the area would prevent a situation simi-Kern said trash would not have lar to the one that occurred in 1951.

But because no major floods have occurred in Manhattan since 1951, the protection devices have not been put to the test.

Unlike the mall, businesses such as Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Taco Tico, the new Super 8 Motel and many other structures in the industrial park are in the 100-year floodplain, Petty said.

The required elevation for buildings in the 100-year floodplain is 1,008 feet above sea level, he said. All buildings in the industrial park are required to be built at that elevation. The only exception is Wal-Mart at 1,007 feet - because it was built prior to the institution of the floodplain regulations, he said.

In comparison, the Manhattan Town Center elevation is 1,013.5 feet - considerably higher than buildings in the 100-year floodplain, Petty said. No elevation requirements exist for structures in the 500-year floodplain.

Mall built on top of old gas tanks/Page 12

Petty said Forest City Development of Cleveland, one of the mall developers, looked into the floodplain situation before approving the

"There were more studies done down there on everything you can think of before they decided to put that kind of money in it," he said.

Gary Ceepo, vice president for commercial development at Forest City, said the company uses a national floodplain directory to determine risks involved in selecting a site.

The Manhattan Town Center is in one of the lowest risk levels of floodplain surveys provided by the government, Ceepo said.

"We're in a floodplain, yes. But every part of the world is in a floodplain, whether you know it or not," he said. "Except maybe the very top of Mount Everest."

Ceepo said his lenders are very critical when selecting a mall site.

Every mall the company builds must be evaluated for floodplain problems, Ceepo said.

"Our building practices and lenders' criteria prevent us from shooting ourselves in the foot," he said.

ESPRESSO ROYALE

STAYING AWAKE?? SO ARE WE.

Extended Finals Hours 24 HOURS A DAY From Monday, December 7 To Thursday, December 17

618 N. Manhattan, Aggieville

ROYALE KEWPAUN: 75¢ COFFEE OR HOT DRINK. 50¢ PASTRY.

W/ THIS COUPON

EXPIRES DEC 17,87

ChristmasSpecial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, December 8, 1987 ■ Page 9

It's a Wefald kind of Christmas

Ruth Ann Wefald and President Jon Wefald wish Larry Travis, athletic director, a Merry Christmas at the end of one of their Christmas open house parties.

Holiday traditions strong with K-State first family

Christmas traditions for most families remain the same from one year to the next. Decorating the tree and bringing the family together can be counted on year after year. However, Christmas traditions for the first family of K-State have had to change over the years.

The Wefald family used to spend Christmas with relatives, but that has had to change, said Ruth Ann Wefald, wife of K-State President Jon Wefald.

"In the last few years, we have just started our own Christmas traditions," Wefald said. She also said when the family began spending Christmas alone at home, it became much quieter.

Christmas traditions have changed even more since their two boys have grown, she said.

"Christmas morning was always a real exciting time when the kids were smaller," Wefald said.

"We would set a particular time when the kids were not permitted to come and wake us before that, because sometimes they would wake up at really ridiculous hours," she

"Now that they're teenagers, it's quite a different story. They kind of like to sleep in, too," Wefald said. Christmas stockings at the Wefald household are as much a tradition as opening presents on Christmas morning.

"Christmas morning was always a real exciting time when the kids were smaller. We would set a particular time when the kids were not permitted to come and wake us before that, because sometimes they would wake up at really ridiculous hours."

-Ruth Ann Wefald

"Jon and I have always used the stocking bit as a way to fill in the little household things," she said. Can openers and flashlight batteries are typical stocking stuffers.

Stocking presents are given to everyone at the Wefald house. "Even the dog has a stocking," she said.

The remainder of Christmas day is quite relaxed, Wefald said, adding, however, "I usually make a large Christmas dinner."

The main dish for the Christmas dinner is usually turkey, Wefald said, and the Christmas feast usually consists of the same holiday dishes as Thanksgiving dinner. Turkey with stuffing along with mashed potatos and gravy, hot rolls and a fruit salad are frequent holiday dishes, she said, adding, "The pumpkin pie is always a big favorite." One holiday tradition for the Wefald family has returned to practice after a few years of absence.

"We used to go down to Florida and spend Christmas with family," Wefald said. Now a new tradition of going to Florida has begun - attending the Orange Bowl in Miami, Fla.

"It's probably something we'll continue doing," she said, "It has been a very interesting and fun activity for the family to do."

With the family being gone over the holidays, different traditions have evolved, Wefald said.

"Before, I think the vacation time would have been much quieter, where as now there is more travel involved," she said.

The holidays are also a busy time for entertaining. It is not unusual to have several parties in a very short period of time, Wefald said.

"I have always enjoyed entertaining. I like to entertain," she said. She added that the amount of entertaining that the family does now is much greater and it can be very difficult.

Ruth Ann Wefald fills the fireplace while preparing for an upcoming Christmas party. The Wefalds entertain a great deal over the holidays and are nearly always preparing for another party.

Story and Photos by Jim Dietz

Ruth Ann Wefald inspects one of the several special Christmas orna- adorning the tree range from gifts to the family to ornaments decorated ments given to the family or passed on as a heirloom. The ornaments by the children when they were young.

It all started with a kiss

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter The house is decorated for Christmas, the tree is trimmed, Christmas carols are being sung and a fire is crackling in the fireplace. Suddenly someone grabs you and gives you a kiss. You look up, flabbergasted, and notice a small bunch of mistletoe hanging above your head. Why were you kissed under a plant? There are many ideas and customs surrounding this Christmas plant to explain the kissing phenomenon.

Varied ideas exist as to the origin of the word "mistletoe." The dictionary states that it comes from the Anglo-Saxon "mistel" plus "tan" and means different twig, perhaps because the plant forms such a strong contrast to the tree on which it grows. Its yellow twigs and green leaves are easily visible as it clings to the bare limbs of trees in winter.

This evergreen belongs to the laurel family, and has pale grayish leaves and waxlike white berries. It has sometimes been called the "tree thief' since it is a parasite and grows without touching the ground. Its aerial roots penetrate the bark of the tree that serves as its host. Gradually the mistletoe weakens the tree and if the latter becomes too heavily intested with bunches of the parasite, it may die.

Kissing creates luck for those 'trapped' under the mistletoe

A girl who was kissed under the mistletoe was considered lucky, while those who weren't were destined to remain husbandless for another

The Druids insisted that mistletoe had been brought from heaven by the Missel Thrush. Apparently someone saw one of these birds with a white berry stuck to its toe, and created the word "mistletoe." Since birds feed on these berries, they are largely responsible for the plant's wide distribution.

This popular evergreen has many legends and traditions connected with it, and is often referred to as the "Golden Bough." In Greek mythology, it was believed to be a charm against evil. The Latin poet Vergil, in his classic, relates that Aeneas was directed in a dream to seek out his father Anchises in the underworld. He was also told to pluck a "golden bough" to carry with him as a gift to Proserpine. When the boatman, Charon, saw the mistletoe branch, he allowed Aeneas to cross with him. In the Elysian Fields, he conferred with Anchises, and through the magic power of the 'golden bough" was able to reach the earth once more.

Mistletoe also played a role in Norse legends, for it was held sacred to their goddess, Frigga, wife of Odin. The Druids believed in the plant's healing powers, and it was an important feature of their winter religious rites.

Among the Romans, mistletoe was considered a symbol of hope and peace. Therefore, when enemies met under it, they laid aside their weapons, kissed each other and declared a truce until the next day. Other people also observed such a custom, believing that only happiness could exist under the mistletoe, where they sealed their pledges of peace and friendship with kisses. This may have been the origin of the kissing custom under this plant.

During the holiday season, at great manor houses in England, the mistletoe always hung high because of the ancient belief that the plant should never touch the ground.

A girl who was kissed under the mistletoe was considered lucky, while those who weren't were destined to remain husbandless for another year. With each kiss, the man was supposed to pluck a white berry from the bough and give it to the girl. When all were gone, the mistletoe was said to lose its mystic

During the Victorian period, the British often hung up a "kissing ring" or "bough" as part of their holiday decorations. It was made of wires and covered with gay ribbons. Sprays of mistletoe were fastened to it and sometimes it was adorned with apples and lighted candles. The "ring" was suspended from the ceiling, and many girls were kissed beneath it.

Illustration/Andy Nelson

Professor studies social effects of AIDS

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

Until a cure is found, the issue of acquired immune deficiency syndrome will continue to permeate society. Since schools are not immune from society, Bob Shoop, professor of education, is looking at the legalities of a student or teacher who has AIDS staying in school.

Shoop is interested in the sociological and philosophical aspects of AIDS in a community — how people react or accept AIDS patients in an educational environment.

"I am looking at how teachers and parents are dealing with having AIDS patients in the classroom," Shoop said. "I am really trying to operate as a bridge between these groups and the courts."

Educational environment observed Shoop conducts workshops across tion of the Constitution and the Bill the state on the legalities of AIDS in schools. He also writes articles and teaches classes dealing with the topic. He teaches educational law to teachers, principals and superinten- afflicted with AIDS. The 14th dents of Kansas schools.

Shoop said educators today are dealing with legal, moral and psychological issues which were not concerns just a few years ago.

"I think this is an issue that is so frightening that there is a split between the intellectual and emotional sides of educators," he said. "Most are very anxious about catching the disease."

Shoop is interested in the applica-of Rights to AIDS issues.

He said he thinks both the Bill of Rights and the 14th Amendment are involved when considering those Amendment to the Constitution requires that people be treated to due process under the law.

If a school belongs to a district which accepts federal aid, the federal government can ensure the rights of AIDS patients are not taken away at that school.

Shoop said he thinks it is important these rights are protected. "I think it is essential that the rights of the individual be protected from the oppression of the majority," he said.

Several cases have come before the courts concerning those afflicted with AIDS being fired or prohibited from attending school, Shoop said. Although no cases involving AIDS patients have come before the U.S. Supreme Court, a precedent has been set by a case involving an elementary school teacher who had tuberculosis.

"The (Supreme) Court ruling cited Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, saying the school could not fire her (the teacher) because of her disease," Shoop said. "The courts have ruled that employers cannot discriminate against someone because of a handicap."

In another case involving a student, the court relied on the definition of "handicapped" as presented in the U.S. Code and ruled children with AIDS are handicapped under the law, he said.

Shoop said he thinks AIDS patients should be allowed to stay in school until it is shown AIDS is communicable by casual contact.

"There is no doubt that students and teachers have a legal right to injured children."

remain in school," he said. "We must protect the rights of the individual and the rights of the school."

Schools are already prohibited by the Buckley Amendment from releasing medical information about a student, Shoop said. This can cause a problem because teachers may not know when a child in their class has

"It used to be if a child had a nosebleed, teachers would grab a tissue and help the child," Shoop said. "Now, teachers should treat all children as if they have AIDS and use suitable precautions when helping

Volunteer.

WERE FIGHTING FOR American Heart YOUR LIFE

13 channels to be added to cable system

By Jan Schwartz Collegian Reporter

Manhattan Cable Television announced last week that 13 channels will be added to the basic cable programming service.

The basic service will be expanded to 26 channels, said Daniel Hebert, regional manager.

The services will be available to viewers periodically during December and January and the complete channel rearrangement will go into effect Feb. 1, he said.

"The increased channel capacity is the culmination of a major upgrading of the cable system," Hebert said. "This upgrading will not only enable nels, it will improve reception and reliability, also.'

Due to the capital investment required and the increased operating costs, the monthly rate will increase $2.95, effective in February. The basic lineup of 26 channels will be $14.50 per month.

Subscribers will be issued new channel converters in order to receive the additional programming unless they have a cable ready/ compatible television set. People who presently have a converter will need to exchange it, Hebert said. A store has been set up temporarily at 210 N. Fourth St. for distribution. Additional channels include:

Programming Network, Cable News Network, Music Television, Nickelodeon, CBN Cable and Cable Value Package.

Hebert said these services are presently part of the Full Service Basic

The Discovery Channel, Lifetime, Headline News, KAKE-Wichita, the Nashville Network and Arts and Entertainment are also being added to the basic lineup.

KTWU, C-Span, and USA Network will be offered full-time and the cable service will time-share The Manhattan Local Origination service with The Learning Channel.

The cable service will continue to the cable service to offer more chan- ESPN-Entertainment and Sports offer four movie channels at premium level cost. The Disney Channel, Home Box Office, Showtime and Cinemax are each $11.50 per > Cable services are available to students living in the residence halls.

> "The restructuring of our channels and the launch of our new cable services are being done in response to subscriber requests for a greater selection of viewing options," Hebert said.

A random survey sent to Manhattan residents last spring indicated an overwhelming response in favor of an expansion of cable services, he

Game Day Specials Pre-Game Warm-Up

> 99¢ Margaritas (all day)

99¢ Nacho & Taco Bar (all you can eat)

Post-Game Finally Live DJ (9-midnight)

FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion

Every Monday & Tuesday at 9 p.m.

TONIGHT

Show will begin at 9:30 p.m.

Trial begins in Finney County for superintendent

By The Associated Press

GARDEN CITY - Trial began Monday in the case of a former Garden City schools superintendent accused of defrauding the district of about $6,000.

Jimmy O. Phifer, 46, of Tucson, Ariz., faces eight felony counts of presenting a false claim and nine

> Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY ues Sat. 5 p.m. to Mid Call 537-1484 theft charges, three of them misde- July 1984 to April 1986. meanors. The charges stem from his handling of school district funds while superintendent of schools from

Restaurant

-1304 Westloop

10% off with KSU ID

It can be yours as an Air Force

Pilot. It's not easy, but the re-wards are great. You'll have all the Air Force advantages, such as 30 days of vacation with pay each year and complete medical care—and much more.

If you're a college graduate or your Air Force recruiter for

SSgt Highland

details about Officer Training

School and pilot training. Call

913-491-8657 Collect

FORCE?

soon will be, AIM HIGH. Contact

Phifer resigned as superintendent paper stories about his handling of

The trial at the Finney County April 12, 1986, after a series of news- Courthouse was expected to last all

Holiday Gift Book Sale 30-50% OFF

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

Topics include children's books, cookbooks, bestsellers, art, architecture, history, reference, sports, nature, picture books,

9-9 Mon.-Sat. Noon-5 Sun.

due to basketball game. GO CATS!

Michael Floorwax

along with Terry Jasper Join us for comedy after the Wildcat victory Office

539-4321

531 N. Manhattan 539-9727

ATTENTION K-STATE BASKETBALL FANS! YOGURT!

You "Win" when the WILDCATS "WIN"!

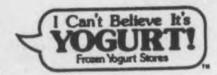

Tonight when the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works;

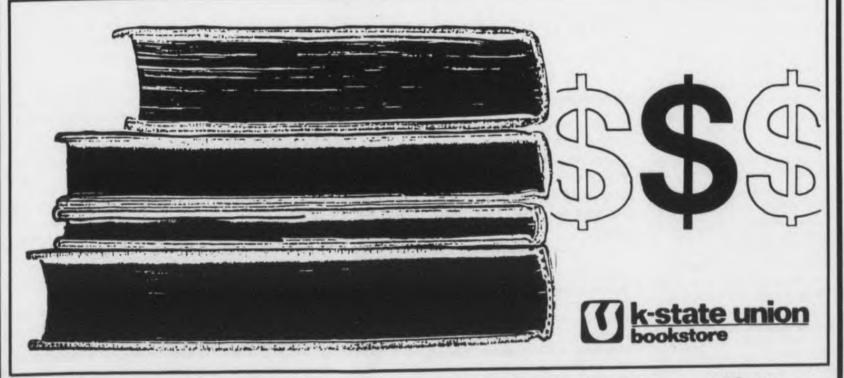

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

Cheer the Wildcats on to victory tonight against Southwest Missouri State and then come in to celebrate with us!

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Delly Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

Want To Sell Your Books?

We Will Buy:

December 9-11, 8:30 am - 4:30 pm December 12 10:30 am - 3:30 pm December 14-18 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

Cuban cleric was last resort, prison siege negotiators say

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA - Negotiators who worked to end the Atlanta federal prison siege said Monday they were reluctant to ask the help of a Cubanborn cleric during the 11-day takeover because "had that failed...we were out of options."

Also Monday, a congressman said the Cuban inmates who rioted should not be paroled until they make "reasonable" restitution for the heavy damage from the takeover.

Weldon Kennedy, agent in charge of the FBI's Atlanta office, said negotiators waited until an agree-

Thursday before seeking help from possible, Kennedy said. Auxiliary Bishop Agustin Roman of Miami because "the bishop was, in effect our last resort."

There was criticism earlier last week that Roman, who was credited with playing a key role in ending a similar uprising in Louisiana, was not brought into the Atlanta negotiations despite pleas from inmates that he be present.

Officials waited until negotiators for the more than 1,100 Cuban detainees initialed the agreement Thursday before asking Roman to come to Atlanta to provide "a final moral force" to the deal and convince the ment with inmates was reached detainees they had achieved the most

The agreement, signed early Friday, resulted in the immediate release of 89 hostages taken Nov. 23. The 1,104 remaining detainees began surrendering one by one later Friday, and all but 100 have since been transferred to other federal Cuban detainees took over the prisons here and at Oakdale, La., after the government announced that, under a new immigration agreement with Cuba, it would deport Cuban refugees who came in the Mariel "freedom flotilla" who had records of crime or mental instability.

Methods to scare blackbirds given by animal control official

By Debbie Lyons Collegian Reporter

More than 400 million blackbirds can cause millions of dollars of damage to sunflower crops in North America, said George Linz, an animal control official.

Linz, a leader of the Western Field Project at the Denver Wildlife Reserve Center, said at a seminar Monday that the number of acres planted with sunflowers in North Dakota has been cut by more than one-half in the past 10 years.

That decline is due in part, he said, to insect and disease infestations, but mostly due to blackbirds.

Although the acreage of sunflowers is declining, the pricetag on the damage caused by blackbirds is rising. In 1979, the price of the damage was $5.1 million, and in 1980 it rose to $7.9 million for North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota combined.

Overall, crop damage due to blackbirds may average only 2 percent, but individual growers may have as much as 20 percent or more damage due to the birds, Linz said. The objective of his research is to find ways to remove the birds from the field, he said.

Linz said the best advice for farmers trying to control the number of blackbirds is to plant the crop away from traditional blackbird roosts. Many growers ignore that advice, though, and have yearly infestations of the birds.

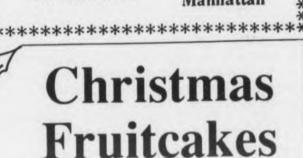

Another method of control is to plow the field as soon as possible after harvest, plowing under the seeds that fall to the ground during harvest and removing a food source for the birds.

Gift Certificates are now available for the holiday season and are usable in many different combinations.

Manhattan

2 lb. loaf form in decorative pan.

Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Fruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

Falsettos

MONDAY 2-FERS 2 Cheese Pizzas $5.99

		M	ENU
Pepp	n Sausage eroni nd Beef	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlons	Jalapenos Pineapple Green Peppers	Ham Extra Cheese
			TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Ch	0050		5.99	8.99
1 lt	om		6.94	10.39
2 lt	oms		7.89	11.79
3 lt	ems		8.84	13.19
4 It	ems		9.79	14.59
Del	luxe		9.79	14.59
				14.59
				15.99
1000		nal Item		1.40

We Accept Checks . Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

THE EXAM-CRAM Runza Care Package

Take a study break ... take your favorite mate...and take off to Runza for food that's great!!

NOW 2 LOCATIONS!!

Coupon expires: Dec. 31, 1987

Aggieville

1101 Moro

Town Center Mall

Picnic Place

- · 2 freshly ground, quarter-pound hamburgers
- · 2 tasty-great, home-baked Mini Runza sandwiches
- · 1 order of homemade onion rings
- 1 order of golden
- french fries

2 large soft drinks

All for just ...

You save ... $2.66 Come on and get a taste

You Can't Pay More than $44.95!

Complete Eyeglasses

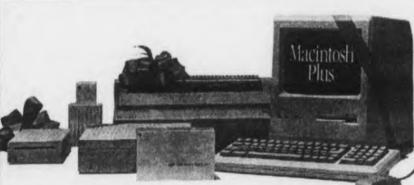

SINGLE VISION

BIFOCALS

Our only Extras: Cox Coating (scratch guard)-$10 and Photo Grey Extra (lenses that darken)-$10.

Payless Optical Outlet

1210 Moro, Manhattan M-F 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Add More. Save More. Do More.

Purchase a Macintosh Plus by January 2, 1988 and get up to $200 cash back on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Start with a Macintosh™ Plus, from Apple®, the high-powered computer-for people who do work at home. Then you'll enjoy savings when you add on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Such as an ImageWriter II printer. An Apple 3.5" Disk Drive or an Apple Hard Disk 20SC. An Apple Personal Modem. Or an Apple 2MB Memory Expansion Kit.

The more you add, the more capabilities you have. And this holiday season, you'll save more, too. Simply purchase a Macintosh Plus with your choice of select Macintosh Plus add-ons. And we'll send you cash back. Up to $200.

So add more. Save more. Do more with a Macintosh Plus.

But hurry, offer expires January 2, 1988. ConnectingPoint 1111

> 1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Dead Week 9 a.m.-9 p.m. (Except Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Final Week 8:30-10 p.m. (Mon.-Tues.-Wed.)

Soil contamination costs city $400,000

By Judy Lundstrom Special Projects Editor

When construction began on the Manhattan Town Center, officials shaped plume of earth below the knew it was located in the Kansas River flood plain. What they didn't know was that it was also being built on contaminated soil.

In September 1986, demolition workers uncovered dozens of underground storage tanks from the mall site. Several of the tanks had been leaking and contained small amounts of liquid that smelled like gasoline, said City Engineer Jerry

The tanks had been buried 7 to 8 feet deep, he said.

Mall built on gas storage site surface had been contaminated by the leaking gas, Petty said. The contamination went 23 feet down to the water table.

Petty said officials had no way of knowing how long the soil had been contaminated. The tanks were not in use at the time, he said. "This was not an isolated incident," he said, "We found a lot of abandoned gasoline tanks that had been leaking."

The contaminated soil was removed, aired out and later used as When workers began to remove part of the fill for the relocation of the tanks, they found that a cone- the Union Pacific Railroad east of Manhattan, he said.

As the gasoline evaporated, Petty said, the soil changed from a gray color to dark brown.

Reusing the contaminated material would not be an unsafe practice. said Gary Blackburn, environmental geologist with the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

"Any small residual would not pose a real threat in shallow burial along the railroad tracks, whereas it would underneath the mall," Blackburn said.

Several soil and water tests were conducted to determine the extent the eve of the summit underscored the difficulties that confronted

American and Soviet negotiators in meeting the deadline for completing the final draft of the treaty, which would scrap all medium-range mis-

Details of the treaty, however, siles over the next three years.

of the contamination at the mall site. The results indicated that the groundwater was not adversely affected, Petty said.

Blackburn said tests indicated minor traces of VOCs (volatile organic compounds) in the groundwater.

"But I think any time you test underneath an old service station there would probably be some," he Migration of the contamination to the city water supply was not considered a problem because studies show that groundwater in the area ends up in the Kansas River clean it up, Petty said.

were made public as the general secretary of the Soviet Communist Party neth L. Adelman said that under a treaty protocol, each country would have the option of destroying up to 100 of its banned missiles by launch-

U.S. arms control director Ken-flew toward Washington.

before reaching the city water supply, Petty said.

Most businesses in the area, including the new mall, get water from the city and not from private wells, he said. The city water wells are more than a mile northeast of the mall site.

Petty said the city was responsible for cleaning up the site as part of its agreement with Forest City Development of Cleveland, one of the mall developers. Cleanup cost the city about $400,000, he said.

If the site were to be used for a structure other than a mall - for example, a parking lot or recreational structure — the city probably would not have been required to

ing them - without warheads

Adelman said the Soviets already had decided to take this option, although the United States is still the treaty is signed.

undecided.

wrong way," he said. "We question whether all of these

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

sion and a more healthy agriculture.

We believe in research and education to benefit rural America," Anderson

Anderson said K-State's research in pesticides and chemical usage is an example of research money that could have been better spent

K-State's research is pointed the "Small towns are dying and I think funds are being spent for the benefit of family farms," Anderson said. "Much of the funds is being spent in poultry, which is a corporate industry, and in the swine industry, which is becoming more of a corporate entity. ... We feel that a lot of their research is being geared toward corporations rather than rural life."

AAM

However, Feltner said the majority of the station's experiments are in into the air within six months after wheat and beef.

"The majority of our research on commodity items is on beef and wheat - the two principal sources of income for the state," Feltner said.

The Associated Press contributed to this

Summit

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Soviet advantage in conventional arms in Europe. About two hours after Gorbajetliner touched down in Washington, U.S. arms control negotiator Maynard Glitman was arriving from Geneva carrying the 150-page text of the Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces or INF treaty in his briefcase.

chev's blue-and-white Ilyushin 62

Glitman's rush to Washington on takes practice." Danskin recommended "lowering your level of intention and you will do better."

He said when things start going counselor at the Counseling Center, wrong, students should eliminate the "Finals time is too late (to learn to activities they do to relax and have study). It's like learning a skill - it fun. He suggests cutting this leisure time in half.

> Danskin also suggested in order to avoid the stress and tension, students should first keep caught up in their work. Second, students should make sure they study so that they can remember and understand what they're studying.

things that help maintain sanity exercising or any other leisure activimake it only 10 to 15 minutes.

time table of what has to be done and Last, they should keep doing when. A timer should be set to indicate when a break should be taken.

Every 30 to 45 minutes, once the ty, but cut the time in at least half. timer goes off, students should get up Instead of 45 minutes to one hour, and stretch, clear their heads, walk around for awhile and just relax from He also suggested working out a studying for about 10 to 15 minutes.

Danskin said if they do this, it helps to break the routine they're in and gives them a chance to reposition themselves and get the blood recirculating.

> Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Finals

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

PLAZA SHOPPING

GRAND PRIZE-37" Panasonic projection TV with MTS Stereo 155 Channel cable-ready tuner, universal remote and stereo audio input and output jacks. Retail value

FIRST PRIZE—Fashion Ring 1 Carat Total Weight. Retail value $1775. SECOND PRIZE-5' ISIS TV Satellite Dish and Receiver, Retail value $545. THIRD PRIZE—Samsusung Front-Loading VHS Video Recorder with H.Q. circuitry. Features 82-channel frequency-synthesized tuner 14 day/4 event programmer and 10 key/ 13 function wireless remote. Retail value $329.

THE SPARKLE THE SPARKLE OF CHRISTMAS AT OF CHR VILLAGE PLAZA

PRIZES TOTALING OVER $7,50000

- -Also register to win other prizes
- -Drawings to be held Tuesday, December 22, 1987
- -Must be 18 years of age
- -No purchase necessary -Need not be present to win
- -Coupons not to be duplicated

ALCO 3007 Anderson Ave.

Register to Win: Personal size TV 5" B&W operates on battery or regular current $59.97 value

ADDRESS_____

PHONE _____

NAME ____

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

3015 Anderson Ave.

ARBUTHNOTS Hatemark 9 piece Bisque Nativity Set By Precious Moments $90 value

ADDRESS

PHONE

Christmas Store Hours M F 10-8, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 1-5

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

THE BOOK SHOP

3047 Anderson Ave. Register to Win: $50 Gift Certificate

(In Stock Merchandise Only)

PHONE

ADDRESS

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

CITIZENS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

Register to Win:

Register to Win: $50 Savings Bond

NAME

ADDRESS____

3049 Anderson Ave.

PHONE ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

Anderson Ave.

ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

FirstBank First havings flank [\ R

Register to Win: $50 Savings Bond

3005 Anderson Ave. NAME ____

ADDRESS_____

PHONE ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

Hardees 3116 Anderson Ave.

Register to Win: Set of 5 Stuffed Characters Stuffed Toys

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

ADDRESS____

Heirloom Portraits 3031 Anderson Ave.

8x10 Portrait (When you pay $24.95 Regular Portrait Sitting)

NAME ADDRESS

PHONE ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

945 N. Seth Child Rd. Behind Alco

Register to Win: 8' Stuffed Christmas Stocking

NAME ____

PHONE

ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

MIDWEST COMPUTERS 3035 Anderson Ave.

Register to Win: $50 Worth of Software

NAME _____ ADDRESS

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

NAME

3 Free Movie Rentals

Register to Win:

ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

Register to Win:

NAME ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

WIN A BUDDY BEAR-A-TUNE

daily drawings

$25 value

Register to Win: $50 Gift Certificate

3035 Anderson Ave.

NAME

ADDRESS

PHONE ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

The Satellite Center Register to Win: 941 Seth Childs Behind Alco

NAME ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

VALENTINO'S RESTURANTE Register to Win: 3019 Anderson Ave. 537-4350

One Dinner for 2, Per* month for one year $240 value—$20 per month

NAME ____ ADDRESS

PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

1011 Seth Child Rd.

NAME ____

P Auto Wash 10 Free Car Washes $32.50 Value

ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

Register to Win: Win a party for you and 15 of your friends. Wendy's will provide 16 Big Classic Combo's to winner. Combo's consist of Big Classics, Medium Fries & Medium Soft Drink.

3006 Anderson NAME

ADDRESS PHONE

ONLY VALID AT RESPECTIVE STORE

Women travel to take on WSU

By Daran Neuschafer Sports Writer

So much for home court advantage. For the first time this season, the K-State Lady Cats will venture out of the friendly confines of Ahearn Field House and hit the road as they travel to Wichita tonight to take on cross-state rival The Wichita State University. Game time is set for 7 in Henry Levitt Arena.

K-State, who will be taking a 3-1 record into the contest, has played all of its games so far at home. But head coach Matilda Mossman thinks her team needs to and is ready to hit the road.

"We are looking forward to taking our team on the road," Mossman said. "We need to get the kids used to playing on the road just for experience

Mossman wants to get the Lady Cats used to playing on the road so when the Big Eight Conference portion of their schedule rolls around, the jitters that come with being inexperienced will not be there.

"It is very important to get used to playing on the road, because in conference play it usually comes down to who wins on the road," Mossman said.

K-State, which begins an important four-game road trip tonight, will be taking on a Shocker team which is 0-3. But unlike the Lady Cats, Wichita State has played all of its games thus far on the road, including a 63-36 loss to the University of Kansas last Wednesday.

Mossman, however, is not overlooking the Shockers.

"They are 0-3 right now, but they have been playing on the road," Mossman said. "I'm sure they will really be ready for us, and will be a lot different team playing at home."

Wichita State is led by forward Crystal Westfield who is averaging 16 points per game. Westfield, who is one of three returning Shocker starters, averaged over 17 points per contest last year. Lori Findahl is scoring 12.8 points per game from the other forward spot.

The Shockers were dealt a significant blow last week when they lost their 6-foot-1 center Dawna Weber. Weber is sidelined indefinitely with a fractured cheekbone.

K-State goes with a younger but more balanced attack as the Lady Cats have four players averaging in double figures.

> Probable Starters K-STATE

> > Ht. Yr. PPG

5-11 Fr. 12.5

E.	Janet Madsen	5.3	50.	11.5
C	Stacey Boyle	6-1	Jr.	11.5
G	Amy Davidson	5-9	So.	11
G	Elyse Funk	5-5	So.	8.5
	WICHITA	STA	TE
F	Crystal Westfield			16
F	Lori Findahl	5-11	So.	12.8
C	Kellie Parish	6-2	Sr.	2
G	Tawnya Lane	5-9	Fr.	6.3
G	Trena Jones	5-5	Jr.	5

F Diana Miller

Drug testing ruling won't resolve issue

Tom on Tuesday

TOM MORRIS Sports Writer

Talk-show host Phil Donahue would have a ball with this subject: the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Couldn't you see Donahue? He would probably pull a hamstring running around fielding questions if the audience consisted of coaches and athletic directors.

The latest NCAA faux pas is the agreement reached with Stanford University that would sharply limit drug tests on the school's athletes. A court order, which will be issued in a few days by Judge Conrad L. Rushing of the Santa Clara County Superior Court, will restrict testing to Stanford football players and men's basketball players and will limit the number of drugs for which they may

The tests may be conducted only at championship events. The order also requires that the athletes not be observed in the act of giving a urine

The ruling is a result of a suit brought by two Stanford athletes objecting to the NCAA's policy of testing athletes at championship events. In the ruling, the judge found fault with the NCAA's list of 3,000

When I began work on a series last semester on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics, I was amazed — to say the least - at some of the drugs that were termed "performance enhancers" by the NCAA. Midol, over-the-counter cold medicines and diuretics are just a few examples.

Because of the NCAA's overly enthusiastic attitude toward curbing drug use in college athletics following the cocaine-related death of University of Maryland basketball star Len Bias, Judge Rushing has set a precedent in the Stanford case that is sure to be cited in future cases against street drugs.

Attorney Robert Van Nest, who represented the Stanford athletes, said, "It's not what the NCAA wants, it's not what (the students) want. It's what the judge is going to order."

It's time to draw the line somewhere. Testing for 3,000 drugs is preposterous, but eliminating marijuana and other street drugs from testing and just limiting the tests to athletes

In this case, it wouldn't hurt - for once - for the NCAA and its member universities to sit down and work drugs and related substances as being "overboard."

Under the ruling, the NCAA may test only for cocaine and those anabolic steroids and amphetamines included in the NCAA list - a total of about 15 specific substances. Excluded are marijuana and other in two sports is just as ridiculous.

out a compromise.

Cats to face tough SMSU

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

Pittsburgh, Marquette, Brigham Young, Cleveland State, Arkansas-Little Rock, Arkansas and Clemson. No, it's not a college basketball hall of fame, but a list of teams that Southwest Missouri State University has defeated in the past two seasons while earning NIT and NCAA berths, respectively.

K-State Coach Lon Kruger knows his squad will face a legitimate giant killer tonight in SMSU at 7:30 in Ahearn Field House.

"I'm very impressed with their quickness and toughness. We'll probably not be able to run against them. I expect them to come in really prepared," Kruger said. In their best campaign ever last season, Charlie Spoonhour's Bears went 28-6 and took the University of Kansas to the brink before losing 67-63 in the second round of the NCAA Southeast Regional in Atlanta.

This season, SMSU is off to a 3-2 start with losses coming to No. 28 Southern Methodist, 69-58, and unranked Arkansas 53-47 Saturday in Fayetteville, Ark., after shooting 25 percent from the field in the first half and scoring only once on its first eight possessions.

Spoonhour, in his fifth season at SMSU, knows he has a tough task

"We've got to keep them from getting a lot of cheap baskets off their break and we can't let them get the ball in the lane," Spoonhour said.

But keeping the ball out of the lane means stopping Mitch Richmond, who Creighton Coach Tony Barone said, "is a legitimate All-American player."

Richmond scored 31 against the Blue Jays in the Wildcats' 88-78 win and was the key player down the stretch when the Blue Jays climbed back from a 20-point deficit to tie K-State 66-66 with 7:58 left.

"(Richmond's) stronger than our quickest player and quicker than our strongest player," Spoonhour said.

Who will get the task of stopping the 6-foot-5 forward who averages 23.6 points per game? "(Senior forward Stan) Worthy and a cast of thousands. One person can't guard Richmond. He's all over the floor."

Added assistant coach Randy Stange, a graduate assistant last season under Kruger and a former SMSU starter: "Mitch Richmond is the best player we will see so far this year. We will have to contain him to win the ball game."

Junior center Kelby Stuckey and Worthy are the two returning starters from last year's club. Together they combined for 16 points and 10 rebounds per game. Junior college products Keith Jackson and Doug Lewis take over the guard spots. Jackson and his Southern Idaho won will try to further the 'Cats' winning ways tonight against Central Missouri State University.

the national junior college tournament last season, defeating Lewis' Mesa (Ariz.) team in the semifinals to do it.

Senior forward Clay Holt is the other starter.

Another Kansas connection on the SMSU roster is guard-forward Chris Stange. The 6-5 sophomore from Nickerson (Randy Stange's younger brother) is one of the reserves Spoonhour has tabbed to be more productive coming off the bench.

"I've been trying to learn from my mistakes. I have to just be more alert offensively and defensively," Chris Stange said.

between the two schools...senior center Ron Meyer had a season-high 12 points against Creighton...sophomore guard Steve Henson had a season-high 14 points against the 'Jays...K-State scored season highs against Creighton in points per half (51), free throws made (22) and free throws attempted (34). The Wildcats' 67.6 percent-performance NOTES: This is the first meeting from the charity stripe was also a season low. Senior Mitch Richmond is shooting over 68 percent from the field and has canned 33 percent of his three-point attempts on the season.

Brown reclaims Heisman for Notre Dame

By The Associated Press NEW YORK - When the name of the 53rd Heisman Trophy winner was announced, Tim Brown cried and Don McPherson was relieved.

Brown, the versatile flanker and punt returner, became the seventh player from Notre Dame to receive college football's highest award, but the first in 23 years. And he won it big, outdistancing McPherson, who quarterbacked Syracuse to an unbeaten season and into the Sugar Bowl, 1,442 points to 831.

Brown became only the second flanker-kick returner to win the Heisman. Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers was the other, in 1972.

The Notre Dame star finished first in the voting in five of the six sections: Mid-Atlantic, South, Southwest, Midwest and Far West. In the Northeast, he was second to

Brown had 320 first-place votes, nearly double the 167 garnered by McPherson. Every player in the Top Ten got at least two first-place votes. Only the 10 highest vote-getters were named by the Downtown Athletic Brown had been favored all year to capture the Heisman, but his candidacy appeared to sag when he dropped three passes in Notre Dame's 24-0 loss to Miami in the final regular-season game.

McPherson finished the season with outstanding performances against Boston College and West Virginia. But it wasn't enough to gain him enough votes.

This season, Brown scored seven touchdowns, including two against Michigan State in a record-tying performance. He scored on consecutive punt returns, the first for 66 yards, the second 71.

shape

NFL playoff picture begins to Contrast that to the NFC, where tie them in Miami Monday night.

By The Associated Press

The case of mediocrity that has afflicted the AFC East has spread to the rest of the conferences.

While the NFC playoff teams are just about set - "We're 0-0 with six games to go and starting again," safety Dave Duerson of Chicago said after the Bears clinched the NFC Central Sunday night with a 30-24 win over Minnesota — the AFC is in a muddle. The way things are going, it might be best to scrap the season and call next Monday night's game - 10-2 Chicago at 10-2 San Francisco - this year's Super Bowl. With Pittsburgh's 13-9 upset of Seattle Sunday and Indianapolis' 9-7 win over Cleveland, no fewer than 11 of the AFC's 14 teams have excellent shots at the five AFC playoff berths with three games left. Only two teams, Cincinnati and Kansas City, have records worse than 5-7. Things are so bad that San Diego, whose 33-18 loss to Houston Sunday was its third straight, still has the second best record in the conference at 8-4, a half-game behind the 8-3-1 Denver Broncos in the AFC West.

In fact, the operative record is 7-5 - three of the four teams in the AFC Central have that record, so does Seattle and a fifth team, the New York Jets, could reach that mark by beating Miami Monday night.

Washington clinched the East on Sunday and Chicago clinched the Central. San Francisco and New Orleans have also clinched playoff berths and Minnesota is close. New Orleans' sixth straight win, a 44-34 verdict over Tampa Bay in which Vinny Testaverde threw for 369 yards in his first start, clinched at least a wild-card spot, its first playoff berth of any kind in its 21 seasons in the NFL.

Here is the way the playoff picture looks entering the final three weeks:

In the AFC East, suddenly Indianapolis sits all alone atop the division at 7-5 following its 9-7 upset of

This, of course, is the division in which all five teams were tied at 4-4 and again at 5-5.

The Colts play host to Buffalo, which dropped to 6-6 by losing to the Los Angeles Raiders 34-21, in a key game next Sunday. If those two eventually tie, the title could go to the Colts, who beat the Bills during the strike and have the better division record. Indianapolis also has a tiebreaker edge over the Jets by virtue of its two victories over New York.

In the AFC Central, Cleveland's unexpected loss to Indianapolis left the Browns tied at 7-5 with the Pittsburgh Steelers, who upset Seattle Cleveland, with the Jets in position to 13-9 and Houston, which beat San Diego 33-18. Houston has a slight edge in the tiebreakers because its conference record is one game better than the other two, but the division may be decided by Cleveland's game at Pittsburgh on the season's final Saturday.

In the AFC West, Denver not only took over first place in the division by scoring 28 points in the second half to beat New England 31-20, but now has the conference's best record.

But the Broncos must play in Seattle's Kingdome next week against the Seahawks, who now seem in one of the slides like the kind that killed them last year but are highly dangerous at home.

AP Top 20

By The Collegian Staff

K-State received three votes and ranks 41st in the latest Associated Press men's basketball poll.

The Top Twenty teams in the Associated Press college basketball poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, records through Dec. 6 and last week's

1. Kentucky (46) 3-1 1090 Pittsburgh (4) 2-0 928 Iowa (2) 6-0 902 Arizona (2) 5-0 852 North Carolina 4-1 833 Indiana 760 3-0 674 Wyoming 10 4-2 670 Syracuse Missouri (1) 2-0 656 565 10. Duke 3-0 13 564 11. Temple 3-0 12 12. Florida 4-1 483 13. Purdue 4-1 479 14. Georgetown 411 15. Michigan 4-1 367 15 16. Oklahoma 3-0 301 18 17. Nev.-Las Vegas 3-0 189 19 18. Kansas 4-2 186 16 19. Notre Dame 1-1 136 20. Memphis St. 2-0 92

Others receiving votes: Vanderbilt 69; Louisville 48; Bradley 40; Iowa State 37; Seton Hall 31; Georgia Tech 26; Illinois 22; Southern Methodist 22; DePaul 19; Brigham Young 17; Aubum 12; New Orleans 11; Southern Mississippi 8; Georgia 6; New Mexico 6; North Carolina State 6; Pepperdine 5; UCLA 5; La Salle 4; Cleveland State 3; K-State 3; Villanova 3; Louisiana State 2: South Carolina 2: We Virginia 2; Alabama 1; Loyola, Calif. 1; Marshall 1; Texas-El Paso 1.

Waste site to be decided Commission to devise formula today

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A regional compact for the disposal of low-level radioactive waste will make two big decisions today: how to decide which state will have a regional disposal site and whether to approve a contract with the company hired to build the site.

The Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact faces a congressionally set deadline of Jan. 1 for deciding which of its five members will be the host state for a regional disposal site. The compact's commission will make the decision formally Dec. 15 in New Orleans.

However, at Tuesday's meeting, the compact's commission will put together a formula for making the selection, making the decision a matter of mathematics. It also will review a proposed contract with U.S. Ecology, of Louisville, Ky., which will develop the site.

"We're charting our direction for the immediate, but there are the longterm implications," said Jim Power, director of environment, who is Kansas' alternate delegate on the commission.

Under the proposed contract with to generate in the future. In fact, the

1stLT G. L. TROTNIC

December 19, 1987!

COLLEGE FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES

The United States Marine Corps is currently interviewing male students for the guaranteed flight programs. Applicants must have 20/20 vision, be an above-average student, and be in good physical shape. To qualify, applicants must take the flight aptitude test. This test will be offered January 12-14. The sign-up sheet, for this test, is in the Placement Office and will be posted from December 9th to the 15th.

Bring this ad to either of our new stylists and receive $10 off perms through

1125 Laramie, ground floor, Laramie Plaza

U.S. Ecology, officials have said, the company would be guaranteed an 8 percent profit for operating the disposal site, with its gross revenues expected to be $800 million over the next 30 years. Site construction is expected to cost between $40 million and $46 million, with U.S. Ecology taking out loans to pay most of the

"I would expect to see attempts made to modify it. Anything that talks about historic waste generation, we would have problems with."

-Jim Neal

The commission also will be faced with at least two proposals for determining how to choose a host state, one from U.S. Ecology and one from Kansas officials. The compact comprises Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Under Kansas' plan, the decision would depend heavily upon how much waste a state has generated in the past and how much it is expected two factors would account for 60 per- leged that their proposal would make cent of the formula.

(913) 841-1821

The plan is a more detailed version of a proposal Kansas officials submitted to the compact commission in September. The commission accepted the state's list of factors but not its weighting system. Kansas officials have defended the plan, saying it is fair to make the amount of waste a state will ship to a regional site the top factor in the decision.

"That's what we were striving for, a mathematical procedure," Power said of the proposal. "Once they crank the numbers out, we'll go to New Orleans."

Kansas officials have criticized U.S. Ecology's proposal because under it, the percentage of land that is suitable in a state for a disposal site would account for half of the formula. In earlier studies done for the compact, Kansas has had 75 percent of the generally suitable areas in the region.

Kansas officials have acknow-

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

Can't Believe It's

YOGURT

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

didate. However, Jim Neal, a spokesman for the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control, said he expects several more proposals to be presented at the meeting. "I would expect to see attempts

Nebraska the leading host-state can-made to modify it," Neal said. "Anything that talks about historic waste generation, we would have problems

Nebraska officials, including Gov. Kay Orr, have said they think the state has a "significant probability" of being named the host state. Orr has even proposed conditions for her state's acceptance of a disposal site.

However, Neal said that the state was only preparing for the possibility of becoming the host state.

Flight aptitude test to be administered

By The Collegian Staff

Sign-up for the Marine Corps flight aptitude test will be Dec. 9-15 in the Career Planning and Placement Center in Holtz Hall.

The actual test will be given Jan. 12-14 at the Marine Corps recruiting center, 1001 Seth Child's Road. It will be administered at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Jan. 12 and 13. It will also be given at 1 p.m. on Jan. 14.

The test takes about three hours and consists of multiple choice questions similar to those on the ACT or SAT, said 1st Lt. Gary Trotnic, recruiting officer for the Marines.

"There is room for six students at each time slot, making a capacity of 30 spots for the testing. But if from college," Trotnic said.

more students sign up, we'll try to accommodate them," Trotnic

Students taking the test have a success rate of 30 percent to 40 percent on the first try. Students who fail can try again in six months, Trotnic said.

"If an individual wants to study for the test to increase their chances of passing it, I do recommend they get of one of the books published by Arco titled Officer Candidate Test," Trotnic said.

"One of the things that is most interesting to students is that if they do go into this officer commissioning program, they are not obligated to become a Marine Corps officer when they graduate

By TV Data

THESDAY DECEMBER 8 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today,	CBS News This Morning	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00	"	"	,,	My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Sports	Little House on the Prairie
9:00	Hour Maga- zine	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	Horse Show Jumping:	Movie: "Christmas in
10:00	Januard I	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Bodywatch	Love Boat	President's Basketball	Connecticut"
4 4:00	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Psychology Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
10:00	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	Tennis: Na- bisco Masters	Movie: "Mid- way"
4:00	Lives Another World	As the World Turns	One Life to Live	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Masterpiece Theatre: Nor-	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Final
0:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	thanger Abbey Mod. Maturity	Beaver Ghostbusters	"	Tom and Jerry
	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	AWA Wres- tling	Flintstones Flintstones
	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing: USAC Midg-	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook NBA Today	Alice Carol Burnet
6:00		News Lose or Draw	M*A*S*H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers College Bas-	SportsCenter College Bas-	Andy Griffith Sanford
		Houston Knights	Who's the Gr. Pains	Hill Street Blues	Nova "Riddle of the Joints"	ketball: Bos- ton College at	ketball: Con- necticut at Vil-	NBA Basket- ball: Sacra-
8:00		Jake and the Fatman	Barbara Wal- ters Special	Movie: "An American	ABC/Globe Debates "De-	Notre Dame H.'s Heroes	lanova College Bas-	mento Kings at Houston
	Crime Story	Law & Harry McGraw	Thirtysome- thing	Christmas Carol''	mocrats"	News INN News	ketball: W.V. at AlaBirm.	Rockets Movie: "Raid
10:00	News Best of Car-	News Cheers	News M'A'S'H	Barney Miller Wilton North	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	SportsCenter	on Rommel"
4 4:00	son Ent. Tonight	Hunter	B. Buddies Nightline	Report Dating Game	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "The	Ski World Cycling	Movie: "The Late Night with David Let-	"Cocaine and Blue Eyes"	700 Club	"Pride and the Passion"	Sign-Off	Towering In- ferno"	Racing Rodeo: Finals	Violent Men'

Christmas Gift Idea:

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

our large selections of hair, skin and nail accessories. Choose from 2 oz. sprays, shampoos, conditioners, soap bars, lipsticks, fingernail polish, earrings, makeup brushes, body sponges & lotions. Our stylists will help you make just the right selections. Haynes
Beauty Supply

WE WILL BE OPEN THE FOLLOWING HOURS DURING CHRISTMAS

Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

718½ N. Manhattan

Academic year (32	Please check one: Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40 Academic year (32 weeks), $35 One semester (16 weeks), $20 Summer session (8 weeks), $10
	Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out o: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, vianhattan, Kan. 66506.
Send to:
Otrack as District
Street or Box No.:
City:	State:	Zip:

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Zip:

___State:___

Street or Box No.:____

City:__

_Spring____Summer_ Fall

Amount Received $_____By:_____

Tree farm 'just a hobby, 'says grower

By Lori Lindstrom Staff Writer

'Tis the season to go out in search of the perfect Christmas tree. For Don Johnson, owner of the Pine Patch just south of Wamego, selling Christmas trees is "just a hobby."

"Sales have been good," Johnson said. "The snow got people in the mood for Christmas.

Johnson said he started his tree farm eight years ago after he purchased the trees from the K-State forestry department. He has been

'Search continues for perfect tree' selling Christmas trees out of his looking for the right height and the two-acre farm for almost three years, now that the trees have grown to a proper size. The price is $3.50 per foot, but no more than $20, he said. "Too many people are buying artificial trees," Johnson said, expressing a concern that prompted him to limit his price.

People walk through the Scotch and Austrian pines of Johnson's farm right fullness for a tree.

Johnson said he doesn't help people try to decide which tree to buy. "I just let 'em go - don't try to help at all." Usually the first tree people find is the one they want, Johnson said. Then they come back and try to find it later, which causes confusion for the buyers when they cannot find it "It's not where they think it is," he

The "early birds" visit Johnson's farm in November, pick out a tree, tag it and wait until they are ready to set it up before they have Johnson cut it down.

But, Johnson added, he did self and cut a tree for a customer Thanksgiving Day.

After a tree is cut, it needs "just a little water and a bit of Clorox," he said. The Clorox keeps the tree sap from dripping and closing the cut area, allowing the tree to draw up water, Johnson said. The trees from the Pine Patch are cut fresh, so they last longer than trees that have been cut and left standing for sale a month ahead of time, Johnson said.

"You can put them in the stand and leave them," he said. "They'll stay fresh for a month or longer."

Word of mouth is Johnson's best advertisment, he said, and he sees a lot of repeat customers.

Johnson even has customers from Fort Riley, where one woman claimed she had bought the "prettiest tree" from his farm, and her friends asked where she found it, he said.

Johnson said he does not sell his trees during the off-season, though the Australian pines can be used for landscaping.

Holiday season also time of stress

By Brenda Badostain Collegian Reporter

For most people, the holiday season is a time spent with family and friends, but for some the time is spent trying to cope with the holiday stress.

Many people feel stress during the holidays because they expect so many wonderful things to happen and sometimes they're disappointed, said Margaret Grayden, social worker in Lafene Student Health Center.

She said these expectations are especially high at Christmas because it's such a traditional, familyoriented holiday.

This is the time of the year when the entire family gets together, and students go home thinking how nice it will be to see everyone.

"However, things frequently don't work out the way one would like them to or one would anticipate," Grayden said.

People should be aware that things may not be as perfect as expected. When so many family members get together, problems are bound to occur with parents or siblings, she

"At this time of the year...we're all supposed to be very happy. So when friction comes up, it seems terrible,"

Grayden said many students are under a lot of stress when they go home from college.

"Students come home feeling lots of different ways," she said. "They can feel really great because they feel like they've aced their finals, or they can be in the pits because they're not sure that they passed."

Many times the parents are so busy preparing for the holidays they don't have time to listen to the students, Grayden said. And parents sometimes think their children don't have any problems, she said.

"On the part of families I think sometimes the expectation is, 'Oh, you're a happy college student. Here you are home for a vacation - why aren't you happy? It's Christmas. Be happy," Grayden said.

Money can also be a source of stress during the holiday season, she

"I think that planning is one of the best things you can do - and trying to stay within your budget," she said.

If you think people might be disappointed with your gifts, you should let them know ahead of time that money is tight, she said.

"You have to take the season in terms of what your income is - how much you have to spend," she said.

"I know a number of students plan way ahead with craft things - if you're into that sort of thing," Gray-

Parents are also under pressure because their children expect so much at Christmas, she said. They expect even more because of all the toys they see on television.

Popular adult gifts include board games

By The Collegian Staff

Christmas season is approaching rapidly and many adults have a hard time deciding what to buy for other adults. Toys such as board games, electronic vehicles, gag gifts, models and stuffed animals are still hot gift items to buy adults.

Some of the most popular board games being purchased are: Pictionary; Scruples; Win, Lose or Draw and Pente, according to Master Gamer in Aggieville. "Board games are very popular Christmas season.

among adults," said Ron Crawford and Minida Dowdy of Master Gamer.

'Gag gifts such as Dr. Ruth's Good Sex, Pass Out and Getcha are popular this year with adult customers," Crawford said.

Dowdy said chess sets, books, calendars and scientific books are a big seller this year as well. Elaine Sachdeva, of Manhattan Hobbies and Toys, said a lot of war games, board games, model planes, trains and radio-control vehicles are sold during the BEAR ESSENTIALS FOR CHRISTMAS!

Bears, Bears & more Teddy Bears are eagerly waiting for Santa and especially you!

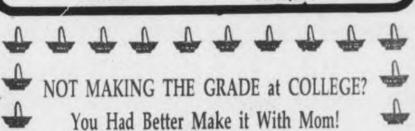

> COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

> > 2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. 539-3854

FREE Bear Ornament With Each Bear Purchase over *10
Offer expires 12/15/87

Open Mon.-Set. 10-5:30 Thursday 10-8:30 Sundays 1-5

Buy her a special BASKET WORKS basket for Christmas and enjoy your Christmas break peacefully.

In Manhattan Town Center

B.A.S.K.E.T to place your order. WORKS

Do You Fit The Functions Profile??

YES NO

You are a man who loves to cook or a woman who does not?

Your idea of a match set applies to tennis not dining room furniture?

You feel it is possible to grow old gracefully but you would just as soon fight It?

Your idea of "drop dead" fashion is your favorite pair of jeans with anything?

Your idea of nutrition is a bag of chocolate chip cookies?

Fill out the above and bring in to Functions and get a free holiday cookie cutter

unctions

Thristmas Golf Sale!! Entire Inventory 10-50% OFF

· Golf Clubs IMEN'S & LADIES!

 Shoes Rainsuits

Sweaters

Windbreaker Jackets

Golf socks

Putters & Wedges

· Golf bags Golf gloves

Wood Headcovers

Umbrellas

Golf Shirts

Pull Carts by Titleist Retail *80 Sale *5895 STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB PRO SHOP 539-1041

GOLF BALLS RETAIL $2400 SALE $1795
Titleist, Pinnacle, TopFlite, Ultra, Hogan

GIFT CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE

LESSONS FOR SPRING VISA

Good Thru
Dec. 31, 1987 1 Mile East of Manhattan Airport on K-18 8am-6pm Seven Days A Week

The COLLEGIAN AD STAFF WISHES YOU ALL A MERRY CHRISTMAS

CLOSED

ALL DAY TUESDAY, DEC. 8 TO PREPARE FOR OUR CLEARANCE

SHOE SALE

TAYLOR'S SHOES

1118 Moro-Next to Brother's DIJCOVER

Put A Smile on Someone's Face and Warmth to Their Hands This Christmas Season. Help decorate

the Christmas tree located in Ithe lobby of Lafene Health Center by adding a new pair of mittens. Proceeds go to > Crisis Center Head Start Manhattan Shelter (all mitten sizes needed.) Sponsored by:

LAFENE Health Center

Holiday stories vary around globe

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter

When Americans think of Christmas, visions of Santa Claus, decorated trees and gifts come to mind. But people from other parts of the world associate different images with Christmas.

All over the world this holiday is celebrated in various ways, under such names as Kerst-Misse in Holland, Noel in France, Il Natale in Italy and Weihnachten in Germany. Although traditions may vary, the Christmas spirit is alive the world

Everywhere we find a bringer of gifts - such as Father Christmas, the American Santa Claus, the Christ and one even urinates on the win-Child of Germany, the old woman Befana (Epiphany) who travels down from the mountains riding in

By Nancy Hill

Collegian Reporter

it's like to live in the University President's house - with Justin Hall as your closest neighbor and a daily procession of K-State students as scenery. There are those, though, that

Some people may wonder what

Iceland boasts of 13 Santas abroad on the eve of the sixth of the back of a truck and yelling and January in Italy, and the Three Kings in Spain.

Iceland has not one Santa Claus but 13, who come down from the mountains. These 13 Santas have an ugly mother with a big nose and an old, stupid father, said Asbjorn Torfason, sophomore in electrical engineering, of Iceland.

Each Santa brings gifts to the homes. While they are visiting, they slam doors and blow out candles. One of the Santas steals sausages. The remaining 12 Santas eat yogurt, dows outside. The Santas come carousing, Torfason said.

Icelanders decorate a tree about a week before Christmas. The children leave their socks or slippers on window ledges to be filled with candy or small presents.

"We go to church on Christmas Eve around six and then come home and eat our Christmas dinner and open our presents," Torfason said. Lamb or a small fowl (like a pheasant) is usually eaten at the Christmas

In Switzerland the gift-bringer is called the Christkindl or Christ

In Holland — a country with a seafaring tradition — the saint arrives by ship from Spain because of the Spanish occupation of the Netherlands.

In Amsterdam, Santa arrives from the sea dressed in robes and accompanied by his servant Black Peter, who is dressed in a puffed and plumed costume of the Spanish Armada days. Santa arrives to the music of brass bands, mounts a white horse and is welcomed by the queen at her palace.

In many households, parents and friends dress up as the saint and his servant to make individual appearances. Santa impresses the younger children by already knowing all about their behavior.

Along with the festivities there is an exchanging of larger presents. These presents are often disguised by several wrappings with a different name on them, or parents have the gifts delivered by a servant or passerby. Parents try any device to make the gifts more surprising.

In Spain, Christmas Eve is a day of devotion, with a long feast after the midnight Mass. Christmas Day is spent sleeping and eating. The giving of presents must wait for the Three Kings who are to pass by every house in Spain on the eve of the Epiphany, which is Jan. 6.

Children put out shoes on the balcony or windowsill and fill them with straw or barley for the tired camels of the Three Kings. The kings respond by leaving gifts.

anyone else'

Santa arrives in Union

By The Collegian Staff

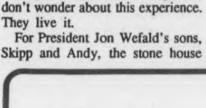

Santa Claus has arrived at the Union in the form of some familiar faces.

At a cost of $1, students can have a Polaroid picture taken with their favorite Santa Claus, said Mike Penner, program adviser of the Union Program Council's Special Events Committee. The event is sponsored by UPC.

Santa of the Hour at 11 a.m. today is Willie the Wildcat. Carole Rood, clerk typist and "check-cashing lady" at the Union is Santa at 12 a.m. On Wednesday at 11 a.m., Santa is Matilda Mossman, women's basketball coach. At noon Santa of the Hour is Troy Lubbers, student body president, and at 1 p.m. Kent Bradley, former student body president, plays Santa.

Santas were chosen on the basis of their visibility, Penner

"We just thought of people who were highly visible on campus," he said.

located off Lover's Lane is simply home-sweet-home, and President Wefald is Dad.

Skip, Andy Wefald:

Skipp and Andy both said life in the president's house is as normal as in anybody else's home with only a few exceptions.

"It's a little different because there are no neighbors, but I grew up in the country and we only had a few neighbors there," Skipp said.

Andy also said his home was not much different from others' homes. can't drive as fast on campus streets as city streets," Andy said.

Skipp said even with all the entertaining the Wefald's do, there are plenty of places to "get away" in the

"It's very busy here, we have parties all the time," Skipp said. "But no one ever goes upstairs except the family — and it's a big house."

Skipp and Andy said that being the president's sons has offered them

"The biggest difference is you many new opportunities and benefits.

"You get to meet a lot of important people and learn quite a bit," Skipp

When the family moved to Manhattan, it was the first time that either of the boys had been in the state of

"I thought Kansas was going to be flat and barren," Skipp said. "It was a lot bigger deal than I thought it would

"People kept telling me that I was going to the wrong school, that the 'other one' had the good basketball team," Andy said.

According to Skipp and Andy, it wasn't hard to adjust to the move once school began. Skipp is currently a senior and Andy a sophomore at Manhattan High School.

"I like MHS a lot. It's the best school I've gone to so far," Skipp

See SONS, Page 20

Monday-Thursday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. with this coupon—expires Dec. 18, 1987

> 776-4794 512 Poyntz Ave.

APPAREL, ACCESSORIES, INTERIOR DESIGN SPELLbinders inc. 3230 Kimball, Candlewood Center 539-7657

Before Taking Your Holiday Trip Have Your Car Serviced

Wayne's Quik Lube

Services that Wayne offers:

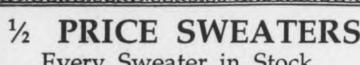

- 1. Oil Change, Lube (with 12 point check list)
- 2. Radiator Flushes
- 3. Transmission Fluid & Filter Change
- 4. Brakes
- 5. Hoses & Belts Replaced

And All Other Minor Mechanical Work

2304 Sky-Vue Lane 539 • 5431

Every Sweater in Stock Is Now 1/2 OFF of its original price

Sale runs Wed., Dec. 9-Sun., Dec. 13

SHOP NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

M-F 10-8 Sat. 10-6 Sun. 1-5

♠ 10.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠ 30.0 ♠

Christmas At Westloop

FREE GIFT WRAPPING Front door parking Personal service

1129 Westloop 539-2921 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30 Wed.-Thur. 9-8

SWEATER SALE

European Rabbit Jackets

Gloria Vanderbilt, Catalina, Luci

Unique Gift Items European Rabbit Fur Vests $125.00

$295.00 One Of A Kind Jewelry Pieces From India

Consider a Gift Certificate to pamper that special someone 1140 Westloop

537-9825

FUDENT LOANS

Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at: 537-4400

We want to make

your student loan!

Have the professionals at

Lender Code #821176

1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

KANSAS STATE BANK

KANSAS STATE BANK

The perfect gifta Hunam's Gift Certificate for any amount-available at both locations

FREE DELIVERY 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

1304 Westloop

539-0888

IF YOU ARE SERIOUS ABOUT EATING OUT, CHECK THIS OUT.

Item To Check	Mr. Steak Other	Item To Check	Mr. Steak / Other
High Quality Food	V ?	Family Dining	1
USDA Choice Stea	ks 🗸 ?	Casual Dining	1
Low Prices	V ?	Full Service	W ?
Childrens Menu		Menu Selection	· ?
Salad Bar	V ?	Best Place To Eat	V ?

Can you truthfully check the others with the same positive check that you check Mr. Steak?

DECEMBER SPECIALS You Don't Want To Miss

5.99 USDA Choice Top Sirloin . . . *4.99 Shrimp 21 For Only Every Tuesday Buy One Kebob

Steal

1305 Westloop Manhattan

Ben Franklin

"Better Quality For Less"

Ben Franklin Crafts is your headquarters for all your holiday gift giving and home decorating craft projects.

Materials for Tree Ornaments

Holiday Polysilk Flowers

Polysilk Evergreen Garlands

Christmas Needlework Kits

Beads, Felt, Chenolle Stems, Pom Poms A Christmas Wood Shapes

POSTERS PRINTS CUSTOM FRAMING FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS GIFT CERTIFICATES

Add the ingredient money can't buy . . . handcrafted with love!

Westloop Shopping Center Manhattan

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-7 p.m., Sun. 1-6 p.m.

30% off

Men's Rugby Shirts

30% off

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL

thru 12-12-87

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "FUN" Place to Shop!!

WE HAVE ALL YOUR HOLIDAY NEEDS

Christmas Bags, Boxes and Gift Wrap Christmas Paper Plates and Napkins Christmas Ornaments-The most unique selection in Manhattan.

Candles and Candle Rings—The largest selection in town. Stocking Stuffers-Fantastic selection for children of all ages. Coffee Beans-30 delicious flavors. Handmade Chocolate Truffles

Crabtree & Evelyn-Bath, Scent and Food products Hundreds of Gift ideas-In the $5-$100 range

Kitchens Plus Will Not Be Undersold!!

It is our policy to match or beat all prices from catalog, department stores, and local competitors. Ask us for details.

FREE LOTTERY TICKET With a purchase of $25 or more-Valid on Reg. Priced merchandise only Expires 12/8/87	Boxed Christmas Cards 25% Off Expires 12/8/87	All Cushion Aire Bakeware 15% Off Expires 12/8/87	Rosette Irons 20% off Expires 12/8/87
COUPON Liqueur Cakes	Coupon Candles and Candle Rings	COUPON Christmas Bags, Boxes & Tins 20% off	COUPON From the Croissant Cafe FREE CUP of homemade soup with the purchase of an
20% off Expires 12/8/87	15% off Expires 12/8/87	Expires 12/8/87	entree croissant and beverage Expires 12/8/87

OPEN EVENINGS AND SUNDAYS, TOO 1110 Westloop Shopping Center 537-4046

Course offers enrichment

Students get involved in U-LearN

By Jill Conger Collegian Reporter

Learning to understand yourself through personal enrichment and helping others through direction guidance - these are the goals of a student peer paraprofessional.

Guidance for Peer Profession is a class which offers students a chance to get firsthand experience in the role of a student paraprofessional.

"Students who enroll in this course learn basic helping skills and get the chance to get involved in U-LearN. The students learn to listen and then try to provide direction," said Susan Scott, associate dean of student life and faculty adviser for the University Learning Enhancement and Resource Network. "Students don't act as counselors, they just assist."

Students who enroll in the peer guidance course receive three credit hours. Scott said each student is required to attend class three hours a week and also spend three hours a week working at U-LearN, located in the basement of Holton Hall.

U-LearN provides the most direct means of accessing information, assistance and resources for students and faculty. Peer counseling is just one type of assistance provided through U-LearN.

Peer professional assistance at K-State provides information in five areas: career exploration, sexuality, wellness, study skills and general information.

Scott said students work in many of these areas during the time they are working at U-LearN.

For example, a student paraprofessional may aid another student who needs assistance in looking at careers. The training student peer paraprofessional sits down with the student, examines all their career options and tries to provide the best possible direction for that student to "Remember, the training paraprofessional is only providing assistance, not counseling," Scott said.

The peer guidance class is ideal for students who plan to work in the fields of social work, psychology, education, business and any area of communication. The course is designed to lead a person toward becoming an effective helper.

Deb Paap, co-director of U-LearN and a senior in fine arts, is a past student of the peer guidance class.

"This was a great course to take as a freshman. When I took the class it was really neat because I got to learn about so much," she said. "As we went through everything like the careers exploration, I was learning a lot about careers and also getting the chance to help other students learn at the same time."

Paap said the class taught her how to listen to someone and see where they were coming from. She said she had to learn how to provide direction and not give advice or try to solve the person's problem.

Paap recommends this course to students who are going into a field that deals with people because it teaches people to know themselves.

ClassAds

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised
FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Hand-icapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

Seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required, year round position. Minimum commitment two years requested.

Respond to: P.O. Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume, please.

weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

hattan. (62-75)

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island; Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or ski-ing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a red poinsettial On sale now at the K-State Union

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for a aingle adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shopping Center. (69-75)

LADIES! THE Dakota Men calendars are here. Good cause—great fun! 776-8548 evenings/weekends. Hurry! (72-75)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124. (50tf)

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call 537-1442. (65tf)

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75) ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apart ment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or 776-4246. (67-75)

NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75)

(Continued on page 19)

Survey shows Americans raising fat children

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - America's young children are fatter than their counterparts two decades ago, are not getting the right kinds of exercise and spend more time watching television than in physical activity, the federal government said Monday.

Those findings by the U.S. Public Health Service were based on a survey of 4,678 children aged 6 to 9 which examined they way they spend time in school, at home and community programs.

Similar findings were reported earlier for youngsters aged 10 to 17.

Based on replies from teachers and parents, the new survey found: ■ Nearly all early elementary school children take physical education, but only a third do so daily and the programs emphasize sports rather than health exercise habits.

Less than 40 percent of mothers and fathers exercise with their children in a typical week.

The study found that performance on fitness tests was closely linked with physical activity habits and that fatness was closely linked with parental participation in children's physical activities.

Leaner children tend to have parents who take time to exercise with them and who get regular exercise themselves, the survey found.

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues.-Sat. 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

Holiday Specials Perm Special $35 to $40 reg. $39-$49 25% off all Color Services

> 25% off Nail Services by Heidi our own nail care expert Expires 12/19/87 present this ad

776-5651 218 S. 4th

Holiday Season with these specials 20% off New Deco Color by Redken 20% off "Special Effects" Highlighting 20% off All Perms

(with this ad) Offer good thru month of December 613 N. Manhattan • 539-7621

Store. State Law does not allow us to Advertise Brands or Price. We have all Items Discounted Everyday in all Departments.

We have or will have every Brand of Imported Beer Available. We have 600 Sq. Foot Cooler for all your Cold Beer and Wines. Look for our fine Wine Room.

All Bourbon, Canadian Whiskey, Gin, Vodka on Sale. We can't give the Price but it is the Lowest!!

Drop by-and See our New Store. Now 4,000 Sq. Feet. We have the Largest Store and Largest Selections.

It takes a team of dedicated professionals, the proper facilities and high-tech equipment to make a really good hospital

Family Health Care— Think Of Memorial Hospital

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

· Respiratory Therapy

· Physical Therapy Obstetrics

Level II Intensive Care Nursery Birthing Room

Pediatrics

· Wee Care Center

· X-Ray Services Mammography

C.T. Scanning · Out-patient service

Surgery

· Day Stay Surgery

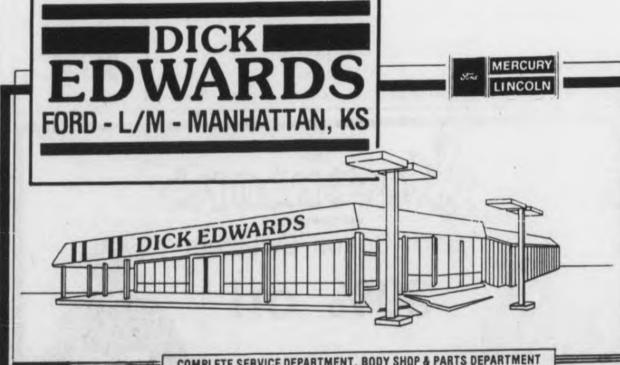

· Laser Surgery

Laboratory

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER 913-778-3300

Full Physician Coverage Weekends and Holidays

Sunset & Claflin Road Manhattan

COMPLETE SERVICE DEPARTMENT, BODY SHOP & PARTS DEPARTMENT

RENTAL AND LEASE AVAILABLE

COME & SEE OUR LARGE SELECTION OF

NEW & USED CARS & TRUCKS

776-4004

E. Hwy 24, Manhattan

"Working together for a healthier you"

23

(Continued from page 18) ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75) FOUR-BEDROOM apartment, $120/person, all utilities paid including basic cable T.V. 539-9173, evenings. (68-72) NICE TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Available

Jan. 1. $360. 539-4840. (68-72) SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Heat paid. $350. Call 776-4099. Early morning or late evening ok. (69-73)

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking, 776-8495, evenings, (69-75)

VERY CLEAN, spacious one-bedroom apartment $210/month. Call Kathy, days 532-5535, evenings 537-7293. (69-73)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $275/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 21. Trash and water paid. 539-1686. (69-73)

SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/month plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available ng spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30 p.m. (70-75)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, queen waterbed. Corner of Bluemont and Manhattan Avenues. Must rent! $175/month, negotiable, 539-8393. (71-75)

NO BUGS, clean, quiet, two bedroom, two blocks east of campus, Jan. 1, $225.776-1703. (71-75)

MALE RENTING room. Use of whole house and washer and dryer. $150/month and one-third utilities. 776-2286 evenings, Pete. (71-75) NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75) NICE. LARGE one-bedroom, suitable for two, fur-near University, $295. Call 776-5234, ask Don. (72-75) GIVE-AWAY PRICE for our furniture if you take over our lease (to March 31, renewable). $310 per onth, two-bedroom, dishwasher, air-cond ing, swimming pool. 537-3363. (72-75) ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. Take over lease. $200/month, split utilities, 1027 Kearney Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment, close to campus and Aggleville. $200. 537-0144 or 539-6108. (72-75)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions.

Lowest rates. 776-3624. LARGE TWO-bedroom furnished basement apartment, quiet area, central air, completely carpeted Call 539-0962 or 776-4008. (72-75)

TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment available Jan 1. Across from Ahearn. 776-7559. (72-75) FURNISHED APARTMENT-One-bedroom, street parking. 1941 College Heights. $260. Call collect 456-2090 after 6 p.m. 456-8297. (72-76)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03 FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 11/2 blocks from campus, Available now, 539-1498. (21tf)

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

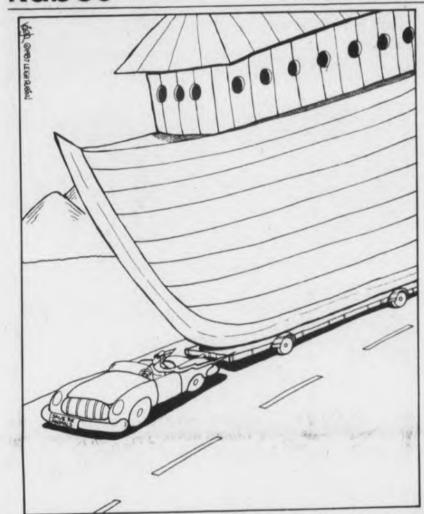

•24-hour emergency maintenance ·On-site laundry facilities •Two outdoor swimming pools ·Professional on-site mgt.

Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary Call Today 539-2951

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE

Rubes

By Leigh Rubin

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf)

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, la facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car-peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (611f)

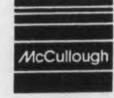

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-1465. (62-75)

ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75)

Second semester apartments in several convenient locations.

One & two bedrooms $240-$360.

Call soon for best selection.

McCullough Development 2700 Amherst 776-3804

GREAT THREE-bedroom house near campus. $650 per month (or $220 per bedroom). Available Jan. 1 Call 537-9441. (72-75)

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment in Westloop area $250. Available Dec. 20. 539-6308. (72-75)

MOORE MANAGEMENT has

one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in sev eral convenient locations. One and two bedroom $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75) CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles, 1615 Ander son, $315/month. Two bedrooms, unfurnished 539-2830. (69-73)

FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apart ment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75)

TWO BEDROOM — Two blocks east of campus. Available Jan. 1, $250/month. 539-2116 or 539-2892. (70-

BASEMENT APARTMENT available Jan. 1. One block west of campus, $175 month. Call Jim, 776-2373.

FREE RENTAL INFO TELE-FIND 539-2255

ONE BEDROOM large enough for two. One and onehalf blocks from campus. Unfurnished, laundry fa-cility. Call Chris after 5 p.m. at 539-7906 or Jim at 539-5091. $265. (71-75)

NICE UNFURNISHED basement apartment, north of Manhattan High School, one bedroom, central air washer hookup, separate entrance, backyard use, no pets, lease required, available December 20th. $250, includes utilities. Call 776-0782, 5-7 p.m. (72-

NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

DODGE OMNI 1979. Four cylinders, overhauled en e, (25,000 miles). Running great. Call 776-60 (68-72)

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

WHY ARE YOU TELLING

FOUR USED tires P215/75R15 SB radials with sixlug, Datsun truck wheels. 537-2423. (70-72)

1979 TOYOTA Celica GT, five-speed, new paint, air conditioning, great car. Must sell. 537-8944, Mur

1971 MALIBU, green, fair condition, runs great. Call Tommy 539-3769 or 539-9834 Rm. 301. (72-75)

EMPLOYMENT

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

NEW YORK! Live-in mother's helpers needed for ing families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area beginning in January.
Ideal opportunity for student looking to take some time off who loves kids. Contact Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, Connecticut, 06820, phone 203-656-0707. (67-72)

ENTHUSIASTIC PERSON needed for telephone man keting sales. Monday evenings 2-3 hours. Call 539 1662 between 9-12 for interview. (69-73)

DIRECTOR OF Music position. Starting Jan. 15. Con tact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-

BARTENDER, MONDAYS and Fridays and week ends. Simple well drinks and beer, 776-6862, ask for Forrest. (71-75)

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN. Part-time, variable hours, evenings and weekends; Must be available for year-round employment. Typing required. The St. Mary Hospital, 776-1981. (71-75)

SANDSTONE AMPHITEATER

Bonner Springs would like to use the Holiday Break to seek an enthusiastic college student to fill an administrative position during its 1988 summer concert season. Some clerical skills required and must be good with the public.

Opportunities also available for crowd control, stage hands, and production assistants.

For more information call:

(913) 287-1154

NEED HELP on computer program. Will pay, call immediately. 539-0199. (71-72) SPRING BREAK vacation sales. Earn top pay selling vacations to Florida. Guaranteed $15 commission persale. Must be organized, outgoing, and honest. Individuals or organizations call 1-800-338-0718. Florida Vacation Service. (71-77)

GIRLS OVER 21 to model lingerie. $10 an hour plus Please call 1-456-7050 for interview. (72-75)

THE VILLAGE Inn Family Restaurant is now hiring full and part-time employees. All positions are open! Come talk to us at 296 Tuttle Creek Blvd., located right behind Village Inn, or call us at 537-9716. We are taking applications Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Come join our family. (72-

BABYSITTER NEEDED for a three and two-year-old. Early evenings and weekends. Must have transpor-tation. Kim, 539-2407. (72-73)

CASSOCIATE TEACHER for Early Childhood Program; working with kindergarten and early school age children. Approximately 25-30 hours/week. urs in E.C.E. or El. Ed. required. Apply at Seven Dolors Child Care/Pre-School, 728 Colorado (8th and Colorado) by 12/16. EOE. (72-75)

FINANCIAL SERVICES

INVESTOR NEEDED: Recup $35,000 within seven years by tax savings. Half ownership small business. 913-456-7483, after 6 p.m. (69-73)

10

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

ties, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom du-plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) By David Krug and Steve Cooper AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-

blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston, $250 month

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor efficiency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055. Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) ATTRACTIVE OLDER home, large living room, dining area, basement, three bedrooms, plus nice fenced yard. $495. 1st December. 537-8555, 537-8065. (70-73) THREE-BEDROOM house, double garage. Available Jan. 1. $400/month. Call Jim, 776-2373. (71-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro-wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

LOST AND FOUND

SONY WALKMAN. Found in Union (student) parking lot Thursday, Dec. 3rd at 1 p.m. Was turned in to Lost and Found at Union. Identify by tape inside Walkman. (71-73) FOUND: GOLD watch near Waters Hall. Call 532-

3827 and describe. (72-74)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931. (32tf)

area

37 Fasten

41 Pallid

inf.

48 French

15

1 "Happy

song)

3 Columnist

Barrett

brother

4 Chang's

5 Sandal

strap

6 One type of hog

7 "A Room

of One's

8 Thirteen

9 Wicked

10 Mexican

11 Bread

morsel spread

box words

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. onday-Saturday, 9 a.m. 5 p.m. Open Sundays un til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

TANS TO GO 5/$1250

Cobblers Lane 776-7874 Aggieville

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bail and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Bivd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th We will also be buying seven days a week in West moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comi books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

QUEEN WATERBED. Nice headboard. Baffle mattress. Jensen car stereo, auto-reverse, separate treble/bass. 539-8399. (68-72)

418 Poyntz

JOHN MICHAEL TALBOT QUIET REFLECTIONS

Double length cassette 14.48 Now Only for the price of one! Sale ends Dec. 12, 1987 ROSS DEFERENCE

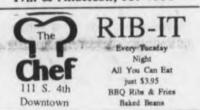

322 Poyntz 776-8071 TUESDAYS TNT COTTON 2 Tacos $1 99¢ Margaritas

4-7 p.m. FOUR VERY nice five-drawer metal desks. Come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. (69-73)

COMPACT DISCS; blank tapes; cassettes; movies never opened, unbeatable prices. Chris 539-1089, Jeff 776-4387. (71-74)

Study Rooms Available Beginning Dec. 7 (upon availability) 539-7531

33 SQUARE feet multi-colored carpet with pad. W sell sections, $2.00 square yard. 537-9326. (72-74)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS ROLAND JUNO-2 keyboard. Less than one year old, me and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m. 5:30 p.m. (69-73) NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case, $195. Call 776-3454, (69-77)

BLONDE IN pink ropers at Olson's Shoe Thursday— Interested in seeing the rest of your footwear—Tall black boots. (71-72)

LAURA: DON'T be blue, just remember that I'll still love you! Sandy. (72)

BRIAN H.: Happy Birthday to the most handsome stud anywherel Love you, Annette. (72) CHURCH GUY: And another thing-You're the one who brought up inner thighs and that left-um-thing M.J.-YOU made it, you're finally 21!! You're the greatest sis a girl could ask for. Happy Birthday, Lori. (72) PHI DELTA Psi Mike. Happy B-day HM. Maybe now that you are older you will stop passing out. Hang in there (like in the picture) with finals—you'll do great. Karin. (72) FEATHER/ABRAHAM—Two hyperkinetic campers; who have enjoyed many early mornings; seek company provided you're willing to ride in "My Twuck" and ravage City Park Friday. Please Respond. KEg, K². (72)

TO THE Goof: Thought you were mean, but found you were nice, you were a crip, so I made your ice. G.O.A.W.M. Happy three years. Love, Julie. (72)

ROGER-HAPPY belated second anniversary Sorry, I missed the deadline. Love, Mary (72)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

20 PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in

Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf) PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient

21 RENTALS TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and nonrtions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED

sage. 537-3166. (71-75)

(68-72)

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 oth plus share of utilities. No smokers, 776 1996. (55-75)

TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave mes-

WANTED FOR second semester. Available Dec. 1 nth, one-third utilities. Own room. 539-7915. (67-72)

FEMALE ROOMMATE, $100 per month plus one-third utilities own bedroom. Call 776-6880. (68-72) MALE OR female. Non-smoking. $120/month. Onefourth utilities, one block west of campus. Ow room, washer, dryer. Great roommates. 539-7709.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester. non-smoker. Own bedroom, near campus, near Ag gleville, $175 per month plus utilities. Apartment is furnished, microwave, color TV, VCR, available Dec. 17. 539-6498 or (316) 683-6446. (69-72)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed across from Ahearn. $140 and half utilities. Call Dawn at 537-4811. (69-MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished house. Own room, $120/month plus one-third utili ties. 537-1388. (70-74) ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment across from Old Stadium. $125 plus three-fifths

utilities. 776-3244. (70-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat quiet female for luxury townhouse. Pool, tennis, many extras $165, 537-7605, (70-74)

GRADUATE STUDENT seeks responsible, mature. non-smoking roommate, one-half block from cam-pus, $115/month, utilities included. Jeff. 776-1513.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted, three rooms available in spacious house four blocks south of cam-pus. $130 a month plus share of utilities. Call 537-9487 or 539-1820. (71-75) ROOMMATE WANTED for next semester. Clean quiet, non-smoker to share house with older st

Private bedroom. Call Scott or Greg. 776-1767. (71-73) NON-SMOKING FEMALE needed. Luxurious threebedroom apartment. Washer/dryer, it ireplace, dishwasher. Close to campus. Available

WE'RE ALMOST on campus, and Aggie ain't far. II you have a T.V. or a VCR, as a roommate we think you'd really be great. Call 776-8688. (71-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female

now! 539-5875. (71-74)

to share large house. $250/month plus one-half utilities. 776-9678 after 5 p.m. (72-75) STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate

wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (72-75) room, washer/dryer, 'til June 1, 776-7905 evenings. (72-74) NEED SPRING semester roommate, $135, own

MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share new, fur nished, three-bedroom apartment. Price n ble. Call 537-8296 afternoons and evenings. (72-75) ONE-TWO male roommates needed to share really nice apartment one-half block from campus. 776-3896. (72-74) FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, $110 month plus one-sixth utilities. Close to campus. Call 537-0316

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester. Share two bedroom apartment. Have own room. 537-3339. (72-75)

of campus. $125 a month. 776-4528. (72-75) SITUATION WANTED

17

ADOPTION IN California. Stanford University profes sor and wife. Happily married for many years. Anxious to adopt newborn infant. Personal meeting welcome. Lawful and proper pregnancy related expenses paid. Couple approved by California adop tion authorities in advance of placement. State su pervised adoption procedures. Please call collect Terri and Michael Fayer (415) 328-8723. (71-75) BELLY-DANCER wanted! Earn good money and have fun! For information call 532-2362, ADA in 313. (72-

26 SUBLEASE TAKE OVER my lease and bring three friends. $120/ person, all utilities paid, including basic cable TV Call Jeff 539-9173 evenings. (68-72)

TIRED OF living with nerds? Check out own room great location, great girls, beautiful house. Cheap! Must go. 312 N. 15th. 776-5957. (70-72) SUBLEASE VERY nice one bedroom duplex. Quiet location, three blocks to campus. Off-street park

January rent negotiable. $250/month. 776-

3432. (72-75)

day! (67-75)

SPRING BREAK LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so far! Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword ACROSS 35 Allotted 36 Exercise

1 Backvard swing. maybe 5 — for the 38 Tally show. 8 Apollo's mother

com-

13 TV's

14 Office

steer

18 Malay

21 Haul

23 Pay isthmus

struction

homage

Amelia

river

32 Actor

33 Uses

Mostel

mouth-

wash

42 Mr. Calloway 12 Greek 45 Go at an easy gait 46 Intelpetition lectual: "Hee - shape? 15 Texas friend 49 Work 17 French unit 50 Fictional resort

19 Canadian head end 16 Time unit prov. 20 Ice house 52 Thing 20 Witness in law 53 Tall 21 Paper 22 Recipe invertical money spar Solution time: 20 mins.

51 Hammer

26 Feminist 30 The Bard's 31 Boston's nickname

Yesterday's answer 12-8

22 Vestment 23 Old crone (1949 24 Eggs, to Cicero 25 Postal 2 Stravinsky Creed

> 26 Kramden's vehicle 27 Satisfied 28 Before 29 Taylor or Steiger

word?

34 Soap ingredient 35 Chinese dynasty 37 Feelings

31 Tailor's

concern

38 Verbal insult 39 Arrive 40 Role for young Ron Howard

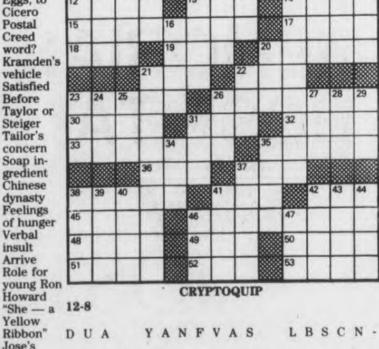

41 "She — a Yellow Ribbon 42 Jose's house

46 Irish sea god

28 32 43 CRYPTOQUIP 12-8

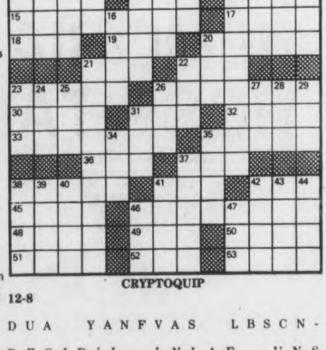

DUA YANFVAS

BQ QBBDVBDAJ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HOW TOUGH CAPTAIN DESCRIBED SHIPWRECK ON HIGH SEAS: "ALL HULL BROKE LOOSE."

UNS DFCJD'J LNLAF

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals P

43 River islands 44 Neighbor's kid?

47 Cheese's partner

Book much better than film version

By Becky Howard
Arts and Entertainment Editor

Some things are best when left to the imagination.

This is a view that was confirmed after seeing "Flowers in the Attic," a movie adaptation of a best-selling novel by V.C. Andrews.

It's always somewhat disturbing and disappointing to see a movie based on a book you have read. The screenwriter and director never seem to make a movie as good as the one which rolls across the screen in the mind.

Things are pictured differently—characters, settings, actions— and the movie hardly ever seems to generate the exact feeling the book conveyed.

Movie Review

This has been the case for several authors whose books have been made into movies: Stephen King, Peter Straub, S.E. Hinton and now V.C. Andrews. With one exception (the movie "In Cold Blood," a movie based on Truman Capote's book), I have never seen a movie which does a decent book any favor. Patrons anxiously attend these movies hoping to see the drama they had held in their imaginations, and they are let down, as the director and screenwriter had a totally different view, or were unconscious of what the book captured and unable to complete the product

Such is the case with "Flowers in the Attic." I first read the book in eighth grade, a haunting story of the greed which so consumes a mother that she locks her four children away

Sons

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

Both said although their last name automatically drew some attention from their peers and teachers, they were accepted just as easily as anyone else.

"When you first make friends, they think it's a big deal and a lot of people want to come over and see what it's like," Skipp said. "But once they get to know you, they see you're as normal as anyone else."

When asked about the changes their father's position brought upon their family, Skipp and Andy said their father is not around the house as much because of the many University and community activities he must

"He's smart and a good speaker," Skipp said. "I'm proud of him." 'Flowers' becomes laughable movie in an attic in order to receive an inheritance. V.C. Andrews is a fabulous storyteller, and her winding, somewhat gothic saga was so fascinating, I found myself reading the book over and over again — during vacations and on weekends. It seemed whenever I found nothing better to do, I would again pick up and re-read "Flowers in the Attic" — and I still do.

I always thought the book would make an excellent movie, simply because it was such a vivid, imaginative thriller. So when the movie came out, I was anxious to see just how the story would be portrayed — and, of course, I was disappointed.

The mistakes made in the movie begin with the screenplay. The movie was both written and directed by Jeffrey Bloom. For the movie to be believable, the screenwriter should not have attempted to write the screenplay as gothically as the book was written. On the screen, this made the story seem silly. A haunting voice of the lead character narrates the story we are supposed to believe, but the movie lacks the visual impact to carry it off. Reading the book, I found myself believing such a situation could happen, but the movie almost seems to make fun of the is the pacing, which is rushed, losing the impact of what the story was about. In the story, the four children are held prisoners in an attic for three years. During this time, they grow older and wiser, their attitudes toward their mother change, and they learn about life through a television set and dusty novels they collect in the attic. In the movie, this passage of time is never really explained, and the emotional impact of the children's captivity is somehow lost.

Another mistake in the screenplay

One has to consider the difficulty in condensing a book which spans four years into a two-hour movie. This made a story which, deeply moving in the book, seems trite and almost humorous in the movie.

The one aspect of the movie which works well is the casting. The characters in the movie look and act like those in the book. Victoria Tennant makes a hauntingly lovely, yet greedily disturbed mother. Louise Fletcher (Nurse Ratchid in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest") is excellent as the tight-lipped, Biblethrowing grandmother who takes pleasure in enforcing strict rules and holding an eagle-eye watch over the children.

The most hideous part of the movie is its ending, which is completely different from the book's close, where readers are left hungering for more. All I was left hungry for was more popcorn, as I found myself chuckling at what was a ridiculous and laughable ending, where the children, who, as miserable products of a mad makeup artist, come staggering out of the attic to confront their tormenters. What happens after this confrontation is even more laughable.

It has been rumored that V.C. Andrews died not too long ago. If so, this movie would certainly make her "roll over in her grave." If she's not dead, this movie could kill her.

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

And get up to $200 cash back on select Apple add-ons when you purchase a qualifying Apple system by January 2, 1988.

With cash-back this holiday season, there's no better time to take an Apple" personal computer home.

Simply purchase a qualifying Apple IIc, Apple IIcs™ or Macintosh™

Plus system. Buy select Apple add-ons—and get up to $200 cash back.

Choose the Apple add-ons that best fit your needs: the ImageWriter*II printer, the Apple Personal Modern, a second Apple Disk Drive, an Apple Hard Disk 20SC, or Apple Memory Expansion. Add more. Save more. Up to $200.

Which means you can take home a complete Apple system, right away.

All at a price that's easy to afford.

Connecting Point.

formerly Computer Patch

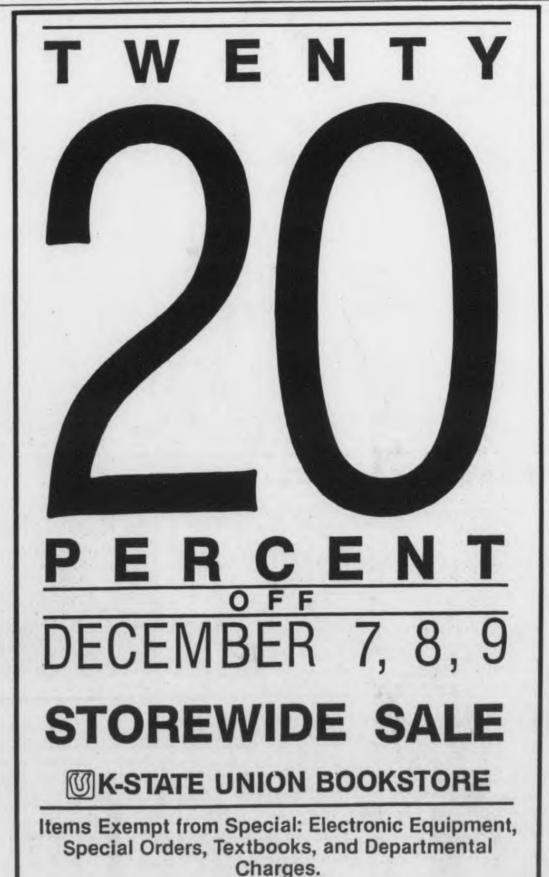

1115 Westloop * 539-0801

Gertain restrictions apply. See us for details. Offer subject to availability of product. Apple expressly reserves the right to substitute and delete add-on products.

AD 1987 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo and ImageWriter are registered trudemarks of Apple Computer, Inc. Apple Ilis and Macintush are trademarks of Apple Computer. Inc.

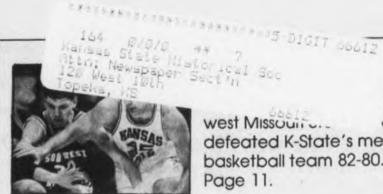

Gingerbread

Gingerbread men are not only a favorite during the holidays, they are also easy for children to make. See Page 7.

Weather

Partly sunny today, high 45 to 50. Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday, low mid-20s. High Thursday 45 to 50.

uthwest Missouri ... versity defeated K-State's men's basketball team 82-80. See Page 11.

Wednesday

December 9, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 73

Kansas State Collegian

Reagan, Gorbachev sign historic treaty

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev signed a treaty Tuesday banning intermediate-range nuclear missiles and began talks to curb more threatening long-range strategic weapons.

"We have made history," Reagan declared after he and Gorbachev spent more than three minutes putting their signatures - time and again - into leather-bound volumes containing the treaty and accompanying documents.

"We can be proud of planting this sapling which may one day grow into a great oak of peace," Gorbachev proclaimed.

"May December 8th, 1987, become a date that will be inscribed in the history books — a wives, Nancy Reagan and Raisa Gorbachev, date that will mark the watershed separating the era of a mounting risk of nuclear war from the era of a demilitarization of human life," the Soviet leader said.

Said Reagan: "We can only hope that this history-making agreement will not be an end in itself, but a beginning."

Reagan and Gorbachev sat side by side to sign the agreement under the chandeliers of the East Room. The 24-minute ceremony was broadcast live in America and the Soviet Union, as were separate remarks made by the two leaders moments later in the State Dining Room.

In the audience were the two leaders'

American and Soviet diplomats and arms control negotiators, and scores of members of Congress, including senators who will pass judgment on the treaty in deciding whether to Senate Democratic leaders say they expected the agreement will be approved, barring unforeseen difficulties, even though conservatives have been critical of the treaty.

As he has before, Reagan characterized the treaty with a few words of Russian, "Trust but verify." The audience broke into laughter when Gorbachev interrupted that, "You repeat that at every meeting."

As the laughter died down, Reagan said, "I

Yet, Gorbachev, in his remarks in the State Dining Room, underscored Soviet differences about Reagan's Star Wars missile defense plan.

"People want to live in a world in which they would not be haunted by the fear of nuclear catastrophe," the Soviet leader said. "People want to live in a world in which American and Soviet spacecraft would come together for dockings and joint voyages, not for Star Wars."

"People want to live in a world in which they would not have to spend millions of dollars a day on weapons which they could only use against themselves," Gorbachev said.

Highlighting another difference between the superpowers, Gorbachev said cuts in strategic weapons would be "subject to preserving the ABM treaty," the anti-ballistic missile pact whose interpretation is an issue of dispute between the administration and Congress. Aside from the treaty-signing, the two leaders held two rounds of private talks, beginning with one-on-one discussions that were expanded to include advisers.

Reagan escorted Gorbachev to the Oval Office at 10:48 a.m. EST and had him sign a guest book at his desk. At 11:35 a.m., the meeting was expanded to include Secretary

■ See SUMMIT, Page 14

Program benefits area youth

By Joni Manley Collegian Reporter

Big brothers and big sisters are not necessarily those who sit across from each other at the dinner table. For some area youths, a big brother or big sister is a person to spend some quality time with. The Manhattan area Big Brother, Big Sister program tries to do just that.

"It is a professional agency which provides a primary prevention service to kids," said Linda Inlow Teener, executive director for Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

To be a big brother or big sister, extensive interviews are required prior to being accepted into the program, she said. The applicants go through two extensive interviews. The first interview is conducted in the home so the board can see who the child will interact with.

Volunteers are not the only ones to be interviewed; the child is also interviewed, Teener said.

The children and their parents go through the same interview process, she said. They do this so they can get a feel for the children's surroundings and determine what the children's needs are.

Each volunteer and child must go through this process so they may be matched as closely as possible. "It's amazing how well they tend to match," Teener said. Once a match is made, the pair will set goals. From that point on, the match is monitored very closely, Teener said. From time to time during the first year, the pair is checked in the home or called into the office to discuss their progress and how well they are working together, she said. Children involved may need special attention, Teener said.

The child must be between the ages of 5 and 17 and be from the Manhattan or Ogden area. Volunteers must be 18 years and older to sign the one-year committment.

"Everyone gets something out of it in the end," Teener said, "It's a long-term relationship you develop and an emotional bond." Eleven-year-old Erin Stober, Manhattan, and Diane Clark, case work coordinator for Big Brothers and Big Sisters, have been together for about five months. Both Erin and Clark had participated in the program before they met. Stober had two other big sisters from the program before Clark, who had a little sister before as Stober joined the program when she was 5 and was encouraged by her older sister who once participated in the program.

"My roommates had little sisters," Clark said. "This is what got me interested in the program."

The activities they do together usually are not costly, Clark said. "We stay at home and do things."

Eleven-year-old Erin Stober, Manhattan, and her Big Sister Diane Clark have been matched for about five months. Big Brothers and Big Sisters serve as both friends and teachers for youth.

The best thing about the program is "you have someone else to talk too," Stober said. "The first time we met, I was nervous."

"You call each other on the phone and you spend time together. at least once a week," Clark said. "Erin and I get in the car and laugh. It doesn't matter what we're doing - we just enjoy being together. aspect of their relationship.

"For the first time I really felt like I was there for someone; I realize how good a friend she really is," Clark said. "I feel this is the biggest reward of the program. I can always count on Erin, and she's really the best friend I have," she said.

Clark's influence is what Stober believes is the most important

"I'm always telling my friends about her," Stober said. "We help keep each other keep organized and help each other remember."

"It's not the big sister's business to discipline," Clark said. "She can learn from my mistakes and make me watch my P's and Q's.

"I help teach her about life experiences."

Center's success remains question

Third of five parts

Editor's note: This is the third of a five-day series examining the Manhattan Town Center and what its development means for Manhattan and surrounding areas.

> By Deron Johnson Editor

Although a number of people expressed surprise when the Manhattan Town Center opened its doors in October, Catherine Shenoy's amazement was for a different reason than most others'.

Shenoy, who is currently a student at the University of Kansas working toward a doctorate in finance, did a study for KU's Institute for Public Policy and Business Research last February examining the expansion of retail facilities, including malls. Based on some of the data she collected for one survey, Shenoy said she was surprised Town Center was ever given the green light to develop.

"When I was looking at the numbers for Manhattan, I couldn't believe they were putting a mall there," she said. The "numbers" to which Shenoy refers measured the amount of money residents of various college areas — including Riley County - spend per capita.

According to Shenoy's information, which was based on 1982 shopper goods sales and 1983 per capita income, residents of Riley County spent nearly two times as much as other Kansans. The per capita amount spent in Riley County was $2,245 — second highest of the 10 cities in eight states that Shenoy surveyed. Conversely, Lawrence ranked last with $868 in per capita spending. The state average was $1,072.

Furthermore, Shenoy concluded, Riley County residents were spending nearly all of their money at home, and they spent particularly large amounts on things typically found in a mall - clothing, accessories and other department store-type merchandise.

"People in Manhattan are not driving (to other cities) to buy those things," she said.

While all of that appears on the surface to bode well for a new retail establishment, Shenoy said the high numbers in Riley County reflect negatively on the expansion that could be expected in the future.

"That could be an indication of how much market there is available for expansion," she said. "Looking at (those numbers), I wouldn't think Riley County could sell a whole lot more of those goods," she said.

In light of that, will Shenoy predict how successful the Town Center mall will be?

"No," she said with a quick laugh. 'But if you assume that Riley County is growing twice as fast as the rest of the state, then it should do pretty good."

■ See MALL, Page 5

Professor dismissed after AIDS diagnosis continues his fight

By Judy Lundstrom Special Projects Editor

Dennis Howard is getting discouraged.

But he's not giving up.

It's been nearly three months since he began putting together a discrimination case against K-State and the College of Veterinary Medicine, and in November, he hired a Topeka lawyer to represent him.

Last week, he dismissed the lawyer and decided to go it alone.

"I think I'm going to be better off pursuing this on my own," Howard said. "I've been spending a lot of time and money and not getting anywhere."

Howard, 38, has acquired immune deficiency syndrome - AIDS. A tenured professor who worked as a pathologist in the College of Veterinary Medicine, Howard charged last September that he was forced out of his position at the University because he has AIDS.

Tuesday, he said he is not pursuing the lawsuit because his attorney told him he cannot sue a state agency.

"I have to get permission from the State of Kansas to sue the State of Kansas," he said. "If you can figure that out, I'd like to know."

But University Attorney Dorothy Thompson said there is no law that says a state agency can't be sued. In fact, she said, there is a provision under the Tort Claims Act that allerys for such agencies to be sued.

Thompson said Howard's attor-

■ See AIDS, Page 6

Mangled car warns of death

ROCKAWAY TOWNSHIP, N.J. - A sudden jump in deaths on local roads has led officials to mount a grotesque display: the mangled remains of a sports car in which a 21-year-old man died earlier this year.

The wreck, whose driver's death was blamed on alcohol, speeding and failure to wear a seat belt, sits on the lawn of the municipal building.

"Not to be grotesque, but to remind people that there's a potential sadness that could take place if you're not careful," said Mayor Charles Lombardo.

Eight people have died on township roads this year, compared to a total of seven from 1982 to 1986, police said. Morris County as a whole has seen a decrease in fatalities.

Police Chief Steven Dachisen said the department is increasing its efforts to educate people on safe driving. But he said an increase in traffic is partly to blame for the rise in deaths.

Local man innocent of murder

JUNCTION CITY - A man accused of killing his wife to gain insurance proceeds was found innocent Tuesday after a week-long trial in Geary County District Court.

Jurors who heard the case before Judge George Scott deliberated almost two hours in reaching the verdict acquitting John B. Thompson, 25, of first-degree murder.

Thompson was charged with killing his Korean-born wife, Sun Pok Thompson, 28, at their apartment in Grandview Plaza on March 7. Assistant Geary County Attorney Don Taylor contended Thompson strangled her to collect on a $50,000 life insurance policy and get $3,500 in money market funds.

Thompson told authorities he found his wife, whose mouth had been wired shut because of recent dental surgery, unconscious in the bathtub, pulled her out and called for assistance.

Dr. William Eckert, a Wichita pathologist who conducted a second autopsy after the body was embalmed, testified last week that Thompson's wife died of strangulation and not of

On Monday, a pathologist called by the defense, Dr. James Bridgens of Kansas City, Kan., testified that he believed she died from liver damage due to hepatitis.

Postal agency finishes at a loss

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Postal Service finished fiscal 1987 with a $223 million loss, the agency reported Tuesday. Total revenue for the year which ended Sept. 30 was $32.5 billion, while spending was $32.7 billion, according to Crocker Nevin of the agency's governing board.

That compared with 1986 when the independent agency was $305 million in the black, and 1985 when it lost $251 million.

The law setting up the Postal Service requires that it break even, and over the past decade it has reported five surpluses and five deficits which nearly balance out.

The agency is currently engaged in the lengthy process of raising rates, with higher mailing costs expected to take effect next April. That is expected to result in surpluses in the first year or so, which will subsequently be balanced by rising costs to allow the agency to break even.

Blistex announces 'lip' awards

CHICAGO - Spuds McKenzie, Lt. Col. Oliver North and actress Glenn Close are among a dozen personalities being honored for their lip service.

The 12 are winners of this year's "most beautiful lips" awards announced Tuesday.

North's "most controversial lips" were televised nationally last summer as they grimaced, puckered and clamped shut during the Iran-Contra hearings.

Close laid title to the "most fatal lips" for her role in the box-office hit, "Fatal Attraction." The "best doggone lips" went to who else but Spuds McKenzie, the party animal of beer-

The annual selections were made by lip ointment maker Blistex Inc. The suburban Oak Brook company has been awarding the lip quips for seven years to newsmakers in sports, music, politics and other fields.

Other winners: ■ Chicago Cubs outfielder Andre Dawson had the "most d'awesome lips."

■ Singer Michael Jackson, for "the baddest lips." Columnist Ann Landers, for the "most advisable lips."

■ New York developer Donald Trump, for the "most tower-

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEPARTMENT OF DIETETICS applications will be accepted for the coordinated dietetics program through Dec. 15. See Faith Roach, Justin 107, for more information.

TODAY

GAY AND LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 8 p.m. in Union 202.

SOCIETY FOR CREATIVE ANA-CHRONISM, SHIRE OF SPINNING WINDS meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union 205.

THURSDAY

MORTAR BOARD presents pictures with Santa "Willie the Wildcat" Claus and the K-State cheerleaders from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Union courtyard.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has sche-

Correction

Due to a photographer's error, Brandon Figge was incorrectly identified in Tuesday's Collegian as the child sitting on Santa's lap. The child in the picture is Marcus Moreno of Ogden.

BLACK BRAS

-1304 Westloop គី 10% off with KSU ID [539-8888

539-0888

duled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Victor E. Eusebio at 3:30 p.m. in Waters 329. The topic is "Railroad Pricing Behavior for Export Wheat in Selected Areas in Kansas: The Pre- and Post-Staggers Eras."

When you fill out your Form W-4 or W-4A, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," remember: If you can be claimed on your parent's or another person's tax return, you generally cannot be exempt from income tax withholding. To get it right, read the instructions that came with your Form W-4 or W-4A.

POPCORN We Make It Here-Just For You GREAT FOR GIFTSI
THE TCECREAM
SOCIAL

1439 Anderson, south of McCain Auditorium

TONIGHT $1.50 Wells 80¢ Draws

THURSDAY

ALL MIXED DRINKS $1.50

531 N. Manhattan

Blue Kiver Pub

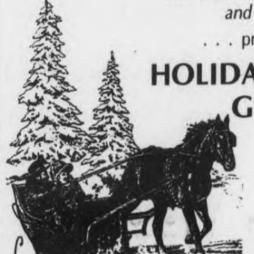

FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHT 10 p.m.-1 a.m.

SATIN RAGE

OPEN GRILL ALL NIGHT

NEXT TO TUTTLE CREEK DAM

537-9897

and Industry . . . presents . . . HOLIDAY CHEESE

The Dept. of Animal Science

GIFTS Order at Call Hall-Rm 144 Dairy Bar Now thru Dec. 17

Christmas Fruitcakes

2 lb. loaf form in

decorative pan. Main ingredients: dates, pecans and candied cherries

Price $7/cake

order by phone: 532-6161 (days), 532-3715 (evenings) Pruitcakes available for pickup on Wed., Dec. 9 in Shellenberger 105 from Noon-6 p.m.

SAFEWAY

222 N. 6th 3011 Anderson 539-3226 776-5202

New Store Hours 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. 7 days a week

Selection of 6

Different Cheeses.

Specials Dec. 9-15

Pepsi 2 liter 99¢

Busch

$3.99

12/12 oz. cans

Delicious Apples 4 Ibs./$1.00 Townhouse Apple Juice 99¢

½ gallon

Check cashing with student I.D.

TEE ZERS

Moving Sale!

Save 15% to 30%

776-5621

Heat up the Holidays with a cool new tee, longsleve tee, or sweat.

Give the gift of warmth this Christmas

but keep it cool!

Call for a Quote!

FAJITAS

Heard the talk? Fajitas have come to PINATA, and are they ever worth the wait! Chunks of marinated steak, or chicken, with fresh onion slices served sizzling on a hot skillet. Comes with a wide array of toppings for your choosing: guacomole, shredded lettuce, sour cream, salsa, chopped tomatoes & fresh grated cheese. A serving of rice, refried beans, & tortillas complete your meal. Don't miss out, try our Fajitas today!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166

Falsettos 539-3830

MONDAY 2-FERS 2 Cheese Pizzas $5.99

MENU

Mushrooms Black Olives Onlons	Jalapenos Pineapple Green Peppers	Ham Extra Cheesa
	TWO 10"	TWO 14"
	5.99	8.99
	6.94	10.39
	7.89	11.79
	8.84	13.19
	9.79	14.59
	9.79	14.59
		14.59
		15.99
onal Item	95	1.40
	Black Olives Onions	Black Olives Onlone Plneapple Green Peppers TWO

We Accept Checks • Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

CHRISTMAS BOXED CARDS

20% off

with this ad No Limit

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654 Mon.-Thur. 8:30-8:30 • Fri.-Sal. 8:30-5:30 • Sunday 12:00-5:00

Ring In Some Holiday Cheer For Others With Pizza Hut. 6th ANNUAL CANNED GOODS

Bring 3 Canned Goods and we'll deduct $2.50 OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA

Bring 2 Canned Goods and we'll deduct $1.50 OFF ANY

LARGE or MEDIUM PIZZA CANNED GOODS ARE DONATED TO THE FLINT HILLS BREADBASKET

OFFER GOOD THRU DEC 21, 1987

* NOT GOOD WITH ANY OTHER SPECIAL OFFER OH COUPON DINE-IN, CARRY-OUT OR DELIVERY

AGGIEVILLE 539-7666 WESTLOOP 539-7447 3RD & MORO 776-4334

New law's impact unclear

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

Although a temporary federal budget compromise has been reached in Washington, D.C., the possibility of the Gramm-Rudman law being invoked in January is invoking some apprehension in K-State officials.

George Miller, vice president for administration and finance, said even though the compromise could mean budget reductions for the University, the compromise's reductions wouldn't be as harmful to the University as those that would be created by Gramm-Rudman.

"It appears Gramm-Rudman will be more detrimental, because cuts would be more across the board than the Legislature's approach would

Miller said it would be mid-December before the administration knows the exact effects of Gramm-Rudman, but, he said, the legislation will have a variety of effects.

Percentage-wise, Miller said, there could be an 8.5 percent reduction in all education and research projects funded by the government. Of the programs, the extension and the agricultural experiment station are two campus offices that would be hardest hit.

Kurt Feltner, associate director of the agricultural experiment station, said as much as 8 percent could be cut in each area.

"We are concerned that the full Gramm-Rudman could be applied to both the ag experiment station and extension, which could go as high as Miller said. 8 percent," Feltner said.

This 8 percent reduction translates into as much as $225,000 for the station and $290,000 per year for extension.

As a result, both offices have alerted the Board of Regents and Legislature that should the cuts be enacted, they would be requesting supplemental funding to replace the Miller said cuts in these areas would also mean fewer dollars would be available for needed equipment and cutbacks in graduate research and support staff.

Research grants could be affected by the cuts, which may cause additional problems since the grants also cover indirect costs such as utilities,

"A percentage of grants is used to run a lot of services on campus like facilities, computing, personnel and faculty training," he said. "This could affect cutbacks in staff and other programs."

Miller said financial aid at K-State could be cut in all areas. Pell Grants could be reduced by $450,000; workstudy scholarships by $50,000; supplemental grants by $30,000 and state scholarship grants by $20,000.

Miller said that with the budget compromise, the Guaranteed Student Loan program could be cut as much as $250 million.

A final area that could suffer under the Gramm-Rudman cuts is enroll-head of the Graduate School.

ture and Human Ecology.

In other business, Faculty Senate approved course and curriculum changes in the colleges of Agricul-

Ex-worker had gun aboard jet, ABC says

By The Associated Press

CAYUCOS, Calif. - A fired airline worker who wanted to kill his boss smuggled a .44-caliber Magnum handgun onto a jetliner whose crew reported gunshots just before a fiery crash killed all 43 on board, ABC News reported Tuesday.

The airline confirmed that a fired USAir employee and his former boss were on Pacific Southwest Airlines Flight 1771, which crashed Monday afternoon. USAir recently bought PSA.

"At this point it does not appear that it was an accident," said Richard Bretzing, special agent in charge of the FBI in Los Angeles. "It appears at this point — and has yet to be substantiated - that it was a criminal act on board that caused the craft to come down."

"We have no basis to believe that the accident was caused by a mechanical reason or a crew error," PSA President Russ Ray said in a memo to airline employees.

However, a handgun fired aboard the jetliner wouldn't necessarily cause it to crash, said George Dahlman, a spokesman for the jet's manufacturer, British Aerospace, at its American headquarters near Washington, D.C. "Any kind of penetration of the fuselage might result in depressurization, but there's no reason to think that it would cause this kind of accident," Dahlman said.

The crew of the flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco reported gunfire aboard the plane and smoke filling the cockpit, and radioed the code for an on-board emergency.

Moments later, witnesses on the ground saw the flaming fourengine BAe-146 jet streak in a vertical dive .

salaries Senate

By Susan L'Ecuyer Collegian Reporter

Faculty Senate accepted a report on the status of K-State's faculty salaries and fringe benefits Tuesday, and passed a resolution expressing Senate's "abhorrence" of the "pathetic conditions" of faculty salaries.

The Senate resolution further urges President Wefald to distribute the report to those who have endorsed the "Margin of Excellence"

The annual report of the Status of Faculty Salaries and Fringe Benefits was prepared by the faculty salaries and fringe benefits subcommittee. It reported the salaries of K-State's faculty to be the lowest in the Big Eight - 6.4 percent below the average, and they are ranked sixth out of six in a sample of peer institutions -9.2 percent below the average.

The report also noted faculty salaries are 17.4 percent below the average nationwide sample of the more than 70 universities who are members of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

In worst-case scenarios, the report revealed that some junior faculty are turning down positions at K-State even when offered competitive salaries equal to or greater than senior faculty.

"We're reaching an epidemic problem in terms of recruitment and faculty retention," said Ronald Dow-the average of its peer institutions, but still leave them below the average of major land grant universities in the United States.

In order to bring faculty salaries up to competitive levels, the report recommended Kansas commit itself to meeting the national average by the early 1990s, contribute more to faculty retirement plans and modify its current procedure for selecting health care coverage in order to ensure the best possible plan for both coverage and cost.

The Senate was brought up-todate on discussions between Faculty ney, chairman of the Faculty Senate Senate leadership and Provost James subcommittee. "The Margin of Coffman on the proposed reorgani-Excellence is only a first step in the zation of the Graduate School and the solution. It is not going to reduce the position of associate provost. Several meetings have been held discussing According to the report, the goals the hiring procedures, and Faculty established in the MOE plan would Senate believes the search policies bring K-State faculty salaries up to should be followed for replacing the

A Special Store for Truly Special Holiday Gifts

•Figurines

·Silver

·Crystal ·China

Collectibles

·Picture Frames

·Music Boxes

·Jewelry

ampbell's

Have a Happy Holiday Season! Downtown

Poyntz & 5th • 776-9067 1227 Moro • 539-1891 Aggieville

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY Tues Sat 5 pm to Midnight Call 537-1484

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help, call

FREE Pregnancy Tests 103 S. Fourth 537-9180

Holiday Gift Book Sale 30-50% OFF

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

Topics include children's books, cookbooks, bestsellers, art, architecture, history, reference, sports, nature, picture books, and more!

9-9 Mon.-Sat. Noon-5 Sun.

International Tours

Your Local Contact for Sunchase Winter Ski Break 1988! Breckenridge from $154

Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights Steamboat

Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

from $159

Winter Park

Jan. 2-9, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights Vail/Beaver Creek from $178

Jan. 3-10, 1988 • 5 or 7 nights

8th & Humboldt • 776-4756 M-F 8:30-5, Sat. 9-12 200 mgs of the

WEDNESDAY

Coed Guest DJs

Meet Tonite's BAR DIRECTORS

$2 PITCHERS at back bar

$1 SHOTS KAMIKAZIS etc ...

$1.50 SHOTS B-52s etc...

COLLEGE FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES

The United States Marine Corps is currently interviewing male students for the guaranteed flight programs. Applicants must have 20/20 vision, be an above-average student, and be in good physical shape. To qualify, applicants must take the flight aptitude test. This test will be offered January 12-14. The sign-up sheet, for this test, is in the Placement Office and will be posted from December 9th to the 15th.

1stLT G. L. TROTNIC

(913) 841-1821

Tonight

Pitchers $2.10 Draws 85¢

On tap: Coors Light, Budweiser, Old Milwaukee

"Your Discount Beer Barn" Now Open on Sundays Rt. 5

537-3133 "The Finest Little Tavern By A Dam Site"

SOUTHERN

the TANNING CENTER

Must be used by Feb. 1, 1988

776-8060

.COMPLETELY PRIVATE, CLEAN, SOUNDPROOF ROOMS ·FEATURING THE WOLFF SYSTEM TANNING BEDS ·FEATURING WOLFF'S BELLARIUM "S" SUN BULBS •MOST TANNING ACCELERATOR

Buy All You Want

519 N. 12th (next to Domino's)

newest ust off the press! The hottest and idea

sweatshirts comes to Accessories on the Park.

Get yours in red, navy, white and pink.

708 North Manhattan Avenue, Aggieville, 537-0707 holiday hours: Mon.-Thur.: 10-8:30, Fri.&Sat.: 10-6:00, Sun.: 1-5:00

"Giving Tree" by making a donation to the Jaycees' "Toys for Tots" campaign. Golden heart ornaments symbolizing the week's donations will be added to the tree every Saturday at 2 p.m.

While you're shopping, remember that Manhattan Town Center gift certificates can be purchased at the customer service desk just off Center Court. Enjoy our live musical groups throughout the season. And, stop for a bite to eat at Picnic Place.

Stop in soon! Christmas from the heart centers on you!

SEE SANTA IN

Monday through Saturday 10-9 Sunday 12-6 Dillard's JC Penney Specialty Shops Picnic Place

AT 3RD AND POYNTZ

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 9, 1987 ■ Page 4

Yes, we with purple blood aren't so bad

Here we go. Grab hold of your hankies, gang, because this is probably my last column ever. You've undoubtedly noticed from my writings this semester that I have a deep fondness for this University. For me, this innate K-State pride needs no justification. All the cliches about "purple blood" and being "born with a purple spoon..." are applicable to me.

It occurs to me, however, that not everyone has been blessed in this way. In fact, I have come to understand that some actually need proof that K-State is easily the best University in the state and one of the best in the nation. It is for you that I write my final column. The paragraphs that follow are, quite simply, a list of accomplishments and distinctions which support the statement that K-State is the best.

The excellence achieved by K-State's academic programs often goes unheralded. However, our colleges and departments have earned several distinctions which set them apart from their peers.

The College of Business Administration was recently reaccredited, ranking it in the top 15 percent in the country.

The Department of Accounting is one of the best in the nation. In a 1984 survey of the national accounting firms, K-State's graduates were ranked 13th in the nation. No other Big Eight Conference school made the top

It is the home of the nationally prestigious L.L. McAninch Chair of Entrepreneurship. The College of Architecture and Design is the only truly integrated design school in the region. Its faculty and students have won more than 200 design awards and competitions in the past dozen years. At the 1986 International Student Furniture Design competition, K-State students won three of five international awards,

K-State has much to be proud of including the "Best of the Show". Each year, the American Society of Landscape Architects recognizes six top students in the country for their achievements. In 1986, an unprecedented three, the maximum number allowed, were from one school, K-State. One or two K-State students have been so honored in each of the last 13 years.

Architecture and Design (as well as Engineering) was called "one of the best in the nation" in the 1988 edition of The Insider's Guide to the Colleges.

Speaking of engineering, K-State's College of Engineering is the most comprehensive in the state.

One of the college's many support services is the Institute for Environmental Research, one of only two such facilities in the nation.

A group of industrial and mechanical engineering students, along with two students in clothing and textiles, won the National Spacesuit Glove Design Team Competition, sponsored by NASA and the American Society for Engineering Education. They beat out teams from schools including Oklahoma State and MIT.

The College of Arts and Sciences at K-State has a strong record for preparing students for professional education in the health sciences, law, and graduate studies. Several of its departments are nationally recognized.

More than 95 percent of our pre-law students are accepted into law schools, 80 percent into medical schools, 100 percent into nursing schools, 95 percent into veterinary medicine schools, and 85 percent to 100 percent into physical therapy programs.

The Department of Computing and Infor-

Commentary

DOUG FOLK Collegian Columnist

mation Sciences is the only department in this region that offers both computer science and information systems degrees.

The Department of Chemistry is nationally recognized for its work in spectroscopy, laser applications, catalysts, and trace mineral

The Department of Physics is a primary national research facility in ion collision studies with the recent $6.2 million expansion of its accelerator.

KSU's dance troupe won the American Dance Festival Association's Midwest regional competition in 1984-85.

The Department of English's publication Kansas Quarterly was picked by Writer's Digest as the best nonpaying fiction publication in the country, and a national survey ranked it as one of the top 10 literary Several student performance groups in the Department of Music have a national and international reputation.

Playwriting students have won first and second place four times in the last nine years in the National David Library Playwriting Competition.

In three of the past four years, the National Geographic Society has selected a K-State geography student from a national pool to become one of eight student interns in Washington, Geography graduates have won 11 of 34 Gamma Theta Upsilon international scholarship awards in the last 17 years.

K-State's forensic team has placed in the top 10 nationally five times in the last nine

In 1984 and 1986, the Collegian and the Royal Purple both received the National Pacemaker award from the Associated Collegiate Press. No other university has ever won both awards the same year.

K-State's colleges of agriculture, education, human ecology and veterinary medicine are all the most comprehensive of their kind in the state. I omit individual distinctions from them mainly due to space considerations. I also believe that the high status achieved by each is already well-known.

Since 1974, K-State has been in the top 1 percent of all U.S. universities in the number of Rhodes scholars. Our cumulative record for the number of Truman Scholars is greater than that of any other state or public university in the country. K-State has also had 13 Fulbright scholars in the last 11 years. This fall, K-State attracted more State of Kansas Governor's Scholars than any other state university.

K-State's prestigious Landon Lectures on Public Issues have featured more than 70 speakers since 1966, including former Presidents Gerald Ford and Richard Nixon, Walter Mondale, Dan Rather, Robert and Edward Kennedy, Pat Schroeder, Jose Napoleon Duarte, Bob Dole, Lesley Stahl, Tom Brokaw, Tip O'Neill, Caspar Weinberger, George Bush, Oscar Arias Sanchez, and Nancy Kassebaum. University Convocation speakers have included Martin Luther King Jr., Bill Russell, Julian Bond, Jane Fonda, Bella Abzug and Ralph Nader.

The student-owned K-State Union was ranked in the top five nationally by the New York Times.

K-State's residence hall food service program recently ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Since 1959, when the Big Seven Conference became the Big Eight Conference, K-State's basketball team has a winning record against each of the other schools in the Big Eight, K-State also has won more Big Eight basketball championships than any other

I hope by now you're getting the idea. I honestly have a stack of papers sitting beside me full of more things I could include here. I apologize to those groups and individuals I have excluded. I'm certain that every one of you is sitting there right now thinking to yourself "Well, he forgot to mention " But I think I've made my point. K-State is quite plainly a great place to be. And what makes it so great? It sure isn't money. I've heard it a dozen times from those who compare K-State to other places they've been. It's our people. And that's not just faculty, staff, and administration. It's students, too. K-State is the best because its people are the best.

Thanks for reading this year. It's been fun, and I've appreciated your comments throughout the semester. Always remember what a great school you're at and, hey, wear surplus 169,000 license plates it will find itself with on Jan. 1?

Surplus license plates waste Kansans' money

Possibly a task force could be set up to investigate the cause of the surplus, but, since the post audit report identifies the cause, we can only hope this never occurs. The report lists poor planning and management in the Department of Revenue as the cause for the "healthy" surplus.

The audit rebukes the department for its failure to properly monitor inventory of license plates issued to each county. The report - and department - agree that some of the surplus occurred because of mathematical errors.

Doniphan County is a prime example. In May 1982 the department ordered 1,740 motorized bicy-

What will Kansas do with the cle plates and 7,420 truck plates for this northeast Kansas county. Unfortunately for Kansas taxpayers, Doniphan County's average motorized bicycle tag usage is about six tags per year, and the average annual truck tag usage is about 500 tags.

It doesn't take a mathematics professor to figure out that a gross error must have been made to place such a large order.

The department defends itself by blaming the problems on a manual inventory system and the present license plate structure. Officials claim that next year's new system, called SAM 123, will reduce the surplus significantly.

Kansans can only hope this holds true and the state refrains from wasting another $228,000 on worthless license plates.

HAITIAN VOTING BOOTH

Reagan's legacy not world peace

It is obvious to most observers of the world scene that President Reagan believes the nuclear arms reduction agreement he just reached with the Soviet Union's Mikhail Gorbachev will ensure his place in history, justifying his administration's long-term plan begun when he entered office. Seldom has there been a president so driven to leave his stamp on the course society after he is long gone.

Is it by design or neglect, then, that Reagan is going to leave a disaster area in the field of consumer rights and competitive business environment? He will leave eight years of virtually no enforcement of the anti-trust laws, during which "competition" has been deemed a dirty word and replaced with "efficiency." Merger after merger has occurred, most of which have lessened or destroyed competition, driven down salaries and resulted in a "consumer be damned" attitude. Today for example, more than 90 percent of the take-offs and landings at St. Louis' airport are by TWA aircraft. They eliminated their competition, namely Ozark Airlines, with the blessing of the Reagan administration. Northwest Airlines, with the blessing of the U.S. Department of Transportation and Department of Justice, took over Republic Airlines and achieved the worst record for consumer complaints in the industry.

Corporate take-overs, leveraged buyouts, insider trading and "greenmail" have all gone untouched by federal interference. The only attempts at stopping the slaughter of companies which value stability, job protection and community responsibility have occurred in the statehouses of the country. Influence peddling and conflict of interest are no longer frowned upon by the president - not that it hasn't occurred under every chief executive.

Recently, the Office of Endangered Species itself became extinct. Oh, the personnel

JUDD ANNIS Collegian Columnist

Commentary

were shifted to other departments where they could continue to carry on, and the laws haven't been repealed, but this is an old ploy designed to render an activity ineffective.

Let's look at the area of consumer product safety. For a limited time, you can buy a hair dryer capable of electrocuting you when it is turned off. What a dandy Christmas gift for Aunt Hilda or any particularily annoying inlaws. You must hurry, however, because the hair dryer must have been manufactured before Oct. 1 to qualify.

Sound ridiculous? Let's see - most of us know that hair dryers can be dangerous when used in a wet environment, especially a bathroom. We assume, however, that if the appliance is turned off, we are safe. Wrong.

Most hair dryers, even when turned off, circulate enough current to electrocute a person. Manufacturers built them that way because it is cheaper and nobody, the U.S. Product Safety Commission in particular, told them they couldn't. This occurred even though the commission knew that 172 people had been electrocuted in the past 10 years when hair dryers that were turned off fell into sinks or bathtubs filled with water. Most of the victims were children.

One industry representative said, "Of course, the whole problem could be avoided if people remembered to unplug their dryers." Sure, and we wouldn't need seatbelts if people would just drive safely. A lot of safety problems could be eliminated if people weren't human.

With the product Safety Commission looking on, Underwriters Laboratories recently established a new standard for hair dryers. To carry the UL label, all hair dryers manufactured after Oct. 1 must pass an emersion test wherein hair dryers that are turned off must not release dangerous levels of current.

However, all during the Christmas-buying season, the public will find a neat mix of old and new hair dryers on the shelves - both with the exact same UL labels. The retailers and manufacturers, with the blessing of the Reagan administration, have decided that depletion of their inventory is more important than the preservation of human life.

One store owner was quoted in a trade magazine as saying, "I don't want a panic among customers, with everyone bringing back what they bought from us. I still have a lot of inventory I have to sell."

So, what will be the legacy of the Reagan administration? Will the glory of being the first president to reduce the threat of nuclear arms overshadow the chaos he will leave in the marketplace? Nuclear weapons - and plenty of them - will still be around. But the numerous public-spirited companies that have been destroyed or gobbled up will never be with us again. The Wall Street manipulators, after a slap on the wrists, will be getting rich again, the ex-farmer will still be driving a school bus and the factory worker whose job went to Malaysia will still be frying burgers. Only time will tell how President Reagan will be remembered.

K-State should address academic concerns first

Over the past few months a quiet change has been taking place on campus.

No ceremonies heralded the beginning of the changes; the Board of Regents were probably not even told the changes were taking place. And, to top it all off, many students may even agree with the changes.

But, in an odd way, the replacement of the old, purple and white trash cans with new wooden ones says something more about this University than its aesthetic preference.

Any student who has read the paper or has been here more than a semester can tell you that funding is a major issue on campus. Many of the departments are seriously underfunded and some are fighting for their survival.

And although the cost of replacing the trash cans on campus is small compared to the cost of running the entire University, as one holiday saying goes, "It's the thought that

New trash cans are nice - and the new street signs located around campus, usually across the street from existing street markers, are really nice - but they are not essential for higher education.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

ANATOMY OF A MALL

Mall

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

No independent analysis

While Shenoy was involved with what her study did reveal about Manhattan, David Darling, an on-campus state extension specialist in community and economic development, was concerned that an independent consultation was never provided to the city before Town Center opened.

"No one ever did a trade area analysis for the city independent of the consultants," he said. "It was definitely a situation provided by the party that had a vested interest in making the picture attractive, and the city made decisions based on it.

"City governments don't always think in terms of trying to get objective information on something. If they're biased, they will go with the information provided," he said.

Part of the reason an independent study may never have been done was the expense, Darling said.

"It takes money to hire independent people to corroborate the effort," he said.

Despite the city's lack of an independent analysis, Darling thinks the mall will be a

"I'm awfully hopeful," he said. "Manhattan has that advantage of being a destination point because of the University."

Studies' reliability

The reliability of private development firms conducting feasibility studies prior to a mall's opening concerns Kevin Walker, downtown development director for the city of Hutchinson.

Although he said every mall will conduct a feasibility study before opting to locate, "You can make the numbers look any way you want.

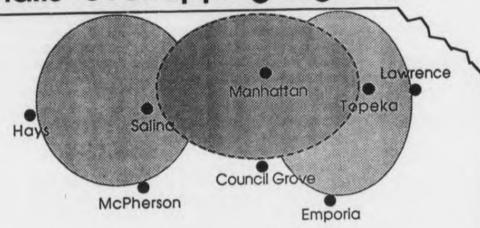

That is of particular concern when state or city dollars are used to finance the project, Walker said.

Peggy Livingood, state Main Street coordinator, said an increasing number of mails are receiving financial assistance from cities.

"Now, (developers) are getting a sizable (enough) contribution from cities in development costs that they don't have to take on the whole project by themselves," she said. Walker said the Hutchinson Mall opened with about 450,000 square feet of space despite an earlier study that stated Hutchin-of the mall's developer, Melvin Simon and tion's good. Associates Inc. "That's great if the communiArea malls' overlapping regions

The Manhattan Town Center rests in three loosely defined retail regions — the one serving its own mall, one serving two regional malls in Salina and one serving the existing White Lakes Mall in Topeka. In March 1988, another regional mall — West Ridge — will open in Topeka. Combined, the malls in the three regions have nearly two million square feet of leasable space.

Elton Mayfield/Special to the Collegian

ty is on the growth mode. The only problem is that Hutchinson isn't growing very fast - if at all."

Probably no one knows that better than the owners of the three local businesses that relocated to the mall from downtown Hutchinson. Walker said American Waterbed Gallery, Wiley's Home Fashions, and Baize and Sons Jewelers are now out of business, and none of them have reopened.

In addition, one of the mall's anchors -Newman's — has recently closed. The chain has also closed two of its Oklahoma stores, reducing its number of operating locations to

With the closings, rumors have circulated about the 21/2 -year-old mall's future.

However, Mark Craft, corporate spokesman for the Indianapolis-based Melvin Simon and Associates Inc., said he was unaware of any financial troubles at the Hutchinson Mall.

"Hutchinson is and always has been one of our most successful properties," he said.

Regardless of Hutchinson's situation, Walker said the perception that a mall is a permanent fixture in the community is

"Malls do close," he said. "You can't say son could only accommodate an additional malls never fail because they do. But, I for 200,000-250,000 square feet of retail space. one don't want to see (the Hutchinson Mall) "He intentionally overbuilt," Walker said close. Sure, it's a competitor, but competi-

"I'd like the best of both worlds."

An outgrowth of the aggressive expansion undertaken by many mall developers, Walker said, is what he calls the "overmalling of America." He believes too many developers are opting to "plop a regional mall into a cornfield" because the bigger cities cannot financially tolerate any more malls.

"There's no more locations in the Wichitas and the Kansas Citys to put them," he said. "So they're moving them into the 'burbs the Hutchinsons, the Lawrences, the Manhattans.'

However, Walker said a key element to the Hutchinson Mall is that the developer provided nearly all of the project's funding.

"For the most part, Melvin Simon spent a tremendous amount of money," he said.

Walker, who believes smart developers are now locating malls in downtown areas, said he supports the decision by the City of Manhattan to financially back the Town Center

"I think Manhattan made an excellent decision and a right decision to spend the money needed to make that downtown mall a success," he said.

Center's competition

John Maddox, marketing director of Topeka's White Lakes Mall, views the Town Center as competition but by no means a death

"I can see that the new Manhattan mall will have some effect," he said. "(However, Manhattan residents) are still going to come to Topeka three times a year, four times a year or whatever," he said, adding that his Topeka center will still offer Manhattan residents a choice.

While Manhattan's mall is about 60 miles down Interstate 70, the same can't be said of West Ridge Mall, another Melvin Simon project currently under construction in Topeka. Located near the intersection of Wanamaker Road and Southwest 21st Street, West Ridge will become the second major regional mall in Topeka when its doors open in early

The enclosed center will have more than 500,000 square feet.

Craft said each potential site is thoroughly checked out before a mall is given the green light for development.

"We usually don't build anything unless the research is favorable," he said, adding that "very favorable" research was gathered for West Ridge. He expects the center to open with 60 percent to 70 percent leased.

Melvin Simon operates 182 malls in 37 states, Craft said, and the company locates in cities of varying populations. Normally, the trade area for each mall is defined as the 20-mile radius around it.

impact initially" when West Ridge begins operation, he's certain Topeka and the sur- adding the center will "definitely" remain in rounding area will support two major malls. business until then.

"I'm confident Topeka and Shawnee

Although Maddox expects a "major County can support two malls," he said. White Lakes, which has been open since 1964, currently has about 95 percent of its available space leased out, Maddox said. The mall's primary market is Topeka and Shawnee County, although he said residents of Lawrence, Manhattan, Valley Falls, Holton and other nearby towns frequent White

Fierce competition

Although Maddox is only faced with the prospect of direct competition, Louise Appleby has already had to deal with its sobering effects. Appleby is regional manager of Salina's Mid-State Mall, whose status as a regional mall was dealt a blow when Central Mall moved in across the street.

Although Mid-State still draws regional traffic, Appleby said Central is now considered the predominant regional mall in Salina because it has one more anchor store than Mid-State's two. It also has about 150,000 more square feet of space.

However, "I still feel we're a regional mall," she said.

Jane Doherty, Central's marketing director, said the mall opened with 12 stores, and more than 50 percent of its space remains to be leased. Warmack and Co. - the Fort Smith, Ark., developer of Central Mall operates seven other malls and several strip centers primarily in Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

As Appleby has discovered, competition 4.43 in the retail business often is fierce.

(Central Mall) took probably half a dozen of my stores," she said. Although a number of replacement stores have located in Mid-State since Central opened in February, Appleby is still trying to fill her mall.

Appleby, who has been in the retail business since 1972, said the state is seeing the advent of too many malls.

"I think we're over-retailed," she said. As a direct result of Central's opening, Appleby said Mid-State is changing its concept to become more of a value-priced center. The first sign of that was securing the Wal-Mart chain of stores to take over one of the mall's anchor spots.

In addition, the mall is now offering shortterm leases and low rental rates that will appeal to local businesses, whom the mall hopes to attract.

"Hopefully, (the stores) will stay, and we'll fill the mall," she said.

"Another year and we'll be fine," she said,

with Campus Marketing

YOUR BEST DEAL TO DAYTONA

YOU DRIVE (TO THE PARTY)

$ 129[∞]

$ 207[∞]

SPEND A WEEK - NOT A FORTUNE

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

AND SIGN UP CONTACT

LISA OPITZ OR

LISA BARTELLI

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ney, Cathleen Reeder, was to meet with her Monday, but that the meeting was canceled. She said she has sent Howard a written invitation to meet with the University about the case, but has heard nothing.

"I wasn't aware that they weren't going to pursue the case," Thompson

When contacted Tuesday, Reeder said she was no longer working on Howard's case and declined

Howard said he has not heard from the University.

"I haven't heard one thing from them," he said. "Hell, they haven't done anything."

Since the controversy began, University officials have contended that they have strictly adhered to the K-State Guidelines for AIDS, AIDS-Related Complex and AIDS Virus. The guidelines were approved in May 1986 to prevent the "fear, apprehension and (sometimes) hysteria on learning that a member of the community is known to have AIDS."

Howard claims the guidelines did nothing to prevent the hysteria surrounding his illness.

University officials believe

"Obviously, we feel we have followed our policy," Thompson said.
"As things stand, there isn't anything to be concerned about as far as a lawsuit is concerned because nothing has been filed."

Howard said even though he doesn't plan to pursue the lawsuit, Reeder suggested that he follow through with a complaint filed Oct.

Civil Rights in Topeka.

The complaint was filed against the state, the Kansas Board of Regents, and K-State and its representatives.

Once a complaint is filed with the commission, both parties are brought together and an attempt is made to resolve the issue through a preliminary investigation, said Bill Minner, commission field supervisor.

If that fails, Minner said, the complaint is placed on assignment for additional investigation. Once the investigation is completed, the case is assigned to a committee, then reviewed by one of seven commissioners appointed by the governor to determine whether probable cause

If the commissioner determines no probable cause exists, the case will be closed, but the complainant may still take the case to district or federal court, Minner said.

In the event that probable cause is determined, both parties have 45 days to attempt a resolution. If that fails, the case is referred to a legal staff and a public hearing may be requested before a hearing examiner. The examiner presents a conclusion to the commission board, which makes the final decision.

If the ruling is in favor of the complainant, compensation may be awarded in two areas: actual damages, which includes lost wages; and damages for pain and suffering.

The maximum compensation for pain and suffering is $2,000, Minner

Howard said he wasn't too concerned about the money issue

"I really don't care if I get any money or not," he said. "I just want to warn the University they can't treat people like this."

Howard was diagnosed as having the disease in September 1986 after he checked into a Topeka hospital suffering from pneumocystis pneumonia. When he returned to work, he said, he told officials in the veterinary diagnosis department about his illness.

The controversy began April 13 when Howard received a letter from Provost James Coffman, who at the time was dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine. The letter instructed him to go home and not to return to work. A week earlier, Howard had received written instructions restricting his activities to his office and work taken home.

"It is essential that you not be in the laboratories in the future," the let-

Though Howard was placed on medical absence after signing a personnel document April 16, he con-tends that at the time he signed the document, he had encephalitis and didn't know what he was signing. His last day on the payroll will be later this month. Howard said his ordeal with the University has been a nightmare. At the same time, however, he said in some ways it has helped him. In September 1986, his doctor told him he had about six months to live. This week, he has an interview with a Manhattan grocery store for a job in the meat department. "This has all made me stronger," he said. "You've got to have something to fight for. I've got my fight going, and I'm not going to give up."

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

With 8 Gallon Fill-up

ONLY AT DERBY STATION

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Film at 11

THURSDAY

Partake in the spirits of our shot-a-minute game. Every Thursday and after each home B-Ball game.

HOLIDAY FLOUR SALE

Wednesday, December 9 1-4 p.m. Shellenberger 220

·White Flour Whole Wheat Flour Bran

·Rye Flour

Dedicated to Optometry in a friendly manner

K-State, we'd like to be your optometric office

Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended

wear, tinted soft contact lenses Contact lenses competitively priced

•Doctors in office for FREE consultation and trial fitting •Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock •Evening and Saturday appointments available

Drs Price, Young, Odle and Horsch

NOW ON SALE $29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodictious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

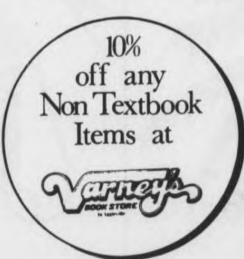

AWAKS

$5 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

semester.

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

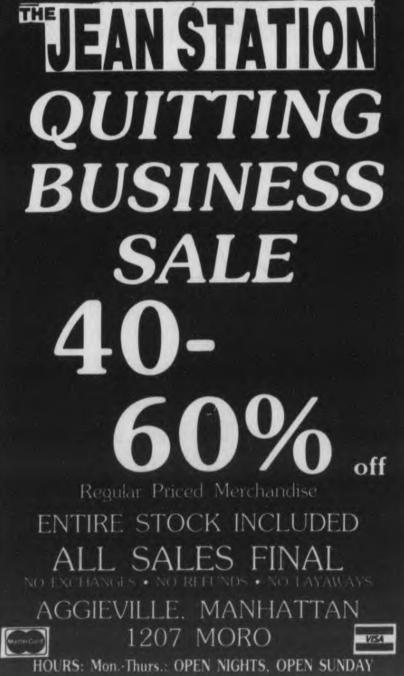

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non textbook items, when you sell your books during dead

week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Dead Week 9 a.m.-9 p.m. (Except Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Final Week 8:30-10 p.m. (Mon.-Tues.-Wed.)

FoodWednes

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 9, 1987 ■ Page 7

Sugar and Spice

Creating a man may not sound very ond in importance only to black pepper. easy, but when the man is made out of gingerbread, it's a piece of cake.

Gingerbread men have long been a favorite of children. Not only are they children to make (especially if they sweet cake in the world. have experience with mud pies).

Gingerbread men are cookies made from stiff, ginger-flavored cookie dough, cut into the shapes of little men. Of course, gingerbread women, girls and boys can also be made, if the baker wants to get specific.

ing of gingerbread men. The tasty treats can be baked and enjoyed at home or given to friends. Gingerbread men are also popular treats for children's parties.

For the baker who wants to get really elaborate, a gingerbread house can be made. Gingerbread houses may smell France. delicious and taste heavenly, but they the Christmas season.

Students in architecture and design might recognize the term "gingerbread to elaborately detailed, embellished come about because of the fancy, elaborate decorations which bakers commonly add to an otherwise simple gingerbread house.

hard candy, candied fruits, marshmaleven inside lighting.

Gingerbread gets its name from ginger, the spice that is native to India, China, South Asia and the West Indies. unique flavor, which can be described as piquant and peppery, but varies according to where it is grown.

The term "ginger" is derived from chutney. Zanzibar where it was exported in the 14th century.

Ginger was the first oriental spice to be transplanted to the New World, and today the finest dried ginger comes from Jamaica. It was also one of the first spices to be introduced into Europe, and for a long time was ranked sec- Gingerbread!

The ancient Greeks, Romans and Arabs used it extensively. One of its most important uses today in Western civilization is the making of gingergood to eat, but they are easy for small bread, which is thought to be the oldest > Gingerbread is said to have been invented by a Greek from Rhodes about 2800 B.C. It soon became famous throughout the Mediterranean area, where it was known as melitates.

Chaucer mentioned it ("They sett him Roiall spicerye and Gingerbread") Christmas and Halloween are two in 14th century England. It was also holidays often associated with the bak- sold in Paris as early as the 14th century.

> At about this time, it became customary to make it into fanciful shapes representing men, birds, animals and letters of the alphabet. The exact country of origin of gingerbread men is not known, but was probably England or Gingerbread was originally made of are made mainly as decorations during rye flour, honey, ginger and other spices. Shortly after being introduced into England, treacle — a thick, dark syrup that makes the gingerbread darkhouses," which is used loosely to refer er - was used instead of honey. It was then covered with gold-leaf to disguise buildings. This reference may have its color; hence arose our familiar proverb, "...to take the gilt off the gingerbread."

There are many different variations using different fruit flavors but all are Decorations may include raisins, made with fat, sugar, eggs, molasses, flour, ginger and other spices.

lows, red hots, chocolates, white icing, The "soft" gingerbread made with colored icing, jelly beans, colored cel- molasses, sour milk, baking soda, cinlophane, cotton, powdered sugar and namon, cloves, nutmeg and ginger is an American innovation. The gingerbread of England is more like a rather dry

Ground, dried ginger is also used as a Ginger has long been prized for its flavoring in ginger ale, ginger beer, ginger wine, ginger tea, gingersnaps, pumpkin pies and doughnuts. It is also a standard ingredient in curries and

> The history of ginger and gingerbread may be complicated, but making gingerbread men is simple and fun, and the perfect treat for the approaching

Merry Christmas and Happy

Story by Ann Iseman Illustration by Andy Nelson

A holiday treat

Gingerbread Men

Ingredients

1/2 cup brown sugar 1/2 cup vegetable shortening

1 unbeaten egg

1/4 cup molasses 1 teaspoon soda

1 teaspoon cinnamon

1 teaspoon cloves

Food for Thought

SUSAN

Feature

Editor

STAGGENBORG

teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons ginger

2 teaspoons vinegar 3 cups flour

Combine all the ingredients except the flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add enough flour to make a fairly stiff dough. Wrap in wax paper and chill in the refrigerator overnight. Divide in two or three parts to make the rolling out easier. Roll out quite thin and using either a cookie cutter or a stencil made of cardboard, cut out the gingerbread

Decorate the men, before baking them, with raisins, candied fruits, marshmallows, red hots, nuts and cherries to indicate features and buttons. Children can help decorate all the men or can pick one as their own and decorate it.

Place them on a lightly oiled cookie sheet and bake 8 to 10 minutes in a 375 degree

Frosting

Ingredients 2 cups confectioner's sugar

1 egg white

Stir the confectioner's sugar into the unbeaten egg white until it is of spreading consistency and add artificial coloring, if desired. Force the frosting through a pastry tube or spread with a small knife to outline the men and to give them some wearing apparel - a belt, a muffler, a cap, boots and even mittens.

If a crude approximation is sufficient, children can help form the figures by rolling a ball for the head, a larger ball for the body and cylinders for the arms and legs. These parts can then be placed on the greased pan. They should be carefully overlapped and pressed together so they will stay in one piece after

Of course, the gingerbread men do not have to be men. They can be made into women, boys and girls also to add a little

It just wouldn't be Christmas without the Grinch

Well, this is it. The last food page and the last food column. You don't know how much I'll miss all of the talk about food.

This is my favorite time of year. Not only for all of the good food that goes with Christmas; not only that another semester gone by, but for all of the Christmas television specials.

I wait anxiously each year for Rudolph, Frosty and the Grinch to make their appearances once again. A dedicated fan, I plan my entire evening around these children's programs and put off everything else until they are over.

These shows always seem to put people into the Christmas spirit. The songs and stories of Santa Claus take you back to an age when sitting upon his knee with your wish list of pages torn from the Sears Wishbook clutched in your hands was the next best thing to playing in the snow.

I have watched these shows religiously, and I probably know them by heart. For some reason, it just isn't Christmas without these shows. Many people feel the same way, I'm sure. The label of "Grinch" would have become a way to describe a stingy person at Christmas if not for the special, "The Grinch

Who Stole Christmas." Another tradition that surrounds Christmas is the multitude of holiday commercials we see constantly. What would it be like if we did not see that famous Santa Claus zooming over the snow-covered hills astride a Norelco shaver? My father said this commercial is almost older than he is. (That's pretty old.)

How about all of the fast-food restaurants — and I mean all of them — that start pushing their stuffed animals ranging from puppies to frolicking reindeer? Remember, these animals are always available for a small fee equal to the price of six large hamburgers and fries. "Makes great stocking stuffers," the commercials say.

The part that bothers me about Christmas is that the advertisers seem to rush it a little bit more each year. Department stores waste no time in getting their seasonal supplies out on the shelves before the children have even thought about what they are going to be for Halloween.

The Christmas music starts to trickle in over the radio about a week before Thanksgiving, so by the time Christmas is here you are so sick of "Jingle Bells" you could puke.

I think it's getting worse; Christmas gets here a little bit sooner each year. By the time you exchange gifts, you don't remember what you bought; so it is just as much a surprise for you as it is for the receiver.

I'd like to see Christmas slowed down a bit more. Let us enjoy this joyous season. Because the way it is now, people are just damn glad to get it over with.

One final note: I want to wish all of you a safe and happy holiday season and a prosperous new year!

P.S. Good Luck on finals.

Hypnosis an unexplained phenomenon

By Jennifer Nading Collegian Reporter

One day, you get into your car and listen to the radio while driving. Suddenly, you reach your destination not remembering how you got there. This is an example of being in a trance or in a hypnotic state. Your conscious mind may not be paying close attention, but your subconscious mind is.

There are many myths or beliefs which go with hypnosis. Some such beliefs are portrayed on a television program, showing a person in a hypnotic state acting like a dog or clucking like a chicken. Another myth is that a person will tell his darkest secrets and not realize it. These myths, along with hundreds of others, are just that - myths, stories which are made-up to try to explain a phenomenon of nature.

There are applications of stage

FALL TACO SPECIAL 3 for $1.25 reg. 60¢ each 12/9-12/12 Wed.-Sat. TACO HUT

> Live TONITE!

2809 Claffin

539-2091

starting 9:30 p.m.

(Back of Rip & Mo's) Aggieville U.S.A.

hypnosis vs. clinical hypnosis. Both are very ordinary. Yet when structured, each result will be different.

"Clinical and founder of hypnosis, Milton Erickson, never tried to explain or define hypnosis," said David Meyers, psychologist at Pawnee Mental Health Center.

"A natural selection process takes place. There is nothing magical or mystical in hypnosis. It is more of an experience than a phenomenon," he

By asking certain questions during a conversation, Meyers screens his therapist first." patients to determine whether they are willing to be hypnotized.

"The selective technique is used for specific reasons. It is to teach people to truly relax vs. biofeedback. Each hypnotic experience is different and very subjective. I have good results from it," Meyers said.

hypnosis technique is used for habit change as well as relaxation. Hypnosis can be done for a person wanting to lose weight, to quit smoking, or to overcome a phobic reaction such as a steelworker overcoming his fear of heights.

"Hypnosis is not a toy to be played with," Meyers said. "It should not be tried without consulting a

-David Meyers

He said he has cases in which the hypnosis technique is used for habit change as well as relaxation. Hypnosis can be done for a person wanting to lose weight, to quit smoking, or to overcome a phobic reaction such as a

Don't let your graduating friends sail away without saying goodbye.

Say you care in a personal.

He said he has cases in which the steelworker overcoming his fear of

It is also used in particular cases to recall material which has been repressed, usually by a trauma. It will help the person break through the mental block and remember.

"Hypnosis has been found not as effective for habit change as it is for removing mental blocks," said Meyers.

Subjects who have tried hypnosis state the experience as this: As you begin to develop a hypnotic state, your body will begin to relax. The deeper into the trance, the more relaxed you will become. Heat rushes from your head through your body upon complete relaxation.

Under hypnosis, your conscious listens, making sense out of what it hears. At the same time, your subconscious mind hears something different, responding to it, needing for it the communication process. to be more driven.

You will begin to feel more awake, yet still relaxed when coming out of the hypnotic state.

After the trance, you feel relaxed, calm and at ease.

"A person may be under a hypnotic trance anywhere from 20 minutes to three days depending on the case. I don't keep my patients under hypnosis for more than two hours," Meyers

Some cases, according to Meyers, only need communication with another person rather than hypnosis. For example, one person may need to talk to someone in order to destroy a mechanism or block instead of going under hypnosis.

Clinician Milton Erickson was an observer of people and an expert in

He used this process frequently as therapy. By telling his patients stories, they would look inside themselves by relating their situation to the story. Most of them would be able then to resolve their own problems.

"Milton believed when someone came to therapy, he would already know the answer to the problem, the therapist was there only to draw out a solution," said Meyers.

Erickson's philosophy is still present today through Meyers' work.

"If the communications process is there, the patient doesn't have to be placed under a trance to figure out the problem," said Meyers.

"Hypnosis works well for either relaxation or self-motivation," he

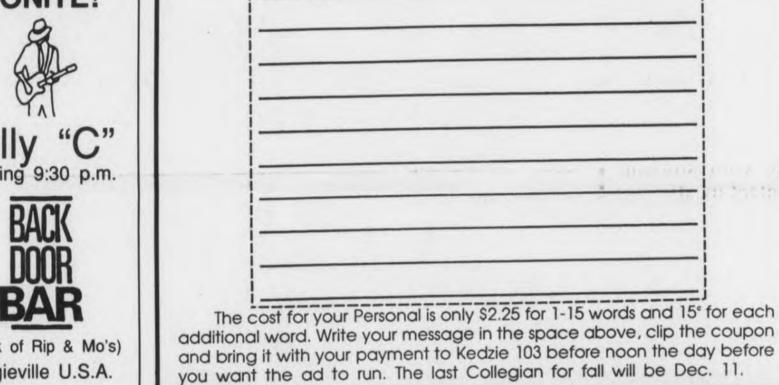

Do you want one of the best educational experiences available at KSU?

What about easy access to social, cultural lie McCan events) academic attiletic and vocational programs?

Smith Scholarship House can provide this and more at a cost less than that of University housing.

If interested in this unique living arrangement (applications and inquiries) call loger Bacalzo, 539-4685 or Kellee Parr, 539-4690; Smith Scholarship House 331N.17th.

additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon the day before you want the ad to run. The last Collegian for fall will be Dec. 11.

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL

PICTURES WITH SANTA FEATURING: Santa of the Hour Today is the Last Day!

11:00-Matilda Mossman (Women's Basketball Head Coach) 12:00-Troy Lubbers (Student Body President) 1:00-Kent Bradley (Past Student Body President)

Tell Santa what you want for Christmas!

Get instant photos for only $1 in the Union Courtyard

The story of four men who shared a boyhood dream.

Stars Robert Deniro & James Woods Today 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall , Tomorrow 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall Rated R, $1.75, KSU ID Required.

"This movie is shamefully entertaining. Sweeping pictorialism so stunning that you hang on all the way. Leone concocts one supercharged episode after another.'

- David Ansen, NEWSWEEK

Sleep all day. Party all night. Never grow old. Never die. It's fun to be a vampire.

This modern day vampire thriller is a visually stunning blend of hip humor, horror and rock 'n' roll about the most compelling group of contemporary vampires ever to put fang in vein. When Michael Emerson moves with his mother and brother to the picturesque costal community of Santa Clara, he becomes intrigued by a band of motorcycle youths who prowl Santa Clara Bay by night. Michael is oblivious to the fact that his new friends apparently reside in a sunken cavern and seem to perk up at the sight of blood. He could hardly be expected the horrifying implications. The Emersons are in for a chilling summer. Stars Corey Feldman, Jami Gertz and Corey Haim.

> Friday, Dec. 11 & Saturday, Dec. 12. 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall Rated R, $1.75, KSU ID Required

Saturday Dec. 12, 2 p.m. Forum Hall Sunday Dec. 13, 2 & 7 p.m. Forum Hall Unrated, $1.50, KSU ID Required.

Live music by KSU Brass Choir at the Saturday, 2 p.m. showing. Candy & Popcorn give aways at all showings. Special guest appearance by Santa Claus a both 2 p.m. showings.

James Stewart's finest role as a man who feels he is worthless and feels that everyone in town would be better off if he never was born. When an angel shows him what life in the town would be without him, he realizes how important his presence in the town is. Also starring Donna Reed and Lionel Barrymore.

Worlds of Fun to be site of K-State Day in spring

By Nancy Hill Collegian Reporter

K-Staters will have the opportunity to recruit students, meet alumni, watch student performances and ride a rollercoaster when Worlds of Fun hosts K-State Day on April 24.

"K-State Day will provide a unique opportunity to reach all different facets of K-State...prospective students, current students, faculty and staff, and alumni," said Amy Button Renz, director of membership for the Alumni Association.

Worlds of Fun will provide tickets at a discounted rate for current and prospective students, alumni, faculty and staff, and other K-State supporters prior to the event. Button Renz said the passport price should be about half the price of regular admission.

their talents. Button Renz said the K-State Singers, Men's Glee Club, K-State Players, the Dance Department and the pep band will be performing shows in the park on various stages.

Button Renz said the initial planning of this event began last spring when Pat Bosco, assistant vice president and vice president of institutional advancement/dean of student life, approached Worlds of Fun with the objective of making K-State more visible in the Kansas City area and in

Along with representatives of Worlds of Fun, a coordinating committee was established to plan K-State Day, Button Renz said. This committee included individuals from University Relations, the administration, organized living groups, student government, the Alumni Associaopportunity for students to display athletic department and the performing groups.

> "Worlds of Fun will allow us to distribute information about K-State on the grounds and will work with us on media promotion," Button Renz said. "We are hoping to attract 1,500 to 2,000 students and alumni."

She said a mailing will be sent to prospective students and alumni in the Kansas City area in the latter part of February or the beginning of March containing information on K-State Day and the means of acquiring Tickets will also become available to current students, faculty and staff, and the community at the same time. Button Renz hopes to sell the tickets in the Union.

If the event is successful, Button Renz said she hopes to continue it as Audit: Improper inventory cause of license plate surplus

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Kansas will have a surplus of about 169,000 license plates when the state shifts to the new car and truck plates Jan. 1, according to a Legislative Division of Post Audit report.

"The Department of Revenue's failure to properly monitor inventory of license plates issued to each county has resulted in a projected surplus of about 169,000 license plates at the end of 1987," the report said. "The five-month oversupply of plates cost the state more than $228,000."

Kansas plates are issued by the Department of Revenue through county treasurers for five-year cycles. Each year a decal is purchased and attached to the plate.

"While it would not be possible to avoid some excess license plates at the end of the cycle, a fivemonth oversupply appears to be unreasonably large," said the report, which was delivered to the Post Audit Committee.

Secretary of Revenue Harley Duncan, in a written response to the audit report, said the statements

"The figures presented are aggregate numbers only and it must be emphasized that the surplus plates are spread across more than 1,600 categories of license plates," he said.

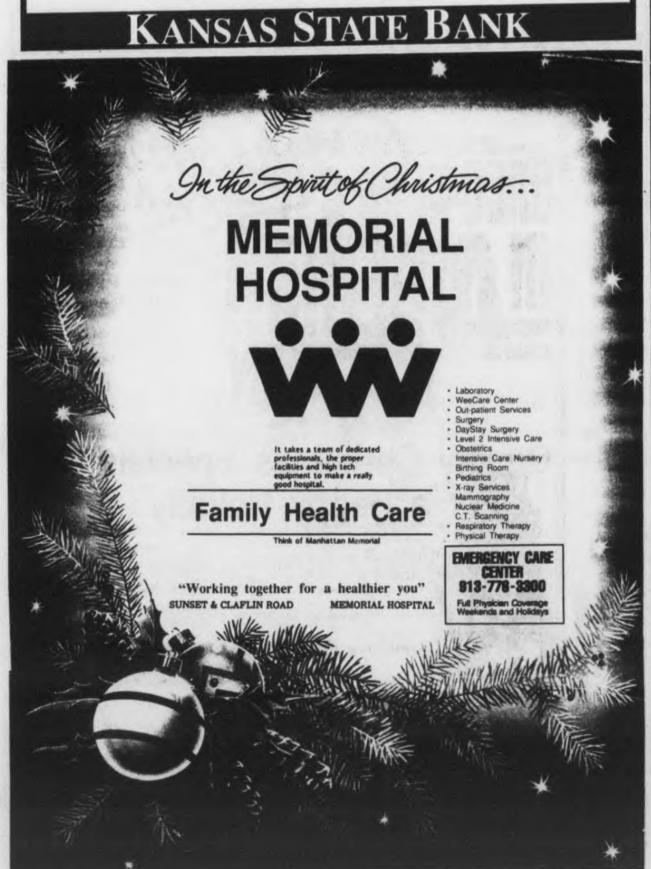

He said a five-month inventory of plates is more than the Department of Revenue would like to see.

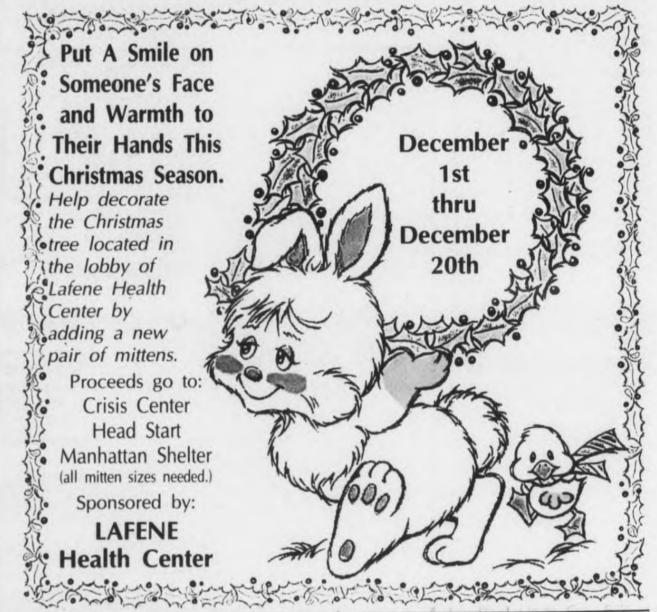

"It is, we believe, the natural result of a manual inventory system and our present license plate structure, rather than any gross negligence on our part," Duncan

Lender Code #821176

1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

10-8 Thursday 1-5 Sunday 1118 Moro-Aggleville

Putnam RESPECT program deals with quiet hours, house activities

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

Dealing with loud neighbors and being unable to get involved with housing activities are some problems students face when living in the residence halls, said Karen - Holston, senior in mathematics.

However, with the creation of Putnam Hall's RESPECT program which stands for Residents Encouraging Study, Peaceful Environment and Community Thinking - these problems may soon be eliminated, said Mike Theobald, hall director for Students must sign a RESPECT agreement which says the students will abide by the rules of the Putnam community, said Rosanne Proite, assistant director of housing.

"The student must be an involved member of the community inside Putnam by attending two education or government programs put on in the hall during the academic year," Proite said.

Putnam is referred to as a community because "We're a hall together, not separated by floors," Theobald said. "As a community, we must abide by the standards of the

Besides attending the programs, students must participate in the planning of one program each semester, Theobald said.

Some examples of programs done this semester were the student body presidential debate and time management and stress, Theobald said.

The requirement of participation in an activity is in the agreement, but it is not enforced, Holston said.

There will always be people who would rather stay to themselves, and that's OK," she said. "But, if you want to get involved, it is there for you to do.'

Another point in the agreement is that students must abide by the 24-hour quiet hours in effect every day of the semester, Theobald said.

"We try to encourage the students to use their rooms for studying and sleeping, so the corridors will be quiet for those students who need it to be quiet," Theobald said.

"Putnam has a large public room with lots of couches, a fireplace and a piano for students to relax and visit with each other," Proite said.

"There is also a recreational room which is two times bigger than the compromise is made, she said. public room. It is a place where students can have fun without having to leave the hall," she said.

Though the quiet hours are in effect 24 hours a day, some floors in Putnam do not abide by this, Holston ered louder than others, but nothing is really done about it," she said. People on the floor are willing to work together, and if it is loud, a

"There are floors that are consid-

Although the RESPECT program is working well, some students feel there is a stereotype that goes along

"Other students think of Putnam as a study dorm. We do study, but we do a lot of other activities, such as participating in Homecoming and sponsoring a yearly talent show," said Kathy Leu, junior in political

Sheriff pleads guilty to deception scheme

By The Associated Press

LA CROSSE - A former sheriff in neighboring Russell County pleaded guilty to one count of theft by deception Tuesday for a scheme that allegedly netted him more than $100,000.

Gary Clark, who served as Russell County sheriff from 1980-84, pleaded guilty to one count today in Rush County District Court. Prosecuting Attorney Ivan Krug said two other counts were dismissed in exchange for the plea.

Clark, who drives a truck and lives in Cadiz, Ky., is scheduled for sentencing Jan. 28.

The prosecutor said Clark obtained money from a banker by "representing that he was selling police equipment to various departments when in truth he had never talked to the police departments." The crime occurred after Clark was out of office, Krug said.

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

Gems, Jewelry, Crystals, Fine Minerals & Gifts

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-8 MONDAY-SUNDAY 10-8 THURSDAY

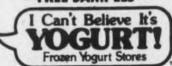

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours. 3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

KSU Gets a "D" from Santa!

A Holiday computer special for K-State Staff and Students

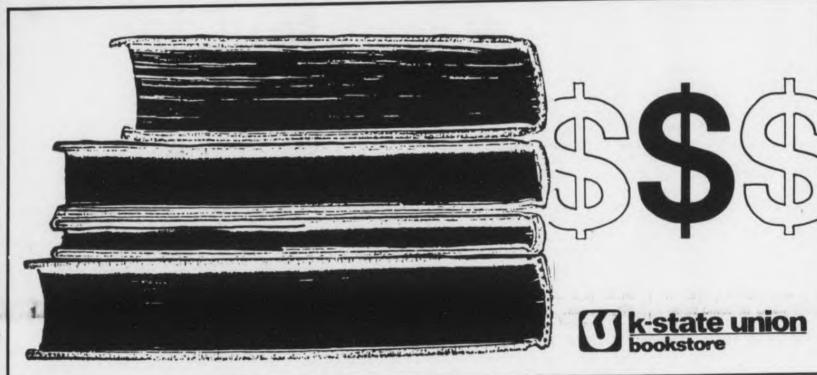

for a complete Leading Edge Model "D"

This "Best Buy" system includes full PC compatibility, 2 disk drives, 512K memory, high resolution mono monitor, word processor, speller, merge, DOS and an amazing 20 month warranty

Connecting Point

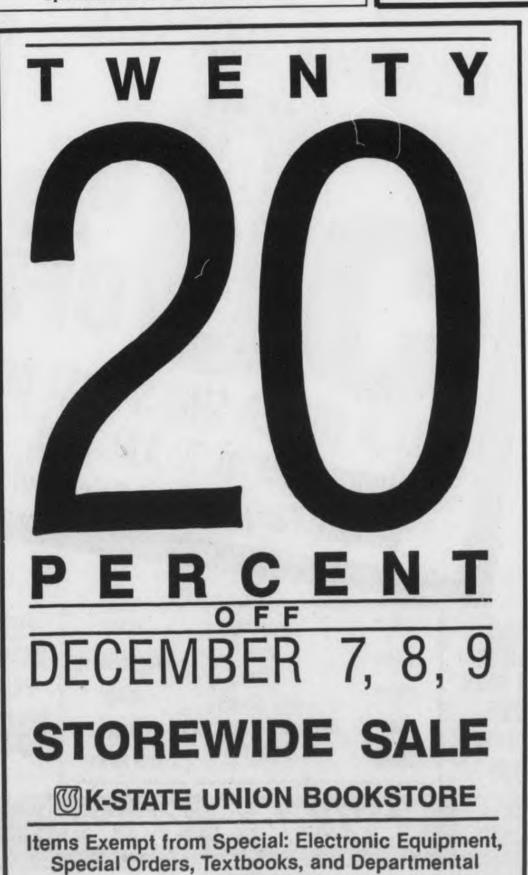

1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

Want To Sell Your Books?

We Will Buy:

December 9-11, 8:30 am - 4:30 pm December 12 10:30 am - 3:30 pm December 14-18 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

Charges.

For a Happy Holiday

All Running Tights
NIKE-HIND-ADIDAS-PUMA

All Tennis Rackets Champion Sweats Heavyweight

All Bicycle Tops

Ice Skates Men and Women Figure-Hockey

1218 Moro-Aggieville-Manhattan

913-539-2441

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 9, 1987 ■ Page 11

live out dreams

By Jeff Rapp Sports Editor

When they were just kids, Randy Stange and little brother Chris were dedicated K-State fans. Both of them dreamed about one day playing basketball for K-State in Ahearn Field House.

As fate would have it, though, only half of their wish came true.

The brothers hail from Nickerson, and both ended up at Southwest Missouri State University on a basketball scholarship playing for head coach Charlie Spoonhour. Randy was a standout in 1984-86, and Chris is now a sophomore guard for the Bears.

Randy was also a graduate assistant coach under K-State coach Lon Kruger last season, so he understandably had mixed emotions following the Bears' four-overtime defeat of the 'Cats.

"I grew up as a K-State fan; there is no doubt about that. I told a friend that only for two hours (during the game) I won't be a K-Stater. Right now I'm back pulling for K-State," Randy said.

Two hours, though, grew to three hours in the marathon contest, in which the Stanges' utimate goal was to defeat their favorite childhood team.

"It's a real dream come true for both of us and we talked about that before the game. Every high school player in Kansas wants to come to K-State to play basketball, but the problem is, we had to do it from the visiting team.

"It was a real honor to coach here because this is a real positive place and a lot of good things are going to happen to this ball team," Randy said.

Chris, on the other hand, is just beginning his college career at SMSU.

Prior to the K-State contest, he was averaging about 15 minutes of playing time and two points per game. In Tuesday night's 60-minute contest, however, he played 25 minutes and didn't score.

"I've watched K-State since I was a little kid and this has to be one of the greatest places in the country to play and one of the toughest places to play.

"You've got I don't know how many thousands of students out there that get behind K-State, and it's just an exciting place to play. It is really tough to come in here and win, and I think (SMSU) really did a job and really showed a lot of poise to come in here and win," Stange said.

Brothers Classic ends in 4-overtime loss

By Tom Morris Sports Writer

It's only happened once before in K-State men's basketball history, and Tuesday night's matchup between the Wildcats and Southwest Missouri State is sure to be listed as one of the classics ever played in Ahearn Field House.

Sixty minutes after it began, the final: SMSU 82, K-State 80 in four overtimes.

Like an aging fighter making a heroic last stand, the 'Cats battled back from a 15-point, first-half deficit to tie the game six times in the second half and overtime periods, but K-State just couldn't deliver the knockout blow.

"Oh, I think a lot of good (will come out of the loss)," K-State Coach Lon Kruger said. "I'm really proud of the way we continuously fought our way off the deck. Obviously you always hate losing, but I'm happy to see that I've got a bunch of kids that I don't mind going to battle with."

SMSU Coach Charlie Spoonhour said his team was "very very" fortunate to win.

"(Aheam) is a very, very great place to play a basketball game and we were very, very lucky to win," he said. "We were lucky to win, but we won and that's the happy part."

During the first half, it looked as if K-State was going nowhere but to defeat. Playing a tenacious man-toman defense, the Bears, 3-2, opened up a 37-26 halftime lead.

Southwest Missouri's cause was helped largely when Mitch Richmond picked up his third foul with 12:17 remaining in the first half and spent the remainder of the period on the bench with just two points. In the opening period, K-State's starters tallied just 13 points, led by Ron Meyer's six.

"Richmond is a great player, and when you don't have to guard him, it makes your defensive assignments a lot easier. Richmond's a great basketball player and I've always loved watching him play, but I'm glad I didn't have to (watch him) a lot tonight," Spoonhour said.

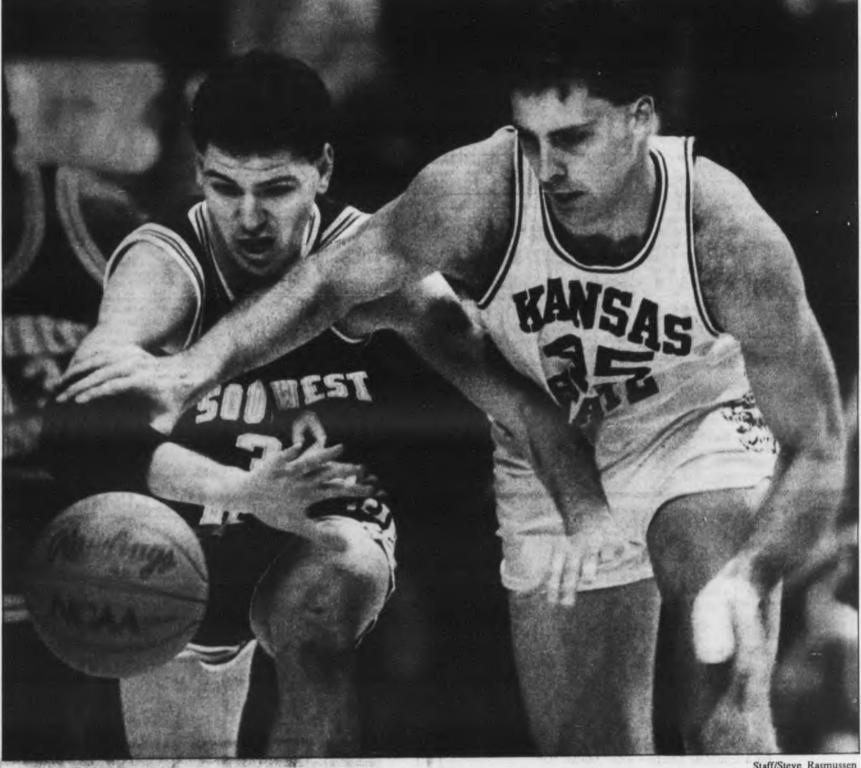

As for the Bears, they shot a redhot 73.9 percent from the field (14-of-19) in the first half - including four-of-four from outside the three-point line.

"Southwest Missouri came out and did a much better job competing in the first half," Kruger said. "They were...working harder and it took us awhile to recognize that because we sure didn't work (near as hard) in the first half.

"When you take a player like (Richmond) off the floor, it's going to make a difference, but I've got to give Southwest Missouri credit," he added.

In the second half, K-State, 5-1, played defense as if it was possessed and held SMSU scoreless for almost five minutes to close to within four with 6:22 remaining in the game. Richmond, who had 13 points in the second half, made a layup with 1:35 left to send the game into overtime.

In the extra periods, the 'Cats -

K-State center Ron Meyer fights for control of the ball with Southwest Missouri State's Clay Holt during the first half of Tuesday night's game.

without Richmond, who fouled out early in the first OT - were fortunate in that SMSU could not convert its free throws to ice the game. The Bears missed six-of-16 attempts, including five-straight one-and-one tries in the second overtime.

"We've probably played four overtimes (before), but I've never had a team with such good freethrow shooters stand there and consistently miss so many free throws. We were our own worst enemy for the longest time," Spoonhour said.

In the first and second overtimes, 'Cat guard Steve Henson kept K-State's hopes alive by tying the game in the closing seconds. His two free throws with seven seconds left in the first OT knotted the score at 65-65, and his 16-foot shot from the left side with:15 remaining in OT No. 2 tied it at 71-71.

William Scott, who led the 'Cats with 17 points, gave K-State its only lead of the night at 75-74 when he converted a layup in the third OT. But SMSU forward Clay Holt who led all scorers with 35 points scored five points in the final OT to Southwest Missouri State coach Charlie Spoonhour disputes a possession call with K-State coach Lon Kruger and the officials.

ice the win.

Following yet another SMSU miss from the charity stripe, K-State had a chance to win in in the final overtime but Carlos Diggins' three-point attempt was blocked just before the 82-80 victory in four overtimes.

Holt lead both teams in scoring with 35 points, leading the Bears to an buzzer sounded.

"I knew we would get a shot at (winning). Almost every time we had a shot at it and we were crashing the boards, but (the ball) just didn't drop for us," Meyer said.

"A loss early in the season after some big wins is really going to help you because (sometimes) you get to thinking you're better than you really

SMSU	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
WORTHY	56	6-12	0-0	0-1	11 3	12
HOLT	58	10-17	5-9	10-14	2 4	35
STUCKEY	59	8-14	0-0	3-8	9 0	14
LEWIS	58	5-9	1-2	3-5	6 4	14
JACKSON	43	1-5	0-1	0-1	3 5	2
Stange	25	0-1	0-0	0-1	1 3	0
Brewer	1	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
Total		30-58	6-12	16-30	3419	82
K-State	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
RICHMOND	28	6-13	0-0	3-4	2 5	15
BLEDSOE	32	3-5	0-0	0-0	7 4	6
MEYER	35	4-7	0-0	2-4	10 5	10
SCOTT	41	6-13	2-3	3-3	3 5	17
HENSON	59	3-14	0-1	2-2	7 4	8
Dobbins	32	3-5	0-1	0-1	6 4	6
Glover	22	2-5	1-1	0-0	10	5
Diggins	44	5-9	0-1	1-2	9 3	11
Nelson	1	0-0	0-0	0-0	0 0	0
McCoy	6	1-2	0-0	0-0	2 0	2
Totals		33-73	3-7	11-16	4930	80

Halftime score: SMSU 37, K-State 26. Turnovers: SMSU 21, K-State 22. PG Pct.: SMSU 51.7, K-State 45.2.

Lady Cats drub Shockers

By Daran Neuschafer Sports Writer

K-State Lady Cat coach Matilda Mossman was a little skeptical about how her young team would respond to playing on the road for the first time this season.

After K-State's 75-53 drubbing of the Wichita State Shockers in Wichita Tuesday night, Mossman should be able to rest a little easier. At least for a little bit.

The Lady Cats did not play as well as Mossman would have liked, but the fourth year head coach is just happy to get the win on the road.

"We really couldn't get things going at all," Mossman said. "So it wasn't great from that standpoint, but hopefully we got those first road game jitters out of the way."

The Lady Cats did not appear to have many jitters, as K-State led from start to finish in running their record to 4-1 and getting an important four-game road trip off to a good start.

After opening a quick lead, K-State was able to keep the Shockers, now 0-4, at bay.

Good shot selection for the Lady Cats during the game proved to be a big difference. K-State shot a solid 33-of-60 from the field for 55 percent. Meanwhile, the Shockers could only manage 25-of-70 for 36

Mossman said that the Lady Cats' shot selection was a key to the high field goal percentage.

"We had very good shot selection tonight," she said. "We were patient and did a good job of working the ball in for a good, high percentage shot."

The Lady Cats held a comfortable 35-25 halftime lead, but turnovers by K-State allowed the Shockers to stay in the game. Things changed in the second half, as the Lady Cats came out a little more aggressive and made a couple of runs that opened a wider spread and allowed K-State to coast the rest of the way for the victory.

Junior college transfer Stacey Boyle led the Lady Cats with 20 points, a career high, from her center position. Sophomore Rita Matteucci sparked K-State off the bench as she scored a career high 15 points. The 5-foot-11 forward from Albuquerque, N.M., also dished five assists to lead the team.

Wichita State was led by Lori Findahl and Crystal Westfield, who scored 16 and 12 points respectively.

K-State's next action will be Friday, when the Lady Cats travel to Dallas to take on Stephen F. Austin University in the first round of the Dallas Hilton Classic

SMSU	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
MILLER	37	3-7	0-0	0-0	8 1	6
MADSEN	12	2-3	0-0	5-6	1 2	9
BOYLE	25	10-11	0-0	0-1	3 1	20
FUNK	33	1-6	0-0	0-0	5 3	2
DAVIDSON	23	2-5	0-0	0-1	3 2	4
Matteucci	23	6-9	0-0	3-4	10	15
Hazim	16	4-11	0-0	0-0	4 1	8
Bahner	17	4-4	10-0	0-1	5 0	8
Lane	8	1-1	0-0	1-2	2 3	3
Orebing	6	0-1	0-0	0.0	10	0
Totals	1	33-60	0-0	9-15	3713	75
wsu	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
GROSS	32	1-4	0-0	0.0	7 4	2
WESTFIELD	33	6-19	0-2	1-2	73	13
WESTFIELD	33	6-19 7-22	0-2	1-2	91	13
FINDAHL
FINDAHL	35	7-22	0-0	1-2	9 1	15
FINDAHL	35 23	7-22 5-9	0-0	0-0	91	15 10 6 2
FINDAHL LANE JONES	35 23 32	7-22 5-9 3-6	0-0 0-0	0-0 0-1	91 23 04	15
FINDAHL LANE JONES Savage	35 23 32 19	7-22 5-9 3-6 1-3	0-0 0-0 0-0	0-0 0-1 0-0	91 23 04	15 10 6 2 2 0
FINDAHL LANE JONES Savage Parish	35 23 32 19	7-22 5-9 3-6 1-3 1-4	0-0 0-0 0-0 0-0	0-0 0-1 0-0 0-0	9 1 2 3 0 4 1 1	15 10 6 2 2

Turnovers: K-State 10, WSU 13. PG Pct.: K-State 55.0, WSU 35.7 Att.: 250

Parker among three stars traded at winter meetings

By The Associated Press

DALLAS - Dave Parker and Lee Smith moved to new teams while baseball talked at the winter meetings Tuesday about moving to new towns and starting interleague play.

During a day of Texas-style dealing that would have made even J.R. Ewing proud, Rafael Ramirez also got swapped and more deals seemed on the way.

Expansion may not be closer, but the subject moved toward its first full-scale debate in 10 years. It was discussed at separate league meetings Tuesday and will be presented a joint meeting of owners Wednesday, marking the most serious study since Toronto and Seattle were added to the American League in 1977.

"Interleague play is probably the key," said Bill Giles, president of the Philadelphia Phillies and a member of the long-range planning committee.

Giles, American League President Dr. Bobby Brown and National League President Bart Giamatti agreed that any expansion would mean new teams in each league.

"I don't see any league embarking on an individual basis," Brown said. But Giles said the AL's current scheduling problems with 14 teams would likely not prompt the NL to go

"That's the only way I'd be in favor of it," Giles said.

from 12 to 14 clubs, unless there was interleague play.

The real interleague action Tuesday sent two long-time dominant players in the NL to the AL.

Parker, a six-time All-Star, was traded by Cincinnati to Oakland for promising pitchers Jose Rijo and Tim Birtsas. Smith, one of the premier relievers in the game, was traded by the Chicago Cubs to Boston for pitchers Al Nipper and Calvin Schiraldi.

"You don't replace a Dave Parker, but we felt we need some more pitchers." Reds manager Pete Rose said.

"We think he's going to give us a lot of pop, particularly from the left side," Oakland general manager Sandy Alderson said,

Parker, 37, hit 26 home runs with 97 RBI last season but batted a career-low .253. He has a .297 lifetime average with 273 homers and 1,190 RBI. The Reds continued to rebuild their pitching staff, which ranked ninth in the league last season. Last month, they got pitcher Danny Jackson from Kansas City.

Rijo, 22, was 2-7 for Oakland and Birtsas, 27, was 7-2 at Class AAA Tacoma.

Smith is the only NL pitcher with 30 or more saves in four straight years, a streak he maintained last season with 36 - compared to a major league-low of 16 for the entire Red Sox staff.

Nipper was 11-12, his third straight losing year with 12 losses. Schiraldi was 8-5 with six saves and a 4.41 ERA, and only he and Wes Gardner got saves for Boston last Bill Wood, promoted to Houston's general manager on Monday, made his first deal and filled the Astros' shortstop hole with Ramirez.

K-State low in vehicle theft comparison

ClassAds

By Alison Neely Staff Writer

Students, faculty or staff who have a motorized vehicle stolen from the K-State campus have about a one in 10 chance of seeing it returned, according to a 1987 fiscal year report by the K-State Police.

The report reveals that a combination of seven motorcyles, mopeds and scooters were reported stolen on campus during the 1986 calendar year. Only one of those was

Highest recovery rates in bicycles

In addition, two cars and two pickups disappeared during the same period, and one car was recovered while neither of the pick-ups has been recovered.

While the chances of seeing a motorized vehicle returned are slim, at least 50 percent of stolen bikes are recovered, said K-State Police Chief Charles Beckom. Approximately four to five disappear every month, and the thieves are not particular about the brand.

'They run from the cheapest bicycle made to the most expensive," he Recovered bikes are maintained in a storage area where the serial numbers are checked.

If the bike's owner can't be located, or if a serial number match is impossible, the bikes are sold in an annual public auction.

"The average price is $40 to $50," Beckom said. "The money we raise goes into a fund to buy crime prevention material and bicycle racks. (The racks) cost about a thousand (dollars) apiece."

A high-quality bicycle costs approximately the same as a motorcycle, moped or scooter. Bicycles have a much higher recovery rate than the motorized vehicles.

In relation to other Midwest universities, K-State's motor vehicle thefts are low, Beckom said.

"We're rather fortunate, because we don't have as many (thefts) as other campuses," he said.

The University of Kansas reported 15 thefts in 1986 while the University of Oklahoma listed 43. To the east, Iowa State University reported 21 motor vehicle thefts, and the University of Missouri reported eight.

The number of thefts depends on the locality, Beckom said. Areas with dense populations are more likely to have a higher rate of stolen motor vehicles. And, because university campuses are made up of a diverse population, few events seem odd to the passerby.

"It's very easy to blend in with the university as a whole, and (consequently) it's easy to steal," he said.

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publi-

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color,

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Man-hattan. (62-75)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or skiing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today 1-800-321-5911. (67-75)

POINSETTIA SALE!! Share the holiday spirit, buy a red poinsettia! On sale now at the K-State Union. (68-73)

single adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shop-

LADIES! THE Dakota Men calendars are here. Good cause—great fun! 776-8548 evenings/weekends. Hurry! (72-75)

BUTCHER GOATS: Make good barbecue meat. Call 776-8884 Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Ask for

Karolyn. (73-75) THE YOUNG And The Dateless: The Campus Crusade for Christ Christmas Conference is in Chi-cago Dec. 27 through Jan. 1. Registration forms are due Thursday, Dec. 10. (73)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED

NICEONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

MOORE MANAGEMENT

has one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. $275/month. Close to campus. Available Dec. 21. Trash and water paid. 539-1686. (69-73)

SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/month plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available beginning spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30 p.m. (70-75)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, queen waterbed. Comer of Bluemont and Manhattan Avenues. Must rent! $175/month, negotiable. 539-8393. (71-75)

NO BUGS, clean, quiet, two bedroom, two blocks east of campus, Jan. 1, $225. 776-1703. (71-75) MALE RENTING room. Use of whole house and washer and dryer. $150/month and one-third utilities. 776-2286 evenings, Pete. (71-75) NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75)

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom, suitable for two, fur-nished, near University, $295. Call 776-5234, ask

GIVE-AWAY PRICE for our furniture if you take ove

our lease (to March 31, renewable). $310 per month, two-bedroom, dishwasher, air-cond ming pool. 537-3363. (72-75)

7:00 Today

9:00 Hour Maga-

12:00 News Days of Our

2:00 Santa Barbara

3:00 Oprah Winfrey

4:00 " 4:30 3's Company

11:00 Ent. Tonight

8:00

Listings

WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 9, 1987

CBS News This Morning

Midday All I Bold/Beautiful ren

1:00 Lives As the World One Life to Live

6:00 News News M*A*S*H
30 Wheel-Fortune Lose or Draw Newlywed

Donahue

Magnum, P.I.

ment Awards Dynasty Show

Good Morning

Who's Boss

Love Connec.

Ask Dr. Ruth

All My Child-

Thundercats

Dating Game

M*A*S*H

8:00 St. Elsewhere Grammy Life-time Achieve-Slap Maxwell Movie: "Support Your Loand Politics: Retall: Depart and Politics: Paul at We

B. Buddies

Perfect Stran-Hill Street Head of Class Blues

Mr. Belvedere Dick Van

America

$25K Pyramid Ghostbusters Card Sharks G.I. Joe

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, unde $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAIL ARLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call 537-1442 (6511)

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month, Jan. 1st. 1 year minimum lease. No pets waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75) ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit $200/month. 776-3800 or

776-4246. (67-75) NICE. SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December Call 539-1076. (67-75) ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quie conditions. $190, 776-3624, (67-75) SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom. Close to campus. Hea paid. $350. Call 776-4099. Early morning or late eve ning ok. (69-73)

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking, 776-8495, evenings, (69-75)

> KSHB 0

Scooby Doo

My Little Pony

Brady Bunch

Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere

M.T. Moore

Green Acres

Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies

Beaver I Love Lucy KTWU

Today's Mister Rogers

Body Electric Love Boat

Sesame

Bodywatch

Collectors

Sesame

Street

Xmas Decor.

Nova "Riddle

of the Joints"

On Aerobics

Ghostbusters Mister Rogers Transformers

Square 1 TV G.I. Joe

Kimm Julian: H.'s Heroes Warnings College Bas-

Report MacNeil / Leh- Sports
Dating Game rer Newshour Movie: "The NBA Today Movie: "Sa- Sign-Off

WGN

Teddy Ruxpin

Andy Griffith

Van Dyke

Andy Griffith

BraveStarr

Barney Miller Wild America INN News Witton North Business Rpt. Magnum, P.I. SportsCenter dia Impact

Bozo

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. Take over lease, $200/month, split utilities, 1027 Kearney Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson

532-6555

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment, close to campus and Aggleville. $200. 537-0144 or 539-6108. (72-75) LARGE TWO-bedroom furnished basement apart-

Call 539-0962 or 776-4008. (72-75) TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment available Jan.

1. Across from Ahearn. 776-7559. (72-75) FURNISHED APARTMENT-One-bedroom, street parking. 1941 College Heights. $260. Call collect 456-2090 after 6 p.m. 456-8297. (72-76)

FURNISHED APARTMENT One male student, close to campus, $215, all bills paid. Call 539-2165. (73-

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions.

(Continued on page 15)

By TV Data

WTBS

B. Hillbillies

on the Prairie Movie: "Silent

Night, Lonely

Perry Mason

Movie: "Drag-

Tom and

Flintstones

Munsters

World of Audu-

Night"

net'

Championship Flintstones

Bewitched

Lowest rates. 776-3624.

ESPN

Nation's Bus.

SportsCenter

Horse Racing

Auto Racing

Aerobics

lanova

Getting Fit

College Bas-ketball: Connecticut at Vil-

Tractor Pull

World Sports

Auto Racing:

Wrestling

SportsLook Ski World

Allgeasons

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 (913) 539-5391

December Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away $13 Single $18 Double Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.-$10 (Offer good Sunday-Thursday until December 17, 1987)

> Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

Christmas Gift Idea:

The folks back home happening in your life

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

want to keep up with what's at Kansas State University.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:

_Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

__Academic year (32 weeks), $35

One semester (16 weeks), $20

_Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Send to:____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:____

Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____

Purchased By:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:____

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Fall____Spring____Summer__

Amount Received $_____By:_____

12:00 Late Night Father Knows 700 Club
Best Reunion Season's Greetings

TO: Mary

FROM: John

Say you care with

			- 1
			 _
 			 _
 			 -
	-	_	 -

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon Thursday, Dec. 10. Ads will run in Dec. 11 Collegian.

776-7874

Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays un-til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St.

TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane

FOUR VERY nice five-drawer metal desks. Come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. (69-73)

never opened, unbeatable prices. Chris 539-1089, Jeff 776-4387. (71-74)

33 SQUARE feet multi-colored carpet with pad. Will sell sections, $2.00 square yard. 537-9326. (72-74)

Study Rooms Available

Beginning Dec. 7

(upon availability)

539-7531

17th & Anderson, 539-7531

Our Lady

of Guadaloupe

Fiesta

Seven Dolors Parish

December 12, 1987

6:00 Mass

7:00 Dinner Dance

5350 in advance,

$400 at the door

6 and under free

FOR SALE: $150. Round-trip airline ticket to California (K.C.-L.A.-K.C.). Leaving K.C.—Dec. 20th, 3 p.m. Leaving L.A.—Jan. 4th, 11 a.m. Eduardo. Tel.:

532-5580, ext. 35 (afternoons); 776-1119 (before 8

MOVING, MUST sell: 1981 Kawasaki LTD 250 street

ROLAND JUNO-2 keyboard. Less than one year old, come and see at 317 S. 4th or call 776-6112, 9 a.m.-

NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case, $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

JENNIFER-DON'T ever forget: ICC, Austin, street

walkin', cemeteries, married men, Brian the driver and the rough boys, the Polack or me. I'll miss you - who else keeps me crazy and strange? DMS. (73)

MARY S .- You've made it! From brownie fights to CHURCH GUY: Well, I suppose you did have to enjoy

DELTA DELTA Delta pledge class-Finals are com Ing! Finals are coming! Study hard and hang in there. We know you can do it so teachers beware! As your favorite actives, we want to give you more than just support, we're your #1 fans, and we know you deserve a good report. So take one step at a time and come to us when you're stressed. You're here because we want you here, and we think you are the best! Good Luck! Love, the Actives. (73)

KSU #24 Ray W. - Thanks for making class bearable.

Are you available? Good luck in K.C. An Admirer

T.L. I am in your economics class. Hope you liked the

LISA H. We've ridden the storm out now let's live every moment because I can't fight this feeling any longer. Snuggle bugger. (73)

KSU CHEERLEADERS-Good luck at Nationals, we heard San Diego is warm in January. Can we CAT-along? We love ya! Willie you stink, (Ha). Sincerely: your favorite Santas John and Jeff. Paradichloro-

TRI SIG, Save me from Gandhi! Let's go out. Reply in

PIKE JETSETTER Bryan — Subs and Quickies?, walking, Clydesdales?, those stupid subways, walking, Central Park, 5th Avenue, walking, Ellis Island. Eastern? Which way is the bay? Thanks for an awesome weekend! Your fellow jetsetter, Deb. (73) SIGMA NU John, How does it feel to be a T.K.O'd

Personals, Signed, Kidnapped, (73)

camel jockey? (73)

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

luck wherever you go! Love, Susan F. (73)

our trip to "just past the Westmoreland turn-off;

we've had great times and great memories. Best of

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

5:30 p.m. (69-73)

PERSONALS

it-twice. (73)

bike. $400 or best offer. 776-3896. (73-74)

University

COMPACT DISCS: blank tapes; cassettes; movies

Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734, (57-75)

Aggieville

21

(Continued from page 14)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $275 per month. Available from Jan. 1st. Phone 582-3199 or visit 1837 College Heights, Apt. 4. (73-15) AVAILABLE ON or before Jan. 1. One-bedroom reasonable rent, no peta, near campus, 537-8389. (73-

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf) AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf)

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136 (6111)

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

•24-hour emergency maintenance On-site laundry facilities *Two outdoor swimming pools ·Professional on-site mgt.

Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary Call Today 539-2951

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apartment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75) TWO BEDROOM-Two blocks east of campus. Avail able Jan. 1, $250/month. 539-2116 or 539-2892. (70-73)

BASEMENT APARTMENT available Jan. 1. One block

west of campus, $175 month. Call Jim, 776-2373.

ONE BEDROOM large enough for two. One and one-half blocks from campus. Unfurnished, laundry fa-cility. Call Chris after 5 p.m. at 539-7906 or Jim at 539-5091. $265. (71-75) NICE UNFURNISHED basement apartment, north of Manhattan High School, one bedroom, central air, washer hookup, separate entrance, backyard use, no pets, lease required, available December 20th. $250, includes utilities. Call 776-0782, 5-7 p.m. (72-

NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75) GREAT THREE-bedroom house near campus. $650 per month (or $220 per bedroom). Available Jan. 1 Call 537-9441. (72-75)

Rubes

@1967 LEX A RUSIN.

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-1465. (62-75)

ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75)

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in several convenient locations. One and two bedroom. $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75) CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles; 1615 Anderson, $315/month. Two bedrooms, unfurnished. 539-2830 (69-73)

Second semester apartments in several convenient locations.

One & two bedrooms $240-$360.

> Call soon for best selection.

2700 Amherst 776-3804

04

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment in Westloop area. $250. Available Dec. 20. 539-6308. (72-75) FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 1114 Vattier. $350 plus utilities. Available now. 539-1498. (73-75)

LARGE TWO-bedroom, 926 Bluemont. 776-9017. (73-NEWLY REMODELED two-bedroom. 501 Houston St.

$295, 539-4214, leave message. (73-75)

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1979 TOYOTA Celica GT, five-speed, new paint, air conditioning, great car. Must sell. 537-8944, Mur-

1971 MALIBU, green, fair condition, runs great. Call Tommy 539-3769 or 539-9834 Rm. 301. (72-75)

09 EMPLOYMENT CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menio Ave., Suite 219, Menio Park, CA 94025. (40-

BARTENDER, MONDAYS and Fridays and weekends. Simple well drinks and beer, 776-6862, ask for Forrest. (71-75)

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN. Part-time, variable hours, evenings and weekends; Must be available for year-round employment. Typing required. The St. Mary Hospital, 776-1981. (71-75)

By Leigh Rubin

HIRINGI GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

ENTHUSIASTIC PERSON needed for telephone man keting sales. Monday evenings 2-3 hours. Call 539-1662 between 9-12 for interview. (69-73)

DIRECTOR OF Music position. Starting Jan. 15. Contact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-75)

SPRING BREAK vacation sales. Earn top pay selling vacations to Florida. Guaranteed $15 commission per sale. Must be organized, outgoing, and honest. Individuals or organizations call 1-800-338-0718. Florida Vacation Service. (71-77)

GIRLS OVER 21 to model lingerie. $10 an hour plus Please call 1-456-7050 for interview. (72-75)

THE VILLAGE Inn Family Restaurant is now hiring full and part-time employees. All positions are open! Come talk to us at 296 Tuttle Creek Blvd., located right behind Village Inn, or call us at 537-9716. We are taking applications Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. 8 p.m. Come join our family. (72-

BABYSITTER NEEDED for a three and two-year-old. Early evenings and weekends. Must have transportation. Kim, 539-2407. (72-73)

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

Seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required, year round position. Minimum commitment two years requested.

Respond to: P.O. Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume, please.

BELLY-DANCER wanted! Earn good money and have fun! For information call 532-2362, ADA in 313. (72-

MIDWEST NANNY service positions now available with families in the Boston/Massachusetts area. If interested contact Tammy for more information at (913) 625-8045. (73-75)

STUDENT STOREKEEPER for spring semester. Must be able to work Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30-10:20 a.m.; Tuesday, Thursday desirable. Must be able to lift 100 lbs. regularly and 50 lbs. to shoulder height. Reading and effective written and verbal communication skills required. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of urgency, must be clean, neat and display a sense of a Food Handler's Card. Apply today in the K-State Union Food Service Office. (73-83)

STUDENT OFFICE Assistant for spring semester Apply in K-State Union Food Service Office today position to begin training immediately. Position offers excellent practical experience. Student needed to work 8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Tuesday. Thursday and as back-up during mid morning Mon-day, Wednesday, Friday. Work includes customer assistance and order taking, invoice preparation, typing, filing and data entry. Requirements include: Very good communication skills, ability to follow instructions, attention to detail, 40 wpm typing skills, desire to meet customer needs and must be able to obtain a Food Handler's Card. Position will continue throughout the following school year with possible variation in hours. (73-

PAY DAY! Apply now for second semester student positions (all shifts for waiters and waitresses; Monday, Wednesday, Friday pizza 9 a.m.-2 p.m.; Mexican food make-up Monday-Friday during lunch 10:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.; Grill server 10 a.m.-1 p.m. during lunch Monday-Friday; Evening cook 3-7 p.m. Cashier, porter and server positions also available.) Bring in spring class schedule today and fill out application in K-State Union Food Service Office. We offer student pay plan, job variety, and centrally located work place. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of urgency, must be clean, neat and wear appropriate attire. Food Handler's Card a must. (73-83)

SANDSTONE AMPHITEATER

Bonner Springs would like to use the Holiday Break to seek an enthusiastic college student to fill an administrative position during its 1988 summer concert season. Some clerical skills required and must be good with the public.

Opportunities also available for crowd control, stage hands, and production assistants.

For more information call: (913) 287-1154

Bloom County

CAUTION:

WIDE TURNS

LMAKE

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

CAN'T THINK OF

By Charles Schulz 28 Bright signs 31 Kin of THAT'S MORE NOVEL blvds. 33 Worked as

ASSOCIATE TEACHER for Early Childhood Program; working with kindergarten and early school age children. Approximately 25-30 hours/week. Hours in E.C.E. or El. Ed. required. Apply at Seven Dolors Child Care/Pre-School, 728 Colorado (8th and Colorado) by 12/16. EOE. (72-75)

CHILDCARE INFO Roommates and Services Call Tele-find Services

539-2255 FINANCIAL SERVICES

INVESTOR NEEDED: Recup $35,000 within seven years by tax savings. Half ownership s ness. 913-456-7483, after 6 p.m. (69-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101 Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low ties, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (61tf)

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom duplex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston. $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75) AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy. $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor efficiency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055 Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings (68-75) ATTRACTIVE OLDER home, large living room, dining area, basement, three bedrooms, plus nice fenced yard. $495. 1st December. 537-8555, 537-8065. (70-

THREE-BEDROOM house, double garage. Available Jan. 1. $400/month. Call Jim, 776-2373. (71-73)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13 A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, micro wave, ceiling fan, vauited ceiling. Catrina, 776

3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75) LOST AND FOUND SONY WALKMAN. Found in Union (student) parking lot Thursday, Dec. 3rd at 1 p.m. Was turned in to Lost and Found at Union. Identify by tape inside Walkman, (71-73)

FOUND: GOLD watch near Waters Hall. Call 532-3827 and describe. (72-74) LOST-SEIKO men's watch with black leather wrist-band lost at Recreation Complex. Phone 532-3510.

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Business Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931 (32tf)

-Mrs. Santa & Sexy Mrs. Santa -Elf Suits

-Angels Open 10-6 631 Humboldt 539-5200

NOW SELLING

SESSIONS

776-2426 1126 Laramie

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in Westmoreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

PYRAMID PIZZA All Slices 99 after 5 p.m.

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

TROPICAL TAN

5 tanning sessions

$10.00 20% off all Ray Ban

Sunglasses

TROPICAL TAN

Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg-nancy test. Confidential, Call 537-9180, 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RENTALS GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overçoats, field jackets, camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear.

TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and noncorrecting. In the Hull Business Mac North 12th, Aggleville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE 22 FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner. Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75) TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave message. 537-3166. (71-75)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (73-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED

FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers, 776-1996. (55-75)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed across from Ahearn $140 and half utilities. Call Dawn at 537-4811. (69-

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished house. Own room, $120/month plus one-third utilities. 537-1388. (70-74) ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment

m Old Stadium. $125 plus one-fifth utilities. 776-3244. (70-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat quiet female for luxury townhouse. Pool, tennis, many extras-$165, 537-7605. (70-74) GRADUATE STUDENT seeks responsible, mature, non-smoking roommate, one-half block from cam-pus, $115/month, utilities included. Jeff. 776-1513.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted, three rooms available in spacious house four blocks south of cam-pus. $130 a month plus share of utilities. Call 537: 9487 or 539-1820. (71-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED for next semester. Clean, quiet, non-smoker to share house with older stu dents. Private bedroom, Call Scott or Greg. 776

WE'RE ALMOST on campus, and Aggie ain't far. If you have a T.V. or a VCR, as a roommate w you'd really be great. Call 776-8688. (71-75)

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female to share large house. $250/month plus one-half utilities. 776-9678 after 5 p.m. (72-75)

STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (72-75)

NEED SPRING semester roommate, $135, own room, washer/dryer, 'til June 1, 776-7905 evenings. (72-74) MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share new, furnished, three-bedroom apartment. Price negotia ble. Call 537-8296 afternoons and evenings. (72-75) ONE-TWO male roommates needed to share really nice apartment one-half block from campus. 776 3896. (72-74)

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, $110 month plus one-sixth utilities. Close to campus. Call 537-0316.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester Share two bedroom apartment. Have own room 537-3339. (72-75)

KSU MALE to share apartment one-half block west of campus. $125 a month. 776-4528. (72-75) MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood, $150/ month plus utilities, negotiable, 539-6515, keep trying. (73-75) MALE TO sublease, own room, four blocks from cam pus. $100/month. Plus one-sixth utilities. 776-7794. (73-75) smoker, own bedroom. $172.50/month plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7687. (73-75) NON-SMOKING, STUDIOUS female to share very nice apartment close to campus. Washer/dryer, $150/month plus one-half electricity, 539-0344, (73

FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Non-

NEED ONE male. $116 a month, one-third utilities, next to Ahearn on Denison, 539-6847. (73-75)

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: Close to campus, 1615 Anderson, rent $105/month, one-third utilities. Phone 776-0827 (73-75) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two bedroom, very nice, own room. 537-1273. (73-75)

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester. Own bedroom, close to campus and Aggie, in new complex. $160/month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-8058.

24

28

SITUATION WANTED

ADOPTION IN California. Stanford University profes sor and wife. Happily married for many years. Anx ious to adopt newborn infant. Personal meeting welcome. Lawful and proper pregnancy related expenses paid. Couple approved by California adop-tion authorities in advance of placement. State su-pervised adoption procedures. Please call collect Terri and Michael Fayer (415) 328-8723. (71-75)

SUBLEASE VERY nice one bedroom duplex. Quiet location, three blocks to campus. Off-street park-ing. January rent negotiable. $250/month. 776-3432. (72-75)

NEEDED FOR second semester, two male room mates, one-half block from Ahearn, $120/month one-fourth utilities, 776-4528, (73-75)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed-Great apartmen $150 month. 537-2178. (73-75)

SLEEPING ROOM

SLEEPING ROOM for girl. Close to campus. $80. Ils paid. Phone 539-8608. (73-76)

WANTED

20

29 RIDE WANTED to Columbia or Springfield, Mo. Will pay one-half gas. Contact Mike, 532-4898. (73-75)

SPRING BREAK LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so far! Call toll free for full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-day! (67-75)

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

38 It precedes 57 Soapfold or frame bar

58 Actor

Danson

2 Dill weed

59 Abound

DOWN

1 Hacks

4 Dinner

course

5 He sold

phase

7 Befitting

a king

8 Stirs up

9 Hotel

6 Altar

his soul

slapped in some old movies 40 "The Hey Kid" 5 Douglas, 41 Pool, in for one Scotland

Levin

thrush

8 Swedish rock group 43 Author 2 Wild ox 13 Commotion 45 Harm 47 Discount 14 Scottish

ACROSS

1 They get

51 Canoe dance 15 Harbor 52 Wood warning 17 Spicy 54 Letter boat

a model

35 Small bar-

racuda

36 Medicinal

plant

phrase 55 Solemn 8 Moves wonder furtively 56 Concert 19 Grownups halls 21 Code unit

Solution time: 22 mins. 22 Opulent 23 Polish vigorously 26 Harbor

10 Zone 11 Exclamation 16 Stain

20 Press for payment 23 Rule, in India 3 Distribute 24 Grape 25 Lab vessels channel 29 Education 30 Pig's digs 32 Greets 34 Spun 37 Unit of 27 Narrow

light employees 39 City on the Oka 42 Biblical name

44 Monk's boss 45 Wading bird 46 Not any

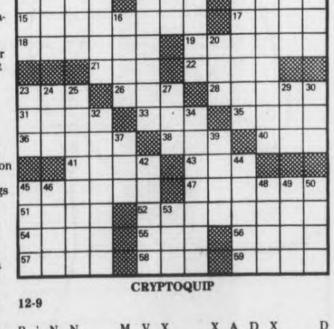

48 Assistant 49 Corner 50 Popular

cheese

53 Ram's

VXFPVGVF

Today's Cryptoquip clue: F equals R

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE LEARNED PODIAT-RIST'S PAPER HAD LOTS OF FOOTNOTES

DX XA ADGV ZDO NDMSFDXSFL

Soviets deny pilot's release from prison

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union on Tuesday squelched rumors that daredevil pilot Mathias Rust would be out of prison and back home in West Germany for Christmas.

Rust astounded the world and embarrassed the Soviets on May 28 by flying a single-engine Cessna plane from Helsinki, Finland, through the vaunted Soviet air defense system to Red Square, where he landed next to the Kremlin wall.

The unauthorized flight led to a top-echelon shakeup in the Soviet military.

The 19-year-old pilot, who said his flight was to advance peace, has been in Soviet confinement since he landed. On Sept. 4, the Soviet Supreme Court convicted him of illegal entry into the Soviet Union, violating international air safety regulations and malicious hooliganism, and sentenced him to four years in a labor camp.

Summit

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

of State George Shultz, national security adviser Colin Powell, White House chief of staff Howard Baker, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, former Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and others.

Presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the leaders discussed human rights, arms control and strategic arms reductions. They formed two working groups, one on arms control and another on human rights, regional and bilateral issues, which will report back to the principals.

At the end of their first meeting, Reagan gave Gorbachev solid gold cufflinks depicting the prophet Isaiah breaking swords into plowshares.

"The Soviet side is satisfied with the businesslike beginning of the summit," said Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov. Summing up the American view, Fitzwater said, "They feel very good about the first meeting."

He said the session was devoted generally to an overview of the agenda.

In all of their public comments, the two leaders emphasized hopes of moving toward a more ambitious accord to cut long-range strategic weapons — the world's most deadly arms — by half.

During an elaborate welcoming ceremony for Gorbachev at the White House diplomatic entrance, the Soviet leader said that he and Reagan must strive to "undo the logic of the arms race."

Under gray skies on the South Lawn, the Soviet leader was welcomed with a 21-gun salute.

TAIM HIGH:

OPTOMETRIST
PHARMACIST
CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGIST

The Air Force can make you an attractive offer — outstanding compensation plus opportunities for professional development. You can have a challenging practice and time to spend with your family while you serve your country. Find out what the Air Force offers. Call

TSgt Doris 913-491-8640 Collect

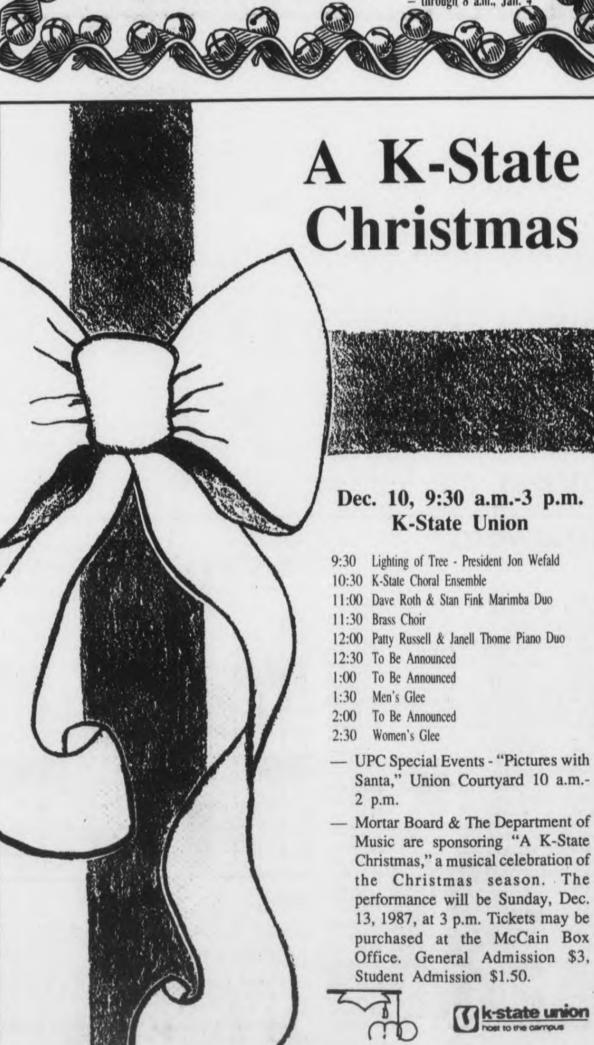

Sweet Holiday Dreams

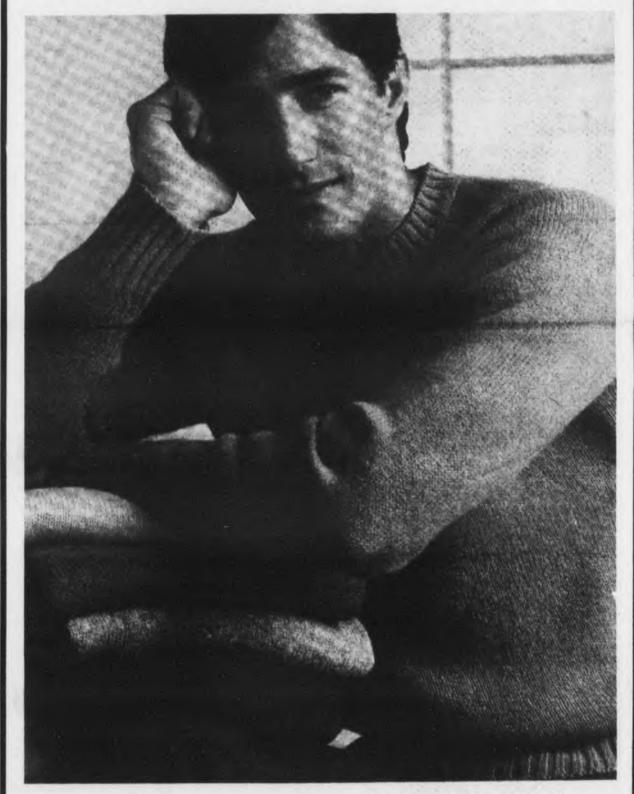

YOUR CHOICE 14.99

SWEATER SALE

■Reg 19.99. Give him the season's essential sweater-The Fox® full-fashioned wool/acrylic crewneck. Machine washable for easy care. In a rainbow of colors. Men's sizes S-XL.

SALE 14.99

St. John's Bay® Shaker sweater, Reg. 19.99. A tried and true winter classic—the acrylic Shaker stitch sweater. In an array of fashion colors. Men's S-XL.

Prices effective through Dec. 12th

We bring out the Santa in you at JCPenney

Holiday Hours 8-9 Wednesday & Saturday 10-9 Thursday & Friday

Manhattan Town Center

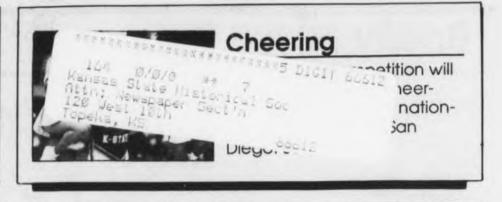

Up in the Air

K-State Parachute Club members descend thousands of feet in only seconds, and find an exciting experience. See Page 9.

Weather

Mostly sunny this morning with increasing clouds by afternoon, high 50 to 55. Partly cloudy tonight, low in low 30s. Windy and colder Friday.

Thursday

December 10, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 74

Kansas State Collegian

Memorial Stadium's long-range outlook could include razing

By Michelle Engemann Collegian Reporter

As part of a long-range plan for improving the University, campus officials are considering demolishing Memorial Stadium.

Lawrence Garvin, director of facilities planning, said the site may be used to build an art museum.

The plans have not been formally submitted to University officials, and facilities planning doesn't expect approval of the plans for at least two years, Garvin said.

Memorial Stadium has become uninhabitable, he said, adding that cracks have developed in the concrete bleachers. Also, the bleachers are pulling away from the walls, and attempts to patch the leaks and support the bleachers have been unsuccessful.

While none of the building's occupants are in any danger, the facility would also have to meet current fire codes if it was renovated, Garvin said. East Stadium and West Stadium met fire codes when they were built, but "by no means (would they) meet present codes," Garvin disadvantages.

No cost estimates are available for renovating the stadium or demolishing it and then rebuilding another structure, Garvin said. However, he added, the cost-to-benefit ratio is unacceptable for remodeling.

"Its (Memorial Stadium) use has become very marginal - we probably shouldn't be housing University activities in it now," Garvin said.

Duane Noblett, assistant professor of art, said a large amount of space is available for studio work, but the quality of the space is questionable.

Students enjoy the building because of the casual environment it provides, Noblett said.

"It's not like they spill paint on purpose, but if they do, it's not a big deal like if it was in Bluemont Hall,' Noblett said.

East Stadium currently houses the University's telecommunications department, K-State Police and Purple Masque Theatre. An art gallery, art studios and kilns are located in West Stadium.

John Vogt, associate professor of art and head of the sculpture department located in West Stadium, said the building has advantages and

> West Stadium suits the needs of ■ See STADIUM, Page 14

Local mall affects regional business

Fourth of five parts

Editor's note: This is the fourth of a fiveday series examining the Manhattan Town Center and what its development means for Manhattan and surrounding areas.

> By Jenny Chaulk Campus Editor

When the Manhattan City Commission adopted the Land Use Plan in 1968, it probably had no idea it would take almost 20 years for a part of the plan to be completed.

The 1968 plan outlined a policy stating that the commercial development needs of Manhattan would be met by maintaining the central business district as a regional center. This regional center - the Manhattan Town Center — opened its doors Oct. 26 for about 155,000 potential consumers from Manhattan and its surrounding region.

The concept of regional malls is not new, according to the International Council of Shopping Centers. The first regional mall was built in-1957 in Edina, Minn. Since then, the popularity of malls has spread with amazing rapidity.

In Kansas, there are 372 shopping centers, 40 of which can be classified as malls. Twenty-eight of these are about the same size as Town Center, according to ICSC. Construction on 21 new malls in Kansas began last year alone and represented more than $61 million in investments. Town Center cost about $27.5 million.

"We're babies," said Chris Heavey, general manager of Town Cen-"The center industry has only been around since the 1960s. When centers were first developed, they were in major metropolitan areas. From this, it was learned a certain area of the population - about 70 percent - would more or less go to

■ See MALL, Page 5

Sanctions against S. Africa hinder student's trip home for holidays

By Nancy Hill Collegian Reporter

There is no place like home for the holidays for most college

But due to complications arising from U.S. sanctions against South Africa, one K-State student will not return home for the holidays.

Marijke Nel, a freshman in journalism and mass communications and a K-State tennis player from South Africa, chose not to spend her Christmas break with her family in light of flight and travel rules.

In October 1986, the U.S. Congress approved sanctions which took away the landing rights of South African Airways in the United States.

Because of this, rather than flying directly to South Africa, Nel said she must fly to Europe for connecting flights when flying to or from home.

In addition to this, many rules have been established which complicate her travel, Nel said. One rule would force her to stay out of the United States for 21 days before she can return.

All of these difficulties, combined with a flight itinerary which would require her to take all of her finals early, convinced Nel and her family that it would not be worth the hassle to have her come home for Christmas break, she said.

"Over the Christmas period, fares are skyhigh," Nel said. "We finally decided it wouldn't be worth the while for me to go home for three weeks."

Nel said she will spend the Christmas holidays with relatives in Oklahoma City. Although Nel has not been home since this past summer and will not return until this summer, she said she is looking forward to staying with her relatives and will make the best of her first Christmas in the United States.

Nel's home is in Muden, South Africa, where she lives on a ranch with her parents, five younger sisters and one brother.

"I live out in the boonies, one and a half hours from a decent-sized town," Nel said.

"Since South Africa is bilingual, everyone must know at least two languages, Afrikaans and English," Nel said. Nel speaks Afrikaans, which is her native language, as well as English, Zulu and German.

"I do get homesick, but I think I can stick it out until the summer,"

She said she is very happy here, and she was honored to have the opportunity to come because it is Marijke Nel, freshman in journalism and mass communications and a K-State tennis player, will not be able to return to her home in South Africa for Christmas due to U.S. sanctions against that country.

quite out of the ordinary to come to the United States.

"America was just this big, faraway fantasy to me growing up," she said. "I received a lot of hometown glory when I came here."

Christmas is celebrated in much the same fashion in the United States as in South Africa, Nel said.

"It's a little different. It's our summer during your winter, so we catch a tan on Christmas Day," she said. "It's also more religiously oriented."

The winter here has provided Nel with a new experience - snow. "I was mesmerized. I'd never seen it fall out of the sky," Nel said.

When asked about the difficulties South Africa is facing with the apartheid situation, she said it is very hard to understand unless you see it yourself. "It's sad," she said. "It's such a beautiful country, but people don't want to go there because they're afraid something will happen to Nel said although she does not fully understand the political and economic sanctions that have been placed against South Africa, she still feels repercussions. "Politics to me mean having to fly 18 hours extra to get home," she ■ See HOLIDAYS, Page 14

Summit focuses on arms, Afghanistan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev grappled with differences over Afghanistan and cutbacks in strategic nuclear arms Wednesday in a summit meeting that ended "on a very optimistic note" but failed to produce any breakthroughs, U.S. officials said.

One administration source, speaking privately, said it was unlikely there would be any progress on withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan but it was possible there could be some movement "at the margins" on arms control. Gorbachev himself told Reagan at a dinner at the Soviet Embassy Wednesday night, "In some areas we remain far apart," although he said he felt "we have made headway on a for optimism."

Reagan, in his toast at the dinner, spoke of "differences that reach to the core values on which our political systems are based.

"Even so we can make progress," Reagan said, adding that "perhaps in this Christmas season we should look at an even deeper and more enduring realism....It is the reality that binds each of us as individual souls."

Gorbachev, in his toast as translated by his interpreter, said, "Bombs and missiles cannot think....Those devices have neither souls nor conscience and so they are more dangerous than any madman."

Earlier, at the conclusion of the leaders' lone negotiating session of the day, a twohour meeting, presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said, "This was a day of heavy

Secretary of State George P. Shultz told number of important issues and this is cause ABC News, "We see a little progress here and there, but they are tough issues."

Reagan, in an interview with columnists, noted Gorbachev has said publicly he wanted to pull troops out of Afghanistan. Without revealing details of the talks, Reagan said the two sides have people "working on that particular question right now as to when and

Asked to describe his mood after the signing of an arms treaty Tuesday, Reagan said, "Well, I felt good. I think that yesterday was quite a day, after years of debate and discussion and walking away from things without settlement. I thought it was quite a day."

Reagan and Gorbachev are to wind up their discussions with an Oval Office session and a working luncheon today. The White House said Reagan would address the nation at 9 p.m. EST tonight from the Oval Office, just hours after Gorbachev sums up the meetings at a Soviet Embassy news conference. Reagan and Gorbachev discussed the IranIraq war, the 7-year-old Soviet occupation of Afghanistan and prospects for cutting strategic nuclear arms, Fitzwater said.

"The president and the general secretary were very pleased with the meeting this morning. They left on a very optimistic note....There's a very good feeling on where we are going," Fitzwater said.

However, two administration officials, both insisting on anonymity, said afterward that Fitzwater conveyed an impression of too much optimism and that no breakthroughs were near. Circulating through the same ballroom where Fitzwater had just briefed, the officials said he had meant to convey optimism about the warmth of the leaders' relationship, not movement on issues.

Accompanied only by interpreters, the leaders talked in the privacy of Reagan's study for 11 minutes and then moved into a preliminary meeting with senior advisers.

Fitzwater said it was "a kind of roll-upyour-sleeves" session after the pre-ordained drama of Tuesday's treaty signing.

As the meeting broke up, Gorbachev "smiled at me and the president winked," said Gennady Gerasimov, the Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman. He and Fitzwater declined to discuss details of the meeting.

Meanwhile, Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze signed an agreement for an expansion of commercial airline service between New York and Moscow starting next May, inaugurating nonstop service on flights operated jointly by Pan American World Airways and Aeroflot.

The two officials also agreed to measure nuclear explosions at each other's test sites in a step to resolve "concerns" about exceeding legal limits. In a first step, Soviet monitors will go to the U.S. underground site in Nevada and Americans to Semipalatinsk.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia - British rock star Bob Geldof has offered to pay $3 million of Ethiopia's debts to the U.S. government if it will help revive American development aid to this impoverished nation.

The money would come from the millions Geldof has helped raise for African famine victims since 1985 as head of Band-Aid, Live Aid and other programs.

The U.S. Embassy in Addis Ababa said Wednesday that Geldof had made the offer directly to Charge d'Affaires James Cheek, but the embassy had no immediate reponse. An embassy official said it was not known how much money Ethiopia owed Washington because it had never been negotiated.

Geldof left Ethiopia for war-torn Mozambique on Wednesday, criticized Western governments at a news conference Tuesday for withholding development assistance from Ethiopia.

The United States was the biggest single donor during the 1984-85 drought and famine here, which killed up to 1 million people and prompted the biggest relief effort in history. But Washington does not provide development assistance to Ethiopia, which has a Marxist government.

Prince performs for crowds

LONDON - Prince Harry, the 3-year-old younger son of Prince Charles and Princess Diana, made his stage debut Wednesday in the role of a goblin.

A crowd of reporters, photographers and television crews was on hand to get a look at the prince and his classmates as they crossed a street from their nursery school to a building where the drama was staged.

Harry, in green tunic, red tights and red hat, had the nonspeaking role of Gobin One. He and a co-goblin, 3-year-old Natasha Page, were required to wield little shovels to find silver-foil "diamonds" and decorate the tree of the play's title, "The Special Little Christmas Tree."

Headmistress Jane Mynor said the performance was "quite enchanting - they are a magnificant little group." Charles and Diana joined other parents to watch the play, and afterwards all sang carols.

Harry, getting an image of puckishness like his 5-year-old brother, Prince William, stuck his tongue out at photographers when Diana delivered him to the school.

First ladies tour White House

WASHINGTON - Raisa Gorbachev dismissed reports of tiffs with Nancy Reagan today and used a 45-minute tour of the White House to express her wishes for improved relations with the "honest and friendly" American people.

Displaying a confident smile and asking many questions, the wife of Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev toured the executive mansion with Reagan.

In remarks during the tour, she invited Reagan to see the Soviet Union, discussed her own efforts to learn English, to study U.S. writers such as Mark Twain or Joyce Carol Oates, or to read American history.

"I would say meeting people is the most interesting thing," Gorbachev said when asked if she'd have a chance to meet average Americans during her hectic three-day summit stay in Washington.

war wanter

Friday Night at 7:30 p.m.

Grinch Who Stole Christmas Party

Admission: One Christmas Ornament

The Second Annual

Winfield man lottery winner

TOPEKA - A Winfield man won $5,000 and has become the third person to win a chance at a $100,000 Kansas Lottery jackpot.

Lottery officials selected Roy Walker, an employee at Winfield State Hospital, Tuesday. Contestants enter the drawing by sending in five losing tickets to the lottery agency's Topeka headquarters in an envelope available where tickets are sold.

Walker automatically will receive $5,000 for participating in the final lottery drawing, scheduled for Jan. 16.

One contestant will be selected each week until the state's first lottery game, "Up and Away," ends. Lottery officials had originally planned to run the game 10 weeks, but because of

Heart defect clue to crib death

BOSTON - A newly discovered defect in the hearts of some babies may be responsible for half of all cases of sudden infant death syndrome, a major killer of infants, researchers say.

strikes about one in every 500 babies in the United States. It is the most common cause of death among infants 2 weeks to 1 have a defect in their electrical stimulation. The malfunction could make their hearts stall when they begin to speed up for vent crib deaths. But the researchers say it may someday help with drugs.

clue that there is something defective in the way the nervous system controls the heart," said Dr. Daniel C. Shannon, a coauthor of the study at Massachusetts General Hospital.

He speculated the defect could result from immaturity or from damage triggered by an infection or toxin encountered as a fetus. The number of children studied was too small to be certain how many crib deaths are caused by the heart defect, but Shan-

Woman indicted in poisonings

SEATTLE - A woman was indicted Wednesday in the 1986 deaths of her husband and another woman who took cyanidelaced pain relievers.

Stella Maudine Nickell, 44, of Auburn, was arrested Wednesday and charged with two counts of causing death by product tampering, said FBI spokesman Joe Smith. She was jailed pend-

Smith refused to speculate on a motive, and the indictment man, said they were unaware of any other such arrests in the United States dealing with deaths in product-tampering cases.

higher than expected ticket sales, the game may end early.

The baffling syndrome, also known as crib death or SIDS,

The new evidence suggests that these babies' hearts frequently

The discovery does not provide immediate new ways to preidentify babies who are at high risk so they could be treated

"It is not something that will save lives next year, but it's a non said, "Our observations suggest it might account for half."

ing a bail hearing Friday.

Authorities have not given any connection between the victims other than to say that both deaths were attributed to tampering of Extra-Strength Excedrin by Nickell.

did not give one. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of life in prison,

U.S. Attorney Gene Anderson and Joe Smith, an FBI spokes-

Manhattan Civic Theatre Auditions For "WORKING"

A book by Studs Turkel Music by Stephe Schwartz & others

Thurs., Dec. 17th Fri., Dec. 18th 6-8 p.m.

Sat., Dec. 19 2 p.m. City Auditorium

The Public Library

A Variety of 25 Roles (Singing and NonSinging)

Add More. Save More. Do More.

Purchase a Macintosh Plus by January 2, 1988 and get up to $200 cash back on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Start with a Macintosh Plus, from Apple, the high-powered computer—for people who do work at home. Then you'll enjoy savings when you add on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Such as an ImageWriter" II printer. An Apple 3.5" Disk Drive or an Apple Hard Disk 20SC. An Apple Personal Modem. Or an Apple 2MB Memory Expansion Kit.

The more you add, the more capabilities you have. And this holiday season, you'll save more, too. Simply purchase a Macintosh Plus with your choice of select Macintosh Plus add-ons. And we'll send you cash back. Up to $200. So add more. Save more. Do more with a Macintosh Plus.

But hurry, offer expires January 2, 1988.

ConnectingPoint 111

1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

QUITTING BUSINESS SALE Regular Priced Merchandise

AGGIEVILLE. MANHATTAN

1207 MORO HOURS: Mon-Thurs.: OPEN NIGHTS, OPEN SUNDAY

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEPARTMENT OF DIETETICS applications will be accepted for the coordinated dietetics program through Tuesday, Dec. 15. See Dr. Roach, Justin 107, for more information.

TODAY

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 8 p.m. in

MORTAR BOARD presents pictures with Santa "Willie the Wildcat" Claus and the K-State Cheerleaders from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Union courtyard.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Victor E. Eusebio at 3:30 p.m. in Waters 329. The topic is: "Railroad Pricing Behavior for Export Wheat in Selected Areas in Kansas: The Pre- and Post-Stagger Eras."

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

WERE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE American Heart

This space provided as a public service

Association

meets at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA meets at 6:45 p.m. at the Union information desk before going Christmas caroling. All pre-health professionals are welcome.

ROCK CLIMBING CLUB meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209.

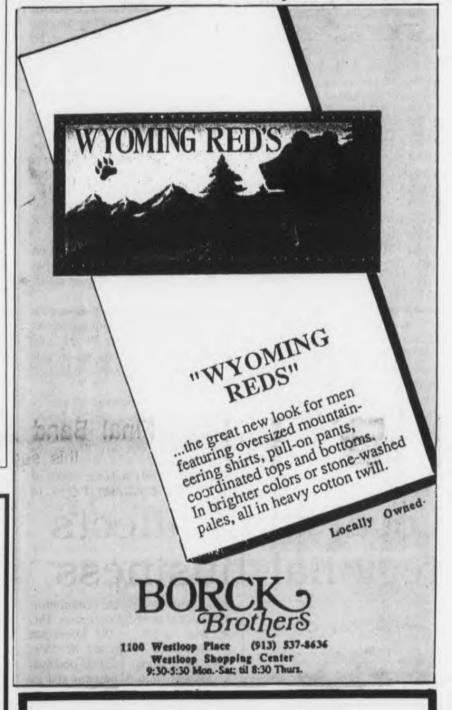

ACLU meets at 7 p.m. in Union 205 for a report from the state delegate.

FRIDAY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abdo M. Homran at 8:30 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The topic is: "Factors Which Influence Student Achievement in Secondary School Mathematics in the Yemen Arab

15 shopping days to Christmas

1987 Fruit Baskets:

"Individual" (4 lbs. fruit)... "Couple" (8 lbs. fruit)....

"Family" (1410s fruit) $17.99 "Large" (2016s. Fruit) ... $22.99

"Kansas Accents" (8 lbs. fruit 11b. Kansas Honey, and $15.99 21bs. Ed Irvine Popcom). $15.99

"Cheese'n Sausage"(11 lbs. fruit, 2-80z. Alma Cheese, and 120z Summer Sausage)$22.99

Call 776-9331 (east) or 776-1579 (west)

east of Manhatlan on thuy. 2st or K-18 by Holidome

Suspect leaves message

Searchers find gun in debris

By The Associated Press

CAYUCOS, Calif. - Searchers found a gun Wednesday in the wreckage of a jet that crashed on a hillside, and investigators said gunfire could be heard on the cockpit recording before the disaster that killed all 43 aboard.

In Washington, sources who spoke on condition of anonymity said investigators are virtually certain the fiery crash of the Pacific Southwest Airlines plane Monday was caused by a gunman disabling the flight crew.

At the accident scene, Richard Bretzing, agent in charge of the FBI's Los Angeles office, said only that the flight voice recordings showed someone entered the cockpit without authorization just before the disaster.

Sources in Washington said investigators believe the pilot and co-pilot may have been shot, and one source said gunfire could be heard on the

But investigators have not ruled out the possibility that the crew was prevented from flying the aircraft in a struggle or by sudden decompression of the cockpit from bullets shattering sections of the windshield, the sour-

About 40 searchers going through jet debris and body parts strewn over the 15-acre site found the gun around 11 a.m. in two or three inches of mud, Bretzing said.

"We have located a weapon," Bretzing said in a news conference at the site where the jet crashed on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

News reports have said that David A. Burke, fired last month by USAir, the owner of PSA, may have carried a .44 magnum handgun aboard the plane seeking revenge against former boss Ray Thomson. Both were among the victims of the crash.

"There was evidence there was unauthorized entrance into the cockpit," said Bretzing, who refused to emerged of the man who may have discuss Burke or give any details about the weapon.

Bretzing wouldn't say if gunfire could be heard on the tape, and he said the weapon was being examined for fingerprints.

Patricia Goldman, who is heading the National Transportation Safety Board investigation, said the airliner's flight data recorder was also found Wednesday and it was being taken to Washington for examination.

"Unfortunately it was heavily damaged," Goldman said, but she added it still might provide some information about the final minutes aboard the plane. "Sometimes they can do great things.'

The "black box" voice recorder was found earlier.

In addition, Goldman said the investigation so far indicates there were no structural problems with the

The pilot had reported gunfire just before the plane crashed, and the FBI quickly said it appeared the crash was the result of criminal activity. Meanwhile, conflicting portraits taken the lives of dozens of stangers in order to get even for his firing.

A federal source who demanded anonymity told The Associated Press that David A. Burke left a suicide message on his answering machine detailing plans to kill Ray Thomson, his former boss, who also was aboard the plane.

Burke, 35, worked 14 years for USAir, which recently bought PSA. But he was fired as a Los Angeles customer service agent on Nov. 18 after he was filmed by a hidden camera allegedly stealing less than $100 from flight cocktail sales.

ABC News said Burke learned his former boss would be on Flight 1771, bought a one-way ticket and smuggled a gun and six rounds of ammunition aboard, using airline identification to avoid security checks at Los Angeles International USAir spokeswoman Nancy Vaughan said Burke had turned in all his airline identification and the cards had been destroyed.

authoritative news station, said the plane lost contact with the control

2 schools to make condoms available

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter

With the threat of AIDS continuing to loom over everyone, at least two area schools have decided to try to meet the disease's challenge.

The University of Missouri at Kansas City will make condoms available in one men's and one women's restroom in its student union, said Deborah Lewis, assistant to the vice chancellor of student affairs at UMKC.

Last week, the University of Kansas' student senate voted to provide students with free condoms during spring registration in

At K-State, the question of distributing condoms on campus has been raised, but no decisions have been made, said Susan Scott, associate dean of student life.

"Students have not made any requests for (the distribution of) condoms on campus," Scott said. "No one has mentioned any particular drives (to distribute condoms) for registration," said Robert Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center.

Condoms can be purchased on campus at Lafene Student Health Center at the pharmacy and at Lafemme clinic. Twelve condoms can be purchased for $1.50.

Tout said he is going to raise the question of having condoms sold elsewhere on campus at today's meeting of the Communicable Disease Committee. The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in Union 209.

The committee, whose meetings are open to the public, was formed to help disseminate AIDS information to the staff and students, he said.

UMKC's decision to put condoms in the student union restrooms resulted from the outcome of a phone survey, Lewis

She said Steven Johnson, a graduate student at Southwest Missouri State University, conducted a phone survey on the availability of condoms on Missouri campuses. Johnson surveyed 13 university health center officials in Missouri.

Seven of these officials said condoms are already available on their campuses. Two officials said they were in the process of getting condom machines on campus. One official said they have a positive attitude about having condoms on campus but no move has been made to make them available. Three officials said they have a negative attitude about having condoms on campus.

43 die in Peruvian Channel 5 television, Peru's most

By The Associated Press

LIMA, Peru - A navy plane carrying Peru's top soccer team crashed into the ocean off a popular Lima beach, and a crewman was believed to be the only survivor among 44 people aboard, navy officials said Wednesday.

A spokesman said the survivor pulled from the choppy waters was believed to be a pilot and was being treated at a military hospital.

He said 12 bodies had been recovered since the plane crashed late Tuesday night after having trouble with its landing gear and circling the Lima airport for two hours.

Aboard the twin-turboprop Fokker F-27, owned by the navy and chartered by the Alianza Lima professional soccer team, were 28 players, the team manager, eight team employees and seven crew members, the spokesman said.

Other officials said the passengers included Marcos Calderon, the team's internationally known coach.

Only 16 passengers were identified as players in a later navy statement and the relationship to the team of the others on the list, except for the manager, was not clear. A soccer team fields 11 players.

The F-27, which can carry 50 passengers, was returning to the capital from a game in Pucallpa, a jungle city 355 miles northeast. Alianza had defeated Deportiva Pucallpa 1-0 earlier Tuesday to gain first place in Peru's soccer league.

"None of the players stayed in Pucallpa. All of them were on the plane," club President Agustin Merino told a news conference Wednesday.

Freddy Pimentel, director of the airport control tower, said the plane was to have landed at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday. The navy said it was declared in an emergency five minutes later because of problems with its landing tower at 10:30 p.m. after making three passes over the airport. Put A Smile on Someone's Face and Warmth to Their Hands This Christmas Season. Help decorate the Christmas (etree located in the lobby of Lafene Health Center by adding a new pair of mittens.

Health Center

December 1st thru December Proceeds go to: Crisis Center Head Start Manhattan Shelter (all mitten sizes needed.) Sponsored by: LAFENE

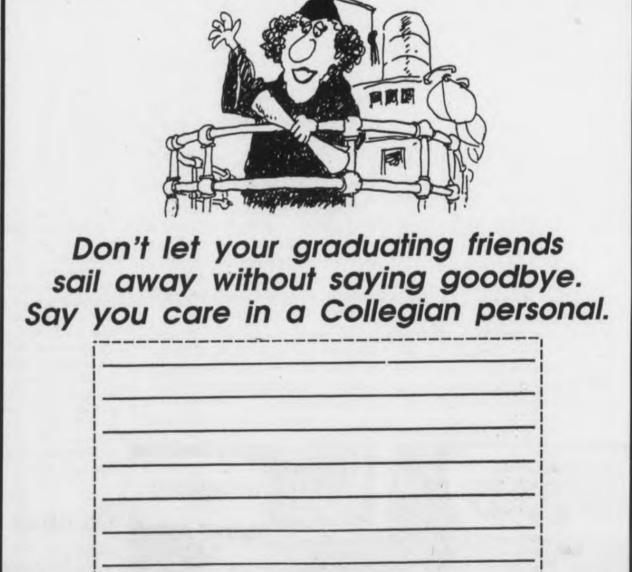

Makes a great Christmas gift.

STRECKER GALLERY 332 Poyntz ... in the 'art of downtown

The cost for your Personal is only $2.25 for 1-15 words and 15° for each additional word. Write your message in the space above, clip the coupon and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon the day before you want the ad to run. The last Collegian for fall will be Dec. 11.

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 10, 1987 ■ Page 4

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar phone 532-6555. year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Summit may preserve peace between nations

Even though that fact has not been mentioned much in the past few weeks, it is still true. The differences in the Soviet system and American system are still, and may always be, insurmountable.

Whether or not we in the United States are willing to recognize the legitimacy of the Soviet government, it is very likely that our survival - and the survival of the rest of the planet - depends on the ability of the United States and the Soviets to learn to coexist.

Peaceful coexistence between the two opposing idealogies is not easy. There are suspicions, fears and hatreds on both sides. Furthermore, the beliefs of either side do not allow for the existence of opposing systems of government.

But we are living in the strange era of nuclear weapons and mutually assured destruction. However impossible or improbable it may seem, our two nations must learn to coexist because the alternative is mutual destruction.

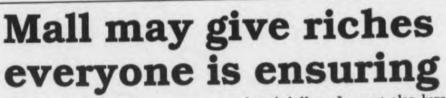

and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev is so significant. Never before first step to finding a lasting peace.

The Soviets are still our enemies. have the United States and the Soviet Union been able to work out an agreement of such importance. It proves that despite the differences in our two countries, we can work together torward an easier

The other significant part of the treaty is the reduction of nuclear weapons. Another oddity of the nuclear era is that more weapons does not necessarily mean increased assurance of peace. To many, nuclear weapons only increase the likelihood of an accidental firing which could very easily start a nuclear war given the ever present tensions between the superpowers.

Any reduction in nuclear weapons will reduce the possiblity of an accidental firing and the possible start of a war. And the process of negotiating the treaty has put both nations into dialogue with one another. That dialogue can only help to ease the tensions between the two countries and that can only help promote peace.

The treaty does not mean the Soviet Union is now a friendly That is part of the reason the treaty nation. But it does increase the possisigned by President Ronald Reagan bilty that our two nations will not destroy each other. And that is the Guarded optimism.

That seems to be the prevailing attitude toward the Manhattan Town Center mall and the predictions for its success. The newness of the mall and the freshness of its design are attracting large numbers of people and prompting many positive comments.

However, that uniqueness is being tempered by the reality that Town Center - no matter how well managed - won't always be the brandnew novelty vying for consumers' dollars. Other stores will arrive, and the mall will grow old just like everything else.

However, as was the common thread emerging from the Collegian's series of articles this week on Town Center, the mall has the potential to work great magic on the Manhattan economy. And it's safe to say that nearly every resident of Manhattan would like to see that happen.

But in order for Town Center to be a true success, it must count on capturing more than the Manhattan residents' dollars. It must also lure the money from other persons in the mall's region, which extends east to Topeka, north to the Nebraska line, west to Salina and south to Council

To do that, Town Center is forced to compete with other regional malls in Topeka and Salina.

What all of this means is that Town Center's success is by no means guaranteed. As one official said: "Malls do close." And, even if it is wildly successful, the mall may not be the panacea many tout it to be.

However, with proper leadership, a healthy dose of good luck and a generous clientele, Town Center may well usher in a new era of vitality downtown. And that, almost universally, is something all Manhattan residents would approve of.

As long as the optimism remains guarded and nothing is taken for granted, the Manhattan Town Center may well instill the magic everyone is guaranteeing.

Letters

Ticket problems

I have a few gripes about the KSU Police Department. I have received two tickets that I believe were not fair. The first one I got was for no valid permit/authorization for $8. I had my permit on my mirror, and when I put my sunshield in the window, the permit fell between the glass and the sunshield, but was still clearly visible. I appealed the ticket, but had to pay it anyway.

I received the second ticket when I parked in a loading zone next to my dorm. I was unloading a box and was inside only five minutes. I am in the process of appealing this

Another thing I can't understand is why some of the police cars are wrecked. Terry Christensen sophomore in engineering

No definites

Editor,

Well, Kirk Caraway, you obviously wanted a letter getting a response and here you go. It's so ridiculous for you not to call this country a democracy. If we aren't, what actually is this political system, anyway?

I can understand your point about people not taking the time to vote, but everyone who is 18 or older has the power to vote for their governmental officials. So the opportunity is still there. If you think the Soviet Union is No one is truly anything they are said to be. You are taking this term too literally.

Unfortunately, too many people just look at the candidate to determine their vote, but at least they take the time to vote and actually care for the person who will represent them.

I think that you are way off base to think the two parties are one party with two factions. Come on, let's get real. These two parties are as different as night and day. Republicans' main belief is that government should stay out of as many things as possible and let the country run itself, while the Democrats want to set up programs to help the people. The Democrats also want to regulate businesses and tax the rich. If these two parties are just one big party, why can't they ever get anything done in Congress? They stumble over so many bills because the two parties are so different. They have to be different, because all people have different views and outlooks they use to determine which party

Ken Allen freshman in architecture Campus unsafe

As we all know, K-State was established as a land grant institution owned by the state. There are 18 buildings on this campus that do not pass the state's own fire codes. Some of the major concerns are lack of fire alarms, sprinkler systems and lack of exit signs.

The campus is inspected each year by the state fire marshal. I would assume that, after each inspection, the state is aware of its negligence. Either the state is not obeying its own laws, or state officials are completely ignorant of the problem.

As a student and taxpayer, I would like to see the state take action and correct these problems. If one of the buildings ever does catch on fire and someone is hurt or killed, it will cost the state much, much more than the problem itself.

Michael Potter junior in marketing

Friends important

This letter might seem as though it's "out of left field" in a paper dealing with "hard" political issues, collegiate athletics, student about who gets to sit up-front. life and local issues, but let me speak my

K-State is not only an institution of higher learning with buildings, trees and streets; it is also a collection of people - of individuals. Through a chain of two people, you probably know almost everyone on campus. How many of these people can you call your friends? Is it really going to matter five or 10 years from now who the current president of the United States is or if we build a new coliseum? No. Is it going to matter to you who your friends are? Yes.

A friend is someone who sees you as you really are and likes you anyway. It has been said that the measure of a man is the friends whom he keeps. Not his/her starting salary fresh from college. Not his/her performance on a final exam. In our society, we are driven to be successful. That success is usually mea-

The word "success" invokes a sense of communist or even socialist, you're crazy. competition. Do we have to compete to be successful? Think about that for a while. In the meantime, during this festive season of all-nighters and holiday shopping, don't forget your friends. They may be the greatest successes you will ever have. I know I won't forget mine.

Ward Taylor senior in geology

Special privileges

After reading Judd Annis' recent editorial explaining his concept of a "Gold Card" student ID, one that would give certain students special privileges such as early enrollment and express check-out lanes at the Union, I had to laugh at such an outrageous idea. Then giving the subject more thought, I said to myself, "Mr. Annis isn't looking too far into the future. We have such a preferential system on campus right now.'

This organization may not make you pay $300 per semester extra to drink out of reserved water fountains offering Perrier, nor does it entitle you to utilize the "Gold Card" vending machines stocked with quiche, shrimp and sushi as Annis suggests. Even though these privileges might seem a little out of touch, ICAT operates much on the same system. There is no reason that I should have to pay $20 extra to get a decent seat in Ahearn Field House.

At the beginning of the year, I ignored much of the controversy because I figured a couple hundred people getting preferred seats shouldn't be a problem. But when I heard that 800 some people would be sitting on the front row, my passive attitude toward ICAT

The sight at the Cal-State game was almost enough to make you want to get up and leave:

ICAT consumes the entire heart of the student section while the diehard campers were stuck blowing dust off the rafters behind the goal posts. ICAT had good intentions at the beginning, but I think greed is to blame for letting too many people become members.

Something definitely has to be done. It isn't fair to be a preferred fan just because you gave up $20. What if next year everyone joined ICAT? The only thing that would be accomplished is that a season ticket would cost $55, and people would still be fighting

How about if ICAT would sell stu son tickets plated with platinum for $200? Maybe the ICAT Platinum members could sit in plush recliner chairs on the half-court line.

Vaughn Studer freshman in animal science and industry

Plea to a thief

Monday started out great. For once in my college career I actually earned the higher grade in two borderline classes. A friend of mine even asked in disbelief, "all this good stuff happening on a Monday?"

At around 4 p.m. all this changed when my red backpack was stolen from the K-State Union Bookstore. While I admit I was stupid for not locking it up, especially at the end of the semester, it didn't seem worth the trouble to dig out a quarter to lock up three small books for five minutes.

But that's not the point. The point is I lost papers and notes I have slaved over for the entire semester. They have no value to anyone but me. How could they? No other person could possibly realize the amount of time and thought which went into each of those papers, not to mention sweat, stomachaches and general frustration.

My books can be replaced, which in no way means I am not upset by their disappearance. However, a semester's worth of notes, papers, and tests can never be replaced.

Here is my advice to those hoping to make a quick buck by stealing books: take the books, but dump the bookbag and its contents where someone will find it.

To the thief who committed this crime, not only did you steal my books, notes and papers, you stole my trust. I'm-not sure if someone of your caliber could understand such a complex concept as trust. It takes years to cultivate, a project you have obviously never undertaken. Once crushed, it takes years to recultivate. In closing, I hope you thoroughly enjoy the philosophy book, especially since it will not be used next semester. If any of this affects your conscience, please turn in my backpack, and any others you might have also stolen, at the bookstore.

Karla Redelscheimer junior in journalism and mass communi-

Letters to the editor pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be type-written or neatly printed and signed by the author. They should not exceed 300

Letters may be brought to Kedzie 116 or mailed to the Collegian.

Center attracts few local businesses

By Christine Doll Contributing Writer

A mall is a mall is a mall. They all look alike.

And most are made up of the same nationwide chain stores that have the same merchandise at the same prices.

Local businesses seldom choose to settle in malls even though they are known for heavy customer traffic and high store visibility. For example, local businesses make up less than 10 percent of the storefronts in Oak Park Mall in Overland Park, Bannister Mall in Kansas City, Mo., and Town East Mall in Wichita, according to the main offices at each center.

Of the approximately 50 stores in the Manhattan Town Center, seven are owned and operated by area business people. Three of those - The Palace, City Florist and Undercover - maintained their first stores, which are located elsewhere in Manhattan, and hold only temporary leases on their store space inside the mall. These leases end Dec. 28, but all three store owners are considering renting permanent spaces.

The other four - Mid-America Piano, Noble's Gold & Silver, The Art of it All and The Rocking Horse — have stores in other are partially owned by people outside of Manhattan.

The marriage between local businesses and malls is far from perfect. Mall managers are leery to lease space to local businesses because they can be unstable and unfamiliar with the workings of a mall.

When a store folds, the mall is hurt because other businesses must be found to rent the abandoned space, and to customers, the mall appears unstable when businesses are moving in and out, said Chris Heavey, general manager of Town Center. Nationwide stores receive backing from main offices and other stores in the chain when the local economy falls on hard times.

Local businesses have only themselves. "When a local store moves in, I know I'll have to hold their hand until they figure out what is going on," Heavey said.

Conversely, local businesspeople shy away from malls because of the high overhead rates, and the stringent lease terms are not worth paying increased rent or surrendering part of the business.

I would like to have control over my own destiny," said Charles Elliot, co-owner of Reed and Elliot Jewelers. "I wouldn't have cities in Kansas, Missouri or Oklahoma, and had any control over my business if I had signed the lease."

A five-year lease at Town Center specifies the hours and days businesses must be open, what they are allowed to show in display windows and what signs are permissible in the doorways of the businesses. It doesn't, however, contain an escape clause, Elliot said.

"The requirements produce an atmosphere, and that feeling is part of the mall's attraction. That's what people expect to see when they walk into a mall," said Pat Pierce, manager of Undercover's Aggieville store. Undercover also has a temporary lease in the

"We thought some of the requirements were odd," said Lisa Noble of Noble's Gold and Silver. "But the costs outweighed any negatives. This is where the people are going to shop in Manhattan."

Others said the requirements produced an environment that is not worth the costs.

"It's kind of like a country club. You have to have the right kind of store and people with the right kind of money, or they don't want you," said Minida Dowdy, co-owner of the Master Gamer.

"If you don't have a highly polished store, they don't want you there," she said. "It has to be nice and that makes it expensive."

Businesses wanting to move into the mall must first impress a committee made up of the mall's manager and representatives from Forest Hill Development Co., the Town Center mall's leasing agent. This means opening personal and company financial records of the past five years for intensive review by the committee. If it concludes the business is not stable enough or would not be able to adjust to the working environment of the mall, then the business is not offered a lease, Heavey

Stores leasing temporary spaces did not have to undergo the evaluation. However, if they decide to stay, they would, said Dean Taylor, owner of The Palace. He is considering opening a permanent store in the mall.

After gaining the graces of the committee, stores had to weigh the possible heavier customer traffic against the higher costs many would absorb.

The rent Town Center charges includes costs for advertisements promoting the entire mall and maintenance of the interior. Some businesspeople would prefer to pay for extra costs themselves.

"I would have to pay my share of advertising and have no say, in it," Elliot said.

Reed and Elliot Jewelers prefers to use television campaigns, while the mall uses radio and newspaper advertisements. Stores have the option to pay for additional advertising, but the increase in the rent of the mall would not make it feasible.

"The overhead is too high," said Sheila Hamilton, owner of Balloon Boutique. "Rent would be $1,000 a month. I'd have to make $600 to $700 a day - that's a lot of balloons."

All of the nine establishments in the food court are chain stores. Nina Miley, owner of Swanson's Bakery, said she considered renting a counter in the food court for fresh baked goods, but the costs were too high.

"I talked to Chris Heavey. He said he wanted a doughnut roll shop there, but the rent was too high," Miley said. "One would like to have a counter in there, if they could

Local stores optimistic enough to project sufficient profits to pay the rent often cannot afford to set up a business at the mall because of construction costs.

"I'd have to pay five times (in rent) of what I'm paying now, and all I'd get is the ceiling and the floor," Dowdy said.

Mall

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

that center. This allowed the development of centers throughout metropolitan areas and different population areas."

'Regional' centers

Heavey said when centers were built in non-metropolitan areas Topeka, for example - the industry discovered these centers would draw consumers from a surrounding area of about 30 miles, earning the title of "regional centers."

ICSC defines a regional mall as an enclosed center of more than 300,000 square feet having at least two anchor stores.

Town Center barely qualifies for this definition. Its complex is about 302,000 square feet and has two anchor stores; Dillard's and JCPenney, Heavey said.

City Development Co.'s smallest center. Forest City and JCP Realty are joint developers of the center.

Town Center is also unique in two other aspects, Heavey said. "This is something that truly has never been done in our industry," he said. "When a portion of downtown has been reclaimed by the city, leveled, and a regional center has been attached directly to it, you have a very unique situation. Our entire industry will be watching this center because, if it is successful, it will be done in other cities."

Town Center is also Forest City's first regional mall in a secondary market, he said. All of Forest City's other malls are basically in major metropolitan areas.

"Normally, a regional mall is in a secondary market," Heavey said. "A secondary market is a market where the base of people is not strong enough to create a center this size. You must count on other areas to sur-He said Town Center is Forest vive. We are truly a regional center."

Region's towns

Communities in the Town Center's region include Clay Center, Chapman, Council Grove, Junction City, Wabaunsee, Volland, Ogden and the Fort Riley area. Heavey said Town Center will affect business in these areas.

"It's a reality," he said. "It all comes down to an enterprise system that has to be competitive."

Jim Carrico, president of Junction City's Chamber of Commerce, does not think Town Center has had a big impact on the city's retailers.

"Why should we think about (Town Center)?" he said. "Most of our merchants can live with it."

Carrico said Town Center "won't cut into (Junction City) because (the city doesn't) have anything like a Dillard's anyway. Junction City won't be as adversely affected as will be Topeka or Salina.

'At the present time, our people are moving aggressively to meet the challenge (of Town Center)," he Marlene Quillan, executive vice president of Clay Center's Chamber of Commerce, said merchants in her community were concerned about the impact Town Center would have on local businesses.

"We were concerned about the effect it was going to have on our retail merchants," she said. "I don't know that (Clay Center merchants) have noticed a difference in business yet or not. We really won't know how it affects us until January when we get a sales tax report."

'No easy answers'

Quillan said Clay Center's Chamber has tried to promote "keeping our people at home."

"We've had a couple of seminars on how to keep our people in Clay Center," she said. "There's no easy answer. The basic thing is to be nice to our customers and let them know we care.'

Eleanor Collier, president of Council Grove's retailers association, said Town Center has not appeared to affect business in Council Grove.

"I haven't heard anybody comthink it has made that big of a difference."

Norman Tornquist, Council Grove Chamber of Commerce manager, said Town Center has caused concern but not alarm because most of the businesses in the town are "home-owned, family-type operations, and people who shop here will keep on shopping here."

Quillan said a couple of Clay Center businesses were contacted about possibly moving into Town Center, but they decided not to because of the price per square foot of space.

Heavey said this factor - price is exactly the reason regional retailers weren't expected to relocate in Town Center.

"We approached everywhere in might be an asset to our center," he munity."

said. "We approached them to see if there was an interest and to see if they would fit into the center - how would their store look, what were their sales like, etc. None of them ment about it," she said. "I don't expressed more than an interest in finding out the rent. The question was one of what they could do for our center, rather than what our center could do for them."

Quillan said many people from Clay Center have visited Town Center.

"They think the mall is an asset to Manhattan," she said. "It makes other malls look sick.' Making other malls "look sick" is good news to Heavey. He said regional consumers are "awed" when they enter Town Center.

'They walk in and say 'Where did this come from?" he said. "Every one of (Forest City's) centers is uniquely designed. If we pay attention to the customer, that's our best insurance for success. If we do our job the region in which the merchant right, dollars will stay in the com-

WINTER INTERSESSION January 2-12, 1988

Enroll in Umberger 317

Enrollment Continues For These Intersession Classes December 10-23 8 a.m.-6 p.m.

December 28-31 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 317

	erger Hall.	COURSE TITLE	CREDIT	INSTRUCTOR	DATES	TIMES	LOCATION
REF. #	COURSE #		2UG/G	Floyd Smith	1/2-1/12	8:30-NOON	Bluemont 107
94100	AGRON 615	Sustaining Agriculture	3UG/G	Clenton Owensby	12/26-1/14		Australia
94101	GENAG 505	Comparative Agriculture: Tour Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii	300/0	Ciciliai Owaisby	14/40 1/14	omn spin	110011000
94139	ENVD 299	Architectural and Interior Delineation	2UG	Robert Bullock	1/2-1/10	Noon-5pm	Seaton 106K&N
94103	ENVD 699	Arch. Planning in Greece	3UG/G	L. Pavlides	12/22-1/12	1-6pm	Greece
94104	LAR 741	Golf Course Design	2UG/G	Chip Winslow	1/2-1/12	9am-3pm	Seaton 308
94105	PLAN 590	Community Economic Development	2UG/G	Thomas Daniels	1/4-1/12	1-5pm	Denison 222
94106	PLAN 815	Community Economic Development	2G	Thomas Daniels	1/4-1/12	1-5pm	Denison 222
94108	PLAN 590	Rural Planning in the 3rd World	2UG/G	Mark Lapping	1/4-1/12	8am-NOON	Seaton 221
94109	PLAN 815	Rural Planning in the 3rd World	2G	Mark Lapping	1/4-1/12	8am-NOON	Seaton 221
94110	ART 300	Art/London	2UG	Diane Dollar	12/26-1/10	9am-5pm	England
	an anna a 100	word in the second	2UG	Karen Brewer	1/4-1/12	8-11:15am	Nichols 127
94112	CMPSC 490	"C' Programming Language	2UG	G.W. Clift	12/26-1/10	varied	England
94113	ENGL 395	Literary Britain	2UG	Charles Walters	1/4-1/12	8am-NOON	Thompson 101
94114	GEOL 310	Roadside Kansas	200	Chance Wanter	1,4-1,12	oani 1100ii	Thompson To
94116	JMC 690	Advanced Desktop Publishing	2UG/G	Charles Pearce	1/4-1/11	9am-5pm	Kedzie 105
94117	JMC 740	Contemporary Public Relations	2UG/G	Shirley Ramsey	1/2-1/12	6-10pm	Calvin 208
94118	MATH 499	Linear Programming	1UG	Lyle Dixon	1/4-1/8	8am-NOON	Bluemont 113
94119	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2UG	Mary Lee Cochran	1/2-1/12	9am-NOON	McCain 105
94120	MUSIC 390	Beginning Recorder Playing	2UG	Frank Sidorfsky	1/2-1/12	1-4pm	McCain 135
94121	MUSIC 424	Jazz in Kansas City and the SW	2UG	Alfred Cochran	1/2-1/12	1-4pm	McCain 105
94123	SOCIO 301	Topics and Issues of Terrorism	1-2UG	Manjur Karim	1/4-1/12	6-10pm	Denison 120
	OT 1 T 200	W 48-1-18 Blood Bu	1UG/G	Kenneth Kemp	1/4-1/8	8:30-11:30am	Denison 124
94126	STAT 708	Use of Statistical Computer Packages in Data Analysis	100/0	Ketuleut Ketip	47.410	0.50-11 Douin	Delison 124
94136	MANGT 498	Computer Concepts and Applications	3UG	Linda Innes	1/2-1/12	12:30-5pm	Calvin 010
94135	MANGT 498	Business Start-Up for the Professional	1UG	Frederick Rice	1/5-1/7	9am-NOON &
74133						1-4pm	Calvin 201
94128	EDAF 892	Counseling Black Students		Margery Neely	1/7-8,11-12		Bluemont 341-D
94138	EDAO 842	Curriculum in Agriculture II		John Parmley	12/21-1/12		Bluemont 343
94140	EDCI 051	Study Skills Laboratory		Charles Heerman	1/2-1/12	1:30-4:30pm	Bluemont 116
94130	EDCI 502	Teacher Assistant Program		Jackson Byars	1/4-1/12	8am-4pm	KS Schools
94131	EDCI 502	Education Field Experience		Ray Kurtz	1/4-1/12	8am-4:30pm	KS Schools
94132	CT 650	Study Tour: Brussels, Paris, and London		Bernard Rueschhoff/ Bettie Minshall	12/27-1/10	8am-5pm	Europe
94133	ID 499	Photography, A Visual Communicant in Design		Robert Habiger	1/4-1/12	1-5pm	Justin 347

Phone or mail registrations are accepted. Phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 317 Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506. Tuition is $43 per undergraduate credit and $62 per graduate credit and is due at the time of registration. The maximum credit allowed is three hours per student.

KANBAS

uncing English as a Second Language

NON- Sharon Reagan CREDIT

1/4.7.8.30 9am-7pm

Dear Santa with the coming of culd newther I decided I'll better list, But the unly orwas how nice it would be sitting on the beach in 90 degree weather with the overn which the obean waves my toes.

Then one snowy afternoon I was sitting in the Minion and noticed the Spring Break banner hanging in the Union Court; 7 days on the beach, nice accommodations, and all to get to South Padre Island during spring break.

> Yours Truly, Little Bobby

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND!!! March 12-19, 1988

ISLAND PACKAGE INCLUDES

* 7 nights luxurious condominium lodging accommodations at Saida Towers. * Welcome beach party on Monday from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. with live D.J., music, refreshments, and give aways. * Farewell beach party on Thursday from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. with live D.J., music, refreshments, and give aways. * Volleyball tournament with a $150 cash prize for the winning team, and t-shirts for the runners up. Women of Spring Break and Men of Spring Break calendar contest with a $50 cash prize for the winner, and t-shirt for the runner up. Trip Staff Advisors

* Two Free tanning sessions from Sun Connection at 1126 Laramie in Aggieville.

SUN NO k-state union

PRICES (ALL TAXES INCLUDED) $198* "You provide your own transportation.

Information Meeting Tuesday, January 19, 1988 Union Big Eight Room - 7 p.m. Sign Up Begins Wednesday, January 20, 1988

K-State Union Activities Center 3rd Floor Union - 8 a.m.-3 p.m. 913-532-6571

Nominal housing fee a K-State tradition

By The Collegian Staff

Despite the 4 percent increase in the cost of resident housing next fall, K-State's housing fee is the lowest of any Big Eight universities. And, it is lower than many across the nation.

"We not only rank the lowest in the Big Eight but also have one of the lowest (housing fees) in the nation," said Thomas Frith, director of housing.

K-State offers the best deal for two semesters of room and board in one of the residence halls - $2,020 over any other institution in the Big Eight, Frith said. The University of Colorado's fee is the highest in the Big Eight at $2,962 per year.

In a study compiled by the housing department on fees at universities across the nation, K-State's fee ranked the lowest of the 22 surveyed.

"I doubt there will be a significant problem with the increase, because

A CAN FOR ALL REASONS Filled with Freshly flavored or plain POPCORN We Make It Here-Just For You!

THE TCECREAM SOCIAL

1439 Anderson, south of McCain Auditorium

FREE DELIVERY Restaurant -1304 Westloop

10% off with KSU ID 539-0888 539-8888

TONIGHT All Mixed Drinks

531 N. Manhattan

the increase will be only a little less than $80," Frith said.

All of the Big Eight universities are planning to raise their fees next year, Frith said. But, he said, K-State's is the lowest percentage.

"(The) Big Eight schools have indicated they will have an increase. (The University of) Kansas will be increasing their fee assessment by 5 percent, and (the University of) Oklahoma has a 10 percent increase," he said.

"The low cost of living in a resident hall here at K-State helps to keep the cost of living in a greek house down as well as the cost of living in an apartment," Frith said. Stadium Pizza from the Dougout

Call 537-1484

AGGIEVILLE

FLOWERS

CHRISTMAS

MUG

BOUQUETS

$750

cash-n-carry

12th & Laramie

537-9549

M-S 10-5

'Pet owner' takes on new meaning New animal ordinances

By Jackie Brazzle Collegian Reporter

Pet owners should note that having a cat or dog in Manhattan and Riley County will take on a whole new meaning when the new pet ordinances take effect Jan. 1.

The new ordinances include vicious dogs, cats, fees for licensing and kennel regulations.

Heide Clark, city clerk, said the cat and kennel regulations are additions to existing city laws. The other two categories are ordinances that have been revised.

The new kennel regulations apply to private property owners, not just kennel owners. Clark said ken-change responsibilities nels have to be in properly zoned areas. The new regulation also requires a license if a person has five or more pets living on their Fees for the kennel license will depend on the number of pets the person has, Clark said. If a person owns fewer than six dogs, the yearly license fee is $30. If six to 49 pets are owned, the fee is $40, and the fee is $60 for people who own more than 50 pets.

"Anytime anyone has more than five animals, they could be considered a kennel owner and are subject to the licensing fee," Clark said.

The cat ordinance, Clark said, will not actually be in effect until Feb. 1 because of the completion time for the new animal shelter. The new regional shelter will handle stray cats, whereas the present one does not.

Clark said the new "leash law" does not apply to cats. A fee can be levied against a cat owner, however, if the cat becomes a nuisance,

Clark said the cat ordinance serves as a control mechanism.

"This ordinance is just a control over those people who might have 60 cats running around," Clark

The fee for licensing both dogs and cats will be increased, Clark said. The fee went up to $10 for each non-neutered pet and $5 for any neutered animal. The fee formerly was $5 for both. It is illegal not to license a pet, Clark said.

"It is illegal to keep a dog or cat more than four months without getting them licensed," she said.

FREE DELIVERY ies Sat 5 p.m. to Midnight

Do you want one of the best educational experiences available at KSU?

What about easy access to social, cultural (i.e. McCain events), academic, athletic, and vocational programs?

Smith Scholars Program

Smith Scholarship House

that of University housing. If interested in this unique living arrangement (applications and inquiries) call can provide this and more at a cost less than

Roger Bacalzo, 539-4685 or KelLee Parr, 539-4690; Smith Scholarship House, 331 N. 17th

MOBILE MOT-TUB

WHO SAYS "DEAD WEEK" HAS TO BE DEAD ? CALL FOR DEAD WEEK AND FINALS WEEK SPECIALS

Holiday Gift Book Sale 30-50% OFF

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

Topics include children's books, cookbooks, bestsellers, art, architecture, history, reference, sports, nature, picture books,

and more!

539-0511

NOTICE:

Effective Dec. 18, 1987 Clinic Hours: 8 a.m.-11:30 p.m. 1-4:30 p.m.

TAFENE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER 24 hours, 7 days a week emergency service

Never a dull moment.

SPRING BREAK PARTY

with Campus Marketing

YOUR BEST DEAL TO DAYTONA

YOU DRIVE (TO THE PARTY)

INCLUDES:

- Round trip motor coach transportation to beautiful Daylana Baach (WE DRIVE Packages Only). We use nothing but modern highway coaches.
- Eight Florida days/seven endiess nights at one of our exciting oceanitron hotels, located right on the Daytona Beach strip. Your hotel has a beautiful pool, sun deck, air

SPEND A WEEK - NOT A FORTUNE

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND SIGN UP

> CONTACT LISA OPITZ

537-8469

OR LISA BARTELLI

Sponsored by Campus Marketing "DIFFERENCED PROFESSIONALS IN COLLEGE TOURS

Book buy-back process irritates many

By Chuck Horner Collegian Reporter

Financial institutions and gambling casinos tout ways of converting a little money into a lot.

The textbook buy-back process can turn a lot of money into a little.

The process for the selection, acquisition, sale and buy-back of textbooks is complex and subject to many variables. The variables dictate how much money a student receives in return for a textbook, said Judy Lundberg, assistant book department manager for the K-State Union Bookstore.

A history of textbook sales at K-State for the last five years is used to determine how many books will be bought back for a specific course, providing the course is being offered the next semester, Lundberg said.

"We always buy back less (editions) of a particular textbook than we sold," she said.

The initial step in the process is for instructors to select the textbooks to be used in the next semester's courses, Lundberg said.

Early in the preceding semester, textbook request forms are sent to each department, she said. The deadline for return of the forms is normally 60 to 70 days prior to the start of the book buy-back.

Textbook publisher representatives visit four to six times a year trying to persuade instructors to change to their textbooks, and instructors receive many "review" copies in the mail, said John McCulloh, head of the Department of History.

"These same textbook publisher representatives tell us the deadline for book requests set by the Union Bookstore is very early compared to other universities," he said.

McCulloh said the Union Bookstore deadline is not always met because of "inertia" and instructors waiting to get access to books they know exist but which they have not been able to review.

with being notified very late that a book requested by an instructor is not available, which prompts eleventhhour reaction to select a replacement," McCulloh said.

When book requests are received, they are compared with current availability data, Lundberg said. However, when books are ordered from the wholesaler at a later date, the availability situation may have changed.

Publishers exert ultimate control store emphasizes the buying and selling of used textbooks.

The Union Bookstore tells us this is because of the price advantage for the students, and the textbook publisher representatives tell us it is because the Union Bookstore realizes a greater profit from the sale of used textbooks," he said.

The Union Bookstore purchases used textbooks at 50 percent of the retail price and sells them for 75 percent of the retail price, Lundberg said. New textbooks are purchased at 80 percent of the retail price and are sold to students at full retail price, she

Robert Grindell, head of the English department, said there have been some failures in the department at meeting the Union Bookstore's deadlines. He cited "forgetting through oversight" and "late course changes" as reasons.

Doris Grosh, head of the Department of Industrial Engineering, said she uses a centrally managed process of dissemination of the request forms, tracking them through the instructor and back to the Union Bookstore. The process includes personally checking bookstore shelves to ensure availability of the books as new semester approaches.

"There is often a lot of agonizing over the selection of textbooks - the Union Bookstore forms are the easy part," Grosh said.

But, she said, mistakes are sometimes made.

"We are currently using a textbook that students paid about $50 for, but the book is not working," she said. "The book had been reordered for use next semester, but two weeks ago we changed.

"The bookstores may be upset with us, but not nearly as much as the 40 or so students who paid about $50 "There have been some problems for the book and now won't get their money back," Grosh said.

Grosh said there is a feeling among instructors that a textbook should not be used for long periods because files maintained by some living groups become too complete and students are no longer doing their

"There is no department policy that instructors must use a textbook, Grosh said. "But I would rather have McCulloh said the Union Book- a poor textbook than none at all." Publication of new editions of textbooks was cited as a problem by all three department heads. "Even though we may want to stay with an edition already in use, we are forced to switch to the new edition because the bookstores can't get the previous edition," McCulloh said.

Grosh said some of the new editions are merely old editions made more verbose. Others, she said, are improvements.

Lundberg said new editions are the textbook publishers' way of climinating competition from sellers of used textbooks.

New editions soon render usedtextbook sellers' stocks obsolete, and availability is reduced as the publisher halts publication and divests of stocks of the previous edition, Lundberg said.

The Union Bookstore finds itself in the middle of a situation created by business practices of textbook publishers and used-textbook sellers, and a high incidence rate of late book requests, Lundberg said.

When a book is purchased from the student, it is packed into cartons and sent to the wholesaler because of a lack of storage space, Lundberg

"If any time later a late book request comes in for a book purchased at wholesale from the students, we have to buy it back from the wholesaler at his price (50) percent of retail), so both the student and the Union Bookstore lose," Lundberg

The buy-back price paid for textbooks is 60 percent of the current retail price, which may have gone up or down since the book was purchased by the student. Any profits realized by the Union Bookstore are returned to the Union, she said.

Lundberg listed the following variables that can radically reduce the amount paid for textbooks during book buy-back:

■ New edition issued, making current edition obsolete.

Course using the book not offered the next semester.

Instructor switching to a different book.

A surplus of a particular textbook.

■ The Union Bookstore and/or Varney's Book Store has already purchased at retail the books needed to meet anticipated requirements for the next semester.

11-8

11-10

There is little students can do to buffer themselves against the cost variables. Selling textbooks early during buy-back before retail quotas are met is the best insurance for protecting money invested in books, but this is impractical if the books are needed to study for final exams. The alternatives are for students to add to their book collections, try again next semester or turn their investments into a small amount of cash.

Richard Pitts, junior in history, said he was to glad to get any money back but believed he didn't get back as much as he should.

"About 25 percent of the books I try to sell back are either not bought at all or I only get a dollar or two," he said. "I felt cheated; I had paid so much, waited in line, then to find out I was getting so little in return."

> Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

POSITIONS AVAILABLE IN A.S.K.

A.S.K. is: · A statewide student lobbying group.

Dedicated to the long run interests of Kansas students.

A.S.K. is looking for:

*Students who care about the future of Kansas Regent schools, •Young, energetic and dynamic students who desire a voice in Kansas politics

A.S.K. Positions Now Available

(ampus Director Communications Director Legislative Attairs Liason Membership Director

Job descriptions and applications available in the SGS office. Deadline for applying is Iriday, Dec. 18 at 5 p.m. SGS Hotline

Are you concerned about the quality of your education?

If you are interested in participating in a Lobby Day on Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1988, please sign up in the SGS office.

SGS Hotline 532-7777

WHITE HILLS WHITE

Higher Education Rescue Operation Associated Students of Kansas

Bloom County gift items! Aggieville Monday-Thursday 1205 Moro Friday-Saturday Coupon expires Dec. 31, 1987

Stop by Master Gamer before you go home, and receive 10% off!

(good on purchases over $10)

HURRICANE

in old Westport CHRISTMAS BREAK LINE-UP JANUARY

DECEMBER

11-12 The Crayons 18-19 Line ()ne

> 4048 Broadway in Westport

1-2 Dow Jones & the Industrials 25-26 The Backsliders Z-8 Plain Jane 15-16 Reel Features

753-0884

Falsettos PIZZA

MONDAY 2-FERS 2 Cheese Pizzas $5.99

Italian Sausage Pepperoni Ground Beef	Mushroome Black Olives Onlone	Jalapenoa Pineappie Green Peppers	Ham Extra Cheese
		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Choese		5.99	8.99
			10.39
2 Itoms		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
			14.59
			14.59
			14.59
			15.99
	onal Itom		1.40

We Accept Checks . Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation! WEFK AT KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE

$29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

55 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — The Kremlin wants out of Afghanistan, an 8-year-old war with casualties in the tens of thousands that cannot be squared with Mikhail S. Gorbachey's avowed plans for changing what is wrong with Soyiet society.

Mounting public resentment and the realization that the communist rulers in Kabul cannot stand alone have made it a question — as Soviet officials put it — of when to withdraw, not whether to withdraw.

Each time a young man is called for compulsory military service, with bloody Afghanistan looming over the border, loyal citizens wonder when Gorbachev's political "restructuring" will end the unwinnable war.

The youngsters are sent away and return wounded, or for burial. The parents wonder when Gorbachev's policy of "new thinking" will end the involvement started in December 1979 by the old leadership he has discredited; when his policy of "glasnost," or openness, will cause the government to disclose the number of casualties.

Officials who express the Kremlin's view at news conferences refuse to say how many Soviet soldiers have been killed. Western diplomats estimate up to 10,000 have died and many more wounded.

Since Gorbachev introduced glasnost, some articles in the staterun press have mentioned problems shared by veterans, but the war remains a sensitive one for both the media and society.

Soviet involvement in the civil war between the Afghan regime and Moslem rebels has been a major barrier to better superpower relations. It heads the list of "regional issues" the general secretary of the Soviet Communist Party and President Reagan are discussing at their summit in Washington.

Gennady I. Gerasimov, the Foreign Ministry spokesman, confirmed at a briefing Monday in Washington that the Kremlin has "made a political decision for our troops to withdraw." It insists, however, that Pakistan, the United States and other nations stop aiding the guerrillas.

Gorbachev and Najib, the Afghan leader, announced recently that all Soviet soldiers could be removed in a year or less. Western military experts estimate the Soviets have about 115,000 troops in Afghanistan, where Moslem insurgents have been fighting since a communist coup in April 1978.

No date for starting a withdrawal has been announced, nor is it likely that Moscow and Kabul have decided on one.

Western diplomats in Afghanistan and those who monitor the conflict from Moscow and Islamabad say a quick Soviet pullout would lead to a bloodbath.

Afghanistan's army relies heavily on Soviet air power in its battle with the guerrillas, who control much of the countryside, and now have U.S.-made Stinger antiaircraft missiles.

Najib was put in charge in May 1986, replacing Babrak Karmal, who was installed when the Soviet military arrived in 1979.

He calls his administration a government of national reconciliation, but guerrilla leaders have refused to consider his peace proposals until the Soviets are gone.

The Afghan leader has promised the guerrillas amnesty and a coalition government. His recent election to a seven-year presidential term by the legislature, however, has strengthened doubts among the insurgents about their chances of sharing power with political leaders installed by the Soviets.

A Soviet withdrawal has emerged in U.N.-mediated negotiations as the quickest means of ending the war, but the Kremlin says it will not leave until other outside interference ends.

Pakistan, Afghanistan's neighbor, harbors more than 3 million Afghan refugees and the United States provides arms to the insurgents, including the shoulder-fired Stinger anti-aircraft missiles. Refugee camps just inside Pakistan serve as bases and supply points for the guerrillas.

The heat-seeking rockets have brought down dozens of Soviet aircraft over the past year and cut heavily into the level of air support the Kremlin is willing to give.

Afghan troops, outnumbered by the guerrillas, are said to be losing ground in provinces they had held throughout the war.

Both the Soviets and Afghans now say they hope the next round of U.N. negotations, scheduled for early next year, will be the last.

Soldiers apprehend Filipino coup leader

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Philippines — Dozens of soldiers raided a house Wednesday night and captured Gregorio Honasan, the colonel called "Gringo" who led a coup attempt against President Corazon Aquino in August that cost 53 lives.

Aquino, who had accused Honasan of trying to kill her and her family during the attack on the presidential palace, said she was "really overjoyed" at his capture.

Honasan's effort was the most serious of several major plots to unseat the government since Aquino took office Feb. 25, 1986, and Ferdinand E. Marcos fled the country after 20 years as president.

Gen. Fidel V. Ramos, military chief of staff, said four other rebel officers and two civilians were arrested with Honasan about 7:30 p.m. in the Valle Verde district of suburban Pasig and were undergoing "tactical interrogation."

Teodoro Benigno, spokesman for Aquino, said four or five truckloads of soldiers surrounded the house and Honasan surrendered without a fight.

A private radio station, DZMM, quoted a witness at a nearby house as saying Honasan saluted his captors and shook hands with them.

Ramos said the 41-year-old colonel's arrest "effectively neutralized" the rebel group that attempted the coup Aug. 28. At least 53 people were killed and hundreds wounded, including Aquino's only son, Benigno III.

Honasan escaped by helicopter from Camp Aguinaldo, headquarters of the armed forces, shortly before loyal soldiers recaptured the garrison.

He was not presented to reporters after his arrest Wednesday, but government television broadcast a videotape that showed him him standing at attention before Ramos. Honasan bit his lip and forced a smile.

The rebel leader was captured five days before the scheduled start of an Association of Southeast Asian Nations in Manila. Military and civilian officials had expressed concern that Honasan or other dissidents would try to disrupt the two-day meeting.

Honasan claimed at the time that he did not intend to harm Aquino, whom he accused of "weak and inept" leadership.

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

COLLEGE FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES

The United States Marine Corps is currently interviewing male students for the guaranteed flight programs. Applicants must have 20/20 vision, be an above-average student, and be in good physical shape. To qualify, applicants must take the flight aptitude test. This test will be offered January 12-14. The sign-up sheet, for this test, is in the Placement Office and will be posted from December 9th to the 15th.

1stLT G. L. TROTNIC

UNION

PROGRAM

COUNCIL

(913) 841-1821

KRYSTALLOS

1124 MORO AGGIEVILLE

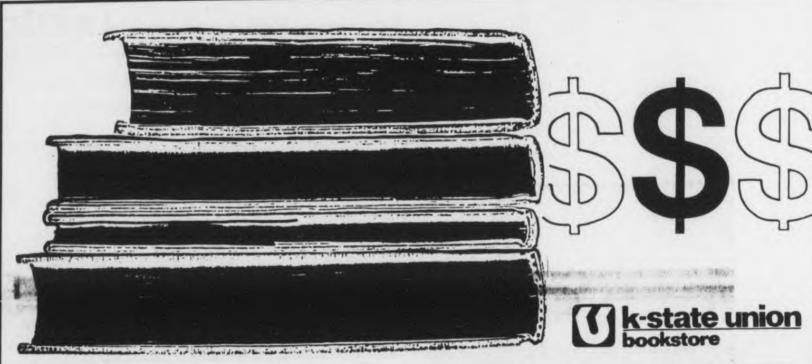

"Beautiful objects from the earth."

Gems, Jewelry, Crystals, Fine Minerals & Gifts

10-6 MONDAY - SUNDAY 10-8 THURSDAY

Want To Sell Your Books?

We Will Buy:

December 9-11, 8:30 am - 4:30 pm December 12 10:30 am - 3:30 pm December 14-18 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

It's Wonderful Life!

James Stewart's finest role as a man who feels he is worthless and feels that everyone in town would be better off if he never was born. When an angel shows him what life in the town would be without him, he realizes how important his presence in the town is. Also starring Donna Reed and Lionel Barrymore.

Saturday, December 12, 2 p.m., and Sunday, December 13, 2 & 7 p.m. Forum Hall $1.50; KSU ID Required; Unrated.

Live music by the KSU Brass Choir before the 2 p.m. show on Sat. Candy & popcorn giveaways at all showings!

k-state union upc kaleidoscope

This epic tale of two Jewish gangsters follows their friendship and fight for power from the Roaring 20's of prohibition to the mob vendettas of the Depression to the political wheeling and dealings of the 60's. It's a powerful tale of raw, brutal emotions, explosive enmities and secret longings. Stars Robert DeNiro, James Woods and Elizabeth McGovern.

Today, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre and 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75; KSU ID Required; Rated R.

Alpha-Omega Players

The Dessert Theatre will be presented on Jan. 28, 1988 in the K-State Union Ballroom. Your $4.50 ticket includes your choice from three elegant dessert selections, and a beverage. Dessert will be served at 7 p.m., Showtime will be at 8 p.m.

Call 532-6571 or stop by the Activities Center, third floor of the K-State Union, to make your reservations! No tickets will be sold at the door!

k-state union

k-state union upc feature films

This modern-day vampire-thriller is a visually stunning blend of hip humor, horror and rock'n'roll about the most compelling group of contemporary vampires ever to put fang to vein.

Friday,
December 11,
& Saturday,
December 12,
7 & 9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall
$1.75; KSU ID
Required;
Rated R.

InFocus Thursda

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 10, 1987 ■ Page 9

JUNP!

(Left) Mike Smith, senior in architecture and skydiving jump master/instructor, instructs Julie Horigan, junior in industrial engineering, about proper procedure for getting out on the strut as Lisa Waddell, freshman undecided, looks on. (Below) Julie Horigan, junior in industrial engineering, looks up at the dot on the underside of the wing as she falls away from the plane. Mike Smith, senior in architecture and skydiving jumpmaster/instructor, holds the static line as she exits the plane.

Fear and anticipation of the inevitable task ahead send a charge of electricity through the early morning air as the jumpers make their last-minute equipment checks.

Final preparations and final prayers. Three thousand feet up, and only one way down.

For students in the K-State Parachute Club, choosing to descend thousands of feet in only seconds is as natural as riding a bike.

And a whole lot more fun. "People still think skydiving is a barnstorming, daredevil stunt - something you only go out and do once when your friends dare you to," said Mike Smith, senior in architecture and skydiving instructor.

"Once people do it, a lot of them decide, 'Hey, this isn't so stupid after all - this is fun and it's safe,' and they come back and make more jumps," he said.

"College is a place where people get away from their parents and family for the first time, and it is the first time they get to step out and do something like this (skydiving)," Smith said.

Student skydivers always come away from their first jump with different impressions about what they expected.

"You think there is no way you are going to do it when you get on that plane, but once you get up there you just think of what (Smith) taught you in class," said Julie Horigan, junior in industrial engineering.

"Once you get on that wing you don't really think about it; your instincts take over, he says 'dot,' you dot and you go," said Lisa Waddell, freshman undecided.

"When I went up there I thought, maybe, that flying first would be enough. Then I was scared - I let go and said, 'This is it!'" said Angie McAtee, junior in business administration.

All first-jump students are connected to a static line that pulls the parachute open for them after they exit the plane.

The jump master, who is responsible for the students' proper execution of procedures, will hold the line until they exit the plane. The first trip starts with the plane heading for a designated drop zone. The plane will climb to 3,000 feet and face into the wind toward the drop zone. At this point, the plane is on "jump run" status. The jump master directs the pilot toward the drop zone, and once there, the jump master yells "door" and the door is opened.

The jump master then directs a student to set his or her feet out on the landing gear platform and stop. After waiting for a signal from the jump master, the student then steps all the way out.

Maneuvering hand over hand, the student slowly eases off of the step until he or she is hanging from the wing strut.

The jump master yells "dot" - the command to jump. The command is called "dot" because of an orange dot on the underside of the plane's wing for the students to look at to keep their head and body in an arched position.

The time between when the student exits the plane and when the parachute opens is only about 21/2 to three seconds - although most students swear it takes forever.

All of the student's parachutes have an emergency round parachute, just in case. "If the landing is executed properly, it is like stepping off a bar stool," Smith said.

K-State offers a first-jump skydiving class through the parachute club. It is an intensive training class that includes a one-night class, a review the morning of the jump, a test and then the jump.

The first-time jump class has been in existence since the K-State Parachute Club began in 1965. "(The club has) been growing in the past 21/2 years since they got the highperformance square canopies which make the landing much softer," Smith said. "The whole jumping experience is much more pleasant and people really enjoy the sport, so they stick around to make more jumps.

"We have been training a lot more people now that we have a couple of instructors in the club," he said.

The equipment and training techniques used by the skydivers are recommended by the United States Parachute Association.

The K-State Parachute Club has trained 76 people this semester - which is a record for the club. Smith said he expects to train an additional 45 next semester.

"It will be slower next semester because we will spend time with people whom we have already trained to jump," Smith said.

He also said that of the people the club has trained this semester, 90 percent have come back to make a second jump.

The first jump class usually consists of 15 people. The cost for the class is $85, which covers the training and the membership dues for the semester.

-Written by Susan Staggenborg, reported by Brett Hacker.

(Above) Martin Fabrizius, senior in biochemistry, directs the students into the drop zone with aircraft paddles. (Below) Koni Weber, senior in office administration, collects her parachute after landing.

Photos by Brett Hacker

Plane's'

By Gary Leffler Collegian Reviewer

It seemed to be about time John Hughes tried to make a movie that didn't involve cheerleaders, geeks, principals or acne. With his film "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," Hughes steps into the world of adults and does so with some laughter and also with some sluggishness and sentimentality.

Movie Review

The story put forward by Hughes is a simple one. Neil Paige, played by Steve Martin, is a successful marketing man who is concluding a business trip to New York two days prior to Thanksgiving. As he waits for his flight back home to Chicago to depart, Paige meets Del Griffith, played by John Candy. Griffith's occupation is easily the most ingenious any writer has put on paper in some time. Griffith is a salesman dealing exclusively in shower curtain rings.

Paige and Griffith find themselves sitting next to one another on the plane to Chicago, Griffith talking too much and Paige longing for home. However, O'Hare International Airport is being sacked by a blizzard, and the nearest open airport is in get ready for this - Wichita.

Fortunately, Hughes saw fit to omit all the Dorothy jokes and focused solely on the tobaccospitting redneck population in that sprawling cowtown to the south of

The challenge for Paige and Griffith now becomes getting from Wichita to Chicago before Thanksgiving, despite the lack of available airline seats. Oh, and they also must get home before they strangle each other in frustration.

In the course of the film, Candy and Martin did have some unique and hilarious moments. However, the wit and sparkle of those moments were overshadowed by some ordinary slapstick and philosophical sentimentality.

too sentimental

ing what was basically a straightman role. He was the butt of many jokes, and by no means was he the comic center of the film. He deftly handled the frustration of Paige's desperate attempts to return home, and audiences will have no trouble sympathizing with him. Laughing with him is another matter, except perhaps when he confronts a rentalcar woman played wonderfully by Edie McClurg.

The comic focus of "Planes, Trains and Automobiles" is obviously Candy. His portrayal of Griffith is obnoxious but endearing. We laugh at his jokes even though they're not funny, as we remember every annoying, egotistical, jaw-flapping salesman we've ever met.

Unfortunately, though, the film has some distressing dead spots. Everything will be moving forward at a good clip when suddenly it screeches to a halt. We receive a few

It was unusual to see Martin play- well-worn, philosophical commentaries on friendship and marriage, and then the race to Chicago is on again.

> Also, I found the climax of the film unsatisfying. The struggle to reach Chicago was laughable and frustrating, and it did build upon itself between the dead spots. But then the film teetered, pulled on a few heart strings and was over. The ending was all too sentimental - full of Thanksgiving stuffing.

"Planes, Trains and Automobiles" is a holiday movie that will make its share of profits on the good spirits in us all that inevitably accompany eggnog and wrapping paper. It's not a wonderful movie, not even a consistently funny movie, but it has several moments that will stick in your mind until after the New Year.

It is, essentially, 11/2 hours of harmless entertainment - and what could be more welcome after a day of pushing and shoving from store to store at the mall.

Weber Hall to open; faculty will relocate

By The Collegian Staff

After nearly two years of renovation, Weber Hall will be reopened Dec. 14 for faculty members to move back in.

It is hoped they will be finished moving by the beginning of the spring semester, said Melvin Hunt, chairman of the Weber Hall renovation committee and professor in animal sciences and industry.

Classrooms located in the old section of Weber will be ready by the beginning of the spring semester, but it's questionable as to whether the new classrooms will be ready for occupation, Hunt

The $7.2 million construction and renovation project began in spring of 1986.

As a part of the project, a new addition was built onto the east side of Weber. The addition includes a meats laboratory, a teaching facility and research laboratories.

The renovations included rewiring the offices and installing new heating and air-conditioning units, windows, floor coverings, ceilings and phone system.

"It looks a lot like old Weber, but a lot of changes were made," Hunt said.

Due to the construction, animal sciences and industry's offices were relocated in the basement of Moore Hall from the middle of March 1986 until the beginning of the fall 1987 semester. When the space in Moore was needed for residents, the offices were moved into Call Hall.

"Eighteen of us are crowded into one room," said Hunt.

KJCK

KSU Gets a "D" from Santa!

A Holiday computer special for K-State Staff and Students

$ 995 for a complete Leading Edge Model "D"

This "Best Buy" system includes full PC compatibility, 2 disk drives, 512K memory, high resolution mono monitor, word processor, speller, merge, DOS and an amazing 20 month warranty.

Connecting Po

1115 Westloop Shopping Center Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW!

SELL YOUR BOOKS

AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN

And COUPON FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR.

- ★Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.
- *Bring all your books to Varney's (regardless of where you bought them) and our buyers will value them individually. You choose what you want to sell! WE BUY BOOKS EVERY DAY! However, you can usually get the most for your books by selling them to us at the end of the semester.
- ★The price we pay for books is determined mainly by two factors—if the books will be used again at K-State and if we need the books for our stock. If we cannot buy your books for our stock, we will offer you the best price we can, based on the national market.
- *Remember, it's what you get for all your books that counts, and we think that the wholesaler we buy for pays the highest prices.
- ★We know you're busy and in a hurry so we have four buyers to take care of you. We try to keep the time you spend in line to a minimum. We also buy until 9 at night during dead week and until 10 at night during final week.

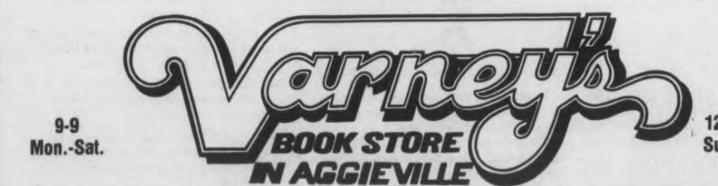

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Dead Week

9 a.m.-9 p.m.

(except Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Final Week 8:30 a.m.-10 p.m. (Mon.-Tues.-Wed.)

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 10, 1987 ■ Page 11

Cheerleaders heading to San Diego for national competition once more

By Jackie Wendt Collegian Reporter

Some tough competition will be facing K-State's cheerleading squad January 8-11 when the group competes in national competition once

Scott Johnson, assistant instructor in animal science and cheerleading sponsor, said the squad will be one of 12 competing for the Universal Cheerleading Association's national championships in San Diego.

"There will really be a lot of competition," Johnson said. "Kentucky, which won last year, will be competing and North Carolina State, which took second, will be our main competitors along with Alabama and Memphis."

"It's going to be tough....There are going to be some big-name schools there."

-Brett Bromich

Other schools chosen to qualify include South Carolina, North Carolina, Illinois, Louisiana State, Penn State, Pittsburgh and Utah.

Johnson said qualifying involved sending in a videotape which contained four different areas.

"We needed to have a chant in it, a cheer, a routine to the traditional school song and a two-minute segment on the highlights of what we did during the year," Johnson said. "The two-minute segment needed to show crowd involvement."

The championships will be recorded and played on ESPN two or three weeks after the taping, Johnson

Brett Bromich, senior in business and member of the squad, said the cheerleaders will be performing a 21/4 - to three-minute routine, a cheer with a pyramid, a chant and the rest will be to music.

"It's going to be tough," Bromich said. "There are going to be some big-name schools there. In the region, we took second, but the point spread between first and second wasn't that much."

"It's the attitude which will be the key thing and we have a great attitude," said Jim Thorp, senior in information systems and K-State cheerleader. "Two years ago, we were glad to make it and this year we're a little more glad to make it, but we want to win."

Thorp said the squad will practice until Dec. 18 and come back the Dec. 27 to practice again.

"We have to build up the cardiovascular system a lot because you get really worn out when you're out there," Thorp said. "To build up the cardiovascular system in practice will help us out a lot."

Johnson said the squad is very excited about going back to

Staff/Jim Dietz

Members of K-State's cheerleading squad perform a diamond-head formation, one of the routines that helped them qualify for national competition to be held Jan. 8-11 in San Diego. The event will be broadcast by ESPN.

Four OT defeat a cryin' shame

A.M. Sports

BILL LANG Sports Writer

I don't know about you, but I'm still tired from the roller coaster contest with Southwest Missouri State on Tuesday night.

Three hours of basketball may be fine for the fans of the National Basketball Association, but not for those of the college hoop

Considering this is the last year basketball will be played in Ahearn Field House, it was kind of sad to see the 'Cats lose a nail biter like that.

Wouldn't it have been fitting if K-State had gone the entire season without a loss at home? The last time that was accomplished was during the 1974-75 season -Lon Kruger's last season as a player.

For a moment, it almost brings tears to your eyes to think the 'Cats had a chance to close out their last year with Ahearn undefeated. Also, if you were looking around the Field House Tuesday night, you might have noticed that the place was pretty well packed to the rafters.

The attendance total for the marathon game was 10,500. Not bad, but consider that the place can hold 11,220 people, and that most of those people can be screaming at the tops of their lungs, "K...S...U...Wildcats!"

We all know that the K-State-KU game will always be a sellout from now until hell freezes over. The crowds will always up for the classic intrastate contest.

The average season attendance figures have always been less than the amount seatable. Maybe, just maybe, we could have a few standing-room-only crowds, beef up the attendance and show the 'Cats and the Lady Cats we are behind them.

Maybe this is something to shoot for next semester when the students resume the grind of schoolwork. For a few hours during the week - hopefully that will be all it'll take - and a few hours on a weekend, the "House that Mike Ahearn Built" could be packed to the rafters and people could be heard screaming and hollering for K-State.

So what if the K-State men's team won't be undefeated through the season at home? That doesn't mean we can't have an undefeated Big Eight season at home.

Wouldn't it be just sweet to romp all over Larry's bird men and Billy's boys? What better way to close out the season - the last season for the place that holds so many memories?

Sports Briefly

Marquette tickets on sale

K-State athletic department officials have announced the Wildcats' basketball game Jan. 3 against Marquette in Kansas City's Kemper Arena will tip off at 1:05 p.m.

Tickets for the game will go on sale today at the Ahearn Field House Ticket Office. Tickets for the public are priced at $8 for lower level seating and $6 for upper level and balcony

K-State students may buy tickets to the game for $4 but must present their current semester fee card at time of purchase.

Hennings wins Outland

NEW YORK - All-American defensive tackle Chad Hennings of the Air Force Academy won the Outland Trophy today, becoming the second consecutive player from the Western Athletic Conference to be honored as the nation's outstanding interior lineman.

Hennings won out over two other defensive linemen -Michael Dean Perry of Clemson and Daniel Stubbs of Miami,

The order of finish behind Hennings was not announced. Gordon S. White Jr. of the New York Times, president of the Football Writers Association of America, which makes the award, said the voting was "not unanimous but very, very one-

OSU desires 'Laker magic'

By Chase Clark Sports Writer

It may not be magic, but the Oklahoma State University men's basketball team is patterning itself after the Los Angeles Lakers.

"That's right, we want to run our offense like the Lakers do," Cowboy sophomore center Alan Bannister said. "That's who we're patterning ourselves after."

"We had our press day and a couple of our players said we were going to run like the Los Angeles Lakers," Oklahoma State coach Leonard Hamilton said. "After they go through a set of drills and they get tired, I say 'let's run like the Lakers.' Then we start working on our fast break in practice and I say 'come on Lakers, let's go.""

Bannister, at 7-foot-4, may be ine nation's tallest returning player, but that doesn't mean he resembles Kareem Abdul-Jabaar in any way other than height.

Quickness may very well be found in senior guard John Starks. One day during practice, the team had a two-mile run. Starks ran an extra lap and still finished before everybody else on the team, Hamilton said.

"Right now our players are learning the break, plays, passing and so forth," Hamilton said. "We are still in the developing stages and we hope we can up-tempo the game as much as we possibly can. We will be more aggressive offensively. We'll try to fast break as much as we can...but in order to fast break you have to be the rebounding team."

Hamilton's job started out with the impossible task of being competitive in the Big Eight Conference last season - impossible because when he arrived in March 1986, he had only two eligible players and the nation's fifthtoughest schedule. Last year's squad finished with an 8-20 record. This year, the Pokes are 1-3 so far. depth to the O-State team.

"We don't have any superstars coming back so we're still rebuilding," Hamilton said. "You have to have two good recruiting years back-to-back before you realize any benefit.

Hamilton had one of the better recruiting years in recent Cowboy history - signing four junior college transfers and adding two other

Add two of the Cowboys' three leading scorers and the team's leading rebounder from last season, senior guard Todd Christian (13.7 ppg) and senior center Sylvester Kincheon (10.6 ppg, 6.2 rpg). Then count on help from two part-time starters last season, senior forward Robert Smith and sophomore forward Royce

Former prep All-American Derrick Davis will play this season after sitting out last year due to Proposition 48. Bannister returns after being redshirted last season due to a foot injury. Freshman forward Richard Dumas was regarded as one of the top prep players in the nation last year and should add

Football campaign never ends for assistant 'Cat football trainer

By Linda Huddleston Collegian Reporter

For those of you who think football is over with after the last game of the season, Marci Roschke, the assistant athletic trainer for football at K-State, has news for you.

Roschke, the only female football trainer in the Big Eight Conference and one of only a few in the entire nation, said her job involves more than taking care of injured players during the football season.

"During the football season, I'm there to treat injuries, but I'm also there year-round to help players rehabilitate the long-term injuries they receive during the season," Roschke said. "Things do slow down in the summer, but we still keep plenty busy during the school year."

Roschke meets with the coaches every morning during the football season to inform them of the health status of the players.

"I make the decisions with the team surgeons about how to rehabilitate and treat the injured players," Roschke said. "Our main goal is to keep them healthy and on the field."

Roschke spends the rest of her day preparing players for practice and being present, in case of injuries, both during and after practice.

"I'm always on the field with the kids, during practice and the games," Roschke said. "When they get hurt, I'm the first person they see. I hurt for them and with them, so it's really important for me to see them well again and back on the field."

Postseason is one of the busiest times for the trainers at the stadium, Roschke said.

"After the season is over, our work is just beginning," Roschke said. "This is the time when we start working with the players who have had nagging or permanent injuries during the season. Some have been able to play with their injuries, and some have had to sit out all or part of the year. Our main goal is to get and keep the entire team stong and healthy.'

Roschke designs the rehabilitative programs for the injured players and works with the strength and conditioning coaches to find the best program for the individual players.

"We are fortunate to have a coach that will design the off-season conditioning program," Roschke said. "We work together to get the kids back to their original strength." Roschke said the K-State football program has been fortunate in not having any players injured for life.

"When you work with the kids every day, you get really close," Roschke said. "It's really hard to see someone who tries hard and has the determination and desire to play, but just can't come back. But there is still a lot of gratification."

Being the only woman football trainer both at K-State and in the Big Eight doesn't bother Roschke.

"The coaches and players here are terrific," she said. "They are fine, decent men, and it's really exciting for me to be a part of a program that's trying to build. You have to be good at this level of athletics, and as long as you're professionally qualified, I don't think it matters whether you're male or female."

Roschke said besides the emotionally hard times of dealing with injury and long work hours, her job is a lot

"I've had a lot of good and gratifying experiences since I've been a part of the football program," Roschke said. "One of the greatest and most satisfying feelings is to see one of the guys I've helped back on the field doing what he's supposed to."

ClassAds 632-6565

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128. (1tf)

A Week at Kansas State Book Signing

Saturday 2-4 p.m. at Walden Books 100 Manhattan Town Center

David Adams and Tim Janicke will be present to sign copies of the book.

BUTCHER GOATS: Make good barbecue meat. Call 776-8884 Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Ask for Karolyn. (73-75)

EXPANDED HOLIDAY hours! People's Grocery Coop, 811 Colorado, will expand its hours for holiday shopping needs. We will be open, "Tuesday, Dec. 15 and Dec. 22, 12-6 p.m." Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Check out our new Herb and Spice section!

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 778-5114, 776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Manhattan. (62-75)

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your choice: South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or skiing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted inations at discount prices. Call toil free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring Break Bash color brochure and reservations today -800-321-5911. (67-75)

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for a single adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567, Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shop-

LADIES! THE Dakota Men calendars are here. Good cause—great fun! 776-8548 evenings/weekends. Hurryl (72-75)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT—FURNISHED 02

NICEONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124. (50tf)

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Cali 537-1442. (65tf)

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or 776-4246 (67-75)

NO BUGS, clean, quiet, two bedroom, two blocks east of campus, Jan. 1, $225. 776-1703. (71-75) MALE RENTING room. Use of whole house and washer and dryer. $150/month and one-third utili-ties. 776-2286 evenings, Pete. (71-75) NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75)

TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking. 776-8495, evenings. (69-75)

SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/mg plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available beginning spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30

ONE BEDROOM furnished, queen waterbed. Corner of Bluemont and Manhattan Avenues. Must rent! $175/month. negotiable. 539-8393. (71-75)

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

•24-hour emergency maintenance ·On-site laundry facilities •Two outdoor swimming pools

·Professional on-site mgt. Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle Open 7 days a week

No appointment necessary Call Today 539-2951

1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

Frozen Yogurt Stores OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

The Staff at

LAFENE

Health Center

want to wish all of you a

VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a

SAFE, HEALTHY HOLIDAY

Thank you for supporting your medical facility by allowing us to provide quality medical care for you this semester.

NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in campus and Aggleville. Available in December. Call 539-1076. (67-75) excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75)

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom, suitable for two, furnished, near University, $295. Call 776-5234, ask GIVE-AWAY PRICE for our furniture if you take over our lease (to March 31, renewable). $310 per nth, two-bedroom, dishwasher, air-co ing, swimming pool. 537-3363. (72-75)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. Take over lease. $200/month, split utilities, 1027 Kearney. Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson.

Second semester apartments in several convenient locations. One & two bedrooms

$240-$360. Call soon

for best selection.

2700 Amherst 776-3804

MOORE MANAGEMENT

one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment, close to campus and Aggieville. $200. 537-0144 or 539-6108. (72-75) LARGE TWO-bedroom furnished basement apartment, quiet area, central air, completely carpeted. Call 539-0962 or 776-4008. (72-75)

TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment available Jan. 1. Across from Ahearn. 776-7559. (72-75)

FURNISHED APARTMENT-One-bedroom, off street parking. 1941 College Heights. $260. Call collect 456-2090 after 6 p.m. 456-8297. (72-76) FURNISHED APARTMENT. One male student, close to campus, $215, all bills paid. Call 539-2165. (73-75)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $275 per mont Available from Jan. 1st. Phone 532-3199 or visit 1837 College Heights, Apt. 4. (73-75)

AVAILABLE ON or before Jan. 1. One-bedroom rea sonable rent, no pets, near campus. 537-8389. (73-75)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

FIRST FLOOR, one-bedroom, located at 814 Leavenworth. $155 month. 537-1238 or 539-3672. (74-75)

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment near City Park. Water, trash paid. $380/month. 537-2178. (74-75)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $225 a month.
Utilities paid. Furnished. 511 N. 14th. 776-2324.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03

NICE, LARGE one- and two-bedroom apartments in Westloop area. Please call 776-9124. (37tf) AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539-

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, carpeted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (611f)

LARGE ONE-bedroom, unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, available January. $265 plus deposit. 539-1465. (62-75) ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, eve-nings. (67-75)

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in several convenient locations. One and two bedroom $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75)

ment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75) ONE BEDROOM large enough for two. One and one half blocks from campus. Unfurnished, laundry fa-cility. Call Chris after 5 p.m. at 539-7906 or Jim at 539-5091. $265. (71-75) NICE UNFURNISHED basement apartment, north of Manhattan High School, one bedroom, central air, washer hookup, separate entrance, backyard use.

FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apart-

no pets, lease required, available December 20th. $250, includes utilities. Call 776-0782, 5-7 p.m. (72-

(Continued on page 13)

TV Listings

By TV Data

THURSDAY DECEMBER 10, 1987 WTBS ESPN WGN KTWU KSHB KTKA WIBW KSNT B. Hillbillies Nation's Bus. Good Morning Scooby Doo America Flintstones Today's Mister Rogers CBS News This Morning 7:00 Today Bewitched SportsCenter SportsLook Racing Little House 8:00 Brady Bunch Movie: "A Hol-Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere iday Affair Ghostbusters G.I. Joe $25K Pyramid Card Sharks 9:00 Hour Maga-Andy Griffith Star Classic Street Body Electric Love Boat Who's Boss M.T. Moo Mr. Belvedere Dick Van M.T. Moore 10:00 Jeopardy! Lose or Draw Price Is Right Bodywatch Perry Mason Aerobics Xmas Decor. Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth Dyke Green Acres Getting Fit Movie: "Doc-College Bas- Movie: "Doc-ketball: Ala. at tor's Secrets" News Sesame All My Child-Midday All I Bold/Beautiful ren 12:00 News Days of Our Street I Love Lucy Van Dyke Andy Griffith 1:00 Lives As the World One Life to Live Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies Camp David Auto Racing Tom and Beaver Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo Living In Recital Guiding Light 2:00 Santa Barbara Flintstones Flintstones On Aerobics BraveStarr Mister Rogers Transformers Smurfs Donahue 3:00 Oprah Winfrey Ghostbusters Thundercats Square 1 TV G.I. Joe 3-2-1 Contact Jem Auto Racing: Munsters USAC Sprints Laverne Magnum, P.I. M. Bravestar 4:30 3's Company Alice Carol Burnett SportsLook Horse Mag. News ABC News 5:00 Family Ties 30 NBC News News CBS News Facts of Life College Bas-ketball: St. Jo-Sanford MacNeil / Leh- Cheers 6:00 News News 30 Wheel-Fortune Lose or Draw M'A'S'H rer Newshour Barney Miller Gimme Adams Chron- Movie: "The other Side of seph's at Tem- Movie: "Something 7:00 Cosby Show Tour of Duty Hockey: USA vs USSR Hill Street Mysteryl: Aga-tha Christie's Part II" College Bas-ketball: Okla-Movie: Simon & Si 8:00 Cheers Night Court 'Brewster's 1987 Nobel homa at Flor-News INN News DeGrassi Jr. 9:00 L.A. Law Millions' Bronx Zoo Peace Prize The Sheriff SpeedWeek SportsCente Awards Wild America Jeffersons Business Rpt. Magnum, P.I. Barney Miller Wilton North 10:00 News News Cheers News M*A*S*H Movie: "3:10 Report MacNeil / Leh-rer Newshour B. Buddies Racing 1 1:00 Ent. Tonight Movie: "Am-12:30 Late Night Movie: "Love sign of Ransom" 700 Club

Christmas Gift Idea:

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION
Please check one:Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

Academic year (32 weeks), $35

One semester (16 weeks), $20

Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Street or Box No.:
City:	State:	Zip:
Date Purchased:		art:
Purchased By:
Street or Box No.:
City:	State:	Zip:

To	Re	Completed	by	Student	Publications)

11	Spring	Summer
-all	opinig

(Continued from page 12)

NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75)

GREAT THREE-bedroom house near campus. $650 per month (or $220 per bedroom). Available Jan. 1. Call 537-9441. (72-75)

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment in Westloop area. $250, Available Dec. 20, 539-6308, (72-75)

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 1114 Vattier, $350 plus utilities. Available now. 539-1498. (73-75) LARGE TWO-bedroom, 926 Bluemont. 776-9017. (73-

NEWLY REMODELED two-bedroom, 501 Houston St. $295, 539-4214, leave message. (73-75)

FIRST FLOOR, one-bedroom, located at 814 worth. $155 month. 537-1238 or 539-3672.

CLOSE TO campus: No parking hassles, 1615 Anderson, $315/month. Two bedrooms, unfurnished 539-2830. (74-75)

04

09

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1971 MALIBU, green, fair condition, runs great. Call Tommy 539-3769 or 539-9834 Rm. 301. (72-75)

1976 BUICK Regal, air conditioning, power steering. power brakes, AM-FM cassette, priced to sell. 778-4003. (74-75)

1981 DODGE 024, automatic, air, AM/FM stereo, 79,000 miles. Looks and runs great. $1,375. 532-2060. (74-75)

EMPLOYMENT

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

HIRING! GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76) DIRECTOR OF Music position. Starting Jan. 15. Contact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-75)

BARTENDER, MONDAYS and Fridays and week ends. Simple well drinks and beer 776-6862, ask for Forrest. (71-75)

Rubes

GIRLS OVER 21 to model lingerie. $10 an hour plus. Please call 1-456-7050 for interview. (72-75)

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN. Part-time, variable hours, evenings and weekends; Must be available for year-round employment. Typing required. The St. Mary Hospital, 776-1981. (71-75)

SPRING BREAK vacation sales. Earn top pay selling vacations to Florida. Guaranteed $15 commission per sale. Must be organized, outgoing, and honest. Individuals or organizations call 1-800-338-0718. Florida Vacation Service. (71-77)

NEEDED

2 carpenters to work between fall & spring semesters. Mostly inside work remodeling apartments.

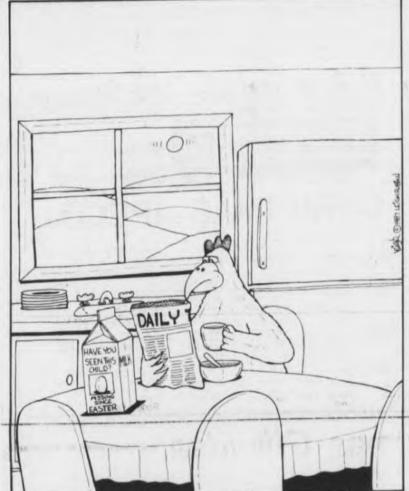

Must have sufficient experience to work with minimal or no

Major power tools will be furnished; however, applicants must furnish own hand tools. Call 776-9007 (any time) for an interview.

STUDENT STOREKEEPER for spring semester. Must be able to work Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30-10:20 a.m.; Tuesday, Thursday desirable. Must be able to lift 100 lbs. regularly and 50 lbs. to shoulder height. Reading and effective written and verbal communication skills required. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of ency, must be clean, neat and be able to obtain a Food Handler's Card. Apply today in the K-State Union Food Service Office. (73-83)

STUDENT OFFICE Assistant for spring semester Apply in K-State Union Food Service Office today for position to begin training immediately. Position offers excellent practica! experience. Student needed to work 8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Tuesday. Thursday and as back-up during mid morning Mon-day, Wednesday, Friday, Work includes customer assistance and order taking, invoice preparation typing, filing and data entry. Requirements in clude: Very good communication skills, ability to follow instructions, attention to detail, 40 wpm typing skills, desire to meet customer needs and must be able to obtain a Food Handler's Card. Position will continue throughout the following school year with possible variation in hours. (73-

By Leigh Rubin

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

Seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required, year round position. Minimum commitment two years requested.

Respond to: P.O. Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume, please.

ASSOCIATE TEACHER for Early Childhood Program; working with kindergarten and early school age children. Approximately 25-30 hours/week. Hours In E.C.E. or El. Ed. required. Apply at Seven Dolors Child Care/Pre-School, 728 Colorado (8th and Col-orado) by 12/16. EOE. (72-75)

BELLY-DANCER wanted! Earn good money and have fun! For information call 532-2362, ADA in 313. (72-

MIDWEST NANNY service positions now available with families in the Boston/Massachusetts area. If interested contact Temmy for more information at (913) 625-8045. (73-75)

PAY DAY! Apply now for second semester student positions (all shifts for waiters and waitresses, Monday, Wednesday, Friday pizza 9 a.m.-2 p.m., Mexican food make-up Monday-Friday during lunch 10:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.; Grill server 10 a.m.-1 p.m. during lunch Monday-Friday; Evening cook 3-7 p.m. Cashier, porter and server positions also available.) Bring in spring class schedule today and fill out application in K-State Union Food Service Office. We offer student pay plan, job variety, and centrally located work place. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of urgency, must be clean, neat and wear appropriate attire. Food Handler's Card a must. (73-83)

COULD YOU be a Boston nanny? Are you a loving, no turing person who enjoys spending time with chil-dren? Live in lovely, suburban neighborhoods enjoy excellent salaries, benefits, your own living quarters and limited working hours. Your round-trip transportation is provided. One year commitment necessary. Call or write: Mrs. Fisch, Child care Placement Service, Inc. (CCPS), 149 Buckminster Road, Brookline, MA 02146, 1-800-338-1836. (74)

AEROBIC LEADER vacancy at the KSU Rec Complex. Must be a student carrying six or more hours Certification is desired, but not required. Previous teaching experience highly recommended. Must be available Mondays through Thursdays from 4:20-6:30 p.m. Interested individuals are to apply in person at the Rec Complex administrative office during business hours before 5 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 15. (74-75)

REVCO, D.S. needs temporary, full-time help starting Jan. 4, 1988. Five to ten days, minimum wage, ap-ply in person, 3013 Anderson Ave. (74-75)

SANDSTONE AMPHITEATER

Bonner Springs would like to use the Holiday Break to seek an enthusiastic college student to fill an administrative position during its 1988 summer concert season. Some clerical skills required and must be good with the public.

Opportunities also available for crowd control, stage hands, and production assistants.

For more information call: (913) 287-1154

By David Krug and Steve Cooper

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

31 Cam-

ACROSS

1 Carnival

Aggieville

776-7874

16 Lawn

a Deal

choice

girl of story

5 Boxing

6 Coach

Par-

7 Chess punches

seghian

8 Sherlock's

9 Computer research resource street

11 After-

4 Precocious

SKI COLORADO

THE VILLAGE Inn Family Restaurant is now hiring full and part-time employees. All positions are open! Come talk to us at 296 Tuttle Creek Blvd., located right behind Village Inn, or call us at 537-9716. We are taking applications Monday through saturday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Corne Inla Control

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, close to campus, 1101

Wharton Manor Road, garage, fireplace, low utilities, $425. 539-4294 or 539-4576. (611f)

plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston. $250 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75)

FREE RENTAL INFO

Houses, Apts. & Trailers

Call Tele-find Services

539-2255

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy.

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor effi ciency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055 Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 eve-

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three rooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, m wave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419, Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

1983 14 × 65 Skyline Homette, carport, two sheds

FOUND: GOLD watch near Waters Hall. Call 532

LOST-SEIKO men's watch with black leather wristnd lost at Recreation Complex. Phone 532-3510.

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS! Overcoats, field jackets,

Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Su camoutlage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear.

til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

Study Rooms Available

Beginning Dec. 7

(upon availability)

539-7531

17th & Anderson, 539-7531

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.-next to the and lackle (330) futtle Creek Gro. — next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7-30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th. We will also be buying seven days a week in West-moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64-

SELLING

SESSIONS

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

never opened, unbeatable prices. Chris 539-1089, Jeff 776-4387. (71-74)

PYRAMID PIZZA

after 5 p.m.

33 SQUARE feet multi-colored carpet with pad. Will sell sections, $2.00 square yard. 537-9326. (72-74)

All Slices 99°

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

JVC COLOR video camera, GX-N70U, auto-focus, zoom and macro, titles and dates, stereo, etc. VHS

BLACK AND white enlarger. Tank, trays, timer, ex-

TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane

tended column. $95. 776-8782. (74-75)

nings and weekends. (74-75)

cassette recorder and tuner/adapter, HR-2650U compact and lightweight, four heads. Excellent condition, $799 for set. Gall 537-1558 eve-

COMPACT DISCS; blank tapes; cassettes; mov

1126 Laramie

776-2426

University

ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931.

tan, make offer. 1-494-2396. (74-75)

LOST AND FOUND

3827 and describe. (72-74)

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

fenced vard and extras. Five miles east of Manhat

14

$270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom

Condo in Dillon Ski 6 Resorts

All Amenities • Sleeps 4-6 776-1680 539-5269

FOR SALE: $150. Round-trip airline ticket to California nia (K.C.-L.A.-K.C.) Leaving K.C.—Dec. 20th, 3 p.m. Leaving L.A.—Jan. 4th, 11 a.m. Eduardo. Tel. 532-5580, ext. 35 (afternoons); 776-1119 (before 8

TROPICAL TAN

5 tanning sessions

$10.00 20% off all Ray Ban

Sunglasses

LOSE UP to 20 lbs. over Christmas break. Doctor rec ommended program. Under $60. Call 539-9576. (74-

MOTORCYCLES/BICYCLES FOR SALE

MOVING, MUST sell: 1981 Kawasaki LTD 250 street bike. $400 or best offer. 776-3896. (73-74)

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case. $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

PERSONALS TALL BLACK Boots—Footwear, huh? Well, I've got a closetful. Still interested?—Blonde in Pink Rop-

TRI DELT Lisa-Lisa ole Lisa, what a dot. Made me laugh when my boyfriend and I fought. You're the greatest, there is no trial. Good luck on finals, just don't lose that smile. Love, your mom. (74) KEV-WE'VE made it halfway through the hardest part. Thanks for the one and one-half years of love, care and understanding. Merry X-mas I Love You.

18

BUCK BABEN: You made it through the forest! Congratulations! I love you. Doe. (74)

ODDO-WILL you go to Florida with me? Sunny beaches, sunsets on the ocean. Please say yes. Eskimo and Butterfly Elizabeth. (74)

SHEILA, MEGGAN and Krista- No ocra, no study ing(?) in the Catskeller tonight! Possibly break-fast?!?! Could it be a MH? Wright. (74)

DU MEN-to put it plain and simply, your the best! Love-Joanne. (74) DAVE THE grouchy graduate - Gripe 'em out at Pur due. We'll miss you. Caroline, Jamle and Janelle

TO THE Delts - As our dads and our sons you've become quite dear, and tonight we'll celebrate with Christmas cheer. Santa Claus is coming so you'd better be nice, and if you can't be nice, being naughty will suffice. Love, Delt Darlings. (74) CHURCH GUY: You didn't have to wait until the "afterglow" to mention your June 6th wedding plans. But hey—a little fooling around never hurt anyone, right? (74) DELT DARLINGS: Thanks for a great year! Good luck on finals. See you tonight at 8:30. Rich. (74)

TRACY M. - Congratulations, kiddo, you made it! Here's to many good years out in the real world! Love, your friends at Student Pub. (74)

CONGRATULATIONS: JEFF, Mike, and Curt. Good Luck! We'll miss you, Your Glenwood Friends. (74) BETA SIGS-What's big and what's small and out does them all? Tomorrow is a new day. (74)

HOMEGIRL, HOW about a date this weekend; respond with a personal. Jim. (74)

LIBRARY GIRL"-To the beautiful girl in the library on Monday, Dec. 7. Remember me, the black dude who couldn't put his eyes away from you! You are the cutest babe I've ever seen on campus. I am se-rious. Say, why don't we meet on the same spot on Thursday, Dec. 17 at 6 p.m.? Deal? Love, your ad mirer. (74)

PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

FREE KITTENS-Black and white, short hair, on male, one female, box trained, born Sept. 1, 539-9576. (74-75)

20 PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in

Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preg nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf)

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

21

RENTALS

TYPEWRITERS—CORRECTING and non-correcting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 correcting. In the Hull Business Mac North 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

22 FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner. Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75) TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave mes sage. 537-3166. (71-75)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, professional resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (73-75)

ROOMMATE WANTED

23 FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 th plus share of utilities. No smokers, 776 1996. (55-75)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished house. Own room, $120/month plus one-third utillties. 537-1388. (70-74)

ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment across from Old Stadium, $125 plus one-fifth utili-ties. 776-3244. (70-75)

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat quiet female for luxury townhouse. Pool, tennis, many extras. $165, 537-7605. (70-74)

GRADUATE STUDENT seeks responsible, mature, non-smoking roommate, one-half block from campus, $115/month, utilities included. Jeff. 776-1513

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted, three rooms available in spacious house four blocks south of can pus. $130 a month plus share of utilities. Call 537. 9487 or 539-1820 (71-75)

WE'RE ALMOST on campus, and Aggle ain't far. If you have a T.V. or a VCR, as a roommate wyou'd really be great. Call 776-8688. (71.75)

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female to share large house, $250/month plus one-half utilities, 776-9678 after 5 p.m. (72-75)

STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommati wanted to share apartment second samester $126 a month, 776-5372 (72-75)

NEED SPRING semister roommate $130, room, washendryer, 'til June 1, 770, 7905 even (72-74)

MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share new, Is nished, three-bedroom apartment. Price negotia-ble Call 537-8296 afternoons and evenings. (72-75) ONE-TWO male roommates needed to share really nice apartment one-half block from campus, 776

3896. (72-74) FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, $110 month plus one-sixth utilities. Close to campus. Call 537-0316

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester. Share two bedroom apartment. Have own room 537-3339. (72-75)

KSU MALE to share apartment one-half block west of campus. $125 a month. 776-4528. (72-75) MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood, $150/ month plus utilities, negotiable, 539-6515, keep trying. (73-75)

MALE TO sublease, own room, four blocks from campus. $100/month. Plus one-sixth utilities. 776 7794. (73-75) FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Non-smoker, own bedroom, $172.50 month plus one half utilities. Call 776-7687. (73-75) NON-SMOKING STUDIOUS female to share very nice apartment close to campus. Washer/dryer $150/month plus one-half electricity. 539-0344. (73-

NEED ONE male $116 a month, one-third utilities next to Ahearn on Denison. 539-6847 (73-75) MALE ROOMMATES wanted: Close to campus 1915

Anderson, rent $105/month one-trind profile Phone 776-0327, (73-75) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two back ice, own room, 537-1273, (73-75) ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester. Own had room, close to campus and Aggie, in FEMALE ROOMMATE needed. Very nice onebedroom apartment across from campus. $150/ month. Call 539-1482. First months rent free. (74-

$160/month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-8058

NEED SEVERAL quality students both sexes, own bedroom, nice houses. Close to campus, reason able 539-9345 (74-77) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. $150/month plus one-half utilities. Call Michelle at 539-8243. (74-75) MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished apart ment spring semester. Must be non-smoking, quiet and responsible. Own room, close to campus. Rent $137.50/month. Paid utilities and cable. Call 776-2408, leave message. (74-75)

ROOMMATES WANTED: Two males to share fully furnished two-bedroom aparts agement. 776-9541. (74-75)

SITUATION WANTED

ADOPTION IN California Stanford University professor and wife. Happily married for many years. Anx ious to adopt newborn infant. Personal meeting welcome. Lawful and proper pregnancy related ex-penses paid. Couple approved by California adop-tion authorities in advance of placement. State supervised adoption procedures. Please call collect Terri and Michael Fayer (415) 328-8723, (71-75)

SUBLEASE

SUBLEASE VERY nice one bedroom duplex. Quiet location, three blocks to campus. Off-street parking January rent negotiable. $250/month. 776 3432 (72-75) NEEDED FOR second semester, two male room mates, one-hait block from Ahearn $120/month one-fourth utilities. 776-4528 (73-75) WALK TO campus!! Fantastic house! Huge back yard, garage, very spacious! All this to $128.75/month! Gall Paul 776-2150 (74-75)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Wildest Inc. scr. from Ahearn. Price negotiable. Call $91-1156 in 539-6147. (74-75)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, Nice, spacing of plex, close to KSU-Aggie, $360 or less 537 2171 (74-75)

28

SLEEPING ROOM

SLEEPING ROOM for girl. Close to campus. $80, bills paid. Phone 539-8608. (73-76) 29 WANTED

RIDE WANTED to Columbia or Springfield, Mo. Will pay one-half gas. Contact Mike, 532-4898. (73-75)

LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five of seven nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races Over 4,000 participating so fart Call toll free full color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to-

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

2 Unem 38 Ebbed ployed 40 Home 3 "Let's (school Make attraction 5 Door part course) 41 TV option 9 Hoover, 43 Steers for one clear of 12 Matinee 47 Atty.'s star 13 One type group 48 Site for of rug small Actress MacGraw savings 51 Corral 15 Hospital 52 Sleep section like -17 Bo Derek 53 Capp of movie comics 18 Network 54 Moose's offering 19 Make law kin 21 Compass pt. 55 " - Fall 22 Bit of in Love' 56 Backtalk 10 Guinness under-DOWN brush

sitter

need

offering

1 Barbecue dinner 24 Cathedral candy treat part 27 — -tai Solution time: 23 mins. 41 Batman (drink) esque

paigned Bo Seeing You 33 New: prefix 34 Lily pad

Yesterday's answer 12-10

parcel 35 Guy's date 37 Dives, in a way 39 Himalayan land 40 Ron of "Sea Hunt

dampener

20 Loony

22 Potato

23 Dagger

24 Sandy's

26 Winter

drift

29 Waikiki

estate

30 Real

27 Marceau,

for one souvenir handle

comment

25 Links goal fellow

HAR

46 "The the limit'

FDYOF" FDYOF

Today's Cryptoquip clue: F equals K

AXEYQYXB NXBH BWCRBEWD

HYCT NYFRB Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I'LL BET THAT A SCIEN TIST CAN HAVE A LOYAL LABORATORY RETRIEVER.

CADS FIR ABBIA
ANOA ADO REEL
BELLBUOY OLLA
STEALS ADULTS
S ESESATE SPET 45 Football LAP TWO SAY linemen

ELLBIRD 49 — de WE ODEA Franc ED TEEM 50 "I — Rhythm"

France

Police Sgt. supervises Crimestoppers

By Jill Conger Collegian Reporter

"This is Sgt. Conkwright. How may I help serve you today?" Those are the words that begin the day for Sgt. Stanley Conkwright, a special police officer for the Riley County Police Department.

Conkwright has been with the Riley County Police for 17 years. "My days begin at 7 in the morning and end at 10 in the evening, but I never get tired of this job. I love my work." Conkwright spends every day traveling to elementary schools, local community clubs or to K-State's campus. He speaks at the various places about any area of police concern. "When a living group or grade school or campus organization calls me and asks me to give a program, I first ask what type of program they would like. The programs range from neighborhood watch programs to rape prevention. It all just depends on what the group wants me to talk about," Conkwright said. "Overall, my special area department has more than 20 programs." One of the more familiar programs Conkwright works with is Crimestoppers. Each week Conkwright picks out a crime of the but about driving in bad weather and week and reenacts the crime using high school drama students.

This is one of the fun things I get to do, and being able to work with the kids is great," Conkwright said. "Although sometimes it is hard to find an interesting crime to reenact, we try to look for a crime that will catch the listener's attention - to possibly help a person remember something about the crime."

Crimestoppers can be heard on five area radio stations and viewed on two area television stations.

During the holiday seasons Conkwright travels to the various Manhattan elementary schools to give programs about holiday safety.

"Halloween is a busy season for me. We try to cover all the local grade schools and inform the children about the importance of not talking to strangers and not to eat any candy until mom or dad has looked at it," Conkwright said.

Christmas and New Year's Eve bring on another audience. Conkwright said that every year he does special radio announcements informing the community about holiday safety.

"In my radio spots, I try to include any activity that affects people's activity during the holiday season, not just drinking and driving, Christmas tree fire safety in the home," he said.

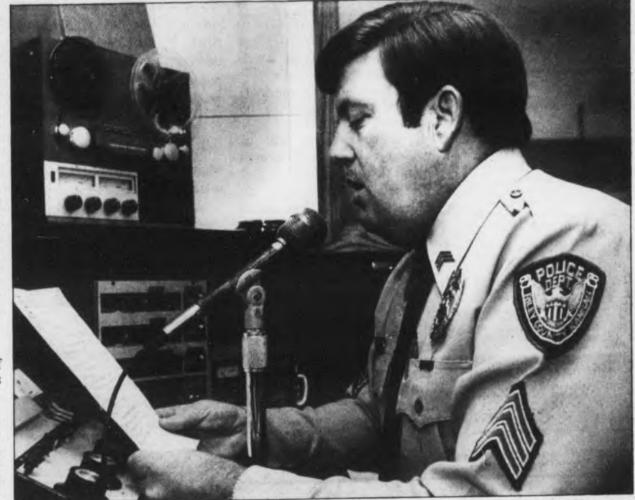

Conkwright said he enjoys working with young children the most out of all of his special project departments.

Television has given children the wrong impression of police officers and makes them scared of us. They think all we do is make arrests and shoot people," he said. "When I go to speak at a grade school, I explain to them that police officers are friends and we all have something in common — that is we all use the same item to do our work with every day, which is a pencil.

"Once they see that we all have something in common, it is a lot easier to communicate with them," Conkwright said.

He said police work takes a lot of dedication, and it is not a glamorous

'This job requires me to do the work and do it well," Conkwright said. "I think law enforcement has been given a phony image as the bad guys always out to get people; when actually, we are here to serve the public and provide safety, and I plan to continue to serve the public for many years to come."

Sgt. Stanley Conkwright, special police officer for the Riley County Police Department, tapes the weekly Crime Stoppers program which is heard on five local radio stations.

Stadium

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the sculpture department because of the mess and noise often created by the students. In addition, the building is easily accessible to trucks and other heavy equipment needed to deliver supplies.

Vogt said water leakage, lighting and ventilation are some of West Stadium's problems. Moving to another building would be acceptable, Vogt said, depending on what it would offer.

The current occupants of the building would be moved to other areas as space became available. Moving to Willard Hall could be a possibility after the biochemistry department is moved into its new building, Garvin said.

Garvin said one suggestion to retain Memorial Stadium involves putting a dome over the entire facility. The multi-million dollar renovation would keep the building from leaking, but leave little useable space above and below the seats because of the slant of the bleachers.

'With the old concrete bleachers, there is little useable space for as big a footprint as it makes on the campus," Garvin said.

Another suggestion concerns the towers on the corners of the bleachers. The towers contain bronze plaques commemorating the K-State students who served in World War I. Garvin would like to see the towers preserved and used to make a new entrance onto campus.

"This would preserve the memorial. The bronze plaques are in the towers, not the bleachers. They could be used to make a more distinguished entrance to the campus," Garvin said.

The West Stadium bleachers were built in 1923. Bleachers on the east were erected a year later. The underside of the east bleachers remained exposed until 1928 when the towers and walls were built. The west side was enclosed in 1938.

In 1946, dormitory rooms were constructed in the enclosed areas under the stadium, and East Stadium and West Stadium housed 266 students for several years.

K-State football had its last season in Memorial Stadium in 1967 before moving to KSU Stadium.

No . . . well, yes . . . I have to. Look who's going to be here

KSU

AGGIEVILLE USA

So you think you're going to party this weekend!?

FRIDAY & SATURDAY Film at 11

TONIGHT: SHOT-A-MINUTE

M & M Transfer and Storage

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL

We will pack your gifts so they will arrive in one piece!

We pack 1.5 cube boxes and larger.

Call us about our local rates. We offer year round packing materia Call us about our local moving boxes and packing material.

2730 Amherst Ave. • 539-7661

Holidays

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 said.

Nel came to K-State to play tennis after being recruited by Steve Bietau, K-State women's tennis coach, while she was playing for the University of However, during spring 1987, she Texas in El Paso last spring.

Nel was originally recruited by Arkansas State University while playing tennis in South Africa. During a visit to K-State and other universities to see different tennis programs, she was recommended to the coach at the University of Texas. eventually chose K-State.

Nel said she will be very excited to go back to South Africa for the summer.

"When I talk to my little sisters they tell me that by the time I come back I'm going to turn into a Yankee," she said.

CLIP, KEEP

& SAVE

ALL WEEK

PERM SALE

Gals Now Apple Pectin $45 $35 Axiom Warm & Gentle

Guys Curly Body Partial

All Perms Include Cut and Style 539-TAME or 539-8601

404 Humboldt

Expires 12-17-87

Self Serve Copies 31/2 ¢

Excluding Xerox 1025 Copiers Not including 11x17

exp. date 12/16/87 1110 Laramie

537-7340

ALL SERVICES Monday-Thursday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. with this coupon-expires Dec. 18, 1987

776-4794 512 Poyntz Ave.

Speedy FREE Delivery

Hair care center

411 Poyntz • Lower Level good with KSU ID exp. Jan. 15 M-F 9-6, W-Th 9-8, Sat. 8-5

Holidazzle! FREE Haircut with Highlight FREE Tanning with Haircut FREE Bottle of Shampoo with Permanent Men's Perms $25

Sign up for drawing 537-1332

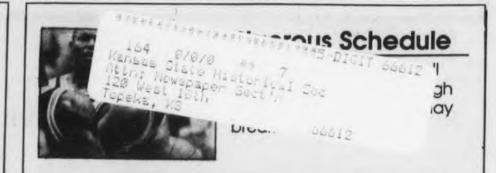

Author's Life

Steve Heller's years of writing have reached a high point with "The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman." See Page 15.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and not as warm, high in low 50s. Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight around 30, high Saturday in mid-40s.

Friday

December 11, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 94, Number 75

Kansas State

Collegian

Superpower summit ends after 3 days

Leaders plan spring meeting in Moscow

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev concluded three days of summit talks Thursday reporting progress but no agreement to curb long-range strategic weapons and no deal on the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan.

Reagan said there was "dramatic progress" on arms control. Gorbachev said there was "some headway" toward an agreement and pledged to work hard to have it ready for signing in Moscow next spring.

Both leaders put a positive spin on a summit that produced no breakthroughs, but Gorbachev also attacked the president's stand on nuclear testing and chemical weapons and took a hardline on would-be Jewish emigrants.

But the two sides committed themselves to another summit, sometime in the first half of next year, in Moscow, and pronounced this one a

Reagan said, "This summit has lit the sky with hope for all people of good will," and Gorbachev said, "I think we trust each other more."

Glasnost's effects reach K-State/Page 3

In an apparent concession, a U.S. official said Gorbachev had dropped his insistence for restrictions on Star Wars testing as a condition for cuts in strategic arsenals. Gorbachev, at a marathon news conference, skirted the question that snagged the Iceland summit last year.

thing to slow the arms race in space. Gorbachev said, "I don't think so."

But he held out the hope they could sign a treaty in Moscow next year to reduce long-range nuclear weapons by half. The Soviet leader said, "Differences still exist and on some points those differences are very serious indeed." However, "We do not regard them as insurmountable.

Seventy-six hours after his arrival on American soil, Gorbachev was given an elaborate sendoff at raindrenched Andrews Air Force Base near Washington. He got a trumpet fanfare and a 21-gun salute.

Ending his first-ever visit to the Asked if the summit had done any- United States, Gorbachev was bound for East Berlin for talks with Warsaw Pact allies.

As Gorbachev's jetliner climbed into the sky, Reagan addressed the nation from the Oval Office, saying they had made "dramatic movement" on arms control and vowing to press ahead with his Star Wars program.

The summit was crowned by the signing Tuesday of a treaty to eliminate U.S. and Soviet intermediaterange nuclear missiles.

Reagan said the summit produced "some very limited movement" on human rights and said he "spoke very candidly" to Gorbachev in urging a Soviet pullout from Afghanistan.

While saying they made progress toward reductions in strategic arms,

Reagan said, "I made it clear that our SDI program (Star Wars) will continue and that when we have a defense ready to deploy, we will do

The two leaders issued strikingly similar summations of their talks, standing under umbrellas in the rain outside the White House.

"This summit has been a clear success," said Reagan. Gorbachev said, "A good deal has been accomplished.'

Details on their discussions were just beginning to emerge.

One U.S. official, insisting on anonymity in remarks to hundreds of reporters, said the United States preserved the right for broad testing.

Mayor allows life, fate to lead way city commissioner for three terms and has served as mayor for two. lege, his desire was to teach biology and coach basketball.

Gene Klingler, doctor of surgery and mayor of Manhattan, served as Klingler has not always wanted to be a doctor. When beginning col-

Klingler's original ambitions not political

By Jim Dietz

Collegian Reporter Dr. Gene Klingler is more than just another one of Manhattan's surgeons. He is also Manhattan's mayor. However, neither being a surgeon nor being a politician was Klingler's original life-long ambition.

"I went to school with only one desire in mind - to teach biology and coach basketball," Klingler into the pre-medicine program" and was "just going through the motions" when he applied for medical school.

"It's certainly very interesting, and I've enjoyed it," he said. "It has opened an unlimited number of opportunities."

Klingler's specialization in surgery was another thing determined by fate.

"I got really interested in pediatrics, then the more I looked, it time occupation," he said.

Klingler said when the chance came to go into surgery, he took it. Later, he also worked in pediatric

After Klingler had moved to Manhattan, he believed it would be good to repay the Manhattan community since it had been good to him and his family. Volunteerism would be a good way to serve the community, he concluded.

"I believe if there is any way you said, adding that he "kind of fell became less appealing as a full- can repay a community with some service, it should be done," he said. "I really believe that volunteering is > Klingler first became interested in serving on the City Commission when a vacant position needed to be filled. He applied for the positon, and although he did not get it, he decided to run in the next election.

important to any community."

Klingler first ran for City Commission in 1979, and he is currently serving his third term as a commis-

■ See MAYOR, Page 8

Legal paperwork complex for mall

Lease agreements abound

Last of five parts

Editor's note: This is the last of a five-day series examining the Manhattan Town Center and what its development means for Manhattan and surrounding areas.

By Jeffrey J. Bielser News Editor

When shoppers are walking through the Manhattan Town Center, they are walking on layers of paperwork in lease agreements designed to provide the best of all possible worlds for both the developer and the

For example, some stores sublease the pad upon which their buildings sit from the developers, who in turn lease the pad from the city who owns the land.

This means the developers have a place for their mall, the stores have a place for their buildings and the city keeps land on which it has spent a lot of money to acquire.

Related stories/Page 6

Public, as well as private, owners of land like to retain ownership of their property, said Gary Ceepo, vice president for commercial development for Forest City Developers Inc.

With a lease, owners can keep their land and have a secure cash flow in the bargain, he said.

"After 99 years, they (the land owners) still have the land and money to show for it, too," Ceepo said. The length of Town Center's lease is 99 years.

It is not at all unusual for developers to lease land, he said. Such arrangements are based on as long a lease as possible.

Lease lengths are also determined by the life expectancy of the building, Ceepo said. A mall is expected to last about 100 years.

Owning the land upon which the mall is built means the City of Manhattan also owns the parking lot and the building pad upon which the buildings actually sit. The developers, Forest City and JCP Realty, own the actual buildings, except for Dillards, which owns the building that houses its store.

According to terms of the 99-year lease between the city and the developers, the building pad is leased from Manhattan by Forest City, which is also responsible for maintenance of the parking lot, Ceepo said.

The leasing actually involves three steps, said Karen Davis, assistant director of community planning.

Two companies were formed by the developers - Manhattan Mall Associates Limited Partnership and Manhattan Mall Co. — to lease the building pad from the city, she said. In turn, Manhattan Mall Associates Limited Partnership subleases part of the building pad to Dillards.

The developers pay the city $169,000 in lease payments annually, Davis said. These payments will be used to retire the debt on the tax increment financing bonds used to finance part of the mall's development.

When those bonds are paid off, after about 20 years, the money can be used for other community development projects which come under Title I guidelines from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Title I money is used to benefit low- and moderate-income people for projects such as building low-cost housing or making needed repairs in a lower income part of the

■ See LEASE, Page 8

Study: State's high school grads academically ambitious

By Brenda Badostain

Collegian Reporter

Kansas high school students are going on to further their education more often than other students nationwide, and according to a 1987 Chronicle of Higher Education article, 89 percent of Kansas students who go on to year institutions. higher education do so in the state of Kansas.

A 1986 Kansas State Department of Edu-

In comparison, a 1984 U.S. Department of Education study shows 54 percent of high school students nationwide go on to some form of higher education.

These figures include students who attend vocational and junior colleges as well as four-

Caucasians participate in higher education at a higher rate than any other racial group cation study shows 66 percent of high school with the exception of Asians, said Bill Pallett, graduates in Kansas go on to further their Coordinator of Analytical Studies at Planning and Evaluation Services.

The figure for Kansas may be higher than other states because Kansas has fewer minorities and is "pretty similar in terms of race." Pallett said.

"It means that we're going to have a higher participation rate nationally than states that have larger minority groups," he said.

Kansas high school graduates may be going on to higher education more than in previous years because they are better prepared for college, said Beverly Eversmeyer, director of guidance at Manhattan High School.

Within the past few years MHS has added an extra year of mathematics and science to its graduation requirements, she said.

"So that (the increase in requirements) makes kids a little better prepared to go on to college," Eversmeyer said.

High school students are also realizing that better job opportunities are available to them if they have a college education, she said. When students realize a college education can provide them with a better standard of living in the future, "the other educational opportunities (of higher education) become a lot more attractive," Eversmeyer said.

Although most Kansas high school graduates go on to higher education at institutions in Kansas, the students who leave the state are sometimes the "best and the brightest,"

Many of the private, out-of-state colleges and universities can offer these students ■ See KANSAS, Page 8

Briefly

By the Associated Press

Hurricanes spare U.S. in '87

WASHINGTON - Hurricane season generally spared the United States in 1987, doing minimal damage and taking no lives, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration reported Thursday.

Unusually strong westerly winds in the upper atmosphere this year helped moderate the storms.

Hurricane Floyd and one unnamed tropical storm came ashore during the 1987 hurricane season, the agency said in its annual summary. The hurricane season lasts from June through Damage was estimated at about $8 million from the two storms with the majority - about $7.5 million - from the tropical storm that caused flooding in Texas in August, NOAA reported. Floyd developed in the Florida straits in October.

In an average year at least two full-fledged hurricanes strike the nation, and typical damage totals at least $1 billion, the agency noted.

Although it did not strike the United States, one major hurricane - Emily - was produced during the season. That storm killed three people in the Dominican Republic and did $30 million in damage there and $35 million in Bermuda, NOAA reported.

LaRouche's aide found guilty

BOSTON - A former consultant to Lyndon LaRouche was found guilty today of charges he conspired to cover up millions of dollars in alleged credit card and loan fraud by the political extremist's 1984 presidential campaign.

A federal jury deliberated for about three hours over two days before returning the verdict in the case against Roy

The 12-member jury began its deliberations Wednesday afternoon after hearing closing arguments from the prosecutor and defense attorney and instructions from U.S. District Judge Frankhauser, 48, of Reading, Pa., faces up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine for conspiring to obstruct justice. He is a former member of the Ku Klux Klan and American Nazi Party, but those memberships were not discussed in the presence of the jury.

Governor gets Christmas tree

TOPEKA - A Kansas Christmas tree grower presented Gov. Mike Hayden today with the official state Christmas tree, a 9-foot, 15-year-old Scottish Pine.

Tony Delp, who owns a 200-acre farm near St. John, presented Hayden with the Christmas tree in the governor's office at the Statehouse.

Delp told reporters that growing Christmas trees, which he said is a year-round job, is his family's primary source of

"It's a lot of hard work," he said. Delp said his father started the Christmas tree farm more than 25 years ago.

Hayden said growing Christmas trees can be an excellent supplemental crop for farmers, but pointed out it represents a substantial investment in time and energy.

Children pledge to 'buckle up'

TOPEKA - More than 36,000 elementary school children will give their parents Christmas presents that are a little different from the usual Yuletide gifts.

They will be signing a "Contract for Life" in which both children and parents pledge to use safety belts through the holi-

Sponsored by the Kansas Clicks Committee, the "Contract for Life" program was introduced last year and drew 15,000 participants. This year, more than 36,000 children from the kindergarten through the sixth grade in 170 schools across Kansas are expected to give the contracts to their parents, the committee said in a release.

School principals were sent official-looking contracts that can be duplicated for students. Children complete portion of the contract, then give it to their parents for Christmas so the parents can also sign it.

Those who sign the "contract" agree to wear their safety belts anytime they get into a car for 12 straight days during the holiday season. "There is no penalty for violations of this contract, other than knowing we have broken our word of honor to each other," the contract says. The Kansas Clicks Committee is a nonprofit coalition of Kansas business and civic leaders promoting compliance with the state's mandatory safety belt law.

Reagan sends 125,000 cards

WASHINGTON - The White House Christmas card that President Reagan will send to 125,000 people depicts a State Dining Room scene where a portrait of Abraham Lincoln is hung above a glowing fire and flanked by boughs of evergreen decorated with red bows and streamers.

A single poinsettia accents the fireplace mantle. The marks the third time Reagan and his wife Nancy have chosen a watercolor by artist Thomas William Jones of Bellevue, Wash., for the official card. Jones also did the 1986 card, entitled "East Room at Christmas," and the 1985 card, entitled "Blue Room at Christmas." About 125,000 cards were printed by Hallmark at cost, the White House said. The Republican National Committee paid for printing and mailing. The cards will be mailed beginning Dec. 14, using the Christmas stamp featuring the Madonna and child by Italian Renaissance painter Giovanni Battista Moroni,

The Lincoln portrait shown on the card is the one before which Reagan and Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev stood after signing the intermediate nuclear forces treaty on Tuesday.

Officials schedule '88 summit

WASHINGTON - President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev will hold their fourth superpower summit in Moscow toward the end of the first half of 1988, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater announced Thursday.

Speaking to reporters after the conclusion of this week's three-day White House summit, Fitzwater said the leaders "have agreed that a summit will be held in Moscow, they agreed to that originally in Geneva.

"They were shooting toward that," he said.

in Westport

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEPARTMENT OF DIETETICS applications will be accepted for the coordinated dietetics program through Wednesday. See Dr. Roach, Justin 107, for more information.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abdo M. Homran at 8:30 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The topic is: "Factors Which Influence Student Achievement in Secondary School Mathematics in the Yemen Arab

K-LAIRES SQUARE DANCE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in K,S and U rooms for a

Answers

Cardiac

Catheterization is a procedure commonly used to determine if coronary arteries supplying narrowed by atherosclerosis.

During a catheterization, a of a long, thin, sterile tube blood to the heart muscle are team of doctors inserts the tip called a catheter into a small or arm and carefully pushes it in until the tip reaches the

The aorta is the main artery carrying blood from the heart place in the heart or aorta

the doctor wants to study.

to the body. The coronary arteries branch off the aorta.

Normally, dye is injected into the coronary arteries through the catheter, which makes it possible to determine through fluoroscope x-rays if coronary arteries have been narrowed

YOUR LIFE

by atherosclerosis.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR

American Heart

incision in an artery in the leg

Catheterization

Heart

Christmas dance.

SUNDAY

BETA SIGMA PSI LITTLE SISTERS meet at 8 p.m. at the Beta Sig house for a Christmas gift exchange.

GYMNASTICS CLUB meets at 8 p.m. in the Natatorium

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA CRESCENTS meet at 10 p.m. at the Lambda Chi house for a study break.

INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-LOWSHIP meets at Danforth Chapel at 7 p.m. for Christmas worship service.

Notice

Today's Collegian is the last of the fall semester. The Collegian will resume publication Jan. 13, the first day of spring 1988 classes.

14 shopping days to Christmas

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Association Headed home for the holidays?

CONSUMER RELATIONS BOARD reminds you to . . . Let your landlord know if you will be gone more than seven days, have apartment securely out specialty... fine fruit,

Make arrangements to pay your rent on time.

. Check with the landlord about your thermostat settings.

For more tips or help call or stop by the CONSUMER RELATIONS BOARD SGA office, Union Courtyard, 532-6541

Stadium Pizza from the Dougout FREE DELIVERY ues. Sat. 5 p.m. to Midnight Call 537-1484

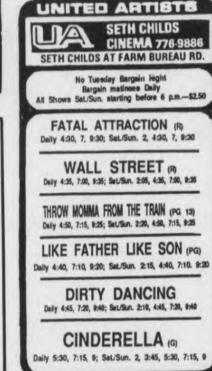

AGGIEVILLE FLOWERS

Red Roses

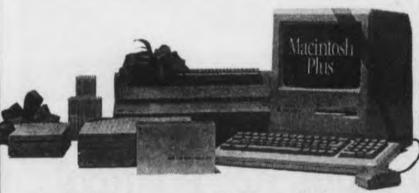

cash and carry

12th and Laramie 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. M.-Sat. 537-9549

Microwaves and more...

HURRICANE in old Westport CHRISTMAS BREAK LINE-UP IANUARY DECEMBER 1-2 Dow Jones & 11-12 The Crayons 18-19 Line One the Industrials 25-26 The Backsliders 7-8 Plain Jane 15-16 Reel Features 4048 Broadway

753-0884

Add More. Save More. Do More.

Purchase a Macintosh Plus by January 2, 1988 and get up to $200 cash back on select Macintosh Plus add-ons.

Start with a Macintosh™ Plus, from Apple", the high-powered computer-for people who do work at home. Then you'll enjoy savings when you add on select Macintosh Plus add-ons. Such as an ImageWriter" II printer. An Apple 3.5" Disk Drive or an

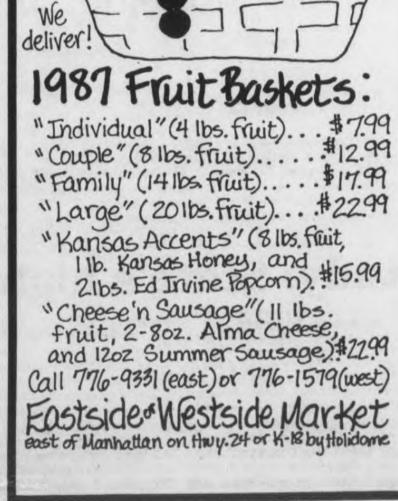

Apple Hard Disk 20SC. An Apple Personal Modern. Or an Apple 2MB Memory Expansion Kit. The more you add, the more capabilities you have. And this holiday season, you'll save more, too. Simply purchase a Macintosh Plus with your choice of select Macintosh Plus add-ons. And we'll send you cash back. Up to $200. So add more. Save more. Do more with a Macintosh Plus. But hurry, offer expires January 2, 1988.

Connecting Point

1115 Westloop Shopping Center 539-0801 Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

* New Rentals Only NO NO NEW YORK WARRED ON

10am-9pm Fri. and Sat.

We've

Loan defaults high Lenders lax on collection

By Jeffrey J. Bielser News Editor

When Secretary of Education William Bennett said he wanted to get tough on schools with student loan default rates of 20 percent or more, many people, especially student aid advisers, cried foul.

They claimed the universities were being caught between students who did not want to pay on their loans and lenders who found it too easy to put the students into default status, without taking all the measures necessary to collect the money owed.

"It's too convenient to put students in default status without doing everything possible to get the student to pay," said Larry Viterna in the Nov. 16 Collegian. Viterna is the director of the K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance.

News Analysis

"There have been instances where banks have been too lax," he said about three weeks later. But he then qualified this statement and the earlier one.

"I certainly wouldn't make that a sweeping statement," Viterna said.

"I think within the last year and a half, lenders have been doing a better job of collection and students are getting more information" about their responsibilities to their loans, he said.

However, Viterna said he has seen examples of the lax attitude of some lenders.

He said one K-State student had been put into default status and upon checking he discovered the lender had not contacted any of the references on the loan form, the student's parents, or the University. References are used to help locate the student if the lending institution has lost track of the borrower.

The controversy about student

Don't Forget

3 for $1.25

reg. 60¢ each

Wed.-Sat.

On the hill overlooking

Westloop

TACO HUT

2809 Claflin

12/9-12/12

539-2091

loan defaults is surprising, Viterna said, since guaranteed student loans have among the highest payback rates of any government loan

Also, he said if the defaulted loans students resume payment on were taken out of default status, the amount of loans in that state would drop about 25 percent. Once a loan goes into default status it stays there until it is entirely paid off, even if the student begins to pay

When a loan does become uncollectible for the bank or servicer, it is turned over to a guarantee agency, said Sharon O'Neal, student loan coordinator at Columbia Savings. A servicer is an organization hired by a company who has bought loans to collect on those

A guarantee agency is like the Higher Education Assistance Foundation, which provides the guarantee for the loan program through the federal government, she said.

Lending agencies have very rigid guidelines on when they must report students who have become delinquent with their loan payments, O'Neal said.

"Lenders don't have a whole lot of latitude in collecting (loans),"

After 50 to 60 days, the loan is turned over to the guarantee agency who tries to collect on the loan along with the lender, O'Neal said.

When the loan is 150 days delinquent, a final demand letter is issued for the principal on the loan and interest accrued to that point, she said. If students bring their payments up to date, then they do not have to pay off the entire

At 180 days, the loan is turned over to the guarantee agency which in turn pays the lender the principal and interest accrued, O'Neal said. In effect, the guarantee agency becomes the lender.

· A statewide student lobbying group.

Job descriptions and applications available in the SGS office. Deadline for applying is Friday, Dec. 18 at 5 p.m. SGS Hotline

A.S.K. Positions Now Available

-Communications Director

A.S.K. is:

A.S.K. is looking for:

Kansas politics.

-Campus Director

Up until last summer, collecting student loans in default was like fighting with one arm tied behind your back, as there was no legal action lenders could take against the offenders. With new laws, agencies trying to collect defaulted loans can file court judgements against former students for the amount of the loan, garnishee wages until the loan is paid off or take away all or part of income tax refunds to payment.

Lenders and guarantee agencies are allowed to file the court judgments against delinquent borrowers, which could prevent someone from buying real estate or even a car, O'Neal said. They can also take money out a former student's paycheck to accomplish the same

Only when the delinquent loans have been turned over to the U.S. education department can action be taken against someone's income tax refund, she said. The Department of Education is the last step in the chain for collection of defaulted student loans.

Legal actions for loan collection are usually taken when the loan is turned over to the guarantee agencv. O'Neal said. This is mainly because lenders do not want to incur the legal expenses involved with court filings.

When loans go into default status, lenders must report this to a national credit bureau, she said. These bureaus are consulted by other institutions when checking credit ratings on people.

Students have a misconception about student loans and what they stand to lose if the loans are not paid off, O'Neal said.

With a car loan, for example, the car is the collateral for the loan. If the loan becomes delinquent, the lender can re-possess and sell the car to pay off the loan. However, there is nothing tangible that can be taken away in the case of a student loan default,

-Legislative Affairs Liason

-Membership Director

POSITIONS AVAILABLE IN A.S.K.

 Students who care about the future of Kansas Regent schools. Young, energetic and dynamic students who desire a voice in · Dedicated to the long run interests of Kansas students.

Gorbachev visit encouraging for milling science research

By Jim Dietz Collegian Reporter

As Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev left the United States on Thursday, the effects of his visit began to reach quite far, even as far as K-State and the Department of Grain Science and Industry.

The K-State International Grains Program is working on a program that would allow an exchange of information between K-State milling science and the Ministry for Grain Products and the Research Institute for Grains and Grain Products of the Soviet Union.

"The Gorbechev visit encouraged some more discussion in (the) way" of the advancement of an exchange program, said Roger Johnson, associate director of the International Grains Program.

Johnson, and Elieser Posner, assoindustry, were in Moscow for a milling science seminar for one week in June. Through this trip the doors were opened to a milling science exchange.

"Before we went to the Soviet Union we were not sure we would get to the research institute and we finally got that into our schedule," Johnson said. Johnson added they both were plesantly surprised that they stayed at the institute longer than had been planned.

Both Johnson and Posner were impressed with the openness of the Soviets, but they were also surprised.

"We understood that the Soviets were sensitive to having certain things photographed, but when we asked one Soviet official, he looked at another and said, 'Fine, you can photograph anything you want to," Johnson said. The two toured the ciate professor of grain science and entire facility, taking a great number of pictures, he said.

> Johnson was especially impressed with the warmth of their reception, he said. He noted one instance where after Posner and the director of the Soviet institute had been speaking through a translator one of them commented that despite the language barrier they both spoke the same language of milling technology and the other agreed.

> "The fact that Dr. Posner could talk at length, in substance, with our host was very encouraging," Johnson

Johnson and Posner believe the exchange will be beneficial to both the United States and the Soviets.

"Perhaps we will be able to exchange graduate students, which could be beneficial to both countries," Posner said.

Statistics reveal grades increase

By The Collegian Staff

Students often ponder, and scratch and shake their heads when they try to figure out their grades or what they think their grades should be. The end of the semester invariably brings regrets and thoughts of "I should have studied more."

But those students who believe they have fallen short should take heart. Statistics show there may be some positive notes to the coming of a new year and a new semester as far as grades are concerned.

For those looking forward to a new semester, research gathered over the last four years by K-State's Planning and Evaluation Services office shows the average number of A and B grades is somewhat positive for spring semesters.

Bill Pallett, coordinator of analytical studies, said the average grade point averages for K-State students during 1987's spring semester were 2.56 for freshmen, 2.70 for sophomores, 2.79 for juniors and 2.89 for seniors. The results indicate underimprovements as they progress in class levels.

"We see these numbers as somewhat stable for the spring semester for the last four years," Pallett said.

Pallett also said signs of stability are beginning to show with the grades of freshmen each spring. Pallett credits some of this to an increase in scores of the American Collegiate Testing exam.

"A lot of incoming freshmen now have an average score of 20 to 21 on their ACT," Pallet said.

Seniors should also feel comfortable that last semester marked the graduates show signs of grade most A and B grades given per semester in the last four years. Pallet said this should be a comfortable note to seniors looking forward to graduation in the spring.

Falsettós 539-3830

MONDAY 2-FERS 2 Cheese Pizzas $5.99

-	M	ENU
Italian Sausage Papparoni Ground Beaf	Mushrooms Black Olives Onlons	Jalapenos Pinasppie Green Peppers	Hem Extre Cheese
		TWO 10"	TWO 14"
Cheese		5.99	8.99
1 Item		6.94	10.39
2 Items		7.89	11.79
3 Items		8.84	13.19
4 Items		9.79	14.59
Deluxe		9.79	14.59
Vegle		9.79	14.59
Supreme		. 10.74	15.99
	nal Item		1.40

We Accept Checks . Fast Free Delivery 1127 Moro · Aggieville

and SATURDAY

Come and check out their hot lead singer

Finally, agreatpizza delivered

1118 Laramie

539-5303

GODFATHER'S PIZZA™

	Super Party Pack $13.99 Present this coupon and receive two medium four topping Thin Crust pizzas, plus four soft drinks for only $13.99. Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery. Not valid with other premotional offers or coupons.	the price of a medium.	Dine in, Carryout, or Delivery Not	by the slice for $2! Combo or Pepperoni Dine-in or Carryout Monday-Friday, 11:30 a.m1:30 p.m.
t	Umited delivery area and time. GODE THEIS Offer PIZZA KSU	PIZZA Offer Expires 1/2/08 KSU	PIZZA Offer Expires 1/2/08 KSU	Offer PIZZA Expires 1/1/09 KSU

Collegian Classified Advertising

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC. KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506. You can also stop by Kedzie 103 to place your ad or call 532-6555. Student Publications now accepts MasterCard and Visa. (Minimum charge of $5.) The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for cancellation is NOON the day before publication.

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

* Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials.

* No abbreviations, please

Total days in paper.

* No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.

* Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad. ltems found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555. If mailed ads do not arrive by the Noon deadline, they will be placed in the next day's paper.

* Ads which are incorrectly calculated will be run only for amount paid.

(Clas	sifie	ed A	Ad I	Rates	S		Classified	Cat	tegories
Words/Day	1	2	3	4	5	Extra Days	01	Announcements	15	Miscellaneous Merchandise
1-15		3.25				1.00	02	Apartments for Rent - Furnished	16	Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale
		3.45				1.05	03	Apartments for Rent — Unfurnished	17	Musical Instruments
7.5		3.85	*			1.15	04	Automobiles for Sale	18	Personals
		4.05				1.20	05	Automobile Rentals	19	Pets and Pet Supplies
		4.25				1.25	06	Card of Thanks	20	Professional Services
21		4.45				1,30	-	Child Care	21	Rentals
		4.65				1.40	07		- 50	1191000
		5.05				1.45	08	Computers	22	Resume/Typing Services
		5.25				1,50	09	Employment	23	Roommate Wanted
		5.45				1.55	10	Financial Services	24	Situation Wanted
		5.65				1.60	11	Garage and Yard Sales	25	Sporting/Recreational Equipment
28 29		5.85				1.65	12	Houses and Mobile Homes for Flent	26	Sublease
30					10.00	1.75	13	Houses and Mobile Homes for Sale	27	Welcome
Over 30 words								Lost and Found		Other lassified M	all (Ord	er F	orn	1
ame							- 47	Phone no
ddress				_	1			Student ID #
		_ 2_				3		44		5
		_ 7_				8		99		10
								14
		17				18		19	-	20
		22				23		24		_25
								29

Category

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 11, 1987 ■ Page 4

Decommercialize Christmas season

To Whom This May Concern,

Throughout the semester I have received a variety of letters - some of them stupid, some of them witty and some of them unprintable. As I sit down to write this, my concluding column, I am realizing that perhaps some of those letters which I have not printed may have come from attentionstarved manic-depressives who will commit suicide if their letters are not published.

I would have a very difficult time carrying out a normal finals week - blowing off studying in order to catch cheap matinees with a suicide on my conscience. Thus, this column is dedicated to the unstable members of the K-State community - students, faculty, staff and especially the administration who have written to me throughout the semester. I just hope Santa leaves each of you an appointment with a psychiatrist in your stocking, so that none of you will be hung by the chimney with care!

Dear Jeff,

I am a sophomore in recreational studies. I have always had this crush on policemen. Even as a little boy, those black clothes, handcuffs and billy clubs always sparked my imagination. In fact, that is one of the main reasons that I came to K-State. Just seeing

Hang tinsel after Thanksgiving

JEFF

tell them you will expect a good-night kiss for your efforts. What do you have to lose? If they arrest you, not only will one have to touch you, but you may be lucky enough to be put in handcuffs. The longer you are in jail, the more cops you will see. How can you go

Just please do me a favor. Tell them your little theory about not being a homosexual and just liking cops. In fact, you should also tell that to all of your cellmates. I'm sure they wrong?

theory.

SCHRAG

Collegian

Columnist

those campus cops in shiny white cars has made my college career worthwhile.

You are probably thinking that I am a homosexual. I am not. Homosexuals like all of the members of their own sex, I just like male police officers. I prefer to think that I am a "policosexual." However, that is beside the point. The point is, I want to ask out one of the campus cops, and I need your advice on the best way to do it. Should I go right for the chief, or should I start with a patrol officer and work my way up?

I am desperate and need your help. I cannot stand rejection. But, on the other hand, I have grown sick of watching the video tape of the Council Grove sheriff four times a day. Please help me add some variety to my life.

Signed, Clamoring for a Cop

Dear Clamoring,

I think you should take the bull by the horns. Go for broke! Walk right into the campus police station, pound your fist on the counter and scream, "I want to take a cop out for dinner and a movie!" Don't be bashful; beginning to hate Christmastime. It is all so commercial. Wal-Mart had Christmas deco-Commentary rations up even before they had finished taking down their Halloween spooks and goblins. That is just too early. Every advertisement I hear is merely a take-off of some Christmas theme. Everyone is just trying to cash in on Christmas. It is so commercialized it makes me sick!

Can't someone set up some laws that will decommercialize the Christmas season? I have a few suggestions.

■ No Christmas decorations can go up before Thanksgiving. This would include, but not be limited to, tinsel, holly, mistletoe, Christmas trees, Christmas lights, paper doll Santas and reindeer pelts.

■ No Christmas sales except during the 10-day period between Dec. 15 and Dec. 25. This means no "Christmas in July or August," no "beat the rush, buy in October" and no "only 69 shopping days until Christmas" sales.

■ No business will be allowed to use the names Santa Claus, Mrs. Claus, Rudolph, the would just love to help you explore your Grinch, Scrooge, Tiny Tim or Bing Crosby more than once a day in its advertising. And all of them will have to apologize during the important things, like getting pit bull terriers week after Christmas for making a lot of put on the endangered species list.

money from the spirit of giving.

I know that some people, especially money-hungry swine, will take issue against my suggestions. Thus, I am writing you. Please tell me the best way to return Christmas to the way it used to be, and save it from the evil clutches of capitalism.

Signed, Yearning for Yesterday

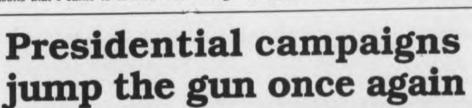

Dear Yearning,

I am sorry - no, actually I am not sorry to disagree with you. I happen to like the Christmas season. I happen to think that giving is good for everyone. And, of course someone is making money off of Christmas. How else could anyone afford to give those Christmas bonuses?

Above all, I don't mind that the season is being stretched into the early fall. I think this world needs all of the good cheer, mistletoe and egg nog it can get.

As for your guidelines, I think you left out a good many things, especially some punishment for people who are cry babies when they can't have things, like holiday seasons, their

So maybe you should just get a grip on yourself; turn off your television set; don't visit the mall, and turn your energies to more

The 1988 presidential elections are a little under a year away and most of the candidates have been planning their campaigns for more than a year and campaigning for the last several months. Every four years the preparations for presidential campaigns start sooner and sooner. There is no reason for campaigns to begin so early - and there are some very good reasons for them not to.

First of all, most of the people involved with the election process - and usually a majority of the candidates - are already in elected offices. The American public elected these people to run the country and not run for re-election.

There is a tendency for elected officials to act quite differently when they are getting ready for an election. Rarely during these times do they voice opinions or vote in a manner that might displease their constituency. It is already hard enough for elected officials to pass legislation that looks ahead to the future, considering most legislation of this type is unpopular in the short run. The longer they will not have to worry about being re-elected, the more chance there is they will be willing to pass such unpopular but necessary legislation.

Another and, perhaps, more important reason for limiting the period that candidates can campaign is money. The amount of money needed to run for the presidency is already beyond what most candidates can personally raise. And that leaves the door open to special interest groups who are willing to contribute the money a candidate needs in return for special considerations when the candidate is in office.

By limiting the time a candidate can campaign, the amount of money that will have to be spent will be somewhat curtailed. That gives the special interest groups less leverage over the candidates and allows officials more room to vote for the benefit of all their constituents.

Majority rule system unfair, lacks logic needed to work

With student elections over, it's timely to analyze the political process itself. Political decisions in the United States are usually made by a majority decision rule (or minor variations like plurality, two-thirds, etc.) Majority rule isn't the only decision rule for resolving conflicting opinions, nor is it the best. It has logical flaws. Each voter can base his/her decision on literally anything, rational or not. That voter is under no obligation to justify the choice. Many decisions have been based on irrational reasoning. For example, Bob Dole voted against 65 mph in order to show support for Reagan in his time of crisis. Although a friendly gesture, Dole did not base his decision on valid criteria. People in power do not have the prerogative to be wrong. Their opinions are affecting real people's lives significantly; they have more of an obligation to work harder at being right than the average municipal sources of drinking water from person does.

Majority rule is quantitative. It's based on how many, rather than why. It cares about numbers and percentages, not whether the opinions are right or wrong. If numbers alone mattered, then China would be the dominant world political force because of its billionplus population.

If numbers mattered, then Chinese opinions would be five times more accurate than American opinions. If percentages had anything to do with being right, then the civil rights advances of the '60s would not have happened. If majorities were inherently correct, then we wouldn't have to worry about protecting such things as free speech. A majority, 50 percent plus one, is purely arbitrary.

That number has no more logical justification than 15, 39 or 97. The only significance of percentages above 50 is that there are no larger opposing groups. But numbers and percentages have nothing to do with being right. Five people can be right when 100 million are wrong. To choose an arbitrary percentage concensus for a decision rule is illogical. A better approach is qualitative.

Commentary

REX M. OLIVA Guest Columnist

People's belief systems (their values, principles and knowledge) often contain inconsistencies without their necessarily being aware of it. Inconsistencies are defined as when two ideas can't be true at the same time. For example, a senator believes in protecting pollution, he also believes in supporting the party position. If his party favors allowing an industrial plant to dump its wastes in a river which will contaminate a downstream city's water supply, the senator's beliefs are inconsistent. Everyone has subtle inconsistencies in their beliefs which they may not be aware of. That's the only reason two people, when given the same information, have different People base their decisions at the conscious and subconscious level. Operating at the conscious level requires effort; it also produces more accurate decisions. Subconscious decisions are reflexive like blinking an eye. They're fast and require little or no effort. They aren't nearly as accurate as conscious thought; they're "off the top of your head." Your subconscious only searches until it comes up with a quick answer; it won't make you aware of inconsistencies. Most political decisions are reflexive.

The only way for two people with different opinions to reach an agreement is to find out what they agree on and look for contradictions in each other's opinions (and they will be there). Then, people must be willing to revise their opinions when proven wrong. If people adamantly hold on to their views after being proven wrong, that's irrational. Irrational people must be excluded from the decision-making process.

To efficiently carry out this process, an informal debate is helpful, under the following rules: (1) a non-competitive, nonconfrontational environment (the goal is to reach consensus, not "beat the opponent"); (2) arguments will be broken down from specific to more general - analysis; (3) arguments will be built up from general to form specific - integration; (4) when contradictions are pointed out, people must revise their opinions; and (5) when a participant cannot justify an opinion and that opinion has been contradicted by someone else, that opinion must be dropped.

This process will bring the debaters to 100 percent consensus. The objective for each participant is to look for inconsistencies in the other person's beliefs, then prove contradictions.

Political bodies like the U.S. Senate, House and Supreme Court have mixed opinions because their members aren't completely rational - they aren't willing to let their belief systems be openly challenged. Some of the members may be highly rational, but under a quantitative system, quality of opinions does not count, only numbers.

Majority rule and its variations have to be discarded from the U.S. political process because they aren't logical and they're causing significant harm. The replacement should be unanimous consent of all rational people, with rational being defined as submitting to Rex M. Oliva is a junior in accounting.

Correction

Due to an editor's error, Karla Rede-Isheimer's name was misspelled in a letter in Thursday's Collegian.

Holiday season time to care about others

sion - for most.

Most look forward to a big dinner, a day or more off from work or school and a multitude of presents. Some worry about not finding

"just the right" present or having the right clothes to wear to their Christmas office party.

Others shiver in a futile effort to warm themselves and wonder what makes Dec. 25 so special anyway. Children see and hear about all the wonderful toys "everyone" is getting from Mom or Dad and stop to think they must be "no one" since this will mark the fifth Christmas in as many they will receive only a smile - and that only in their dreams.

But some of these people will find Christmas a happy occasion because someone cared. They will find help from the Salvation Army because Christmastime is a joyful occa- someone took time to drop their spare change in the bellringer's collection bucket. Or maybe someone took time to clean out a closet and give away clothes or toys no longer used by their family.

Someone else will have a meal Christmas Day because someone who usually takes Christmas for granted cleaned out the cupboard and took the time to drop off the canned goods at one of the food drive drop-offs.

Yet another person will spend time visiting shut-ins just because he/she realizes how lonely living alone can be - especially during the holiday season.

But for any of these scenerios to ever take place it first calls for a caring person, and what better time to make time to care for others than during the Christmas season?

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR Deron Johnson MANAGING EDITOR Becky Lucas NEWS EDITOR Jeff Bielser

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR John Thelander ADVERTISING MANAGER Judy Goetz

EDITORIAL BOARD: Jeff Bielser, Kirk Caraway, Deron Johnson, Gary Lytle, Becky Lucas, Judy Lundstrom, Alison Neely, Chad Sanborn, Erwin Seba

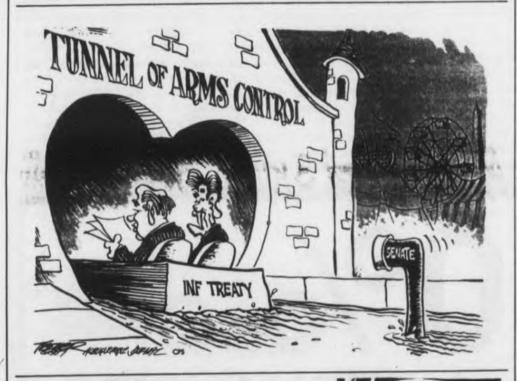

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., daily during the fall and spring terms except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Opinion

The Artists' Gallery

Student Senate committee aims to improve University academics

Now that elections are over, I think it's time to shed some light on some issues which face Student Senate that do not receive much publicity. The Academic Affairs and University Relations Standing Committee of Student Senate sees several things regarding academics which go on unbeknownst to a lot of students.

One item which the committee has been working on is obtaining and maintaining a "Brag Book" on K-State. All of the information our University can brag about is now available in the Student Government Office in the Union to anyone who is interested in discovering facts and figures about K-State. These are just a few of what one might find in the brag book:

K-State was founded in February 1883 as the first land grant college under the Morrill Act of 1862; acceptance rates into professional schools are outstanding — more than 95 percent into law school, more than 95 percent into veterinary school, 100 percent into nursing school and the list goes on;

K-State is the only school in the free world to offer baking, feed and milling science and management;

the Konza Prairie, the largest tallgrass prairie area in the world is operated by K-State;

and K-State is the only university in the entire country whose campus newspaper and yearbook were judged as best in the country Commentary

TATHAM

Columnist

in the same year. The "Brag Book" is just one example of items the committee has looked into

We wrote a resolution in regards to the advising system at K-State. Student Senate just recently passed the resolution which strongly encourages the implementation of the Academic Advising Model. Some of the items included in the model are the assignment of an adviser to every student, a formal adviser training program and stressing the importance of academic advising as to include possible promotions. We suggested that the New Student Programs Department distribute information to all new students on the advising program. The Academic Affairs and University Relations Committee will be available to assist in the implementation of the suggestions made in the resolution.

Another item we have been looking at is the freshman orientation class. This semester is the first time it has been offered. The committee has been investigating the responses and may offer a resolution to Student Senate next semester after the evaluations of the course are tabulated. For those of you unfamiliar with the course, it is designed to help freshmen become familiar with the University and college life in general. At the present time it is not offered in all of the colleges.

Teacher evaluations are yet another item we have looked into. This semester a couple of members of the student body president's cabinet have established a program in which students would visit classes and conduct an evaluation with the questions that have been developed by the cabinet members. This program may be ready for implementation sometime next semester.

Also in relation to teacher evaluations, we presented a resolution to Student Senate to include peer evaluations in addition to student evaluations when evaluating a member of the faculty. The resolution was passed by Student Senate and then presented to Faculty Senate. The proposal regarding the peer evaluations failed in Faculty Senate.

I hope we have helped some of you better understand some of the issues that face Student Senate in some way or another. If you have any questions or concerns about these or any others, please call the SGA Hotline at 532-7777.

Elrene Tatham, a senior in construction science, is chairwoman of the Academic Affairs and University Relations Committee.

Letters

Happy holidays

Editor,

The end of the semester is now here, and that means final exams are upon us. I'd like to wish each one of you best of luck with your exams. Once exams are over, I hope you will all have a safe and fun break. May each and every one have a happy and healthy holiday season.

See you next year!

Troy Lubbers student body president

Please help

Editor,

When I moved to Manhattan last year, I was immediately impressed with the natural beauty of the city. Therefore, it was surprising to discover the plans of the city government to expand the water treatment plant bordering Goodnow park at the expense of the park. A report to the city by Black and Veach in 1981 recommended incremental expansion of the bordering water treatment plant to eventually encompass the entire park by the year 2000. Apparently, members of the city council have already recommended approval of the second phase of this expansion, which will cover approximately half of the remaining park area. The current playground area will be relocated to the remainder of the park, but obviously will be eliminated in the final expansion.

The park (located between Fourth and Fifth streets and bordered by Thurston Street) was established in 1938 and was described by the Manhattan Mercury as "one of the most beautiful locations in the city," which is obvious to anyone who has enjoyed the park. I urge all students, faculty, staff, and residents of Manhattan who are concerned with the disappearance of the only available park in the area to contact members of the Board of Zoning Appeals or your city representatives before the scheduled rehearing of this matter on Wednesday, Jan. 13.

Brenda Oppert Department of Biochemistry

Simplify matters

Editor,

As we register for another semester at Kansas State University, I would like to make a plea to the administration at K-State to consider a change in its registration and fee payment policies.

Although registration and fee payment are not easy times for any students, they are exceptionally difficult for the non-traditional students. K-State has more than 2,400 undergraduate students over the age of 25. More than 50 percent of these students hold full-time jobs in addition to attending K-State.

Statistics show these students are a tremendous asset to the University, and the current registration and fee payment procedures make it very difficult for them. If nontraditional students choose to take a day course in combination with evening courses, they may not use evening registration, but must register and pay their fees during regular hours.

Often, this involves taking time off work and other complications. Since evening course offerings at K-State are minimal, most non-traditional students must take some day courses to graduate.

Other universities have been very successful with mail-in registration and fee payments. After-hours registration and weekend hours should also be considered. Surely such changes would be advantageous to all students at K-State.

Please join me in supporting a change in both registration and fee payment procedures. It's good for all of us.

Susan Plonkey junior in business administration

Language problem

Editor,

I must take issue with Ike Wakabayashi's letter of Oct. 26 in which he ridicules the problem of sexism in language. While many people consider language discrimination to be a relatively negligible concern, it is something we should all at least recognize and try to avoid in our own communication. Wakabayashi cavalierly suggests that we do so by mangling our vocabulary.

Discrimination of any kind is often, while easy to diagnose, very difficult to remedy, often because people refuse to acknowledge the need for reform. English is not the only language in the world which contains both racist and sexist bias - those biases are a part of our civilization's history and have, of course, infiltrated many languages. But we attempt to improve ourselves and our civilization when we alleviate those biases. Discrimination in language is insidious, and just as wrong as any other form or discrimination. When someone in an influential role, such as an instructor, makes light of the situation, those who sincerely want to get rid of exclusionary language are dealt another setback.

We do not want to destroy the English language. Nor do we want to distort communication. On the contrary, those who are concerned with stopping language discrimination want to do just the opposite: make our language more accessible, more universal. It is not difficult to avoid sex-biased language, once we give it a little consideration. What is difficult is accepting that the language in which we think has a problem.

L.A. Fleming graduate in English

Fans deserving

Editor

Re: Damian Gerstner's letter in the Dec. 1 issue of the Collegian reprimanding Troy Millsap's view of ICAT as being unfair.

As a member of one of the groups camping for non-ICAT tickets, I take exception to some of the statements you have made. It may have been common knowledge that ICAT would get preferred seating. In an attempt to find out exactly what seats they would get, I talked with a member of the Basketball Ticket Sales Committee and then the chairman himself. Both times I was told they couldn't announce the policy until after Midnight Madness. I would assume there was a good reason for not informing us, but we still haven't figured it out. Had we known previous to camping out that ICAT would get the choicest reserved seats, we probably wouldn't have been out in the cold and rain for 15 days.

ICAT may generate some revenues for the Mike Aheam Scholarship fund, but the publicity that the campers generated, not only for the team but the University as a whole, cannot be overlooked. The Kansas City Star and Topeka Capital-Journal, along with other assorted newspapers generated free publicity state wide for the upcoming season. Television stations out of Kansas City and Topeka ran features during their news casts. The USA Today newspaper and Sports Illustrated magazine also ran articles about Ahearn's "tent city." You have to like a little nation-wide exposure, and again it didn't cost the University a penny. While camping out, a mimeographed message from Lon Kruger was passed out stating how newspaper clippings about people camping out are mailed to our top 100 recruits, and that the recruits are very impressed by this. Money may talk, but it sure doesn't get us much publicity.

I find it easy to see why you don't feel even the tiniest bit of discrimination. I'll bet if you had camped out in the hopes of getting those seats acquired by ICAT members, you would feel differently. Many of the living groups that elected to "Save a Twenty" voiced disapproval both during and after the time we were camping out. But I guess, according to you, we're just going to have to cry about it among ourselves until we can find a $20 bill to wipe our noses.

The result of this has left a bad taste in many people's mouths, mine included. I hope the athletic department, which must have ultimately allowed ICAT to have these seats in the first place, works on a better policy for next year. It might be wise to show a little more consideration to those who went to the time and effort to drum up a little enthusiasm for the upcoming basketball season. Now that student interest has once again reached the levels in years past, don't alienate some of the team's biggest fans.

Phil Ham senior in milling science and 28 others

Working together

Editor

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is pleased to be a vital and integral part of communities across the nation. In this vein, we will always strive to establish unity, proselytize for peace and promote good will and accommodation among all people.

It is the intent of the NAACP not to be a separatist organization or to exclude anyone from its ranks, based on race, religion, color, physical disabilities, age, sex, marital or economic status or national origin.

Ever since the NAACP's inception in 1909, we have been an integrated body for all people, working together to bring about freedom and equality for all poeple everywhere. We will continue to strive for all to fully enjoy those fundamental rights and principles embedded in the Constitution.

In promoting freedom, liberty, justice and prosperity for all, we will join hands with those organizations whose goals or ideologies reflect positive artistic, literary, political, social or scientific values when taken as a whole. Applying contemporary standards of justice and morality, we will join hands with others in order to move forward toward a better tomorrow with faith, hope and charity for all. God bless always.

The Rev. Joseph S. Spence President, Manhattan branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

Letters to the editor pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be type-written or neatly printed and signed by the author. They should not exceed 300 words.

ANATOMY OF A MALL

Security: effective mall measure

Manhattan Town Center security officer Rodney Davis visits with a shopkeeper while making his rounds. Security officers, off-duty Riley County Police Officers who have had special training by the mall's developer, monitor all the activity in the commons area of the mall.

Forces ensure safe,

By David Wagner Contributing Writer

If you happen to be walking around Manhattan Town Center some afternoon, don't expect to be intimidated by security forces staring you down, anticipating your next move.

That would chase away business, said Town Center's General Manager Chris Heavey. Instead, he said, a safe and secure environment is created through simple - yet effective - security measures.

"Everyone is subtle (within our security system)," Heavey said. "Our security monitors all the activity in the commons area of the mall and nowhere else."

All of the security officers at Town Center are off-duty Riley County police officers, Heavey said. The positions are part-time and require a 16-hour training course set up by Forest City Developers Inc., the mall's developer.

From Monday through Friday, there are seldom more than two security officers on duty working no secure environment

more than four- to six-hour shifts, he said. The security director, Alan Rayon, also works part-time and is mainly in charge of scheduling security officers for the mall.

The reason for security at Town Center is simple, Heavey said. Any area that attracts large groups of people is vulnerable to problems. Those problems can be alleviated, if not completely prevented, through simple security measures, he said.

"We have security here, not as a threat, but as a protective device,"

Security at the mall is for the walkway area only, he said. There is no obligation for the "Mall Patrol," as it is called, to monitor the retailers' stores or merchandise that occupies the mall.

"We have no obligation to them," Heavey said. "What goes on in their store is none of our business, nor should it be. Most of them have their own security measures that they take themselves. If there is a problem at their store, they call ■ See SECURITY, Page 10

Public town squares become private malls with own legal rights

By Andy Nelson Of the Collegian Staff

Years ago, the focal point of cities across the country was the town square. Folks gathered from miles around to the commercial and social hub of the region to buy goods, pick up on the news and voice popular and controversial opinions.

But that was years ago.

The complexion of cities and the lifestyles of those who live in them has changed drastically. Sprawling suburbs have given rise to shopping centers that cater to the comfort of consumers with the need to get the most buying done in the least amount of time. The town square has been replaced by privately-operated shopping malls that can legally control expression.

The issue of whether malls are public areas under law or privatelyowned and controlled space has been reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court. In two decisions in the 1970s, the High Court ruled in favor of the mall owners in controlling free speech precedents which stand today.

The current legal standard for mall operators came in 1972 when the Supreme Court of the United States ruled in favor of not allowing the distribution of leaflets protesting the Vietnam War in an Oregon shopping center.

The Court, in a 5-4 decision, held that despite being generally open to the public, a privately owned and operated shopping center is not so dedicated to public use that it must allow the distribution of handbills unrelated to the center's operations. In the majority opinion, Associate Justice Lewis Powell Jr. asserted that property does not lose its private character merely because the public is invited to use it.

The Manhattan Town Center has not established a policy on free speech and distribution of informaton, but is in the process of formulating one, said General Manager Chris Heavey. He said the policy will be finalized early next year after the Center's first Christmas selling season.

Heavey prefers to approach the issue on a case-by-case basis in which the parties wishing to use the center approach him with their idea and arrange a mutually beneficial relationship.

Heavey said a recent example of this was when the Sunset Zoo approached him with a request to distribute leaflets advertising a trip to the Amazon River. The request to simply hand out the information to passing customers in the mall was denied by Heavey. But after further discussion, Heavey and zoo officials decided that a film from previous Amazon River trips could be continuously shown in a storefront while leaflets were made available at the center's information counter.

The compromise solved two problems: the zoo was able to disseminate information to prospective adventurers and Heavey was able to create an event which wouldn't detract from his customers' shopping pleasure.

"Each thing is individual and each thing can be discussed," Heavey said. "If we can work it out to where it doesn't intimidate the customer, we will try to do it."

Other regional malls have policies similar to those at Town Center.

The White Lakes Mall in Topeka allows certain charitable organizations to conduct fundraising events in the center, said John Maddox, marketing director. The American Heart Association has a fundraising drive in the mall and distributes leaflets containing information about how donations are used, he said.

White Lakes also allows some groups to hold profit-making activities, such as a raffle for an automo-■ See SPEECH, Page 10

Christmas Gift Idea:

The folks back home want to keep up with what's happening in your life at Kansas State University.

A subscription to the Kansas State Collegian will keep them up-to-date on campus events and other Manhattan activities.

If you get too busy to write a letter every week, at least your family and friends will get news through the Kansas State Collegian, the nationally recognized, award-winning student newspaper.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIPTION

Please check one:

___Calendar year (2 semesters, summer), $40

____Academic year (32 weeks), $35

___One semester (16 weeks), $20

Summer session (8 weeks), $10

Fill out the form below and send it, along with your check made out to: Student Publications; Kedzie Hall 103; Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Send to:_____

Street or Box No.:_____

City:_____State:____Zip:_____

Date Purchased:______Date to Start:_____

Purchased By:_____

Street or Box No.:

City:_____State:____Zip:____

(To Be Completed by Student Publications)

Fall____Spring___Summer_

Amount Received $_____By:____

3U/o OFF ALL MERCHANDISE

excluding Colors fragrance

Pre-Christmas Sale

1222 Moro Aggieville, USA Open Sun. 1-5 Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 Thurs. 10-8:30

United Fashions of Benetton

Expires Dec. 24, 1987

How do you rank the Collegian's coverage?

Readers voice their views of Collegian

By Deron Johnson Editor

We asked our readers for their opinions.

And they spoke.

In the first statistically reliable Collegian readership survey to be conducted in many semesters - if not ever — a number of enlightening perceptions about the newspaper and its coverage have emerged. And many ideas of what the readers want will be put into motion beginning next semester.

The survey, conducted by Collegian editors, was done randomly via telephone using methods suggested by officials in the Department of Statistics. The margin of error is less than 10 percentage points, with 95 percent confidence. For example, an answer showing 60 percent for a category could range from 50-70 percent for the entire student body.

Ninety-nine of the 104 respondents were students, and the survey was specifically tailored toward garnering students' opinions. The sample was culled from the fall student directory using a random method of selection.

The most revealing response the Collegian received is that the overwhelming majority of students believe the newspaper is accurate. Of the 104 respondents, 102 — or 98 percent - believe the Collegian is

"This (response) pleases me immensely," said David Adams, director of Student Publications Inc., publisher of the Collegian. "The most important thing any medium can do is maintain its credibility."

Conversely, nearly half of the respondents believe the administration influences the Collegian's coverage. Specifically, 45 percent said the administration does influence the coverage while 42 percent said it doesn't. Thirteen percent had no opinion.

"This concerns me that this many people think the administration has so much impact," Adams said. "That one amazes me."

Adams said Student Publications is a non-profit corporation chartered by the state of Kansas, and the Collegian is an independently run student newspaper. Because the newspaper receives student fees, Adams said it truly belongs to K-State students.

About 11 percent of the Collegian's budget comes from a line item no opinion.

budget allocation from Student Senate, and about 84 percent comes from advertising, Adams said. The balance comes from the 800 mail subscriptions, interest from accounts and other pools.

"If the results mean the majority of the students think the administration controls the paper, then that surprises me because nothing could be further from the truth," Adams, an associate professor of journalism and mass communications, said,

Because the percentages are rounded, they may not round up to

Other things revealed by the survey include:

Seventy-one percent of the students always read the Collegian, 29 percent sometimes read the paper, and no respondent reported never reading it.

Fifty-eight percent said they rely on the Collegian "some" for state, national and international news, 21 percent rely on the paper very much for this coverage, and 21 percent said they rely on it little for

For 52 percent of the respondents, the Collegian is the only newspaper read on a regular basis. Nearly one-third said they read one other paper regularly, 10 percent reported reading two other papers, 3 percent said they read three other papers and 2 percent reported reading four other papers regularly.

Sixty-three percent said the Collegian does an excellent job of covering campus news, 37 percent said the paper does a fair job, and no one said it does a poor job.

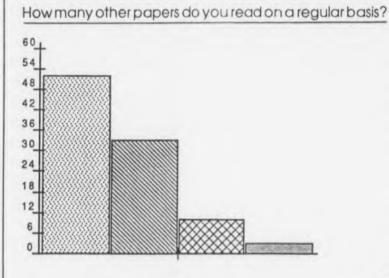

For city news coverage, 11 percent said the Collegian does an excellent job, 81 percent believe the paper does a fair job and 8 percent said it does a poor job.

■ In sports coverage, 47 percent said the Collegian does an excellent job, 43 percent responded "fair," and 7 percent believe the paper does a seven percent don't read it. poor job of sports coverage.

■ Twenty percent said the paper does an excellent job in its government coverage, 71 percent said the said they read comics first. Twelve coverage is fair, and 7 percent said it percent read the sports or editorial was poor. Two percent had no page first, and 6 percent read the clas-age, 36 percent said the Collegian and no opinion. does an excellent job, 59 percent believe it does a fair job and 3 percent always read the advertisements in the responded "poor." Two percent had Collegian, 47 percent said they least about the Collegian, 7 percent

THE 1987 COLLEGIAN READERSHIP SURVEY

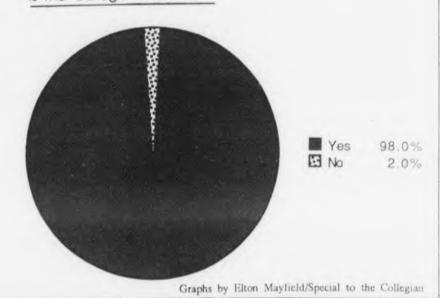

One 2 ☑Two Three

Does the administration influence the Collegian?

 90 80 60 50 40 20 Campus News City News Sports Government Entertainment SFair Poor Excellent Mo opinion

Is the Collegian accurate?

■ Rating the Collegian's editorial page, 27 percent believe it is excellent, 40 percent said it is fair and 6 percent said it is poor. Twenty-

Fifty-five percent of the respondents said they always read the front page first, and 13 percent And on entertainment cover- included the campus bulletin, briefly,

Forty-seven percent said they sometimes read them, and 7 percent each said the editorial page and the said they never read them. Seventy percent said they clip coupons from the paper.

■ The Collegian asked the respondents what they like most about the paper. Sixteen percent replied campus coverage, 11 percent said sports, 10 percent said editorial page/opinions, 8 percent said cartoons/crossword, 6 percent said availability, 4 percent said personals sified ads first. Other responses and other responses included ads, layout, reliability, good reporting, short length, open forum and overall coverage.

■ When asked what they liked abundance of ads. Six percent said the Big Eight papers." the ink smeared, 5 percent said lack stories are needed. of cartoons, 3 percent said Rubes and 3 percent said the paper needs to be bigger. Other responses were: the college papers." raunchy personals, lack of human interest stories, lack of aggressive personals, "Alf" is listed twice in the TV listings, improper ads, poor editing, bias toward Student Senate, and lack of city, state and national news.

Finally, respondents were asked for general comments about the paper. Responses included:

■ The Collegian has a good

■ The Collegian is "the best of balance of news.

More national sports. tional coverage.

Collegian."

paper.

As a result of the survey, some changes are being planned for next ■ See SURVEY, Page 10

■ More fraternity and sorority

■ The Collegian "is the best of

■ The paper is well-organized.

■ The Collegian "keeps me up-to-date and has an edge on the (Manhattan) Mercury. When I want to find out what's going on, I read the

■ The Collegian is a mediocre

■ The paper needs more interna-

1124 MORO

AGGIEVILLE

(913) 539-0360

HOURS THROUGH CHRISTMAS 10-6 MONDAY-SUNDAY 10-8 THURSDAY

스NEEDS: VOLUNTEER DISK JOCKEYS

and UNDERWRITER REPRESENTATIVES (paid on commission)

These staff positions need to be filled right away. Apply at McCain 328 or call Joe Montgomery 532-7645.

LEADING EDGE

KSU Gets a "D" from Santa!

A Holiday computer special for K-State Staff and Students

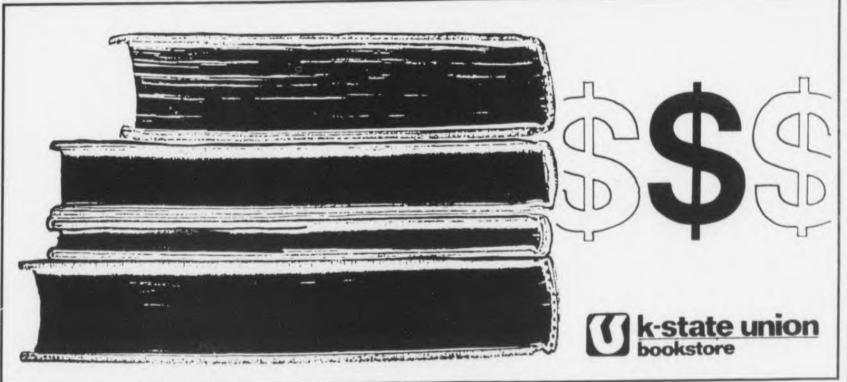

for a complete Leading Edge Model "D"

This "Best Buy" system includes full PC compatibility, 2 disk drives, 512K memory, high resolution mono monitor, word processor, speller, merge, DOS and an amazing 20 month warranty.

Connecting Point

1115 Westloop Shopping Center Open Mon-Thur: 10 - 9, Fri-Sat: 10-6

Want To Sell Your Books?

We Will Buy:

December 9-11, 8:30 am - 4:30 pm December 12 10:30 am - 3:30 pm December 14-18 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

Collegian/Jennifer Quist

Grass Fire

day putting out a grass fire which started west of Plymouth Road the incident. The cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Tom Bragg, volunteer firefighter and sophomore in animal science at approximately 4:30 p.m. Battalion Chief Jack Roets said the fire and industry, and other firefighters spent about four hours Thurs- spread over "a couple of hundred acres." No one was injured in

Wefald well provided for Benefits include car, allowance

By Alison Neely Staff Writer

Many things in this world are worth a lot of money, and the K-State president is no exception.

In addition to his salary and state benefits. President Jon Wefald is provided with services customary to ly," he said. university presidents and chancellors.

"All state university presidents and chancellors get free residence, automobile and entertainment. This Loub, president of the KSU Foundation.

The KSU Foundation provides month, Loub said.

Annually, Wefald receives a sume budget director.

for entertainment purposes from the Foundation. Set at $70,000 for this cost of upkeep on the home and Foundation. Set at $70,000 for this year, the money is distributed by the president for his own and various other vice-president's entertainment needs. It is used primarily to entertain state, national and foreign officials and dignitaries, Loub said. "You have to be able to provide the amenities to host people proper-

Some of the entertainment occurs at 100 Wilson Court, the president's The house, which rents for $16,800 a year, is provided free to is a common practice," said Art Wefald. The house and grounds are maintained at no cost by University Facilities. "It's a state building and they

Wefald with a 1986 Oldsmobile. (University Facilities) maintain it Lease on the vehicle is $523.28 per because it is used for University pur-

Salaries for state university presidents and chancellors are set by the Board of Regents. Since the Board of Regents' fiscal year is from July to June, the pay increases are only for half years, Elcock said.

Wefald's base salary is set at $92,000 a year. In June, the Board of Regents voted to increase Wefald's salary by 5.4 percent for a new base salary of $97,000 per year. For the period Dec. 18 to June 18, he will receive a monthly salary based on the $97,000-per year figure, Elcock said.

"Next June they could raise him 50 percent, 100 percent or no percent. Whatever they want," he said.

Benefits for university presidents do not differ any from other state employees. Wefald pays five percent of his salary into the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association, the state retirement plan. For every state employee contribution, the state pays eight percent of that person's salary into the fund.

Health insurance is another employee benefit. The state provides health insurance at $1,097 per year for every full-time employee. Options are available to purchase health insurance under the same plan for other members of an employee's family, Elcock said.

"It's not based on salary. It's $1,097 (per year) whether you're making $5,000 or $97,000 per year."

Kansas

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 scholarships that Kansas colleges are unable to compete with, Eversmeyer

She said most Kansas colleges do not have the financial backing "to compete with the kind of money that can be offered to those national merit kids...who can kind of name their own places they want to go.

Mayor

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

sioner and his second term as mayor. His stint as mayor will end in April.

Three city commissioners are elected in Manhattan every two years, and the top two vote-getters are elected for four-year terms, with the third commissioner elected to a two-year term. While Klingler's position isn't truly voluntary, his $100 a month allowance hardly makes the position financially enticing.

Klingler said the commissioner chosen as mayor is usually elected to a four-year term during his or her third or fourth year on the commission.

Being a working physician adds to his ability to serve as the mayor, he

"I see a tremendous number of people from all walks of life," Klingler said. "And I feel I can represent all segments of life."

Klingler said his contact with patients helps him in representing his constituents. "Sometimes I'll bring up the subject — if it's someone who's opinion I respect or if it's someone who may have a particular interest in a problem.' Klingler said joint cooperation between the University and Manhattan is something he wants to continue and expand. Another project Klingler wishes to pursue in the future is expansion of the municipal airport. "This is a major problem — we don't have a good terminal, and we need jet service in here to really increase our capabilities," he said. Klingler hopes the terminal could be moved, and the north-south runway could be expanded. "This is in the works, but I want to speed it up," he Klingler, born and raised in Kansas City, Kan., completed his undergraduate degree at Doane College in Crete, Neb. He attended the University of Kansas Medical School, where he also served his residency.

Lease

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"It will be like spending the UDAG (Urban Development Action Grant) money twice," Davis said.

The UDAG money was also used to pay for part of the mall's development and thus relieved $9 million from the cost.

Several factors influenced the leasing arrangement of Town Center. Among them was the location of the

"You don't see downtown malls in the situation ours is in," Davis said. "It is unique because you have a mall in an urban setting."

A majority of mall developments are planned in suburban settings.

Anytime a project such as a mall is considered, it brings with it its own set of conditions, Ceepo said. Those conditions then determine what the final lease agreements will be.

The leasing arrangement also has provisions if the developers decide to sell the lease for the mall.

If the lease is sold by the developer, the city must agree to certain criteria before the sale can be concluded, Davis said.

The main consideration for the city, in the event of a sale of the lease, would be the capability of the purchaser to operate the mall in a proper manner, said Bill Frost, Manhattan city attorney. If that qualification is met, the city said. There is a provision in the lease to prevent the city from unreasonably holding up the sale of the lease. However, the mall's developers are prevented from doing anything is obligated to accept the sale, he with the lease for five years after the mall is open, Frost said. Davis said she did not think such provisions would be used because of Forest City's reputation. "One reason Forest City Developers were selected is that they don't sell their properties," she said.

Effective Dec. 18, 1987 Clinic Hours: 8-11:30 a.m. 1-4:30 p.m.

LAFENE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER 24 hours, 7 days a week emergency service

SUDS Y'R DUDS Laundromat

1453 Anderson Ave.

Newly Enlarged Facilities_Open!

-New Maytag Washers and Dryers - a.

-Double and Triple Load Washers

-LOTS OF FREE PARKING Y

TIME FOR A STUDY BREAK? Come check us out . . .

Pick up a

Have a Pizza Party

1 large Valentino's

2 movies

Party Pak · 2 movies

single topping pizza · 2 liter bottle of pop · 2 liter bottle of pop

· 2 bags of popcorn

behind Alco in Village Plaza

Bring this ad to either of our new stylists and receive $10 off perms through December 19, 1987!

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

$5,000 lottery winners tell of future

Although many people have already won in the Kansas Lottery, Up and Away, 73 tickets remain for the $5,000 instant-win prize.

"There have been 72 people win $5,000 and there are 73 more winning tickets still out there," said Nancy Zogelman, director of public information for the Kansas Lottery.

Although the Manhattan area has already had five $5,000 instantwinners and one $5,000 drawing winner, Zogelman said the winning tickets were equally distributed throughout the state.

The big prizewinner will receive $100,000 from the Jan. 16 drawing from losing tickets. In order to be eligible for the drawing, participants need to mail five non-winning tickets in an official envelope to the Kansas Lottery headquarters in Topeka and have their envelope drawn in the weekly drawing.

More than 300,000 entries have already been received for the weekly drawing, Zogelman said.

Ticket retailers receive 5 percent of the price of the ticket.

"That (the businesses' profit) is pretty good, since this commodity (the lottery tickets) has no spoilage and requires no shelf space or inventory. The only thing it does do is bring traffic into the store," Zogelman said.

More than 3,000 Kansas Lottery tickets have been sold by Oppy's Standard Service and Henry Oppy, manager, said he plans to continue selling them.

Frank Nelson, manager of Frank's 66 Service Center, said he has sold about 700 lottery tickets. But, he said, he's not sure if he will sell tickets during the second game.

"I'm not making any money on them. I'm selling the tickets to bring in business, but if I don't sell them, people might go somewhere else to buy the tickets and for their business," Nelson said.

-By Debbie Lyons

Tom Benyshek

"I freaked!" said Tom Benyshek, senior in mechanical engineering, about winning $5,000 in the Kansas

"I scratched it off as I walked out of the store," Benyshek said. "I didn't realize I had won until I was a couple of blocks away. Then I freaked!"

At 11:00 p.m. Dec. 1, Benyshek went to the Shop Quik at the First Bank Center and purchased his first two lottery tickets. A few minutes later, he realized that he had become a $5,000 instant winner.

"I went and told a few friends and my roommate," Benyshek said. "Other than that, I really haven't told anybody.

"But, one of the guys in my house went running around, telling Benyshek said he is unsure of what he will do with his winnings.

"I don't know yet - save it or maybe pay off my student loan," he said.

Benyshek has not received the $5,000 yet, but has filled out the forms to do so. The forms say it takes 3 weeks to 6 weeks for the paperwork to be filed.

"I'll just have to wait and find out," Benyshek said. "I have heard a lot of different things about how long it will take to get the money.' Since winning, Benyshek said, he has been saving his money by not purchasing any more tickets. -By Nancy Chartrand

Tammie Blackburn

"I was surprised. We have never won anything," said Tammie Blackburn, Junction City.

Blackburn and her husband Edgar bought two lottery tickets at a convenience store in Junction City a couple days after the game began - and won $5,000 instantly.

With the money, Blackburn said they bought Christmas presents and put the remainder in savings for a

Although the Blackburns did not live in Kansas when the voting for the lottery took place, they are enjoying the benefits of the game, she said.

convincing their family in Kentucky that they actually won $5,000. "Everyone thought we were pulling a joke on them. No one believed

Blackburn said she had trouble us a first," she said. Since winning, the Blackburns continue to buy a few tickets each week. Six of them, she said, were

She said they also send their losing tickets into the lottery's office in Topeka for the $100,000 prize. But, Blackburn said, the official envelopes are a little hard to find.

By Julie Key

Robert Lenhart On Nov. 12, Robert Lenhart, Manhattan, walked into a convenience store on Highway 24, and walked out $5,000 richer.

No, he didn't rob the store. In fact, what he did was quite legat. It was the first day of the Kansas lottery and Lenhart purchased five tickets. Three of them were winners instantly - for a free ticket, $2 and

"I put it away in savings. For no special reason, I just put it away," he said of his winnings. Lenhart said his family and friends were glad but surprised when he won the $5,000. Lenhart, self-employed in construction, buys a ticket once or twice a week. But since winning $5,000, he has only won $2 prizes.

Despite his participation in the lottery. Lenhart didn't vote on the lot-

"I didn't make it down to vote. But, I'm for (the lottery). It's good for the state," he said.

By Julie Key

Celeste McAleese

One Manhattan resident "struck it rich" in the Kansas Lottery and has the chance to win more if her luck holds out.

Celeste McAleese, a worker in the business office of Memorial Hospital, was the winner of $5,000 and now has the chance to win $100,000 Jan. 16 if her name is drawn among five other finalists in the Kansas

"I was excited," McAleese said. 'This doesn't happen to 'Moms,' only a privilaged few."

After working the "graveyard shift" at the hospital, McAleese was in bed when she received a phone can telling her she had won.

"Imagine, going to bed after a long day and you're very groggy, and someone asks you your name and number," McAleese said. "I heard the name Larry Montgomery and then knew something was going on, but I thought I had only won the option (for the $100,000)."

McAleese said only after her husband made a call to the lottery office winners in the Kansas Lottery. in Topeka did she realize she had actually won $5,000.

"My husband always thought he'd be the one to win," McAleese said. 'That week we sent in three envelopes or 15 tickets and his tickets were still the losing ones.

McAleese qualified for the drawing by mailing five losing lottery tickets in an official envelope to Topeka. Envelopes are then selected and put in a hopper. One envelope is drawn each Wednesday. With the money, McAleese said she plans to buy a compact disc player, pay bills and put the remainder in the bank. "Before, $85 was a lot for me to win, but if I win the $100,000, then I have my own special plans of what I'd do with the money," McAlcese

-By Jackie Wendi

Jeffery Rider

Five minutes was all it took for Jeffery Rider, assistant chief of police of Grandview Plaza, to buy a lottery ticket and become the first $5,000 instant-winner in the state.

Rider purchased 15 lottery tickets and received one free when he stopped at a service station in Junction City on Nov. 12. The last of the 16 tickets he scratched off was the $5,000 winner.

"I didn't realize that I had won," Rider said. "I didn't know what it took to win until I read the back of the Rider said he called some of his friends right away to tell them that he had won. But, because of the late hour, not many of them believed him. Five days later, at a press conference, Rider was presented with a check for $5,000.

The lottery people gave me a poster of the check along with a bunch of other things," Rider said. "I have even made copies of the check." Although he would like to spend the money on something else, Rider said, he is going to use the $5,000 to pay off his student loan.

But winning $5,000 doesn't seem to be enough for Rider. He had not bought any tickets after his big win until just recently. This time he purchased three tickets and won $10. -By Nancy Chartrand

Frank Stewart

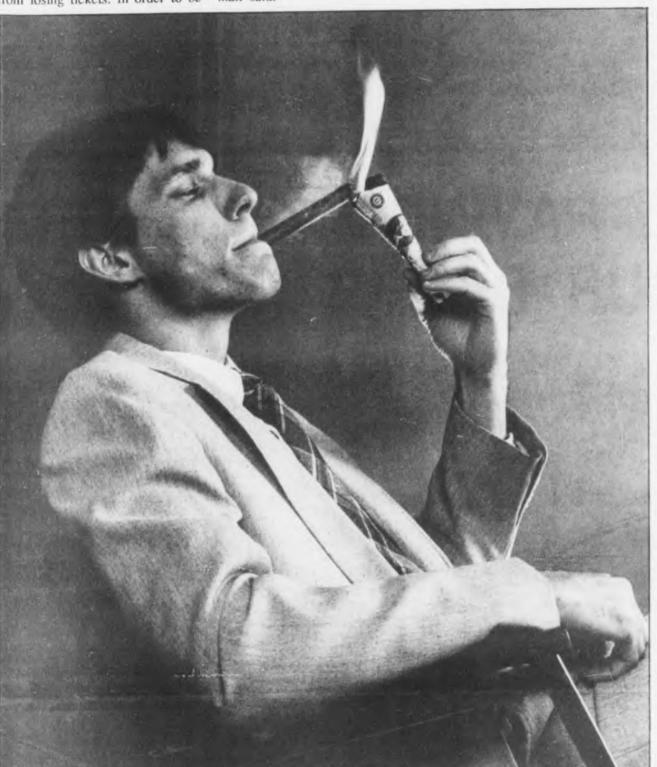

At 10:15 a.m. Nov. 12, Frank Stewart walked into a convenience store in Junction City to buy a package of cigarettes and walked out with

Stewart, an employee of the Junetion City forestry and parks department, is one of the many area $5,000

"I felt good, good," Stewart said "I was really surprised."

Stewart said it only took three weeks to receive his check, and that he has already spent some of the

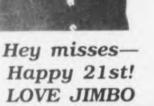

-By Nancy Chartrand

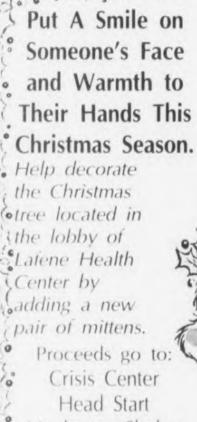

Staff/Brad Fanshier winning tickets, but only for $2 or

Tom Benyshek, senior in mechanical engineering, bought a $1 lottery ticket at a local convenience store and found himself with money to burn. The ticket turned out to be a $5,000 instant-winner.

all mitten sizes needed.) Sponsored by:

Manhattan Shelter LAFENE Health Center

Quality Christmas Specials For a Happy Holiday

All Running Tights NIKE-HIND-ADIDAS-PUMA

All Tennis Rackets Champion Sweats Heavyweight

All Bicycle Tops

Ice Skates

Men and Women Figure-Hockey

1218 Moro-Aggieville-Manhattan 913-539-2441

Speech

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

bile, he said.

"(But) we tell them to let the people come to them. We don't want them pestering (the customers)," Maddox said.

While it allows these activities, White Lakes shies away from allowing other forms of solicitation.

'We have had a lot of people call (about petition drives) - some really worthy causes - but we don't make a habit of doing stuff like that," he

His philosophy is that if one group is allowed to have a drive, then others should be treated equally. For that reason, he said, White Lakes has decided to avoid the problem.

Flyers are not allowed to be placed on cars in Town Center's parking lot. A city ordinance forbids distribution because of litter, Heavey said.

Similarly, White Lakes does not allow the placement of flyers on cars in their parking lot.

Distribution of leaflets is not the only expression that can be controlled by shopping center managers. In a 1976 decision, the Supreme Court sided with shopping center owners in not allowing labor union picketers to demonstrate in privatelyowned malls.

The case revolved around an incident in which union members on strike against a warehouse started to picket their employer's retail store located in a privately-owned shopping center. They were subsequently asked to leave the center under the threat of arrest for trespassing. The union filed an unfair labor practice complaint with the National Labor _historical First Amendment forums."

Relations Board against the owner. Allegations of interference with the employees' right to picket cited a 1969 Supreme Court ruling which said picketing could be allowed in shopping centers.

The NLRB, using the 1969 standard, ruled in favor of the union members. Eventually, the case was argued before the Supreme Court.

In a 5-4 decision, the High Court ruled in favor of the shopping center. Associate Justice Potter Stewart, in the majority opinion, found that the striking employees had "no First Amendment right to enter the shopping center to advertise their strike against their employer."

But Associate Justices Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan dissented, arguing that "shopping center owners have assumed...the traditional role of the state in (their) control of

Maddox said many people have the misconception that a mall is publ-

'A lot of people think they can do what they want (in the mall) because they think it is public property. (Malls) are private property," he

White Lakes has never been confronted with any problems of pickets or protests and doesn't envision future problems, Maddox said.

If the situation did arise, the protestors would be politely asked to leave, he said. If that didn't work, mall security would be called to escort the party out of the center. The final course of action, he said, would be to call city law enforcement

Heavey said the likelihood of protests and pickets in Town Center is slight.

Charlie's would like to thank you, the patrons, for a wonderful semester!

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW!

Survey

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 semester, said Judy Lundstrom, senior in journalism and mass communications and spring editor of the Collegian. "Because so many students seem to rely on the Collegian as their only news source, we're going to try to expand our presentation of national and international news," Lundstrom

She said the expansion would include running more stories from

The Associated Press wire and localizing breaking stories so they will more effectively apply to K-State

Lundstrom also said she and the spring sports editor, Jenny Chaulk, senior in journalism and mass communications, have decided to do the same with the sports page.

"One of the suggestions for the sports page was to run a wider variety of stories, including national and international ones," Lundstrom said. 'We're going to start running more statistics, not only from K-State sports, but sports in general."

To you, from us!

Security

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 the police then contact the mall security and we help out any way we

Also out of jurisdiction for the "Mall Patrol" is the outside parking lot area, which is patrolled by the lot)," Heavey said. "That is the total responsibility of the city."

One particular problem some malls face that security measures are used to alleviate is the prevalence of the problems. heavy teenage traffic.

Heavey said some parents, in order to have some time to themselves, drop their children off at the of the arcade. "We don't allow peomall. Most of the children have no ple to kick the machines and we disintention of shopping, he said. They just like to cruise the mall for whatever action they may find.

Sometimes that action can be "(The problem of teenage traffic) is a difficult one," Heavey said. "For example, we have quite a few elderly people come to the mall and they don't want to be bothered by a bunch of rambunctious kids causing a lot of problems around them and getting in their way. That ruins the environment for them. And I'll tell you what, once the word gets out in a certain community that there are problems with the teenagers down here, it will spread like wildfire and pretty soon we'll lose all kinds of business from

To avoid this problem, Heavey has come up with a simple plan.

"We want to create an environment so that those kids will come inside and not destroy a mall, which to get children involved in the mall, trying to beat the system, Heavey he said. One method that seems to work well is to get high school stu- said mall security has been effective dents who are involved in plays to and plays well to the market it is perform on stage in the mall.

"We want them to say, 'I wouldn't be the one to write anything on the wall...," Heavey said. "I have seen must be handled," Heavey said.

SGS Hotline 532-7777

Have you ever met your state legislator?

participating in a Lobby Day on Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1988, please sign up in the SGS office.

If you are interested in kids at malls chase away business just absolutely chase it away. And we will avoid that with security. But in addition to that, we also want to bring them in so that they have a piece of

The main place of concentration for teenagers at Town Center is at Bally's Aladdin's Castle, a video arcade located at the east entrance of the mall. With many youths choosing "We don't touch it (the parking to "hang out" at the arcade, the management notes that it has had few problems with the children, Heavey

Rather, it is the adults who cause

"Our attendants walk around and monitor the activity on the game floor," said Denton Elliott, manager courage loitering. We also don't allow food, drinks or cigarettes in here and the kids have good enough sense not to set their soda on a TV set, but you can't seem to make it sink in to the adults. They just walk right in with their drink and set it on top of Even so, Elliott said, he hasn't had to kick anyone out.

'We've had a few irate customers, but I think that they were just being irate for the sake of being irate," he

Many of the youths who frequent the center don't really feel that the security is intimidating at the mall. They say it is "just right."

'They don't bother us unless we are messing around with the fountains or something," said Willie James, a Manhattan youth who regularly goes to the mall after school. "They play it cool for the most part."

Even though security measures are they can do so very quickly," he said. taken at nearly every mall and retail The best way to prevent trouble is store, there will always be someone said. For the most part, however, he designed for.

"The market itself is going to justify the extent of security and how it

> Higher Education Rescue Operation Associated Students of Kansas

COMMONWEALTH THEATRES MOVIE INFORMATION 539-1291 IN JUNCTION CITY CALL 762 4094

> CAMPUS HEART OF AGGIEVILLE

THE RUNNING MAN R

PLANES, TRAINS AND AUTOMOBILES R TODAY AT 4:45-7:15-8:25 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20 10% off any Non Textbook the machine." Items at

SELL YOUR BOOKS

(regardless of where you bought them)

GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN And COUPON FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR.

- ★Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.
- ★Bring all your books to Varney's (regardless of where you bought them) and our buyers will value them individually. You choose what you want to sell! WE BUY BOOKS EVERY DAY! However, you can usually get the most for your books by selling them to us at the end of the semester.
- ★The price we pay for books is determined mainly by two factors—if the books will be used again at K-State and if we need the books for our stock. If we cannot buy your books for our stock, we will offer you the best price we can, based on the national market.
- *Remember, it's what you get for all your books that counts, and we think that the wholesaler we buy for pays the highest prices.
- ★We know you're busy and in a hurry so we have four buyers to take care of you. We try to keep the time you spend in line to a minimum. We also buy until 9 at night during dead week and until 10 at night during final week.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE Dead Week

9 a.m.-9 p.m. (except Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Final Week

8:30 a.m.-10 p.m.

TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:00 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3:00 AND 5:00 WESTLOOP CINEMA 6 THE PRINCESS BRIDE PG TODAY AT 4:30-7:00-9:30 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00 THE SICLIAN IN TODAY AT 4:30-7:50-9:30 BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED SUMMAY AT 250 ONLY BABY BOOM PG BEST SELLER R TODAY AT 4:40-7:10-9:20 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10 THREE MEN AND A BABY PG TODAY AT 4:45-7:15-9:25 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20

(Mon.-Tues.-Wed.) 9-9 Mon.-Sat.

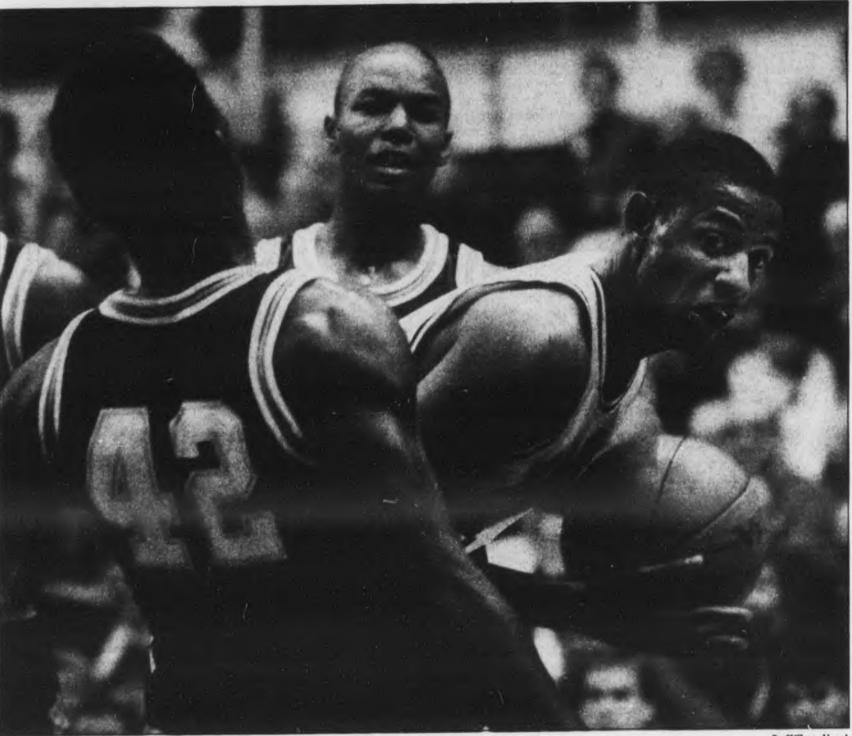

Join us this weekend at the "Finest Little Tavern By A Dam Site" NOW OPEN SUNDAYS

12 to 12

537-3133

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 11, 1987 ■ Page 11

Scott and K-State will attempt to gain consistency during a five-game ference play Jan. 16 against Oklahoma in Ahearn Field House.

After Tuesday's four-overtime loss to Southwest Missouri State, William stretch during the holiday break. The Wildcats will open Big Eight Con-

'Cats to play NIT champ

K-State seeks consistency

By Tom Morris

Sports Writer

If the slate of games during the holiday break doesn't prepare the K-State men's basketball team for the rigors of the Big Eight Conference schedule, nothing will.

During the break, the 5-1 Wildcats are scheduled to face two teams listed in the Associated Press' poll -Purdue and twice against Southern Mississippi - and slated for games on the road against Utah State and Marquette.

After Tuesday's loss to Southwest Missouri State University in four overtimes, the 'Cats are enjoying their nine-day layoff before Southern Mississippi arrives Thursday. K-State opened the 1987-88 campaign with six games in 12 days.

"We need the practice that we've got between now and then," Kruger said. "We've got a lot of work to do."

Consistency - or the lack of it has been Kruger's main concern since the Wildcats' campaign began Nov. 27-28 at the Sun Met Classic in Fresno, Calif.

"I think every team has (consistency) as a goal, (but) of course not many teams can achieve that goal that often," Kruger said.

In their first five games, the 'Cats jumped out to huge, first-half leads and played spotty in the second half. In Tuesday's 82-80 loss to SMSU, K-State's starters tallied just 13 points and trailed the Bears by 11 at intermission.

At this point in the season, Kruger said nothing is truly surprising

"When you watch them every day for six weeks, nothing really surprises you," Kruger said.

"We've really concentrated on (rebounding), and the players are doing a pretty good job of blocking out. That's an area of surprise (K-State is outrebounding its opponents by 11.3 per game), but it's not something to get comfortable with. We've shot the ball pretty well (54.3 percent from the field), and that's not a surprise."

As expected, the play of senior guard/forward Mitch Richmond isn't a surprise. The 6-foot-5, 225-pound senior from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is being tabbed by the sports information office as K-State's first bona fide All-American candidate since Rolando Blackman in 1981.

Richmond has shot 64.6 percent from the floor (51 of 79), averages 22.2 points and 5.2 rebounds per game, and was the Big Eight's player of the week for the week ending Dec.

Even Norris Coleman didn't receive the publicity Richmond is gamering.

"Of course, our philosophy is to promote the whole team, but we're going to see that our good players get their due when it comes to postseason awards," said Kenny Mossman, assistant sports information director.

Richmond has started to draw some attention on his own, including mentions in Sports Illustrated and the Sporting News. But he will also be featured prominently in the sports information's office weekly news release and will be highlighted in K-State's segment of the Big Eight's satellite video package available to prestigious sporting media outlets such as ESPN and CNN.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULE SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI: 7:35 p.m. Thursday in Ahearn Field House; Jan. 11 at Hattiesburg, Miss. The Golden Eagles, winners of last season's National Invitational Tournament, play K-State twice this season due to a last-minute cancellation by Lamar. Southern Mississippi returns four starters from last year's 23-11 squad, including 6-foot-7 senior forward Derek Hamilton and senior guard Casey Fisher. Both average 20 points per game and Hamilton paces the team in rebounding with eight. The Golden Eagles are 1-0, with a 107-74 drubbing of McNeese State, and ranked 33rd by the Associated Press going into Tuesday's game against Clemson.

PURDUE: Dec. 20 at West Lafayette, Ind. 'Everybody knows about Purdue. They were ranked in some polls as a Final Four contender and some polls had them picked to win a national championship. We'll have our hands full up there," Kruger said. The Boilermakers, 5-1 and ranked 13th ing into Saturday's game against Ball State, lost 104-96 to Iowa State University in the Big Apple NIT preseason tournament and had its hands full with The Wichita State University, winning 80-78 in overtime. Purdue is led offensively by 6-foot-4 senior guard Troy Lewis, who averages 17.3 points per game.

UTAH STATE: Dec. 31 in Logan, Utah. Talk about letdowns. Plans for a holiday tournament in Honolulu, Hawaii, were scrapped when tournament officials delayed finalizing K-State's contract. So instead of Diamond Head Beach, it's a date with the Aggies.

MARQUETTE: Jan. 3 at Kemper Arena in Kansas City, Mo. K-State's annual appearance in Kemper this year features a matchup against the Warriors from Marquette - a team rich in basketball tradition.

"Marquette's tradition speaks for itself," Kruger said. "The last three ball games we've played against them have been decided by one point. That tells you what to expect there."

Stephen F. Austin to test Lady Cats in Dallas tourney

By Daran Neuschafer Staff Writer

Christmas break — usually a time for students to recover from the hectic and nerve-wrecking finals week. But for the young K-State Lady Cats' basketball team, the break could be the time in which it comes of age.

The Lady Cats maturing period will begin tonight when they take on the Stephen F. Austin Ladyjacks in the first round of the Dallas Hilton Classic in Dallas. The game will mark the beginning of an important and rigorous holiday break which will see the Lady Cats play nine games - seven on the road.

"We are going to find out what our team is made of in the next month," Coach Matilda Mossman said. "We've gotten off to a good start, but this is where we are going to see how well our team is playing.

"Stephen F. Austin is a very good basketball team," she added. "They have been receiving a lot of attention in the polls lately. Tonight will be a big step either forward or backward for our program. They will be by far the toughest team we have faced all year. They may be the quickest and most physical team that we will play all year.'

Those are pretty strong statements out of K-State's fourth-year head coach, but she may be right as the Ladyjacks have the record and stats to back it up. The Ladyjacks enter the tournament sporting a 6-1 record and return all five starters off of a team that finished 25-6 last year.

Stephen F. Austin is led by a pair of outstanding seniors in Antoinette Norris and Mozell Brooks. Norris, a native of Sulphur Springs, averages 22.3 points and 11.9 rebounds per contest from her center position. Brooks, a 5-foot-8 forward, is scoring 19.4 points per game.

Mossman said that even though the Ladyjacks can score points, it's defense where they usually take

'They really come after you defensively with full-court pressure. They push the ball up the floor on offense, and Brooks and Norris give them an inside-outside punch that can be devastating at times," Moss-

K-State, which enters the tourney at 4-1, has a more balanced attack, with eight players averaging six or more points. Stacey Boyle leads the Lady Cats with a 12.6 points per game average, while freshman Diana Miller adds 10.6 points.

The winner of tonight's game will play the winner of the other firstround game between Pan American (0-4) and Southern Methodist (1-3) in Saturday night's championship

HOLIDAY SCHEDULE

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-KANSAS CITY: Dec. 19 in Kansas City, Mo. The Lady Kangaroos, 2-3, have three starters returning from a 24-7 team last season. Forward Teresa Adams leads a trio of players scoring in double figures with a 19.6 average. K-State defeated UMKC last year, 72-61, in Manhattan

LOUISIANA STATE: 7:30 p.m. Dec. 30 in Ahearn Field House. The Lady Tigers, who play in the tough Southeastern Conference, were 20-8 last year. LSU lost six letterwinners from that team, but like K-State, brought in

ARIZONA STATE: Jan. 4 in Tempe, Ariz. The Sun Devils are in a major rebuilding mode with no starters returning from last year. Head coach Maura McHugh, formerly of the University of Oklahoma, is in her first year at Arizona State after leaving the Big Eight Conference. She owns a career coaching record of

NORTHERN ARIZONA: Jan. 5 in Flagstaff, Ariz. K-State has never faced the Lady Lumberjacks before. Northern Arizona, which finished 9-18 last year, is led by center Dana

ORAL ROBERTS: Jan. 8 in Tulsa, Okla. The Lady Titans could provide a test for K-State as they return everyone from a team which finished 16-12 last year. The Lady Cats defeated the Lady Titans, 95-57, last season in LOUISIANA TECH: 2 p.m. Jan. 10 in Aheam Field House. K-State returns home to face the Lady Techsters who were 30-3 and finished second in the nation last year. Louisiana Tech, currently 6-0 and ranked fourth in the nation, returns three starters from that team and are led by forward Nora Lewis.

"This game along with the LSU game will give K-State fans a chance to look at two of the premier programs in the country," Mossman

OKLAHOMA STATE: Jan. 12 in Stillwater, Okla. This game is a tough one to start the Big Eight Conference season. The Cowgirls were picked to battle for the conference championship this year, as they return everyone off of a 16-12 team that finished fourth in the conference. OSU is led by forward Jamie Siess, one of the premier players in the

Royals nab Bannister after meetings finish athletics and K-State

By The Associated Press

DALLAS - The Kansas City Royals acquired left-hander Floyd Bannister from the Chicago White Sox Thursday night for four young pitchers, and Pedro Guerrero, Dave Righetti and Bob Welch remained hot topics as most teams packed and left baseball's winter meetings empty-handed.

The White Sox sent Bannister and minor league infielder Dave Cochrane to Kansas City for righthanders John Davis, Melido Perez and Chuck Mount and left-hander

Greg Hibbard.

Bannister, 32, tied a career-high for victories by going 16-11 with a 3.58 earned run average in 1987. He succeeded despite Chicago's 77-85 record, and improved his lifetime mark to 117-128 for 11 seasons.

'We think Floyd Bannister can help us win a division title, and we had the depth of young people in our farm system to make a trade like this," Kansas City general manager John Schuerholz said.

Davis was 5-2 with the Royals last season with a 2.27 ERA in 27 games.

K-State skydivers competing 'to win'

By Brett Hacker Collegian Reporter

K-State's parachute club hopes to bring back a present for themselves from the Collegiate National Skydiving Championship in Marana, Ariz., as the members are scheduled to leave on Christmas Day for the "Last year, we placed fifth nationally (in the four-way competition), and this year we are going (to Arizona) to win," said Mike Smith, senior in

Smith said K-State's club has been making the trip to nationals for 22 consecutive years.

There will be six K-State students making the trip - a fourway and a two-way team. Competition is divided into two-way umps, four-way jumps, accuracy and style.

Points are scored by the number of formations made by the team holding on to each other while in free fall - receiving one point per formation. Each team in the four-way competition will have four rounds and the two-way team will have two rounds.

"Teams have to move fast and be well practiced before the jump because they only have 35 seconds of free fall in which to perform the formations," Smith said.

K-State's four-way team averages five formations per jump and they hope to achieve six before the competition. The two-way team has accomplished three to four formations per jump, Smith

The four-way team members are Smith; Ed Goff, senior in engineering technology; Karen Klemm, senior in math; and Martin Fabrizius, senior in biochemistory about a kid,

Let me tell you a little story about the importance of sports.

A long, long time ago, there was a little kid who lived in Salina who didn't have a favorite university.

His sister went to K-State and his brother attended the University of Kansas. Understandably, then, this kid was being pulled from both

The kid's friends all had favorites and for most of them, it was either K-State or Kansas — the Wildcats or the Jayhawks.

The little guy didn't really think about not showing any favoritism until one day in the fall during his grade school years when a controversy arose: Was it cool to be a Jayhawk, or was it cool to be a Wildcat?

Of course, there was no logic involved because there never is when you're a stupid kid. You just kind of take things for what they are and wander through life trying to avoid

That little kid was me, and now that I can logically look back on those times of confusion, I know why I picked K-State as "my school."

Sports Rapp

Sports Editor

It was sports. After all, what else did I have to go on? The only exposure to any of the college life I ever had was the sports page. It was who won this and who won that - not anything about academics or scholarly stuff like that.

Yes, basically, the few games on TV and the sports page in the local newspaper recruited me to this fine university. That's why I contend that sports are very, very important to a university. Especially to K-State.

I apologize to those of you who think sports are trivial and that K-State shouldn't be wasting its money on coliseums, locker rooms, scholar- our teams' great group of coaches ships or even uniforms, but I also say to those people, "Wake up."

I'm not saying it's right, but in this part of the United States, sports is the major student-recruitment tool for major universities. Sure, Ivy League schools and a few others can get away with recruiting on academics and for good reason. They are good; damn good. But here at K-State - even though we can boast one of the highest recent number of Rhodes Scholars of any university in the country - we don't get the academic recognition we deserve. Let me stress, that no, it's not right, but it is so.

On the other hand, since the dawn of civilized man, athletic superiority has reflected on the excellence of a society - the Greeks, the Romans and now us. That's why we still have the Olympics, which is an ancient concept still in existence that is based on athletics and international friendship.

Luckily, the recent changes in the athletic philosophy at K-State have been extremely positive. I applaud who actually inspire, if not enforce, class attendance. The "whole person" concept for athletes is effective and necessary, and I think the coaches at K-State have a pretty good handle on that.

Face it. Not only is sports a powerful recruitment tool, but it's becoming a positive force on athletes who otherwise may not have attended

Needless to say, it infuriates me when I hear people moan about the recent overemphasis on athletics here at K-State. The Wildcats recruited me and many of my friends and aquaintances to this University and its still going on today. Any financial or other kind of support the athletic program receives does the whole University a lot of good.

I knew I was coming to K-State before I knew what K-State was, and it was all because of sports.

That's my story. I've got that off my chest, so now I'm going to graduate tomorrow. Take care, friends, and University attracts foreign students

Registration procedure long, complicated task

By Cindie Baldwin Collegian Reporter

For some students, coming to K-State is an easy task. With the open enrollment policy, all they have to do is apply and send in their high school transcript to be accepted.

For foreign students, however, the process is long and detailed, said Richard N. Elkins, director of Foreign students, who must submit their applications six months before the beginning of the semester, have three basic requirements to meet before being accepted to K-State, he said.

The first requirement is turning in "an academic record indicating success beyond a reasonable doubt," Elkins said. K-State considers only foreign students who have strong grades.

The second requirement is exceptional understanding of the English language, he said. The prospective student must have a minimum score of 550 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language.

Students are required to take the TOEFL test if they have completed less than two years in an accredited U.S. college or university, according to a booklet published by the Office of Admissions.

The third requirement is to com-plete the Affidavit of Support, which is proof that the student has adequate funds to pay for one calendar school year, Elkins said.

Total expenses, costing $11,500, include tuition, fees, books, supplies, room and board and basic living expenses, he said.

Some students pay their own way and set up their own system for getting to college. Others, however, must rely on sponsors to meet their financial needs, Elkins said.

There are a large variety of sponsors, he said, ranging from a student's parents to government

One agency, International Institution of Education, may sponsor a student financially or may find a placement for the student, Elkins

Students' native countries often sponsors them, Elkins said.

Sometimes, however, the government has trouble paying for the

"A few years ago, the Nicaraguan government had problems paying for a student because they were fighting a war and all their funds were going toward it," he said.

Along with the three require-ments, the student must enclose a non-refundable $25 application fee. "The $25 is to make up for the evaluation of the transcripts," Elk-Deciphering transcripts is "very time-consuming" and requires looking through many reference books containing a listing of countries' educational systems, he said. In order to accept a student, Elkins said, the student must first be cleared through the Foreign Immigration and Immunization services. "The U.S. government gives colleges the right to have foreign students," Elkins said.

Grad numbers indicate 5% population increase

By Julie Key Collegian Reporter

In fall 1987, the number of foreign graduate students at K-State increased 5 percent over a year ago.

This fall, 25 percent of all graduate students at K-State are from foreign countries. These percentages are based on figures from the International Student Center and the Graduate School.

"Students are interested in business, engineering, computer science and agriculture. That's what gets them here," said Larry Paris, assistant foreign student adviser.

There are more than 700 international graduate students at K-State this semester, Paris said. Twentyfour percent of these students are enrolled in agriculture, 17 percent in engineering and 13 percent in business, a census of K-State's foreign students shows.

Mirinda Mortlock, graduate student in agronomy from England, found out about K-State when she met George Ham, professor of agro-

"He was encouraging women to major in agronomy and I found out K-State had a good program," Mort-

"K-State could do more to make foreign students aware of the

"They (K-State) could contact overseas universities, colleges and American libraries (overseas), and send posters and information," she

"We haven't been real actively involved (in recruitment)," Paris said. But the Division of Institutional Advancement is meeting to decide on the best way to recruit international students.

Oluyemi Ogunrinola, graduate student in food science from Nigeria, came to a U.S. university because his government gave him a

He said he chose K-State because of his area of study.

Ogunrinola, president of the International Coodinating Council, nomy, while doing research in said the University could attract more foreign students by offering them an incentive.

Coordinating an internship with classroom studies would be attractive to foreign students, he said.

Increasing the staff at the International Student Center and providing them with more training in recruitment would also help attract foreign students, Ogunrinola said.

Figures for the number of foreign graduate students at other Big Eight universities are not available. But, in 1986, Iowa State University had the most foreign students. A higher education report showed they ranked 17th in the nation with 2,184 students. K-State had the fewest international students with 839

Paris said the University's biggest drawing factor is word-ofmouth, International students at K-State tell family and friends in their homeland about the University, he

Soviets deny visas to foreign guests

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - Activists who organized a human rights seminar to test the new Soviet "openness" got official warnings Thursday that it was illegal and found the meeting hall they had rented closed for a "sanitary day."

Sponsors of the seminar said many foreign guests could not get visas.

By contrast, Pushkin Square and the House of Union were filled by official groups holding approved rallies on International Human Rights Day.

Alexander Rubchenko, whose unofficial organization tries to build trust between the United States and Soviet Union, said about 20 police officers detained him and seven other members for several hours when they left an apartment for Pushkin Square to hold their own demonstration.

The unofficial seminar came the day after Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev defended Soviet human rights policies in a talk with U.S. journalists in Washington.

Four members of the U.S. House of Representatives and a Czech dissident received permission to travel to Moscow for the seminar sponsored by Press Club Glasnost, named for Gorbachev's policy of greater openness in ■ See SOVIETS, Page 20 By The Associated Press

OSLO, Norway - Costa Rican President Oscar Arias accepted the 1987 Nobel Peace prize Thursday, saying he hoped it would boost the chances of success for the Central American peace plan for which it was awarded.

Arias called on the superpowers to let Central Americans resolve their own problems. "In the name of God, at least they should leave us in peace," he said.

At a white-tie ceremony in Stockholm, Sweden, meanwhile, King Carl XVI Gusaf handed the Nobel prize in literature to exiled Soviet poet Joseph Brodsky and gave seven other laureates their awards for ecochemistry.

Breaking from ceremony, the king strode across the blue-carpeted stage to hand the medal and certificate of award to Charles J. Pedersen, an 83-year-old retired American chemist. Pedersen, one of the oldest laureates in the 86-year history of the prize, took a few halting steps from his chair to accept the prize.

Arias, 46, receiving his award at a less formal ceremony at Oslo University, said the prestige of the Nobel prize should enhance the prospects for the Guatemala accord, which was signed Aug. 7 by himself and the presidents of Nicaragua, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala.

The plan calls for cease-fires, amnesties for political prisoners, and democratic reforms. It also called for an end to outside interference, a theme Arias voiced again as he nomics, physics, medicine and accepted the 23-carat Nobel medallion.

"We say to all members of the international community, and particularly to those both in the East and the West...I say to them with the utmost urgency: Let Central Americans decide the future of Central America."

He mentioned no countries directly, but previously he has singled out U.S. support for the Contra rebels in Nicaragua and Cuban involvement in Nicaragua and El Salvador.

The plan has been credited with prompting the start of peace talks between some of the protagonists. But the accord has yet to produce cease-fires in the guerrilla wars in El Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala.

Arias has called for a Christmas truce to last through Jan. 15 when the five presidents are to reconvene and to assess the progress of the plan. The Sandinista government in Nicaragua has rejected the truce proposal.

Hundreds of Norwegians gathered outside the ornate 560-seat auditor-

Arias accepts Nobel Prize in Oslo ium to watch a glittering line enter the hall, including government ministers, diplomats and the royal family headed by Norway's popular 84-year-old King Olav V.

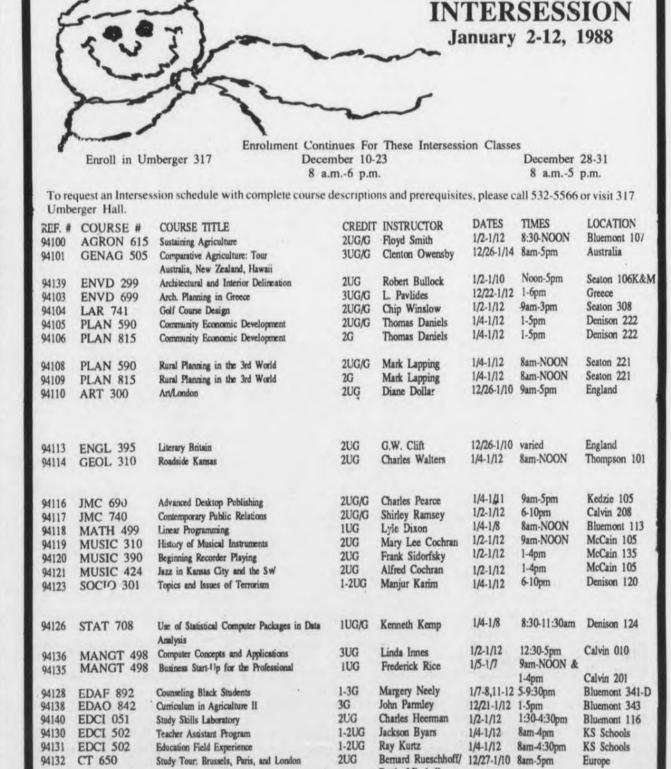

> Spanish-speaking immigrants called the "Latin American Group" organized a torchlight march in the evening to show their support for the Guatemala accord.

> Unlike in past years when the parliament-appointed Nobel committee made controversial choices, the award to Arias has been widely

"We seek in Central America not peace alone...but peace and democracy together," Arias said. The plan aimed for "an end to the shedding of human blood, which is inseparable from an end to the suppression of human rights."

WINTER

Phone or mail registrations are accepted. Phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 317 Umberger Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506. Tuition is $43 per undergraduate credit and $62 per graduate credit and is due at the time of registration. The maximum credit allowed is three hours per student.

Bettie Minshall

Robert Habiger

KSU KANBAS

94133 ID 499

NON- Sharon Reagan Pronouncing English as a Second Language CREDIT

Photography, A Visual Communicant in Design 2UG

1/4,7,8,30 9am-7pm-

Fairchild 204

Justin 347

1/4-1/12 1-5pm

Sequins, satin top

By Nancy Chartrand

Collegian Reporter

skirt, in the '60s, bell-bottom jeans and in the, '70s, velour jogging suits.

ions change as quickly as the seasons have seen in all of the fashion magazines, it has already gone out of style.

"We are selling more frivolous things. Anything

For that special night during the holidays - sequins, satin, and shimmering feathers create outstanding looks on jackets, boots and gloves, according to the December issue of things," said Betteanne Iandolo, manager of Carousel women's clo-

Sales have been up greatly so far this Christmas season, she said.

Right now holiday dresses are moving so fast they are having trouble fringe, bubble skirts and short jackets are some of Carousel's hottest selling

(for men) are Christmas boxers, ties and suspenders," said Earl Allen

"The smaller items that are selling

'Anything that is unusual is sell-

Scarves with thing store in Aggieville.

keeping them in stock.

ing," Iandola said.

"We are selling more frivolous

Harper's Bazaar.

-Betteanne landolo

that is unusual is selling.

and the year to come?

So what are some of the hottest fashions for this Christmas season

It seems that by the time you save enough money to buy that outfit you

These may have been hot fashions in past years, but not anymore. Fash-

In the '50s it was the poodle

Fashions change as often as seasons

Local store owners say ties and suspenders are popular Christmas gift women's fashions. (Men's fashions courtesy of JCPenney, women's fash-

Holiday Gift Book Sale

30-50% OFF

Hundreds of titles to choose from!

Topics include

children's books, cookbooks,

bestsellers, art, architecture,

history, reference, sports,

nature, picture books,

and more!

items for men while sequins and other frills are becoming common in ions courtesy of Scot's Ltd., Manhattan Town Center.)

Reagans' summit etiquette rates an A

By The Associated Press

KEWANEE, III. - Plastic wrapping on roses, a blue suit at a blacktie dinner, unanswered invitations and other faux pas turned the superpower summit into an "etiquette disaster," according to manners maven Marjabelle Young Stewart.

manners," said Stewart, author of 15 books on etiquette and an occasional television talk-show guest.

"But there have been some tense, awkward moments," she said.

should have responded promptly to Nancy Reagan's invitation to meet over coffee, Stewart said.

"I can't believe she had to be prodded to respond to Nancy's invitation," she said.

Even more gauche was Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's deci-"For the most part, it's been a great sion to wear a blue suit to a formal oment in Americans minding their state dinner during the three-day superpower summit in Washington, Stewart said, although she speculated there may have been more to that than meets the eye.

"Why would he wear a blue suit to

For example, Raisa Gorbachev a black-tie dinner without telling President Reagan ... especially when he was just fitted for a new dinner jacket in Paris?" she said.

> "I think he deliberately chose to wear a blue suit. What message was he trying to send? I know our beautifully mannered president would have made the general secretary feel comfortable and worn a blue suit also, if he'd been asked."

Reagan, however, did know that Gorbachev planned to spurn the decadent tuxedo in favor of his somber socialist suit, but chose to wear the traditional finery for the state and

Steak

A great deal on a great dinner combo!

only $6.49

and all you can eat of our crispy, batter-fried shrimp.

Includes your choice of baked potato or french fries and our fantastic salad, hot food and dessert bar.

Available for a limited time only

100 Bluemont, Manhattan Ph. 776-5061

The Reagans committed faux pas of their own, she said - the most glaring being the president's handling of the glassware when he toasted his guests.

"The president held his champagne glass by the bowl rather than by the stem," Stewart explained. "Everyone knows the tips of your fingers will warm the glass. That's why you should hold it by the stem."

Gorbachev, on the other hand, held the glass properly, "which shows me he's aware of his social skills," she said.

How-Much-Shrimp-Can-You-Eat?

A choice Sirloin Stockade steak cooked to perfection,

Fill-up

ONLY AT DERBY STATION DERBY

holiday fashions manager of Woody's Mens Shop in Aggieville.

Brighter, unusual colors are in, Allen said. For men's ties, the red and yellow paisley of a few years ago have bowed out, according to the December issue of Gentlemen's Quarterly. Teal, blue and mauve are some of the most fashionable colors for ties this If you plan on heading for the slopes during the holidays, the neon nylons of the last few years are fading out. Ski fashions for men and women are returning to Nordic ski patterns and earthy tones.

If you have a child on your Christmas list, don't forget that children's wear has its trends also.

According to Bazaar magazine, bright, high energy clothes, "cartoon" T-shirts and multi-pattern jackets and dresses are "in" for children this year.

So there you have it. These are some of the newest fashion trends to hit the stores this season.

But don't worry if you don't have the time or money to invest in these clothes. Chances are that by the time you have finished this article, what you are wearing right now will be back in style.

When you fill out your Form W-4 or W-4A, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," remember: If you can be claimed on your parent's or another person's tax return, you generally cannot be exempt from income tax withholding. To get it right, read the instructions that came with your Form W-4 or W-4A.

Restaurant 1304 Westloop 10% off with KSU IDE 539-8888 539-0888 $135 Value!

VISTABURGERI With 8 Gallon

720 N. THIRD IN MANHATTAN Lottery tickets available here

Noon-5 Sun. 539-0511 THE EXAM-CRAM Runza Care Package

Take a study break...take your favorite mate...and take off to Runza for food that's great!!

9-9 Mon.-Sat.

You Get:

· 2 freshly ground, quarter-pound hamburgers

VISA

· 2 tasty-great, home-baked Mini Runza sandwiches I order of homemade onion rings

• 1 order of golden french fries

2 large soft drinks

All for just You save ... $2.66

NOW 2 LOCATIONS!! Town Center Mall Aggieville

1101 Moro Picnic Place Coupon expires: Dec. 31, 1987

APPE 'TEASERS'

Like to tease your appetite before dinner arrives? PINATA is the place! We offer 'teasers' of fresh Guacamole Dip, several varieties of Nachos, and our spicy Chili Con Queso with plenty of tortilla chips to dip. Or try our new appe 'teasers', Three Cheese Nachos!, served with guacamole, sour cream, & fresh

Come on in & let us 'tease' you, too!

1219 Bluemont (913) 539-3166 Open Daily 11 a.m.

M & M Transfer and Storage

We will pack your gifts so they will arrive in one piece!

We pack 1.5 cube boxes and larger.

Call us about our local moving rates. We offer year round boxes and packing material. 2730 Amherst Ave. • 539-7661

Entertainment

Movie-goers to dig for extra change Ticket prices increase 50 cents

By Karen Allen Collegian Reporter

As the man stared at the movie attendant, his wife frantically searched the depths of her purse for another

Moviegoers in Manhattan must now scrape up an additional 50 cents for prime time shows. Adult ticket prices have been raised from $4 to $4.50 at all theaters.

The recent increase in ticket price has left many students in a daze. Commonwealth Theaters raised their prices two weeks ago.

"I took my girlfriend to the movies and when they asked for $9 I said, 'What? Does that include the conti-senior in journalism and mass Howard said. communications.

"It's this capitalistic, bureaucratic society we live in," said Nancy Manning, junior in political science. "It's a dog-eat-dog world - every man for himself."

Both of the movie chains located in Manhattan - Commonwealth and United Artists - experienced an increase in prices.

Bob Howard manages the Westloop and Campus theaters, which are owned by Commonwealth.

A national reorganization of the raised their prices to $4.50," he said, adding that New Yorkers pay $7 a ticket and prices in Los Angeles and Dallas are $5.50 or $6.

The size of the general population in the area is a factor in determining the price, he said.

The fact that Manhattan is a college town or that Fort Riley is nearby had no influence on the decision, Howard said.

"United Artists increased their prices last summer and to be competitive you had to follow suit," he said.

Seth Childs Cinema is owned by "Lawrence and Hutchinson also United Artists. Litchfield owned the theaters until last May when United Artists bought out the chain, said John Mallon, assistant manager.

"The increase was a change in company policy," he said. "United Artists was working on a change last May and it went up last summer."

Both managers were unsure about whether the increase would affect their business.

"I really can't say," Mallon said. "Commonwealth went up, too. People really don't have a choice."

"Nobody wants to see prices go up," Howard said. "But it's really hard to say. I have no thermometer to measure the impact."

Howard said he envisioned more people taking advantage of matinees and Tuesday night specials.

"Eleven times a week you can go for $2.50, as opposed to twelve times for $4.50," he said, referring to the movie schedule at the Westloop and Campus theaters.

The Seth Childs Cinema will reinstate its Tuesday night specials on Jan. 12, said Mallon, adding that it was a company policy to suspend the dollar movie special during the

While the managers are unsure of a long-term effect on their business, some supporters of video rentals are sure there will be an effect.

"I can see my business increasing," said Linda Ferguson, owner of Home Cinema. "(The theaters are) pricing themselves out of the market. People can't afford it."

It costs $2.25 to rent a movie from Home Cinema, she said, adding that although it usually takes six months to receive a new release, she has received movies while they are still in the theaters.

"I get a better selection at a video store for a cheaper price," said Bob Stuart, senior in biology.

nental breakfast?'," said Jim Vader, company led to the increase in price, Display features holiday artwork

By The Collegian Staff

Shiny black boots, a big sack full of goodies, and a hearty "Ho, ho, ho" all describe that jolly man loved by children young and old.

A display by the artist who created the popular image of Santa Claus will ate dean of Farrell. be in the lobby of Farrell Library until Dec. 31.

Thomas Nast, well-known for political cartoons, created the picture of Santa Claus that is popularized today, said Virginia Quiring, associ-mas scenes during the Civil War depicting the soldiers in the field or coming home for Christmas.

His first Christmas drawing appeared on the cover of Harper's Weekly on Jan. 3, 1863. Each year until 1886, Nast drew a Christmas picture for the cover of the magazine.

The display includes a portfolio from Special Collections in Farrell and an original copy of a Harper's ritics: 'Wall Street'

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Oliver Stone's "Wall Street" captures the predator instinct and avarice revealed in hostile takeover fights and the insider trading scandal, but investment bankers who previewed the film say it neglects the honest majority and may reinforce prejudices against them.

"I thought it was a shallow distortion of what's going on," said Paul E. Tierney Jr., a financier in Coniston Partners, a New York investment firm that has engaged in some highly publicized takeover battles.

"There were elements of truth in it, but overall it was a pretty superficial and not very interesting film," Tierney said. "I think that at best it will be realized as a caricature and be light entertainment for someone.

But at worst it will be viewed by tion that Wall Street is run by a group consolidation. of greedy, bloodthirsty opportunists."

Bud Fox (Charlie Sheen), a young stock trader just out of business school, is corrupted by Gordon Gekko (Michael Douglas), a ruthless and conniving speculator who thrives by making huge stock profits, largely through illegally obtaining inside information on impending takeover deals. The film depicts a world in which obsessions with wealth, power and vanity crush morality and virtue, where companies routinely are bought, sold or broken up, where a young man's dream is fulfilled in his $1 million penthouse condo, replete with a pasta machine, sushi maker and live-in girlfriend-decorator.

The year is 1985, in the midst of a record setting stock market that appears to defy gravity. For that reason alone, "Wall Street" is largely outdated, since the Oct. 19 crash has squelched the euphoria and heralded Mr. and Mrs. America as a confirma- a period of austerity, layoffs and

Wall Streeters said other elements of the film are a blend of reality and "Wall Street" is the story of how fantasy, a boiled-down, packaged

Nast also drew a series of Christdisregards reality opera that borrows liberally from the Ivan Boesky insider-trading scandal and the corporate takeover craze that has been reshaping the American economy.

"My official review is that the soundtrack is great," said Asher Edelman, a well-known investor, takeover strategist and Columbia Business School teacher who is friends with Stone, the film's writerdirector whose last movie was the Academy Award-winning "Platoon."

Particularly disappointing, Edelman said, was Stone's references to an ancient Chinese classic "The Art of War," which Edelman uses in his class on corporate takeovers. In the film, "The Art of War" is Gekko's two-hour Hollywood financial soap bible for plundering companies and mercilessly crushing adversaries.

> Seasoned Wall Streeters likely will enjoy watching the movie to identify popular Manhattan spots and familiar faces used as extras, but also may snicker at the idea that stock traders get seduced by blondes in limousines or obtain marketsensitive information by tailing adversaries on motorcycles.

> Steven Rattner, a managing director at Morgan Stanley & Co., wrote in the Dec. 14 edition of Newsweek magazine that "Wall Street' is to investment banking what the movie 'Casablanca' was to running a nightclub: It's entertaining and it makes some timely points about values, but it doesn't cover all the realities of the Spring repertoire includes desserts

By Corbin Novotny Collegian Reporter

Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park," will be presented in a different performance at the K-State Union next semester. The Union Program Council Eclectic Entertainment will present "Barefoot in the Park" as a "dessert theater" on Jan. 28. The show will begin at 7 p.m. in the K-State Ballroom in the Union.

Along with the play, each person will be able to pick one of three different dessert selections before the performance. These desserts have not been decided on at this time.

"This is the first time in recent history that they have actually done a play in the Ballroom," said Lisa Kratz, program advisor.

The cast members of "Barefoot in the Park" are from the Alpha Omega Players. This is a group of professional performers who travel around the country.

"They have a real extensive repertoire," Kratz said. "They are highly recommended.

Just in time for Christmas and Graduation!

"They have been around for 20 years and have presented over 9,000 performances across the United States and Canada," Kratz said. "They do a lot of Neil Simon."

Some of the other plays they have performed are "The Odd Couple," "Chapter II," "Seems Like Old Times," "Sunshine Boys" and "Brighton Beach Memoirs."

Directed by Drexel Riley, producer and director of Repertory Theater of American/Alpha Omega Players, "Barefoot in the Park" is about a pair of newlyweds.

The bride and groom, played by Jill Giles and Mitch Berry, move into an old apartment with "overly friendly, oddball neighbors" in the attic above them.

The bride has a test for her groom to see if he is a free spirit, deserving her love: walk barefoot through the February snow.

Tickets for the dessert theater can be purchased at the activities center in the Union for $4.50 for both students and adults.

Musical groups present annual Christmas concert

By Staff and Wire Reports

Christmas decorations deck Manhattan homes, and main street is trimmed with Christmas wreaths and white lights. The new mall is filled with Christmas shoppers attempting to meet that Dec. 25 deadline.

The Christmas spirit will be even more evident when Mortar Board, in conjunction with the K-State music department, will present the fifth 3 p.m. Dec. 13 in McCain Auditorium.

10% discount 1304 Westloop • 539-8888

"It's going to be a real good prog-ram," said Kristi Kruckenberg, senior in journalism and mass communications and member of Mortar

Kruckenberg said the performance will feature Christmas selections by the KSU Men's and Women's Glee clubs, K-State Concert Choir, both Bell and Brass choirs and a few other chorus groups.

Tickets for the program are $1.50 annual K-State Christmas program at for students and $3 dollars for adults, and may be purchased at McCain Auditorium box office.

KANSAS STATE

NOW ON SALE $29.95 plus tax

Already boxed, ready for wrapping or shipping.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF COLLEGE LIFE OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

At 12:01 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October, 1986, a camera shutter clicked. What happened during the next 192 hours was called A Week At Kansas State (AWAKS).

Kansas State has numerous alumni photographers in positions of prominence throughout the country. Some 30 alumni and nearly 15 current student photographers made up the AWAKS shooting team. The result of exposing 1,900 rolls of black-and-white and color film with more than 68,000 exposures is a 10-by-14-inch book. You can relive the experience of attending college in the 1980s at the nation's first land-grant institution through the pages of this special edition.

The photographers poked their lenses into classrooms, living quarters, residence halls, Aggieville night spots, administrative offices, recreational areas, the K-State Union, the 3,000-plus-acre campus and Manhattan haunts.

Take this bit of the "Pride" home with you or present it as a gift to your favorite K-Stater. This beautiful book is now available at fine bookstores in the area or at the Student Publications Inc. office, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

The words and photographs in this book depict student life in and out of the classroom as well as the prodigious amount of research going on beyond the public eye.

AWAKS

55 off (with coupon) if purchased and picked up in Kedzie 103 by Dec. 23, 1987. Limit two with coupon.

Kedzie 103 open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Good only at Student Publications Inc. office in Kedzie 103.

A book by Studs Turkel Music by Stephe Schwartz & others Thurs., Dec. 17th Sat., Dec. 19 Fri., Dec. 18th 2 p.m. City Auditorium 6-8 p.m. The Public Library A Variety of 25 Roles

(Singing and NonSinging)

SUNDAY BUFFET

11 a.m.-2:30 p.m. $5.95 Don't forget to get Christmas Gift Certificates
FREE DELIVERY • 11 A.M.-1 A.M.

Manhattan Civic Theatre

Auditions For

"WORKING"

EntertainmentFriday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 11, 1987 ■ Page 15

Author has a 'terminal disease' called

Writing

"Amid the constant, throbbing hum - the trapped echo of a hundred thousand tiny beating wings—he turned and surveyed the once-spacious classroom that now served, barely, as his workshop....

"All four walls were inhabited by honey bees - so many bees that the sound of their buzzing made the walls hum like a chorus of a million tiny voices. Not that it bothered Kellerman. The old schoolhouse had long been his workshop, a bonus coming with the house and five acres he'd bought after moving to Oklahoma thirty years ago."

- Steve Heller, from The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman. Each morning, what he calls a "terminal disease" draws Steve Heller to a corner study in the upstairs of his home. There, he sits composing for several hours, experiencing what he calls an "act of faith and an act of discovery." He used to compose at a typewriter, but now it is the computer terminal Heller faces each day. He hasn't decided, yet, whether the computer is an asset or not, as the first draft comes out much faster than before.

"At this point, I'm not sure if that's good or not," he said. "We'll just have to wait and see."

The words have been flowing for Heller, associate professor of English, for about 11 years now, and the success is beginning to pay. His recently published novel, "The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman," has already gone through two printings and a third is soon expected. The book has been widely and favorably reviewed by the New York Times, Publisher's Weekly, the Los Angeles Times, the Kansas City Star, the Daily Oklahoman, Rocky Mountain News and others. He has become a guest lecturer on reading circuits; he addresses audiences at universities and has become the subject of press interviews.

And all because of people with names like "Crow Woman," "Charley Bluefire," "King of Swing" and "Popeye." These characters are colorfully woven throughout "The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman," the story of a man who reconstructs his life while at the same time rebuilding a Ford Model 18 Deluxe Roadster in his workshop - an old schoolhouse inhabited by a swarm of honey bees.

The setting of the book is Yukon, Okla., where Heller himself grew up. In fact, most of the characters in the book are based on people Heller has known throughout his life. They are characters used in most of Hell-

"They may be based on people I have known, but don't necessarily correspond to those individuals."

With one exception. The main character in the novel, Frank "Lucky" Kellerman, is a direct representation of Heller's father, Steve Heller

"There are many similarities between Lucky and my father. My father also had a workshop in a schoolhouse full of bees, although my father never locked himself inside it. The relationship between Lucky and his son Curly is quite similar to that of my father and I - a somewhat nonverbal one," Heller

One similarity actually developed as Heller was writing the novel, a coincidental similarity so disturbing that it made Heller stop writing for six months.

"In the book, Kellerman is afflicted with diabetes. My father was diagnosed as having diabetes after I had started writing the book. This upset me so badly that I couldn't write for awhile."

Heller's father, who is still "alive and well," gave Heller "the ultimate compliment" after reading the book.

"He claims that book was the only one he had ever read," Heller said. "His first response to me on the phone after he had read it was, 'It seemed to me like a lot of that could have happened.'

Laughing, Heller continued: "His next comment was, 'Don't forget to bring the chainsaw home.'

"Both my parents were very pleased with the book," he said. Also pleased with the book was Heller's wife, Mary, who he says is "his first and best critic." He is also inspired by his three sons: David, 6; Michael, 31/2; and Daniel, 5 months. Crayon artwork of David's decorates Heller's study.

Heller's triple-role life begins in his study each morning. He writes there for about four hours, then goes on campus to teach his classes -Introduction to Creative Writing and Advanced Creative Writing Workshop: Short Fiction. Then he spends the evening with his family.

In Heller's class, he sits Indianstyle on a desk at the front of the classroom. It is a constructive forum of ideas as students' writing pieces are evaluated by Heller and the rest of the class. Heller says his teaching helps students with their writing, but it also serves another purpose.

"The classes really help teach people to read. There are too few serious readers in this world," he said. "The class instills in the students the value of reading. Each day it helps them to read with care and understanding."

One learns to be a writer by loving to read, Heller said. Writers read with deligh: and care.

"It's important for beginning writers not to take themselves too seriously. There is a lot of rejection," he said. "You have to realize that your work is worthwhile for its own

And Heller advises those who can stop writing to do so.

"Only those who can't stop are true writers. It is a terminal disease." Heller's writing career began at

"I think it was my fear of failing that prevented me from starting earlier," Heller said. "It was a matter of wanting something so badly and being afraid of failing.' It was a creative writing workshop which gave Heller the confidence he needed to pursue his dream of being a writer. His first literary success was the book "The Man Who Drank 1,000 Beers," a collection of short stories. He won two O. Henry awards for individual stories

"The Crow Woman," based on a section from his novel. Before his career as a writer and teacher, Heller held a variety of jobs, including a janitor, gardener, landscaper, bookpacker, grocery he wrote, "The Summer Game, from his book of short stories and

"At one time I scraped pigeon dung from the steps of the Oklaho-clerk, sand trap raker and credit card

Steve Heller has completed his first novel, "The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman."

ma Capitol Building," he recalls. Heller received his master of fine arts degree in creative writing and English from Bowling Green State University in Ohio and his doctorate of education at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

Now that his writing career has taken off, Heller says he doesn't hate the act of writing as much as he

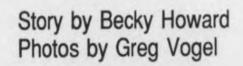

"The first years I was writing, I just detested the actual act of writing, because it was so damned difficult," he said. "It's that feeling I get afterward, after creating something I like, that keeps me going. But I'm much more relaxed about it now."

He's so relaxed about it that he has been working on producing three more books. "The King of Swing" is a "prequel" to "The Automotive History of Lucky Kellerman," and "The Dreamland Tree" is a sequel to the novel. Another book, "Purgatory Kansas," is a collection of short stories.

Heller, in reflecting on his somewhat short writing career, insists writers are not special people.

"Writers don't know any more than anyone else. They are just good observers who observe the world with great care, and their work is making use of those observations."

Heller, associate professor of English, discusses a student's story in introduction to creative writing class. He also teaches advanced creative writing: short fiction.

Spotlight

EVENTS

"Fifth Annual K-State Christmas," Choral Christmas Concert, 3 p.m., Sunday, McCain Auditorium. FILMS

K-State Union

"The Lost Boys," (R), at 7 and and 5. Ends Tuesday. 9:30, Friday and Saturday, Union Forum Hall.

"It's a Wonderful Life," at 2, Saturday; at 2 and 7, Sunday, Union

Forum Hall. Commonwealth Theaters

7 and 9; Saturday and Sunday at 3

nesday with show times to be announced. Westloop Cinema 6 at 4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2.

"Baby Boom," (PG), daily at "The Running Man," (R), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and

Sunday at 2:10. "The Sicilian," (R), daily at 4:30, "Overboard," (PG), begins Wed-7:00 and 9:30; Saturday only at 2. "Batteries Not Included," (PG),

Sunday only at 2. "Best Seller," (R), daily at 4:40,

"The Princess Bride," (R), daily 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday

"Three Men and A Baby," (PG), daily at 4:45, 7:15 and 9:25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:20.

"Planes, Trains and Automobiles," (R), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and :25; Saturday and Sunday at 2:20.

4:30, 7 and 9:30; Saturday and Sunday at 2 and 4:30. Seth Childs Cinemas

2:05 and 4:35.

Saturday and Sunday at 2:20 and "Fatal Attraction," (R), daily at

"Wall Street," (R), daily at 4:30, 7

"Throw Momma From the Train,"

(PG-13), daily at 4:50, 7:15 and 9:25;

and 9:35; Saturday and Sunday at

"Like Father Like Son," (PG), daily at 4:40, 7:10 and 9:20; Saturday and Sunday at 2:15 and 4:40.

"Dirty Dancing," (R), daily at 4:45, 7:20 and 9:40; Saturday and Sunday at 2:10 and 4:45.

"Cinderella," (G), daily at 5:30 and 7:15; Saturday and Sunday at 2, 3:45, 5:30 and 7:15.

Staff/Gary Lytle

Musical interludes

Polich, associate professor of music, performed Thursday in the State Christmas" Sunday in McCain Auditorium.

The K-State Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Gerald Union. The club will be one of the groups performing at "A K-convicted for murder of former player

By The Associated Press

death of a former Kansas State own defense Thursday.

Michael Hicks, who is charged OTTAWA - Closing arguments with aiding and abetting secondwere expected Friday in the trial of a degree murder in the July 25 stabbing rural Wellsville man accused in the death of Jari Wills, testified in his Three other people have been convicted in the slaying, but no one has been charged with the actual slaying of Wills, 29, who played basketball at K-State in 1978-80.

Hicks said he tried to break up a bar fight between Wills and another man, and was himself struck and momentarily knocked out. He said when he left the bar Wills was fighting with other people, and he did not learn until the next day.

Kassebaum meets Russia's first lady, shares cultural views

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., chatted Thursday with Raisa Gorbachev, discussing the need for more cultural and educational exchanges between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Kassebaum described Raisa Gorbachev, the wife of Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, as a "very confident, strong-willed person."

"It was mostly ... sharing some views on ways that there could be better understanding," Kassebaum told reporters after the one-hour meeting she and five other prominent American women had with Raisa Gorbachev.

Health issues were one topic of conversation, and Kassebaum said she proposed a joint program between the Soviet Union and the University of Kansas Medical Center involving research on alcoholism.

She gave Raisa Gorbachev a letter outlining research work done at the school in Kansas City, Kan., and suggesting a "joint undertaking" with some Soviet institution "to study possible remedies" to alcoholism. The Soviet leader has launched a campaign to curb alcohol abuse.

Pamela Harriman, widow of W. Averell Harriman, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union during World War II, hosted the "tea" meeting at her 19th Century home in Georgetown, a fashionable Washington neighborhood.

Others who attended were: Sen.

Barbara Mikulski, D-Md.,; Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, University of Chicago president Hanna Gray and Katharine Graham, chairman of the board of the Washington Post Co.

Kassebaum said the women did not discuss U.S. concerns about Soviet immigration and human rights policies. However, the two senators gave Raisa Gorbachev a letter to her husband asking his help in securing approval of emigration applications for five Soviet women and their families.

Mikulski said there was a "spirited discussion on women's roles in Raisa Gorbachev holds the equivalent of an American master's degree in sociology from Moscow State University, which her husband attended. She has been an assistant professor in Soviet institutions of higher education.

"Obviously she feels there is a very important role for women to play," said Kassebaum. "There are very few women who are at top levels in the Soviet Union."

Kassebaum said Raisa Gorbachev seemed to express a "little bit of sadness" when she described how her life had changed from the time she was a university professor. In addition, Kassebaum said Raisa Gorbachev appeared to be "under a great deal of pressure" from the trip and public attention focused on her by the media.

Over 600 children receive holiday gifts from Toys for Tots

By The Collegian Staff

For most, Christmas is a time for giving and receiving. But for some families in Manhattan, the giving part of the holiday season lacks because of financial hardships.

Toys for Tots is a program in Manhattan helping those area families with children by providing toys for Christmas.

years," said Al Myers, organizer of toys became too great. the program. "When I started, there were nine children we were helping, but now we are helping an average of 600 kids a year.'

Myers explained Toys for Tots is a sort of "trading" program.

"Toys for Tots is toys for tots," Myers said. "You play with a toy for a year, and then you give it to some other family the next year."

If some of the toys are run down or well used, Myers recycles them as much as possible to see if they can be

Toys for Tots receives different toy donations from people in Manhattan each year. These range from homemade Chinese dolls to bicycles to different board games.

Myers lets the parents of the children determine whether their child needs toys from the Toys for Tots program. He said "too much of a problem" existed in finding out who needed toys.

He also lets parents pick up the toys. Myers used to deliver the toys to the families, but quit doing so "I have done this for 28 to 29 when the number of families wanting

Finding out who needs the toys is still a problem for the program, but Myers doesn't worry about it because of the volume of toys the program has.

"We have over $100,000 worth of toys," he said. "You have to see it to believe it."

People wanting to donate toys can drop off their contributions at the locations in the Manhattan Town Center, Sears, First Bank, Riley County Police Department and The Manhattan Mercury. The main location of Toys for Tots is located at the plaza square in the Manhattan Town Center.

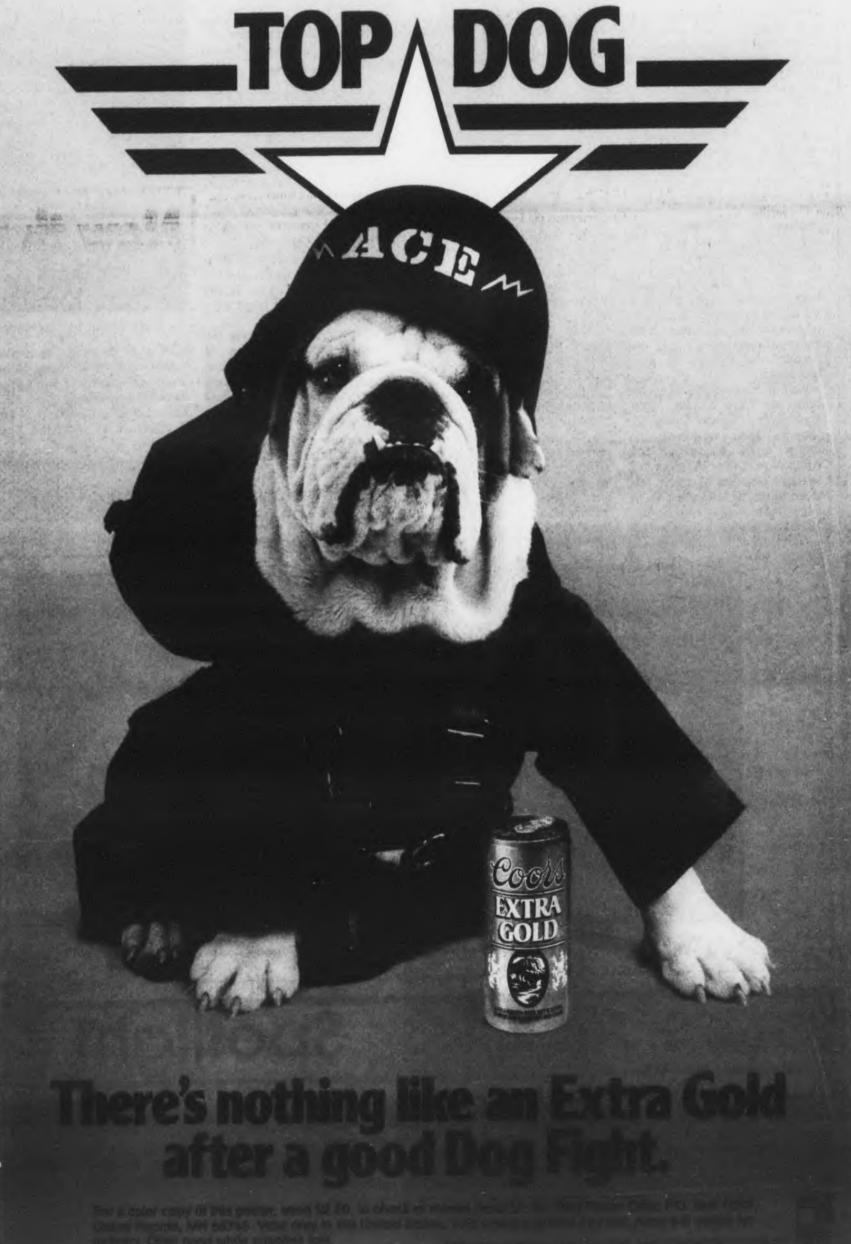

126 Sarber Lane (next to Putt Putt)

Expires 12/31/87

537-7118

Kansas in running

Official: Supercollider possible

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The coordinator of Kansas' efforts to land the federal government's Superconducting Supercollider project dismissed Thursday reports that Kansas is not among a half-dozen states left in the race for the economic prize.

"I think it's a bum scoop," Terry Smith, the project manager, said. "I'm not doing anything differently as a result of that story."

Reports published earlier this week quoted an unidentified aide to a member of the U.S. House Science, Space and Technology Committee as saying six sites have been selected as finalists. The sites, the aide said, are in Colorado, Illinois, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas and Utah.

Energy officials and the director of the National Academy of Sciences panel that is evaluating 25 states' proposals for the $4.4 billion project said no such list of finalists has been

Smith said he called Department of Energy officials in Washington after he heard the reports and was assured they were not true. However, he acknowleged the reported list

"I've got to believe there are a million lists," Smith said. "I'm absolutely convinced it's not conclusive."

Kansas proposed to put the supercollider in Osage County near the Pomona Reservoir, south of Topeka. The Legislature appropriated $300,000 for the state's effort to sell

However, federal Department of DOE on the site, and Gov. Mike Hayden has said the state would be willing to spend another $60 million over four fiscal years to make road and other improvements in the area.

> Kansas officials want the project because, they say, it would generate many more times the amount it would cost in tax revenues through the jobs it would bring to the state. It is estimated that 4,500 jobs would be created during its construction, with 2,500 jobs remaining after it went into operation.

The supercollider would be the world's largest subatomic particle accelerator, covering an area 53 miles in circumference. It is designed to provide physicists with 20 times the atom-smashing power they now

State manipulates bidding, computer company claims

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — A national computer company filed suit in Shawnee County District Court Wednesday, accusing the state of manipulating its bid process in favor of International Business Machines Inc.

Ron Hein, a Topeka attorney and former state senator, filed the suit on behalf of Prime Computer Inc., which has its Kansas office at 9393 West 110th Street in Overland Park.

Named defendants were the state and Russell Getter, director of the Division of Information Systems and Communications in the state Department of Administration.

Arthur Griggs, attorney for the department, declined comment until he has time to read the plaintiff's petition. Getter also said he had not studied the allegations, but did say, "The state purchases just about every conceivable brand of computer equipment." The suit was filed to recover damages in excess of $10,000 in the award last June of a contract to IBM to supply a $200,000 minicomputer and auxiliary equipment to Emporia

State University. However, Hein said the main the state to stop using what Prime Computer contends is an unfair bidding system. He claimed the bias in the state bidding process had occurred on other, earlier contracts but Prime Computer is seeking financial recovery only in the Emporia State case.

"The defendants (the state and Getter) have systematically and intentionally prepared, or caused to be prepared, specifications which only IBM could satisfy, thereby chilling, inhibiting, restricting and prohibiting an open and competitive market," the Prime Computer peti-

The suit seeks a temporary injunction "prohibiting the defendants from violating the competitive bidding procedure set forth in (state law) and further requiring the defendants to prepare bid specificationss for computers, data processing equipment, software and auxiliary equipment, in a just and reasonable manner."

However, Hein said the company will not seek an injunction to stop the state from awarding contracts while the suit is being litigated. He said the plaintiff recognizes the state must continue to do business while the suit is in the courts.

Hein declined to state how much in monetary damages Prime Computer believes it should receive, saying that would be revealed at a later time.

He said Prime Computer is "primarily interested in being able to bid their products to the state on a level playing field."

The Topeka attorney said Prime Computer was the low bidder among itself, IBM and Data General Corp. thrust of the lawsuit is to try to force after the state advertised for bids on the Emporia State computer and other equipment last December. In June, the petition says, Prime titive bid basis." Computer learned the state planned to award the contract to IBM despite the fact it was not the low bidder.

Then followed a series of exchanges in which the state alleged Prime Computer's bid did not fully meet specifications. Even though Prime Computer showed it did meet the specifications or adjusted its bid to meet them, the contract was awarded to IBM, Hein said.

The computer equipment was delivered to ESU by IBM in spite of a stay which should have been in effect pending resolution of Prime Computer's protest of the contract award, the petition says.

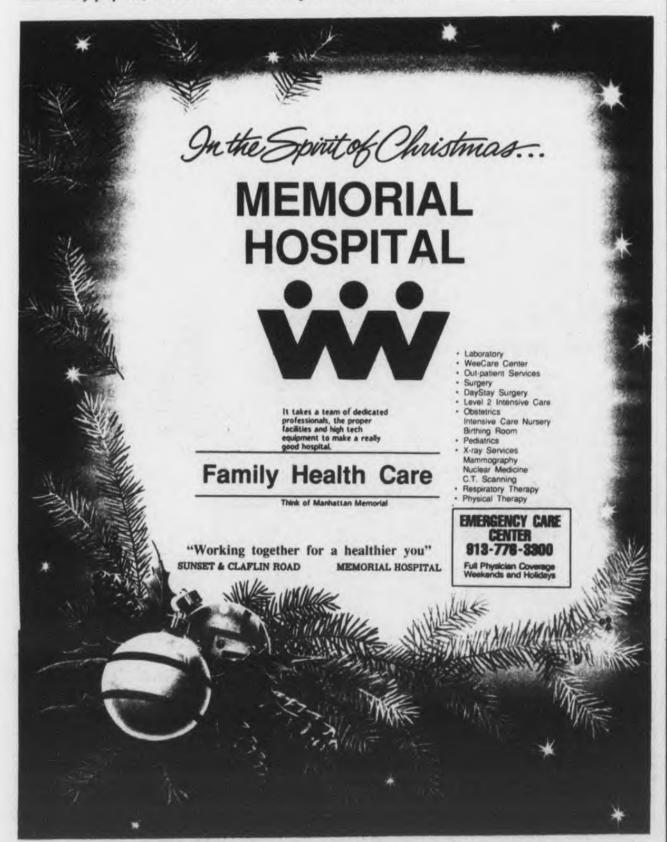

The computer is now in operation at the university.

In its petition, Prime Computer accuses the state of "unauthorized and bad faith conduct in refusing to award the contract to the plaintiff as low bidder;" accuses the state of "malicious, intentional and anticompetitive interference with the plaintiff's prospective business advantage," and claims it has lost profits and suffered injury to its reputation.

It says the state has exercised and appears to continue to exercise "unfair prejudicial influence in the preparation of bid specifications in such a manner as to insure that IBM equipment is selected in most, if not all, new system acquisitions."

"The defendants have instituted and concealed a plan which, in effect, renders Kansas a single vendor state for purposes of computer and data processing equipment acquisitions" and that denies Prime Computer of the right to market its products in Kansas on an open, nonest, compe

> Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

Sunflower officials tell KCC investigation 'unwarranted'

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — No investigation of the management practices of Sunflower Electric Cooperative Inc. is needed, and criticism of its general manager, Steve Thompson, is unwarranted, Sunflower officials have told the Kansas Corporation Commission.

In testimony the utility filed with the commission late Wednesday, Sunflower officials responded to criticisms from the KCC's staff of the company's internal accounting control systems. They also denied that Thompson's past travel expenses were, according to KCC staff, "extravagant."

David Dittemore, the KCC's managing utility regulatory auditor, made the criticisms in testimony the staff filed with the KCC last week. The testimony also recommended that the commission approved Sunflower's plan to restructure its $663 million debt.

Public hearings on the plan are scheduled to begin Monday morning, with additional hearing time set aside on Tuesday and

"We believe the travel policy of the cooperative and the procedures related thereto are adequate and that the general manager has implemented those policies and procedures and has not abused them," said Phillip A. Lesh, a member of Sunflower's Board of Trustees, in his testimony.

In his testimony, Dittemore listed 12 hotel and restaurant exependitures, including nightly room charges ranging from $119 to $195 in Washington, D.C., San Francisco and Wichita. He also cited restaurant charges of up to $328. The KCC's staff examined Thompson's travel expenses between 1980 and 1987.

Sunflower also spent $500,000, excluding commerical flight costs, from 1983 to 1987 for leased airplanes, according to the testimony, and Thompson's credit card charges for travel expenses were $167,000 in the same period.

'Considering the nature of Sunflower's business and the requirement that Mr. Thompson travel extensively and at long distances over the last four to five years, I do not believe these costs to be inappropriate," Lesh said. Thompson added in testimony he filed with the commission: "We were involved in extensive travel while working on the debt restructuring agreement." Dittemore also said in his testimony Thompson had a "personal disregard" for internal accounting controls, and said he sometimes did not provide adequate documentation of his expenses to the company's accounting department.

"In 1986 alone, I made 23 separate trips out of the state of varying durations," Thompson responded in his testimony. "This amount of travel, when combined with the normal day-to-day operations and trips, made it difficult to keep up with filing timely expense reports."

The plan is the result of efforts by Sunflower over a two-year period and represents a substantial concession by Sunflower creditors, the company has said.

ClassAds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publi-

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color.

Collegian Personals

MERRY CHRISTMAS and Happy New Year, students, staff and faculty. Congratulations and Good Luck, graduates. Remember the fun times. Your friend, Carole, K.S. Union check cashier. (75)

MARCIE, MERRY Christmas, our first of many. Love

WEENIE I—Have a wonderful Christmas Break. I'll miss you a whole bunch! ILU, Weenie II. (75) N714CH: REQUEST permission to soar on the wings of love with you for many years to come. I Love You

Merry Christmas! Your Co-pilot. (75) BILL-I can't wait until July 23. Merry Christmas I

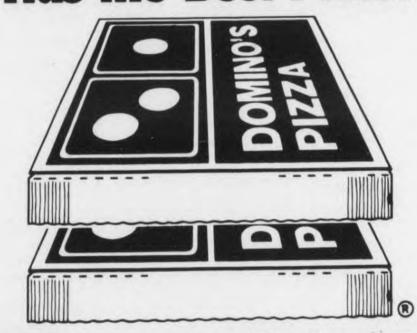

WARDOG & STEIN-To two of the best brothers I know-Merry Christmas! E.T. (75)

HEY GANG! Here's to road trips, smoke and smore cussing counts, spontaneous parties, Great! Pi low fights, jack-o-lanterns, cookies & diets, six lite cases, studying(?), swimming, you have no friends—Diel Skating, B-day parties, Vista and SQ, photo "sessions," sleep walking, sulk sessions, forgettable FB games, special people, turkey and being "stuffed," unique people (another 1?), couch crashing, Durland, more cookies! Singing and the Best of friends!! Thanks for a great se mester! Merry X-mas! Love ya, LeAnn. (75

DOUG-YOU can have fries with my shake any time but how about dinner at my place Wednesday in stead? Merry Christmas, Sam. (75)

(Continued on page 18)

Now the Best Pizza in Town

Two Pizzas for Only $5.99!

HAM

GREEN PEPPER

.95

Now you can have two delicious 10" pizzas for the price of one. They're custom-made with your choice of toppings on eachthey don't have to be the same! And we use only the freshest ingredients and 100% real cheese.

PEPPERONI

MUSHROOMS

You're not seeing double. It's just our latest way to say that Domino's Pizza Delivers. And we deliver at no additional charge in 30 minutes or less. That's the Domino's Pizza guarantee.

No coupon necessary.

BLACK OLIVES

SAUSAGE

EACH ADDITIONAL ITEM

Call Us! Manhattan 539-0561

Hours: 4pm-2am Fri.-Sat.

Pizza Delivers® 517 N. 12th Street Doubles. 4pm-1am Sun.-Thurs.

Prices do not include tax. Our drivers carry less than COKE* AVAILABLE $20.00. in 16 oz. bottle 75$ each. Limited delivery area.

JALAPENOS

EXTRACHEESE

EXTRA THICK CRUST

Domino's

PINEAPPLE GROUND BEEF ONIONS TWO 10" TWO Menu & 14" 14" 10" 7.99 8.99 5.99 10.39 6.94 9.24 1 ITEM 11.79 10.49 7.89 13.19 11.74 8.84 14.59 12.99 9.79 12.99 14.59 9.79 DELUXE * 12.99 14.59 9.79 VEGI 15.99 10.74 14.24

*DELUXE-5 items for the price of 4. Pepperoni, Sausage, Mushrooms, Onions & Green Peppers.

"VEGI-5 items for the price of 4. Onions, Green Peppers, Mushrooms, Black Olives & Extra Cheese.

EXTRAVAGANZZA™ - A special blend of 9 items for the price of 5. Pepperoni, Ham, Ground Beef, Sausage. Black Olives, Green Peppers, Onions, Mushrooms & Extra

1.25

© 1987 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

1.40

(Continued from page 17)

MARKEY BO and Jayla Kay, Merry Christmas and Good Luck on finals! Ann Girl Lori. (75) "ACE"-THANKS for being a bright spot in my mester! Merry Christmas-With love from, "A "PETEY"-THE last six months have been the best. Hope there's more to come. Love—Me. P.S. I'm done looking!! (75)

LOVEY PUMPKIN, On the 13th, it will be six great months we've shared. Have a Merry Christmas, and good luck on finals. I Love You! Nookie. (75)

MONIQUE, I Love You! Good Luck on finals. Just remember, Christmas will be great. Stacey. (75)

CRAIG. I'M going to miss my cuddle buddy over the holidays. I love you. S.O. (75) SCOTT G .- May Santa and his reindeer bring your hearts desire at Christmas. Happy Holidays, my friend! Love always, the little missionary. (75) SHANER-HERE'S wishing you a fabulous Christmas and Happy New Year! Take care of yourself. Love always, Me. (75) DEAREST KIM. Your smile, your cuteness, your blur ness and your Love have left me choiceless but to tove you more. Promise you your first and best Christmas—Kev. (75) DELTA SIG Ken-Looking forward to a vacation of perpetual fun and excitement. Merry Christmas and Happy Easter! Love Barble. (75) SQUIRT-MY love for you grows more each day! Your touch is so warm! Let's spend every day together!

Happy Holidays! Yours only, Tiffany. (75) LINE MEN #65, #67—Aggh! Now that we've got your attention ... Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! We love ya both! Lesli and Kim. (75)

MARK, BRYAN, Brad. You guys are the greatest friends ever. Thanks for everything and have a Merry Christmas and super New Year. Love ya, Lore

GEL. THANKS for sharing a part of your life with me. Merry Christmas! Love, Sally. (75) RON-YOU alone are the sweetest Christmas present ever. With all the things that are you . . . 1 love you. Richelle. (75) DEAREST BUCKY: I will always keep in my mind, how you are—gracious, lovable, sincere and kind! Yours Truly, Spanky. (75)

TO MY beautiful wife, Sloan. Let us have a great first X-mas together. I'm ready for a Hat Jr. Love Always, Your Hattier. (75)

CINDY R.—Thanks for being a great lil' sis. You made this last semester the best. Tracey. (75)

KAY, HEY mom. Love you. Danny, it's been fun. Wait till next semester! Angle, I'll miss ya! Francie what a roomle! Merry Christmas to all! Love, Pam!

JENNIFER-HAPPY Holidays, Sweetheart! I'm sure going to miss you. Have a terrific break! I love you—Michael. (75)

KIMHEAD, KIM, Tana-Banana, and Cindy Lou-Merry Christmas and Gooney-goo-goo! Love-Aunt Bunnie. (75)

ANNOUNCEMENTS

icapped accessible. (1-75)

FLYING INTEREST you? For information on K-State Flying Club call Hugh Irvin, 532-6311 or 539-3128.

WANTED-100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor approved. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,776-

VW AND import auto repairs. Save $. J and L Auto Service, 1-494-2388. Seven minutes east of Man-

SPRING BREAK '88 trips available now! Your cho South Padre Island; North Padre/Mustang Island: Galveston Island, Texas. Daytona Beach; Fort Walton Beach; Miami Beach; Orlando/Disney World, Florida. Hilton Head, South Carolina or ski-ing at Steamboat, Colorado. All the most wanted destinations at discount prices. Call toll free for complete Sunchase Tours Seventh Annual Spring ak Bash color brochure and reservations today

A Week at Kansas State

Book Signing

Saturday 2-4 p.m. at Waldenbooks 100 Manhattan Town Center

David Adams and Tim Janicke will be present to sign copies of the book.

DO YOU need Major Medical Health Insurance for a ingle adult or child? If so, call Linda, 537-0567 Mutual of Omaha next to K-Mart/Town East Shopping Center, (69-75)

LADIES! THE Dakota Men calendars are here. Good ause-great fun! 776-8548 evenings/weekends.

BUTCHER GOATS: Make good barbecue meat, Call 776-8884 Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Ask for Karolyn. (73-75)

EXPANDED HOLIDAY hours! People's Grocery Coop, 811 Colorado, will expand its hours for your holiday shopping needs. We will be open, "Tues-day, Dec. 15 and Dec. 22, 12-6 p.m." Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 a.m. 6 p.m.: Saturday, 10 a.m. 5 p.m. Check out our new Herb and Spice section!

HOLIDAY HOUSECLEANING. Cheerful, experi enced, responsible, by K-State student. 539-3055.

NICE, NEW, large two-bedroom mobile home twelve blocks from campus. Available immediately, under $300. Free November rent. Call Larry at 539-9431 after 5 p.m. at 537-4638. (60tf)

AVAILABLE IN December for second semester. Two bedrooms available in large furnished basement apartment. Males only, $120/month. No bills. Call

QUIET, WELL-maintained one-bedroom furnished apartment for non-smoking single adult or married couple. Laundry, patio, off-street parking, $218 per month. Jan. 1st, 1 year minimum lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (70-75)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment for college student near City Park. Available Nov. 15. No pets. Deposit. $200/month. 776-3800 or

776-4246. (67-75) NICE, SPACIOUS two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Available in December. Cail 539-1076. (67-75)

ONE-BEDROOM efficiency apartment one block east of campus. Available Dec. 1 and Jan. 1. Quiet conditions. $190. 776-3624. (67-75) TWO BEDROOM furnished basement, excellent condition, carpeted, close to campus, washer/dryer, parking. 776-8495, evenings. (69-75)

SUNNY, SPACIOUS upstairs one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, downtown. $220/mg plus utilities. Water, trash paid by owner. Available beginning spring semester. 776-7295 after 5:30

ONE BEDROOM furnished, queen waterbed. Corner of Bluemont and Manhattan Avenues. Must rent! $175/month, negotiable. 539-8393. (71-75)

NO BUGS, clean, quiet, two bedroom, two blocks east of campus, Jan. 1, $225, 776-1703. (71-75) MALE RENTING room. Use of whole house and

washer and dryer. $150/month and one-third utilities. 776-2286 evenings, Pete. (71-75) NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in excellent locations and great prices. Available now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75) NICE, LARGE one-bedroom, suitable for two, nished, near University, $295. Call 776-5234, ask Don. (72-75) GIVE-AWAY PRICE for our furniture if you take over our lease (to March 31, renewable). $310 per month, two-bedroom, dishwasher, air-condition-ing, swimming pool. 537-3363. (72-75) ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment. Take over lease. $200/month, split utilities, 1027 Kearney.

Call 539-1098 or 539-9044. Ask for Brett Watson and Aggieville. $200. 537-0144 or 539-6108. (72-75) LARGE TWO-bedroom furnished basement apart ment, quiet area, central air, completely carpeted. Call 539-0962 or 776-4008. (72-75) TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment available Jan.

1. Across from Ahearn. 776-7559 (72-75) FURNISHED APARTMENT—One-bedroom, off-street parking, 1941 College Heights, $260. Call collect 456-2090 after 6 p.m. 456-8297. (72-76) FURNISHED APARTMENT. One male student, close to campus, $215, all bills paid. Call 539-2165. (73-ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $275 per month. lable from Jan. 1st. Phone 532-3199 or visit AVAILABLE ON or before Jan. 1. One-bed sonable rent, no pets, near campus, 537-8389. (73-

FIRST FLOOR, one-bedroom, located at 814 Leavenworth. $155 month. 537-1238 or 539-3672.

NICE TWO-bedroom apartment near City Park. Wa ter, trash paid. $360/month. 537-2178. (74-75)

SPACIOUS TWO-bedroom apartment, furnished quiet neighborhood close to campus. Available now or in January, $260/month. 776-6396. (75)

814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, car-peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-5136. (75tf)

APARTMENTS FOR RENT-UNFURNISHED 03 MOORE MANAGEMENT

one & 2 bedroom apartments, all close to campus. Call: 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7 p.m.

ONE ROOM apartment for spring semester. Two blocks from campus. $205. Call 539-2902, evenings. (67-75)

SECOND SEMESTER apartments available in several convenient locations. One and two bedroom. $240 to $360. Call soon for best selection! (68-75) FOR SPRING semester. Large one-bedroom apartment. One block from campus, washer, dryer, low utilities. 539-1078. (70-75)

ONE BEDROOM large enough for two. One and one half blocks from campus. Unfurnished, laundry fa-cility. Call Chris after 5 p.m. at 539-7906 or Jim at 539-5091. $265. (71-75)

NICE UNFURNISHED basement apartment, north of Manhattan High School, one bedroom, central air, washer hookup, separate entrance, backyard use. o pets, lease required, available December 20th $250, includes utilities. Call 776-0782, 5-7 p.m. (72NICE. LARGE one- and two-bedro Westloop area. Please call 776-9124 (37tf)

AVAILABLE Jan. 1st, nice, large one-bedroom apart ment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, laundry facilities. Couple preferred. $265 a month. 539

2482 after 4 p.m. (61tf) 814 THURSTON, two-bedroom, $250 per month, ca

peted, water/gas included. Available Jan. 1. Gall 539-5136. (61tf) LARGE ONE-bedroom unfurnished, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, pets, available January. $265 plus deposit 539-

$100 Off One Mth's Rent WILDCAT CREEK APARTMENTS

An Adult & Family Community Spacious 1 & 2 Bedroom apts. Starting at $260

FEATURING

•24-hour emergency maintenance On-site laundry facilities Two outdoor swimming pools

 Professional on-site mgt. Leasing specials to accommodate every lifestyle

Open 7 days a week No appointment necessary Call Today 539-2951 1413 CAMBRIDGE PLACE

NEARLY NEW two and three-bedroom apartments in

GREAT THREE-bedroom house near campus, $650

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment in Westloop area

FOUR-BEDROOM, basement, 1114 Vattier, $350 plus

LARGE TWO-bedroom, 926 Bluemont, 776-9017, (73-

Second semester

apartments in several

convenient locations.

One & two bedrooms

$240-$360.

Call soon

for best selection.

$250. Available Dec. 20 539-6308. (72-75)

tilities. Available now. 539-1498. (73-75)

onth (or $220 per bedroom). Available Jan. 1 excellent locations and great prices. Av. now or January. 537-1666, 537-2919. (72-75) per month (or $220 per Call 537-9441. (72-75)

Development 2700 Amherst 776-3804

WTBS

ESPN

WGN

KTWU

(Continued on page 19)

Listings

By TV Data

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Today	CBS News This Morning	Good Morning America	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Today's Mister Rogers	Bozo	Nation's Bus. SportsCenter	B. Hillbillies Bewitched
8:00		11		My Little Pony Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Smurfs Teddy Ruxpin	SportsLook Horse Mag.	Little House on the Prairie
	Hour Maga-	$25K Pyramid Card Sharks	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	Sesame Street	Beaver Andy Griffith	College Bas- ketball: Okla-	Movie: "Christmas
10:00	Jeopardy! Lose or Draw	Price Is Right	Who's Boss Mr. Belvedere	M.T. Moore Dick Van	Body Electric Bodywatch	Love Boat	homa at Flor- ida State	Holiday
4 4:00	Password Wheel-Fortune	Young and the Restless	Love Connec. Ask Dr. Ruth	Dyke Green Acres	Xmas Decor. Collectors	Geraldo	Aerobics Getting Fit	Perry Mason
40:00	News Days of Our	Midday Bold/Beautiful	All My Child- ren	Beaver I Love Lucy	Sesame Street	News	World Cup Skiing: Men's	Movie; "I Walk the
4:00	Lives Another World	As the World	One Life to	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies	Mysteryl: Aga- tha Christie's	Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Billiards: Nine- Ball Cham-	Line"
	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hos- pital	Brady Bunch Zoobilee Zoo	Seafood In Recital	Beaver Ghostbusters	PGA Golf: Team Invita-	Tom and Jerry
	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Scooby Doo Thundercats	Smurfs Ghostbusters	On Aerobics Mister Rogers	BraveStarr Transformers	tional: Second Round	Flintstones Flintstones
- 00	3's Company	Magnum, P.I.	Dating Game P. Court	Jetsons M. Bravestar	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Jem	Auto Racing: USAC Midg-	Munsters Laverne
5:00	Family Ties NBC News	News CBS News	News ABC News	Diff. Strokes Facts of Life	Sesame Street	Facts of Life WKRP	SportsLook Racing	Alice Carol Burnett
	News Wheel-Fortune		M'A'S'H Newlywed	WKRP Gimme Br.	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Cheers Bozo's March	SportsCenter PGA Seniors	Andy Griffith Sanford
	Rags To Riches	Charlie Brown The Grinch		Friday the 13th: Series	Wash Week Wall $t. Wk.	Movie: "Res- cue From Gilli-	Golf: Kaana- pali Cham-	NBA Basket- ball: Los An-
8:00	Miami Vice	Dallas	Mr. Belvedere Pursuit/Happ.	Movie: "Scrooge"	McLaughlin Business	gan's Island"	pionship: First Round	geles Lakers at Boston Cel
	Private Eye	Falcon Crest	20/20		Innovation Market	News INN News	SpeedWeek Special	tics H.'s Heroes
40:00	News Tonight Show	News Cheers	News M'A'S'H	Barney Miller Wilton North	Wild America Business Rpt.	Jeffersons Magnum, P.I.	Tractor Pull Sports Center	Night Tracks: Power Play
-00	Ent. Tonight	Solid Gold in Concert	B. Buddies Nightline	Report Movie: "Till	MacNeil / Leh- rer Newshour	Movie: "Ca-	AWA Wres- tling	Night Tracks
12:00	Late Night with David Let-		700 Club	Death."	Sign-Off	pone"	SpeedWeek Rodeo: Finals	Night Tracks

SATURDAY DECEMBER 12, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	ESPN	WTBS
7:00	Gummi Bears Smurfs	Hello Kitty Jim Henson's	Care Bears My Little Pony	Kidsongs LovelyLocks		Farm Report World Tom.	Tennis: Na- bisco Masters	Bonanza
8:00	"	Muppet Ba- bies	Pet Monster Puppies	Popples Get Along	Deaf Mosaic TBA	Charlando People-People	Doubles Semi- finals	National Geo graphic Ex-
9:00	ALF Alvin	Pee-wee Play. Visionaries	Little Wizards Ghostbusters	Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig	Cliffhangers Old House	Minority Busi- Movie: "Char-	31	plorer
10.00	Fraggle Rock C. Power	Popeye & Son Teen Wolf	Flintstones Bugs Bunny	Visionaries Power	Motorweek Animals	lie Chan in Paris'	Sports College Foot-	NWA Super Bouts
4 4:00	Tom/Jerry Lon Krueger	To Be An- nounced	Jem Health Show	Wonder Woman	Painting Victory Gar-	Soul Train	ball: NCAA Di- vision II Cham-	Kong vs. Goo
00	You Can't College Bas-	Your Question College Bas-	Weekend Kansas Illus.	Movie: "The Park Is Mine"	Sesame Street	G.I. Joe: A Real American	pionship: teams to be	zilla",, a :00	ketball: Notre Dame at De-	ketball: Louis- ville at Ken-	College Foot- College Bas-		Woodwright Plain & Fancy	Hero	announced PGA Golf:	Movie: "The Private Navy
0:00		tucky NBA Basket-	ketball	Star Trek	Bodywatch W. Alexander	Movie: "The Last Hard	Team Invita- tional: Third	of Sgt. O'Far rell"
3:00	Movie: "Trenchcoat"	ball: Houston Rockets at	Amateur Box-	Battlestar Gal- actica	Kovels Collect Calligraphy	Men"	Round California	Tom and Jerry
4:00	"	Chicago Bulls	ing: U.S. vs. Cuba	Buck Rogers	Great Space Race	Puttin' on Hits Good Times	Bowl: San Jose State vs.	Andy Griffith B. Hillbillies
5:00	Wild Kingdom NBC News	Back Yard CBS News	ABC News	Black Sheep Squadron	Growing a Kimm Julian:	Bustin' Loose Charles	Eastern Michi- gan	World Cham- pionship
	Hee Haw	Mama It's a Living	Guinness Rec. B. Buddies	Star Trek: Next Gener.	Lawrence Welk Show:	It's a Living Mama	College Bas-	Wrestling
7:00	Facts of Life	Movie: "Mrs. Delafield	Sheriff 9 to 5	Mr. President In Prison	WonderWorks	Movie: "The Fortune"	ketball: Mis- souri at Mem-	Movie: "The Savage"
	Caldan Cida	Wants to Marry	Sable	Beans Baxter Chance	Austin City Limits	14 23	phis State Basketball:
	Hunter	West 57th	Hotel	Rich & Fa- mous	Country Cliffhangers	News INN News	Las Vegas at Houston	Cousteau Amazon:
	News Saturday	News Star Trek:	News Movie: "Satur-	The Sheriff Friday the	Great Per- formances	H.'s Heroes Movie: "The	Sportscenter	Night Tracks Chartbusters
	Night Live	Next At the Movies	day Night Fever	13th: Series Solid Gold in	From the AFI	Boat"	PGA Seniors Golf: Kaana-	Night Tracks
10:00	Friday the 13th: Series	Dallas	News	Concert NCTV Hour	Sign-Off		pali Cham- pionship	Night Tracks

SUNDAY DECEMBER 13, 1987

KCNT

WIBW KTKA

	KSNI	WIBW	(B)	9	0			1111111
7:00	James Ken- nedy	Jerry Falwell	Jimmy Swag- gart	Superfriends		R. Schuller Heritage-Faith	Tennis: Na- bisco Masters	Flintstones Tom/Jerry
0:00		Discovery Herald-Truth	Kenneth Copeland	All Star Wres- tling	Sesame Street	Sunday Mass Popeye	Doubles Final	Flintstones Andy Griffith
	Onholles	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written Week With	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Today's	Visionaries Power	This Week in	Good News Movie: "Batt
10:00		Sunday Morn- ing	David Brinkley Bus. World	Black Sheep Squadron	Sesame Street	Superman Lone Ranger	Sports SportsCenter	of the Bulge
	Muppets	NFL Today	WWF Wres- tling	Star Trek: Next Gener.	WonderWorks	Cisco Kid Rawhide	Sunday: NFL Figure Skat-	-0.
	NFL Football: NBC Regional	NFL Football: CBS Regional	Movie: "The Park Is Mine"	Yogi Bear and the Magical	Wash. Week Wall $t. Wk.	At the Movies	ing: NHK Ski World	Movie:
1:00	Coverage	Coverage	. 17	Flight of the Spruce Goose	Adam Smith Computer	Movie: "The Courtship of	World Cup Skiing: Wom-	"That's Ente tainment"
2:00	"	"	WWF Wres- tling	Movie: "An American	That Delicate Balance	Andy Hardy"	PGA Golf: Team Invita-	# #
3:00	Oliver North: Fight	NFL Football: CBS Regional	Generation TBA	Christmas Carol'	One on One Interests	Movie: "The Magic of Las-	tional: Final Round	Movie: "A Christmas
	Wt. Control	Coverage	Feed My Peo-	Movie: "Be- yond Tomor-	Vintage Years with Relen R.	sie"	Senior PGA Golf	Carol" Championsh
5:00		"	News Washburn	row"	Chernobyl Hypothermia:	Movie: "Amadeus"	. 0	Wrestling New Leave I
6:00	T C	60 Minutes	Movie: "Christmas	21 Jump Street	Wild America Nature		NFL Prime Time	Movie: "The Fastest Gun
		Murder, She Wrote	Star"	Werewolf With Children	Nature		NFL Football: Denver Bron-	Alive"
8:00		Movie: "Fox- fire"	Dolly	Tracey Ullman Duet	Masterpiece Theatre: Sor-	Star Search	cos at Seattle Seahawks	National Geo graphic Ex-
	ments Story"		Buck James	Marblehead Throb	Great Per- formances:	News	"	plorer
30	Sports M.	Maruning	Mane move: 10-2	Mandalas	Rossini	Darkside	SnorteCenter	Sports Page Jerry raiwel
11:00	Entertainment	Rich & Fa- mous	of Hearts"	Dating Game	'88/M. Kalb Tony Brown	Movie: "The	NFL Prime Time	World Tom.
40:00		Sign-Off	News	Lou Grant	Sign-Off	Naked City"	NFL's Greatest Moments	Jimmy Swag gart

KSHB

DIANE F.—Thanks for your great support and gener-osity! Love, your roomie, Sietske. (75) 01 APARTMENTS FOR RENT-FURNISHED 02 1837 College Heights. Apt. 4. (73-75) MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour prod-ucts. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Hand-NICE ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. Very close to campus. $275 to $375. Please call 776-9124.

Religious Directory

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

801 Leavenworth 537-0518

Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m. Church School 9:30 a.m.

 College Outreach (Tuesdays, K-State Union) Weekday programs for youth Nursery available Senior Minister Rev. Dr. Philip S. Gittings III

Manhattan Jewish Congregation

Shabbat Services 8 p.m. 1st and 3rd Friday Religious School 9:30 Sundays Rides Available Sponsor B'nai B'rith Hillel

1509 Wreath Ave. (temple) 539-8462

at K-State

Campus Adviser, David Margolies 532-6154

Come share the Spirit!

Lutheran Campus Ministry

Worship 11 a.m. Study 9:45 a.m.

Sundays Danforth Chapel (campus) Lutheran Student Movement 5 p.m.

Sunday - Lutheran Student Center

Don Fallon, Pastor

FIRST UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion

(first Sunday of the month)

9:45 a.m. Church School

1021 Denison

1539-4451

Sunday Praise Hours 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

 Sunday School—9:30 a.m. Collegiate Bible Class

Transportation available

Office 537-7633 Seth Childs Rd. at Gary Ave.

Mike Wall, Pastor . 537-7967

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

CHURCH

WORSHIP 8 and 10:30 a.m.

College Class 9:30 a.m.

Kermedy's Claim side entrance Sun. Eve. Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd. and 5th Sundays

CARE CELLS (Small Groups)

6 p.m. 2nd and 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave.

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS

BAPTIST CHURCH

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

GREAT . COMMISSION

Church of Manhattan Campus Bible Study Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. Sundays at University Inn LIVING WORD CHURCH

Sunday 10 a.m. Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Campus Group 776-0940 (1 mile south on Hwy. 177)

Trinity Presbyterian

Church

Church School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

Pastor James Cramer

 Nursery Provided •Handicap Accessible

·Rides Available

1110 College Ave.

St. Isidore's

Catholic Student Center

Sunday Massas

9:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 5 p.m.

Saturday - 5 p.m. Daily Mass 10 p.m.

612 Poyntz WORSHIP Sat. 6 p.m. Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. SUNDAY SCHOOL 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Sunday School 9:15-10 a.m. Worship 10:15-Noon Home Group Bible Studies 217 Seth Childs-Church Location

COME AND WORSHIP! MANHATTAN CHURCH of the NAZARENE College Class 9:30 a.m. Worship Services 10:50 a.m. & 6 p.m. Bible Study & Prayer Wed. 7 p.m. 537-4936 10th & Fremont

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 6:30 p.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison

539-3921

539-7496

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan former Luckey High School Juliette St. and Pierre Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-0259 Nursery provided 537-8526

8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor

776-8821 ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

FLINT HILLS FULL FAITH Church

COLLEGIATE FELLOWSHIP as scheduled

PIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

UNITED METHODIST Sunday School 9:15 a.m. Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.

835 Church Ave.

539-8790

Sunday School - 9:45 a.m. (Collegiate Class) 537-8532 10th & Poyntz

BLUE VALLEY MEMORIAL

8:30 a.m. First Worship Service 9:30 a.m. Sunday School 11 a.m. Second Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Evening Worship 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

> GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH 2901 Dickens

All students & faculty welcome CHURCH SERVICES Sundays 8:30 a.m. & 11 a.m. Welcome International Students to Dr. Bob's International Bible Hour

Sundays 9:30 a.m.

Crestview Christian Church Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 776-3798 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (on Hwy. 24, across from State Park)

04

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

1971 MALIBU, green, fair condition, runs great. Call Tommy 539-3769 or 539-9834 Rm. 301. (72-75) 1976 BUICK Regal, air conditioning, power steerin power brakes, AM-FM cassette, priced to sell. 776

1981 DODGE 024, automatic, air, AM/FM stereo, 79,000 miles. Looks and runs great. $1,375. 532-2060. (74-75)

EMPLOYMENT

CALIFORNIA JOB opportunity-Do you like kids and childcare? Room, board, salary provided. Respond to HELP 4 PARENTS, 415-322-3816, 770 Menlo Ave., Suite 219, Menlo Park, CA 94025. (40-

HIRINGI GOVERNMENT jobs—your area. $15,000-$68,000. Call (602) 838-8885, Ext. 1797. (67-76)

DIRECTOR OF Music position. Starting Jan. 15. Contact Peace Lutheran, 539-7371, 9 a.m.-12 noon. (70-

BARTENDER, MONDAYS and Fridays and week ends. Simple well drinks and beer. 776-6862, ask for Forrest, (71-75)

PHARMACY TECHNICIAN. Part-time, variable hours, evenings and weekends; Must be available for year-round employment. Typing required. The St. Mary Hospital, 776-1981. (71-75)

SPRING BREAK vacation sales. Earn top pay selling vacations to Florida. Guaranteed $15 commission per sale. Must be organized, outgoing, and honest. Individuals or organizations call 1-800-338-0718. Florida Vacation Service. (71-77)

GIRLS OVER 21 to model lingerie. $10 an hour plus. Please call 1-456-7050 for interview. (72-75)

THE VILLAGE Inn Family Restaurant is now hiring full and part-time employees. All positions are open! Come talk to us at 296 Tuttle Creek Blvd., located right behind Village Inn, or call us at 537-9716. We are taking applications Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Come join our family. (72-

REVCO, D.S. needs temporary, full-time help starting Jan. 4, 1988. Five to ten days, minimi ply in person, 3013 Anderson Ave. (74-75)

NIGHT LOADER with forklift experience. Will take applications Dec. 14 and 15 from 8 to 10 a.m. 825 Levee Drive, Campbell Distributors. (75)

MANHATTAN CABLE T.V. 6 has an immediate oper ing for a part-time production assistant and T.V. show host. Applicants should be familiar with video production equipment, have some video tape editing experience, and have a desire to host a weekly T.V. show. Schedule will include some evening and weekend work. Apply in person at Manhattan Cable T.V., 610 Humboldt, no phone calls please. (75)

BABYSITTER NEEDED spring semester. Monday, Wednesday 7:30-11:15 a.m. Call anytime, 539-1521.

BELLY-DANCER wanted! Earn good money and have fun! For information call 532-2362, ADA in 313. (72-

HELLO, BOSS? THIS IS

ZH254. I AM EXPERIENCING

WILL NOT BE ABLE TO MAKE IT INTO WORK.

SOME TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES AND

Rubes

ASSOCIATE TEACHER for Early Childhood Program working with kindergarten and early school age children. Approximately 25-30 hours/week. Hours in E.C.E. or El. Ed. required. Apply at Seven Dolors Child Care/Pre-School, 728 Colorado (8th and Col-orado) by 12/16. EOE. (72-75)

MIDWEST NANNY service positions now available with families in the Boston/Massachusetts area. If interested contact Tammy for more information at

(913) 625-8045. (73-75) STUDENT STOREKEEPER for spring semester. Must be able to work Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30-10:20 a.m.; Tuesday, Thursday desirable. Must be able to lift 100 lbs. regularly and 50 lbs. to shoulder height. Reading and effective written and verbal nunication skills required. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of ency, must be clean, neat and be able to obtain a Food Handler's Card. Apply today in the K-State Union Food Service Office. (73-83)

STUDENT OFFICE Assistant for spring semester.
Apply in K-State Union Food Service Office today for position to begin training immediately. Posi-tion offers excellent practical experience. Student needed to work 8:00 a.m. 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and as back-up during mid morning Mon-day, Wednesday, Friday, Work includes customer assistance and order taking, invoice preparation, typing, filing and data entry. Requirements include: Very good communication skills, ability to follow instructions, attention to detail, 40 wpm typing skills, desire to meet customer needs and must be able to obtain a Food Handler's Card. Po-sition will continue throughout the following school year with possible variation in hours. (73

PAY DAY! Apply now for second semester student positions (all shifts for waiters and waitresses; Monday, Wednesday, Friday pizza 9 a.m.-2 p.m. food make-up Monday-Friday during lunch 10:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.; Grill server 10 a.m. p.m. during lunch Monday-Friday; Evening cook 3-7 p.m. Cashier, porter and server positions also available.) Bring in spring class schedule today and fill out application in K-State Union Food Service Office. We offer student pay plan, job variety, and centrally located work place. We require that you must be honest, reliable and display a sense of urgency, must be clean, neat and wear appropriate attire. Food Handler's Card a must. (73-83)

AEROBIC LEADER vacancy at the KSU Rec Complex. Must be a student carrying six or mo Certification is desired, but not required. Previous teaching experience highly recommended. Must be available Mondays through Thursdays from 4:20-6:30 p.m. Interested individuals are to apply in person at the Rec Complex administrative office g business hours before 5 p.m., Tuesday, Dec.

NEEDED

2 carpenters to work between fall & spring semesters. Mostly inside work remodeling apartments.

Must have sufficient experience to work with minimal or no supervision.

Major power tools will be furnished; however, applicants must furnish own hand tools. Call 776-9007 (any time) for an interview.

00

By Leigh Rubin

Respond to: P.O. Box 1329 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 with resume, please.

plex, second floor, washer/dryer. Located two blocks from campus at 1030 Thurston. $250 month

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom house one block from campus. Located at 1208 Pomeroy $270 month plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Ground floor efficiency in duplex three blocks west campus at 2055 Tecumseh. $190 month plus utilities. 539-3672 eve nings. (68-75)

Vista Lane. Clean, no pets, $400/month plus $400 deposit. Pay own utilities. Parking for two cars. 235-3550 Topeka. 776-0661 Manhattan, ask for Mitch. (75)

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR SALE 13

A BEAUTIFUL 1985 16 x 80 Windsor home; three fenced yard and extras. Five miles et an, make offer. 1-494-2396. (74-75) iles east of Manhat

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! Overcoats, field jackets Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Open Sundays ur

Study Rooms Available Beginning Dec. 7

539-7531

DUNCAN FUR Co. will be buying fur at River Rat Bait and Tackle (5301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.—next to the Pub) every Tuesday 6-7:30 p.m. starting Nov. 24th We will also be buying seven days a week in West moreland. For more information, call 457-3788. (64

CASH PAID for coins, jewelry, scrap gold, comic books, toys, rock records. Manhattan Coins and Collectables. 1130 Laramie, 539-1184. (67-75)

FOR SALE: $150. Round-trip airline ticket to California nia (K.C.-L.A.-K.C.). Leaving K.C.—Dec. 20th, 3 p.m. Leaving L.A.—Jan. 4th, 11 a.m. Eduardo. Tel.: 532-5580, ext. 35 (afternoons); 776-1119 (before 8

The Perfect GIft

Lee, Levi's & Wrangler jeans Christmas hours:

Mon-Fri Sat. Sun 9-8:30 9-5:30 8426 HWY 24

(2 mi. east of Manhattan) 776-6715

I FEEL

BETTER

By Berke Breathed

The truth was that he got a little too "well-oiled" last night Bloom County

NOW A VICTIM OF PREJUDICE

MYSELF, I CAN FINALLY UNDERSTAND. I WAS WRONG

I AM SORRY. ... BOY, I FEEL BETTER NOW. DON'T YOU FEEL BETTER NOW

RESIDENT MANAGER Position

Seeking responsible married couple to administrate 50 apartment units. Near campus, compensation is significant rent reduction for one bedroom apartment. Live in required, year round position. Minimum commitment two years requested.

HOUSES AND MOBILE HOMES FOR RENT 12 AVAILABLE SECOND semester, two-bedroom du-plus utilities. 539-3672 evenings. (68-75)

THREE-BEDROOM house. Close to campus, 1411 bedrooms, two bath, appliances, stereo, microwave, ceiling fan, vaulted ceiling. Catrina, 776-3419; Donna (316) 683-5133. (62-75)

1983 14 x 65 Skyline Homette, carport, two sheds

MISCELLANEOUS MERCHANDISE

TYPEWRITER AND computer ribbons. Hull Busi ness Machines, 715 N. 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931

camouflage clothing, sleeping bags, wool (gloves, socks, mittens, blankets) Carhartt workwear. til Christmas 12-4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St Marys, KS. (913) 437-2734. (57-75)

(upon availability)

15

776-2426 1126 Laramie FRIDAY 5-9 p.m.

TANS TO GO

5/$1250

Cobblers Lane

SKI

Condo in Dillon

Ski 6 Resorts

All Amenities • Sleeps 4-6

JVC COLOR video camera, GX-N70U, auto-focus zoom and macro, titles and dates, stereo, etc. VHS video cassette recorder and tuner/adapter, HR

2650U compact and lightweight, four heads. Ex-cellent condition, $799 for set. Call 537-1558 eve-

All Slices 99°

WE PILE IT ON! 539-4888

TROPICAL TAN

5 tanning sessions

$10.00

20% off all Ray Ban

Sunglasses

BLACK AND white emerger. Tank, trays, timer, ex-

LOSE UP to 20 lbs. over Christmas break. Doctor rec

"DOOR SWAGS" of fresh Greens made by K-State Horticulture Therapy Club, Friday, Dec. 11, 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Basement of Waters Hall Rm. 18. (75) ded program. Under $60. Call 539-9576. (74-tended column. $95. 776-8782. (74-75)

PYRAMID PIZZA

after 5 p.m.

776-7874

776-1680

COLORADO

Aggieville

539-5269

nings and weekends. (74-75)

Fried Chicken or Spaghetti w/meat sauce all you can eat 111 S. 4th $3.95 with salad bar

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

NICE OLD wood violin, good quality bow, utility case. $195. Call 776-3454. (69-77)

PERSONALS

TALL BLACK Boots-Footwear, huh? Well, I've got a closetful. Still interested?-Blonde in Pink Ropers. (74-75)

RONDA: MY B. D. party was a big surprise. It's not nice to fool old people y'know. Another semester is almost over! No more classes, no more books, no more teacher's dirty looks. Thanks for making November 16th special! Your typing skills are pretty good for someone your age too. This Saturday is the 17th anniversary of our first date! Let's celebrate. Love, Joe. (75)

BOYD BIBLE Study. We apologize for missing our date last Tuesday. Game was too long. We still love ya. FH Bible Study. (75)

JOHN-AFTER two years, "You are my lover, you're my best friend—you're in my soul . . " and I love you more than ever! You know who .P.S. "Don't for get." (75)

SHAN-WHAT a semester-Life changes every second. Driving, Dewey, love, pain and the radio. What else—Friendship. Thanks—DMS. (75) YANK, THOUGH you procrastinate and get away with it, are sensitive about topics 1, 3, and 6, snore like a bangi, and are graduating in order to leave me, I still love you . . . I don't really mind cowlicks! Love, your little freshman girl. (75) AARON-MANHATTAN won't be the same without you. Thanks for the memories. Congratulations! Love, Cath. (75) TOENAILS—BOY howdy, you're finally graduating. Seven years is a while. Haa (Alf) Congrats! Link.

TRACY M. Well, tall, tan, and blonde, it's time to go out into the real world. I'll miss your smiling face in Student Pub. P. S., is this your first personal? Good luck! Your friend, J. C. (75) CHERYL R. Remember three years ago in Yoshi's ce-ramics class, proud Mary and the Big Flood of May

'85? Maybe you can "snag" Tom like you snagged those cinnamon rolls at Bonanza. Suerte! Your "buds" Jose. (75)

36 Tries to lose

37 Baby's

39 Noisy

clatter

41 Caribbean

music

style advice,

maybe

comment

55 Blue

DOWN

kin

3 Well-

stat

Leo

6 Wing

9 Fire:

collog.

lum's partner

10 Pendu-

11 Slalom

2 Shortly

1 Bobsled's behaved

4 Baseball

AFRICAN QUEEN-Sorry I was a grump. I really am excited for Christmas. Love, Diego Garcia. (75)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Friday, December 11, 1987

THETA CINDE-A semester at sea, you will be. A summer too, and I'll be blue. Upon your return, my pin you'll wear. I will love you always. Love, your P

CHRIS-WE'RE graduating tomorrow! Thanks for helping me make it through. You're the greatest. I Love You! Dave. (75)

LOHMEYER: IT'S been real, it's fun, but it hasn't been real fun. Just kidding! Good luck on your intern-ship and I'll miss you! Koni. (75)

BETA SIGS-It's been lots of fun, now we'll tell you the one. We've dropped you a clue about the good news, one of your brothers has gotten engaged! Show some good cheer and we'll drink lots of beer Lots of love, Dirk and Roberta. (75)

TO THE graduating members of the pit, we think you're full of s. ___t. You know I really do care, but I want my kids to have hair. We all knew what the radio was for, but with you it's always a fun score.
often thought I might, but on second thought you're just to light. We had a fun affair, we say goodbye, and take care. P.S. Get some real trans-portation! (75)

PP:NCESS BLUE Eyes, It's tough to be sad, life shouldn't be that way. Happiness isn't just a fad friends come along that will stay. Old friend. (75)

YO HEY Landon: Miss you! How 'bout Tulsa? Finals = A's. You're the Greatest! Horsey love Blackie &

CHURCH GUY: I thought you were pretty cool until Jimbo had to remind you. Does your roommate Dave have the same problem—letting the downstairs think for the upstairs? Anyway, here's wishing you (and yours) a mary Christmas and a new year filled with strategically placed feminine hygiene products. (75)

DDD STACY S .- Chic, chic, chic, f.I.1,1,1. I'm gonna miss you! Come visit me in K.C. Merry Christmas! Love yal Shel. (75)

PIKE AL: You really do look like a Brad doll. Good luck on the final! Teach. (75)

SMALL BAG, You're lucky your dad's an eye doctor 'cause your eyes are going to be big, black, and ugly like your face when I'm done. C.J. (75)

TRI SIGMA Ex-Spanky (Ex-is so depressing) A rose on our "anniversary," backrubs, homework help, a Christmas song, and now a personal. It all shows that the way backinto a woman's heart is . . . far beyond my understanding! Good luck on finals. (75)

ROBIN H.: We're going to miss you, it won't be the same, but at least you'll be closer to Plain Jane. Congratulations! H & A. (75)

KEITH-THANKS for three wonderful years! Our kind of love lasts! Becky. (75)

SECRET ADMIRER: Will I ever know who you are?

SANDRA-HAPPY 22nd birthday! I hope you have a fun weekend! - Your favorite sister. (75 PINK ROPERS-Only with a personal tour. How bout Charlie's-say around 3 p.m. Friday? Leave the closet at home. - Black Boots. (75)

KWIDDYPOO: SISTER dear, I'm glad you were here to help me finish my college career. But never feat I'm still near—just get in gear and to Wichita steer! I'll miss you! Love, Dimmy. (75)

TECHNONERD: FROM fruitcake to scoop it's been a ton 'o fun! - Trace Queen. (75)

ETERNAL DATE: I can't wait -- we graduate! We'll do great-it's in our fate-hope we're in the same state! So find a mate, you Boston date-it's not too late! Love, Your eternal date, (75)

MARIA K .- Three and a half years of school and tomorrow you graduate. Remember all the crazy times we've had were really great. You'll be back next semester—I'm really glad. Just know as a friend, you're one of the best I've had. K. Maria. (75) JOHN "A.D. Scratch": "Sunflower Graphics," "715"-The legend, Latenight with David Letterman, K.C.

Royals games, Let's get _____ up, water-melons out the 7th floor window, I hate KU, to all the girls we've "loved" before. . . Thanks for all the good times. Good Luck. PS. In keeping tradition with the Greeks, oops, I mean the geeks, get psyched for Graduation. Steve. (75) PHI KAP Kevin R .- Thank for being the best big brother and friend I could ask for. I wish you all the love and the luck in the world. Love, Kym. (75) HOT DATES, road mates, lots of beering of Greek parties we're sick of hearing. Another inane rhyme and we will kill, and rid us of one more imbedile. Moore 4. (75)

JIM - You name the time and place and I will be there waiting! Love, Homegirl. (75) PETS AND PET SUPPLIES

FREE KITTENS-Black and white, short hair, one 9576. (74-75)

Fourth St., Suite 25. (1tf)

18

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES 20

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (1tf) PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pred nancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S.

LOCAL SERVICES INFO TELE-FIND 539-2255

PREGNANT? WE can help. Planned Parenthood of Greater K.C. provides confidential, out-patient abortions. Don't be afraid to ask for the help you need. Call 816-756-2277. (51-75)

RENTALS TYPEWRITERS-CORRECTING and noncorrecting. In the Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-7931. (32tf)

RESUME/TYPING SERVICE

FACULTY/STUDENTS, have an experienced person type your books, articles, term papers, resumes, theses, dissertations in a fast accurate manner Letter quality printer. Copies available with no waiting. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147. (67-75) TYPING: LAST minute and holiday jobs. Leave message. 537-3166. (71-75)

DON'T GET lost in the crowd! A quality, profession resume can open doors. Call Resume Service, 537-7294, 1211 Moro. (73-75)

21

22

SLEEPING ROOM for girl. Close to campus. $80. bills paid. Phone 539-8608. (73-76)

RIDE WANTED to Columbia or Springfield, Mo. Will pay one-half gas. Contact Mike, 532-4898. (73-75)

Ski Breaks to Steamboat, Vail, Breckenridge or Winter Park from only $154 including five or seven color brochure and reservations 1-800-321-5911 to

By Eugene Sheffer

42 43 44

BK

ow ow

Garfield HO-BOY, I ATE TOO MUCH AGAIN 0

MA'AM .. I'M SURE

I KNOW ...

OPUS... I HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY REGARDING THE

PENGUIN LUST BUSINESS ..

TIME WE RAN YOU OUT

OF TOWN FOR YOUR

22 Huge number

54 Broker's beloved 19 Conceit 21 " - My Party'

29 Flower 30 Flight-31 Big top

33 Naval 34 Museum 35 CIA

Yesterday's answer 12-11

Solution time: 27 mins.

galoots 26 For men 5 Emulates only onist 7 Purported 8 Verboten word

32 Moochers 33 Drinking 35 Plant maneuver 36 Engine

> 39 Dryly amusing 42 Equine

43 Taj Mahal site

commands KBPPC OSL

12-11

46

ILDUT URFFDIR

KRNPR LGUC

CRYPTOQUIP

SALESMAN JUST TOLD "KNOCK KNOCK" JOKES.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals H

ROOMMATE WANTED FEMALE ROOMMATES for second semester. $120 per month plus share of utilities. No smokers. 776

1996. (55-75) ONE MALE to share three-bedroom apartment across from Old Stadium. $125 plus one-fifth utilities. 776-3244. (70-75) GRADUATE STUDENT seeks responsible, mature non-smoking roommate, one-half block from cam-pus, $115/month, utilities included. Jeff. 776-1513

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted, three rooms available in spacious house four blocks south of campus. $130 a month plus share of utilities. Call 537 9487 or 539-1820. (71-75)

WE'RE ALMOST on campus, and Aggie ain't far if you have a T.V. or a VCR, as a room you'd really be great. Call 776-8688. (71-75) RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, neat, quiet female to share large house. $250/month plus one-half utilities, 776-9678 after 5 p.m. (72-75) STUDIOUS NON-SMOKING female roommate wanted to share apartment second semester. $125 a month. 776-5372. (72-75) MALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share new, furnished, three-bedroom apartment. Price ne

ble. Call 537-8296 afternoons and evenings. (72-75)

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, $110 month plus one-sixth utilities. Close to campus. Call 537-0316 MALE ROOMMATE wanted for second semester

Share two bedroom apartment. Have own room 537-3339. (72-75) KSU MALE to share apartment one-half block west of campus. $125 a month. 776-4528. (72-75) MALE NEEDED to sublease. Own bedroom, large yard, dog runs, semirural neighborhood. $150/plus utilities, negotiable. 539-6515, keep trying. (73-75) MALE TO sublease, own room, four blocks from carn

pus. $100/month. Plus one-sixth utilities. 776 7794. (73-75) FEMALE ROOMMATE for second semester. Non oker, own bedroom. $172.50/month plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7687. (73-75) NON-SMOKING, STUDIOUS female to share very nice apartment close to campus. Wash $150/month plus one-half electricity, 539-0344, (73

NEED ONE male. $116 a month, one-third utilities next to Ahearn on Denison. 539-6847. (73-75) MALE ROOMMATES wanted: Close to campus, 1615

Anderson, rent $105/month, one-third utilities Phone 776-0827. (73-75) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two bedroom, very nice, own room. 537-1273. (73-75)

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester. Own bed room, close to campus and Aggie, in new complex $160/month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-8058 (73-75)FEMALE ROOMMATE needed. Very nice bedroom apartment across from campus, $150 month. Call 539-1482. First months rent free. (74

NEED SEVERAL quality students both sexes, own bedroom, nice houses. Close to campus, reason able. 539-9345. (74-77) FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedro apartment. Non-smoker. $150/month plus one-hall utilities. Call Michelle at 539-8243. (74-75)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished apart ment spring semester. Must be non-smoking, quiet and responsible. Own room, close to campus. Rent $137.50/month. Paid utilities and cable Call 776-2408, leave message. (74-75) ROOMMATES WANTED: Two males to share fully fur apartment, excellent man nished two-bedroom apart agement. 776-9541. (74-75) SEEKING THREE responsible females to share fully furnished home two blocks from campus. $100 plus one-fourth utilities. Jan. 1 through mid August, contact Angle, 539-0437. (75) NEED MALE student to share trailer home on Tuttle Creek Boulevard second semester, $150 pe onth, utilities paid. Call Allen-(913) 492-6835

SITUATION WANTED

ADOPTION IN California. Stanford University profes sor and wife. Happily married for many years. Anx ious to adopt newborn infant, Personal meeting velcome. Lawful and proper pregnancy related ex penses paid. Couple approved by Califor tion authorities in advance of placement. State su pervised adoption procedures. Please call collect Terri and Michael Fayer (415) 328-8723. (71-75)

SUBLEASE

SUBI FASE VERY nice one hedroom duplex. Quiet location, three blocks to campus. Off-street park ing. January rent negotiable. $250/month 776-3432 (72-75) NEEDED FOR second semester, two male room

26

28

WALK TO campus!! Fantastic house! Huge back-yard, garage, very spacious! All this for only $128.75/month! Call Paul 776-2150. (74-75) ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Wildcat Inn, across mates, one-half block from Ahearn. $120/month. one-fourth utilities. 776-4528. (73-75)

from Ahearn. Price negotiable. Call 539-4156 or 539-6147. (74-75) TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Nice, spacious, in com plex, close to KSU-Aggie, $360 or less 537-2178

WELCOMES

27 ST. LUKE'S Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod), Sun set and North Delaware welcomes students to ser vices: Saturday at 6 p.m. and Sunday at 8 and 10:45 a.m. Bible classes, 9:30 a.m. (75)

SLEEPING ROOM

WANTED 29

SPRING BREAK 31 LAST CALL for skiers! Additional space added on Sunchase Tours Sixth Annual Collegiate Winter nights lodging, lifts, picnics, parties and races. Over 4,000 participating so fart Call toll free for full

Crossword

1 Fall behind 4 Geometry calcula-By Jim Davis tion Use a VCR 40 Possess 12 Numero 13 Long distance

15 Silly

fellow

ACROSS

45 Reminder charge 48 Zero 14 Line of 50 Curtain material? symmetry 51 Perry's creator 17 Plays the 52 Period ponies 18 Make 53 Society girls

26 Leg parts less bird 32 Turf slammer contents operative

27 Protag-28 Division 29 Babe in blue

16 Pretend

Mercy"

star

out

24 Leave

25 Big

20 Deity

23 "No

type 38 Thugs

44 Old oath 45 Central 46 Before

47 Under world group 49 Mine output NRKFBDNBGF

MK-AGLOG OBMFRN SRBT Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE HUMOROUS DOOR

Devil-cult reports denied soviets Man's death triggers suspicion

By The Associated Press

CARTHAGE, Mo. - Jasper County law enforcement officials refused Thursday to discuss published reports that a cult may have been involved in the beating death of a young man this week.

The Kansas City Star and Times quoted Chief Deputy Larry Parrill as saying that officers were pursuing reports linking animal sacrifice and devil worship to the death of Stephen Newberry, 19, of Carl Junction.

But Thursday, Parrill did not return repeated phone calls from The Associated Press and told The Carthage Press that he had not made some of the statements attributed to him.

The Joplin Globe reported authorities have been investigating sporadic reports of cult-like activity in the said. southwestern Missouri town for the past five years.

comment whatsoever" on reports of angle at length. cult activity.

body of a cat that had been blud- their ideas from listening to this acid

Tuesday in a cistern near the Missouri-Kansas line in rural Jasper County. Four baseball bats also were

Three of Newberry's classmates at Carl Junction High School — James Hardy, 17, of rural Joplin, Theron R. Roland II and Ronald Charles Clements, both 17 and of Carl Junction were charged with first-degree murder in Newberry's death and held in the Jasper County Jail in lieu of $100,000 each. A preliminary hearing for the three was set for Dec. 30.

Jasper County Prosecuting Attorney David Dally also ducked questions about cult involvement.

"As far as I know there's only three people responsible in the death, and they are all in custody," Dally

Though Boatwright refused to discuss cults, the Star and Times However, Jasper County Sheriff reported in their Thursday editions Leland Boatwright Thursday had "no that his chief deputy discussed that

"We've heard all kinds of things, Newberry's battered body and the and one of them is that these kids get geoned to death were found early rock or heavy metal music," Parrill told the Star. "It supposedly tells about devils and killings and cults."

> Parrill told the Times that a small group of cult members gathered occasionally to sacrifice animals by beating them to death. He said Newberry apparently was part of the

> But Thursday, Parrill told The Carthage Press that he had not made the statement reported in the Times. Tom Miller, the Times reporter, said Parrill did make the remarks attributed to him.

> "We've heard all kinds of things, and one of them is that these kids get their ideas from listening to this acid rock or heavy metal music. It supposedly tells about devils and killings and cults."

> > -Deputy Larry Parrill

"Those are rumors — a lot of that has been blown way out of propor-

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Soviet society. Lef Timofeyev, the organizer of the seminar, said more foreign guests had been expected from the United States, Poland and West Germany, but they had been refused Soviet visas.

Activists who were planning to travel to Moscow from Leningrad, Lithuania, and the Ukrainian city of Lvov were detained or warned against going, he said.

About 20 Moscow organizers were told the seminar was illegal by officials who said they were from the procurator's office, several of the organizers said. The officials went to the organizers' homes, they said.

Scores of participants and Western journalists gathered in the cold and blowing snow outside the banquet hall in far northern Moscow that had been rented for the opening session only to find it closed for a "sanitary day.'

Many Soviet stores and museums are closed one day a month for cleaning, but organizers said they already had paid more than 300 rubles (about $450) to use the hall, and regarded the closure as a form of harassment by authorities.

"It looks like on the one hand the authorities don't want the seminar to take place but on the other hand they are too embarrassed to forbid it officially," Sergei Petrov, one of the organizers, told reporters outside the closed hall.

The conference moved to an apartment about a 45-minute drive away.

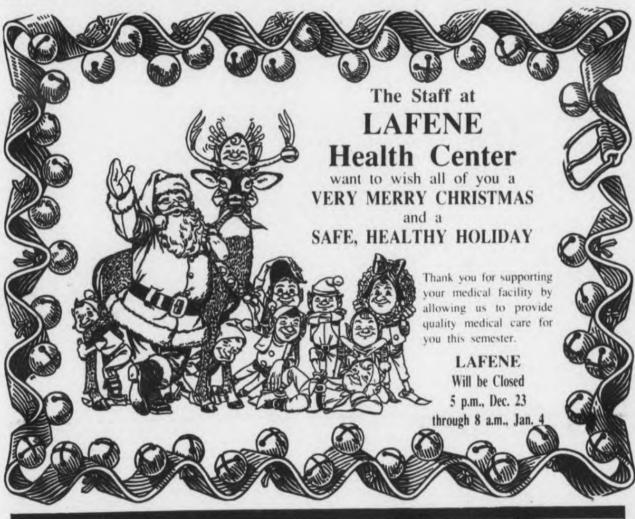

Timofeyev said at a news conference that the meeting was "absolutely peaceful," and there was no reason for authorities to hinder it.

Jewish "refuseniks" who have had their demonstrations for the right to emigrate foiled by authorities this week, said at a news conference they feared their cause would be forgotten in the goodwill after the Washington summit.

Meanwhile, about 400 Soviets, mostly members of the Communist youth organization, appeared at the downtown House of Union's Hall of Columns for an official Human Rights Day rally.

